VOL. 2

KERRVILLE, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JAN. 8, 1914

NO. 11

Shooting Affray.

A. S. Ethridge shot E. J. Cox near the ranch home of Mr. Ethridge nine miles from Junction on North Llano Wednesday Dec. 31 at 10 a. m. The facts so far as we are able to gather are as follows: T. J. Cox, sheep inspector of Kinble County, and A. S. Ethridge a ranchman of this county both well known and prominent citizens disagreed over the dipping of some sheep, and the results were that Ethridge fired six shots at Cox, first shot entering left groin, second shot right hip, third entering back just to the left of spine and fourth entering right knee and fifth and sixth failed to take effect, both parties were armed but no shots were fired by Cox. Immediately after shooting occurred Dr. Stone was summoned who met Cox and brought him to town. Ethridge phoned to Avery Toby deputy sheriff whose home is one mile from where the shooting occurred, for him to come and make the arrest, the arrest was made and Ethridge was brought to town and placed under a $2500 bond. The wounded man is reported very critical.—Junction Light.

Baptist Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid of the first Baptist church held a special missionary meeting at the Mexican Mission Saturday Dec. 27, in response to a cordial invitation from the Mexican Baptists. With a goodly number of them present and our Aid Society being well represented a splendid meeting was enjoyed by all. An interesting program was rendered consisting of talks and special readings from the American ladies and special songs and quartettes by the Mexicans in Spanish. After many prayers were offered in behalf of Mexico for Christ, we were served with a delicious Mexican lunch.

First Baptist Church of Kerrville Now Under Course of Construction

The contract was signed up last week for the new Baptist church building for Kerrville, Clemens & Abree of San Antonio being the lowest and successful bidders. Work was begun before the dawn of the first Monday in January, same being the 19th day of the month. This change is made in order to accommodate the district court of the new county of Real which is now in session.

The contract price of the building is $11,500.00. It is to be of light gray brick and trimmed in native stone. The basement will contain Sunday School rooms and assembly, ladies' rest room, kitchen, and steam heating plant. The main or upper floor will consist of a large auditorium for the regular church services, baptistry, dressing rooms, and pastor's study.

Henry T. Phelps, the well known architect of San Antonio, furnished the plans and specifications and was here to see the contract signed up.

Change of Court Dates

Judge R. H. Burney announces that the Kerr County district court, which has heretofore been held on the first Monday in January, will meet on the third Monday, same being the 19th day of the month.

Road Work Begun.

Commissioner Arthur Real has received a big shipment of road grading machinery and tools and will begin the expenditure of the $40,000 road funds at once on the thoroughfares of this precinct. Mr. Real expresses the desire that he may have the hearty co-operation of every citizen in this work to the end that just as much good road may be built for the money expended as possible.

Affray at Dance Results Fatally.

Donciano Espinosa, a young Mexican about 20 years of age, died on Saturday, Jan. 3, as a result of a gunshot wound received at a negro dance in the western part of Kerrville on the night of Jan. 2. It appears that an altercation took place between the young Mexican and one of the negro dancers and the fatal shot was fired, penetrating the lower bowels and going entirely through him. Various causes have been given for the tragedy but the officers admit that the case is considerably beclouded. Ben Campbell (col.) was arrested and held on a charge of doing the shooting.

Hand Badly Lacerated.

Some time last week Commissioner J. M. Webb had the misfortune to get both hands badly lacerated by a rope while trying to lead two mules tied with one rope. His hands became entangled and were so badly torn and bruised that two fingers of each hand had to be amputated. He has been at the Kerrville Sanitarium several days and we are glad to report him getting along nicely with no likelihood of any further trouble.

NEW YEARS IN MANY LANDS

BULGARIAN WOMAN IN HOLIDAY ATTIRE

NEW YEAR'S GREETING IN JAPAN

ITALIAN FAMILY TAKING NEW YEAR'S OUTHING

GERMAN STUDENTS CELEBRATING NEW YEAR'S

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS CELEBRATING NEW YEAR'S

OWHERE does New Year's ceremony mean more than in the land of the little people whose faces have become familiar to us on paper fans. Indeed, from a national point of view, this season is the greatest occasion of the year.

Elaborate preparations are made long in advance. Houses are cleaned inside and out. Doorways are decorated with rice ropes and fern leaves and evergreen. Every housewife buys a pot or two of "prosperous age plant," a miniature pine tree, some bamboo, and some plum twigs, to win for her home by ornaments like these the favor of the jealous deities that guard the future.

The city streets resound with the mallet blows of the dough pounders making "mochi," the Japanese equivalent of plum pudding. All debts are paid. New clothes are bought. There are toys for the children, and picture cards that bring good fortune and are good to dream on when tied securely to the wooden pillow.

O, happy New Year! Day will hardly dawn before each town and village will be stirring. There is so much to do in celebration. First there will come the ceremonial breakfast, when the health of all the family must be drunk in that rice wine called "sake." Then visits must be paid to all acquaintance. Father will wear no more the traditional costume, fantastic and peculiar. For him the frock coat now, of European manufacture, but mother, in her quaint kimono and elaborate head-dress, will look just as she has looked on New Year's day since time immemorial.

The children will be decked out in gorgeous colors; they will throng the streets, clattering along on their wooden clogs in pigeon toed but joyful haste, and shouting "Banzai!" to friends and foreigners. In the streets clowns will perform strange antics, exclaiming loudly meanwhile:

"Hall, hall, ye gods of heaven and earth! Significant omens are in the air, and the universe is full of lucky signs."

To accompaniment of flute and drum, two-legged lions will give the "lions' dance" in masque. Strange masqueraders will dart hither and thither through streets and temple gardens.

It will be a happy time for Japanese children. For three glad days every little girl will expect to play her favorite game of shuttlecock and battledore. The boys will fly their brand new kites. The children will play games with brightly colored balls, chanting countless rhymes. Grown people will play New Year's card games. The firemen will give acrobatic exhibitions on their ladders. Every nook and corner of Japan will be in gala dress and gala mood.

Northern France is not far behind Japan in appreciation of the significance of the New Year. There Christmas, so important on our calendar, is scarcely celebrated, except by attendance at midnight mass and by a festive supper. But the last night of the year, the "Vigil of St. Silvestre," calls for observance, and the first day of the new year, "le jour de l'an," or "le jour d'etrene," is dedicated to the renewal of friendship and to general gift giving.

So universal, in fact, has the custom become of giving presents and pretty little souvenirs that the expression "bonne etrene" means good fortune and "mal etrene" misfortune. Candy and flowers are acceptable gifts in France, but there is only one real rule in the matter—a New Year's gift must not be useful.

In most Scotch households, as in France, New Year's day takes the place of Christmas, an evidence of ancient sympathy when both countries regarded England as a mutual enemy. On the last night of the year, in rural district, groups of men and boys go disguised from house to house singing curious songs, such as this:

Rise up, good wife, and shak' yer feathers.
Dinna think that we are beggars;
We are harrnies come to play,
Rise up and give us hogmanay.

What probably is the strangest New Year's rite is held in the Cevennes mountains, in southern France. At the last evening mass of the old year the herds and flocks of the peasantry are gathered before the portico of the little stone church high up on the mountain side and are blest by the priest and sprinkled with holy water by the acolyte who follows him, in order that this, the sole wealth of the countryside, may increase and prosper during the year to come.

The sight of the holy hour is wonderful. As the church bell tolls above them the frightened animals bleat and bellow and try madly to escape. First the oxen are blessed, then the cows, next the sheep and lambs, and finally the goats and pigs.

Throughout Europe many delightful customs prevail. In Scandinavia a feast is always prepared for the little birds, which might otherwise go hungry, on account of the deep snows.

In Holland, as in Scotland, the wind is noted with care, because the luck of the year will be determined by the direction whence it blows. The south wind brings heat and fertility; the west wind milk and fish, the north wind cold and storm, and east wind a fruitful season.

In Italy the New Year is a day of greeting and good will and special feasting. Sicilian peasants take advantage of the jets to drive to town in their gay carts, so that the country roads are merry with the music of tinkling bells.

And Swiss folk, practical, industrious, stop their work for the noon and visit friends, even when they have to carry their babies down the mountain slopes in cradles on their heads.

Bulgaria's heart history is of especial moment just now. On happy New Year's day in Bulgarian villages the small boys run from house to house waving branches of the coral tree and shouting greetings as they tap all they meet with the luck bringing branches.

Bulgarian girls go through an interesting ceremony in an effort to pry into the secrets of the days to come. On New Year's eve a queen, chosen by lot, guards a kettle full of water, in which both men and maidens have dropped finger rings or some personal trinkets. Till dawn she watches.

Then to an open place in the center of the village she takes the precious kettle, covered with a cloth, a denning, singing crowd following her. An oracle, who has been selected for eloquence of speech, proclaims successive fortunes. He cries: "The lucky girl whose ring shall appear shall marry the best man in the village."

The queen of the festival dips her hand into the kettle and brings forth a ring, and its owner receives it from her secure in the belief that good luck betides her matrimonially before another New Year.

GETTING BACK.

"Why do you insist on trying to sell me beef-steak and beans and buckwheat cakes?" demanded the barber. "I told you all I wanted was two fried eggs."

"Well, I was in your shop yesterday," retorted the restaurant man. "All I wanted was a shave, but you bulldozed me into a shampoo, a foam fliz, and a tonic rub."

A SAD AWAKENING.

"Warden, where are my flowers? Give me those flowers."

"Those flowers are for an embezzler in the next cell."

"Flowers for an embezzler, with a murderer in the same jail? A life of crime is not what I was led to expect."

NOT DIFFICULT.

"I wish I could do something startling," said Gladys Gloom, sick unto death with ennui.

"Well, Gladys, that is easily accomplished," said her close friend, Bella Blazes. "Go back to that little old-fashioned town where you were born and smoke a cigarette on the public square."

Testimonial From High Authority

Mrs. Betty Lyler Wilson
(of Nashville, Tenn.)

Mrs. Wilson of Nashville, Tenn., is famed the world over for her wonderfully delicious cakes. They are shipped to all parts of the Globe for special affairs where the best of Cakes are demanded.

Famous For Her Cakes Recommends

This year, as in former years, Mrs. Wilson enjoys the distinction of making the President's Christmas Cake, using Calumet Baking Powder.

Mrs. Wilson's Baking Motto is: "To have complete success with no failures, care should be used in selection of Baking Powder."

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

Some little time ago I made a careful study and investigation of the baking powder subject and I feel fully repaid. I am firmly convinced from the results I have received that there is no baking powder to equal Calumet for wholesomeness and economy, and I also recommend Calumet Baking Powder for its never failing results.

December 9, 1913. Mrs. Betty Lyler Wilson.

Calumet also received the Highest Awards at the World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago and Paris, France, 1912.

Buy a can of Calumet Baking Powder at once, and use it in your Holiday Baking, making your Christmas Cakes as good as the President's.

WOULD HAVE THEM HANDY

Married Man's Explanation of Large Order Will Be Understood by Many Similar Unfortunates.

A brisk individual with the accumulated look of 20 winters of married life entered a hardware shop and without waiting for preliminaries asked:

"Do you keep hammers here?"

"That is our specialty, sir."

"Put me down for a dozen. How about screwdrivers?"

"Our great feature. Patent reversible or plain edge?"

"Give me a dozen of each; if you have any other varieties I'll take 'em, too. How about gimlets?"

"You are now mentioning our pet product. All styles—

"Give me all styles—long, short, medium thick, thin, from the size of a needle to a pickax. Saws?"

"Of every description."

"I'll take 'em—say half a dozen of so—cross-cut, plain, round and square."

"It's down, sir. Can I interest you in nails?"

"You can indeed. I'll take some of all that you have, put up in separate packages; also tacks, brads, screws, rivets, staples—everything. And I want hooks, every hook you have, big and little. Aho—"

The clerk leaned forward.

"Pardon me, sir," he said. "You seem like a sensible person. Unless you are opening up a business, I am at a loss to understand your requirements."

"It is perfectly simple, sir," said the brisk person. "I have been married for 21 years, and not once since the ceremony have I been able to locate a single implement when I wanted to put up a calendar or do any other necessary thing about the house, and the next time there is need of anything done I am going, so far as human foresight can provide for it, to have the means instantly to put my impulse into play."—Life.

Bad Form to Be Amazing.

There are no posers on the grand scale now. Our musicians have short hair and play golf. Authors cannot be distinguished from ordinary men. Art students are abandoning their amazing clothes. Even poets have given up poetical locks, and instead of writing pretty fancies worry us with poems of the outspoken natural school. Music is in tweeds, literature is in navy blue, and poetry is in a bowler hat. Apparently there is no chance of any return of affectation. The world becomes more natural every day, and every hour some neglected pose dies a natural death. There are no startling and picturesque figures. The glittering Whistler was the last of the artistic masters to pose, the last man willing to spend an hour before a looking-glass, the last man to use his own word—who could be called "amazing." For now it is bad form to be amazing, and every one is expected to be as insignificant as possible. The only affectation left is the affectation of being natural, and there could not be a duller one.

Posts, Up or Down?

The agricultural experiment station of Ohio has been making some tests as to which end of a post should be set in the ground. Farmers generally believe in planting it with the butt or root end upward, on the principle that, as it is easier for the sap to run up the tree than down it, setting the post upside down tends to prevent the rise of water and helps to keep the wood dry.

The Ohio officials planted 150 black locust posts 20 years ago. One-third of those set top down have rotted off and only a little more than one-sixth of these set top up have met a similar fate. They reach the conclusion that there is no difference which end is put into the ground, except that the sounder or longer end should have the preference.

Sensible Realization.

Quinn—Where is your young poet these days?

De Fonte—Doing well. Always has a dollar and wears a new suit. He's realized something.

Quinn—Sold some of his poems, eh?

De Fonte—No, realized that he is not a poet and got a job as book-keeper.

Repentant Auditor.

"You went to sleep during your wife's speech."

"Yes," replied Mr. Moeckton. "Henrietta has been rehearsing that speech for a week. I told her I had better not come here. I knew something like this would happen if she couldn't shout 'Are you listening, Leonidas' every now and then."

Cranky Speeder's.

Tjark—Ever notice these motorists winding up their machines in front? Every auto must carry a crank.

Bjenks—Yes, from the way some motorists yell at pedestrians some autos must carry two or three cranks.

A Marvelous Linguist.

"Dobbs will never let himself be downed by anything."

"For instance?"

"He was reading a newspaper out loud the other day and when he came to a pied line he translated it without a moment's hesitation."

Uncomplimentary.

Hicks—Your wife has no sense of humor.

Wicks—You never saw her. How do you know?

Hicks—She married you.

100,000 Packages of Vegetable Seed Will Be Available for Farmers in Flood Section.
Washington.—Representative Garrett Friday obtained from the department of agriculture an additional allotment of 75,000 packages of vegetable seed for distribution in the flood district of Texas. In addition to this consignment Mr. Garrett will give his regular allotment of 20,000 packages of seed to the flood district, and Representative Hutton W. Sumners will give what is left of his allotment so that a total of 100,000 packages of vegetable seed will be available for the farmers in the flood section. A little of this seed is cotton, but nearly all of it is vegetable seed and the distribution is intended to start farm gardens. Each package contains several papers of seed. Mr. Garrett will wire the flood conference at Houston for advice as to the distribution of the seed.
Representative Buchanan, who also hails from the flood district, introduced a bill asking for an appropriation of $100,000 for the purchase and distribution of farm crop seed in large quantities to the farmers in the flood

WIFE PLEADS FOR IMPRISONED HUSBAND

Governor Grants Request of Wife Who Pleads Husband's Return to Family.
Austin, Tex.—In a delicate condition and fatigued from all night from Fort Worth, a middle-aged woman, who had come to Austin to the governor to plead for her husband, who is serving a two-year term in the penitentiary, so that he be home with her and their four children on Christmas, collapsed after her arrival at the executive office Thursday and fell to the floor in a faint. Her head struck the floor with force and she was rendered unconscious for several minutes. A physician from the state health department was hurriedly summoned and administered restoratives. Her condition was of a very serious nature and it was not deemed safe to move her for several hours. At that time she lay on a couch in an anteroom to the governor's office. In care of Mrs. Colquitt and other women, the unfortunate woman tenderly removed to a hospital given medical treatment. When was informed that the governor granted her husband a conditional pardon, so great was her excitement over the joyful news that she as
