Investigating the Death of a Boy.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 29.—An investigation is being made by Sheriff Tobin into the death of Leonard Knowlton, the 10-year-old boy who died December 23, from the effects of a bullet supposed to have been accidentally discharged from a 22-calibre target rifle at Long Lake addition a few days previous to the death.

It seems now that on the day of the shooting, deceased had gone with his brother, Albert, aged 8, and Jimmie Rossman aged 7, after his father's cows. The father of the boy states that when the three children returned Leonard was shot, and according to the statements made to Mr. Knowlton at the time by the boys, his son's life was wantonly taken by one of three boys, two of whom are unknown.

It seems that in their search for the cows, the Knowlton boys and their companion had passed the other three when one of the latter threw a target rifle up to his shoulder crying out:

"Give me lief, kids!"

They shouted "No," and ran, when a shot was fired which flew past the two smaller boys who were in the lead of Leonard Knowlton. A second shot was discharged almost immediately afterward. The bullet struck Leonard and he fell. The boys who did the shooting then ran.

Leonard Knowlton and his brothers made their way home, and the wounded boy died a few days later from the effects of the bullet which had entered his abdomen.

Sheriff Tobin had a number of boys at his office Tuesday for identification by Albert Knowlton and Jimmie Rossman. One boy was identified as having been with the party who had the rifle and was placed under arrest.

The investigation will be continued to-day.

An Appeal to the Public.

Georgetown, Ky., Dec. 28.—Former Secretary of State Caleb Powers, who has had two trials and now awaits in jail here his third for complicity in the murder of the late Governor William Goebel, today issued the following appeal to the public:

"I have recently written a number of letters to different States asking for financial aid in my coming trial for alleged complicity in the Goebel murder. A portion of the press has, misunderstanding of facts, attempted to thwart my plan for raising the much-needed money with which to defend myself by circulating a report that these letters are not genuine, because signed by different persons for me. It is true that many of them were signed by different persons, because it was impossible for one person to send them out in the limited time before my next trial, but all these letters are genuine. I have been continuously in the jails of this State for nearly three years. My means are exhausted. The generosity of Kentucky has been taxed to the utmost by my former so-called trials. In a few weeks I am again to be tried for my life; hence my appeal now to my friends outside of Kentucky."

People are seldom man and wife half their lives without wishing to impart their sufferings as well as their pleasures to each other.—The Kentons.

Flying Machine Problem.

Washington, D. C. Dec. 26.—Dr. Alex. Graham Bell, who has just returned to Washington from his summer home in Cape Breton island to-night, made the following statement in connection with reports that have appeared in the public prints that he has invented a flying machine: "The newspapers have been premature in announcing that I have been at work upon a flying machine. I have not any flying machine at all, and have not been trying to make one. I am, of course, interested in the problem and have come to the conclusion that a properly constructed flying machine should be capable of being flown as a kite if anchored to the ground, and that conversely, a properly constructed kite should be capable of use as a flying machine if provided with suitable means of propulsion. My experiments have had as their object the building of a kite of solid construction, capable of carrying up in a moderate breeze a weight equivalent to that of a man and engine, so formed that it could be suitable for use as the body of a flying machine and with supporting surfaces so arranged that when the kite is cut loose it will come down gently and steadily and uninjured. I have successfully accomplished this, but do not at present intend to make public the details of the construction."

Fatal Pistol Affray.

Brackett, Tex., Dec. 28.—Two Mexicans, Juan Garcia and Alvaro Orozco, became involved in a quarrel last night, drew their revolvers and began shooting at each other. The former was killed, having received three wounds, one through the stomach, one through the breast and one in the side. The latter was struck only in the thigh and was not dangerously hurt. He is now in jail here.

Blew His Leg Off.

Paris, Tex., Dec. 29.—A man named Caldwell, who lives near Davenport, Red River county, met with a fatal accident Christmas day. He bored a hole in a stump, filled it with powder, and lighted it with his cigar. The explosion was so great that it blew off one of his legs half way between the knee and hip, and caused internal injuries from which he will die.

Closed on Distress Warrant.

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 29.—The saloon and restaurant of Bull Bros., on the corner of Crockett street and Alamo plaza, the swiftest place of its kind in San Antonio, was closed by the Sheriff to-night by virtue of a distress warrant for rent, issued at the instance of George Saur, owner of the building in which the establishment was conducted.

Battle With Outlaws.

Guthrie, O. T., Dec. 29.—Federal officers are en route to Guthrie with four outlaws who were captured after a battle with the officers. The outlaws had robbed the postoffice at Mulhall, blowing open the safe and securing $400 in money and stamps. They were captured after a lively exchange of shots. As far as known no one was wounded.

What Texas Needs is Hustle.

Texas is a great state. It has every quality of greatness, not alone in the immensity of its territory, but in the magnitude of its resources and its raw products. It has just been stated by Prof. Sanderson of the A. & M. College that the insects in the fields of Texas annually do damage in an amount that approximates over $75,000,000. Yet, in spite of this loss the farmers are prosperous, farm values are above middling, and progress is about as healthy as it is in any state in the union. The proportion of the damage shows what Texas can lose yet not get into financial straits because of it. Now though we recognize the vastness of the state, there is strong need for inducements to capital in order that good manufacturing establishments be made a part of the state's interests and prosperity. Somebody need hustle. It may be that we are all a trifle derelict, but let that be as it may, the fact remains that sapiness does not pay and effort is necessary to success.

A persimmon falls, it is true, but more often a good long pole, well directed, does the work. Texas needs more manufacturing institutions, and the only way to get them is to hustle. Business leagues and business men are alike interested, as the gain is collective. Corporate towns should provide inducements to capital, and share the burden of the first step. Much may be accomplished by an exhibition of joint energy and an individual may not secure what joint co-operation may easily secure.—Literary Bureau, H. & C. Southern Pacific, Houston, Texas.

Hanged the Wrong Man.

Pittsburg, Kansas, Dec. 26.—Investigation to-day tends to show that Joe Godley, brother of Montgomery Godley, who was lynched here yesterday for killing Policeman Hinkley, is the man the mob intended to hang. It seems that Joe Godley escaped during the lynching. It is now thought that Joe Godley fired the shot which killed the policeman, and that the man who was lynched was innocent. The mother of the Godley boys is said to have asked a physician here to treat Joe for a gunshot wound in the neck. She would not tell the whereabouts of her son, and the doctor refused to go with her. Hinkley's revolver, with which he was killed, has not been found, and it is believed that the man who did the killing has the pistol in his possession.

First Royal Congressman.

Prince, Jonah Kunio Kalauiaole who represents Hawaii in the next house of representatives, is the first royal person to enter the congress of the United States. Already there is much speculation as to just how he will be addressed. He is called at home "Prince Cupid," and those who want to avoid such familiarity designate him as Prince Kunio, which is correct. Some may insist on Mr. Kalauiaole, but the name is so long and so intricate in vowels that it is feared that few who are not acquainted with the Kanaka language will care to try it.

The more times a man gets married the less he seems to have about not doing it again.

An Accidental Shooting.

Houston, Tex., December 27.—As the result of an unfortunate accident late Christmas night, Tell Schleup, aged 25 years, is lying at death's door at St. Joseph's infirmary, suffering from a fearful wound in the stomach. John Seerist, who is the father-in-law of Schleup's brother, fired the shot that has left the young man's life hanging in balance, and is prostrated with grief on account of the affair. The ball was a 45-caliber and entered between the ninth and tenth ribs, coming out at the front of the backbone and penetrating the bowels.

The accident occurred at the home of Mr. Seerist, No. 1319 Conti street in the Fifth ward, where Mr. Schleup also resided. The young man was passing by the shanty of Thomas Thomas, the aged negro who was burned to death Christmas night and he saw the room in flames. He ran to his home a short distance away, and obtaining a bucket of water started back on a run for the negro's house to extinguish the fire. As he was passing through the yard, Mr. Seerist, whose attention had also been called to the fire, raised a window and leveling a 45-caliber pistol toward the ground, fired. His object was to alarm the neighbors and assistance in putting out the blaze. Just as he fired young Schleup came directly in range of the bullet, which took effect as stated. As he fell he called out that he was shot and Mr. Seerist was horrified when he recognized the voice. Members of the family rushed to the assistance of the wounded man, and Dr. E. M. Bourland was hastily summoned. He pronounced the wound very dangerous and recommended that the patient be removed to St. Joseph's infirmary. This was promptly done, and an immediate operation was decided upon, in the hope of saving the injured man's life. Dr. Bourland called in Dr. Kyle and Dr. Allen to assist him. After the operation Schleup rallied, but during all of yesterday he was in a most critical condition, and but slight hopes were entertained for his recovery.

Later.—A message from St. Joseph's infirmary this (Saturday) morning announced that young Schleup died at 12:30 o'clock. The body was prepared for interment and sent to his father's home.

Cannon's Good Speech.

Said a Western friend to Congressman Cannon on Monday: "I haven't forgotten that speech you made on national finances last session, Joe. That was a fine effort." "Yes, Jim Courts gets up a good speech," said the Congressman, easily. Courts was clerk of Cannon's committee on appropriations. "Did Courts write that speech?" said the congressman easily. "Sure, didn't you notice that all the sentences were completed? You might have known I didn't write it."

New View of Stars and Stripes.

A San Francisco rabbi gives a new interpretation of the design of the American flag. To an audience of immigrants, largely Russian, the other day he said: "Do you know why the stars and stripes are in the flag? I will tell you why. They show that America has stars for those who behave themselves and stripes for those who do not."

Three Buried in One Grave.

Cuero, Tex., December 29.—One of the longest funeral processions and one of the saddest funerals ever seen in Cuero was that of Mrs. Walter Le Galley and her twin boys, who died from the effects of the burns received when their residence was consumed last Friday by fire. The funeral took place at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The three bodies were encased in the same casket and the poor husband and father holding his only surviving child, a boy of something over two years of age, standing by the grave with bowed head and tear-stained face, made a picture not soon to be forgotten, and few dry eyes left the cemetery when the ceremonies ended. Rev. A. H. P. McCurdy conducted the services which were most impressive, while a choir sang most beautifully "Nearer My God to Thee," as the casket was lowered into the grave.

Foully Dealt With.

Brownsville, Tex., Dec. 29.—News was received here to-day of the finding of the body of a young white man near Arroyo, thirty miles from here on Christmas day. He had been shot and the body dragged into a thicket, having been dead about five days when discovered. His pockets were turned wrong side out. Nothing was found to identify him. He was six feet tall and of light complexion. He stayed the night before the murder with a family near the Arroyo and told them he was coming to look for work on the rice fields near Brownsville.

Both Fatally Shot.

Brownwood, Tex., Dec. 29.—A shooting affray took place about six miles north of town to-day, in which both parties received wounds which may prove fatal. Details of the affair, as near as can be learned, are as follows: Some difficulty arose over the land on which Mr. Thomas was living. To-day Thomas came to town to obtain legal advice regarding same and was returning home when the difficulty occurred. W. C. Anderson was shot once in the stomach and once in the leg. J. R. Thomas was shot in the stomach, arm and hand.

New York's Debt to the Country.

Every great city is naturally a magnet for aspiring youth in country towns; but this has been true of New York more than of any other towns. The metropolis attracted J. P. Morgan from Connecticut, John D. Rockefeller from Ohio, Jay Gould and Russell Sage from up the State, and Carnegie from Pittsburg. Most of the kings of finance for several generations came from elsewhere; its noted preachers also, Beecher, Talmage, John Hall, Bishop Potter, Savage; its inventors, Edison and Tesla; its painters and sculptors, Chase, St. Gaudens; its editors, from Horace Greeley's days on; its lawyers, Tom Reed, Carlisle, Choate, Evarts; its hotelkeepers, Parent, Stevens, Bolt; its great merchants of a former generation, Horace Claffin, A. T. Stewart and Tiffany, and those of the present, including the department store proprietors; its theatrical managers and impresarios, the Frohmans, Henry Abbey, Maurice Grau; its literary men, Howells, Clemens; its engineers, the Roebblings and McDonald.

"But where to find that happiest spot below; Who can direct, when all pretend to know?" —Goldsmith.

Many are satisfied to live in Northwest Texas, having proved the value of the land in this region as a good crop raiser. Not only cattle, but wheat, cotton, Corn, feed-stuffs, cantaloupes, garden truck and good health flourish here—in a district where malaria is impossible and very little doing for jails and hospitals.

Land, which is being sold at really low figures—the constantly increasing demand is steadily boosting values—is still abundant, and farms and ranches, of all sizes, very happily located, are being purchased daily.

We will gladly supply all askers with a copy of a little book, published by the Northwest Texas Real Estate Association, which contains an interesting series of straightforward statements of what PEOPLE HAVE ACCOMPLISHED along the line of Strike on a Church.

The Grace Presbyterian church, the fashionable church of Oswego, N. Y., has been placed on the unfair list of the labor organizations of that city. Two years ago, when the interior of the edifice needed redecorating, the trustees felt that they wanted something beyond the skill of the local decorators, so they let the contract to a company of an adjoining city. They did the same last spring, when the church needed a new curbing and sidewalk. But when a leak developed in the roof recently the local dealers in metal roofing were applied to, but they refused to take the contract because the church has been placed on the unfair list.

Negro Teacher in Philippines.

The best school in the Philippine islands is taught by a negro graduate of Yale, according to Superintendent Atkinson's judgement, as quoted by Captain Lowe, of New York city, who is stationed at Subig. Frederick Douglass Bonner had a high standing in his class, and his school in Sulig not only reflects his ability, but the acceptance given the man because of his color. Captain Lowe says that "a color teacher with an American college education is bound to meet with great success in the islands." Mr. Bonner writes interesting letters to his folks in New York telling of his 120 pupils, who, he says, surprise him by their quickness in learning, but was less their brightness as they get to be 15 or more.

Hadn't Found Either.

Henry Ward Beecher returned to Indianapolis after he had gone to Brooklyn, for a little visit, and his friends arranged a reception for him, which was inadvertently planned for Wednesday evening—prayer-meeting evening. Late in the evening there appeared a severe looking elderly gentleman, who came to Mr. Beecher with an air of rebuke, and said: "Mr. Beecher, this is prayer meeting night. I went to the First Presbyterian prayer meeting, and to the Third Presbyterian prayer meeting, and to the Fourth Presbyterian prayer meeting, expecting to meet the Lord Jesus and Henry Ward Beecher." The good man paused, and Mr. Beecher replied, with that irrepresible twinkle in his eye: "Well, my dear sir, it's plain that you didn't find either of them."

Hunting Raleigh's Burial Place.

The question of Sir Walter Raleigh's burial place has lately been revived in England. Three churches claim both the head and body of the gallant courtier. Immediately after the execution, which took place in Tothill street, Westminster, on October 29, 1618, his wife placed the head in a red bag and rode off with it in a mourning coach. This treasure she kept for twenty-five years. The body was buried in St. Margaret's church, but shortly after the execution Lady Raleigh wrote to her brother, Sir Nicholas Carew, asking permission to bury her husband in his church at Beddington, where she desired also to be buried. History is silent from that time on. It is known, however, that her son treasured the head as his mother had, and, according to the London Daily Chronicle, tradition says that it was finally buried with him at West Horseley, Surrey.

Hungarian's Wives' Wigs.

Here in Essex, Ludlow, Suffolk, Broome and Delaney streets, says the New York Press, we meet a great many women of all ages who wear wigs of perfectly straight hair plastered to their shaven heads. They are Hungarian wives. The wig is put on immediately after the marriage ceremony to tell their world that they are wedded and faithful to their husbands. The most beautiful hair is shaved off and the head covered with the cheapest of wigs, in order to render these women plain and unattractive to other men. It is a religion to appear as ugly as possible as a defense against designing males.

Kipling's "Evil Eye."

Fishermen in and around Gloucester, Mass., are firmly of the opinion that Rudyard Kipling has "the evil eye." He wrote a book about them some years ago and named twenty fishing boats therein. Every one of these boats has met with disaster, the last two having foundered in a recent gale. Among English soldiers there are not a few who also think that there is something uncanny about Kipling's eye.

The Largest Tree.

The big tree recently described by the Scientific American as the largest in the world is outdone by another which has just been reported from Fresno. This newly found tree, measured 6 feet from the ground, is 154 feet and 8 inches in circumference, from which it follows that it is about fifty feet in diameter. Fortunately the tree stands on the government reserve, and will therefore be spared the attack of the insatiable ax.

A Flying Boat.

Herr Gustav Koch, of Berlin, proposes to construct a boat that will be able to fly. The experiments, he says, will be conducted on water, by means of which the dangers of cross country trial trips would be avoided. He recently showed to the German Society for Aerial Navigation his invention, which consists of a low, flat and light motor-boat floating on the surface of the water. It has adjustable steering apparatus and horizontal sails.

A Kind of Bovine Ostrich.

In the stomachs of a cow butchered near Montrose, Pa., a good sized pocketbook, with a brass clasp, was found. The pocketbook contained a roll of bills and 43 cents in change. A shingle nail and a hairpin were also found.

Eyes and Mustaches.

"A mustache protects the eyesight. It is only men with smooth-shaven lips, in nine cases out of ten, who require to wear glasses." This strange statement was made the other day by a Philadelphia oculist. "There are certain delicate little optic nerves," he went on, "that are connected with the upper lip, and every time the lip is shaved the nerves are hurt. A light shave, with a good razor, hurts them only a little. A close shave hurts them very much. Since these nerves are in direct communication with the eye, whatever they suffer the eye suffers, and that is why, when the razor hurts the lip, such a flood of tears comes gushing forth. Because it is fashionable today to have the lip shaven the wearing of glasses among men has increased. But, notice some time the men with mustaches, and you will see that not many of them have weak eyes."

Some Indian Sanotities.

Farrow says that Indians dislike making a night attack because of their belief that if killed in the dark they will be blind in the next world. When they claim lineal descent from a bear, wolf or other animal, they never kill that animal. Indians have no family names. Boys are men at 15; girls marry at 12. Murder is punished by some relative of the deceased killing the murderer. All other crimes have their prices fixed in ponies. An Indian can ride any horse twice as far as any white man, and can sit gracefully on horseback when so drunk that he cannot stand up. He will ride his horse till the brute falls from exhaustion, and then will complacently sit upon it. He always mounts or dismounts on the right side. Indians have no regular time for their meals, but eat whenever hungry. The men, women and children seldom eat together.

Tarkington is a Cigarette Fiend.

Newton Booth Tarkington, the Indiana literary representative-elect is a cigarette fiend, and, therefore, may be expected to oppose an anti-cigarette bill which Senator Lyons threatens to introduce in the legislature. Mr. Lyons has not quite made up his mind to offer the bill indicated, but declares that if he does it will not be a half-way affair.

Professional Killers.

General Baden-Powell, the popular English warrior, was at a luncheon recently where a celebrated physician was his fellow guest. The doctor was chaffing the soldier and said: "How do you feel after killing a man professionally?" The general replied in his characteristic silky tone: "Oh, I don't mind it much more than you do, I dare say."

It Was "Hell"

In common with a host of other prominent Republicans, "Joe" Cannon went down to defeat after the passage of the McKinley high tariff bill. He and Mr. McKinley were here the day after election, and each of them, when talking to party friends made light of the Waterloo they had met. Finally the two and the late Major Pearce, of St. Louis, found themselves alone. Cannon looked around to be sure that there were no listeners, but Pearce said: "Bill, there is no use of us lying to each other, is there?" "No, Joe," answered McKinley, "Well, it's —, ain't it, Bill?" "Yes, Joe," said the future president.

Greeting.

THE MOUNTAIN SUN enters on its fourth year under that name in a prosperous condition and disposed to offer the glad hand of New Year's greeting in all sincerity to its army of appreciated supporters. The past three years marks an epoch of progress in the newspaper and printing business in Kerrville, due not alone to our efforts, but to the continuous kindly and liberal support we have received at the hands of our people.

We realize that we like others, make mistakes, and have many things undone that might have been done for the general good, and while thanking our patrons for their support, we respectfully solicit this indulgence for our short comings, and a continuation of their patronage during the coming year.

WRITE it Nineteen Hundred and Three.

DON'T make more resolutions than you can conveniently keep. The other fellow has probably made all he can do anything with.

SOME men are so much afraid of being called "tender footed" that they very foolishly attempt to walk on everything and everybody they see.

LADY CURZON, Vicereine of India was formerly Miss Mary Victoria Leiter. Judging from the name we presume she is of Irish patronage.

IF you will make New Year's resolutions let the list include a resolution to stand up for your town and county against all who may enter the lists.

KERRVILLE has the most orderly and well behaved people of any town in Texas. The great holiday season, in which people are usually supposed to take extra licence to have "a good time," has just passed and during the past two weeks there has been scarcely any trouble, only one or two cases of undue hilarity and disturbance. We have good people, people who have sense enough to behave themselves all the time and we are proud of it.

The Kerrville Sun celebrated Christmas by coming out in a 16-page special edition, descriptive of Kerrville and surrounding country. The articles were all interesting and book paper and handsome half-tone pictures of prominent citizens and buildings made the publication especially attractive. It was a very creditable enterprise, and reflected credit on Editor Grinstead and the progressive city of Kerrville.—S. A. Express.

Turtle Creek.

EDITOR MOUNTAIN SUN: Small grain needs rain just now, but looks fairly well. Every one is wearing a smiling face and seems to be enjoying Xmas.

The Sunday school Xmas tree was a grand success. Quite a long programme of songs, dialogues and recitations were carried out, each part being well rendered. The programme is too long to publish, but there are two parts which deserve special mentioning. A song by Lena Denton, which the little lady rendered in a most charming manner. Also, a recitation, "Santa Claus," by little Dollie Lamb in which she gave a cute description of old "Santa," after which he entered covered with snow, gave all a hearty greeting and proceeded with his exercises.

Mrs. G. W. Lamb has been quite sick for the past two weeks, but is slowly improving.

Mr. Dave Ramsay, of Arizona, and Mr. Will Ramsay and family of Live Oak ranch, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ramsay.

Messrs. Roumor Colbath and Robert Ridgaway, of Sawyer ranch, are visiting friends and relatives.

Misses Lamb, Denton and Gibbons, who have been attending Tivy High School, came out to spend the holidays.

Master Evelyn Barfield has been very sick with a bad sore throat.

Mr. Walter Norwood has returned from Midland. He will probably remain all winter.

Among the other pleasant visitors during the holidays are Miss Bettie Barton and Messrs. Dan and John Russell, also, August Barline and Oscar King, of Medina City.

The young people enjoyed a social at the Spicer ranch, where they were royally entertained by the pleasant hostess, Miss Maud Spicer.

You Are Invited.

Miss Daniell of the Boston Cooking School will give a course of lectures and demonstrations on the platform at the old Union church, beginning on Monday, the 5th, and continuing on through all of next week.

Miss Daniell has a list of diplomas, letters and honors bestowed by institutions of domestic science, so long that should we attempt to mention them all, we should have room for no other matter.

The San Antonio Express has given them for those interested. It is made possible for small towns such as ours to afford the services of so famous a teacher, by the fact that her fare to Texas, as well as her large salary is being paid by a man who thinks the Woman's Clubs are doing a noble work, and he thus assists them in their study to become the best of housekeepers and the truest homemakers. The Kerrville Woman's Club has secured one whole week of Miss Daniell's two months in Texas, and would not selfishly attend her lectures in their homes, but in order to give all their neighbors an opportunity to profit by her presence will fit up an impromptu kitchen at the place mentioned. This with materials, fuel, and a few other items, will entail some expense, so that a nominal fee of one dollar will be charged for the whole course, lasting one week.

Every house-keeper—every one who has a prospect of becoming one, every visitor and every school girl is most cordially invited to take advantage of what will probably never offer again. Do you desire to master the possibilities of the chafing dish? By all means come. The club women will appreciate the presence of any gentlemen, whose interest leads him to the cooking school. If he does not want to learn to cook, he may find useful the science of good digestion, and the proper foods for securing it. On the payment of one dollar to the President or Secretary of the Woman's Club you can secure a ticket entitling you to the whole course of lectures, or on payment of 20 cents at the door you may attend any one lecture. The first occurs at four o'clock, on Monday, the 5th of January, old Union church.

Domestic Troubles.

It is exceptional to find a family where there no domestic ruptures occasionally, but these can be lessened by having Dr. King's New Life Pills around. Much trouble they save by their great work in Stomach and Liver troubles. They not only relieve you, but cure. 25c, at Rock Drug Store.

A Sartorial Stage Manager.

Maurice Grau's stage manager this season is Belgian named Almanz, a man of high professional reputation in Europe and a wonder of sartorial perfection. Amid the scenes of confusion that occur between acts he stands the picture of faultlessly dressed composure. He wears immaculate evening clothes, never removes his white gloves, however strenuous the action of his subordinates may become, and under no circumstances allows his opera hat to fall from under his arm. New York has never seen his equal.

Corsets for Men.

During a trial in Paris between the partners of a corset firm the defense revealed that one of the branches of their manufacture was men's corsets. The judge having demanded an explanation it was shown that more than 18,000 corsets were made yearly for Frenchmen, and 3,000 were shipped to England, principally for army officers. German officers also created quite a demand till a rival Berlin firm offered a cheaper article.

A Marvelous Invention.

Wonders never cease. A machine has been invented that will cut, paste and hang wall paper. The field of invention and discoveries seem to be unlimited. Notable among great discoveries is Dr Kings New Discovery for Consumption. It has done a world of good for weak lungs and saved many a life. Self-Help.

In his talks with members of his own race, Booker T. Washington always endeavors to impress on his hearers that faith without works is not enough. On a recent occasion he impressed this lesson with a story of an old negro, professionally pious, who wanted a luxurious Christmas dinner and who night after night prayed to the Lord to send him a turkey. The days passed, Christmas approached and the old fellow undertook to compromise by asking the Lord to send him a turkey. He got on that night.

The Eating of Glass.

"How much glass do you suppose that you consume daily?" a Philadelphia physician asked of one of his patients the other day, and then went on, in response to the others interrogative look, "It is a fact that we all swallow each day more or less glass, the manufacturers having not yet reached the point where their product is impervious to the action of fluids. He who drinks beer consumes the most glass. A chemical analysis of any bottled beer inevitably reveals some of glass's constituents. But the water drinker, too, swallows his share. In a carafe or in a glass pitcher have you never noticed the odd line which marks the level that the water has had? Well, that line shows how the water has changed the appearance of the glass slightly by absorbing some of its components. And so every day when we drink water or beer or milk we consume a little glass. But it does us no harm. I have yet to hear of any disease it has ever caused."

Mrs. Roosevelt Likes White.

Mrs. Roosevelt's preference for white is evident in her choice of gowns for the coming winter. She has eight new toilets in white, including silk, satin and velvet. One of the handsomest of these is an elegant court train of panne velvet elaborately trimmed with old lace, heirloom in the Carew family. This gown will be worn upon the occasion of the New Year's reception should the alterations in the remodeled White House be completed in time for the annual function.

Wilhelmina and the Bear.

Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, when 17 years of age, visited Switzerland and stopped at Grindelwald. Next to the hotel grounds was a bear pit which at the time contained a young bear. The young queen took a great fancy to the animal and fed it regularly every day. On one occasion she entered the bear pit as usual, but the bear, instead of coming up quietly to be fed, attacked the queen, who fled, escaping with some scratches and a torn dress. She still carries the marks of her encounter with the bear.

A Bad School System.

The Deadwood (S. D.) Pioneer-Times has discovered a lady who has a serious grievance against the public school system as it operates in that place. She has written to one of the teachers the following pathetic appeal:

"Miss:—Will you in the future give my son easier some to do at nites? This is what he brought home two or three back. If fore gallons of bere will fill thirty to pint bottles, how many pints and half bottles will nine gallons of bere fill? Well, we tried and could make nothing of it at all, and my boy cried and laughed and sed he didn't dare to go back an buy nine gallin keg of bere, which I could ill afford to do, and then he went and borrowed a lot of wine and brandy bottles. We fill them, and my boy put the number down for an answer. I don't know whether it is right or not, as we split some while doing it.

"P. S.—Please let the next some be in water, as I am not able to buy more bere."

Chinaman Adopts American Methods

Hoe-Yoy, Chinese consul at San Francisco and chief consul of his country in this country, is a Christian and has learned Christian ways. For instance, he has organized an iron and steel company, with a capital of $2,000,000 to do business in China, and will soon go there to start it in active operation. Most of the capital has been subscribed by Chinese merchants in this country. Minister Wu is the only Chinaman in this country who outranks Mr. Hoe, the one being of the fourth and the other of the fifth rank.

No More Corporal Punishments.

General Andre, the French minister of war, has issued a regulation forbidding all corporal punishment in the French army. The new regulations are aimed particularly at the companies that garrison African posts. These are composed chiefly of soldiers who have been sentenced in ordinary criminal courts before their enlistment. The cruelties practiced by subofficers in these regiments is all but beyond comprehension, and it is no uncommon case to have death result from them. One of the favorite modes of punishment is to smear the offender with fat and then expose him to the mosquitoes.

A Bear Story.

An extraordinary but well authenticated story of a bear's freak comes from the village of Saretschy in the district of Gdoff, Russia. The village lies on the fringe of a forest, whence it is of frequent occurrence for bears to make prowling excursions both by day and night into the adjacent settlements. Some ten days ago two young girls, aged respectively 5 and 12, were surprised by a huge bear at a short distance from the village. The animal seized and carried off the younger child, while the elder, terror-stricken, fled home and gave the not unusual alarm. Towards sundown, three days later, the bear and her booty were discovered in a dense thicket. The child was perfectly unharmed and reclining in a deep mossy couch made for her by the bear. Although naturally delighted to be released from her strange guardianship, the little girl had subsisted fairly well on the nuts and other forest fruits brought to her laager by the bear.

A Progressive Shah.

Since ascending the throne vacated by the assassination of his predecessor, six years ago, Nasser Din, the Shah of Persia, has shown himself to be a man of progressive ideas. He has greatly reduced taxation, organized a postal customs service, built a university and several schools, equipped telegraph lines, and has made it possible for his subjects to obtain justice in the courts. He shows no taint of cruelty which so often characterizes Oriental rulers, and altogether has won from his people a measure of personal loyalty and affection never accorded to any of his predecessors on the throne.

French Sportsman's Fine Scheme.

A French sportsman has devised a plan for making hunting easy and assuring a bag of game to Gallic nimrods, says the Baltimore Sun. If his project succeeds, there will be in France none of those irritating and disappointing uncertainties which try the souls of ambitious hunters in the United States. There is a familiar recipe for making rabbit soup, which prescribes first that the rabbit be caught. This is the principle upon which the French nimrod proposes to conduct his shooting range. His prospectus sets forth that suitable grounds will be purchased and surrounded with a high, bullet proof embankment. The preserve will be stocked with every kind of game, including deer, wolves, wild boars, rabbits and many species of birds. The hunting grounds will have a large circular track, inclosed by a fence. Around this ring big game will be chased by packs of hounds. Radiating from the track will be alleys. When a sportsman wants to shoot a boar, a deer or a wolf, the animal he selects will be driven into an alley, and there will be no chance for it to escape.

When Stanton Imprisoned Winner.

One of the stories about the late Septimus Winner, who wrote "The Mocking Bird" song, "What is Home Without a Mother" and "Shall We Gather at the River," has an interesting historical flavor that no one should miss. When General McClellan was relieved of the command of the Army of the Potomac in 1862, Mr. Winner at once wrote a song called "Give Us Back Our Old Commander," which immediately achieved great popularity, since "Little Mac" was a very popular general. Secretary Stanton became so exasperated by the song's vogue that he ordered it suppressed and the poor Septimus thrown into prison.

A Mark Tapley Club.

Reginald Birch, the artist, had a quaint experience once in Munich. He was one of several art students who, in order to keep up their spirits during the traditional period of impecuniosity common to all Bohemians, organized what they called a Mark Tapley Club. It was arranged that they should dine each year at a certain restaurant, and that if any member were absent his plate should be laid, his beer poured, and his health drunk exactly as if he were present. As time went on there came a year when nobody but Mr. Birch was in Munich at the time of the dinner. He, true to his vows, dined alone at a table laid for eight, drank eight mugs of beer to the health of the club, and created a very natural sensation among the other diners, who decided that he was certainly mad.

Couldn't Raise Him.

Senator Pritchard, of North Carolina, telling how healthy his section of the state is, remarked: "A mountaineer, aged 92, and his wife, aged 90, were returning from the funeral of their oldest child, who had died at the age of 71. They were both deeply grieved. As they were discussing their loss the wife said: 'I always told you, John, that we would never raise that child.'"

He Discovered the Biggest Nugget

There has recently died in Canada, in abject poverty, Samuel Napier, the man who discovered the largest nugget of gold the world has ever seen. It was found in Australia, and measured two feet, four inches long; ten inches wide, and two inches thick. So great was the excitement over the discovery that Queen Victoria commanded Napier to come to Buckingham palace, where the nugget was exhibited to her.

Just Settling Hancock's Estate.

John Hancock has been dead 109 years, but his estate has never been fully administered. Last week G. C. King, a lawyer of Boston, representing that a remnant of the estate remains to be administered, asked the courts to appoint him legal representative of the family at the request of the next of kin of the patriot, Elizabeth L. H. Wood, apparently the only interested person, gives her written consent to the petition, which is to be considered later by the court.

Yarning About Royalty.

Some remarkable yarn-spinning concerning the royal family of Russia has been going on for several months. The czar has been pictured as suffering from various kinds of brain trouble, and his wife in deep melancholia because all her children are girls. The czar's brother, it seems, is insane. The desire of his majesty to abdicate every now and then reaches a critical point. The culmination appears to have been reached in the story that the czar has just been rescued with extreme difficulty from the overpowering influence of a mesmerist, who figures in the reports like some Mephistophelian fiend with pointed ears and a tail. Not so long ago there were stories that the German kaiser had a diseased ear that was slowly driving him mad, and there was no one who could prove the story to be false. All that is known today is that the kaiser seems more sane than ever before in his life.

An Expensive Book.

The most expensive book in the world has lately been given by the Ameer of Afghanistan to the shah. It is a copy of the Koran, bound in solid gold and set with pearls, rubies and diamonds. It cost $400,000.

Good Health

and pure blood are inseparable. If your blood is bad, your health must suffer. Poor blood allows the body to lose vitality just as a poor fire under the boiler allows the steam to run down. From poor blood to impure blood is but a step, and impure blood is mother to a large percentage of human ills. Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic is an antidote for both poor and impure blood, for it is both a builder and a purifier—a food and a medicine. It is the best combination of the kind known to medical science, and its success for nearly half a century has led to its endorsement by thousands of medical men who have been unable to find a substitute.

Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic

will insure you against the many evils resulting from impure blood. Scrofula, pimples, blotches, kidney disorders, rheumatism, gout, dyspepsia, female weakness, anemia, chlorosis, etc., are a few of them; but the greatest evil, the greatest danger, is the general weakening of the whole system, which affords an opening for every passing disease.

The following is only one of the thousands of testimonials we have received:

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 10, 1901.
"I commenced using Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic when prostrate from a severe attack of rheumatism. After using three bottles all traces of this disease were completely eradicated from my system, and my general health was restored. As a blood purifier Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has no equal, and I most sincerely recommend it to all persons suffering from indigestion, fatigue, rheumatism, and the many weakened conditions of the system produced by impoverished blood."
Marguerite P. Yeazel.
No. 640 Second Ave.

(85,000 guarantee that above testimonial is genuine.)

Every bottle of Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has our "Crescent" trade-mark on the label. Don't accept a substitute—insist on Dr. Harter's.

A Valuable Coin.

George W. Prenter, a watchman living in Pittsburg, for over twenty years has had in his possession a coin which is said to be worth $7000. It is a Macabean piece and was made in 140 B. C. The coin was given to him by a Frenchman who had picked it up during his wanderings over the world. A few evenings ago footpads attempted to "hold up" Prenter and he believes they sought to obtain possession of the exceedingly rare coin. He has now put it in a safe place. So far as is known there is but one other like it in existence.

Rockefeller Becomes a Fireman.

John D. Rockefeller, head of the Standard Oil corporation, has been elected to honorary membership in the fire patrol of North Tarrytown, N. Y. When he received the official document notifying him of the honor conferred, the multi-millionaire came as near looking pleasant as he can and remarked with some pride: "Now is the boyhood dream of my life realized. I am a fireman at last, after nearly sixty years of patient waiting. No policeman can now fan me outside the fire lines in North Tarrytown, at least. If he tried it I could turn the hose on him."

Mrs. Grant and the Mikado.

Mrs. U. S. Grant has received from the Emperor of Japan an autograph letter and a picture of the newly born son of the Japanese crown prince. The picture, framed in Japanese enamel, was presented to Mrs. Grant by the Japanese minister on Saturday. In the letter accompanying the present the mikado expresses the warm appreciation of himself and the crown prince for the gift which Mrs. Grant sent before the birth of the little prince. He also renewed his sentiments of friendship for every member of the Grant family and recalled his admiration for the great American soldier who was his guest many years.

Miles Calls This Courage.

General Miles says that the most reckless display of individual bravery he ever saw was during the civil war, when a regiment was marching into battle, led by its young colonel. Shells began to fall, and four and five men would drop at a time. They were comparatively raw men, and as the fire became more and more deadly they showed just a little hesitation. Suddenly their youthful leader rode out in front, waved his sword in the air and yelled: "Move up, move up. Do you want to live forever?" General Miles considered this as "a specimen of utterly abandoned courage."

Drama From the Pulpit.

The Rev. George H. Simmons, pastor of the First Baptist church of Peoria, Ill., is striving to combat the influence of Sunday evening performances at the theaters of that city. To this end, he has written a religious drama in four parts, entitled "Love's Sublimest Tragedy," which is being performed with scenery and properties at the Coliseum in Peoria every Sunday night, one part being given in an evening. He purposes ultimately to have it prepared for regular stage presentation and says the production will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, as he wants all the scenery painted from sketches taken by artists in Palestine.

Knife in Brain Twenty-two Years.

P. J. Kent was operated on in a Chicago hospital the other day, and from his brain was taken a knife blade one and one-quarter inches long. The blade had been in his skull for 22 years, and since that time he has been subject to what were supposed to be epileptic seizures. His recovery, it is said, will be complete.

Irish Hatred of Balfour.

A story is told of Arthur Balfour's experience as secretary for Ireland, which illustrates both his popularity and the wit of the celebrated Father Healey. Balfour asked the priest on one occasion: "Do the Irish really hate me as much as the newspapers say?" "My dear sir," was Father Healey's answer, "if they only hated the devil half as much as they hate you, my occupation would be gone."

"Blind Tom."

Blind Tom's mother, Charity Wiggins, "Aunt" Charity, is just dead at century mark, and they have buried her on the old plantation where she was born, and where the musical prodigy was born. Tom was one of twenty-one children. The eldest son is 85, a farmer on the Chattahoochee river. Psychologists have ceased worrying over this freak of nature, which brings into the world a totally blind pickaninny that could melt a piano at the age of 3. President Sam Spencer of the Southern railway could tell much about Blind Tom. He was born in Tom's town, and is about Tom's age. The prodigy was no fool, notwithstanding his great genius. His way of remembering strangers evidenced something allied to brute instinct. Meeting one whom he cared to recollect, he asked to hear a sentence plainly spoken and then would place his finger on the back of the person's neck and smell it. The sound of the voice and the personal odor, associated with the name, made a lasting impression.

A Professor and His Cats.

Professor Wilder of Cornell, to whom Elizabeth Cary Stanton bequeathed her brain for his laboratory, is one of the few professors of the original faculty who are left in the college. He has added to the fame of the institution by his researches in anatomy, and to the gaiety of student life by his collection of cats for experiments in physiology classes. He used to have a cat house on the campus, which he kept filled by the aid of small boys, who were paid ten cents per cat. A favorite amusement of the students was to let the animal out for a lark, and a Cornell song, sung to the tune of "John Brown's Body," runs in this fashion:
Old Dr. Wilder went a-prowling after cats,
Old Dr. Wilder went a-prowling after cats,
Old Dr. Wilder went a-prowling after cats,
But he didn't catch a (silence for two notes) cat.

"Talking Over" Language.

Those who talk confidently about making over the languages of distant peoples, as in Japan, China or the Philippines, ought to be interested in the condition of affairs in Brittany, a district of France, the most centralized and homogeneous country on earth, and many think also the most civilized. The bishop of Quimper in Brittany, has ascertained that 110 parishes of his diocese do not contain a single child capable of receiving religious instruction in French, while in another town only twelve out of 150 understand French. It is this situation that gave rise to the report that the French premier had ordered the priests not to give religious instruction in the Breton language.

New Kind of "Western Reserve."

What is believed to be a new one of the late Senator Evarts has been dug up. In the early days of the Hayes administration, when Mr. Evarts was secretary of state, the members of the cabinet were discussing matters in an informal way one morning, when the president mentioned the fact that he had made a few appointments without consulting his official family, the appointees being personal friends. All the places filled happened to fall within the state department. Secretary Evarts turned to John Sherman and said, with a twinkle in his eye: "I have often heard of the Western reserve of Ohio, but confess that I have never seen any of it."

THE OLD RELIABLE

Bad Luck With His Panama.
Congressman Hopkins of Aurora bought a Panama hat, wore it two days and then laid it away, probably for good. The first day a gust of wind took it from his head and he had to chase it two blocks. Next afternoon he and his new hat were caught in a heavy shower. Putting the Panama under his coat, he made a dash for shelter, but collided with another man on a similar mission. His handsome head-covering suffered badly in the collision, and the Aurora statesman has put it on the shelf at least for a time.

Lord Walsley's Family.
Most people imagine that Lord Walsley, who completed his sixtieth year on June 4, is an Irishman. As a matter of fact, the ex-commander in chief, although born in the emerald isle, belongs to an aristocratic Staffordshire family. Lord Walsley has probably been in more engagements than any other general. Since entering the army in 1852 he has served in Burma, India, China, Canada, Antioch, Egypt, and finally the Sudan.

States His Position Plainly.
George L. Lilley of Waterbury, Conn., has been mentioned in connection with the governorship of the nutmeg state, but has made advance declaration in such a way as to put at rest all such talk. There is no "string to it" in his case. This is the way he puts it: "I am not a candidate for the nomination; wouldn't raise a finger to get it; don't want it; won't have it, and hope there won't be any more talk of it. I wouldn't run for the office if they'd give me the capitol. I can't state my position too strongly."

CONSUMPTIVES,

DO YOU KNOW WHY YOU ARE HERE?

It is a well known fact that any climate free from dampness contains a great quantity of ozone. The presence of this ozone and it alone, is your only hope to get well. You can get more ozone into your lungs in twenty-five minutes from the Kretschmeyer Ozone Treatment, than you can get from the air you breathe in a whole month. Climate alone will never cure you. There is not a sufficient amount of ozone in the air you breathe to overcome your trouble. A beautiful illustrated book fully explaining the New Ozone Treatment has just been published, and will be sent free. Write for it to-day, it may be the cause of saving your life. Do not wait until it is entirely too late.

PROVED RIGHT TO ADMITTANCE.

Young Lawyer Convinced Doorkeeper of His Error.

Julius H. Wyman, a young corporation attorney of Baltimore, has so much the appearance of a minister of the Gospel that at the numerous conventions he is called to attend he is invariably asked to offer the opening prayer. Only once did this clerical appearance threaten to "debar" him.

The antipathy that the philanthropist Girard had to the ministerial profession is well known, and members of that holy calling are even now excluded from the university that bears his name. A short time ago Mr. Wyman visited the college. He was met at the door by the guardian, who, supposing him to be a preacher, said: "No ministers allowed, sir!"

The young lawyer, surprised, grabbed him by the arm and cried: "Who in h— said I was a preacher?"

"Walk right in, sir; walk right in," was the good-natured remark of the doorkeeper, who smiled a broad amiable smile.

NOT JUST WHAT HE MEANT.

Patrick Admonishes His Offspring in True Hibernian Fashion.

Patrick and Bridget, with their bright son Mikey, of whom both were excessively proud and fond, were taking a walk in Central Park one Sunday morning.

Mikey was not a bad boy, and did not intend to be disobedient; but he couldn't long remember, amid so many diverting sights and incidents, his mother's oft-repeated caution to keep off the grass.

At last Patrick noticed, because vexed, and decided to interpose in the interest of family discipline.

Removing his duceen from his mouth and glancing fiercely at Mikey for a moment, he thundered to the terrified youngster:

"Look ahere, ye young spalpeen, when yer mither tells ye not to do anythin' hereafter ye do it! Do ye understand?"—New York Times.

DEATH OF THE HOSPITAL.

Algal of "John Ridd" Dies in an English Poorhouse.

Readers of "Lorna Doone" put the name down with a sigh of satisfaction, for is not the burly and athletic Devonshire yeoman at length safely added to the Exmoor maiden of his love, and has not the king himself named plain John Ridd "Sir John"? How few of those who have read the novel know the fate of the real John Ridd. He died in a London hospital—the Royal Hospital for Incurables at Edgware. He was none other than John Barwell of Lynnmouth, a scuffling fellow who, stricken down by paralysis, sought refuge in 1896 in one of those homes for the afflicted which the benevolence of the age has dotted in and about London. At the time the hospital authorities did not know that they had in their kindly keeping the man whose acquaintance with the lore of Exmoor was turned to such brilliant account by Blackmore.

Retic of Old-Time Justice.

The case of Justus Smith, charged with intoxication June 14, 1865, was only disposed in a New York city court a few days ago, thirty-seven years late. The papers were only then found and who Justus Smith was and where he is or where the policeman who made the arrest is—if indeed either of them is alive—may never be known. Justice Togan, however, who indorsed the charge, is living and thinks it a relic of the days when returning soldiers were often arrested for their protection without any purpose of prosecuting the charges.
