Senator oMon pointed out that "any action taken without the approval of the legislature might at some future time be upset by a supreme court deceision.

State Representative Robert Kellahin, republican of Roswell, said, "It is an unfortunate situation but the rights of the state must be protected and it seems to me that a special session of the legislature will be necessary."

Governor Dillon is reserving his final decision pending a further report from Francis C. Wilson, interstate river commissioner of New Mexico, who is now in Washington.

A STATEMENT

Several people in Hagerman are wondering why an editor who is a minister will allow certain writeups of activities generally censored by the church to appear in the paper he serves.

The editor of the Messenger adheres to the principle in his thinking that men cannot be legislated into any specific attitude of piety, and believes that should he let his religious beliefs influence his news frowned upon by Jesus Christ himself—the founder in the "Let".

When a moral issue is at stake, the editor of the Messenger will be fighting on the right side with all of the vigor and strength at his command.

When it is purely a religious issue, the editor of that individual or group of people and his or their matter of fact, it is social and involves the whole com-

PASSING OF THE VILLAGE

Is the time coming when the little self contained villages of America, last vestige of our English folk tradition, will be deserted and lost? The new census points that way. While the drift from farm to city is shown to be greatly retarded, the cities are swallowing up the youth of the small towns. Some of the villages have been found to be almost uninhabited, as forlorn in their desuetude as a mining camp after the vein is worked out. Others are peopled only by the Long ago the slow and dusty turnpike gave way to the motor road. The shady somnolence that mildly echoed the crunch of buggy wheels now is shattered by the peremptory horn signals of farmers driving thru to the city for trade and pleasure. No one pulls up now with a pleasant "Whoa" to chat under the elms or exchange township gossip across a white picket tically all of the operation on state lands in Hobbs fence. Front yards, once velvety and gay with phlox area, happens to be on the D. B. and B. land. Oil and petunia, are forsaken to the weeds. Rose vines development over the southeastern area, however, will

The village seems to be dying. If it dies its slayers are the motor car, the motor bus, the chain store. Economically and intellectually these may be good: sentimentaly they are a great pity. Soon, perhaps, there will be no old residents to smoke a cob or push a checker at the general store, no shrewd patriarchs of the ilk of Scattergood Baines to wiggle their unbooted toes in the sunchine and think out the problems of troubled men in terms of homely philosophy.

If the village dies, as it seems destined to do, then there dies with it one of the most quaint and flavorable traditions of American life.

Crisp Salads to Serve When Days Grow Warm

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON Director, Home Economics Dept., H. J. Heinz Company.

CRISP vegetable salad or a A dainty concoction of fruit will make even the simplest meal attractive. And on these glorious spring days, when we wish to get away entirely from thought of winter-even in the foods we serve salads are more than ever

Wise housewives take full adspring and summer months. Instead of continually serving hot dishes for dinner, they frequently snappy, well-seasoned French Dressing, or with Mayonnaise. Many a woman, too, finds that a dainty fruit salad often will take the place of a dessert, and thus save her long hours in a hot sprig of crisp parsley. kitchen making puddings, pies or

Following are recipes for a number of vegetable salads which are suitable for serving either as the main dish for luncheon or supper, or in place of cooked vegetables for dinner:

Jellied Vegetable Salad :-11/2 tablespoons gelatin, 1/4 cup cold water, 1/3 cup boiling water, 3 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, % cup diced celery, 1 cup shredded cabdiced bage, 1 cup cooked peas, and a Separate cauliflower in small few drops of onion juice. Soak pieces. Marinate each vegetable gelatin in the cold water five minutes and dissolve in the boiling water. Add vinegar, lemon thoroughly chilled. Arrange vegejuice, sugar, salt, onion juice and tables on crisp lettuce leaves in vegetables and mix thoroughly, separate nests, and sprinkle with Remove from mold to salad plate. Fill center with crisp lettuce, and serve with Mayonnaise Salad Dressing.

Lettuce Roll Salad: Mash a package of soft cream cheese. Add ½ cup cold cooked ham, finely ground, and 2 table-spoons India Relish. Spread a thin layer of this mixture on crisp lettuce leaves. Roll as you do jelly roll and put in a cool place to chill. Cut into ½ inch silces and place several slices on a crisp lettuce leaf. Serve with French Dressing, or with Mayonnaise Salad Dressing.

Tomato Sandwich Salad: vantage of the numerous fresh vegetables available during the spring and summer months. Inthen chill and cut in half crosswise through the center. On one substitute a thoroughly chilled vegetable salad, prepared with a Sandwich Relish or Cream Cheese mixed with Stuffed Spanish Olives. Cover with the other half of the tomato. In the top of the tomato make a little incision with a sharp knife and insert a

After completing the six-weeks course in St. Louis the fellowship winners will be sent to the American Youth Foundation camp at Shelby, Michigan where they will spend two weeks in contact with outstanding business, social and religious leaders.

Scholarships for several hundred young people are also being offered by the Danforth foundation this year. These scholarships are for two weeks training at camps of the American Youth Foundation and are benig offered outstanding 4-H club members. high school juniors and college freshmen. Eastern winners of the scholarships will attend Camp Merrow-vista at Center Ossipee, N. H., and western winners will attend Camp Miniwanca at Shelby, Michigan.

The foundation was established by Mr. Danforth two years ago in the interest of leadersrip development in high schools, colleges and rural organizations. Unusual interest shown last year in the various awards resulted in the number of fellowships being increased this year.

LAND OFFICE NETS THE STATE $18,615,718.73 IN LAST THIRTY YEARS

New Mexico's 12,644,705.46 acres of state land earned $18,615,718.73 to $609,856.72. during the last thirty years, Dr. Austin D. Crile. state land commissioner Saturday announced, of which $11,460,493.95 went to the common schools of the state.

"From this showing on everincreasing values of much of the state land," Dr. Crile said, "anyone is at liberty to speculate on what the value to the state would be if the national government cedes to New Mexico the surface rights to 16,500,000 acres of public domain left in the

The above figures, however, include oil royalties and sub-surface rights held on the present state adversely, or desiring to show it land which under the present plan of the national government would tunity to file their protests against not be included in a cession of public domain to the various western states, Dr. Crile pointed out.

Of the above total revenues accruing to the state $14,750,680.58 represents income and $3,865,038.15 represents permanent funds as of close OF NEW MEXICO of business on May 1, 1930.

The figures are taken from the reports made by the land office to the national committee considering the problem of ceding the public domain and have been sent to the committee which met at Washington June 2.

The land now held by the state in the name of common schools and the state institutions was received from Notice is hereby given that the congress in two grants. average price of $3.78 an acre was IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have received leaving a balance of state hereunto set my hand and seal this owned land of 12,484,053.61 acres. Of this amount the state has under lease to sell 1,778,525.88 acres at $7,289,097.13 at an average price of $4.09. Dr. Crile estimates that about $5,000,000 of this lease money will be paid in during the next five years. The state acregae leased and annual rental on lands of last year showed 10,706,167.27 acres of grazing and agricultural land drawing annual rental of $315,421.23 at an average of 3 cents an acre The oil and gas report shows $5,- 956689.83 acres under lease for annual rental of $924,129.88 or an average of 16 cents an acre. In addition to the annual oil and gas rentals the state received from 1925 to May 1, 1930 royalties amounting

From coal and other mineral leases the state received last year annual rentals of $606.02 on 4,978.00 acres at an average rental of 12 cents an

"It is to be remembered," Dr. Crile said, "that the state's lands are today of greater value than they were in the early days after the grants were made, and that today their value is increasing more rapidly in some sections than it has in any previous period of years. Oil development is bringing a rapidly increasing income from vast stretches of land which previously produced relatively no income at all for the state."

It is Dr. Crile's belief that the permanent funds of the 22 state institutions should acquire at least $25,-000,000 from royalties out of the state owned lands

FOR a stranger some places are more lonesome than others; more lengthily removed from the snugness of home. Barbara Joyce thought Greenwich Village the lonellest place in the world. Cloistered, as she was, in a cheap little room over an Italian oasis of gayety, she wondered between times of getting home from work and going to bed, how one could be within sound of so many merrymakers and still be left in such utter solitude.

Barbara Joyce was a small town girl. She had hopefully sought independence and a rainbow future in the gilt-edged city where millions are ever seeking the same combination.

One eventful night, with all the myraid village cowpaths to choose from, she selected a new trail to her friendless room from the Bleeker street "L" station. She threaded a wary way through the mass of flotsam and jetsam that flock from the four corners of the world-that Mecca of all nations, where it does not seem possible that so many grimy, pathetic children could exist; so many raucously conflicting noises be heard; so many noisome smells be smelled, and so many weirdly flaring gutter fires be lit from barrel hoops and dirty staves.

Near the end of a narrow street that led into her own she approached a neatly caparisoned gasoline station. There was a cleanly swept cement platform near the door to the office. Reposing on this platform, all in a seemly row, paws and tails correctly placed and neatly curled, were nineteen cats, all in one perfect attitude of resigned and wistful waiting.

Anything in the world may be seen in Greenwich Village; that is undesirable: but here was a sight quainter than quaint even for America's rendezvous of arts. Barbara chose a shadowed spot near an iron railingand watched. Almost at once she noticed two taxis swerve slowly to the curb opposite the waiting cats. Two taxi drivers, husky, hard-boiled eggs with unflinching eyes, got out, each with a newspaper under his arm.

They waved their newspapers gently as they stepped over to the platform. From the cats came a faint tremor of recognition, as the newspapers were spread out with a deal of care and a faint rustling in front of the entire nineteen.

The two, aewspapers spread, passed right by her without a glance, and disappeared into a dark doorway. They emerged almost at once, one carrying a ten-quart pail. Starting at one end of the anxious, waiting row spaghettl. What a purring and chewing and skillful use of delicate, softclad paws ensued.

A miracle, indeed, to Barbara watching in the shadow. Here was the city where nobody cared. As she revelled in the warm sensation around her heart, and started for the bare little room for the usual chop and small can of peas, there took place the tail end of the miracle. Barbara was at once less lonely.

A lean, long-nosed black kitten skirted the curb with waif-born vigilance and came to hesitant stance before the dinner table of nineteen. At once from the favored assemblage rose curved backs, soft menacing minor growls and tails gently agitant from the nineteen satisfied diners.

The little black stranger faltered, gave way, and started a regretful retreat in the direction of Barbara's shadowy railing. Swift inspiration moved the lonely girl. Stooping impetuously, she swept the black blotch of fur into her arms, and started with a tiny warm companion for what for the first time seemed like home. Walking, she bore with her an impression of a figure of a young man who had likewise watched the cat banquet from the edge of the curb across the street. She felt that he moved when she stooped to salvage the black kitten, and as she hurrled down her particular alley there remained the impression that this man's footsteps kept pace with her own. "Oh, I say," frank, friendly tones in which nothing evil lurked, "stop a second, won't you-an' tell me why you took that cat?" The girl turned rightabout and directly faced the dark figure and light voice-Excuse me, please! I was tipped off to that bunch of cats by a friend last night. I'm a new Express reporter, just in from Indiana an' tryin' to please. They eat up human stuff, you know. Knew you liked cats the way you gathered in that one. I do, too. Maybe you'd help me dress up my yarn.

Barbara, also from Indiana, possessed the well-known feminine intuition

"I'll do more than that, Indiana man-I'll invite you in and cook a yet in the preliminary stages, the chop for you if you'll promise to leave enough on the bone for the twentieth cat."
