Begins most auspiciously for all lines of business. The country is in a prosperous condition, a wonderful season is in the ground from the rains that have fallen during late months of 1913. No loss has resulted to the people of this section on account of floods, and there is every indication now that 1914 will be a record year for the Hill Country of Southwest Texas in point of business activity.

When a country is prosperous the first evidences of that prosperity is building. Man is a creature of impulses, and no matter how widely he may differ from his neighbor in all other things the impulse to build, to create, to make a beautiful home, to make it comfortable, and substantial is common property to all mankind. If your business prospers in 1914 you are going to build something. You may already have a magnificent home, but you will build something more, or will at least improve and repair a little.

We want you to give us an opportunity to add to your material prosperity by saving you a considerable amount of money on your lumber purchases during the next year. We have demonstrated our ability to do this, and we cordially invite you to make this yard your lumber-buying headquarters.

We are not making an effort to crowd the season, but the time for selling winter goods is drawing toward a close. We know there will be a lot more cold weather, and we are going ta give our customers the advantage of getting good, warm, serviceable clothing at very low pices. We are makon all winter goods, including dry goods, shoes, blankets, quilts, heavy underwear, and all the things that are made for winter use exclusively. An especial reduction will be made in shoes on account of the fact that our big stock of spring shoes was shipped ahead of time, and are now in the warehouse. We must make room for these and a lot of other spring goods that have already come in, hence a reduced price sale in these lines. This sale will mean a great deal to those who have an insome of less than $3,000, and there are a great many of us; while to those who have a greater income and must pay the tax, this big reduction in the price of the things you need will help you to pay it. This is a real money saving sale, and we invite all the people to share in the big saving.

The Season's

Greetings!

Says Mulvaney: "There ve go now Mr. Tim Haney, makin' light av the ould custom of wishing people the season's greetings. Of course I'll admit that it is an ould custom, and that for more than nineteen centuries people have been doing that same thing. And by the same token I'd call your attention to the fact that min and Wimmin have been lovin' each other, an lovin' their childer, givin' their sympathy, and laugh n' for joy and weepin in sorrow, a great deal longer than they have been sayin' "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, and plase the Parint, they will keep on doin' these things, because it is good for the world and the people that are in it, and for those yet to come, that old things are honored and old customs are perpetuated. So, The Season's Greetings it is to everyone I meet, and may their Christmas be a merry one, and their New Year the best and happiest they have had yet."

Like Mr. Mulvaney, we believe in old customs and old-established things. It has long been our custom to give our friends greeting at this time of the year. We have just passed through a very successful and prosperous year. The people are in a prosperous condition, they have given us a liberal patronage throughout the year and we appreciate it. There is abundant promise of a good year in 1914, and we trust that the prosperity of the people of this section of Texas may be in keeping with the outlook. At the close of a year that has given us many pleasures, made us many new friends, as well as strengthened the ties between this house and a host of old, time-tried friends and patrons, we most cordially extend the Season's Greetings to all the people, and invite them to make themselves at home with us during the coming year, as they have in the year just passed.

He has given half his life to meet the demand for young stock and has surrendered the freedom of forests for the shackles of the pen where fat can be produced with the greatest ecenomy. He is one of the best revenue producers in the animal kingdom, and has shown an increase in value per head during the past five years of $2.80. The statistics of the Federal Department of Agriculture pay a glowing tribute to the growing popularity of the Texas hog, and show a decrease of approximately a million head in number and an increase of over $2,-000,000 in aggregate value.
