Proceedings of Farmers' Congress.

The farming, horticultural and livestock features of Texas are presented in some of their most interesting and progressive phases in the proceedings of the Fourth Annual Session of the Texas Farmers' Congress, which have recently been published in a book of 194 pages. While much of the proceedings were published in the press of the State, still from the nature of the case these publications could only be in part. The questions asked and the answers given drew forth some of the most instructive and entertaining features of the Congress, and generally these direct efforts to secure special information from men who had achieved success, could not be printed in the State papers because of the space required for their expression. The Congress deemed it advisable to publish the proceedings of the Fourth Annual Session in book form, and practically complete, because of the nature of the program, it is impossible for any one person in attendance at the Congress to hear more than a portion of the discussions that are carried on in several places throughout the day, and that the progressive people of Texas may acquire just view of the scope and usefulness of these annual meetings, and that the many valuable papers may be preserved for a more general perusal, and for future reference.

Independent meetings were held at the A & M College in 1901 by the Truck Growers, Dairywomen, Cotton Growers, Beekeepers, Poultrymen, Fruit Growers, Floral Association and the Woman's Industrial Association.

The printed proceedings contain the best features of each of these meetings. Some of the subjects discussed will be presented indicating the variety of topics embraced within its 194 pages: Rice culture, Canning Factories, Poultry Insect Pests, How to Raise Queen Bees, Influence of Home Surroundings on Children, The Successful Texas Dairy Alfalfa Raising, Fruits for East Texas, Chrysanthemums, Melon Culture, Improvement of Farm Seeds, The Texas Tobacco Industry, Rural Mails and Telephones, Cotton Factories.

This book will be sent to any address postpaid upon receipt of fifty cents.

Great Railroad Project.

Austin, Tex., March 17.—It is learned on reliable authority that the recent organization, under the laws of Utah of the National Railroad Company of Mexico, with a capital stock of $63,350,000, is one of the concluding steps in the negotiations that have been in progress for some time looking to the transfer of the Mexican National and the Mexican International Railroads to the Harriman interests. It is understood that the new company will take formal possession of these properties very soon. The company has no intention of building a new railroad from Laredo or any other part on the Rio Grande border to the city of Mexico, as was stated in the recently published press dispatch from Salt Lake.

A Serious Accident.

Mrs. Cecil Robinson was accidentally shot at the ranch 15 miles east of town last Thursday, being struck by the jacket of a 30-30 bullet, which was fired at a negro man in Mr. Robinson's employ by Charles Munson another employe. As near as we can gather, the particulars are about as follows:

Last Wednesday the negro and Munson had some difficulty on the ranch and it seems that the negro held the upper hand, and, according to his statement, Munson ran toward the house threatening to get a gun and kill the negro. The negro left the place as quickly as possible, going toward Kerrville. He spent the night at D. Tabor's mail camp on Paint creek, saying that he was afraid that Munson would kill him, and that he had started to meet Mr. Robinson, who had gone to Kerrville. The negro declined the idea of going on until he should meet Mr. Robinson, and returned to the ranch Thursday. It seems that Munson had left the ranch also and having secured a 30-30 caliber rifle, returned soon after the negro did, and fired from the outside at the negro, who was in the kitchen or dining room. The ball missed the negro, and, passing through a wall and a door, the jacket of the bullet struck Mrs. Robinson in the right corner of the mouth, ranged around the lower jaw and lodging, tearing a large wound, but breaking no bones. Mrs. Robinson was brought to town as quickly as possible. Dr. Robertson, extracted the jacket of the bullet, and Mrs. Robertson is doing as well as could be expected after the shock and some loss of blood. Mr. Robinson was phoned at Mountain Home as soon as possible after Mrs. Robinson's arrival, and reached here yesterday morning about seven o'clock. —Rock Springs Rustler.

Fought With Wolf.

San Patricio, Tex., March 15.—Rev. M. Puig, rector of this Catholic parish, had an encounter with a mad wolf on the ranch of Bryan Gallagher at Gussettville, from which he narrowly escaped serious injury.

While conversing in the parlor after supper, the family heard the house dog fighting with some animal in the yard, and Father Puig started out to investigate, picking up a walking cane in the hall. On reaching the place of disturbance he found the dog engaged in battle with a very large coyote, which quickly shook off its antagonist and rushed open-mouthed at the reverend father. The latter struck the coyote several blows on the head with the cane, but on trying to deliver out a knockout blow to the rabid animal, the cane broke and left the priest defenseless.

Fortunately the battle had brought the contestants to the vicinity of the woodpile, from which Father Puig quickly snatched a stick, and with a few well directed blows, quickly dispatched his antagonist, escaping himself from the encounter without a scratch.

Inhaled Oil Fumes.

Wichita Fall, Tex., March 16.—J. M. Rainey, engineer at the elevator is dead as the result of inhaling the fumes from an empty oil fuel tank. He went into the tank and tried to get out as soon as he became aware of the gas, but fell after reaching the exit. Mr. Dodge at once raised an alarm and went after Rainey and was overcome. Arthur Goff then went into the tank and succeeded in tying a rope to Dodge's foot, but was overcome when near the exit; he was drawn out in an insensible condition. D. M. Perkins then went down and succeeded in getting a rope around Rainey's body, though he was himself unconscious when he was drawn out. Mr. Rainey was then pulled out and lingered for some time. The three brave men who risked their lives are out of danger, but their experience has been a trying one. Mr. Dodge is still in bed.

Llano Mining News.

Llano, Texas, March 15.—The Post correspondent while in conversation with Mr. E. J. Mackey, manager of the Llano Mining Milling and Smelting company, was informed that his company would purchase, just as soon as bids could be had, an ore crusher and milling plant of a capacity of fifty tons per day. This company's property is on Sharp mountain, about three miles southeast of Llano. They are working men in five shafts on the mountain and are opening new shafts each day. He also stated that his company had purchased a sifting fixture at the amount of $600. The ore obtained from these mines averages $11 per ton in gold and $4 in silver.

Mr. R. Y. Travers, of Chicago, who is interested in the big iron mountain near Llano is here. His company is thinking very favorably of working this iron and shipping it to the smelters. —Houston Post.

Baby Clings to a Pipe.

Baldwin, L. I.—Remarkable coolness and pluck in a 2-year old child was shown here recently when the little son of Augustus Mitthauer was saved from drowning in a well by his own determination. A plumber had been repairing a service pipe that connects the well with the house, and left the trapdoor open.

In wandering about the yard the child became curious about the open trap, and in investigating lost his balance and fell head foremost into the water, which was five feet deep.

Rising to the surface, the baby's hands came in contact with the service pipe and he clung to it.

About an hour after the child was last seen his uncle, Frank J. Bedell, heard peculiar sounds in the well and after lowering a lantern discovered the child frantically clinging to the pipe, though half unconscious.

With the assistance of neighbors, Bedell descended into the well, and, after getting a firm hold upon the child, was cautiously hauled to the surface. The child appears to be none the worse for his remarkable experience.

A Texan's Advancement.

Denton, Texas, March 18.—News has been received here of the appointment of a former Denton boy as governor of Washington. William McCroskey is his name, and ten years ago he was a driver of a fire engine in this city. He went to Washington, got into politics, was elected lieutenant governor, and now, by the death of Governor Davidson, is governor at the age of 28.

The Murders at Beaumont.

Beaumont, Tex., March 15.—John Welsh, a white man who has been implicated, by allegation, by Mattie Bennett, the confessed negro leader of the gang of robbers and murderers that has been operating here, was brought to Beaumont to-day, having been arrested at Houston on the strength of the woman's confession. Welsh denies complicity in the murders. He was an iron moulder employed in the foundry where Benjamin Pearson, one of the murdered men, worked.

In jail to-day the Bennett woman talked freely. She confessed everything except direct murder, saying that her part was to drug the men entering her house, and members of the gang would then beat them into insensibility and rob them.

The Neches river, where five bodies of supposed victims of the gang were found, skirts the town of Beaumont. It is about 150 feet wide and thirty feet deep. In some places swamps run back. A body thrown into the swamps stands small chances of being found. The alligators would devour them. If it is true that fifty persons have disappeared from Beaumont this may be the solution of the mystery of the missing bodies.

The case in some of its features recalls the Bender family murders in La Belle county, Kansas, thirty years ago. The Benders for months entrapped travelers and killed them. The family consisted of a man and his wife and their grown daughter. When the murders were finally discovered, the Benders fled.

Gold in Crops of Chickens.

Chicago, March 20.—Nuggets of gold weighing from a quarter of an ounce to one ounce were found in the crops of chickens and ducks in South Water street to-day. The fowls were shipped from Fiefield, Wisconsin, a little town on the Wisconsin Central railway. The ducks and chickens were received by one of the many commission merchants along South Water street, and the discovery of the precious metal was made by his helpers when they killed the fowls for market.

The commission men express the opinion that there must be gold in considerable quantities about the bottoms near Fiefield. There were three dozen fowls in the lot and in the crops of every one of these one or more particles of gold were discovered, forty-one pieces in all being found. The aggregate weight of the entire weight of the entire amount is six and one-half ounces.

Pointed Out in Church.

With hand outstretched and finger pointing solemnly at a gray-haired man near the pulpit, on Sunday the Rev. Dr. W. R. Wedderspoon, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church with trembling voice exclaimed:

"What will the reaper do for us this next conference year? Will it take that old gray-haired man there, or will it be the man who is trying to preach to you to-night? The body of the old gray-haired man was yesterday found lifeless on a couch in his room.

He was Howard D. Coleman, who, when Asbury Park was a wilderness, helped to hew down the trees and lay out the town.

He was eighty-two years old, but had no thought of death until he heard these words. He went home and, it is believed brooded over the occurrence.

To a friend on Tuesday he said: "My time has come." That night he locked his door and was never afterwards seen alive.

And now all Asbury Park is wondering what influence pointed the finger of Dr. Wedderspoon at Coleman, and how this old man, who had occupied a seat in the church year after year, should himself, while apparently in full health, predict his own end.—New York Herald.

Spent Two Days in Jail.

Lem Strickland of Monroe, Ga., a delegate to the Bible conference in session at Atlanta, Ga., was arrested by the police on suspicion of being in league with the pick pockets who robbed several of the ministers who are conducting services. Strickland is very angry as he was kept confined two days. He showed his credentials, but the officers would not release him until other delegates came to his aid. The delegates are much incensed.

Why He Walks Two-Extra Blocks.

A Chicago man who lives in Goethe street gets off the car at Schiller street, two blocks away, because no conductor can understand his pronunciation of Goethe. "I had practiced on the pronunciation for a week," he says, "and I had the sound of the 'umlaut' down fine. I sprung it on the conductor the first evening. He looked at me blankly, and replied: 'Hub?' I repeated it over once or twice, and finally a great light broke over him. 'Oh, yes, you mean Go-the. Why didn't you say so?' The next evening the conductor called it Go-eeth. The third time up it was Go-e-the. Then there was a raw Irishman in charge of one of the trains who spoke of it as Go-tay, with the accent on the last syllable. One morning I left an order for my wife at the grocer's. He looked at me in silence for a minute after I had given our address. 'Oh, yes,' he said, 'you mean Certie street.' The butcher calls it Gaytie, the laundryman pronounces it Gaytub, and the man who delivers coal alludes to it as Goth street."

It's English, You Know.

Here is another advertisement of a London popular clothing house: "Saucy Cut Clothing—Cut siap with fakement seams and little artful buttons at the bottom, to suit all coiners, for business or pleasure. Cut very serious, to suit ploughmen, dustmen, sneaks, mushroom fakirs, trotter men, costers, actors, parsons, bruisers and gentlemen. Pegtops, bell bottoms, tights or half tights, or drop over the hoofs. Black or dandy vests, made to flash the rag or dickey, or tight up around the scrag. Lavender in every shade built spankey, to suit the ikey and flimsy lads of Notting Hill, Shepherd's Bush and the surrounding neighborhood."

Most Populous Street.

The most populous street in the world is said to be that in New York, extending from Amsterdam to West End avenue, and from Sixty-first street to Sixty-second street. Eight thousand seven hundred human beings of twenty-six nationalities, of every race, color and creed, are huddled together in five and six-story tenements.

Committed Suicide.

John Frederick Heicken, an old bachelor 63 years of age, who has been living with Mr. Charles Kellar on Spring creek for several months, committed suicide on Thursday morning of this week by shooting himself through the breast with a 44 calibre Winchester, the ball making its exit just below the right shoulder blade.

He made an attempt about two years ago to end his life by taking poison, but recovered from the effect. He was in comparatively good circumstances and no reason is assigned for his rash act, other than despondency. He leaves no relatives in this country, so far as the authorities have been able to learn.—Gillespie County News.

Boy Under Arrest.

Hondo, Tex., March 15.—A boy about 15 years old was today arrested and placed in jail by Sheriff Fritz Frerichs, charged with horse theft and forgery. He was staying on the ranch of a stockman living about 12 miles below Hondo. It is charged that he took a horse from there and came here and forged the stockman's name to a check for $5, which he succeeded in getting cashed by a merchant.

He claims to have relatives living at Cuero and Runge, Texas, who were at once notified by District Attorney Baker.

Colonel Edwin A. Stevens, the present owner of Castle Point, Hoboken, one of the oldest houses in America, has among his collection of curios, visiting cards of Martha Washington, written by the president, a book of Martha Washington's with her own name and the date 1759, and a piece of Mrs. Washington's red and white brocade gown.

Died.

Mr. E. B. Crockett died at his home, in this city, Monday, of general breaking down from old age, being in his 89th year. Mr. Crockett was well known and highly esteemed in this city, and had many friends in Kerr county, who will deeply regret his passing away. His former home was at Center Point, but he had been living in Kerrville for a number of years. The funeral took place Tuesday, and the body was interred at Mountain View cemetery. Mr. Crockett leaves an aged wife and two daughters, Mrs. O. White and Mrs. W. L. Robinson, of this city, who, with many friends mourn his death. After life's long battle, sweet and peaceful, be the rest of him who was a loving husband, a patient loving father and a staunch and loyal friend.

Lee Wallace.

Elsewhere in these columns will be found the announcement of Lee Wallace as a candidate for the office of County Judge of Kerr county at the ensuing November election. Any introduction of Mr. Wallace to the people of Kerr county through the columns of the SUN would be inappropriate. He has served the people of this county well and faithfully for the past two terms and well known to every voter in the county. To those who have twice honored him with their support for the office which he holds, he looks for support for the office to which he aspires. He is eminently qualified, and it elected will give his constituents service equal to any obtainable.

Senator's Costly Bread and Milk.

A distinguished senator of the United States went to Atlantic City a week or so ago for a few days' stay, relates a Washington correspondent. He took a room at one of the American plan hotels, agreeing to pay $8 a day for his meals and room. The next morning after he arrived he was seized with an attack of rheumatic gout. The doctor he called told him he must eat nothing but bread and milk. He stayed at the hotel for five days, and ate nothing but bread and milk three-times a day, touching nothing on the elaborate menus. On the sixth day he sent for his bill. This is the way it came: "To room and board, five days at $8, $40. To fifteen dishes bread and milk, at 25 cents, $3.75." "But," expostulated the senator, "I ate none of the meals. You shouldn't charge me for the bread and milk." The clerk silently pointed to the line, "Dishes not on the bill of fare are charged extra," and the senator says he will make it cost them a thousand dollars by the time he has told all his friends to keep away.

A Gospel Shop's Roof Garden.

The Metropolitan Church of Christ, of Chicago, is to erect a church with a gymnasium and a roof garden. The pastor, the Rev. Charles R. Scoville, says: "If roof gardens are profitable for pleasure and entertainment, why not for places where, during the hot weather, men and women can be gathered by the hundreds to enjoy the fresh breezes of Heaven while they listen to the gospel in sermon and in song?" There is only one roof garden church—the Church of Christ, in Columbus, Ind. This house has proved a great success during the hot summer nights. Mr. Scoville explains that ice cream socials and musical entertainments will be given on the roof of his church: "I will rent the roof garden to political parties for campaign purposes," he says.

Cheap Compliments.

A Western writer who recently visited Georgia says that on the very first day he was addressed as "Captain," and that after ten days everybody called him "Colonel."

He was somewhat puzzled about it, but the whole thing is very simple, as the following will show:

1. Give a Georgia dandy a "chaw of tobacco," and you're a cap'n.
2. Give him a quarter, and you become a colonel.
3. Paralyze him with a dollar, and you're a general for life.
4. Throw in an old suit of clothes and two stiff "drams" of corn liquor, and he raises all his children to call you "governor."

The above receipt for promotion in Georgia is infallible.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Job He Ought to Have.

Representative McDermott, of New Jersey, has a constituent who is always worrying him for a position. He has quit two or three jobs within the last month. "I don't know where to place him now," mourned Mr. McDermott. "Get him a job as lineman with Marconi's company," suggested Representative Ruppert. "That ought to suit him."

Kipling's Meter.

Some time ago it was noticed by an admirer of Rudyard Kipling that his famous poem, "On the Road to Mandalay," went very well to the tune of "The Wearing of the Green." On pointing this out to the author Mr. Kipling replied: "Oh, yes; I frequently take a well known song, hum it over for a few minutes and then write words to fit the tune."

Roney's Boys

Are Coming.

Pampell's Opera House, Friday Night, March 28.

...Will Make...

Third appearance at the Grand Opera House, San Antonio, on the following night.

Manager Pampell has scored a grand success in securing Roney's Boys for a performance in this city on the date above mentioned. Roney's Boys stand without an equal as musical entertainers. They sing "The songs you use to know." It is through a rare chance of good fortune that the people of Kerrville will have an opportunity to hear this justly famous troupe of singers.

Henry B. Roney, the manager of the troupe, is without a peer as a musical director. The fame of the Roney concerts now carries the entire United States. The standard, original methods, and conscientious attention to details, which gave to the choir of Grace Episcopal church, of Chicago, a national reputation during the ten years, it was under Mr. Roney's direction.

The costumes worn by the members of this troupe, are most beautiful. The high moral tone of their performances commends them to all the people everywhere they go. The endorsement given them by the press, the pulpit and the people is such as is rarely enjoyed by any troupe in the world.

Tickets now on sale. Don't wait. Never has a troupe visited the state more worthy of your patronage, or that you will feel has given you better value for your money.

Better With It Out of His System.

Bishop Williams of Connecticut used to tell the following story of the late Dr. Ducachet, formerly clergyman in St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal Church, Philadelphia: One Sunday morning Dr. Ducachet arose feeling wretched. After a futile attempt to eat breakfast, he called an old and favorite colored servant to him and said: "Sam, go around and tell Simmons, the sexton, to post a notice on the church door, saying that I am too ill to preach today." "Now, massa," said Sam, "don't you gib up that way. Just gib him a trial; you get long all right." The argument went on, and resulted in the minister starting off. Service over, he returned to his house looking much brighter. "How you feel, massa?" said Sam, as he opened the door. "Much better, Sam. I am glad I took your advice." "I knew it; I knew it," said the darky, grinning and every tooth was in evidence. "I knew you feel better when you get that sermon out o' your system."

Shooter's Island.

This launching of the kaiser's schooner will enlarge our knowledge of geography. "I find that very few persons know where Shooter's Island is," remarks Victor Smith in the New York Press. The Townsend-Downey Shipbuilding Company calls it "Shooter Island" on their invitations. The United States geological survey insists on "Shooter's Island," with the word of geographic names yet to be heard from. With and without the possessive the island is at the junction of three counties—Union and Hudson, N. J., and Richmond, N. Y. It is between two small light houses, that at Bergen Point and one to the westward, near Elizabethport. It is at the entrance of Newark bay. It is at the western end of the Kill von Kull. It is about half way between Howland Hook and Mariner's Harbor. It cannot be reached except by boat or airship.

Now Charged to Mad Stevens.

Of Thaddeus Stevens, the old republican leader, who is buried on the outskirts of Lancaster, Pa., in a cemetery for colored people, a Lancastrian told this story: "Mr. Stevens was pleading a case one day before a judge who disliked him. There was, in consequence, a good deal of veiled recrimination. This grew worse and worse, until finally, in a tremendous rage, Stevens stopped short in the middle of a cross-examination, rammied his papers in his bag, grabbed his hat and started clumping (for he was a little lame) out of the room. But the judge halted him. 'Mr. Stevens,' he said, 'it seems to me you are trying to show contempt for this court.' 'No, your honor, I'm trying to conceal it,' Stevens answered."

A Book's Right of Way.

Gilbert Parker's "The Right of Way" is justifying its title. It leads in the Bookman's reports of the best selling books with 265 points, against 129 for Mr. Cable's "The Cavalier," 111 for Ralph Connor's "The Man From Glengarry" and 110 for Mrs. Catherwood's "Lorraine." The other books on the list are: Lucas Malet's "Sir Richard Calmady" and Winston Churchill's "The Crisis."

Cabbage as a Jag Cure.

Cabbage is an old cure for drunkenness. The Egyptians ate it-boiled before their other food if they intended to drink wine after dinner, and some of the remedies sold as a preventive of intoxication on the Continent are said to contain cabbage seed.

BEAUMONT is fast putting on the airs of a great city. Her latest acquisition is a regular wholesale "Jack the Ripper" murder.

ONE of the greatest tasks set for human performance is to become a wise man and stop, without going over the limit and becoming an egregious ass or a monumental fool.

We are reliably informed that Chas. Montague, Esq., the well-known Bandera county lawyer, will accept the nomination for Representative of this district. There are many good reasons why Montague should be elected. He is an able man. He knows the interest of the people in this district as well, perhaps better, than any other man in the district, and will represent our interests well and faithfully. Bandera county is entitled to recognition in the matter of public patronage. If Montague will accept the nomination it will no doubt be given him, and in his case nomination means election.

James Crotty,

In the proper column of this issue will be found the announcement of Jas. Crotty, of Center Point, as a candidate for county commissioner from Precinct No. 2. If elected Mr. Crotty will, without doubt, serve the people well and faithfully, and lend much strength to the commissioners' court as an organization.

OUR MILLINERY OPENING.

Will take place, on March 24 and 25, Monday and Tuesday. We make this statement feeling confident that you will attend the opening. At that time Miss Cook, who has charge of this department will place before the ladies of Kerrville and community, the most delectable feast of beauty in feminine headwear, ever offered in this part of the state. No old goods that spent the summer at Long Branch or Saratoga last year—in shop windows, but new goods—new creations, prepared and trimmed right here in our Millinery parlor by Miss Cook herself, who stands without a peer as a trimmer of remarkable taste, and an artisan of supreme skill. We have supplied her with the very best materials obtainable, and she has expended upon the preparation for our opening, her best skill. It is the result of this combination we invite you to come and see on the date above stated. We don't want to gold-brick anybody in this department; we had your trade last year, we expect it this year and will endeavor to give you such service that we shall secure your patronage in years to come.
Yours truly,

One-Sided Arrangement.

A European town has adopted an ordinance requiring all husbands within its borders to be at home by 11 o'clock at night, or to pay a prescribed fine. This appears on the face of it to be a pernicious scheme for the discouragement of matrimony and the enlargement of the ranks of roving bachelors. If the heads of households are compelled to seek the refuge of their domestic residences an hour before midnight, unattached and irresponsible bachelors without wives should be rounded up and driven under cover at 10 o'clock or earlier.—N. Y. Tribune.

Hohenzollern a Prey to Vandals.

Souvenir vandals have played such havoc with the yacht Hohenzollern that it has been decided to limit special permits to visitors. Visitors have ruined the costly tapestries by cutting out bits, and have spoiled curtains and hangings by stealing a gold tassel or piece of silken fringe. These have been snatched through the windows that open on the main deck. Some of the ship's crockery, stamped with the imperial crest, is also missing.

No matter whether you wish to buy or not, it is worth seeing as a marvel of art. Can't Steal "Marconigrams."
Regarding the claim that other ships or stations could steal the messages," said Marconi the other day. "I wish to state that had another ship been alongside the Philadelphia she could not have intercepted my message and signals. We have a certain number of tunes—250 in all. We use one tune at a time. There being no proof of the tune we are using, our rivals would have to guess at our tunes. There would be thus 249 chances to one that they would not get it. It would be too elaborate an explanation and take up too much time for me to tell you at the present stage just what a 'tune' is."

Tossing the Pancake.

Thursday, in the great hall of Westminster school, the quaint Shrovetide custom of tossing the pancake among the scholars was observed, says a London paper. The ceremony, which has been carried out for over 100 years without a break, appears to lose none of its interest as Shrovetide comes round and Thursday's proceedings were watched by a large number of ladies and gentlemen. At 12:30 the scholars were summoned to the sound of a bell by the school sergeant from the class-rooms into the hall, and there they selected a representative from each form to scramble for the pancake. The chosen boys having been ranged beneath the bar over which the pancake is annually tossed, the school cook, bearing in his hand a silver pan containing the edible symbol of Shrovetide, entered the room, preceded by the dean's verger, and at the order of the headmaster threw the pancake. A wild scramble ensued between the selected boys to obtain possession of it. After about five minutes' scrimmage, an upper form boy, Logan, emerged with the largest piece of the pancake in his hand, and was thereupon awarded the guinea that is annually presented to the successful scholar.

Trying to Have Posters Taxed.

Joseph C. Pumpelly, president of the City Improvement Association, in New York, is doing all that lies in his power to so tax public posters that they will not deface the landscapes and disfigure all the public places of the city and state as they do at present. He has been at Albany working for the passage of a bill that proposes a tax of 1 cent for each two feet or fraction thereof on the surface of every poster exposed to public view. In his opinion, a measure of this sort will greatly mitigate this evil.

Leavel Headed South Carolinian.

Two lawyers began to use some pretty sharp language toward each other in a court in Charleston, S. C., but were quickly brought to book by Magistrate Memminger, who admonished them, and told them that it "was not the United States senate in which the case was being tried."

Archibald's Version of the Prince.

Archibald Roosevelt discussed the prince with great vigor to some of his schoolmates the other day. "Why," he said, "he ain't like any prince I ever heard of. He didn't come up in a chariot drawn by white horses at all. He rode in a carriage just like ours. I don't think he's much of a prince," the small boy sniffed. "He looks just like any other man—made of meat, you know."

Four Old Railroad Pensioners.

The Philadelphia & Reading railroad has four pensioners who have served the company honorably and continuously for fifty or more years—Daniel Burke of Philadelphia being the latest one added to the list, after fifty-two years' continuous service. He will receive $30 a month from the company, and his comrades have given him a gold watch and a big, comfortable chair "in which to rest his weary limbs for the remainder of his days." He is 72 years of age.

A Really Useless Search.

At a gathering of medical men who had assembled at the Philadelphia College of Physicians, a discussion arose as to the utility of the X-ray on the battlefield, and the surgeon, Dr. W. W. Keen, told this story: "After the battle of Gettysburg, a corps under the command of a young physician, who had recently been appointed, was ordered to collect the wounded. Among the disabled was a man who had been shot through the leg. The young doctor proceeded to use his knife. After cutting for a half-hour, he was interrupted by the soldier with: 'Say, how much longer are you going to cut?' 'Until I get the bullet,' replied the doctor. 'Why, you fool, it that's what you want I've got it in my pocket.' Sure enough, the bullet had lodged in the skin of the man's leg after passing through, and he had kept it as a souvenir."

"THE LONG TRAIL."
OF THE CATTLE RANGE

has given prominence in history to the now world famous Texas Panhandle. But a few years ago the wonderful possibilities of this region as a wheat country became known, and great things were prophesied for "The granary of the South," which subsequent harvests justified. Comparatively recent is the demand of good livers for "Vernon Cantaloupes," but it's come to stay. Those acquainted with this section and its wealth as a producer of feed-stuffs, corn and cotton have long believed in it, nor have they been moving away. When northwestern Texas remained conspicuous for excellence in the face of almost universally discouraging crop conditions, people began to see reasons for the faith of those inviting them to enter and possess the land; and now, with farms and ranches being bought daily by new settlers coming in by wagon and rail, three new railroads now building and four more projected, seeking a share of the general prosperity, good reason is evident for the favor with which the territory along "THE DENVER ROAD" is regarded by prospectors.

FARMERS' MERCANTILE CO-OPERATIVE ASS'N
 TO PROMOTE UNITED MUTUAL INTEREST.

CENTRE POINT, TEXAS.

DEALERS IN General Merchandise.

Our co-operative supply store is now ready for business. Our intention is to make this a model business organization, of which this community may be justly proud. We solicit a share of the public patronage, and guarantee fair and square dealings, no deception of any kind will ever be permitted. We shall handle nothing but pure and good goods, something that we can recommend. We shall have but one price, which will be the lowest for which goods can be sold.

There is one thing in particular to which we wish to call the attention of the public in general, namely: That this is not a money making, but a money saving institution. After paying expenses of conducting the enterprise, which includes interest on capital invested, the remaining net profits are returned to patrons as a dividend on their purchases. Members receive full dividends. Non-members receive half dividends on purchase checks issued with us, every patron becomes a participant, a profit sharer. We also take the place of an investment company, outside of membership certificates this Association issues interest bearing certificates of stock, redeemable on short notice.

Now let every farmer come right out, like a man, and identify himself with this grand and glorious movement. It is a duty you owe to yourself and family, as well as to the farming interests in general that you should join.

Co-operation makes you strong and powerful, co-operation enables the people to do their business collectively for mutual benefit and advancement, so brother farmer give us your hand, and your heart will beat in sympathy with this world wide movement, which stands for progress and prosperity and the welfare of all human endeavor.

It is through economic equality that we obtain constructive power.

Respectfully,

Farmers' Mercantile Co-operative Association,
 H. NOLL, Manager.

To follow.
 Every body or gentleman desiring a rare trade without any capital to their ordinary business, write to B—, inclosing 1 stamp, and we will forward particulars. It is said that those who answer advertisements of this nature, which abound in English newspapers, sometimes receive a laconic postcard, "Do as do."

"Bim, the Button Man."

Meyer K. Bimberg, widely known as "Bim the Button-Man," because he manufactures campaign buttons, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in New York. His troubles, however, are not due to any slump in the button trade or to failure of the prediction he made as to what fate would go upon the buttons, but to inside business ventures.

Days Nurses Should Be Hypnotists.

Professor John D. Quackenbos, the New York physician who has made some special investigations in hypnotism—and likewise some startling statements concerning it—now suggest that trained nurses should study to become adepts in the science so as to exert as powerful an influence as possible on their patients.

An Algerian Pompeii.

Letters reaching Marseilles from Algiers state that the excavations carried out at Tingad, on the site of the ancient Thamugas, have brought to light a veritable Algerian "Pompeii." The boundaries of the ancient city have now been laid bare on three sides. During 1901 more than 100,000 cubic meters of earth were removed, and the archaeological results were of the richest. These include a magnificent Roman mansion belonging to Sertius, public baths, a fountain, a Byzantine basilica with three aisles, a grand staircase leading to the upper part of the theater, a superb pagan temple in marble, probably dedicated to Caestis; eleven other buildings, and a most varied collection of objects, such as arms, utensils and vases. One of the ancient gates of the city and a great number of streets have also been laid bare.

Facts as to Flushes, Etc.

Prince Henry, who spent much time before starting for this country in reading up on our geography, customs and characteristics, would have gathered much knowledge as the fountain head could he have been present at a trial which opened in New York the other day, when information of an official kind was on tap concerning the great American game of poker. It was a suit for slander in connection with a card game, and nearly a hundred witnesses were rigorously examined as to bob-tail flushes, full houses, pat hands and bluffs before the twelve jurors were secured.

A Cashier From Scotland.

John G. Nairne, the recently appointed chief cashier of the Bank of England—one of the highest positions in the banking world—is a son of the late Andrew Nairne, accountant in the National bank, Castle Douglas, and a nephew of Sir Halliday Macartney. Mr. Nairne was connected with a bank in Glasgow for some time before he joined the staff of the Bank of England.

Now They Make Clay.

Artificial clay, according to German papers, is receiving increased attention abroad. The ceramic novelty, which is used for the manufacture of artificial stone, tiles, gutters, etc., is composed of sand, chalk, cement, liquid glue and petroleum. The substances are mixed in certain quantities and a claylike mess results which can be formed at pleasure and acquires an excellent degree of hardness by being subjected to heat.

For the "Daughters."

A Washington City shopkeeper, apropos of present and coming conventions, has in his show window this placard:

D. A. R. TERS.
 SHOULD WEAR OUT
 G. A. R. TERS.

A magnetic sandbar.

The fiction of the mysterious lodestone mountain which drew the nails out of ships that approached near enough has a certain foundation in fact, says the Siecle, only the fact has suffered by expansion. On the coast of Norway, near Joedern, there is a sand dune of nearly three-quarters of a mile in length. The sand is mixed with particles of lodestone, and when a ship comes in the vicinity the compass becomes irregular, and the vessel is entangled in a kind of whirlpool and thrown ashore.

Why Duse Quits.

In a recent statement Eleanora Duse declares that her forthcoming American tour will be her last, and she adds these somewhat uncomplimentary remarks about dramatists and her fellow players: "I need not repeat that I leave the stage without regret, but at the same time honesty compels me to say that I am almost forced to the step. I can't be forever playing Dumas and Sardou, Ibsen and Sudermann. No one of account is writing new plays for me, and those that are written might as well remain unacted. That means that I am threatened with literary famine. Shall I wait until the public tires of my repertoire? That would be foolish and I have always taken pride in avoiding acts of folly. Besides I must escape from the slavery of stage life. That is no life at all. I assure you it is hell—downright hell. Of many of my companions on the boards I can not think but with feelings of loathing and suspicion. Most of the players I meet are a contemptible lot."

Ann Arbor Man's Hard Luck.

Professor Mark W. Harrington, once occupying the chair of astronomy at Ann Arbor, and subsequently chief of the United States weather bureau at the national capital, is said to be working as a day laborer in a North Pacific coast lumber camp. Shortly after the political changes which led to Professor Harrington's downfall in Washington, his health failed. Insomnia undermined his strength and impaired his activity. Within the last six or eight years he has had a variety of experiences. He was president of the university of the state of Washington for a year or two, went to the Orient, where he was overtaken by scarlet fever, and after his return to this country worked on a Louisiana sugar plantation. Still more recently he filed a homestead claim in the fir forests of Washington, but instead of clearing the land himself he entered the employ of a lumber company at Port Blakely. An Ann Arbor dispatch says that his outdoor life is improving his health, conducing to deep and restoring his ambition. He has hopes of returning to his old place in the intellectual and scientific world.

They "Rushed" Her.

A young matron in Germantown who never lets small difficulties daunt her wished to give a tea. Her maid was inexperienced, but willing and anxious to please. So Ellen was told to open the door for the visitors and that each one would give her a card as she came in. In the midst of the tea Ellen rushed to her mistress in great distress and in a stage whisper said: "Two got a on one ticket, and I couldn't keep them out."

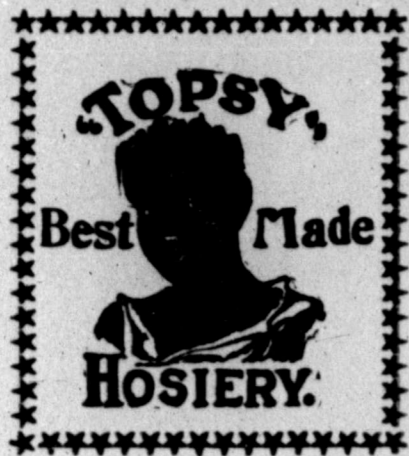

Seltzer's an Old Odd Fellow.

Abraham Seltzer, of Hamburg, Pa., has been for fifty-seven years an active member of Symmetry lodge of Odd Fellows of that town. He is the last survivor of the charter members. Since its organization the lodge has had but three secretaries. One served from 1845 to 1854, the second from 1854 to 1889 and the third from 1889 to the present time.

Electric Call for Carriages.

At last an electric carriage call has been devised, which is to be adopted at London theatres and other public buildings. By a simple arrangement, the number of the carriage wanted is shown in a position where it can be seen for some distance, and thus the present noisy system of shouting up and down the streets is done away with.
