AN INVITATION

A hearty invitation is extended every farm and ranch housewife to attend The Artesia Advocate's free motion picture cooking school. Last year hundreds of women attended the school from Artesia, Hope, Lake Arthur and the Cottonwood communities. Women living in Artesia, Hope, Lake Arthur, on the Cottonwood, Dayton, Hagerman, Lakewood and the rural routes are urged to plan now to attend every session. Besides learning much about cooking, you have entertainment that is seldom surpassed anywhere. Show will be at the Ocotillo Theater, Artesia, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 23, 24 and 25. Doors open at 9:30 a. m.; show starts at 10 a. m.

Have You a Favorite Cake Recipe?--Send It In It May Win Cash Prize

WHEN you decide to give your family a real treat and you bake one of those luscious, tempting chocolate cakes, or it may be a delectable marble cake or a delicious devil's food cake, made from your favorite recipe, and the folk all reach for a second, or perhaps a third, helping-now isn't that gratifying! How amply rewarded you feel by the remarks of appreciation going around the festive board such as "Oh, boy, what a cake!" from little Willie, said with a mouthful, to "I must have another piece if I burst!" from Dad.

But here!-you may have still further reward coming to you. The very recipe that the family makes so much over may be the one to take the first prize of $25, or one of the five second prizes of $10, or one of the ten third prizes of $5 in the Cake Recipe contest. And why

Differing Traffic Laws

The mere crossing of a state ine may sometimes transform a safe and prudent driver into a lawbreaker and an unsafe driver-a natural result of the nonuniformity of traffic laws in the states. This is one of the conclusions in a study of traffic conditions and measures for their improvement which congress directed the Bureau of Pubic Roads to make. "It is generally accepted," says the Bureau in explaining this particular result of what it describes becomes a habit and that the involuntary reflexes largely govern the handling and control of a vehicle by each individual. The involuntary response determines the reaction of the driver in emergencies. The driving habits of the individual, with few exceptions, are formed in a single state and a ingle community in that state."

Uniform traffic regulations throughout each state-with local ordinances subject to approval by the state and enforced primarily by local officers in cooperation with the state—are recommended in the Bureau report, sent by the Secretary of Agriculture to con-

SYNOPSIS

Ruth Chiswick of L. C ranch, obsessed by fear of danger to her outspoken and bullheaded father, Lee, from a band of lawless rustlers headed by Sherm Howard, decides to save him by eloping with young Lou Howard, Sherm's son, and comes to the town of Tail Holt to meet him. While in Yell Sanger's store, a crook-nosed stranger enters, sizes up the situation, and when a drunken cowboy. Jim Pender, rides in and starts shoot-Ruth Chiswick of L C ranch, obsessed

From under the counter where he lay the storekeeper did not announce his presence. He had ducked just in time to keep from being

A crook-nosed man with rusty hair stood beside some sacks filled with potatoes.

'Who in Mexico are you, Sorreltop?" demanded Pender. "Where's that bald-headed galoot Sanger?"

He did not wait for an answer. In his hands was a rifle drawn from its place beside the saddle. Raising it, he drummed holes in the tinware suspended from the wall. A forty-four had jumped to the hand of the man beside the potatoes, but though the weapon covered the drunken fool it was not fired.

The frightened horse went into the air, and as it came down jammed the rider's leg against the counter. The animal whirled, flung Pender from the saddle, and dashed wildly out of the store. Scrambling to his feet, the drink-crazed man snatched up the rifle and followed his mount. He took a shot at the gelding as it went racing up the street in a cloud of dust. Apparently he had forgotten what he had come to get, for he limped across to the cow-ponies in front of the Golden Nugget, selected one, mounted, and rode away with a wild yell.

"Fireworks over," drawled the crook-nosed man, and his weapon vanished from sight. He gave the girl a hand to help her up from where he had flung her. "You were sure right, Mr. Sanger. You know yore town. It livened up like you promised."

Ruth Chiswick stood beside him, breathing a little faster than usual, her cheeks still pale. The man with whom she was eloping came round the corner of the counter. He was carrying a revolver.

"I would sure have got that bird if I hadn't seen he didn't mean business," Lou Howard boasted.

Ruth looked at him, scorn in her eyes. The scorn was less for him than for herself. For hours she had been discovering that the man she had chosen was vain, shallow, and a boaster. Now she knew too town again, Sherm." that he lacked courage, the one essential virtue on the frontier for men both good and bad.

A tense silence followed the words of the cattleman, one pregnant with peril. Gray's gaze swept the room. Unless rumor lied, three-fourths of these men present must be cattle rustlers.

Instinctively Gray knew that half a dozen men were waiting for their cue. Howard gave it to them. For the time at least his decision was for peace.

"That's fine," he said with suave mockery. "Sooner we get rid of scalawags of that kind the better.' "You can pass the word that any catch will be hanged to the near-

Howard answered for the cattleman. "And I don't reckon that is anybody present, Morg. If there is any way we can help Mr. Chiswick. we will all be glad to do so. Am I right, boys?"

"Sure you're right, Sherm, agreed Curly Connor heartily. "If you can use me, Mr. Chiswick, I'm much at yore service."

"Don't want your help," Chiswick flung out bitterly. "I'll look out for my own stuff and find out whether an honest man has a chance against a pack of thieves. What I'm here to tell you is that from now on I'll be sheriff, judge, and hangman on

The story of the Aztecs is much better known than that of many tain phases of their history. Descriptions of the city and accounts of the life and customs of its inhabitants were written by some of the Conquistadores and by several of the priests who accompanied them. Besides the pictographic stories ords, helpful narratives were penned by a few native scholars, taught to write by their conquerors. Added to these documents is the evidence still being obtained from extensive archeological and historical researches by experts of the Mexican government and by other investigators, from both America and Europe. The foundation of the Aztec nation and its subsequent florescence world was sunk in the depths of the Middle ages. Entering the Valley of Mexico early in the Fourteenth century as The African buffalo not only is a crude hunting people, the Aztecs one of the largest of mammals, but found various communities around According to some accounts, they

> them to take refuge on two small reed-covered mud banks or islands in the center of the lake.

The settlements on the islands grew into two towns, Tenochtitlan and Tlaltelolco. They appear to have risen side by side and progressed as independent units for more than a century, although the space between them was reduced to a little more than a broad canal. Late in the Fifteenth century, Tlalstands and gazes across the telolco was conquered by the sixth store. The curtain rods are then ruler of Tenochtitlan and the two were united to form one great city.

The legendary explanation for the choice of the present site of the city is not in full agreement with the historical facts, but is more picturesque. According to tradition, the Aztecs were told that when they saw an eagle eating a serpent there they should stop and found their dynasty.

Upon reaching the borders of a large lake they saw a beautiful island, and the priest who led them beheld a huge eagle with a struggling snake in its talons. The bird came to rest on a cactus plant and proceeded to kill and devour the reptile. The Aztecs were overjoyed at this, because their prophecy was fulfilled, and they set about establishing their city.

The tradition is symbolized today by the eagle, serpent, and cactus be sent by return mail. in the Mexican coat of arms and

Origin of Floating Gardens. As long as the Aztecs were weak and hemmed in by their foes, they subsisted on fish, birds, aquatic plants, and such vegetables as they were able to grow on floating gardens, or chinampas. The latter were formed by heaping up soft mud from the lake on rafts made from reeds and wattlework. These floating islands gradually increased in size. The interlacing roots of the plants made them more compact and eventually anchored them to the bottom of the lake. More and more were built and as their number increased they became a series of rectangular plots separated by canals just wide enough for the passage of or himself, called it that. One of the soldiers in his journal describes it as a place of many wide and handsome streets formed half of hard earth like a brick pavement and half of canal, so that the people moved about either by land or by water.

The Aztecs did not become a real power in the valley until their fourth ruler, Itzcoatl, 1427-1440, became head of the "kingdom." Itzcoatl had a famous general named Maxtli, who conquered many neighboring cities and tribes and exacted from these subject peoples tribute which enriched the Aztecs.

From this time on, under five succeeding rulers, Tenochtitlan prospered and expanded, until by the time of the conquest tribute was pouring into the coffers of Montezuma II from all of southern Mexico, the Vera Cruz coastal plain, and even from Guatemala. They Were an Industrious People.

Agriculure was important, and, while many vegetables were raised in the environs of the city, most of the products came from surrounding precincts. A variety of maize, Indian corn, was developed which matured rapidly, an essential quality for the high, arid plateau country. Other products were sweet potatoes, tomatoes, squash, beans, peppers, cacao or chocolate, tobac co, cotton, hemp, rubber, and copal

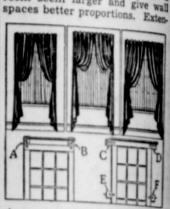

The gold and silversmith's art was highly developed. There were numerous wood carvers, workers in stone, makers of elaborate tur quoise mosaics, and producers of featherwork.

Other groups spun thread from cotton and wove it into cloth; the tailors fashioned it into garments. Still others made the elaborate headdresses worn by officials and warriors. There were sandal-makers, basket weavers, pottery makers, and tanners of skins.

Juvenile' Delinquency Is 'Public' Delinquency, Say Child Specialists; Parents and Authorities Held Responsible

THAPPENED in a midwestern community. Jim was a farm youth who wanted good clothes, candy and cigarettes. His position in life made such luxuries impossible but Jim found a way. Occasionally he'd take (not steal) a chicken from his mother's flock, selling it to the village meat dealer.

Jim began having the luxuries he desired. His dad bought him an old car and Jim instantly became a hero among the community's younger crowd. But one luxury led to another and eventually Jim was taking (not stealing) more chickens. When his mother's supply began dim-inishing Jim used to take chickens from nearby farmers.

Eventually the meat dealer became suspicious and had Jim arrested. At seventeen, this boy who wanted nothing more than a few luxuries was sent to the reform school for stealing chickens. Who knows what may happen when Jim is freed?

More pertinent still, perhaps, is the question of who is to blame. The neighbors pity Jim's parents and moralize about his deplorable delinquency. Perhaps it was just unfortunate circumstance; maybe no one is to blame.

ONE of the principles in planning a balanced diet is to include at least enough alkaline, or base-forming foods, to balance the acid-forming foods.

To help you distinguish the foods that belong in each group, C. Houston Goudiss offers to send a free chart listing the principal acid-ash and alkaline-ash foods. Address C. Houston Goudiss, 6 East 39th St., New York City.

it should never have mistakes. And certainly we need a playground for al lthe youth who will soon be idle for the summer months. Think over what Mr. Wimberly says:

Tuesday afternoon's threatening welcome. twister was the most interesting show the town has witnessed in quite a spell. It was excitingfrom a distance. The various versions of what happened-and what almost happened-would fill several newspaper columns and no two would be alike. Two persons can be eye witnesses to the most ordinary event but when it comes to telling about it, their stories won't sound anything alike. And that is the reason, dear people, why nepspapers make errors.

It is not often we receive an anonymous letter that rings with sincerity but one that arrived this week signed "A Mother" had the earmarks of being a genuine appeal. As a usual thing, writers of anonymous letters have an ax to grind. Their purpose is to try to "get back" at some enemy through the newspaper. In place of coming out in the open they are perfectly willing to make the newspaper the

But we are sure the communication from "A Mother" does not plea that certain loitering places of whistling? young boys and girls in Altus be cleaned out and she calls names and gives addresses, which convinces us that she has rather definite knowledge of the situation. Her appeal was not bitter, and she prize fight? stated she had "no desire to re-form," but does think the town should furnish 'decent places where to "box" with his Dad? our young boys and girls can go where the trash is forbidden." She hits the nail right on the head. We don't believe there is a town in of Deanna Durbin? the country where the standards of morality and conduct among young people are higher than right here in Altus and the community has a definite obligation to these boys and girls to keep it as clean playground movement will make the "joints" the mother talks about very unattractive spots. Boys and girls are kept pretty busy during school months but during the summer it is absolutely necessary that plenty of recreation be provided if trouble is avoided for a certain number.

The playground activities will not cost much money. It will require a large amount of work on the part of those who take it on themselves to put the proposition across, but the financial end will not be a burden. It is something that will benefit the entire town and for this reason all should be interested. We see no reason why the program should not be underway soon after the first of June.

A Run in Your Hose?

Cheer up, Miss and Mrs. America! Science is working day and night to find why stockings wear out, and what to do about it. Staff members of the Pittsburgh Test ing Laboratory, who test everything from hosiery to steel, know more about it than most women

Some startling facts were discovered about the wearing qualities of various kinds of stockings. House wives, clerks and stenogra phers get more runs in their hose than wait resses. But wait resses wear more holes in stockings stenogra More the legs than Contrasted to the stenographer, the waitress is thoroughly tired when evening comes. She's more apt to flop wearily on the bed and leave dancing for Saturday night.

Officials of the laboratory claim that savings of 30 per cent are possible through development of improved products. This means, they say, that American women who now spend approximately $350,000,000 for hosiery every year might tuck $118,000,000 back in their purses by purchasing the right kind of stockings.

Lace Ranks High in Daytime Chic

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

"Test walkers" recently worked by night, it is charming and wearfor the laboratory. In the morning able in a practical way by day. they were dispatched by A. R. Lace brings into the picture that Ellis, laboratory president. Each feminine allure or glamour (if you night their shoes were removed are not tired of the word) that and the stockings examined. Ex- fashion tells us must be this seaperts washed each pair in its own son. According to latest style derivate beaker every night, then cree lace will carry you through sarxamined them for the first sign torially triumphant wherever you go from sun-up to sun-down and on into the social swirl of the midnight

> As a matter of fact lace has come to be regarded as so all-important it enters into every phase of fash-To state it even more definitely, be it daytime dress, evening gown, tailored suit, jacket, coat, cape or bolero, be it blouse, negligee, sports frock, be it hat, bag, gloves (showing lace mitts for sumner) even the shoes you wear, be it frilly jabot, or any type of dainty neckwear, or be it accessories galore, if made of lace rest assured it is indisputably style correct. Particularly intriguing are the daytime fashions that are being developed in lace for immediate as well as coming summer wear. Paris couturiers, in their recent collections, showed frock after frock with pleated lace skirt, just such as we are picturing centered in the group. It adheres to the lace-tailored idea dressy enough for bridge or any social afternoon occasion. By the way, you'll love the new lace-pleated skirts, for of all materials there's something about lace that makes it pleat up most effectively. Most of the lace afternoon dresses with pleated skirts give very simple tailored styling to the waist or blouse or bodice top (as you choose to express it). The dress pictured is no exception to the rule. Keep in mind, whether you make your own clothes or whether you buy readymade, that the pleated skirt, the tailored collar and belt, as well as the pique bow as here shown are features that are new and distinctive in a lace of sheer pattern.

Francevramant, who is noted for her tailored and street clothes, made the youthful dress of navy and at the lace ball given in Miami as a fashion future for spring and summer. The white pique which is that it was "a book you simply used for the narrow yoke and collar can't put down. is repeated as a decoration on the sponsoring flower-trimmed hats this into his neighbors' territory.

The popular two-piece dress is inand bound around all the edges with the matching crepe, such as makes the pleated skirt.

The idea of a bolero of lace with pleated crepe skirt is also going big. This twosome makes a most desirable number in one's wardrobe, for it invites the wearing with it of a dainty frilly lingerie blouse, perret because of its being lace it is haps an exquisitely hand-tucked batiste, such as is destined to play a stellar role in the current fashion picture.

As to lace in the evening mode the biggest news out of recent Paris openings points to the high fashion of Chantilly lace sheer to an exquisite degree, combined with other fabrics, notably marquisette, mousseline de soie or the new silk organdie which is so sheer and crisp and altogether lovely it seems almost unreal.

ness marks this attractive sports outfit of fine ottoman cotton, with a sleeveless bolero jacket of knitted wool. Fine corded cotton is modern in every sense of the word since corded and ribbed fabrics are "tops" this season. The corded cotton used for this costume benefits in that it has been sanforizedshrunk-will not shrink no matter what provocation. Moderness of this outfit extends to every point of style, giving free swinging skirt, short slightly flaring sleeves, slim snug fitting waist and affording perfect treedom of action.

LOVELY LADY NOW LEADER OF FASHION

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

"Glamour and elegance, romance and sentiment are in fashion again! according to Miss Thelma Roberts. nationally noted style authority who is completing a coast to coast survey of American fashions.

"The American woman often thinks that she merely follows fashions," said Miss Roberts. "Actually, she sets these fashion trends herself. Her changing activities change the fashion trend the whole world follows."

Summarizing the recent Paris fashion openings, Miss Roberts said: "Put away your pet inhibitions, your shy reserve and negative personality! Be your own sweet self. For this year the lovely lady is the leader of fashion. The gracious woman whose charm and femininity once marked her as 'individual' has become today's smartest example of fashion.

"This summer we'll wear poetic crinolines and dance to moonlight waltzes. We'll wear trailing wisps of tulle wound round our shoulders, and masses of flowers in our hair We'll look our loveliest in slim hanging chiffons that seem to smooth away those extra curves, and we'll wear frothy lace blouses and handembroidered sports frocks and dainty frills of organdie and lace on all our daytime frocks."

Detail on Shoes Either stilt shoes or squared backs, heels and toes is the line of new spring shoes, which are designed with amusing detail to go with the new frocks.

Britain and France Will Pool All Armed Forces for Defense of Both Nations

Loan contracts totaling $36,657,000 for four cities, covering not more than 90 per cent of the cost of proposed slum-clearance and low-rent bousing, were approved by President Roosevelt upon the recommendation of Nathan Straus, administrator of the housing authority. These will provide approximately 6,667 family dwelling units for over 26,000 slum dwellers. The photograph shows Senator Robert Wagner of New York satching Mr. Straus sign the loan contracts.

Anglo-French Alliance

DREMIER DALADIER and Foreign Minister Bonnet of France had a momentous conference in London with Prime Minister Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, of Great Britain, and at its close it was announced that the two nations had entered into a powerful defensive alliance. The sensational part is that when the next war comes

-and the statesmen M. Daladier seemed sure one is coming-all the armed forces of the French and the British will be pooled under unified commands.

The land forces will be commanded by a French general immediately either of the nations is attacked. The combined sea and air forces will be under command of British fficers. The British air force will be permitted to use French bases. Purchases of war supplies, including planes from the United States will be pooled by Britain and "National Progressives"
France. War resources such as DIRTH of a third national stores of ammunition, mechanical equipment, and oil will be placed on French soil. Consequently Britain will not be forced to move them across the English channel in the face of enemy surface warships and submarines when war starts. Daladier promised Chamberlain that France would, if possible, complete by May 15 negotiations for an alliance of friendship with Italy and if necessary would recognize Mussolini's conquest of Ethiopia. He also nsented to plans for closing the frontier between France and Spain to facilitate the plan for removing 'volunteers'' from the Spanish civil

"Tropic Hurricane"

By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY:
We have had a lot

We have had a lot of stories, boys and girls, about people who have had close shaves and gotten out of them by some fast action, or some quick thinking, or by some herculean feat of strength. They were great stories, every doggone one of them. But sometimes I think that men in action don't get half the scare that people do who have to sit quietly and watch death creep up on them while they are powerless to do anything about it.

That is the sort of yarn we have today, fellow adventurers-the story of Tom Brady of New York city-the story of how he sat, helpless, in a strange land, among strange people, while chaos gripped the world and threatened to tumble it in ruins upon his head.

The story, in short, of a tropical hurricane

Tom Had Never Seen a Hurricane. For years, in his role as traveling man, Tom Brady had been journeying through the tropical islands of the Caribbean sea, selling goods and looking over the country. He had heard plenty about the hurricanes they have down there. He had seen wrecked houses, uprooted treesplenty of the evidences a tropical tornado leaves in its destructive wake. He had seen the natives kneeling in the churches, praying for divine protection against the dread wind storms they had learned to fear. But up to the time this story opens-September 11, 1928-Tom had never Along about sundown, rain and wind began coming in short, fitful gusts. At 8 o'clock, the cannon at the fort—the only means the police had of advising the natives that the storm was headed their way-boomed out its ominous warning! Get ready. Board up your windows.
