-I wouldn't have thought-"

"You see, Miss Vincent, my wife -my wife is very unhappy just now. She's always been beautiful, you can see that, and very young-looking. She's as tickled as can be when people take her for Holbrook's sister, and they do sometimes. But age comes right along, no matter what a woman does, and she's beginning to see gray in her hair and lines under her chin and it-well, it worries her out of all proportion. She takes up all these beauty fads; why, she works at it harder than most men work for a living, and it disturbs her mind so that she's liable to take a wrong slant on anything. Look at all the mirrors in her room! And you've been here long enough to see that the first thing she does whenever she comes in the house is pick up her handglass and give her face a good hard inspection. And there's nothing, nothing I can do to help her."

There was such grief, such pity and such tenderness in his voice that Rachel did not know how to answer him. In a moment he went on. "If women could only underever a gift! If they'd only believe that it doesn't matter to a man's affection, no, nor to how the world values them! I've thought a lot about all this, I can tell you."

Eliot Ness said these men were prompted to volunteer their information because of the security offered them and the knowledge that many others were prepared to testify.

In addition to protests from business men that they were being shaken down. Ness also had numerous complaints from rank and file union men that their leaders had obtained dictatorial control of the unions and had used it for racketeering purposes.

This resulted in hundreds of men being thrown out of work, impeded legitimate business, and kept hundreds of thousands of dollars in new industries out of the city, the Ness report was said to have stated.

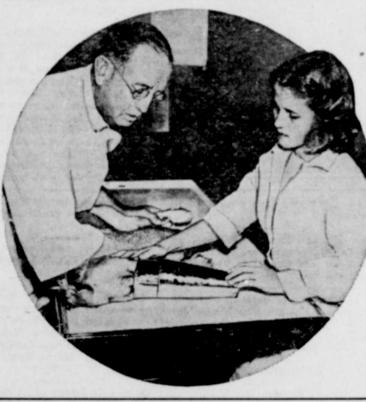

At a meeting of the Cleveland Federation of Labor, Don A. Campbell, president of the Painters' District council, who had been mentioned in connection with the investigation, called the entire case "a lot of newspaper propaganda which has been passed around since the labor movement began," and added that "it's high time this stuff was stopped."

OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"One Brand New Suit" By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY:

Take it from me, boys and girls, you can't take it from Bob Kaiser. That is, you may take it from him, but you won't keep it. It's been tried before and it just didn't work.

It all sounds mysterious but it's as simple as A B C. As a matter of fact, it's the tale of today's adventure story-the stirring tale of how Bob Kaiser of New York city got mad about having a brand new suit ruined and fixed the guy that ruined it with both hands tied behind his back.

Today Bob works for the New York Steam company, but on June 7, 1925, he was a sales manager for the United Cigar Stores, running a shop located at Broadway and Thirty-first street, New York. It was on a Sunday, and things were quiet along that section of Broadway. There weren't half a dozen people in sight on the street, and there hadn't been a customer in the store for half an hour.

These Customers Were Bandits.

Then, about noon, a customer came in. He asked for a package of cigarettes and Bob turned to get them from the rack. And as he turned he heard a low, grating voice say: "Don't move -or I'll blow your brains out!"

Bob didn't move, but out of the corner of his eye he could see the man nomical and ideal pick-up work. -holding a thirty-eight caliber revolver on him. "It was a hot day," Single, outline and cross stitch says Bob, "but the sweat that broke out on my forehead just then was make this splendid embroidery for cold-ice cold."

The man came behind the counter and ordered Bob to sit down on find a transfer pattern of six mothe floor. That's where Bob began to get mad. He had on a nice, new tifs averaging 5 by 8½ inches; suit that day and the floor had been freshly oiled. The porter had oiled material requirements; color sugit the day before, and he had given it an extra heavy dose. If Bob sat gestions;

And about that time, a second gangster, who loved. had been watching outside, came in to help the first.

Ruined Suit Made Bob Angry.

They told Bob to open the safe, and he opened it. The company's instructions, in case of a hold-up, were to give the bandits the money without any argument. The gangsters took four hundred dollars of the company's money and it made Bob mad to see them get it that easily. Likewise, he was still mad about his ruined suit.

When the bandits had the money they tied Bob's hands behind his back, put a gag in his mouth and pushed him down to the floor. A friend of Bob's came into the store and bought some tobacco. The bandits waited on him. When they asked where Bob was they told him he was out to lunch. After Bob's friend had gone the bandits told Bob not to and left,

FRANCE was in a great dither over an alleged plot of the Cagoulards or "hooded ones," and other rightist groups to overthrow the republican government. The secret police have been making many arrests and have uncovered secret arsenals and depots of the conspirators. Among the men they seized was Jean de la Meuse, wealthy textile manufacturer of Paris. In their pursuit of the plotters the police went as far as Switzerland, persuading the government of that country to oust the count of Paris, who would be heir apparent of the throne of France if there were any longer such an institution. the income tax base or by a general manufacturers' sales tax. Mention of a sales tax aroused

Senator Borah and others, and the Idahoan prodded Harrison until he backed down and said he did not quite mean what he had said.

"If, in the revision of the tax laws, we should lose some revenue, I do not believe, with the spending program that is now going on, that we would help business," Harrison told the senate. "I think the goal should be to try to balance the budget at the first opportunity. I believe the wise way to do it is to curtail some of the emergency expenditures."

Here the kindly bird doctors maintain a routine as rigid as that of any well-organized infirmary. Several times a day the little feathered patients are fed hamburger from the tip of Mrs. Yorba's finger. This is washed down with water from an eyedropper. Wounded legs and wings are carefully massaged at regular intervals. As a result, the fledglings never fly with their parents to seek food, but stay in the mission gardens, where they are protected from harm.

Perhaps the friendliness of Father Hutchinson (left) is what brings the swallows back by the thousands, on the same day,

March 19, of every year.

But Bob didn't wait even five seconds after those thugs went out the door. With his hands tied behind his back and a gag in his mouth, he leaped up and ran in pursuit of the bandits.

When he got to the street he saw the thugs walking toward Sixth avenue. He tried to yell, but the gag in his mouth was so tight that he couldn't utter a sound. So he started across Thirty-first street after those crooks.

He followed those birds to Sixth avenue and Thirty-second street and there the bandits split up and went in different directions. Bob lost sight of one man but he continued to follow the other. He trailed him to Thirty-second street and Seventh avenue, and there the fellow turned around and caught sight of Bob, gag still in his mouth, hands tied behind him, trailing along in his wake. At that the thug turned and bolted.

He Literally Fell on the Thug.

The thug ran across the street toward Pennsylvania station, dashed into the Thirty-second street entrance and bolted down the stairs toward the concourse. Bob lit out after him.

Running as fast as he could with his hands tied, Bob dashed down through the main corridor and down the slippery marble stairs. At the bottom of the stairs, right in front of the ticket windows, he caught up with the thug and there a strange battle took place-probably the strangest scrap in all history. Bob fell on the crook, and when I say "fell," I mean that literally. With his hands tied behind his back, there just wasn't anything else Bob could do.

He gave a leap and landed on the crook. And the crook went down. Bob, gagged as he was, couldn't yell to attract attention but the spectacle of a bound and gagged man, legs flailing in the air, rolling on the floor and all over the top of another man attracted plenty of attention as it was. People began to yell and run to the spot. Tom Eagan of the station police came running up with the crowd and grabbed the bandit. That bandit was out of breath and pretty badly frightened by his pedient.-Horace. strange experience. He was still wondering what landed on him as they led him away to the calaboose.

Bob got his hands untied then, took the gag out of his mouth, and went back to his store. He had left the door open and a big crowd had gathered about the place. He did a record business that day, selling stuff to people who wanted to hear his story of the hold-up.

The bird Bob caught squealed on his partner, and both of them got seven-year sentences. And the company gave Bob a $550 bonus, a raise and a vacation.

WHAT IS ADVERTISING?

(Editor's Note: Some people do not seem to understand just what constitutes advertising, and we have tried to be fair about it all. Below is what we clipped from the N. E. A. bulletin, and we believe it will be partly an answer to "what is advertising ?")

If you mention the following in news stories, you are giving away advertising space that should b paid for:

1. Price of tickets for admission to school, church or social activities. The admission price should be advertised.

2. Names of merchants who donate prizes for bridge parties, etc., hlp by private groups and organi-Merchants are often zations. asked to donate merchandise on the promise that such forced donations will be advertised free in the newspaper.

3. Menus in stories of dinners suppers, tc. This is advertising, pure and simple.

4. Raffles, lotteries, door prizes and other games of chance. The postal regulations forbid them, anyway.

Name of the automobile or truck in an accident story.

6. Announcement of the opening of a new business firm, unless paid advertising appears in the same issue of your newspaper, Good business.

After all, your community for sale is newspaper space. The grocer doesn't give away buns. The garage proprietor wouldn't think of giving away his servicesin repairing cars. Why should the newspaper owner give away his only commodity-newspaper space!

'PRAISE ALLAH!' for the 'BIG APPLE'

Wild Urge of Youth Finds Its Outlet in This Hectic Modern Adaptation of the Old Virginia Reel to "Swing" Music.

By WILLIAM C. UTLEY

VOU'D never believe it, but I it all started in the House of Peace. And it has caused more excitement, noise and general pandemonium in the giddy social whirl than anything since Gilda Gray and the thousands who imitated her shimmy.

That's the "Big Apple." An untamed, exhausting thing that releases all the wild urge of youth n a modern, nervous age. To say that it has taken the country by storm is like saying Shirley Temple has charm; you've got to add: "And then some!

A few months ago no one had ever heard of this dance. Yet today you'll and the "Big Apple" in places of such widely divergent character as Chicago's "black and tan" belt and New York's Rockefeller Center; almost any cross-roads Saturday night iance hall and Hollywood's Brown Derby

The "Big Apple" is not a fruit growers' promotion gag, although perhaps nothing has publicized the apple so widely since the phrase, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," was coined. It was named for the negro night club where it priginated-the Big Apple club in olumbia, S. C. In other days the building had been a synagogue called the House of Peace-an odd enough birthplace for this frantie trolic of the feet.

You've Got to Be Athletic.

Negroes invented it, young col-lege students saw it and introduced it at their parties, and from there it spread to the four points of the compass faster than the latest Mae West joke.

Let's visit a party where the "Big Apple" is in progress. It may be at a fraternity dance in one of the large state universities, at a fine seashore hotel, at a swanky country club or at a honky-tonk joint in Harlem. The rigorous routine is the same.

The band leader is the boss here, and he can drive his slaves to rhythm as hard as any slave driver in an ancient galley. He throws them waving their arms and kicking their feet into the old familiar "Charleston." and with another call he plunges them into the newer and wilder "Suzi-Q." "Swing high" sets the circle shuffling in a clockwise direction; "swing low" shifts it into reverse. Couples "cut the apple" and "heel the apple" at the call.

Survival of the Fittest. After this preliminary workout

At Kearney, N. J., 800 students threatened a strike if High School Principal G. G. Mankey refused to lift his ban on the "Big Apple." Here are two Kearney students who don't give a hang for the rule, dancing their favorite new "swing" craze.

What does all this represent? A return to the savage and primitive? Is civilization degenerating? Perhaps. But is not "swing" music itself merely a technical refinement open. of the primitive, elemental rhythm of the tom-tom? Only sophisticated overtones have been added. Most folks would rather believe that the "Big Apple" is a good thing for modern civilization, for civilized though we may be there is a wild urge in the meekest among us, and the dance gives that urge safe physical expression. ved until this day.

Clan War

ONE day a Scotchman of the Clan MacLean dropped in to the of fice of the Toronto Mail and Empire, as was his custom, to see his friend, Charles Langton Clarke. On the newspaper man's desk he noticed a clipping of an article which quoted "the noted Scottish historian, Strangway," as saying that the MacLeans had been the first to flee from the Battle of Culloden, thus causing the defeat of Bonnie Prince shattering the hopes of Bonnie Prince Charlie for regaining the British throne. That clipping had been "planted" there deliberately by Clarke, who expected his friend to find it and immediately "blow Christ will there be that absolute surrender of every detail and problem of life to him which will bring out in daily living the glorious beauty and power of a life at rest with God.

A poem by Fay Inchfawn which has blessed the writer's soul is here passed on, with the prayer that it may help you who read these notes:

Well, I am done. My nerves were on

"Well, I am done. My nerves were on the rack. I've laid them down today; It was the last straw broke the camel's back. I've laid that down today. No, I'll not fume, nor fuss, nor fight; I'll walk by faith a bit and not by sight. I think the universe will work all right. I've laid it down today.

Do lay them down today."

How true it is that we are prone to bear all the burdens of the universe when God's Word has told us to cast all our care upon Him, for He careth for us (I Pet. 5:7). It is a powerful testimony for Christ when distraught and worry-ridden non-Christians see God's children walking steady and true in the midst of disappointments, trials, and sorrows. And the opposite is also true, that failure to trust God is a practical denial of our professed faith.
