THE WEEK IN SOCIETY

CIVIC LEAGUE CARNIVAL DRAWS BIG ATTENDANCE

Large crowds attended the Civic League carnival and supper in the City Park last Thursday evening, and the entertainment was a big success in every way.

Liberal donations from the business men and contributions of chicken, salads, cakes, etc., from the ladies greatly assisted in giving the cafeteria supper.

Among the carnival attractions were magicians, fortune tellers, bathing beauties, operetta and minstrel directed by Miss Swayze and Mrs. R. A. Shelburne, fish ponds, and others.

A neat sum was realized and will be used for the upkeep of the park. The committee in charge of arrangements wishes to thank the ladies who assisted in serving and all who aided in making the entertainment such a success.

Tea at Misses Burnett's

Wednesday afternoon of last week Misses Reba and Lynn Burnett were hostesses to an informal tea for the benefit of the Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

The pretty new home of the Misses Burnett was made very attractive with garden flowers. The color scheme in the living room was white and yellow. Shasta daisies being used in here. The dining room was in pink, with pink roses and geraniums used very artistically.

A delightful program of music was given, consisting of solos by Mesdames G. M. Doyle, Alois Renschel, J. L. Pampell and Jack Stevens, and piano numbers by Misses Annie and Edna Saenger, Marguerite Henke and Mrs. J. B. Young.

The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. J. S. Wheelers, Mrs. H. Weiss and Misses Florrie Galbraith, Sallie and Fannie Huntington.

Miss Roberts Entertains

Last Friday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Roberts, Miss Maybelle Roberts entertained with a delightful appointed bridge party honoring Mrs. Jack Stevens of Smithville and Miss Alice Domingues.

The house was arranged with a profusion of Shasta daisies and brilliant colored zinnias.

Prize for high score, a hand embroidered luncheon set, was won by Miss Alice Domingues; prize for low score, a vanity purse, was given Mrs. Leonard Rawson, consolation, a reed basket, was cut by Mrs. Alice Schofner. The honorees were given dainty hand-painted candle sets. A delicious salad course was served to twelve tables of players.

Those invited were Mrs. Jack Stevens and Miss Alice Domingues, the honorees; Mesdames Amy Wallace, E. H. Prescott, P. J. Domingues, Alice Schofner, G. M. Doyle, L. L. DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION STILL AT DEADLOCK IN NEW YORK CITY

Thirty-Seventh Ballot Showed McAdoo in Lead But Far From Sufficient Votes to Win.

As the Sun went to press Wednesday evening dispatches from New York carried the information that the Democratic Convention in session in that city closed its twelfth day of endeavor without nominating a standard bearer for the party.

The 37th ballot showed Wm. G. McAdoo leading the field with a total of 439.5 votes; Al Smith second with 323.5 and John W. Davis of West Virginia third with 107. Besides the three leaders there were several favorite sons which individual States were holding out for, in the hope that the convention might at last realize that the only chance of reaching a decision was in choosing a dark horse.

Democrats are rapidly learning the full significance of "bloc" action. Congressional blocs have given away to "conventional blocs," and nomination of a presidential candidate is delayed and will be delayed until the "bloc" gets what it wants or is smashed.

The situation seems to point to a two-man bloc—William G. McAdoo and William Jennings Bryan. McAdoo insists that he is still a candidate with a chance, and William Jennings Bryan is supporting McAdoo's persistency in remaining in the race unto Bryan demands another progressive candidate.

Bryan may have been considered a shrewd politician, but he is wielding considerable influence in this convention. While no one expects Bryan to name the candidate it begins to look as though a Bryan bloc might prevent the nomination of any candidate unacceptable to the Commoner and McAdoo will undoubtedly hold on to the McAdoo votes and continue the deadlock until some candidate is offered who has the progressive qualifications which Bryan demands. In the meantime Bryan is one of the closest advisers of McAdoo.

When the convention is in session Bryan is in constant action. He button-holes delegates, whispers advice to leaders and has a finger continually in the pie. The old war horse of politics has caught the whiff of powder and there is battle in his eye.

"We shall not adjourn until we have named a progressive Democrat," Bryan declares. That is his stand and he fights for it.

Although some of the activity of Bryan in opposing John W. Davis has failed to bear fruit, for delegations with whom he pleaded have cast their votes for Davis, nevertheless his influence is telling, and his obstinacy will probably tell in today's session.

Davis supporters have tried hard to offset the opposition of Bryan, and are even charging him with ingratitude. They claim that John W. Davis, father of the present candidate, was a long time friend and constant supporter of Bryan in his unsuccessful campaigns for President.

The Commoner has long been accustomed to attacks, however, and he is enthusiastically fighting his battles for progressive candidates with the light of combat in his eye.

Fighting Bryan, who was counted a back number in the front line in this convention.

Bryan fought and won hard battles in the resolutions committee and the Democratic platform bears the Bryan stamp of approval.

The candidates that this convention names will also bear the Bryan stamp of approval—unless the McAdoo-Bryan bloc collapses.

Superintendent Mark Riley of the Federal Hatchery at San Marcos, and two of his men, Messrs. E. G. Jackson and W. T. Mayfield, spent Wednesday and Thursday of last week at the Kerr County Bass Hatchery seining out the baby bass and planting them in the Guadalupe River below Ingram. Owing to the lower pool breaking just at the spawning period only 1,040 small bass were secured, but they were fine specimens and averaged about four inches in length. While it is hard to admit that this section contains anyone so sorry, yet the check-up showed that some one has been fishing out the breeders at the Hatchery, and for that reason the upper pool was a blank.

EDITORS ARE HUMAN

Cape Vincent (N. Y.) Eagle: When a ticklish situation arises in a town, it is quite the fashion to remark that the newspaper ought to say something sharp about that.

The average citizen feels quite certain he could run a newspaper better than the editor, and if he were publishing that sheet, he'd show 'em, you can bet. As a matter of fact, if he has horse sense, he would do just as the editor does—put the soft pedal on family rows, church squabbles, and such matters of minor consequence which will adjust themselves as time goes on.

Don't expect the long-suffering small town newspaper man to advocate or attack any proposition which you yourself lack the courage to support or attack over your own signature. The local paper is willing to push any project in the public interest, but it is not willing to pull chestnuts out of the fire for individuals or minorities.

THE PARTISAN PAPER

New York State College Service Sheet: The day of rabid partisan newspapers is passing. This is not only to the best interest of the newspaper, but also of the state. Too often the old political editor was more concerned in promoting the welfare of his party than he was in getting at the truth, or in seeking the best possible government.

Although the passing of the political paper is hardly to be regretted, we cannot subscribe to the thesis of a South Dakota paper which argues that it is ridiculous to speak of a Democratic paper or a Republican paper as it would to designate hotels, barber shops, or drug stores in the same way.

This editor seems to believe that the newspaper is nothing but a business enterprise that it has no responsibility towards its community or toward the state, that it is only concerned with the making of money, and that anything that might interrupt the steady flow to the till should be anathema.

Since some people are Democrats and some people are Republicans, to follow his line of reasoning, it would not always be safe to be either Republican or Democrat, because in either case one will antagonize the members of the other party.

To our way of thinking, this is not the objection to the partisan paper which the conscientious editor will find. The editor who really has a belief in the power and influence of his paper does not refuse to run a Democratic paper because he feels it will antagonize Republicans, but because he has convictions that the principles of his party are the best.

We are arguing, then, not against treating of politics in a paper, but against the partisan type of paper which is Republican or Democratic largely for purposes of revenue.

PERSISTENT ADVERTISING

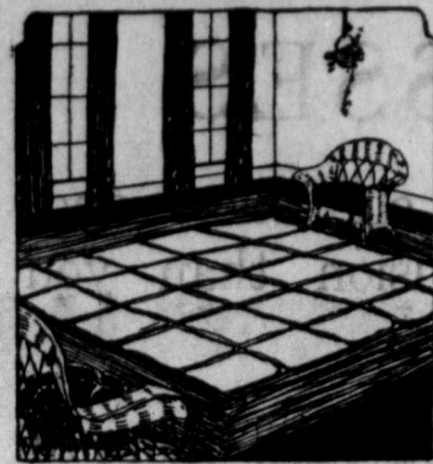

Mill Creek Valley (Ohio) News: If a traveling salesman were asked what was the first principle for success in his business, he might say that it was to call on the trade regularly and often. A salesman might not be so polished or fluent as his competitors, but if he was "Johnny on the Spot," if he managed to get around about twice as often as his rivals, he would pick up a lot of business.

A prospective customer might feel that his lines were all right and that they did not care to upset their previous business arrangements to deal with this fellow. But if the new man was right on deck twice as often as the other fellows, there would be times when his personal solicitation would land an order that was lying around loose waiting for some one to pick it up. And once concerns got to dealing with him, they would keep on and his frequent calls would strengthen the habit of buying of him. The business world appreciates and responds to the enterprise of the man who solicits business persistently.

This is one of the many reasons why newspaper advertising brings such splendid returns. Its solicitation is more regular and frequent than other forms of salesmanship.

The average person will be likely to see an advertisement in a newspaper much more frequently than he or she sees the display in a store window. The newspaper advertisement is seen at hours when people are at leisure and can read and think about it, while the show window display is apt to be seen when people are in a hurry and can't stop to consider it.

The effect of advertising then, is to keep up a constant solicitation. The

Fredericksburg Wins From Comfort
Fredericksburg, Tex., July 1.—Comfort Bronchos went down in defeat on the home diamond Sunday in a hard fought game, which the locals topped, 2 to 1.

Hollmig let the Bronchos down with six hits and with perfect support would have shut them out. Gudat, the Comfort portsider, was nicked for 11 safe blows and was continually in trouble. Goldsmith, the Giant first sacker, saved the day for the Giants. With men on second and third, in the fourth, he speared Satcher's liner, retiring the side. Pankratz made a pretty catch for the Bronchos. Hollmig, besides pitching a strong game, had a perfect day at the bat, getting three singles and a double out of four trips to the plate. Goldsmith got a single and double in four trips. The catching of U. Henke was an outstanding feature.

The Giants scored their first run in the first inning on two singles and an error. The Bronchos tied the score in their half of the eighth on an error and Nowlin's double. The tie was broken in the ninth by Hollmig's double, which coupled with two errors gave the Giants the winning run. A record-breaking crowd saw the game.

BURNETT'S CASH STORE

Kerrville, Texas

FINANCIAL POSSIBILITIES OF PECAN CULTURE IN SOUTHWEST

By C. H. Kearney, in Lloyd's Magazine: Agriculture has been and will continue to be the leading industry of Southwest Texas, yet, strange to say, its most profitable and interesting crop, pecans, has until within the last few years, been almost entirely neglected. With the exception of a few localities---notably the San Saba district---pecan growing has not received anything like the attention it deserves. Only in the extreme southern states is it possible to raise pecans, and Texas, more than any other state, is its natural home.

In many of its river bottoms, the native pecan tree is the principal growth and hundreds of thousands of large sturdy trees a century or two centuries old, and still strong and vigorous, prove conclusively that this State, above all others, is especially adapted to pecan growing. However, nuts grown on the native trees are small and of little value compared to the improved varieties of paper-shell pecans, and just here is the opportunity we should accept, and without delay, plant out thousands of acres in this most profitable of all crops. While the native trees are found only in the river bottoms, due to the moisture secured by the long tap root, and to the distribution of the seed during floods, there are thousands of acres of level upland, where soil and other conditions are favorable, and where the large paper-shell pecan groves of the future will be located.

There are a number of improved varieties each with its own characteristics, but generally speaking, they are divided into two classes, the Eastern and Western. The Western include such splendid nuts as the Burnett, Texas Prolific, Halbert, and San Saba, and the Eastern varieties the Schley, Stuart, Success and Money-maker. Moisture is the chief difference in the requirement of these two classes, and so with irrigation, the Eastern varieties also are successfully grown in the West. The Western varieties, however, cannot be grown in the East as they are especially adapted to a dryer climate.

It is the opinion of the writer that on upland areas in the Southwest, where irrigation is available, and where soil conditions groves of the future will be located. Here is the natural home of the pecan, and groves so located can be controlled better than elsewhere. While pecans are not so liable to injury from frost as are other trees, yet an occasional late frost does far more damage in river bottoms, than on uplands. Likewise the trees grown on uplands have an advantage in getting more sunlight and better air circulation, etc., and in particular, are less subject to injury from insects.

The trees are planted from 40 to 60 feet apart. A spacing of 40 feet gives 27 trees to the acre; 50 feet 21 and 60 feet gives 12.

The 40 feet spacing is probably the most satisfactory, as they are not too close together for thirty or more years, after which time the alternate trees can be cut out.

The usual method of securing trees is to purchase them from some reliable nurseryman. They should be well rooted and in a healthy condition, and of a size of from two to five feet. Those from three to four feet are very satisfactory and cost from 75 to 85 cents each at the nursery.

From six to seven years are required from the time of planting until a commercial grove is developed, but once the trees are in bearing, the production increases annually and continues for a hundred and two years. During the first six or seven years the young trees require careful attention, and it is truly said, that if one takes care of even a limited acreage for this length of time, it will be the care of him and his family the rest of his life, and will take care of his children and grand children afterwards so that a properly developed pecan orchard is a better protection than an insurance policy costing many times as much. And it has the advantage in that the owner does not have to die to win, but instead has only a very few years to wait until handsome returns begin coming in. Of course during the six or seven years while the young trees are growing, and for a few years afterwards until the trees become larger, the space in between the rows can be utilized in growing certain other crops. But always, it should be remembered, that the pecan trees are the chief asset and nothing injurious to them should be planted nearby, always leaving a broad strip along the tree rows and keeping it at all times free of weeds and grass and thoroughly cultivated and irrigated if required, especially during the growing season.

A conservative estimate of what the production of a pecan grove should be, with trees spaced 40 feet apart is as follows:

6th year--2 lbs. per tree--	27.00
54 lbs. per ac. at 50¢ lb.
7th year--5 lbs. per tree--	67.00
135 lbs. per ac. at 50¢ lb.
8th year--8 lbs. per tree--	108.00
216 lbs. per ac. at 50¢ lb.
9th year--10 lbs. per tree--	135.00
270 lbs. per ac. at 50¢ lb.
10th year--18 lbs. per tree--	243.00
486 lbs. per ac. at 50¢ lb.
15th year--100 lbs. per tree--	1350.00
2700 lbs. per ac. at 50¢ lb.
20th year--150 lbs. per tree--	2025.00
4050 lbs. per ac. at 50¢ lb.

Many groves make such yields and more, but say it produced only one-half the above, would it not be an attractive investment? The pecan is undoubtedly the most delicious and popular of all nuts and instead of selling at 50 cents per pound as estimated, a far better price can be secured with proper marketing facilities. Some of the producers in Georgia and elsewhere readily sell their entire crop through the mail order system at prices from $1.00 to $1.50 per pound. Nuts of the larger paper-shell varieties weight from 30 to 50 nuts per pound, worth at this price at from 2 to 5 cents each.

The States of Georgia and Louisiana to a lesser extent, have in the last few years realized the profits to be made in pecan growing and many groves are now in bearing that pay a handsome interest on a valuation of from $100 to $2000 per acre. Needless to say many thousands of new trees are being planted out on which, in a few years, the owners will reap fortunes.

Texas has over one million pecan trees of bearing age, which is about one-half the pecan trees in the United States. Yet less than 1 per cent of these are of improved varieties. Georgia has approximately 444,000 bearing trees, of which 84 per cent are of the improved varieties. Louisiana has 95,000 trees with 15 per cent in improved varieties.

It is up to those interested in Southwest Texas, where the climate and soil and other conditions are more adapted to pecans than any other section of the world, to wake up, and do as Georgia and Louisiana are doing, and their profits, with equal cost, will exceed that derived from any source of agriculture anywhere. I venture to say that if California could grow pecans as can Southwest Texas, you would hear little of almonds and English walnuts and the pecan would have precedence over all nut and fruit crops grown. And it is conservatively estimated that the supply will not meet the demand in the next 200 years.

BRUCKS ANNOUNCES FOR DISTRICT JUDGE OFFICE

Announcement will be found elsewhere in these columns of the candidacy of L. J. Brucks, present District Attorney, for the office of Judge of the 38th Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

Mr. Brucks gives the following reference to his life:

"Referring to your request for personal data, beg to say there is nothing startling about my career. I was born in Medina County, and have lived here all my life, with the exception of two years when I served as a customs officer on the Mexican border. Taught school for seven years, and ran a newspaper (the Hondo Herald) for about ten years. Was elected District Attorney in 1910, and have held the office continuously since that time without ever having an opponent."

GETS RECORD TROUT FROM MEDINA LAKE

San Antonio Light, June 30: What is believed to be one of the largest rainbow trout ever caught anywhere has come out of the waters of Medina Lake.

These fish are considered "overgrown" when they reach eight and ten inches in the waters of Colorado and California. The Medina Lake prize, hooked by Versey D. Dorrance, new superintendent of the Medina Fish Hatchery, measured seventeen and a quarter inches. Mr. Dorrance had no scales and was unable to determine the weight of the big beauty.

This rainbow was one of the fingerlings planted in the lake as an experiment eighteen months ago. Since then, several have been caught measuring ten, twelve and even fourteen and fifteen inches.

It is a coincidence that Mr. Dorrance, who caught the record length fish, hatched out that selfsame fish when he was connected with the Neosho, Mo., fish hatchery, from which the first Medina Lake shipment of rainbows was received.

The catch was made just below the Medina Hatchery ponds with a live minnow. Dorrance reports that the trout gave him a great battle. At the strike he leaped clear of the water and the hatchery superintendent saw at once that he was a rainbow trout. The steelhead rainbows, shipped from Wyoming recently, all have been hatched out and are swimming around in the gravel-bottom trout ditch at the hatchery.

Mr. Dorrance has become convinced of a fact interesting to fishermen---that the rainbow trout spawning season at Medina Lake is likely to be in October.

The hatchery is in full operation under Mr. Dorrance's direction and the superintendent and Walter Gilbert are now engaged in making the place as attractive as possible. Rock-bordered walks have been laid out and a profusion of flowers planted, giving promise that some day the hatchery will be a lake beauty spot.

STANDARD FLAG RULES TO BE TAUGHT IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Commander Sherwood of American Legion Waged Winning Campaign on Flag Etiquette.

Temple, Tex., June 28.—Within another year or so the proud American who wants to be patriotic on July Fourth and takes his family out to see the Big Parade, may find one of his children nudging him and whispering to him to lift his hat with his right hand and place it over his heart as the American flag comes sweeping by in the procession.

Dr. M. W. SHERWOOD As a result of a campaign waged by Dr. M. W. Sherwood of Temple, State Commander of the American Legion, the State Textbooks Commission has authorized the teaching of "Flag Etiquette" in the public schools. The standard flag rules are to be made a part of the civics textbooks.

That observation was made here on June 14th by Dr. W. M. Sherwood, State Commander of the American Legion, who has been advised that standard flag rules are to be taught in the public schools of Texas as part of the course in civics. Under the leadership of Commander Sherwood the Texas Department of the Legion carried on the campaign to bring about teaching of the flag etiquette in the schools of Texas.

"It will be a great day for Texas," said Commander Sherwood, "when all of our children learn the accepted rules for draping and paying proper respect to Old Glory on all occasions, and just as soon as they begin their studies of these rules in the public schools they will put their newly acquired information to good use by assisting their elders in decorating floats and buildings for patriotic occasions.

"All of us are loyal citizens. We would fight for our country at the drop of the hat, if necessary, but few of us have ever been told that we should lift our hat and place it over our heart as the National colors come by in parade, and that is the reason so few of us do it.

"If I could send a Fourth of July message to the people of Texas I would say, let us begin now to help our children learn the flag rules they are going to study in school later. When the flag comes by in parade, the man should lift his hat and place it over his heart. The woman should place her right hand over her heart. All should remain quiet until the colors have passed."

Proposed Amendment to Constitution RELATING TO GRANTING OF CONFEDERATE PENSIONS Senate Joint Resolution No. 10

Proposing an amendment to Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas to provide that the Legislature may grant pensions to Confederate soldiers, sailors and their widows, who have been citizens of Texas since prior to January 1, 1910, providing that all soldiers, sailors and their widows eligible under the provisions hereof shall be entitled to be placed upon the rolls and participate in the pension fund created hereunder; levying a tax of seven (.07) cents on the one hundred ($100.00) dollars valuation of property in this State for the payment of such pension, providing that the Legislature may reduce the rate of pension for such purposes, fixing a time for the election to be held on such amendment and making an appropriation to pay the expenses thereof.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas shall be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

Section 51. The Legislature shall have no power to make and grant or authorize the making of any grant of public money to any individual, association of individuals, municipal or other corporations whatsoever, provided, however, the Legislature may grant aid to indigent or disabled Confederate soldiers and sailors, who came to Texas prior to January 1, 1910, and to their widows, in indigent circumstances and who have been bona fide residents of this State since January 1, 1910, and who were married to such soldiers or sailors prior to January 1, 1910, and to indigent and disabled soldiers who under the special laws of the State of Texas during the war between the States served in organizations for the protection of the frontier against Indian raiders or Mexican marauders and to indigent and disabled soldiers of the militia of the State of Texas who were in active service during the war between the States and to the widows of such soldiers who are in indigent circumstances and who were married to such soldiers prior to January 1, 1910, provided that the word "widow" in the preceding lines of this Section shall not apply to women born since the year 1861, and all soldiers and sailors eligible under the above conditions shall be entitled to be placed upon the pension rolls and participate in the distribution of the pension fund of this State, under any existing law or laws hereafter passed by the Legislature, and also to grant aid for the establishment and maintenance of a home for said soldiers and sailors, their wives and widows and women who aided in the Confederacy under such regulations and limitations as may be provided by law, provided the Legislature may provide for husband and wife to remain together, in the home. There is hereby levied in addition to all other taxes heretofore permitted by the Constitution of Texas as a State ad valorem tax on property of seven (.07) cents on the one hundred ($100) dollars valuation for the purpose of creating a special fund for the payment of pensions for services in the Confederate army and navy, frontier organizations and the militia of the State of Texas, and for the widows of such soldiers serving in said armies, navies, organizations or militia; provided that the Legislature may reduce the tax rate herein levied, and provided further that the provision of this Section shall not be construed so as to prevent the grant of aid in cases of public calamity.

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified voters of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1924, at which all voters shall have printed or written on their ballots: "For amendment of Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution authorizing the Legislature to grant aid to Confederate soldiers, sailors and their widows who have been a resident of this State since January 1, 1910," and "Against amendment to Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution, authorizing the Legislature to grant aid to Confederate soldiers and their widows."

Sec. 3. The Governor is hereby directed to issue the proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State, and the sum of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of the general funds of this State not otherwise appropriated for expenses of publications and elections thereunder.

Approved, March 20, 1923. S. L. STAPLES, Secretary of State. (Advertisement, 29-32)

Watermelons

Farm and Ranch: Our proverbial fondness for watermelons is so intense, so entirely typical of our sunny

Southern States, that we have long since forgotten that they were not our own originally, but are now so much one with the soil, that we are content to waive claim to its origin and remember only that despite its lack of food elements, it is one of the simplest and most wholesome of nature's purifiers.

However, aside from the fact that the watermelon has its place as a most refreshing and welcome summer offering when cut in rounds, so that each person may have a piece of the "heart," there are a number of "by-products" which our grandmothers made good use of.

We are giving several recipes for these toothsome "by-products." Watermelon Marmalade—Make a n y housewives pickle and preserve watermelon rinds, but are not aware that delicious butter or marmalade may be made with the red pulp. Cut the red part up in small cubes, removing all the seeds, and every bit of the white part. Weigh and add to every pound of the melon a pound of sugar, and to every three pounds of fruit the juice and rind of a lemon. Grate the rind of the lemon. Place in a large kettle and simmer slowly until quite thick. At first it will become watery, but as soon as it begins to thicken up, stir constantly, or often enough to keep it from burning. When it has become the thickness of marmalade, fill into jars and seal. It should be a rich red color.

Watermelon Rind Preserves—Prepare the rind by paring the outer green and inner pink parts away, leaving only the firm inside part of the rind. Cut into any desired shapes, and let stand overnight in solution made by dissolving one tablespoonful of lime to a bucket of water, using sufficient water to cover the rind. Next morning, rinse in clear water, weigh and boil in clear water until tender. To every pound of rind allow one and one-fourth pounds of sugar, with water enough to dissolve. Let boil until it forms a rich, thick syrup, then skim the rind from the boiling water into the syrup. Let cook until you can pierce with a straw. Just before it is ready to take up, add a little lemon juice, allowing to one watermelon rind about a half a lemon. Some prefer a little ginger added, but we like it best with only the lemon. This is an old Southern formula and is excellent.

Watermelon Sweet Pickles—Remove the green from watermelon rind and cut in strips one inch wide and several inches long. Let soak overnight in salt water in which is placed also a small lump of alum. In the morning drain off the water, placing the rinds in fresh water for several hours. Have a kettle of water over the fire and let the rinds cook awhile. Make syrup of two quarts of vinegar to one pound of sugar, add stick cinnamon, cloves, allspice to taste. Place the rinds in the syrup and let cook until a fork can easily pierce them. Place in jars and pour the thick syrup over the pickle.

Watermelon Sherbet—One large watermelon, one-half pound powdered sugar, six teaspoonfuls lemon juice or grape juice. Scoop out the center of the watermelon, rejecting the seed. Put the fruit in a bowl, and pick to pieces with a silver fork. Mix with the sugar, then pour the mixture into the freezer and turn slowly for fifteen minutes. Serve in sherbet glasses, adding a teaspoonful of lemon juice or grape juice to each glass.

JUDGE LEE WALLACE ANNOUNCES FOR RE-ELECTION

In the announcement column of The Sun this week appears the name of Judge Lee Wallace, who is seeking re-election to the office of County Judge of Kerr County at the general election in November. In doing this Judge Wallace states that he offers his official record for the rejection or the approval of the people, and has issued the following statement:

"If, after investigation, you find my official record good; a record that responds to the spirit of the times; a record not of excuses, but of action; a record of things accomplished; if you meet it with your approval and stamp it with your confidence; then as a vindication of that record, as a justification of your confidence and approval, and as an acknowledgment for faithful and efficient public service, your support is earnestly solicited."

Not to show that Geo. W. Doyle is such a cracker-jack fisherman, but in support of the contention that there are still many fine bass in the Guadalupe River, the following account is given: The latter part of last week Mr. Doyle, while casting on the North Fork, caught three bass in less than an hour and a half that weighed 1, 3 and 4 1/4 pounds, respectively, making a grand total of 8 1/4 pounds. And it wasn't a very good day for fishing, at that.

THE PASSING DAY

Will H. Mayes, Department of Journalism, Texas University

One who travels a bit over Texas is forced to the conclusion that the prosperity of the people in the different sections of the State is in almost exact proportion to the extent to which diversification of crops is practised. Where cotton is the only crop grown and the farmers buy everything for their families and their stock, the houses are unpainted, the farms look worn and dilapidated and there is a general air of poverty and thriftlessness. Where cotton and corn are grown the farms look a little better. Where, in addition to these, there are fruits and vegetables and all kinds of feedstuffs the appearance of poverty is changed to one of thrift.

I am aware that the people have been told this many times and that they still go on growing cotton and figuring on the gross price received per acre, without stopping to count the money that is paid out for feed bills and living expenses. Strange to say, they are encouraged just now to grow cotton to the exclusion of other crops by many merchants, and especially by merchants who are also farm landlords. These get their percentage of the gross income of the farmer and are not concerned about his living expenses so long as they do not exceed his receipts. In fact, as long as the farmer can pay his debts with his cotton the landlord-merchant figures that it is better for him, for he gets about all the farmer makes either in rent or in payment for feed, clothes and provisions.

A salesman who travels in both Arkansas and Eastern Texas told the writer recently that there is a noticeable difference between farm conditions in the two states—that Arkansas looks far more progressive and that the farmers are making more money, are living better and are seemingly much better contented. When asked for a reason for it, he said that it was because they nearly starved to death from 1914 to 1917 in Arkansas growing cotton and that they now produce everything they need for a living, so far as it can be done, on their farms. The result is that they do not get into debt for these things, and their cotton money is almost clear profit.

Exclusive cotton farming not only is poor business for the farmer, but it results in the farmer and his help being idle about half the year, while he and all his family work themselves nearly to death the rest of the time. The only way to succeed in any business, and farming is a business, is to do steady, every-day work with time off occasionally, of course, for vacations. No one can succeed by working half the time and idling the rest of the year. The manufacturer who would work his plant half the time, and let everything go to waste except his chief product, would soon be bankrupt. His success depends on full time operation, on keeping his expenses at the minimum, and on the elimination of waste. The farmer needs to learn that he should apply the same principles to his business. Successful merchandising is done the same way. The merchant whose store force is idle more than half the year is not likely to make much profit from his business. In those sections where only one crop is grown business is good while the crop is being marketed, extra and often incompetent help has to be employed during the rush season, and the rest of the year the sales force is standing around consuming the profits of the busy season. Rents and overhead expenses go on without interruption even though business all may stop.

The only successful way to farm, to manufacture goods, to merchandise, to do anything, is to arrange for a steady output of labor and effort and a steady income. It is easier to do this on the farm than anywhere else, and yet it is less practiced there. Our soil and our climate lend themselves to varied production of crops and farmers can grow everything in Texas, but they are not doing it in many sections of the State. It is something that each one can do for himself without waiting for his neighbor to act, or without asking permission from others.
