It is stated that a man in Waco is going to give his skin to his daughter. We do not see anything remarkable about that. The average citizen of this state gets skinned by someone every day, and his family might just as well come in for a share of it. There are about ninety-nine chances in the hundred that people who do these things do not really want the rather peculiar definition of the word paper these days appears to have a matter made public. The average news "news." At the rate such things are going the time is about ripe for news items like the following: "Bill McKinsie's wife had her leg amputated this week. We were unable to learn which leg it was, but we are reliably informed that it is not the one that had the wart just below the knee." For the Lord's sake, where are these brutal discussions of peoples private affairs in the columns of alleged news papers going to stop.

There are plenty of good men in the world who would like to see all the good possible done, and would like to work up the time for real christianity that is being wasted in quarrelling over which is the best road to heaven. The trouble is that if a minister of the gospel who is really a good man and wants to do some good by co-operating with other good men in his work, the other fellow is not willing, or if he is some fool member of one of the congregations pronounces them both heretics. Fact is, a heretic that don't go outside of doing the same thing in a different way, is a harmless animal, and the people who call them heretics are just ordinary blamed fools.

If all the stores in town could get together on closing up for the opening of the baseball park, it would appear that there was fair working understanding and they could get together on closing a little earlier through the summer months in order that the proprietors and the salespeople could have a chance to get out with their families and enjoy the evenings. There are a lot of things the business men of a town could do for the general betterment of conditions if they would pull together as business men should.

It is stated that a well has been brought in near the city of San Antonio that flows twenty-five million gallons of water every twenty-four hours. That is about eight gallons a head for all the people in the state. Texas should be a wet state for some time to come, if another well or two like that can be brought in.

It is really just a big joke to hear a fellow with an automobile, wearing silk socks, and smoking ten cent cigars talk about the high cost of living. If money should become more plentiful that same gink would buy a couple of airships, and have gold wings put on them and then keep right on howling about the high cost of living.

Some noted suffragette leader is advocating the right of women to wear fewer clothes. We would respectfully call the ladies attention to the fact that in some parts of darkest Africa the right is not questioned, even now, but how are they going to wear fewer clothes in this country, and escape arrest, is beyond us.

Acting the fool is a perfectly natural proclivity for some people, and when they do it no one pays any attention to them, but there are some other people, who ordinarily act with almost human intelligence, and when they do make a stab at the fool business they make an awful spectacle.

The French newspaper man who is walking all the land road around the world, and riding boats across the wet places for a big roll of money is having no harder time than any other newspaper man. The only difference is that he is getting the roll, and the others are taking their pay in glory.

Lowry and Green will make so much fuss over that pot licker and butter milk business that Marse Henery Watterson will bring hard cider into the controversy, and then it will be all off.

The Hill Country of Southwest Texas was never in such splendid condition as at this time. There is a fair crop of everything the farmer grows, stock are fat, and the grass better than for years. There has been an abundance of rain, and it is still raining.

Belton put one over on the Hill Country this year by shipping the first car of wheat, and also the first car of new oats, on the 7th. The crop here is a little late, but we have the goods all right, and shipments will begin in a few days.

There appears to be some difference in opinion regarding the matter of a new currency bill for the United States. There is only one thing that the common people wish incorporated in the bill, and that is some kind of a joker that will enable them to get hold of a little of the stuff.

Threshing has begun, and indications are that the grain crop, while a little spotted, will make a very fair yield. Some oats have been threshed that made fifty-six bushels, and some wheat that made twenty-six bushels per acre.

About the time a woman gets her hat on straight the style changes and she has to wear it crooked. Some people are all the time looking in the glass to see if their religion is on straight just before they go to church.

Surgeons have recently spliced a man's nose with a piece of one of his ribs. This is probably all right in this case, but as a general proposition there are already too many noses in the world now that are long enough to stick into other people's business.

It is stated that the Japs dread war. That is the first smart thing that has been printed about those little brown folks since they became in a measure civilized.

A member of the imperial diet of Japan says, "all Japan wants in the row with America is a square deal." It always depends on which side of the deal a fellow is whether it looks square or not.

Those Mexicans are going to keep fooling around until they kill so many of their people that it will cause a slump in the frijole and black horse tobacco market.

That new oil gusher at San Antonio is said to be throwing off one hundred and fifty feet high. For the land sake, ain't oil high enough already? That well ought to be pinched for boosting the price of necessities.

A commission has fixed the blame for bad eggs. Fortunately they have cast no reflections on the character of the poor, over-worked hen.

Money by itself sometimes makes a fool of a man. Money and brains mixed never does.

The game of grafting is played by all the world. The only difference in grafters is that big fellows get the big things, while the little gink that has nothing to hide behind has to be satisfied with a jackpot with the handle broken off and most of the contents split out. The alleged legitimate business in the world that are getting people a dollar and twenty cents worth of goods for their dollar are so scarce that they are not crowded.

Enjoyable Entertainment.

On Friday night of last week a very enjoyable evening was spent by the large number of people who attended the Lemon Carnival at the Baptist parsonage. The earlier stages of the performance were given over to a carnival and hilarious joys. Subsequently a program of music was rendered, and delicious refreshments served.

The following official account of the assassination has been issued: "Upon leaving the ministry of war this morning the Grand Vizier entered a motor car with the intention of proceeding to the sublime porte. The car was obliged to stop because the road was torn up. Some persons in another car, whose identity has not the car. The Grand Vizier, who was everly wounded, was taken back to the ministry of war where he died half an hour later.

Young Banker Of Dallas Ends Life.

Dallas, Texas, June 11.—Robert E. Gahagen, assistant cashier of the American Exchange National Bank of Dallas, killed himself by cutting his throat with a razor at his home here today. He had just finished shaving. Gahagen two weeks ago returned from Italy after a long trip abroad to recover from a nervous breakdown.

Mrs. Gahagen, who went abroad with him, is still in London, but will return here immediately. Gahagen's two small boys are in Dallas, having remained here with relatives while their parents went abroad. Ill health is the reason given by Gahagen's friends for his act. He was one of the best known of Dallas' younger bankers.

Gahagen was born in Vienna, La., 40 years ago, came to Texas when 16, resided in Waxahachie one year, and since then had lived in Dallas.

Texan Won As Orator.

Shreveport, La., June 10.—The annual declamation at Centenary College was won tonight by I. T. Andrews of Center, Texas, who was awarded a medal offered by John B. Hutchinson, treasurer of the board of trustees. The question was: "Resolved that the Judges of the courts Appellate jurisdiction should gain their office by appointment of the State's executive."

Gen Regain His $1,500,000.

NEW YORK, June 10.—John Armstrong Chaloner, whom New York courts have declared insane and Virginia courts sane, may regain possession of his $1,500,000 interests in this state without opposition if he will make application in New York State courts. Thomas T. Sherman guardian of the local estate, so declared today in papers filed with the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—Long before the naval yachts Mayflower, Dolphin and Sylph arrived at the Washington navy yard today, a squadron of cavalry was waiting to escort Dr. Lauro Muller, the Brazilian envoy, who arrived here to return the visit of ex-Secretary of State Root to South America several years ago.
Bright sunny weather greeted the South Americans on their approach to Washington. While cool, the air was sparkling and the day perfect. With Dr. Muller was a distinguished company, including Secretary Bryan and Senator Root.

Lightning Kills Three.
PRESIDIO, Tex., June 10.—Good showers have been falling up and down the Rio Grande Valley during the past week, accompanied by lightning, which destroyed telephone poles and set fire to several stacks of grain. During one storm the lightning struck Juilini Gonzales and the horse he was riding, killing both. At the same time two other Mexican boys on the other side of the river were killed by a bolt of lightning.
Wheat and oats are being harvested and the ground is being prepared for the corn planting. The early rains insure a good crop of corn.

AMERICANS FLEE FROM MEXICO

Party of 108 From Tampico Reaches Galveston, 150 Leave Mexico City.

COUNTRY NO LONGER SAFE
Only in Tampico Are Foreigners Along Gulf Coast Protected, Says Refugee.

GALVESTON, Tex., June 5.—Americans and other foreigners in the region around Tampico are safe only in the city of Tampico and the bandits who infest the coast region are becoming bolder day by day, according to M. I. Vought, one of 108 American refugees who arrived here today on board the barge Harry Morse from Tampico. In practically every raid bandits have made American men were insulted or injured, declared Mr. Vought, who barely escaped with his life when he was attacked recently by bandits who raided his ranch, sacked the premises and forced Mrs. Vought and her sister, Miss O'Keefe, to flee.

Mr. Vought was seriously injured. He was struck on the head by a carbine in the hands of one of the bandits. Then he was dragged away from his house by the bandits, who planned to shoot him. Through a clever ruse he escaped, joined his wife and her sister and with other refugees fled from Tampico. So far, he says, American women have not been molested but they have narrowly escaped.

Of all the refugees arriving here perhaps none had a worse experience than did Mr. Vought. His ranch is about 75 miles from Tampico. The marauders who attacked it called themselves rebels. They forcibly entered the house and to save themselves from insult the women were forced to flee. The marauders thoroughly sacked the ranch property and then started a fight with Mr. Vought. Though seriously injured he managed to escape from the band eventually and succeeded in getting his wife and her sister through to Tampico after a perilous trip.

There they joined other refugees in petitioning Consul Miller for aid in leaving the country. The tug Pan-American and barge Harry Morse, property of the Texas Oil company, were secured, through the assistance of Consul Miller and the Red Cross and White Cross societies of Tampico. The oil company also assisted materially in aiding the refugees.

The entire party is held in quarantine. They communicated with the shore today by wireless and told their stories to those who went out in launches near the tug and barge. The party will probably be held in quarantine until Friday night. The members plan to go to their former homes after they are permitted to land. Mr. and Mrs. Vought and Miss O'Keefe will go to San Antonio, Miss O'Keefe's home is in Topeka, Kan.

BAOWNSVILLE, Tex., June 5.—A careful investigation today indicated that the death lists in the battle of Matamoros will total between 100 and 110, the first total announced. The number of wounded is not increased. The bodies of the killed were placed on two piles of wood today and burned.

Surgeon Major B. Rios Zetuchi stated today positively that the Madros had nothing to do with the Carranza movement. He knew this from the fact that friends of the Madros who were also friends of the Carranza movement had approached members of the madero family with the result that they were informed that the Madros would not befriend or finance any movement.

MEXICO CITY, June 5.—More than 150 Americans, whose financial condition renders it impossible for them to pay their way to the United States, will be sent from here to Galveston by way of Vera Cruz today as the result of representation made by the American ambassador to the administration at Washington. The steamer La Mexicana has been chartered for this purpose and Red Cross funds employed.

Most of the Americans reside in Mexico City. The others are from points in the interior. Some of the refugees from regions overrun by rebels are not of the indigent class, but employes of concerns which disturbed conditions made it necessary to close down. There are a number of women in the party. The American consul at Tampico has already shipped more than 100 Americans from that town.

LOOKING For Trouble

ABOUT the most profitless occupation one can possibly be engaged in is looking for trouble. We are not looking for trouble, we are trying every way possible to avoid it. There is an old saying, "Never trouble trouble, until trouble troubles you." That is all right for a freak phrase, but often, if you are not looking which way trouble is coming you may not have time to dodge until after you are hit, and a close observation of the process is that dodging afterwards is largely if not entirely wasted energy.

Of course there is no wisdom in "old-womanish" crossing of bridges before you get to them, but when there is a bridge there, and you know it, it is your business to get ready to cross in the best shape possible. There are bridges to cross in every kind of buying in the world. Sometimes your own judgment will get you across all right, and again the judgment of the seller, his knowledge when he buys the goods, must help you over.

We want to call your attention to the fact that we are prepared to help you across the bridges when you want to buy LUMBER. Every piece of lumber we handle is purchased by a man who was identified with the oldest lumber business in Southwest Texas. He has crossed some bridges in the Lumber Business, and we have the satisfaction of knowing that when we buy lumber we are looking ahead for bridges, in the quality of the stock and the price we pay. If you buy lumber cheaper than we sell it you don't get as good lumber, or else the seller loses money—and people are not bad about losing money in any kind of business, in that way.

Then again, there are a lot of little bridges. Such, for instance, as estimating short on lumber for a certain building. This is not really a little bridge. If you know what the work on your building will cost, you will know, after we make an estimate, just about what the finished structure will come to. Another thing that is a little bridge is starting in on a job and not being able to get what you want, and having the lumberman give you "something just as good." We carry a stock of lumber that will meet your requirements, no matter what you want to build, nor how soon you want to build it.

This business is more than half a century old, and for more than a quarter of a century has had a yard at Kerrville. We have a reputation to sustain, and we are sustaining it. We want your business on a safe, straightforward business basis. We offer no chromos as an inducement. We do, however, offer as good lumber as can be bought in Texas, and sell it at a price that assures you of first-class service, and leaves us a fair profit for our labor. We appreciate all patronage given us, and shall be pleased to have you call on us any time for prices and estimates.

Dancers Aid Poor.
PARIS, June 10.—Georges Cochon, secretary of the Tenants' League, with a family of four people who had been turned out of their home, their belongings piled on a barrow, went to the Moulin Rouge, where a ball was at its height. He was accompanied by some musicians whose purpose was to make discordant noises. The dance orchestra was silenced by his own, and Cochon made a speech announcing he would take up a collection for his proteges. The spectators contributed, both English and American tourists giving money to aid the evicted family.

MEZES DISCUSSES AMENDMENTS

University President Makes Statement Touching Proposed Amendment to Constitution.

In an open letter President S. F. Mezes, of the University of Texas discusses the amendment to the state constitution by Senate Joint Resolution No. 18, as follows:

"Many erroneous statements have been widely published about the position of the University authorities in the event that the constitutional amendment submitted in Senate Joint Resolution No. 18 should be adopted. It seems fitting, therefore, that an authoritative statement should come from one who is in a position to speak for the University.

"The amendment does not contemplate, and gives no authority for the consolidation of the A. & M. College and the University in Austin.

"The Amendment gives no authority to move the Medical Department.

"The Amendment gives no authority to move the College of Industrial Arts for Women.

"The Amendment gives no authority to move the Sam Houston Normal, the Southwest Texas Normal, the North Texas Normal, or the West Texas Normal.

"The Amendment will in no way change the constitutional relations between the University and the A. & M. College, the College of Industrial Arts, or the four state normals.

"If the Amendment is adopted, the authorities of the University will continue to develop the course of study as seems best for the needs of its thirty-three hundred students. Four hundred and sixty-one of these students, in the regular session alone, come direct from the farm, and more than a thousand of them are preparing to teach in the common schools. It is probable that the demands of these students will require more courses than we now offer in agriculture, both for those who plan to teach agriculture in the public schools and for those who expect to go back to the farm. If the capacity of the University, the A. & M. College, the College of Industrial Arts, the four state normal schools, and the public schools were doubled, all of them could not supply the needs of the three hundred and fifty thousand white farmers of Texas.

"The Directors of the A. & M. College in their last biennial report state that nearly a million dollars are needed at once for buildings. Under the provisions of the Amendment buildings could be provided without delay at an immediate cost of $50,000 a year. Moreover, the adoption of the Amendment would forever free the College from the danger of being unable to get buildings from appropriations should another Governor, or the Supreme Court, consider such a method unconstitutional. Should this Amendment fail and should another disastrous fire revisit the College during the administration of a governor who considered appropriations for A. & M. buildings unconstitutional, how would it be possible to replace the burned buildings? I can not think that the opponents of the Amendment have seriously considered the question.

"I have spent twenty of my best years in educational work in Texas, and I expect to spend the rest of my life here. I am more confident than ever that the people of Texas wish to develop all their educational institutions and will deal generously by them. The pending Amendment, in my judgment, is the most equitable and beneficial measure in the interest of every higher educational institution that has been submitted to the people during my long residence in the state. I confidently urge every friend of education to vote and work for the constitutional amendment submitted in Senate Joint Resolution No. 18.

Decisive Fight With Moros is Planned

Stubborn resistance is expected so a strong force has been assembled, consisting of a company of regular infantry, a troop of cavalry, seven companies of scouts and two companies of constabulary, with a battery of four mountain guns and a machine gun platoon.

Train Crushes Home Killing Two Women.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., June 9.—A woman and her daughter and two trainmen were killed early today in a spectacular wreck of a fast Norfolk and Western freight train at Cleveland, Va. Several trainmen were injured.

The train, drawn by two engines, left the rails and rolled down an embankment, crushing the home of Mrs. Sarah Owens.

Mrs. Owens and her 17-year-old daughter, who were asleep in their beds, were killed. Engineer Gillespie and Fireman Stewart were caught under one of the engines and crushed to death. The engineer and fireman of the second engine jumped, but suffered probably fatal injuries.

Life and Property Are Involved in Fireworks.

AUSTIN, Tex., June 9.—The movement for a bloodless Fourth of July celebration is being furthered by S. W. English, state fire marshal, in all ways that his office can devise. He has sent out copies of the Independence Day bulletin which argues for sane methods of celebrating the nation's holiday by eliminating fireworks and thus reducing the casualty list and the fire hazard. In his letter transmitting the bulletin, Mr. English makes a statement as follows:

"To all who have given study to the question of the need of a adequate ordinance regulating, or prohibiting the use of fireworks, is apparent, and this office would urge the necessity of calling the attention of mayors and councilmen in cities and towns not having a suitable law on the subject, to the need for the enactment and enforcement of such a measure.

"Texas has been more fortunate than other states in so far as injury to both property and life in Fourth of July celebrations is concerned, but that circumstance can not be accepted as a guarantee that our good luck will continue indefinitely.

"If your city has no adequate ordinance on the subject, urge the passage of the fireworks ordinance without delay, and provide for its rigid enforcement; and request your local editors to give as much publicity as possible to the necessity for a safe and sane observance of the glorious Fourth, to the end that needless loss of life and limb, as well as valuable property, may be averted."

The form of ordinance which is suggested for adoption by the various cities is as follows:

"Section 1. Police Quell Riot of Shrieking Seamen

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 11.—Two men were seriously injured and a dozen others sustained minor injuries in a fight between striking seamen of the United Fruit Company and strike-breakers at the Julia River dock here today. Police quelled the riot making 113 arrests.

The trouble is said to have originated when a number of strikers attempted to prevent the men who had taken their places from boarding the steamship Herdia. A score of shots and volleys of bricks had been exchanged before the police were able to stop the fight. The two men seriously hurt received bullets in the abdomen.

The strike of the seamen was called ten days ago, immediately after the announcement by the United Fruit Company of a reduction in wages. Five hundred sailors, firemen, oilers and stokers are out, according to claims at headquarters. Today's riot was the first demonstration that had been made by the strikers.

Great Submarines Planned For Navy.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—The Navy Department consistently has been extremely reticent concerning its submarines. It became known today that the plans for the three vessels of this type authorized by the last session of Congress and for which bids are about to be asked, contemplate vessels much larger than any now in commission.

Although the pioneer in submarine navigation, the American navy has been outstripped by European countries in the matter of size and power. The Navy Department resigners are now planning larger and more formidable vessels of this type and some of them prophesy "the development of the submarine into a giant battleship that will replace the dreadnaughts in the first line of defense.

They even contend these vessels would be able to disappear beneath the surface of the sea to escape a return fire after discharging their 12-inch rifles at an enemy.
