FRONT OF PURINA STORE HAS NEWLY PAINTED SIGN

J. T. West has recently had the front of his store painted. In addition to the painting he has had a sign advertising Purina products and his business in general painted on the front of his store.

There is a border in red and blue checkerboard design across the top and part way down the sides which is suggestive of feed from the checkerboard bags.

Clifford Wimberly, Robert West and George Mark Losey accompanied by W. A. Losey and J. T. West enjoyed a successful fishing trip to Cottonwood Friday evening.

BERTHA SMITH KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT AT ROSWELL MONDAY P M

Miss Bertha Smith, age 20, of Hagerman, met almost instant death at Roswell Monday afternoon, when a roadster in which she was riding overturned on north Main street. The car driven by Miss Lena Jones of Roswell, skidded and overturned while attempting to meet a car just after passing another car. Four young people were in the car at the time of the accident and were said to have been traveling at a high rate of speed.

Miss Smith died on the way to St. Mary's hospital. Miss Jones, the driver sustained cuts and bruises about the head, Miss Ruby Smith, sustained a broken arm and Dayton Young was bruised and cut about the body, but injuries did not prove fatal to the three young people above named.

An examination at the Roswell undertaking parlor, is said to have revealed that Miss Smith suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

STATE COLLEGE WORKS OUT NEW PLAN FOR ENGINEERING STUDENTS

D. B. Jett of the department of civil engineering, of the New Mexico A. & M. College at State College, N. M., was in Hagerman last week in the interest of the cooperative course in civil engineering now being organized at the A. & M. College. The purpose of Mr. Jett's trip thru this part of the state is twofold; he is calling on engineers who may become employers of students and on prospective students who are interested in civil engineering.

The cooperative plan as it is being organized is similar to the plan in operation in several of the eastern schools. The student attends school for six months and then works for six months in the field in which he is studying. This enables the student to obtain practical experience along with theory and also to earn enough money to pay the greater part of his expenses while in school.

While this plan is being organized at present in the department of civil engineering only it is hoped that the plan may be put in operation in the other departments of the engineering school in the near future. The State Highway Department of New Mexico; The Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District; and other engineering organizations have signified their willingness to work with the A. & M. College in this plan.

OLD "COFFIN NAIL," THE SOVEREIGN GOOD

If one should watch the advertising bill boards
carefully and look closely he would discover that it is possible to purchase a drug, put up twenty pills to a package that will not only give one a charming, graceful and slim figure, give one a throat free from irritation, give one a voice of an actor, but it will assure one, if taken regularly, of a heart that will not weaken even under the strain of the most trying athletic contests. One should surely be willing to even walk a mile to obtain these pills when they cost only $2.50 a pound. (1,000 cigarettes weigh three pounds).

In the state of West Virginia tobacco is placed by statute in the class with opium.

A bill which Hon. Reed Smoot has recently proposed to the senate of the United States is designed to protect public health and public welfare from further exploitation of irresponsible cigarette interests.
The bill provides:

A. For the inclusion of tobacco and tobacco products within the scope of the food and drugs act.

B. For the amendment of the food and drugs act so that claims made for food and drug products in any advertising medium subject to interstate commerce control should be under the same strict regulations now applied to labels or other descriptive matter on, within,
or around the container in which the product is packed.

MOTION PICTURES GREATEST

DETERRENTS OF CRIME

The motion picture is the greatest deterrent of crime,
Col. Jason Joy, Hollywood representative of Will H.
Hays declared recently in a paper read before the International Association of policemen at San Francisco. Just as a few of the early day pictures could easily be classed as crime breeders, the modern pictures in many instances are an aid to right living and right thinking. The change in the attitude of the moving picture industry will be welcomed by moral people throughout the nation.

In his paper read before the Policewomen's Association, Colonel Joy stated that "a study of 620 feature pictures produced in America during 1928 shows that 33.7 per cent contained no villain and no crime."

"In 17.5 per cent the villain was killed," Colonel Joy added, "in 33.8 per cent the villain was captured and left securely fast in the confines of a prison; in 4.4 per cent the villain reformed, repented his evil ways, and tried to recompense society for his crime.
In the remainder of the cases physical punishment was administered by the hero.

"Of the 38 so-called underworld pictures produced last year, the crook or villain was killed in 14 instances, was apprehended and arrested in 19 cases, and in 5 cases was reformed.

"Such is the ironclad moral of the movies that not once does the guilty escape punishment."

In dealing with crime, Colonel Joy said, it is important from the law's standpoint that the criminal element be convinced that "it can't get away with it."
The motion picture day after day is preaching that same lesson to millions.

He told of the recent findings of Dr. Joseph L.
Holmes, noted psychologist of Columbia University, who has been making an intensive two-years' study of motion pictures and their effect upon human behavior.
The gist of Dr. Holmes' report, Colonel Joy stated, is that motion pictures "provide a necessary outlet for romantic imagination rather than jeopardizing emotional stability."

"After discussing the question with hundreds of jurists, teachers, police officials, and social workers, Dr. Holmes reconstructed a so-called crime film in a highly exaggerated form for use in psychological tests," Colonel Joy continued. "He showed the picture to hundreds of school children to whom he put many questions. Not one child who saw the film expressed or implied the least sympathy for wrongdoers or misdeeds.

"The startling discovery was made that, even immediately after seeing the film, most of the children remembered nothing about it. Only one fact was unanimously reported, according to Dr. Holmes, and that was that 'he was put in prison' or 'he ended up in jail.' It is this certain Nemesis, occurring as it does on the screen in such vivid continuity with the act of wrongdoing, that makes the movies a deterrent to crime."

success with growing trees by laying pipe just under the

The Town Doctor

(The Doctor of Towns)

ON

"THANK YOUS" ARE THE MEANS OF MUCH HAPPINESS

There is a cigar store I know where they will give you back the amount of your purchase if the clerk
fails to say "Thank you."

There was a string of drug stores in Chicago that appeared to make it a habit on of not saying, "Thank you"—they were forced to sell out at a loss.

There is nothing that grates on my nerves quite as much as to pay a check, a bill, or present legal tender in payment of purchase, and have the recipient of my money fail to express any appreciation for the patronage extended. And there are millions of others just like me.

One of the most successful mercantile business concerns in the country has built its business on the motto, "It is only natural to trade where you are served best." Some cash register company might do good if they put a "Thank you" on their register, like cuckoos on clocks.

Why shouldn't the customer be thanked? If one man gave another a dollar and the receiver didn't even grunt to show appreciation, you'd call him
an ungrateful cuss and a poor specimen of humanity;
yet, many a sale at a profit equivalent to much more,
is accepted with the air of "Well, it's coming to me."
That is mighty poor business, or else inexcusable ignorance.

The cheery "Thank you," "Call again," or some other such card on the inside of the door, or over the cash register, shows the right spirit and helps, but isn't enough. The American public are fickle buyers, and for that reason "business goes where it is invited, and stays and comes back to the place where it is well treated and served best." There is many a business house, many a community, failing to make an expression of appreciation for patronage extended, that is thereby driving customers to its competitor, for it isn't always what is done, but what is left undone that counts.

"Thank You" never drove business from any store or community, but lack of the them has cost many thousands upon thousands of dollars.

THE CONTROL OF CRIME

"What the criminal law needs is not teeth but brains," says William J. Donovan, former assistant attorney general of the United States, "not the mental activity of a specially appointed commission of lawyers, but the concentration of the public brains.

"The criminal is alien only mentally and morally.
He is not a denizen of some remote island. He is living among us, a part of the community in the physical sense. He has access to the automobile, to the airplane, and, in New York state at least, far readier access to the automatic pistol than has the law abiding citizen. These things cannot be kept from him.

"Shortening and simplifying the processes of criminal law, extending the power of the judge upon the bench, enforcing local laws locally instead of through the already encumbered federal courts, developing a sense of responsibility in the individual citizen, in the community and in its judicial officers—these are the steps which will bring about the control of criminality."

Anti-pistol laws, anti-automobile laws, anti-aircraft laws or any other kind of "anti-laws" passed on the theory that they will prevent crime, simply punish the law abiding to the benefit of the law breaker. The more laws we pass the more law breakers we have.
Crime will be reduced in proportion as the law breaker learns that punishment will be swift and certain.

DRIVE TO THE RIGHT

Complaints are being received at the state highway offices from motorists that there is a growing tendency on the part of some drivers to cling to the left side of the road. Many accidents are chalked up as a result of this practice, says the road official.

Truck drivers are offending in some instances by
"hogging" the center of the road and refusing to move over when motorists coming up from behind sound their horns. In other cases, motorists drive far to the left to avoid dust or to pass a string of cars. It is reported that New Mexico license plates are seen on most of the cars that so break the rules of road courtesy.

"Courtesy to other drivers on the road is one of the greatest selling points a state may make to tourists," says the department. "Loyal New Mexicans are asked to cooperate with the publicity campaign to bring tourists to this state by showing the stranger within our gates road courtesy. Word of mouth advertising by satisfied visitors when they leave the state is the greatest selling force we can hope to use."

Accidents which occur when one driver is on the wrong side of the road put him in the position of receiving unequivocal blame, the road department points out. Head on collisions usually result in one or more fatalities. The worst of this is that drivers usually escape while the other persons in the car suffer the consequences.

A NEW DANGER

A new danger arises in traveling some portions of the highways, where coarse gravel and small rocks were used in the surfacing operations. Speeding cars have thrown rocks and gravel through windshields of other autos, which in a few instances have proved serious. A man lost an eye, when a rock was thrown through his windshield. Another motorist received an ugly gash in his forehead when a rock traveling with the force of a bullet hit him above the eye. His windshield he says, might have saved him from a fatal accident by breaking or checking the force of the rock.
One or two instances are reported where rocks have almost been thrown through the fenders of a car.

There is little that can be done to avoid an accident of this sort, except to slow down when you hit a stretch of coarse surfaced road.

Herbert W. Yeo, state engineer, who met with the Chaves county commissioners in Roswell last week, calls attention of the land owners of the Pecos valley to the effect that while the 1927 law, chapter 132, regarding artesian wells was held unconstitutional, chapter 149 of the 1927 law still gave the state an active law regarding the regulation of wells.

Bread for sandwiches should be 24 hours old. It should be cut in thin slices, and preferably filled with a chopped filling. If the filling is filling and the spreading may be done in one operation. Cream the

NON IRRIGATED CROPS ARE IN GOOD SHAPE OVER STATE REPORT

In a summary of comments on the crop and livestock condition as of July, issued from the Las Cruces office, the month of June was shown to be dry and hot. Ranges deteriorated rapidly, and rains were needed badly, especially over the western part of the state, where conditions were becoming critical. Since July 1, rains appear to have fallen over practically the entire state, pastures are assured for livestock, and non-irrigated crops are in an unusually good condition. The condition of the crops on July 1, indicates that production will be larger this year than last year.

The corn production is estimated at over 500,000 bushels more for New Mexico this year than last year. Winter wheat production this year will more than double that for 1928. Spring wheat has increased from 554,000 bushels last year to 714,000 bushels this year. Oats are indicated at 1,160,000 bushels, compared with 720,000 bushels last year. Tame hay production is forecasted at 475,000 tons, compared with 407,000 tons last year. Grain sorghums is indicated at about 25% increase over last year. In fact all important crops give promise of a larger production than was harvested last year.

HIGHWAY FORCE IS WORKING OVERTIME ON BIG ROAD PROJECTS

SANTA FE—The engineering divisions of the highway department are to-day running at capacity with overtime and forced production work the rule.

The drafting room of the main office of the highway department has every table full with 38 draftsmen, planners, designers and checkers working day and many nights. Over two and one quarter million dollars worth of construction work is on the boards in the plan stage.

Final checking of federal aid projects for summer lettings is now under way. The bridge division is working on plans for major drainage and overpasses for all parts of the state, together with work on underpasses and overpasses for grade elimination at railroad crossings. A large crew of draftsmen are at work solely on oil surfacing projects, getting out the final checkings on plans for the big oil-surfaced program which is already getting under way.

Two full length location crews are working out of the head office of the department on federal aid location work, while numerous small parties are working out of district offices on state construction, checking and minor change work.

With a new oil testing addition now equipped and in working order in charge of an expert oil tester, the materials testing laboratory which inspects and tests all materials used in state highway work is running at full speed. Testing starts shortly after dawn and runs through the day until late at night. A field crew are carrying on tests for material location in various parts of the state where jobs are planned to be built.

Before the year is out, it is expected that the largest highway construction program in the history of the state will be under way. The road contractors who build the various jobs on competitive bidding are meeting the advanced pressure with heavy purchases of the most up-to-date equipment which allows them to bid at figures more economical to the state because of the increased ease of production and speed of operation.

PRICES FOR CATTLE REMAIN STEADY

According to the "Western Cattle and Market News," general prices remain steady and cattle are being moved as fast as ready. Western Cattle Marketing Association reports that the supply of California cattle seems adequate to meet the demands of the packer trade, and the general situation is quite favorable. Prices during the summer months are expected to continue on a steady basis, with a possible upward trend in the season.

The general financial situation of the cattle producer is greatly improved. This is evident by the reduction in indebtedness on cattle and ranches which is taking place as a general rule in the entire west. Reasonably good prices have materially strengthened the situation, and, while the tendency is for good prices to continue during the next year or so, retrenchment is a wise policy in view of the fact that with high prices increased production is inevitable and lower prices are bound to follow.

to Modernize this Small Home

HERE is an example of modernizing in which very few changes were required to work wonders in the appearance of a plain house. A new side porch, attractive window shutters and an arch over the front steps made it into a really attractive little home.

This is one of the advantages of modernizing! It makes old homes new with a minimum of labor and expense.

Perhaps you own a house that could be improved this way. If so, we should like to help you with the planning and furnish some of our Long-Bell trademarked lumber, dry lumber, for the job.

EZKIEL'S VISION OF HOPE

TEXT—Ezekiel 47:1-12. TEXT—Of the increase of peace and there shall be.

TOPIC—Ezekiel's Message

IMMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Right Finally Win? PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Cure for the World's Ills.

His final vision, chapters 40 to 48, is a comprehensive view of the new order when the Messiah shall sway over the whole earth. The vision for today is but a small part of this vision. It can be understood in the light of the whole. Following outstanding facts are noted:

1. The restored temple (chs. 40-42).

2. The return of Jehovah. (ch. 43).

3. The Lord is seen taking departure. In chapter 43 He returns.

4. The arrangement of the services in the temple (chs. 44-46).

5. The river flowing from the temple (ch. 47).

6. The land apportioned among the tribes (chs. 48-49).

7. The holy city (chs. 50-55).

8. The attempted interpretation of the vision, some five different views.

9. The one preferred by the writer is that it is a prediction of the temple which shall be built in the Messianic times. The illustration prevents wild speculation.

10. The same time permits the full application. In fact, the illustration gives the interpretation of the vision from the smitten serpent (ch. 52) in such a way as to go down to its meaning.

11. The flowing forth from the sanctuary is the river of life, the life of Christ flowing forth to all.

12. Observe: River's Source (vv. 1, 2).

13. The flow from the house—the temple where God has come to dwell.

14. It flows from the divine life.

15. This flowing of the waters of life. So is the eternal life which flows from Calvary's cross.

16. Christ is divine. His shed blood gives life. It is to be the stream that flows from the throne of God.

17. The river of life, the life of Christ flowing forth to all.

18. The river of life, the life of Christ flowing forth to all.

19. The river of life, the life of Christ flowing forth to all.

20. The river of life, the life of Christ flowing forth to all.

21. The river of life, the life of Christ flowing forth to all.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

By GENE BYRNES

Old hens are rarely profitable for egg production and should be culled from the flock after 2 or 3 laying seasons.

Dairy utensils should be washed with warm water and an alkali or soda-ash washing powder—never with soap. Use a stiff brush for scrubbing them—never a rag.

Sweet corn loses its sugar content very rapidly after being removed from the stalk, and to have the best flavor should be picked only a few hours, or better, a few minutes, before being cooked.

More fertilizer is used on cotton than on any other crop in the United States. The price, yield, and acreage of cotton for one year determines largely the quantity of fertilizer bought for use on the following crop.

A large paddock in connection with the stable helps to keep in good condition horses that are worked irregularly. A series of sodded lots is preferable, as in addition to exercise the horses get grass, which is a tonic. Paddock exercise, though not as good as regular work, helps to prevent filled hocks, azoturia, or "Monday morning sickness," and other troubles.

Old canes in the raspberry patch should be removed immediately after the close of the picking season. The canes should be cut as close to the ground as possible. At the same time dig out all lead or badly diseased clumps. Remove prunings from the field and burn them. If the patch is destroyed, it should not be replanted to raspberries for three or four years. These measures are an aid in preventing disease.

Every dairyman knows that if the dairy cow's production decreases in hot, dry weather because of insufficient feed, it is difficult if not impossible to get production back to normal during the lactation period. Most regular pastures are short in July and August and supplementary feeds should be provided in the form of silage, supplementary pasture crops, soiling crops, or good legume hay.

To get the best possible grain mixture for the dairy cow, a few suggestions should be kept in mind. Make up the mixture to fit the roughage available. With roughage entirely of the low protein class, the grain should contain from 20 to 24 per cent of protein, while with exclusively high-protein roughage, the grain ration need contain only from 12 to 14 per cent. Choose grains that will furnish the various constituents, particularly protein, at the least cost, using home-grown grains if possible. Be sure that the mixture is light and bulky, that it is palatable, and that it has a good physiological effect on the cow.

Fall and early winter production of eggs is the keynote to profitable poultry raising. Since the pullets are practically the only source of eggs at this time, they should get a good growing ration during the summer so they will be well matured and in good condition by October. They should be put into laying pens about the middle of September in order to be accustomed to the new conditions when ready to lay. If there is a tendency for the pullets

CARLSBAD CAVERN TRAVEL CONTINUES TO MOUNT

SANTA FE—Estimates of 12,000 visitors to Carlsbad Cavern during July and 20,000 during August are made by Superintendent Thomas Boles, of the Cavern in a letter to W. C. Davidson, state highway engineer, in which he also compliments the condition and maintenance of the Cavern road.

Heavy rains struck the Cavern country the last of June but owing to the new surfacing and reworking given the Cavern road, it suffered no damage and travel was not interrupted, according to Superintendent Boles. Much favorable comment is received on the new gravel surfacing from visitors, he says.

to begin laying too early, it is well to reduce the amount of protein in the ration. Pallets that commence to lay too early (4 to 5 months of age) are inclined to lay very small eggs; or they may lay a few eggs and then go into molt.

SECURITY

The train drew up at a station and there was a long wait during which many of the passengers got up and craned their necks to see what was happening. At last a man carrying a heavy box climbed wearily aboard and deposited the box on the rack.

A nervous old gentleman eyed the huge package with evident distrust. "Do you think that box is safe there?" he demanded "Oh, yes," replied the man, cheerfully, "it's locked!"

5 reasons why STEEL ECLIPSE WINDMILLS run in lightest breeze Why does the Steel Eclipse run when other mills are motionless? The answer is, scientific design and fine workmanship. Note these five reasons— (1) Wheel is tilted to take advantage of lightest breeze. (2) All working parts run in oil. (3) All wearing surfaces are machined. (4) Mill starts on two-thirds load—not full load; quick downstroke and slow upstroke means less effort required on the lift or pumping stroke. (5) All bearing surfaces are in line, reducing internal strain and power loss. Ask us to show you! Roswell Hdw. Co. ROSWELL, N. M.

LEA COUNTY OIL LANDS INVOLVED IN FAMOUS SUIT NOW BEING HELD

LOVINGTON—Millions of dollars in oil royalties will be affected if the federal court at Albuquerque sustains the contention of Ivan L. Skeen that oil is not a mineral and therefore the oil rights of an ordinary ranch homestead belongs to the homesteader.

On that theory Skeen is suing Beulah V. Lynch, the Texas Production Co., and others for all the oil monies derived from the 1000-barrel well that was brought in on Skeen's ranch and for title to the oil rights.

Skeen perfected a ranch homestead title to the land. But the government, as in other such homesteads, reserved the "coal and other mineral" rights when it granted Skeen the surface title. Beulah V. Lynch applied under another federal statute for the mineral rights and got such a title to any oil profits that might be derived on the Skeen property.

Skeen says that the reservation as to "coal and other minerals" does not cover oil. Skeen's case is typical of thousands of others in Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. The case is pending in federal court. It was transferred to that tribunal from a state court in New Mexico.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be a picnic for the members of the club and their families, at the C. W. Curry home August 13 at 6:30.
