Obituary.

Sister Louella Dowdy, after a few days' illness, died at her home in Ingram Saturday, October 23, about 10 a. m. Her death came rather sudden and was a great shock to her large circle of friends and relatives.

Sister Dowdy was born in Blanco county, Texas, and with her parents came to Kerr county while very young, in which she spent the remainder of her life. She was 26 years, 6 months and 12 days of age; had spent three years of her young life a consistent member of the Missionary Baptist church of Ingram. She gave her heart to God while in young womanhood and had started out upon life's pathway to live for Him and His Glory, but He who knows all things best for us all, saw fit to remove her from this place of dwelling to her higher and better home above. It is sad for us all to give her up, but He who died for us has said that she should rest from the weary labors of this life and await the coming of others who love her Lord. She died not without a hope, but with that bright hope that should make us who are left rejoice because of the fact that we can some day meet her in the World of all Light and Love.

The Lord's will must be done! Besides the large circle of freinds she leaves a husband, one child, mother, one sister and three brothers, all of whom are living, to mourn her sudden departure.

May the richest blessings of heaven rest upon them all.

Her Pastor,
T. C. LEE.

TO CURE A COUGH REMOVE THE CAUSE

Coughs are a result, not a disease. They are the result of inflammation, caused by a cold, invading the delicate capillary air tubes in the lungs. All of the narcotics in the world will not change the condition; they simply deaden the senses and afford temporary relief.

MOUNTAIN PINE COUGH SYRUP

allays inflammation and promptly corrects the condition in the lungs and bronchial tubes which causes the cough. Don't drug a cough. Use Mountain Pine Cough Remedy—it removes the cause.

ABOUT THE FARM

What Fertilized Corn Will Do

GEO. H. REEVES

Mr. A. R. Fitzwater, who lives four miles east of Arion, Okla., has conclusively proven that fertilizing corn will certainly produce the results. Mr. Fitzwater has grown some of his best corn this year on land that has been planted in corn for 25 consecutive years. And he has produced a good crop every year since he has had the land by using fertilizer. This year he grew some corn over 11 feet high that had two good ears on each stalk. On some new land he also grew one stalk of corn which was 13 feet four inches high, the tallest stalk of corn reported so far this year here. The farmers are all beginning to fertilize their land for everything and it pays in every case.

Raising Calves.

Much is said in favor of more cows on the farm. When we consider the influence of the cow upon profitable farming and comfortable living we see how important she is. And when we analyze the one-crop system we are not surprised that it has so many chances for failure.

More attention should be given to raising calves on the farm. There are many farms where calves could be raised economically and this would give the manager a chance to develop a dairy herd for his farm or make a profit raising cows for others. What is said of dairy animals might also be said of beef animals.

Experiments of E. G. Woodward, Nebraska experiment station, bulletin 149, give us a clear conception of the cost of raising a calf. In these experiments three steer calves, Jersey, Holstein-Jersey and grade Holstein, were fed to the age of six months mostly on skimmed milk. The following is the feed required for a calf to six months of age: whole milk, 175 pounds, $1.50 a hundred, $2.63; skimmed milk, 2700 pounds at 25 cents, $6.75; grain, 125 pounds, $1 per cwt., $1.25; hay, 450 pounds at $10 per ton, $2.25. Total, $12.88.

At the age of six months a calf fed on skimmed milk should weigh from 250 to 400 pounds, hence the market will largely determine whether or not ordinary calves would be profitable under such conditions.

In another experiment a small amount of whole milk is fed. The feeding cost for six months was as follows: whole milk, 900 pounds, $1.50 per hundred, $13.50; grain, 250 pounds, $2.50; hay, 600 pounds, $3.00. Total, $19.

It has been shown that calves raised on skimmed milk should be as thrifty and vigorous as those raised on whole milk or left with the cows. It is claimed that the frame of a skimmed-milk calf will be more rugged than if raised on whole milk, though the whole milk will give the cow a plump, rounded appearance that will be more attractive.

Experienced dairymen usually leave the calf with its dam for three or four days at least. It may be taken away immediately, but the calf should have the milk from its own mother for the first two or three days, as this is necessary for the digestive organs of the calf. The calf has a rather small stomach and it will not take over four or five quarts of milk per day. A very small calf, six pounds or three quarts is enough. The milk should be fed warm and fresh at least twice a day, four or five pounds at each feed. It is generally necessary to withhold feed for 24 to 36 hours after it is taken from its mother, as it is easier to learn to drink. Some dairymen put their fingers under the milk and push the calf's head into the pail and allow it to put the fingers in its mouth. It will then begin to drink from the pail.

At the age of two or three weeks old the calf may be put on a skimmed milk diet. It is best to make the change gradual, replacing a portion of the whole milk with skimmed milk. This may be done by substituting, say, one-fourth of the whole milk, but giving the same quantity as before. This should be about 10 or 12 pounds to a calf at three weeks old. The increase may continue until the calf at the age of five months is receiving 16 to 20 pounds daily.

When two or three weeks old a little grain should be fed. Grain should be fed dry, as it is not advisable to mix it with the milk, as it would be swallowed without the proper mastication. A good time to feed the grain is just after it has been fed on milk. Two parts ground corn and one part crushed oats or an excellent mixture. The calf may be given all the grain it will eat up to the time it is three months old. It may then eat two or three pounds a day.

Hay will be eaten about the time grain will. Good quality hay, such as clover, alfalfa, pea, lespedeza, etc., will be suitable. The calves may begin to nibble the hay as soon as they will. Hay may be placed before the animals at all times. In addition to the feed, water and salt should be given. The milk will not answer for water. Usually at about six months of age the calves may be weaned, though if there is an abundance of skimmed milk it may be fed longer. The calves will eat an abundance of hay and grain then and if there is silage or grazing it is not necessary to continue the skimmed milk. All that is needed to wean the calves is to gradually withdraw the skimmed milk and increase the hay and grain feed. This may be done in a few days without injuring the calf or hindering its growth.

It has been found that a calf is able to get along without milk after it is 1-1/2 of three months old and if fed liberally on hay and grain. But it is not apt to grow as fast or develop as well as one fed skimmed milk longer. When weaned at this age the calf should have three or four pounds of grain mixture such as two pounds corn, chops, two pounds ground oats, one-half to one pound cotton seed meal. A good ration for a heifer from six months to one year old is two pounds of a mixture containing 75 pounds corn chops, 25 pounds of bran and all the alfalfa, pea or peanut hay the animal will eat.

GREEK MINISTRY AGAIN REORGANIZED

Athens—M. Skoufodis, commissioned by King Constantine to form a new cabinet, has accomplished the task. All the members of Zaimis' ministry are retained except the premier himself. The new Prime Minister has taken the portfolio of Foreign Affairs. The formation of the new cabinet, it is generally assumed, will delay, if not eliminate, the crisis which probably would follow a dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies by the King.

The cabinet took the oath of office.

Besides the Premier, M. Michalidis is the only new member of the cabinet. He takes the portfolio of Public Instruction formerly held by M. Theotokis, who became Minister of National Economy, a new post.

The press urges the advisability of going on without a dissolution of Parliament and new general elections.

M. Skoufodis is reputed to be favorably disposed toward the Quadruple Entente.

General Yanakitsas, who remains in the Greek cabinet as Minister of War, is credited with having been responsible for the crisis which resulted in the overthrow of M. Zaimis.

It is believed in political circles that the chamber probably will be prorogued in ten days, as it will then have sat for the legal term of three months. M. Venizelos and his followers are expected to approve this solution of the problem, which will make it possible to avoid dissolution and elections, the result of which would be uncertain, owing to the pressure which would be exerted by the Government and the pro-German propaganda.

ENGLAND TIGHTENS EMBARGO

Chicago Packers Appeal to State Department for Relief From Conditions.

Washington, D. C.—Counsel for Chicago packers called at the State Department today with a complaint that Great Britain had imposed new and more rigid restrictions on their trade with neutral European countries. They asked that special representations be made to the British Foreign Office, and the matter is now being considered by the department. The packers' representatives later gave out the following statement:

"The immediate cause of our visit to Washington today is instructions issued to the steamer Christiania of the Norwegian-American line, which expected to sail on November 6 from New York for the Norwegian port of Christiania. Such instructions prohibited the steamer from the further loading of the Chicago packers' products destined to resident buyers in Sweden, or through bills of lading via Christiania, Norway, unless the packers would remove from the bills of lading the provisions 'Goods in transit to Sweden,' declare the ultimate destination to be Norway and guarantee consumption in that country.

"These instructions, we are informed, are due to the threat of Great Britain that unless the steamship companies enforce such requirements, Great Britain will seize the ships and cargoes en route to Christiania and confiscate such cargoes."

WAR DEPARTMENT CHANGES POLICY

Washington, D. C.—Very little is being given out from the War Department as to the achievement of the army on the border or elsewhere. Evidently the army officers have construed the order prohibiting them from discussing the European war or the question of National defense as instructions not to give out any news relative to the army.

The army infantry rifle team recently won the championship at the National rifle match, but no official notice of this has been taken by the War Department. In former years a victory by the army team received recognition not only from the Secretary of War, but from the President. Both the President and the Secretary of War have usually written letters of congratulations to the captain and members of the winning team.

Extraordinary deeds of valor on the border by officers and enlistment men have been almost a daily occurrence. The War Department appears not to notice these deeds, at any rate no official and public recognition is given. In one fight six enlisted men in command of a non-commissioned officer defended a ranch from an attack of seventy-five Mexican bandits. Five or six Mexicans were killed, but the soldiers escaped without injury. All of these events are passing without notice from the War Department while Secretary Daniels on the pay side, never misses an opportunity to praise either officers or enlisted men for heroic deeds.

Secretary of War Garrison has been so busy with his legislative program that it is presumed he has not been advised of this failure on the part of the department to give due credit to the achievements of the army on the border.

ENGLAND JUSTIFIES SEIZURE

London—Lord Robert Cecil, parliamentary under secretary for foreign affairs, replying in the House of Commons today to a query whether the British government's attention had been called to the agitation in the United States against the meat case judgments as based on "orders in council and not on international law," made this statement:

"There have been attempts in the United States to create an agitation against the meat case judgments but as appeals are pending this point is not suitable for diplomatic or other direct discussion.

"In all four cases the judge held the goods to be condemnable as contraband according to the established rules of war, independent of orders in council and the agitation is therefore founded on misapprehension."

Even a wise man goes lame when he gets into religious or political argument.

San Antonio Business Men to Boost for Fair

International Exposition Promoters Plan Extensive Publicity Campaign.

San Antonio—Enlisting the forces of Southwest Texas to further the proposed International Fair of San Antonio is to start during the coming week. Agents will take the road to arrange hearings for committees of San Antonians, who will herald the fair in every town of consequence in the Southwest country, from Taylor to the coast," is the statement given out from headquarters yesterday.

Following these advance agents it is planned to send out speakers from San Antonio who will address meetings in three to five towns each day, telling Southwest Texas what they believe the fair will mean financially to the farming country of the Southwestern section. That visitors to the proposed International Fair would take side trips to the coast, to the border, and to other points nearby, after viewing the fair, the speakers will stress in their talk. This, they plan to convince their hearers, will mean land sales and subsequent land development on a scale in no other way possible to attain. Finally, the speakers will urge that each community name delegates to attend the conference of the fair promoters in San Antonio on November 30, when the million-dollar annual International Fair, opening in 1918, the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of San Antonio, will be presented for approval.

The foregoing plan for a publicity campaign outside of San Antonio was broached at a meeting of the subcommittee on canvass outside the city held at the headquarters of the Committee of One Hundred, 228-229 Bedell Building. Walton D. Hood, chairman, working with his subcommittee, made up of railroad officials and specialists in public speaking, assigned each of 120 Southwest Texas towns to one of the four advance agents to be sent out next week. These advance agents, who will arrange an itinerary for the speakers to follow, are to be railroad men, whose work as traffic and freight agents carries them regularly through the territory they will traverse in the interests of the fair. Railroads running into San Antonio will lend these skilled men for the fair promotion work.

The same plan of using men who are familiar with the people they are going to deal with will be used in assigning speakers for the town-to-town campaign slated for the next fortnight. Men who have a wide acquaintance in Laredo and environs, for example, will constitute the team to stump the Laredo district. In

Russ War Material Lost in Fire

Warehouse Used by British Line of Steamers Is Destroyed in Conflagration.

Seattle, Wash.—Fire, supposedly of incendiary origin, destroyed tonight Pier Fourteen at the foot of Broad Street, occupied by Dodwell & Co., Ltd., agents for the Blue Funnel Line of British steamers, with much valuable merchandise, entailing a loss that probably will exceed a half million dollars. The Japanese and Chinese merchandise that arrived Saturday night on the steamer Ixion was still in the warehouse but $2,000,000 worth of silk brought by the steamship had been sent East.

The Blue Funnel steamers have been taking much barbed wire, machinery and implements of war for the Russian army. The Ixion is booked to stop at Vladivostok with similar supplies for Russia. Two deliberate attempts to destroy Pier Fourteen by fire were made early last Tuesday. Fire department officials said they believed both fires originated from a time fuse attached to a bomb.

many cases speakers will motor from San Antonio.

Members of the subcommittee on outside canvass which has charge of this publicity work include Walton D. Hood, chairman; Dr. T. T. Jackson, Marshall Hicks, Senator Carlos Bee, H. E. Hildebrand, George F. Lupton, W. J. Edgecombe, J. Ira Kercheville, M. J. Arnold, Winchester Kelso, R. J. Boyle, Walter P. Napier, Horace Shelton and D. J. Strauss.

It is planned to imbue newspapers in this section with the idea of a Nationally heralded fair for Southwest Texas, according to arrangements made by the publicity bureau of the Committee of One Hundred. A press agent in charge, has taken up work at the Bedell Building headquarters. The first of a series of news bulletins to Southwest Texas daily and weekly newspapers has been sent out for publication. It is planned to follow up with short news stories on the phases of the fair project that may be of local interest in the outlying sections.

Newspaper men of Southwest Texas will be entertained specially during the meeting on the last day of November. At the banquet on the night of November 30, when it is expected 1,000 will be gathered around the board, the press of South Texas will have a special table. Committeemen who are leading in the promotion of the fair say they realize fully the need of the good offices of the daily and weekly press. They hope to fire every editor and newspaper man in this section with the possibilities they firmly believe an International Fair holds for Southwest Texas.

A small pamphlet setting forth the ideas of promoters of the fair is in preparation. This booklet will be carried by the canvassing speakers to be distributed in the towns they visit. Thousands will be mailed out from the committee headquarters. Jobbing houses and wholesalers have offered aid in distributing the pamphlets though their traveling salesmen.

"Cannot Longer Submit to Closing of Neutral Ports" Says Lansing to England

Washington, D. C.—The United States in its latest note to Great Britain, made public here, covering exhaustively British European war, declares that the so-called blockade instituted by interference with American trade since the beginning of the allies against enemy countries on March 11, is "ineffective, illegal and indefensible." Notice is served that the American Government "cannot submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights," and it cannot "with complacency suffer further subordination of its rights and interests."

The note is dated October 21 and acknowledges the notes of the British Government dated January 7, February 10, June 12, July 23, July 31 (two), August 13, and a note verbally of the British embassy of August 6, all of which relate to restrictions upon American commerce. The United States says at the outset that it has delayed answering these notes in the hope that the announced purpose of Great Britain "to exercise their belligerent right with every possible consideration for the interests of neutrals" and of causing "the least possible amount of inconvenience to persons engaged in legitimate trade," would in practice not unjustifiably infringe upon the neutral rights of American citizens.

"It is therefore a matter of regret," says the note, "that this hope has not been realized, but that on the contrary, interferences with American ships and cargoes destined in good faith to neutral ports and lawfully entitled to proceed have become increasingly vexatious causing American shipowners and American merchants to complain to this Government of the failure to take steps to prevent an exercise of belligerent power in contravention of their just rights. As the measures complained of proceed directly from orders issued by the British Government, are executed by British authorities and arouse a reasonable apprehension, that if not resisted, they may be carried to an extent even more injurious to American interests, this Government directs the attention of His Majesty's Government to the following considerations:

Here follow in numbered paragraphs the points made by the United States. Summarized, they are:

1. The statistics presented by Great Britain to prove an increase rather than a decrease in American trade "fail to take into account the increased price of commodities resulting from a state of war or to make any allowance for the diminution in the volume of trade which the neutral countries in Europe previously had with the nations at war."

2. Detentions by Great Britain have not been "uniformly based on proofs obtained at the time of seizure, but many vessels have been detained while search was made for evidence." The question has been one of evidence to support the belief of—in many cases a bare suspicion of—enemy destination, or occasionally of enemy origin of the goods involved.

3. Attention is directed with regard to search of neutral vessels at sea to the instructions issued to the naval commanders of the United States, Great Britain, Russia, Japan, Spain, Germany and France from 1888 to the beginning of the present war to show "that search in port was not contemplated by the Government of any of these countries."

4. An examination of the opinion of the most eminent text writers on the laws of nations shows "that they give practically no consideration to the question of search in port outside of examination in the course of regular prize court proceedings."

5. Answering the assertion of Great Britain that the position of the United States in relation to search at sea is inconsistent with its practice during the Civil War, the note says this is based upon a "misconception." A careful search of the records "shows conclusively that there were no instances when vessels were brought into port for search prior to instituting prize court proceedings" and that captures were not made upon other grounds than evidence found on the ship under investigation and not upon circumstances ascertained from external sources." It is here that Secretary Lansing appends a copy of the instructions issued to American naval officers on August 18, 1862.

the British Government for the principles of justice so uniformly manifested prior to the present war, this Government anticipates that the British Government will instruct their officers to refrain from these vexatious and illegal practices."

16. Directing particular attention to the so-called "blockade measures" imposed by the order in council of March 11, the British note of July 23 last is cited to confirm the intention to establish a blockade.

"After over six months' application of the blockade order," the note says, "the experience of American citizens has convinced the Government of the United States that Great Britain has been unsuccessful in her efforts to distinguish between enemy and neutral trade."

17. The practice of requiring a consignor to prove that his shipments are not bound to an enemy of Great Britain, even when articles are on the embargo list of the neutral country to which they are destined, is characterized as harassing to neutral traders."

18. While the United States Government "was at first inclined to view with leniency the British measures which were termed in the correspondence, but not in the order in council of March 11, "a blockade" because of the assurances of the British Government that inconveniences to neutral trade would be minimized by the discretion left to the courts in the application of the order in council and by the instructions which it was said would be issued to the administrative and other authorities having to do with the execution of the so-called "blockade" measures, this Government is now forced to the realization that its expectations, which were fully set forth in its note of March 30, were based on a "misconception of the intentions of the British Government. Desiring to avoid controversy and in the expectation that the administration of the order in council would conform to the rules of international law, this Government has until now reserved the question of the actual validity of the order in council of March 11 in so far as it is concerned by the Government of Great Britain to establish a blockade within the meaning of that term as understood in the law and practices of nations, but in the circumstances now developed it feels that it can no longer permit the validity of the alleged blockade to remain unchallenged."

19. Pointing out that in accordance with the declaration of Paris in 1855 the effectiveness of a blockade is "manifestly a question of fact," the United States says it is "common knowledge that the German coasts are open to trade with the Scandinavian countries." The recent placing of cotton on the British list of contraband is spoken of as making it appear "that the British Government themselves have been forced to the conclusion that the blockade is ineffective to prevent shipments of cotton from reaching their enemies, or else they are doubtful as to the legality of the form of blockade which they have sought to maintain."

20. Decisions are cited to show that it is an essential principle, universally accepted, that a blockade must apply impartially to the ships of all nations, and it is added that "if belligerents themselves trade with blockaded ports, the principle in the past has been that they cannot be regarded as effectively blockaded." These decisions are referred to "since it is a matter of common knowledge that Great Britain exports and re-exports large quantities of merchandise to Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland, whose ports, so far as American commerce is concerned, she regards as 'blockaded.'"

21. The principles of the laws of nations which forbid the blockade of neutral ports in time of war, embodied in that part of the declaration of London adopted by Great Britain as to blockade, are discussed and several decisions of the British prize courts prior to the present war as well as the Matamoros cases in the American Civil War, are recalled to support the contention of the United States.

22. Measured by "the three universally conceded tests, the British measures cannot be regarded as constituting a blockade, in law, in practice, or in effect."

23. Formal notice is given that the blockade, "which Great Britain claims to have instituted under the order in council of March 11, cannot be recognized as a legal blockade by the United States."

24. The British view of the famous Springbok case before the outbreak of the present war is cited to support the American contentions.

25 to 35, inclusive. These deal exhaustively with the modes of judicial redress for citizens of neutral countries, and reach certain general conclusions. "The Government of the United States," the note says, "has viewed with surprise and concern the attempts of His Majesty's Government to confer upon the British prize courts jurisdiction by this illegal exercise of force in order that these courts may apply to vessels and cargoes of neutral nationalities, seized on the high seas, municipal laws and orders which can only rightfully be enforceable within the territorial waters of Great Britain or against vessels of British nationality when on the high seas. * * * The United States Government feels that it cannot reasonably be expected to advise its citizens to seek redress before tribunals which are, in its opinion, authorized by the unrestricted application of international law, to grant reparation nor to refrain from presenting their claims directly to the British Government through diplomatic channels."

Secretary Lansing, moreover, denies in this connection that the charge, such as pilotage, wharfage, unloading costs, etc., against a detained vessel must be paid by the claimants, and adds that the United States is "loath to believe that such ungenerous treatment will continue to be accorded American citizens." Any waiver of indemnity exacted from American citizens "under such conditions of duress," it is declared, cannot preclude them from subsequently obtaining redress through diplomatic channels.

It is more blessed to be green with verdancy than with envy.

THE KERRVILLE ADVANCE

Published Every Thursday at Kerrville, Texas, by T. A. Buckner.

SUBSCRIPTION $1.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Kerrville, Texas.

If a woman's place is in the home is a man's place in the saloon?

JIM WELLS county voted dry last Saturday. The enterprising little city of Alice with 2,500 population, having tried doing without saloons, gave this time a majority of over three to one against them.

PROHIBITION sentiment is growing in the Middle States. Ohio, with its big Cincinnati, Cleveland and Columbus, and other big cities, gave only a majority of about 30,000 against it. Large gains were made over the election held some two years ago.

WOMAN Suffrage received a set back in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, but the women are undaunted in their efforts to receive equal rights in our great Republic which prides itself on "equal rights to all and special privileges to none." The fight is now on for a national constitutional amendment, such as conferred this equal right upon an ignorant and newly-enfranchised race.

BELL county will vote on the local option issue November 13th. Governor Ferguson is canvassing in the county against closing the saloons. The anti-prohibitionists favor local option until an election is ordered and then vote against it. If the Progressive Democrats will get together, then Morris Sheppard, Cullen Thomas or some other able and popular Democrat will be the next Governor of Texas.

IN HIS speech last Thursday in New York President Wilson set forth his views favoring re-organization of our army and navy so as to be prepared for any emergency. The dominant note running through his speech was America first and American last and all the time, and he spoke against aggression and acquiring foreign territory. Mr. Bryan, whose great lecture on the "Prince of Peace" has been so often delivered, thinks the millions necessary to be spent in the proposed armament of the nation, would better be spent in good roads and education. He doesn't see any consistency in a man belting a big six-shooter on himself and declaring he doesn't want to use it.

OH, YES; it is all wrong for the pros. to keep before the people the greatest of moral and economic issues and to defeat Governor Ferguson for a second term, but it is all right for Governor Ferguson to use all his official and personal influence against local option in Bell county. If a majority of the people of Texas favor local option and the closing of the saloons, why should not the majority of opinion control? If the antis. may consistently actively oppose prohibition, why should not the pros. actively favor it?

STYLE SHOW HEADS
BILL AT MAJESTIC

San Antonio—An advance notice says: "For once the play is not the thing. For once the dramatist, the librettist, even the composer, are supplanted in their claim upon the theatergoer's attention. Their importance has been eclipsed by that mysterious all-powerful personage, 'Dame Fashion'."

"She it is who heads the vaudeville bill of seven acts at the Majestic this week. Never doing anything by halves, always the most versatile of individuals, she steps into her new role of variety attractions and gathers unto herself new laurels. Deservingly gathers them, too, for never has she appeared in more attractive guise."

"The 'Fashion Show of 1915-16' the name of her act. It is the costliest vaudeville production ever staged. The supreme creative artists of style the world over have co-operated to make it a paradise of fair women in the perfection of apparel. They have loaned $1,000,000 worth of gowns, furs, negligee, lingerie, hats, sport clothes and boots."

"The Fashion Show is more than a mere display of style. In five magnificent scenes, with stage settings of superb splendor it is shown how Cinderella became the best-dressed woman in the world. It is an ecstasy of pure delight to femininity, a beauty parade beyond comparison for the men. In most alluring fashion the evolution of dress from the time of Eve to the supreme product of civilization, the fashionable women of the twentieth century is shown. The Fashion Show is not a stilted parade. It is a glowing, gorgeous entertainment where perfect beauty and perfect art combine to rival Kings' treasures and Queens' wardrobes in their richness."

"Led by beautiful Mae Hopkins, America's most magnificent models are featured in the production."

"The Fashion Show will be offered in its entirety here just as it appeared at the magnificent Palace Theater, New York City, where it created one of the greatest furors of the current theatrical year. Mae Hopkins bears the reputation as being one of the most beautiful women in the world. Another world-renowned model in the cast is Betty Brown. Among the master designers who have contributed their pet creations are many of the most famous ones."

"The different scenes represent the work room of a modiste's shop, milady's boudoir, milady's shop, a morning at the country club, an afternoon at the country club, Mae Hopkins in special pose, milady at the ball and 'The End of the Dream,' as conceived and produced by May Tully."

"But the lavishness of the Fashion Show does not mean that the merit of any one of the other six star acts that will round out the program will be sacrificed in any degree."

"Fletcher Norton and Maude Earle are the second features of the bill. They rank with Joan Sawyer, the Castles and the other renowned exponents of modern dances. Their act is an elaborately staged terpsichorean number that is expected to prove exceedingly popular. Norton and Earle possess beautiful voices, and it is said that their repertoire of popular and topical songs is particularly well chosen."

"Third in advertising importance comes Boudini Brothers, who will bid for favor with a musical act, in which they show marked versatility."

"Burns and Kissen are ragtime singers extraordinary. They render ballad and classical numbers with success, it is said. Their act is declared to be refreshingly original, with clean, new comedy patter and some clever dancing."

"Bayon Whipple and Walter Houston, assisted by another artist, have a wierd but exceptionally effective offering called 'Spooks.'"

"Lady Alice's pets are expected to prove a source of delight to the kiddies. The pets are rats, cats, dogs and ponies. Contrary to the accepted order of things, Thomas Cat and Billie Mouse have declared a truce, in this particular instance, in any event, and so have Fido and Billie and Thomas. They all work together, and on the same stage at the same time, without the slightest friction."

"Frankie Murphy, the boy tenor, will vie for first honors with any other act upon the bill. He is said to have an exceptionally beautiful voice and to render a well-selected repertoire."

DISCRIMINATION ALLEGED

St. Louis, Mo.—A protest against alleged price discrimination by the Standard Oil Company in the sale of gasoline in St. Louis was filed with the Federal Trade Commission recently by Congressman William I. Igoe of Missouri. This complaint, according to F. C. Bretsnyder, one of the local independent oil dealers, was filed on behalf of the Western Oil Jobbers' association, whose membership includes independent dealers in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Michigan and Iowa.

It was pointed out, Bretsnyder said, that while the Standard Oil Company was selling the gasoline in New York for 20 cents a gallon, it was retailing the same product in Missouri for about 10 cents a gallon, although the cost of transportation from the oil fields to New York was only about 1 cent a gallon more than the cost of transportation to St. Louis.

While Standard Oil gasoline was selling in Missouri for 10 cents, Bretsnyder said, it was sold for 13 1/2 cents a gallon in Arkansas and for about 17 cents in Nebraska, both neighboring States to Missouri.

The complaint, according to Bretsnyder, accused the Standard Oil Company of violating the anti-trust laws by attempting to stifle competition.

After the time of Congressman Igoe's complaint, Bretsnyder said a committee of independent dealers was appointed to gather evidence intended to substantiate the charges but the work of this committee has not been made public.

Allies Mobilizing to Check Serb's Invasion

French and British Transports Landing Men and Supplies at Saloniki and Kavala.

London—The vigorous support which Herbert H. Asquith, the British Premier, and Aristide Briand, the new French Premier, have promised Serbia seemingly is about to be realized. Besides the Anglo-French troops including British cavalry who already are in southern Serbia, British and French transports are arriving daily at Saloniki and troops from them are being sent up the country immediately to attempt to check the Bulgarian march from Veles toward Monastir while other transports, according to a Sofia dispatch, have landed troops at Kavala, a Greek port on the Aegean Sea near the Bulgarian border.

At the same time the diplomats continue their efforts to secure the support of Greece and Roumania for Serbia, who fought with them in the last Balkan war. As time passes Serbia's position grows more critical. The Austro-German drive from the north is proceeding slowly but surely, while two Bulgarian armies are approaching Nish, from which place the Serbian government has moved to Mistrovitza, near the Montenegrin frontier. The Serbians, nevertheless, are fighting stern defensive battles, and from the German accounts it is apparent that their main armies are making good their retreat and leaving, as the Russians did in Galicia and Poland, very little except what cannot be saved—such as copper mines—for the invaders.

There is no further news of the Russian expedition which several days ago was reported off Varna, Bulgaria's chief seaport. The opinion is held in the entente allied countries that Roumania, where there is continued agitation in favor of intervention on their side, will allow the forces of Emperor Nicholas to move across her territory.

If this decision is reached it is believed that it will be influenced by the activity of the Russian army in Galicia where, according to the Russian official reports, General Ivanhoff has won another victory over the Teutons on the Stripa river. Further north, in Volhynia, there also is heavy fighting and the Russians claim to have checked an Austro-German offensive which had as its object the capture of Czartorisk.

In fact, all along the Eastern front the Russians, according to the German official report, are making a series of attacks from the Gulf of Riga to Roumania. It is admitted that the Germans were compelled to withdraw their lines in the lake district, but the other Russian attacks are claimed to have been repulsed.

In the west unfavorable weather is interfering with the operations. Both French and British submarines are now in the Sea of Marmora, where the French submarine Turquoise was recently disabled by the Turks.

CIRCULAR ASKS KITCHENER TO JOIN ARMY

London—Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, the Secretary of War, early this week received one of Lord Derby's invitations which are being largely circulated to men of military age to join the army. This amazing boulder was disclosed by Lord Derby himself, who, while addressing a meeting of middle-aged recruits, said nobody should be surprised if they received an invitation, as one had actually been sent to the Minister of War.

Von Buelow Not On a Peace Mission

German Prince Denies That He Has Been Authorized to Discuss Terms.

Lucerne—Prince von Buelow, former German Chancellor, informed the Associated Press that he had not come to Switzerland on a peace commission. He declared Germany was resolved to continue the war to its conclusion by arms.

The prince made it clear that he is not going to Washington to see President Wilson, or to Madrid to see King Alfonso, in relation to terms on which Germany might be willing to discuss peace. Nor is he engaged in such discussions with a papal delegate or anyone else. In addition to disposing of these reports, Prince von Buelow said to the correspondent:

"The war must be fought out. At another time during the conversation he said:

"Germany is united and possesses every resource in material unity and resolve to continue the war to its conclusion by arms."

The prince talked of various aspects of the war with considerable freedom, although stipulating that his views on these points must not be made public.

"For I am here as a private person," he explained, "and will not talk politics."

The only allusion on his part to American affairs was an expression of regret at the death of Herman Ridder of New York.

The prince and princess make trips daily by automobile to places of interest, usually in company with their close friend, Baron von Stockhammer of Munich, formerly Bavarian representative at the Vatican. The prince appears to be in perfect health, untouched by the anxieties of war.

Persons in Lucerne who have had Prince von Buelow under observation during the eight days he has been in Lucerne are convinced he has conferred with no distinguished strangers such as Monsignor Marchetti, papal delegate to Switzerland; Premier Salandra or Foreign Minister Sonnino of Italy, or former Premier Giolitti of Italy, each of whom has been reported at various times to have visited him. Neither has he seen Count Ehrensvard, Swedish minister to Switzerland, who has been described as a leader in the supposed peace movement.

FORBIDS COTTON EXPORT

General Carranza has issued a decree prohibiting the exporting of cotton, cotton seed and cotton seed oil, according to official advices to the Carranza consulate from the City of Mexico.

This was deemed necessary because for many months there have been heavy importations of cotton from the United States in order to keep factories in the southern part of the country running, while at the same time cotton was being exported from the Northern States, where a large part of the cotton of the republic is produced. The home supply of the staple is sufficient to enable factories to be operated with much greater economy than is possible with the imported staple.

Other advices to the consulate say:

"The Governor of the State of San Luis Potosi has issued a decree prescribing immediate death for any person taken in the act of committing robbery or other similar crime or denounced by eye-witnesses for such act. There are a few robbing bands of reactionaries in the State and this decree will suppress them. Reactionaries in this city have secretly circulated a large number of typewritten circulars which declare Carranza secured recognition in return for certain concessions and promises. General Gonzales has issued a statement denouncing the anonymous circular and maintaining that recognition was entirely unconditional. The trial of General Lucio Blanco has been postponed for two months by order of the first chief."

REVOLT AGAINST JAPS

More Than a Hundred of the Ringleaders Sentenced to Death.

Taiwan, Formosa—One hundred and seven Formosans were sentenced to death yesterday for revolt against the Japanese administration. The judge who pronounced the doom of the revolutionaries warned the authorities that the natives were dissatisfied with the government regulations under which they lived and that the revolutionary movement started by the accused had a far-reaching effect among the islanders.

Two of the ringleaders were councillors of the Taiwan prefectural office. In their statement in reply to the query of the public procurator they said that since the occupation of Formosa by Japan the islanders had constantly suffered from misadministration; that they had been deprived of their industries and trade and were groaning under heavy taxation. They declared that in the long run the islanders would be reduced to wretched and deplorable conditions. Their aim was to drive out the Japanese from the island.

According to the prosecutor the revolutionaries made efforts to raise war funds by inducing the ignorant islanders to join and support their scheme. To carry out this purpose they fabricated and circulated wild rumors to appeal to the superstitious minds of the islanders. They declared among other things that a Buddhist prophet had foreseen Japan's occupation would expire next year and that in case the Japanese did not leave the population would be annihilated by divine power. Those who contributed were given a tablet which, when carried on the body in case of warfare, was to be effective in protecting from the danger of death. Furthermore, during the Tsingtau attack and the Japan-China negotiations, they circulated a rumor that many German aeroplanes and a big force of Chinese revolutionaries would come to the island to recover the soil from Japan.

The last sentences were in addition to those imposed earlier in the month, when eight ringleaders were ordered shot.

STUDEBAKER CROSSES FIVE MOUNTAIN RANGES

Trip Into West Made Without Requiring Outside Assistance.

That the 1916 Studebakers possess abundant power for meeting the contingencies of long distance touring was satisfactorily demonstrated in the drive made by C. T. Johnson, from the Detroit factories, to his home at Moscow, Idaho. Mr. Johnson encountered mires, rocky and gullied roads, long crooked hills and five sharply graded mountain ranges, but the Studebaker motor at no time required outside assistance. His wife and daughter joined him en route and they carried a camping outfit, getting all the healthful enjoyment to be had from an automobile tour through the wilds, over plains and through the Western Rockies. The little Missouri river was crossed over the railway bridge, because of a washout. While crossing the Continental Divide, Johnson met motoring parties who were using horses to make the steep climb, and still others who were forced to tarry while their motor cooled off. The Studebaker gave him no trouble, and it was necessary to go into low gear for short distances on but a few occasions, in taking steep mountain grades. Nor was the carburetor adjustment required for making these ascents.

SERBIAN WOMEN SERVE AS SOLDIERS

London—There were nearly 2,000 women in Serbia's army when I left and more women-soldiers were being organized," said Dr. Gruitch, a Serbian army doctor, now in London.

"The women are not in special battalions. Some of them wear the complete uniform of a soldier for the sake of comfort. Others wear skirts with a blue tunic. The younger women go with their brothers or husbands. The women are of every class and we can not prevent them from serving. They inspire the men with whom they march and serve, shoulder to shoulder in the trenches."

"These women are not afraid."

Army Aviation Scandal Aired in California

Lieutenant Colonel Reber Explains Letter Attacking His Superiors.

San Francisco—Lieutenant Samuel Reber, chief of the aviation section of the United States Army, explained to a court-martial here what he meant by writing Captain Arthur S. Cowan at San Diego to "sit tight and draw his pay," and some other written comment. He said Cowan was entitled to an aviator's extra pay although he was not an aviator and that was what he meant. The court-martial is trying Lieutenant Colonel Lewis E. Goodler for conduct subversive to discipline.

Lieutenant Colonel Reber explained a statement that "it is embarrassing to me because Patterson does not appear on the weekly flying sheets," by saying that Lieutenant W. L. Patterson had been prevented from flying by illness and by lack of machines, creating an embarrassing situation, but that the War Department knew the facts.

Although Lieutenant Colonel Goodier is the man on trial, much of the testimony thus far has been about Reber, Captain Cowan and the conduct of the aviation school at San Diego, where seven army officers have been killed in two years. The defendant, it is charged, incited officers there to make charges against their superiors.

The animosities of the base began to develop late today. That he could get him out of the service was a declaration, including an epithet, attributed to Lieutenant Colonel Goodier by Lieutenant Colonel Reber, referring to Captain Cowan. Reber said Captain Dennis P. Quinlan, who was Goodier's assistant in the judge advocate's office, told him Goodier made the remark.

Proceedings thus far have been taken by persons familiar with army affairs to indicate that the main purpose insofar as the defense is concerned, is to bring out the conditions existing at the army aviation school near San Diego under the management of Captain S. Cowan.

DEFECTIVE CHILDREN TO BE MADE OVER

Chicago—The first of a series of clinics in which it is proposed to treat 5,000 children said to be on the "mental borderland between normal and subnormal," was held today.

The children are lacking at present in the mental equipment to make good citizens, yet not bad enough for the insane asylum, according to Dr. John D. Robinson, Health Commissioner, who was in charge of the clinic. Many of them, he said, could be cured. There were twenty children at today's examination. Other clinics will be conducted by other medical men, noting the lack of an institution in Chicago for the treatment of such cases, banded together to give the defective children a chance in life.

Will Wilson be to Control Congress?

That Is the Question That Is Agitating Political Leaders These Days.

Washington, D. C.—How much influence will President Wilson have with Congress in the coming session? This is agitating the Washington politicians at present.

Is the President's dominion over the members of the House and Senate in this Congress going to be as great as in the last Congress?

As members of Congress arrive for the session, and they are beginning to come with greater frequency, such a question becomes more and more common.

It is generally realized by both Democrats and Republicans, that the legislative outcome depends in large degree on how far the President is able to dictate to Congress; on how readily Congress, when told to do anything by the White House, will proceed to do it.

Not only is the legitimate outcome involved, but the outcome of the campaign next year may depend on the success or failure of the President in getting Congress to do his bidding. It is the view here that if there is strong Democratic insurgency in Congress, and the Administration organization "falls down" in the enactment of the White House legislative program, the prestige of the President will suffer and he will be weakened in 1916.

Senator Root recently predicted in an interview that the Administration shipping bill would be beaten in the House by Democratic votes. He looks for much Democratic insurgency—that is, refusal to line up for Administration measures.

On the other hand, Democratic leaders who are in close touch with the Administration, declare the situation is improving for the President and the outlook is favorable for the great bulk of the proposed legislation. This, they say, is true, regardless of any attempts by William J. Bryan to oppose the program and to expose the Democratic party to the menace of a split.

Save Sweet Potatoes.

R. R. Claridge, agricultural agent of the T. and P. railway, says of the sweet potato crop this year:

"There is a very large crop of sweet potatoes in Texas and Louisiana, accounted for by largely increased acreage and a promising yield. Unless there shall be some arrangement made for holding a large proportion of the crop off the market for a time, by processing to enhance the keeping quality, there will almost certainly be trouble to sell at fair prices.

"Communities having large acreage should go in together and build warehouses for curing. If they cannot make satisfactory arrangement to use the patented process, they should get the United States government bulletin on the subject, and do the best they can with the government plan. It will no doubt preserve the sweets till they will bring a good price. People who get busy on this suggestion will make money for themselves and do their sections and the industry good by relieving the strain upon the market at digging time.

"As the situation appears to me, it means millions of dollars, or next to nothing, for sweet potatoes. The crop can be saved if people who are interested and able act now."

A pitcher has been invented to hold a can of condensed milk and permit its contents to be easily poured.

Willard Will Defend Championship Next March

Opponent Not Selected, but Will Be Either Moran, Fulton or Coffey.

New Orleans—Jess Willard, champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, will defend his title in a twenty-round bout here early next March, according to announcement made tonight by Willard and Tom Jones, his manager, and Dominick Tortorich and Tommy Burns, local fight promoters. His opponent is to be named by December 10 and the promoters stated the challenger will be either Fred Fulton of Minnesota, Frank Moran of Pittsburgh or Jim Coffey, the Dublin Giant.

According to the Agreement, Willard is guaranteed $32,500, win, lose or draw. The agreement was reached following negotiations which began with Willard's arrival here last Saturday and have been in progress daily since.

The promoters announced the bout will be staged either on Saturday, March 4, or Monday, March 6, during the first week of the Mardi Gras carnival. Willard will leave here tomorrow for Los Angeles to spend a month with his family.

KING GEORGE BROUGHT HOME ON STRETCHER

London—King George, who was injured recently in France, has returned to London.

While King George was in an ambulance train, he directed that Lance Sergeant Oliver Brooks of the Coldstream Guards, who had just been awarded the Victoria Cross, be brought to the royal car, and there, despite his weakness due to his recent accident, the King pinned the medal on the soldier's tunic. He did so while lying prone and was so weak that he found it difficult to push the pin through the khaki.

With his face flushed with pride, Sergeant Brooks knelt by the King's bed until the medal had been affixed.

The King's journey across the channel was exceedingly rough, but his majesty bore it well. On his arrival at the Victoria street station he had to be carried on a stretcher to a waiting ambulance.

Some day they are going to discover an operation by means of which the Conscience can be removed. And when that day comes the poor surgeons will be busy night and day.

STOMACH TROUBLE FOR FIVE YEARS

Majority of Friends Thought Mr.
Hughes Would Die, But One Helped Him to Recovery.

Pomeroyton, Ky.—In interesting advices from this place, Mr. A. J. Hughes writes as follows: "I was down with stomach trouble for five (5) years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die.
I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good.
I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. He advised me to try Theford's Black-Draught, and quit taking other medicines. I decided to take his advice, although I did not have any confidence in it.

I have now been taking Black-Draught for three months, and it has cured me—haven't had those awful sick headaches since I began using it.

I am so thankful for what Black-
Draught has done for me."

Theford's Black-Draught has been found a very valuable medicine for derangements of the stomach and liver. It is composed of pure, vegetable herbs, contains no dangerous ingredients, and acts gently, yet surely. It can be freely used by young and old, and should be kept in every family chest.
