THE COTTON TAX

"I suppose you're sitting on about $100 there aren't you?" This remark was directed to a young farmer sitting on a load of alfalfa at the scales at Greenfield the other day, and made by a young woman, herself a farmer's wife. Then she laughed it off by saying, "That is what everybody thinks," and began to tell their own troubles over the recent cotton reduction.

Somehow it makes us stop and think of the fact that so many people do not understand the farmer. He has no union hours, possibly any time during the twenty-four, he may have an emergency call to some part of his farm to see after something, that may mean a few dollars lost or saved. He may be his own boss, but being that, he also knows that vacations are more or less hazardous to the best interests of the farm, and therefore had better be forgotten. But he would love to go fishing, only it is just at the time when he must plow the corn, or mow the hay, in and the hunting will have to be of put off another year, for he must look after the harvesting, it means next year's living.

He has fond dreams of owning a real farm some day, one that can be called home, where comforts are to be found, and conveniences that will make his work drilling a 12½ inch in diameter and that of those he love a little shallow well to the depth of apand that of those he love a little easier, and looks forward to the proximately 125 feet located in the NE¼ NE¼ NW¼ Section 8, Township 14 South, Range 26 East, N. SOLDIER OF FORTUNE TO CAMPAIGN FOR DEMOCRATS

Captain Irving Patrick O'Hay soldier of fortune, lecturer ond author, and a life long democrat, has taken the stump in behalf of the democratic candidates and will speak in Roswell on October 30, in Carlsbad on October 31, and in Las Cruces on November 1.

The veteran of eight campaigns, Captain O'Hay has lead a life that reads like a story book. He has looked death in the face so often they speak on the street. A member of that famous fighting regiment, Princess Pat's Own, during the World War, O'Hay was one of the very few members who survived the war.

When the United States entered the war 127 men in his battalion. all Americans, offered to ask for transfer if Theodore Roosevelt would enlist a regiment for service in France. In a battle shortly afterwards the regiment was so badly decimated by casualties that only two of the Americans in the battalion survived. One of these men was Captain O'Hay.

THE COTTON TAX

"I suppose you're sitting on about $100 there aren't you?" This remark was directed to a young farmer sitting on a load of alfalfa at the scales at Greenfield the other day, and made by a young woman, herself a farmer's wife. Then she laughed it off by saying, "That is what everybody thinks," and began to tell their own troubles over the recent cotton reduction.

Somehow it makes us stop and think of the fact that so many people do not understand the farmer. He has no union hours, possibly any time during the twenty-four, he may have an emergency call to some part of his farm to see after something, that may mean a few dollars lost or saved. He may be his own boss, but being that, he also knows that vacations are more or less hazardous to the best in terests of the farm, and therefore had better be forgotten. But he would love to go fishing, only it is just at the time when he must plow the corn, or mow the hay, in accordance with Chapter 131 and the hunting will have to be of the Session Laws of 1931, G. put off another year, for he must I look after the harvesting, it means next year's living.

Captain Irving Patrick O'Hay, soldier of fortune, lecturer ond author, and a life long has taken the stump in behalf of the democratic candidates and will speak in Roswell on October 30, in Carlsbad on October 31, and in Las Cruces on November 1.

The veteran of eight campaigns, Captain O'Hay has lead a life that reads like a story book. He has looked death in the face so often they speak on the street. A member of that famous fighting regiment, Princess Pat's Own. during the World War, O'Hay was one of the very few members who survived the war.

When the United States entered the war 127 men in his battalion all Americans, offered to ask for a transfer if Theodore Roosevelt would enlist a regiment for service in France. In a battle shortly afterwards the regiment was so badly decimated by casualties that only two of the Americans in the battalion survived. One of these men was Captain O'Hay.
