The Hard-working, Civic Minded Jennyslippers

(Editor's note: This In Profile is about the Jennyslippers, Muleshoe's own women's civic club. The story was written by Texas Tech journalism student, Leigh Rudy, and provided exclusively to The Journal by Tech's School of Mass Communications through a grant from the Reader's Digest Foundation.)

Jennyslippers, the women's division of the Chamber of Commerce, is something much more than a social club. They have meetings and social activities each month, but the main purpose of the organization is to promote the town of Muleshoe.

It was started after some women wondered what could be done to help the Chamber.

"It seemed like things around town were not getting done," said Nelda Merriott, members of the Jennyslippers. "We had women's divisions come from other towns and explain how we could get a division started in our town. So after several summer meetings, we had our first official meeting in August of 1981."

"We sponsor fund raising events, including a walk-a-thon each spring to raise money for the fireworks display on the 4th

Pesticide Management Clinic Scheduled Here On Monday

An educational meeting for farmers in the Bailey County area has been planned for Monday, August 22, at 9:30 a.m. at the Bailey County Civic Center. The purpose of this program is to explain the new Texas Agricultural Hazard Communication Law passed in 1987 by the Texas Legislature. Any producer who can answer yes to the concerns listed below needs to attend the meeting to understand how the law affects you. The program has been planned for the farmers benefit.

The purpose of the 'Right to Know' legislation is to provide farmers and agricultural workers with important information about pesticides used on Texas crops, the health effect of these pesticides, and ways to minimize pesticide exposure to themselves and their families. The law concerns the following:

- agricultural employers who themselves or through labor agents hire migrant or seasonal workers and whose gross annual payroll for those workers is $15,000 or more and who annually use or store 55 gallons or 500 pounds of any one pesticide (active ingredient).
- agricultural employers who themselves or through labor agents hire permanent agricultural workers whose gross annual payroll is $50,000 or more and who annually use or store 55 gallons or 500 pounds of any pesticide.
- agricultural workers who plant, cultivate, harvest, or handle an agricultural or horticultural commodity in its unmanufactured state or who handle a chemical covered by the law.
- entities which normally store

pesticides in an amount in excess of 55 gallons or 500 pounds are subject to the Emergency Reporting Requirement.

The law requires agricultural employers to be responsible for the following:

- provide workers with relevant crop sheets and ensure that they are read aloud to workers at least once each work season.
- inform workers about relevant pesticide re-entry intervals.
- maintain Workplace Chemical Lists and Material Safety Data Sheets and make these available to workers or their representative upon request.
- provide other basic health and safety information, approved by TDA, to their workers on the first payday of each work season.
- provide emergency information to workers, local fire chiefs,

Open Meeting At 3 p.m. In The City Council Room

September will be a very busy month in Muleshoe, with both the Bailey County West Plains Fair and Muleshoe's 75th Birthday celebrations scheduled for September 8-9-10.

Plans are underway for a major celebration in Muleshoe, with much of the population to be involved in one way or the other.

Friday, the following information was released to The Bailey County Journal by Fred Clements of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture; Donna Kirk, president of the Jennyslippers; Harvey Bass, chairman of the Muleshoe Activities Committee and Duane Castleberry, chairman of the Muleshoe Industrial Foundation:

"We would like to encourage all citizens of Muleshoe and the surrounding area to participate in Muleshoe's 75th birthday celebration coming up September 9th and 10th. The celebration will be held in conjunction with the Bailey County Fair and everyone is invited to engage in the festivities.

"Merchants are encouraged to decorate their stores and windows for the two day celebration, costumes are encouraged on everyone's behalf. Not only merchants, but everyone in Muleshoe can participate in dressing the part.

"Everyone is asked to take a part in the Bailey County Fair in the way they can. If you are an individual, you can enter items in the fair and attend. If you are a business or a group, you can have a booth at the fair by contacting the Rotary Club.

"One of the local churches is planning on dressing old-fashioned on Sunday, September 11 and having an 'old fashioned service' for its congregation. Other churches may want to plan activities to 'top' off the celebrations.

"Any group, individual, or business that so desires can be a part of this celebration. Please call the CofC with your ideas and your group or clubs' activities. Join in the fun and make this a time to remember."

The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture is coordinating activities for Muleshoe's 75th Birthday celebration to be held in conjunction with the Bailey County Fair September 9-10.

A meeting of representatives of all clubs, groups and organizations is scheduled for Monday, August 22, at 2 p.m. in the City Hall. This meeting is to plan activities for the celebration and insure total participation.

In addition to the fair, the American Legion, Post #403 at 1419 West Avenue B, will hold a barbecue supper on Saturday, September 10. The meal will be served from 3-6 p.m. at the Legion Hall. Tickets are $3.75 per plate and advance tickets are on sale now from any Legion member.

BILLIE DOWNING, BOBBIE HARRISON, NELDA MERRIOTT, KATHRYN TAYLOR of July," Merriott said. "Muleshoe has three parades a year. We have the Mule Days parade, 4th of July parade and a Christmas parade."

Coincidentally, the four women who organized the parade for Mule Days this year were Jennyslippers.

"It was not a Jennyslippers function," Merriott said. "It was just that help was needed to organize the parade, so we volunteered."

We had two weeks to get everything together and decided when you are that close to the edge in time, all you can do is be funny," said Billie Downing, who helped with the parade and also happens to be a Jennyslipper.

They organized the parade and tried to bring in a lot of humor. This was done successfully with the entry form which pictured a mule on rollerskates talking in country jargon. There was also a picture of the outhouse the parade officials used as a float in the parade.

"We found the outhouse on a piece of property outside of town. It was filled with cans and trash, but we cleaned it up," said Bobbie Harrison, who was a parade official and a Jennyslipper.

"When we removed the outhouse, we were not sure what we might encounter, so several friends took shotguns just in case a rattlesnake decided to appear," Merriott said.

In the parade, the outhouse was on a trailer and on each side of the outhouse was a sign reading "PARAID OFFISE." The women also wore blue jean overalls, with white shirts and red bandanas. To top off the look, they wore a baseball cap with PARAID OFFISHUL written above the bill.

The fourth member of the Jennyslippers that helped with the parade was Kathryn Taylor.

"Jennyslippers also offers a $400 scholarship to the winning applicant for college attendance," said Donna Kirk, current president of the organization. "They are awarded $200 the first semester and $200 the next semester. It is decided by an application process which takes financial need and educational goals into consideration," she said. "We appoint a committee to choose the top three applicants. Then the top three are presented to the members for a vote."

Another amazing thing about the group is that the majority of the women have nine-to-five jobs.

"This means most of the work for Jennyslippers is done at night after work and on the weekends, if we are involved in a project," Harrison said.

The organization has eight different committees, and one, the history book committee, will soon be releasing a book about the history of Bailey County.

"It spans 70 years and is a comprehensive history of the ranches and families," Harrison said. "It will have a saddle tan cover with gold embossing."

"In the past, we have held a BBQ to raise money for the heritage auction which benefits the Heritage Foundation," Harrison said. "And since we have not decided what to do with the outhouse we used for the parade, we are considering donating this to the foundation. After all, it is a part of our heritage."

Garden of the Week is sponsored by Jennyslippers.

"People are nominated on the beauty of their garden and the nominees are judged. New judges are picked every two weeks," Kirk said. "The winner is featured in the newspaper, T.V. and radio. A sign is put in Cont. Page 8, Col. 1

There's more to being a good teacher than a knowledge of a subject.

Self-control is a great virtue but few individuals seek to attain it.

Principle must be above expediency if our political system is to endure.

Scattered rosettes of the Alecon lace were featured down the back of the veil, and were also outlining the edge of the veil. She carried a cascading ivory bouquet with gardenias, roses, freesia, geranium orchids and Queen Anne's lace.

The aisle of the church was covered with arched decorated with plumosa, lemon tip and magnolia foliage. The same floral decorations were used on the candelabras which supported more than 100 24 inch tapers. Two large pedestal altar bouquets consisted of white gladiolas and magnolia.

Carolyn Cobb, sister of the bride and Leslie Chambers presented traditional wedding selections, including, "Never Before, Never Again," theme from "Ice Castles," "The Eyes of Love," "Only The Beginning," and "Make Us One, Father God."

Lazbuddie ISD Tax Rate

19 88 Property Tax Rates in Lazbuddie ISD

This notice concerns 19 88 property tax rates for Lazbuddie ISD. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. Compare it to the tax rate the taxing unit proposes for this year. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 381,889.98
+ Last year's debt taxes	$ 50,009.40
= Last year's total taxes	$ 431,899.38
- Last year's tax base	$ 45,463,093
= Last year's total tax rate	$.95 /$100
This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes	$ 431,899.38
(after subtracting taxes on lost property and taxes to correct appraisal roll errors)
= This year's adjusted tax base	$ 45,313,212
(after subtracting taxes on new property)
= This year's effective tax rate	$.9531 /$100
x 1.03
= Maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearings	$.9817 /$100
This year's rollback tax rate:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes	$ 381,889.98
(after subtracting taxes on lost property and taxes to correct appraisal roll errors and adding taxes lost in court suits)
= This year's adjusted tax base	$ 45,313,212
(after subtracting taxes on new property)
This year's effective operating rate	$.8427 /$100

Stacy Smith, Foster Exchange Wedding Vows

Stacy Lin Smith became the bride of Kyle Lynn Foster in a 7 p.m. wedding in the Muleshoe Church of Christ on Saturday, August 6. Brett McCasland read the double ring vows.

Parents of the couple are Curtis and Lela Ann Smith of Muleshoe, Gayland and Linda Patterson of Lubbock and Carl and Gaye Foster of Lubbock.

Wedding vows were exchanged in a setting of candlelight, created by a brass arch of classic turquoise candles, flanked by spirals and heart candelabras. Sprays of classic turquoise dogwood, pink spring blossoms and English ivy intertwined the candelabras. Commodore palms outlined the entire altar area. The altar setting was completed with the unity candle amidst an arrangement of fugi mums, pink carnations and baby's breath.

The wedding singers of the Muleshoe Church of Christ sang "Wedding March," "The Twelfth of Never," "Annie's Song," as well as other selections.

Wedding guests were registered in the foyer of the church by Brenda Ellis of Klute, TX.

Escorted by her father, and given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose a gown styled of white crystalline and satin. The high neckline was edged in embroidered lace with pearls and sequins. Her fitted bodice was designed with a low cut basque waistline, and the bodice was heavily beaded with pearls and sequins with appliques of embroidered lace. The short, ruffled sleeves were edged in filament edging which caused them to stand up in individual ruffles.

The back of the bodice was cut in a low v-neckline of illusion, outlined in a row of lace and had appliques of the lace embroidered in pearls.

The back of the dress was highlighted by a large candy box bow at the top of the basque waistline. The front of the long skirt was designed in a shirred up-sweep design, and as the snirring swept around the sides of the skirt, it was met by a cathedral length train of rows of filament edged crystalline ruffles.

The bridal veil was designed in a forward cap effect. The cap was of satin to match her dress. It had silk flowers and pearls scattered across the crown, at the back of the hat was a pouf bow which also had scattered pearls. Completing the veil were two tiers of illusion edged pencil stitching extending from the back of the hat.

She carried a bouquet consisting of a flowing cascade of gardenias, pink sweetheart roses, turquoise dutch baby's breath intertwined with sprays of pearls and tied with lace ribbons.

For something old, the bride carried a penny in each shoe minted in the year of the bride and groom's birth. Something new was her dress and something borrowed, the pearl earrings she wore. She also wore the traditional blue garter.

Dana Rasco, sister of the bride, of Muleshoe, served as Matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Laurey Grant of Lubbock, Connie James of Muleshoe and Sherrie Stoval of Lubbock.

The bride's attendants wore turquoise tea length dresses of satin. The dresses featured a sweetheart neckline. The skirts were gathered on to the fitted bodice with a large candy box bow in the back at the tip of the waistline. Turquoise satin shoes completed the ensemble.

Each attendant carried a nosegay of white camellia blossoms, white fugi mums, pink miniature carnations, turquoise baby's breath and tied with white satin ribbons.

Flower girl was Shani Rasco, niece of the bride, of Muleshoe. She wore a floor length turquoise satin dress identical to the other attendants. She carried a white basket trimmed with turquoise ribbon. The basket was filled with love knots in the bride's chosen colors.

Jeff James of Plainview served as best man. Groomsmen were John Paul Lyle of Waco, Robbie Harris of Joplin, MO and Scott Neeley of Odessa.

The groom wore a white Miami Vice tuxedo with tails. He completed his attire with white shirt, white bow tie, and cummerbund. All other male attendants wore gray Miami Vice tuxedos with turquoise cummerbunds and bow ties.

Tyson Purdy of Muleshoe served as ring bearer. His tuxedo was identical to that of the groomsmen. He carried a pillow embroidered with the names of the bride and groom and their wedding date.

Ushers were Wes Rasco, brother-in-law of the bride, of Muleshoe; Wade King of Muleshoe and Gary Whadford of Lubbock.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Covering the bride's table was a white cloth with sheer overlay, draped at the center and accented with a large white lace bow. Sitting atop a flowing fountain, the three-tiered cake was encircled by six smaller heart shape cakes. The cake was decorated with turquoise roses while baby vanda orchids and turquoise baby's breath floated in the fountain.

Punch and cake were served from crystal and gold appointments. Serving at the bride's table were Courtney Brown of Muleshoe; Debra Nieman of Houston and Brenda Ellis of Klute.

The groom's table was covered with a white cloth. German chocolate cake, coffee and mixed nuts were served from crystal and brass appointments. Serving at the groom's table were Carla Burris and Rhonda McMahan, both cousins of the groom.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will make their home in Lubbock. The bride is a graduate of Muleshoe High School. She is employed by Plains National Bank. The groom is a graduate of Plainview High School. He is employed by Great Western Group, Inc.

Texas A&M researcher says minicar imports create highway problems

COLLEGE STATION — Transportation researchers who examined minicars in crash tests at Texas A&M University found the thrifty imports encountered problems with some highway safety installations.

A total of 11 ultra-light cars weighing between 1,250 and 1,700 pounds were tested on a former airport runway in a $350,000 study funded by the National Cooperative Highway Research Program. The vehicles collided with signs, poles, guardrails, crash cushions, embankments and driveways. Computer simulations were used as well, said Dr. Hayes Ross, leader of the project and head of structural research with the Texas Transportation Institute at Texas A&M.

While the study shows little difference in the stability of "micro-minicars" and larger cars running into guardrails and concrete barriers, or into embankments and driveways, accident reports tell a different story.

"These micro-minicars are designed primarily as a town car, to run back and forth over short distances at relatively low speeds, not for long trips," he said. "Highway engineers are concerned about them being used on freeways and rural roads at high speeds."

Texas A&M researchers develop technique for contaminant removal

COLLEGE STATION — While groundwater contamination remains a concern of environmentalists, citizens and scientists, researchers at Texas A&M University are developing a technique that could help remove soil contaminants without excessive disturbance or expense.

Laboratory studies on undisturbed soil samples suggest that soil venting or vacuum extraction will be an effective technique for remediation of contaminated soil at spill sites, say researchers Samuel Johnson, Dr. Kirk Brown and Kevin McCarthy. Brown is a recognized authority on groundwater contamination whose expertise helped state officials rewrite some regulations.

In the soil venting process, a large vacuum pump is used to withdraw vapors from the contaminated area through a network of dry wells. Pollutant gases are then condensed or trapped at the surface for disposal.

confirmed as yet.

Bakers for the huge birthday cake are still needed. Anyone willing to bake a square or rectangular yellow cake, to be iced into one huge birthday cake, is asked to call the Chamber office at 272-4248. The cake will be cut for the public to enjoy during the celebration.

Costumes are being encouraged in all businesses and on all individuals out during the two day event. Businesses are encouraged to decorate their windows in the 75th birthday theme. The windows will be judged and awards given to the best window, store, participation etc.

Sorghum Midge Found In Large Numbers Here

By Spencer Tanksley
Bailey County Extension Agent

Dryland fields of grain sorghum have been scouted the past few days and several newly blooming fields have sorghum midge in them in Bailey County. Sorghum midge is one of the most damaging insects to sorghum in Texas. Bailey County farmers need to check fields and take necessary steps to control midge in grain sorghum which is blooming if infestations reach economic levels for control.

The adult midge is a tiny, fragile-looking, orange knat. Damage to sorghum results from larvae that hatch from eggs deposited by female midge in spikelets of flowering sorghum heads. Each female may deposit about 50 tiny, yellowish-white eggs during her short lifetime of less than 24 hours. An orange colored maggot hatches from the egg and feeds on the newly fertilized ovary thereby preventing kernel development.

To determine the need for chemical control, an assessment of crop development, yield potential and midge density is required. Daily evaluation of these factors is encouraged during flowering. The period of midge susceptibility may last from 7-9 days to several weeks, depending on the uniformity of flowering.

To determine the presence of sorghum midge, fields should be inspected during mid-morning until shortly after noon when midge are most abundant on flowering heads. Each day a new midge brood appears, therefore, inspect fields daily. Midge adults can be observed crawling on or flying around blooming grain heads. Use a clear plastic bag as a trapping device, quickly slip the bag over the head, which is helpful in detecting and counting adult midge.

The need to apply insecticidal control is based on the number of adult midge during the flowering period. Control is usually necessary when 1-2 adult midge can be found on each sorghum head. Additional information on chemical control of midge is available in Extension Publication B-1220, Managing Insects and Mite Pests of Sorghum.

The most important thing for producers to remember is to scout each blooming sorghum field on a daily basis for midge.

Texas A&M virologist says flu research overshadowed by AIDS

COLLEGE STATION — Influenza, a disease that will contribute to as many as 20,000 deaths this year in the United States, probably will remain largely ignored in the wake of continuing national concern over AIDS.

"Influenza normally isn't considered life-threatening," said Texas A&M virologist Dr. John Quarles, who oversees one of the largest and longest flu vaccine studies in operation.

Quarles estimates that in an average year, influenza will kill or contribute to the deaths of at least 30,000 persons — a figure surpassing by several thousand the total number of recorded AIDS deaths.

He has studied the effects of flu and a series of flu vaccines on more than 10,000 Texas A&M students and staff volunteers since the studies began more than 10 years ago. Current efforts are aimed at testing the effectiveness of a flu vaccine administered in nose drops instead of conventional hypodermic shots.

TAKE HEED!

Warning signs are placed at intersections to protect the individual. A cross road with heavy traffic or a blind corner may be the reason for the sign.

Disobey this sign and the penalty will vary. It might be a small fine, a wrecked car, or you may take a life or lose your own.

The bible is God's warning sign.

"Wherewith shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word."

The church is God's appointed agency to preach His word. Attend church regularly.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

In Fashion

According to a survey, blue jeans, t-shirts, denim jackets or baggy sweaters and high top athletic shoes will be popular campus wear. Hemlines will vary, but most prefer just below the knee this fall.

College students prefer stonewashed jeans for comfort. Old and faded jeans are second choices. Most students prefer brand names.

Those who live in the hot, southern areas will be glad to know there's a new line of clothes fashioned for comfort for these sections of the country. While wool is the favorite fabric in cold regions, this new line comes in tropical weight fabrics. This trend in design is both classical and traditional to the areas where sold.
