With Hays, Happy Jack and Lincoln, Wall arrives at Herrick's ranch. Hays unfolds his plan for getting possession of Herrick's 12,000 head of live stock. He and his lieutenants ride away to drive off the first bunch of cattle. Heeseman, Hays' rival ride away to drive off the first bunch of cattle. Heeseman, Hays rival among the cattle rustlers, tells Wall Hays was once his (Heeseman's) partner and double-crossed him. Herrick delegates Jim to go to Grand Junction to meet Helen, Herrick's sister. Jim tries to impress her with the fact that he (Jim) is a desperado of the worst type, but the girl treats the information lightly. Hays betrays unusual interest in the coming of Miss Herrick. Jim finds himself falling in love with Helen, and finally kisses her. She dismisses him, but relents and asks him not to leave the ranch her. She dismisses him, but relents and asks him not to leave the ranch. Hays' men return, having sold the cattle and brought back the money. A quick getaway is imperative. Hays tells his men to go on ahead, that he will join them later. He comes, with Helen Herrick—a captive, explaining that he robbed Herrick and stole Helen for ransom. Realizing the girl will be worse off if she falls into Heeseman's clutches, Jim rides on with Hank and his men. Heeseman's riders are discovered in pursuit. and his men. Long after noonday, and when Jim had spent at least six hours on watch, Jeff Bridges detached himself from his comrades and laboriously made his way up the long slepe to the bluff, upon which Jim was stationed.

Jim relinquished the glass and his seat to Bridges. He made his way leisurely down off the smooth red ledges to the slope, and eventually to the valley floor.

"Jim, take a snack of grub, an then come to work with us," said Latimer, calmly.

While they were at it Smoky suggested they erect a sun and rain shelter for the prisoner. Hays consented with a bad grace. So before dark they built one for Miss Herrick that would add materially to her comfort.

A tiny stream ran out from under the trees. Jim banked it up with clean red rocks, forming a fine little pool of clear cold water. Smoky deftly fashloned a rude armwhich, when covered with saddle blankets, made an acceptable seat. Hays, not to be wholly outdone, cut and carried a great armload of ferns.

THE BIG PUSH

The great drive, or big push as it is sometimes called, for November votes is beginningand both major parties are throwing themselves into the job of getting them with more force than they have shown for many

The Republicans, who have been dormant for the last year and a half, are emerging. Definite, reasoned opposition to the Roosevelt program is springing up. In a recent magazine article Senator Dickinson, who proposed Herbert Hoover at the convention which nominated him, made these definite criticisms of the present administration: That the Democratic party has been leading us toward a dictatorship; that its rate of expenditure of public funds, if continued, will result in a national bankruptcy; that it is destroying individualism and private initiative; that a return to Republican principles is essential to the preservation of the constitutional government and our ancient traditions. Mr. Dickinson's points are generally in complete accord with those of Chairman Fletcher of the Republican Central Committee.

The Democratic party is not taking criticism "laying down." For example: Recently only two cabinet officers-Hill of the State Department and Perkins of the Labor Department-were in Washington. The rest of them were Richberg, NRA counsel, and of NRA's administrative powers about the country, making speeches Frances Perkins, Secretary of are fast being ironed out since and looking things over. FEDERAL SCIENTISTS CURE PRUSSIC ACID POISONING

An effective cure for prussic acid poisoning of livestock has been discovered by veterinary scientists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Sodium thiosulphate alone or, better yet, in combination with sodium nitrate, if administered in time will save the lives of animals poisoned by eating plants which for one reason or another have developed prussic acid or hydrocyanic acid. Treatment should be by a skilled veterinarian, and the Bureau of Animal Industry is of informing the profession as to the essential results of the experimental work.

Hydrocyanic acid does not develop in dangerous quantities in healthy growing plants but does develop in many valuable forage plants when normal growth has been retarded or stopped by drought, frost, bruising, trampling, wilting, mowing, or other cause. Many plants develop some hydroeyanic acid but, under practical conditions, onl a few are actually dangerous. Among the more widely distributed of these are the sorghums, Johnson grass, flax, arrow grass, Sudan grass, wild black cherry, and wild chokeberry (not the chokecherry, which is a dif-

YOU like hot chocolate andy? Chocolate cake? Or ocolate ice cream sodas? Then you'll be interested in the termined fight to save the famous cacao plantations of Trinidad, an island in the West Indies, from a destructive plant disease.

Trinidad is one of the principal sources of the bean which furnishes "the makings" for a hot beverage surpassed in world importance only by coffee and tea, as well as for candies, sweetmeats, etc.

Chocolate was a gift to man's palate from the western hemisphere Like tobacco, the potato, and a numtaken back to Europe by explorers soon after Columbus opened the road to the new world, and launched on the way that has led to world markets.

In trade circles today three terms are used: chocolate, cocoa and cacao. The tropical tree which is the source of chocolate is called the cacao. In its leathery, cucumberlike fruit are cacao pods which contain cacao beans. But when the beans are roasted and ground, and much of the fat is pressed out, the remaining brown substance (ground to a dry powder), is cocoa. If the fat is not pressed out, the darker substance is chocolate.

Credit for the manufacture of chocolate from the hidden seed of an unprepossessing fruit belongs to the original inhabitants of Mexico. In 1519, when Hernando Cortez invaded that country, he discovered that the cacao tree was widely cultivated. The natives had concocted a drink called "chocolatl" or "cacahuatl." from which have come the names "chocolate" and "cocoa." Frothing pitchers of chocolate were served by Montezuma when he entertained Cortez.

toms have estimated that the drink was in use 1,000 years before the arrival of Europeans. According to Mexican mythology, the seed of the cacao tree was carried from a New world version of the Garden of Eden into Mexico by Quetzalcoatl, God of Air. The fruit, it is related, was a favorite food of the gods. The great Swedish botanist Linnaeus, christened the fruit theobroma cacao, meaning in Greek "Food of the Gods."

Cacao was used as a means of barter and the payment of tribute by the Aztecs and Mayans. A man's wealth was often judged by the number of cacao beans he possessed. In Mexico a good slave could be purchased for 100 beans.

Its highly concentrated food value, low cost of production, and numerous uses, have stimulated cacao cultivation to such an extent that now it is grown in practically all tropical countries. The wet tropical areas of the West African colonies of Great Britain and Portugal, and the South and Central Americas are especially well suited to the cultivation of the trees.

The introduction of the cacao tree in Africa has resulted in a remarkable growth of the industry and economic development of the continent. The Gold coast has taken first place away from Brazil in the world's production of cacao. What were once trackless and useless African jungles, inhabited only by savage bushmen and wild animals, today are cacao plantations.

America Largest Consumer.

the cacao bean has grown in importance to such an extent that the United States alone, in 1933, imported 474,270,000 pounds, valued at $18,739,000. The United States is by far the largest consumer, cacao ranking sixteenth in value on our list of imports, Germany, Great Britain and the Netherlands follow in the order named.

For many years the Spaniards of South America and some of the West Indies monopolized the cacao industry. Chocolate was introduced into Spain by Cortez and his conquistadores about the beginning of the Sixteenth century, but the process of chocolate manufacture was kept a secret for almost 100 years. In 1606 an Italian discovered the method of preparation. Shortly aftmonks and travelers spread the news throughout Europe. les found the popularity of the k steadily increasing. Conversation On Quitting Work The Country

By ED HOWE

HAVE met some opposition in my contention that a man may learn much from conversation going on around him; that he may thus acquire education as uncon sciously as he eats his meals, attends to his work, or otherwise meets life's incidents.

I have known a telegraph opera tor to sit idly for hours in a room full of clattering instruments, and suddenly grasp a key when his call ame out of the confusion. So a nan constantly in the babble of conversation may pay little attention to it until something of interest attracts him: a bit of wisdom, news, or a jest he has not heard.

But

farmers and the necessity for their relief, there was nothing sensational in his discussion. It is to be remembered that the total farm income of 1933 was only a little more than six billion dollars, and it is hard for observers here to believe that the drouth has destroyed five-sixths of this country's agricultural income this year. In the light of this fact, the tempered remarks by Mr. Davis take on added significance and weight. It now seems certain that when the congress returns to Washington next January Will Ask it will be called

More Funds upon immediately by the administration to vote more funds for relief of the drouth victims. Until later, however, the extent to which the administration will seek to go in this direction cannot be foretold. It is evident that having seen the circumstances first hand, Roosevelt's entire sympathy will be behind whatever proposal

Observers here, however, foresee some dangers as a result of the present desperate conditions. They know that Mr. Roosevelt will, as he has frequently stated, go to the limit with federal funds, but the danger foreseen by astute observers here is that some of the members of the house and senate will attempt to go beyond all reason in preparation of relief plans during next winter. It is not unusual, as the records show, that on every occasion when the federal treasury doors are opened senators or representatives will come forward with scores of plans under the guise of human relief to get their hands on government money for their constituents. It is fair to say that some of these will be sincere. It is equally fair to say that, as in the past, some of them will have been misguided. The conversations one hears around Washington therefore indicate that those charged with government responsibility must be on their guard if vast sums are not to be wasted under the guise of extending relief to needy victims of nature's pranks this year. Some of the brain trusters already have developed far flung plans for the physical transfer of other areas where they can get the line of successtarted again. It is to be recalled that throughout last year and early in 1934 the administration predicated all of its actions on a desire to raise prices. Now, however, the effect of the prolonged drouth in the agricultural areas is being felt in the cities and President Roosevelt announced his fear In any case, the administration seldom interferes in the selection of that profiteering in food prices is the leaders of congress, not wishlikely to result and made known ing to incur the enmity of powerthat the administration has definite ful members of the party. plans to curb any undue rise in prices. speaker of the house, died unexpectedly in a St. Louis hospital where he was believed to be recovering from an attack of bronchial pneumonia. The immediate cause of his death was angina pectoris. Mr. Rainey, who was within a day of being seventy-four years old, was first elected to congress in 1902, and he served continuous with the exception of one term being defeated in the Harding landslide of 1920. He was elected to the speakership when John Nance Garner became Vice President, His control over the house during the sessions of last year and this year, while the President's program was being put through, was gentle but so firm that the legislators were kept well in line.

Mr. Rainey devoted much of his service in Washington to efforts to improve the condition of the farmers, for he held that farm prosperity was essential in any program for national well being. He also was a student of tariff and fiscal subjects. As a Democrat he was always a "regular." He was the author of the tariff commission law and of much other important legislation. Mrs. Rainey acted as her husband's secretary for years and is so well acquainted with congres sional work that the Democrats may select her as the candidate to complete his term as representative from the Twentieth Illinois dis-

Mr. Rainey was buried in his home town, Carrollton, after services which were attended by President Roosevelt and many other notable persons.

SPEAKER RAINEY'S death will result in a spirited contest thousands of farm families from among a number of men who are the drouth stricken districts into ambitious to succeed him. First in > cratic national congressional committee. President Roosevelt is going to take no part in the race, but the more liberal of the New Dealers in the house are known to favor Sam Rayburn of Texas. Well intormed observers believe Byrns will be elected speaker and Rayburn floor leader. Other aspirants for the speakership are John E. Rankin of Mississippi, who has announced his candidacy; William B. Bankhead of Alabama, and John J. O'Connor of Mr. Byrns has been a member of the house continuously since his election to the Sixty-first congress. His work as floor leader, in conjunction with Rainey's rule as speaker, was not especially pleasing to the New Dealers, for some months during the last session, but before adjournment most of the misunderstandings were cleared up.

R ETURNING from his swift trip to attend the funeral of Mr. Rainey, the President went directly back to Washington instead of going to his Hyde Park home. This change in plan was due, it was said, to the development of a bitindicted, he thought the price in- ter dispute between Gen. Hugh S. Johnson on one side and Donald Richberg, Mr. Roosevelt's chief industrial adviser, and Secretary of Labor Perkins on the other, over the new structure to be given the NRA.

The issue, it was disclosed, control in authoritative management of the NRA or a board which shall be more advisory in power leaving the real control still in the hands of the administrator and his deputies. It was expected Mr. Roose velt would take command of the situation and determine definitely what shall be done with the recovery administration. General Johnson has said that, at the request of the President he will remain with the NRA after its reorganization, and presumably will be chairman of the board.

O RGANIZED labor scored a vic-tory over Recovery Adminis-trator Johnson when the national labor relations board ordered John HENRY T. RAINEY, veteran | Donovan, former president of the congressman from Illinois and NRA union, dismissed by Johnson for "inefficiency," reinstated to his position with the labor advisory board.

"The agencies which are administering the law should in their own dealings uphold its purposes," the board said in its decision, giving a veiled reproof to Johnson for what it implied was a violation of section 7a of the NRA.

With rather bad grace the NRA accepted the rebuke and permitted Donovan to return to his job. Johnson himself had nothing to say about it, but Dr. Gustav Peck. Donovan's immediate superior, issued a statement it which he sniffed at the board's decision and warned Donovan that he would have to 'toe the mark."

Soon after this the NRA announced that it does not regard itself as obliged to withdraw the Blue Eagle in cases where the national labor relations board has found companies guilty of violation of section 7A of the national industrial recovery act and of subsequent failure to obey the instructions of the board.

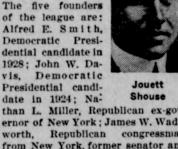

The labor board has recommended withdrawal of the Blue Eagle to the NRA compliance board in all cases where companies have disobeyed its instructions to reinstate discharged employees. The decision of the NRA will remove teeth from decisions by the board, since it may now hear cases, make decisions, and find that no penalties are inflicted for disobeying its orders.

COTTON garment code amend-ments reducing the working hours and giving workers a wage increase have been signed by the President. The amendments, which affect plants in 42 states, are of farreaching importance.

Sidney Hillman, labor advisory board member and Amalgamated Clothing union head, termed signing of the order "the most farreaching move NRA has yet made to increase employment." hoped that this order would avert the threatened strike of the garment workers.

WO prominent Democrats, two A Republicans almost equally prominent, and one leading industrialist, all of them of conservative tendencies, have united to organize the American Liberty league dedicated to a war on radicalism in the United States. The five founders of the league are: Alfred E. Smith, Democratic Presidential candidate in 1928; John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candi-than L. Miller, Republican ex-governor of New York; James W. Wads worth, Republican congressman from New York, former senator and Presidential possibility for 1936; and Irenee Du Pont, manufacturer, who supported Smith in 1928 and Roosevelt in 1932. They believe the league membership will grow into the millions and that it will become an important element in the nation-

For president of the organization the founders selected Jouett Shouse, former chairman of the Democratic national committee and president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment until repeal was accomplished. In a statement Mr. Shouse set forth the purposes of the league as follows:

"It is a nonpartisan organization, formed, as stated in its charter, 'to defend and uphold the Constitution of the United States and to gather and disseminate information that (1) will teach the necessity of respect for the rights of persons and property as fundamental to every successful form of government, and (2) will teach the duty of government to encourage and protect individual and group initiative and enterprise, to foster the right to work, earn, save, and acquire property, and to preserve the ownership and lawful use of property when acquired."

To interviewers Mr. Shouse de clared the league was not anti-Roosevelt, but it seemed clear that it will be opposed to most of the major purposes of the New Deal and the radical professors of the brain trust. He said he had visited the President and informed him fully of the purposes of the league, but he would not tell what Mr.

Roosevelt's reaction had been. Mr. Shouse disclosed that the organization will have a board of national directors, composed of out-standing men and women from every state of the nation, and that from this group will be selected an executive committee of about eight-

THE strike of truck drivers in Minneapolis was ended when the men and their employers accepted a compromise agreement, and martial law in the city was discontinued, business therefore speeding back to normal conditions. The peace plan devised by federal representatives, provided that all employees on strike be returned to their jobs without discrimination and on basis of seniority. It included an agreement to hold an election within ten days in each of the 166 firms involved to determine whether their employees want the drivers' union or other representatives to act for them in collective bargaining, and a pledge of the 166 firms to pay for at least one year not less than 50 cents an hour to drivers and 40 cents to helpers, platform men and inside workers, these wages to remain in effect unless changed by agreement or arbitra-

George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile institute and chairman of the cotton textile code authority, said the threatened strike is not justified by the facts established by impartial government Challenging the wage increase demand of the United Textile Workers of America, Mr. Sloan declared that "as a result of three basic wage provisions in the code the hourly wages paid in March, 1934, show an increase of 7 per cent as compared with March, 1933, when there was no code.

"All of this has meant a substantial increase in manufacturing costs," Mr. Sloan said, "and the research and planning division of the NRA found, after a comprehensive investigation last June, that 'under existing conditions there is no factual or statistical basis for any general increase in cotton textile code wage rates."

Hernandez tried to shoot Benitez. but was himself shot in the head and neck. The official report said Hernandez was being rushed toward Havana in an automobile and that the car upset, the prisoner being killed, though the others in the

The Russian government, through Acting Consul General Rayvid at Harbin, has presented to the foreign office of Manchukuo a demand for an explanation of the arrests and insists on prompt measures for the release of the prisoners.

"The arrests were made without documents, accompanied by searches of the apartments and the offices of Soviet employees of the Chinese Eastern railway which have not been explained," Rayvid said.

Delicacies for the Winter Menu

Preserving Season at Hand; Abundant Supply of Cheap Fruit.

Midsummer is a time looked forward to by the thrifty housewife, for with it comes the pleasant task of canning and preserving for the family's winter need of jams, jellies and preserves.

Market reports indicate a plentiful supply of pears, peaches, grapes and other delicious fruits.

Here are two tested and economical recipes:

Concord Grape Jelly. 4 cups (2 lbs.) juice ½ bottle of fruit pectin 7½ cups (3¼ lbs.) sugar

To prepare juice, stem about three pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. Add one-half cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer ten minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. (If malagas or other tight-skinned grapes are used, the juice of one lemon should be added to prepared fuice).

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. The bees were in about 250 hives, and their long journey was necessary because there had been a failure of blossom in their neighborhood. Mr. Abram was faced with the alternative of feeding the bees artificially at a cost of $100 a week or of pipe losing quantities of them through months overheating while on transit to a place where they could find a new nector supply. Ice solved his problem, and the bees arrived in excellent condition.

STANTON TO DIE SEPT. 28

TULIA, Tex .- Ed (Perchmouth) Stanton could think of no reason Tuesday why he shouldn't be resentenced to death for the slaying of Sheriff J. C. Moseley, so Judge Charles Clements designated September 28 as the date for his execution

Immediately after his re-sentencing, the desperado was taken to the state penitentiary at Huntsville, where he will occupy a death cell until he is placed in the electric chair.
