GOVERNMENT WILL ISSUE A COMMODITY PRICE LIST SHORTLY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Weekly lists of fair prices for necessities of life will be published by the government to protect the public from possible profiteering, it was announced last week.

The administration recognizes higher commodity prices, processing taxes and higher wages under the recovery program will increase the cost of goods to the consumer.

At first the figures will be confined to bread, milk, meat and other foodstuffs. Clothing and textile goods will be taken later.

The amount farmers are obliged to pay for the goods they must buy.

These weekly calculations will give an indication of the progress of the drive to increase purchasing power of farmers and laborers.

F. R. SPEEDS FUNDS FOR EARLY RELIEF OF HOME OWNERS

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—Orders for immediate administration of the two billion dollars for relief of debt burdened small home owners were given last week by President Roosevelt.

In a talk with Vincent Dailey, New York state manager of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, the President emphasized he wanted to extend at the earliest possible moment this federal aid to reduce the debts on the home owners.

Dailey assured him he would be ready to offer the 4 per cent government bonds in exchange for the 6 and 7 per cent interest bearing mortgages early next week.

Dailey's declaration "we are going to the people rather than waiting for them to come to us," was regarded as reflecting the action which the president wants other state administrations of this fund to take.

President Roosevelt talked over problems of the Federal Trade Commission with Raymond Stephens a democratic member. A reorganization of this commission which is charged with enforcement of the new securities regulations is known to be contemplated.

There have been indications that William E. Humphrey a republican of the old school, is due to be retired in favor of another but unknown republican.

DENVER, Colorado—J. A. Elliott, district engineer for the U. S. bureau of public roads, said bids for $264,000 forest highway work in New Mexico will be advertised, beginning Monday.

PLANNING MEALS SAVES TIME IN PREPARATION

A meal should not be considered an end in itself, but a means to an end, that is, helping to make a healthful, contented family, says Miss Veda Strong of the New Mexico State College.

If meals are planned in advance for the day, and preferably for several days or for a week, time can be saved in preparation and usually better balanced and more economical meals can be served. Better use can also be made of home grown and home canned foods. If meals are planned for the week, staple groceries need be purchased only once a week. Time saved in meal preparation is free to spend with the family or to do other important things.

Well planned meals do not mean elaborate meals. Fancy cookery takes much time and, if frequently indulged in, should be regarded as a hobby or recreation. The family is satisfied with fewer foods if these are well cooked and served in sufficient quantities. Time may be saved by cooking fewer pies, cakes and cookies. Simple fruit and milk desserts are more quickly made and are better for the family.

Two-dish meals, such as stew with a variety of vegetables and fruit for dessert, simplify cooking. When the whole meal is cooked in the oven, much time and effort are saved. When meals are planned in advance, some foods can be cooked in quantity and served in a different form the next time. Such foods are prunes, cocoa syrup, mayonnaise, boiled salad dressing, cooked custard, and roasts of meat.

For further information on meal planning or other problems regarding food for the family, see your county extension agent or write to the extension service, State College, New Mexico.

Woodpeckers of Different Kinds; Never Abundant

The red-bellied woodpecker, sometimes called the ladder-backed woodpecker or the zebra bird, is not a migrant. Like the common downy and hairy woodpeckers he stays with us all the year. But he is abundant at no season, and he frequents the remoter woods. He is seen probably more frequently in winter than in summer, because the trees are leafless. Most of my records, says a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, of this strikingly handsome bird have been made in the winter months.

All our woodpeckers have red feathers on their heads, even the likable peebledown. The red-bellied woodpecker has a red head, and so strikingly red that he is well named the red-headed woodpecker. This bird is a migrant. He does not really belong here in the winter, but like the meadowlark and the robin and the bluebird and several other common birds he sometimes stays with us. Numbers of red-headed woodpeckers are frequently seen in Ohio in winter.

But when friendly strangers inform me that they have seen a "red-headed" woodpecker I am inclined to be a little dubious. It might have been a true red-head, but then again it might have been some other species with red feathers on its head.

Patents Not Granted on Mere Idea or Suggestion

No patent may be granted on a mere idea or suggestion. The patent office requirement is that "there must be a complete description of the invention and it must be accompanied by drawings suitably illustrating the same if it is of a machine or other device which can be illustrated. If the device is not operative and not so clearly set forth as to make it capable of manufacture from the description, no patent can issue."

Models are not necessary, however, and will not be received by the patent office unless it requests them. It is not required by law that a patent applicant be engaged. But, says a pamphlet issued by the office, "the preparation of an application is a highly complex proceeding and generally cannot be conducted properly except by an attorney trained in this specialized procedure."

"The inventor, therefore, is advised to employ a competent patent attorney, as without skillful preparation of the specifications and claims, a patent grant is of doubtful value."

The life of a patent is seventeen years.

THE BIG LAKE FIELD HAS DEPTH RECORD

No area of corresponding size in any other district in the world has equalled the production record from deep stratum of the Big Lake field in Reagan county, Texas.

At this time there are 17 wells located on the block of a little more than 640 acres of land owned by the University of Texas, which are producing oil of 56 to 60 degrees gravity, the highest grade yet found in any oil field in Texas. These wells are producing from a depth ranging from 8,500 feet to 9,020 feet. The largest producer in this group has a potential flow at this time of more than 5,000 barrels daily. The total production of 10 wells of this group since their completion is approximately 15,000,000 barrels.

The first of these deep stratum wells was completed November 30, 1928, its depth being 8,520 feet. Since then it has been deepened to 8,761 feet. It has a production record of more than 2,660,000 barrels. The cost of drilling this well was approximately $250,000 and each of the other wells, drilled to the great depth from which this production is obtained, have cost more than $200,000. At this time there are four wells being drilled in the deep stratum area.

Two companies, the Big Lake Oil Co., and the Continental Oil Co., own leases not only on this small tract of university land but on thousands of acres surrounding it, all belonging to that institution. Besides the deep wells, these companies have a large number of wells of shallower depth, around 2,000 feet.

THOUGHT THEM PREACHERS

Judge G. U. McCrary and E. C. Higgins of Artesia are old fishermen's partners, and also given to rambling together. The other day they were in Roswell, and were crossing the court house lawn where a religious meeting was in progress, when a man ran up to them and greeted them as preachers.

"Some mistake here, partner," said Judge McCrary, "I'm Pretty Boy Floyd, and that bird is a horse thief friend of mine." The greeter looked at the judge with a sort of a pained gaze, and remarked as he walked off: "Excuse me. That was a hell of a mistake!"—Roswell Record.

Husband—You'll never be able to get anything that way.

Wife—Why not?

Husband—Because nothing on earth could make you touch a button. Look at my shirt.

I read where Mrs. So-and-So was the house guest of another So-and-So last week-end. That ain't news. Most any time anybody is entertained in a house, they get to sleep there all night, but if they were so mean and lousy they had to sleep in the barn, that would be news.

This brilliant thought struck the editor while he was fishing last week and here after the editorial policy of The Messenger will ban write ups on house guests, and only permit copy that tells of their sleeping in the barn. All sub-editors, society reporters and country correspondents are hereby warned. Now, get back to your work.

HEALTH COLUMN

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

CALCIUM IN PREGNANCY

The average American diet has been shown to contain just under one-half a gram of calcium daily. The need of the average man or woman for calcium is estimated at one-gram daily. It is clear, therefore, that most adults get less calcium in their food than they need.

The amount of calcium in the skeleton of a growing baby increases from 5 grams at the twenty-eighth week of pregnancy to 30 grams at the time of birth. Thus in the last twelve weeks of pregnancy the mother needs 25 grams of calcium, more than two grams weekly, for her child besides one gram daily for herself.

When the diet contains less than enough of this mineral the mother's body suffers so that the child may have as much as possible. Calcium is taken from her teeth and bones to go into the building of her child.

The Brush Foundation in Cleveland studies growth in children from the earliest stages in order to find out for us how we may fashion a finer race of men. Says Dr. T. Wingate Todd, director of the Brush Foundation: "Many expectant mothers, suffering from lack of minerals and vitamins in the diet, produce children already handicapped in the developmental growth at birth. Dental caries in expectant mothers is but one symptom of the lack of adequate calcium, phosphorus and vitamin C, without which the foetus cannot expect to thrive. The parents must not wait to consult a physician until shortly before the birth is due. If the child is to have his rightful chance this consultation must occur immediately pregnancy is recognized and it is advantageous to begin the consultation even earlier to ensure favorable conditions at conception."

Custom Welcomes Spring

In Thuringia, Germany, a custom prior to the Christian era is still followed, its observance being seen best at Eisenach on the fourth Sunday in Lent. The procession forms at the old church of St. Nicholas, headed by a mounted herald followed by a band and three men in mantles of pleated straw. The "Wagon of Winter" comes next carrying an old man with a long beard, who sits on a throne in the middle of snowy fir trees. Behind these another herald rides, preceding "Sunnas," the Goddess of Spring, whose coming is announced by a silver bugle. Winter suddenly flees and Sunna and all the people feast and dance.

Cotton has declined steadily all week, registering a net loss of approximately $5.00 a bale. The crop report this morning (August 8th) indicates 12.4 million bales which apparently is enough cotton to ease buyers. World consumption, however, of American cotton is now running on a basis of 14.2 million bales annually and with the generally indicated speeding up of industry and labor this rate will likely continue to increase rather than decrease.

New crop cotton is moving to market with a fair demand although domestic mills are taking less than last month. Grades are mostly strict middling. The export basis is strong. The trade seemingly has been willing takers. F. W. Peek's address before the Institute of Co-operation was construed as very constructive by the cotton trade and now that the first report is out of the way we feel that the market is in position for a gradual price advance. We do not now recommend sales.

FRIOJOLE RETURNS UP

Frijoles have come to the rescue of many a New Mexico farmer this year. Good old frijoles! They are not only nourishing to the body but the pocketbook as well.

New Mexico frijole acreage is 190,000 this year, an increase of 20 per cent over that of last season. The crop is estimated at 530,000 bags as compared with 408,000 for 1932. The bags are of 100 pounds each.

The big difference is in the cash return. Last year's revenue to the farmers was only about $850,000 because the price was down in the cellar. This year the expected income from frijoles is $2,915,000, a clear gain of $2,065,000 and with practically no higher cost of production, actually less in some respects.—El Paso Times.

He had proposed many times, and her last refusal had been so emphatic that lately they had met as strangers.

But, on the ice one day, he could not resist the temptation to skate near her. She fled, he followed, and neither noticed the danger ahead until it was too late. So there they stood in four feet of freezing water while rescuers got busy pushing out a ladder.

"Now that the ice is broken," he said, with chattering teeth, "may I say again how my love burns for you?"

"The warmth of your regard leaves me cold," was her stony reply.—Tit-Bits.

Forgetting Their Woes

One of the most extraordinary signs of the French revolutionary times was the avidity with which the old French people rushed to the theater, as a relief to the bloody excesses of the day. Night after night, to the eighty theaters flocked the children of the revolution—to laugh at the quips of comedy, and to weep gentle tears over imaginary woes.—Kansas City Times.
