CAPITAN, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, JANUARY 15, 1904.

NUMBER 45

Report of Proceedings of County Commissioners.

Proceedings of the Hon. Board of County Commissioners of the County of Lincoln, at a regular term thereof, held at Lincoln, N.M., on Monday, 4th of January, 1904.

Present: Hon. Sipiio Salazar, chairman; P. L. Krouse, member; S. C. Wiener, member; Leslie Ellis, probate clerk; I. N. Analla, interpreter.

Minutes of last regular meeting read and approved. Minutes of last special meeting read and approved.

Now comes Sipiio Salazar and tenders his resignation as chairman of the board, and moves that P. L. Krouse be made chairman, which is seconded by S. C. Wiener.

Now, comes H. B. Hamilton, jr., and files petition, protesting against the establishment of the road described as follows: Road runs through R. A. Hunnicutt's land s 1/2 sec 26 and n 1/4 of sec 35; thence through Wm. Hunnicutt's land, sec 4 of n 1/4 sec 35; thence through James E. Cree's land n 1/4 of sec 34, thence through J. R. Bond's place, sec 4 of sec 34, and n 1/4 of sec 3, tp 10 s, r 13 east, and thence to intersect with old Nogal road, which said road was established at the October 1903 meeting of this board. Now, therefore, the above order creating said road is hereby rescinded, and February 4, 1904, is the date set by the board to hear petitions and protests in regard to the establishment of the above named road, and the clerk is ordered to forward to Jas. E. Cree, et al., the following notice, to-wit:

To James E. Cree, Angus, Mexico.—In the matter of the re-opening of the old road through the Cree pasture, and also the making of a new road in section 24 tp 10 s, r 13 east, where in your property interests are affected.

"You are hereby notified to be and appear before the board of county commissioners at their office in the town of Lincoln, county of Lincoln, on the 4th day of February, 1904, then and there to show cause, if any you have, why said roads should not be opened by order of this board.

Witness the hon. board of county commissioners and the seal of the probate clerk, this 4th day of January, 1904.

P. L. Krouse, chairman.

Attest—Leslie Ellis.

Now comes I. O. Wetmore and files the following petition:

"We, the undersigned citizens and freeholders do hereby petition that the hon. board give us the following described road: Leaving the Nogal road about 200 yards above Thomas J. Kyle's house; thence in a northeasterly direction to northline of southeast quarter of n 1/4 and s 1/4 of n 1/4 sec 6, tp 9, range 14 east, this being the section line between land of J. P. Sanders and Steve Ramon; following that line due east to artesian well owned by the New Mexico Fuel company; thence on their land in an easterly direction to Coalora postoffice, and from there to Capitan postoffice, this being the route now traveled by the mail. We give the following reasons for wishing this road established as a county road: The New Mexico Fuel company will give a right of way for a county road over this route without cost to the county. With the exception of traveling on the section line between the land of J. P. Sanders and Steve Ramon, the route is on government land, excepting land owned by W. M. Murray and leased by I. O. Wetmore, over which he will give the right of way without cost to the county. This is the route that the mail now travels and has traveled since the mail was carried overland.

The distance is between two and three miles shorter than the old road which is sought to be re-opened."

Now comes L. Shelly and files the following petition:

"The undersigned, your petitioners of precinct 9, in the county of Lincoln, hereby petition your hon. board for the establishment of a public road as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at the town of Coalora in sec 4, tp 9 s, r 14 east, thence southeasterly about one mile to an intersection with the old mail road from Fort Stanton and Capitan to Nogal, in the Eagle Nest canon in sec 8, same township; thence by said old mail road and on present location through sections 8 and 7 in said township and in townships 9 and 8 of r, 13 east to the town of Nogal.

The only piece of new road desired is that from Coalora about one mile to the intersection with the old mail road in Eagle Nest canon. Petitioners, however, include the old mail road from the intersection named to Nogal, because the same has been closed by private parties without visible authority. And your petitioners as in duty bound shall ever pray."

And after due consideration the board did appoint H. F. Jones, of Capitan, to view said proposed roads and make his report on same, as to the probable cost, inconvenience, benefit, &c., said H. F. Jones to first make affidavit that he will faithfully and impartially perform the said duties as road viewer. And the said H. F. Jones is further ordered and instructed to make his report on or before the next term of this board, which term will be held at Lincoln on the 4th of February, 1904.

Road Petition from Citizens of Nogal.—Now comes petition as follows to-wit: "We, the undersigned, ask your hon body to change the county public road, leading from Nogal to Parsons, for the reason to-wit: Because the said road traverses the tillable land of H. Emerson, and by so changing the road the same will be made straighter and shorter. Said H. Emerson will do the work on the road gratis and made it as good or better than the old highway is at present. Leaving the road for the inspection of the road supervisor of this precinct, and to be made a permanent change upon his approval."

Laid over till Feb. 4, 1904.

WORK OF INVENTORS

NEW IDEAS THAT ARE OF PRACTICAL VALUE.

Combined Wheeled Vehicle and Sleigh—Improved Shoe Lacing Device—Convenient Heater That May Be Placed Over Gas Jet.

Runner for Wheeled Vehicles.

How well the old resident remembers the time when we had summer in the summer time and winter when it was due, which lasted until spring; and with what pleasure he tells of the cold weather and good sleighing for weeks in succession! But whether it is the destruction of the forests to build our houses and serve other purposes, or from some other cause, we do not seem to have good winter weather for very long at a time, and sleighing and skating are soon destroyed by a thaw. In Canada and some portions of this country this is not the case, and when a farmer or teamster puts up his wagons and gets out his sleighs for the first snow he has fairly good assurance that he will not have to change again until the spring thaw. But in a vast area of the country the man who drives may find himself riding through mud in a sleigh or slipping over a snowy road in a carriage, and it is to meet just such occasions as this that the invention shown in the picture has been designed. A set of sheet iron shoes is provided, with steel runners, and perforated at intervals for the insertion of bolts. When there is a fall of snow the driver has only to put the shoes on the wheels and bolt them in position, and he is ready for a sleigh ride, with no worry over what the future state of the weather may be. The shoes are light enough to be carried in the wagon when not in use, and should prove a great convenience to the man who has to drive every day.

The patentees are Samuel J. and John D. Phillips of New York city.

Improved Shoe Attachment.

It is not at all uncommon for a shoe lace to break at an inopportune moment, when one is in a hurry to catch a train, or has something important to attend to, instead of at an hour when there is plenty of time for repairs. The accident is not to be wondered at, when it is remembered that the lacing hook has two sharp edges over which the string is drawn at a sharp angle, and the movement of the foot saws the lace over these edges at every step. A simple but effective arrangement to prevent this wear is that shown in the picture, consisting of a series of flattened rings, which are secured to the hooks in place of the laces themselves. The latter are inserted in the rings, which, having no sharp edges, and presenting only a rounded surface in contact with the string, wears the latter very little, if any. It is probably no more difficult to lace the shoe with these rings than in the old manner, and a decrease in the number of broken strings is sure to follow.

The inventor is George W. Johnston of Dorchester, Mass.

New Paper and Wall Coating.

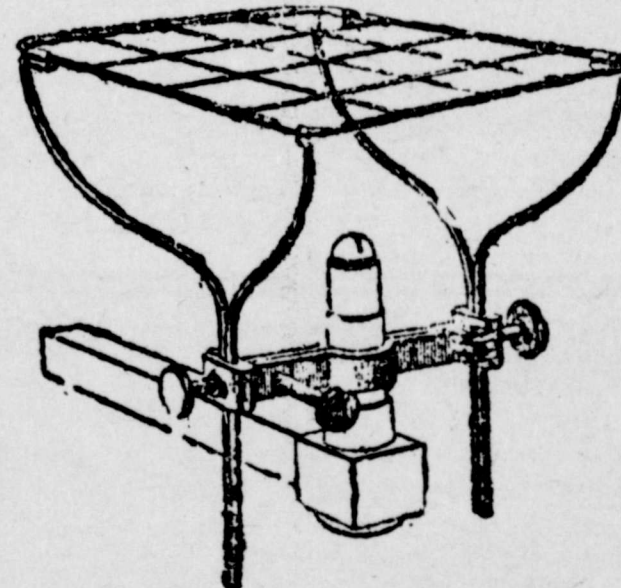

In a new German composition for coating or impregnating pasteboard and similar material for roofing and other purposes similar to our tar and felt papers a combination of resins and fats is used. This material is also applicable for applying directly to the walls of buildings, and in a recipe recently given by our consul general at Coburg the following proportions are recommended: Colophony, 60 parts; neutral yolk, 25, and 5 parts each of carnauba wax, linseed oil and magnesium oxychloride. The material under treatment is immersed for about ten minutes in the fused composition, and is then passed through heated rollers. Its value as a non-conductor of heat and cold and its imperviousness to liquids render it a valuable addition to the list of building materials.

Cleaning Agent from Filth.

Soap for sewage sludge is an extreme example of by-product economy reported in the Zeitschrift of the Austrian Society of Engineers and Architects. The process, briefly stated, is as follows: Dosing the sewage with sulphuric acid, heating to 100 degrees Centigrade, compressing into cakes, drying and treating with benzine, which latter dissolves out the fatty matters. The fats recovered by distilling off the benzine are of a slightly yellow color. Thus has science not only provided a way to dispose of sewage, but has actually transformed it into a cleaning agent for household use!

Convenient Little Heater.

The oil or gas stove which cannot be utilized to cook a meal of victuals

while heating a room has little place in the system of economics. Many a lamp flame and gas jet have produced good cups of tea, coffee or chocolate to accompany a frugal lunch prepared and eaten in a small room by those too poor to afford "square" meals on all occasions. This class of economists will probably see the merit of the burner attachment recently designed by a California inventor, and shown in the accompanying illustration. It has a clamping arrangement which grips the burner-tube and supports the standards depending from the flat wire screen at the top. These standards are adjustable by loosening the screws in the clamping member, and may be regulated to correspond with the size and heat of the flame issuing from the jet.

George W. Brunner of San Francisco, Cal., is the patentee.

New Vocation for Women.

The German press reports that a new vocation has been found for women on account of the use of the X-rays in hospitals. Courses of lectures for the instruction of X-ray nurses will soon be commenced at Berlin. These women will serve only as nurses of patients treated by X-rays, and as assistants in the use of this recently discovered healing agent, which service is of a very delicate nature and one requiring great care.

Bishop Encourages Matrimony.

The bishop of London has introduced a novel method of popularizing matrimony among the humbler worshippers. The bishop, though a bachelor himself, believes in early marriage. Among the working classes the socialistic bishop is fairly worshiped. Many youths visit him and discuss the choice of a wife. The bishop's advice is usually followed.

The bishop has met many successes recently as a matrimonial agent. In order to celebrate them he has been giving a series of little dinner parties in his house in St. James square to the happy couples. The brides come in their wedding gowns and the bridegrooms in their best Sunday suits. The couples feel a trifle embarrassed at first by the magnificence of the bishop's mansion, but the bishop soon places them at their ease. Owing to the bishop's dinners many matches are being made in order to obtain invitations to his dinners.

Don't Rent a Farm—Buy!

Colorado farmers can get good irrigated land, best of water rights, splendid crops, and pay about the usual rental for the use of the land. In three years they'll own it clear. The best chance to get a good farm ever offered in the state. Write to-day to The Colorado Bureau of Immigration, Zeph Chas. Felt, president, Majestic building, Denver, Colorado.

"Mamma," queried little four-year-old Mabel, "was papa related to us before he married into our family?" "Certainly not, dear," was the reply. "Oh, then we just adopted him, didn't we, mamma?" continued the small miss.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contains Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Slim—What do you think of our new tenor singer? Trim—Oh, he's a howling success.

The mildest tobacco that grows is used in the make-up of Baxter's Bullhead 5-cent cigar. Try one and see.

"You should cast your bread upon the waters," said the good old parson. "I did once," admitted the young wife, "but it sunk."

Insist on Getting It.

Some grocers say they don't keep De-fiance Starch. This is because they have a stock on hand of other brands containing only 12 oz. in a package, which they won't be able to sell first, because Defiance contains 16 oz. for the same money. Do you want 16 oz. instead of 12 oz. for same money? Then buy Defiance Starch. Requires no cooking.

"You poor boy; here's a penny for you. Now stop crying." "Yes'm; that's what I was crying for."

When You Buy Starch

buy Defiance and get the best, 16 oz. for 10 cents. Once used, always used.

Towne—I understand he married a cold half million dollars. Browne—Yes, but it was colder than he expected. She won't let him handle a cent of it.

"It beats all" how good a cigar you can buy for 5 cents if you buy the right brand. Try a "Bullhead."

Artist—What a beautiful place this is! I suppose you came here for the view. Old Lady—No, I wasn't consulted. I was born here.

I am sure Piso's Cure for Consumption saved my life three years ago.—Mrs. THOS. ROBBINS, Maple Street, Norwich, N. Y., Feb. 17, 1900.

"The woman who picks out a husband because he is a good dancer," said the breakfast cynic, "is on par with the man who picks out a wife because she can make fudge."

All Up to Date Housekeepers use Defiance Cold Water Starch, because it is better, and 4 oz. more of it for same money.

"I Cannot Sing the Old Songs," warbled the young woman at the piano. But this was small relief, for the new ones she sang were even worse.

Smoke Baxter's "Bullhead" 5-cent cigar.

Professor—The three elements are fire, water and air. Each is separate and distinct from the other. Student—Yes, but fire-water and hot-air usually go together.

HOW SHE REMEMBERED HIM.

Johnny Boyle stopped just outside the door and looked perplexedly back into the crowded shop.

"By George," he said, "if that doesn't stump me."

"What does?" asked a friend who happened along in time to overhear Johnny's puzzled soliloquy.

"That girl at the complaint desk," said Johnny. "She is a marvelous creature; she is, indeed. I was thrown down here Monday and bought some things—socks, neckties and the like. I ordered them sent. They did not come. I came down Wednesday and complained. The girl said they would be sent. She lied. They were not sent. I came to-day to complain again. The girl saw me before I got to the desk. 'Oh, Mr. Boyle,' she said, 'your packages have just been found. They were sent out this morning—Mr. John Boyle, No. 125 Blank Street. That is right, isn't it?' Now," added Johnny Boyle, "I consider that most extraordinary."

"Oh, I don't know," returned the friend, whimsically. "I daresay she couldn't have done it in many cases. You must bear in mind, Johnny, old boy, that that phiz of yours is rather remarkable itself. You have, you know, a very distinctive style of beauty which enables people to remember you where the rest of us commonplace fellows would be forgotten."

"Ah, I say, now," murmured Johnny Boyle in deprecatory accents, but he continued to ponder his friend's complimentary phrases, and when he got home he propped the mirror up in the best light the room afforded and studied his face attentively. To thus survey his own lineaments was not a novel occupation for Johnny

Boyle. He did it every day. There was one place in the windowsill where the looking glass fitted in particularly well, and before that spot Johnny Boyle planted himself for the space of fifteen minutes every morning before going to work and gazed into his own melting brown eyes and brushed his crinkly brown hair and heavy brown mustache, which curled up toward his classic nose so bewitchingly.

The next morning Johnny Boyle's contemplation of his pleasing visage was interrupted by undignified giggling and irreverent remarks directed at him from the window across the air shaft.

"My," said one voice. "Ain't he a beaut?"

"Don't let him hear you say that," returned the other voice. "He's got the big head bad enough now. He stands before that glass for half an hour every morning primping worse than any woman. I get sick and tired of seeing him."

Johnny Boyle was so angry that he could not see straight, but not withstanding his impaired vision he caught a glimpse of one retreating figure that seemed familiar. On his way out he gave the janitor's wife half a dollar.

"Who lives in Flat 3 C?" he asked. The woman told him.

"Have they a daughter?" he asked. "A girl that wears a big bunch of blue ribbon in her hair?"

"No," said the woman. "She is not their daughter. She just boards with them. She works downtown. She is at the complaint desk at the S. & H. store."

"Ah!" said Johnny, thoughtfully.—New York Times.

Carrying U. S. Mails

The United States mails are carried everywhere. It would be almost a physical impossibility for a man to hide himself in any remote corner of the world without being discovered at last by some insignificant agent of a world-wide service, the machinery of which operates quietly and with clock-like regularity. If a bird's-eye view of the different railroad and steamship lines which carry the mails could be taken the giant spider's web thus formed would appear woven in a pattern so intricate that the mind would balk at the mere suggestion of unraveling it. And besides the regular steamship and railroad threads of this maze would appear tens of thousands of cross-lines, representing pony routes, dog and sled tracks, swift courier and runner "trails" and even reindeer, whaling ship and canoe lines. Every sort of vehicle and beast of burden, and nearly every invention of man for quick transportation have been pressed into the postal service, and it is possible for a letter to go around the world under conditions so strange that the mere history of its journey would form a story of thrilling interest.

If a man should start from New York and travel northward to Alaska, then down the coast to California and take ship to Manila and follow the lines of travel to Hongkong, to Singapore, to Canton, to Tokio, to Vladivostok, to St. Petersburg, to Vienna, to London, to South Africa, and finally to South America, touching on the way at several Pacific and South Atlantic islands and thence back to his starting point, he could travel a distance several times greater than the circumference of the globe. If he ordered his mail forwarded to him, and left correct address behind at each place, the letters would dutifully follow him and finally be delivered to him in New York a few days after his own arrival there. All that he would have to pay extra for this remarkable journey would be a dollar or two in tolls, which would represent the charges for forwarding exacted by some of the countries through which it passed. There is in the postoffice department at Washington the envelope of a letter which traveled in this way 150,000 miles, and another which came safely through a trip of 125,000 miles. Both are marked and stamped in a way to baffle any except a very expert decipherer of puzzles.

Wanted His Share.

Jonah and the whale were parting company, when the latter remarked: "I suppose you intend to write an account of your experience with me."

"I certainly do," replied Jonah. "Have you any objections?"

"None at all," said the whale, "but I want you to remember that I shall expect my share of the proceeds. I have given you lodgings for some three days free of charge, and I have been a sort of collaborator in furnishing material for the story. I shall, therefore, expect you to send me a check upon the publication of your article."

The Road Question.

We publish the following in reply to a letter which appeared in a previous issue of this paper, in justice to Mr. Shely (who thinks the caps fits him). The News admires fair play and justice in all things, and thus affords Mr. Shely a similar privilege to that given "A Traveler." About the merits or demerits of the case we know not, but would suggest that the parties interested submit their grievance to arbitration.

Editor Capitan News.

Sir: In your issue of January 1, appeared a letter, signed "A Traveler," commenting on the merits of the roads connecting Capitan, Coalora and Nogal. I wish to say, in reply, that the allegations contained in that letter are untrue, and without the shadow of foundation, and the writer, I believe, knew them to be untrue when he wrote them. His reason for doing so is quite plain. I have lived in the Oso Canon for three years and four months, and there was no sign of a road ever having been there at that time, and "A Traveler" knows this to be true, but for personal reasons, seeks to influence public opinion, while hiding behind a fictitious signature. And further, to my certain knowledge there was no road through Oso canon nine years ago.

Lost—On Christmas day between Capitan and Coalora, Winchester 44-40 Carbine. Finder will please leave it at this office.

Local and Personal.

Mrs. Silas May and baby have been quite sick this week.

Guy Herbert made a business trip to El Paso this week.

Miss Beulah Gray has gone on a visit to friends in El Paso.

Albert Hall and family of Coalora have gone to Arizona.

Dr. Walsh of Parsons was a visitor in Capitan this week.

The high winds have departed and are now moving eastward across the country.

Rev. Dr. Chalmers Dyke of Fort Stanton will hold church service at 3 p.m. next Sabbath, 17th instant, in the school house.

William Burns, general manager for Henry Pfaff of El Paso, was checking up accounts in the Capitan and Coalora houses this week.

The bondsmen of Burt Roland, a former defaulting postmaster at Capitan, made good his shortage this week to Inspector Smithers of the postoffice department.

E. B. Welch, of El Paso, is visiting Geo. A. Titsworth this week. Mr. Welch owns one of the largest furniture houses in the southwest, and has interests in Capitan also.

George Kimbrill, a prosperous farmer and justice of the peace of Picacho, while in Capitan this week, called at this office and deposited on our desk four ounces of the "root of all evil." He is marked up on our books a year in advance.

Excelsior lodge No. 5, I.O.O.F., at their last meeting installed the following officers: W. A. Golder, N.G.; Thomas Gale, jr., V.G.; Wm. Golder, Rec. Sec.; William Gale, Per Sec.; Thomas Gale, sr., treasurer. This lodge, although scarcely a year in existence has 69 members.

J. M. Rice of Parsons met with an accident and narrowly escaped serious injury. While driving a spirited team, the reins became entangled with the lower part of the collar, one bridle came off, and the team bolted down a steep incline, throwing the occupant. As a result, Mr. Rice received a severe shaking up and injury to the knee, which will take several weeks to right.

The wind storm of the past week was pronounced the worst that visited this section in a great many years. The dust was carried along in dense clouds, and deposited in drifts several feet deep in many places. The storm lasted four days, during which outside work was suspended. There are few buildings in Capitan proof against a whirling sand storm, such as prevailed during the past week in Lincoln county.

W. F. Peacock, the prospector, has returned to the Bonito from Roswell, and is now developing his claims in that district. While in Roswell he interested the redoubtable Jerry Simpson, formerly of Kansas, in his mining property, and it is probable that the distinguished politician will visit Capitan one of those days and infuse some life into the mining business of Lincoln county. If we could get Mary Ellen Lease or the warlike Carrie Nation interested in our mining resources, Lincoln county would then surely become famous.

The county commissioners will hold a special meeting on February 4th for the purpose of settling the road question, and all those having anything to say on the matter should attend the meeting and lay their opinions before the board, and enable that body to settle the road matter right. This thing of petitioning the board to open and close the same roads every year or two, is becoming too general, and is a large expense on the county.

At the late meeting of the county commissioners, Scipio Salazar tendered his resignation as chairman of that board, and in doing so proposed the name of P. L. Krouse, which was seconded by S. C. Wiener, and carried. P. L. Krouse is one of the most level-headed men in the county; he is intimately acquainted with the needs of the county from one end to the other—a man of strong individuality, who will take the initiative in what he considers right and is not slow in raising his voice against what he considers wrong. A man with "backbone" to say and do what he thinks for the best interests of the people, earns the respect of all parties, and such a man, we believe, is P. L. Krouse.

On last Saturday evening Myrtle lodge No. 19, K. of P., held a public installation of officers for the ensuing term. Although the weather was disagreeable, quite a large number attended to witness the ceremony connected with the installation of officers, and seemed highly pleased with its impressiveness. The Socrates literary society contributed in a no small degree to the entertainment by rendering a very nice programme. All spoke in high praise of the many commendable features of this order. It fosters the common brotherhood of man, looks after the orphans and widows of deceased members, and all men are bettered by becoming members of it.

"Age," remarked the philosopher, "is a great softener. It makes one more tender."

"If that's the case," remarked the nery boarder from the foot of the table, "I wish this chicken had been a few years older when they killed it."

Monuments of Woe.

"Did you notice Mr. Jones' new teeth?" asked Mrs. Sharpeye. "I never saw anything so ghastly. They look like grave stones."

"Yes," said Miss Sinnie Cal. "I presume he had them placed in memory of his lost ones."

Perhaps He Was.

"Who was that young man hugging you last night?" asked the girl in the new fall hat.

"Oh, he is a book agent," responded her chum.

"Looked to me more like a press agent."

Light Indeed.

"And after the elopement," he whispered tenderly, "we will go to light housekeeping."

"Lighthouse keeping!" she echoed innocently. "Then all we'll need will be a big lamp."

Madge—Why in the world is he marrying Miss Oldgirl?

Marjorie—Perhaps he is paying off one of those freak election bets.—Town Topics.

FOOT BALL LOSSES.

Summary of Dead and Wounded of the Last Campaign.

A Chicago dispatch says that nineteen lives were lost on the foot ball field during the season of 1903. One boy was driven insane from injuries. Thirteen players were disabled, some of them being disabled for life. The number of minor but painful accidents goes into the hundreds and the list of the severely injured is also necessarily incomplete.

The feature of the year's tabulation is that it shows serious casualties were practically confined to untrained players. No member of any of the first-class elevens was killed or permanently disabled. One Yale player and one Harvard player suffered a broken leg. No player in any of the teams of the "Big Nine" in the West was the victim of any hurt worse than a wrenched shoulder, a bruised head, a sprained knee or a turned ankle.

In consequence of the injuries sustained by their players several of the minor schools have forbidden the game of foot ball. Two towns—Columbus Junction, Pennsylvania, and Greenfield, Ohio—have stopped the sport as the result of petitions circulated by parents.

Bright's Disease Cured.

Whitehall, Ill., Dec. 7.—A case has been recorded in this place recently, which upsets the theory of many physicians that Bright's Disease is incurable. It is the case of Mr. Lon Manley, whom the doctors told that he could never recover. Mr. Manley tells the story of his case and how he was cured in this way:

"I began using Dodd's Kidney Pills after the doctors had given me up. For four or five years I had Kidney, Stomach and Liver Troubles; I was a general wreck and at times I would get down with my back so bad that I could not turn myself in bed for three or four days at a time.

"I had several doctors and at last they told me I had Bright's Disease, and that I could never get well. I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and I am now able to do all my work and am all right. I most heartily recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills and am very thankful for the cure they worked in my case. They saved my life after the doctors had given me up."

When Bilson, who is a homeopathist and believes that like cures like, was told by an osteopathist that something was the matter with his bones, he went and took another rib.

A young man who recently went to the metropolis of Washington says he proposes to Seattle down and grow up with the country.

"Are you blind by nature?" asked the charitably-inclined citizen. "No, sir," candidly replied the beggar; "I'm blind by profession."

Miss Whittaker, a prominent club woman of Savannah, Ga., tells how she was entirely cured of ovarian troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a Uterine Tonic and Regulator. I suffered for four years with irregularities and Uterine troubles. No one but those who have experienced this dreadful agony can form any idea of the physical and mental misery those endure who are thus afflicted. Your Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. I was fully restored to health and strength, and now my periods are regular and painless. What a blessing it is to be able to obtain such a remedy when so many doctors fail to help you. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is better than any doctor or medicine I ever had. Very truly yours, MISS EASY WHITTAKER, 604 39th St., W. Savannah, Ga."

No physician in the world has had such a training or such an amount of information at hand to assist in the treatment of all kinds of female ills as Mrs. Pinkham. In her office at Lynn, Mass., she is able to do more for the ailing women of America than the family physician. Any woman, therefore, is responsible for her own trouble who will not take the pains to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is free.

A letter from another woman showing what was accomplished in her case by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: I am so grateful to you for the help Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me that I deem it but a small return to write you an expression of my experience.

"Many years suffering with weakness, inflammation, and a broken down system, made me more anxious to die than live, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound soon restored my lost strength. Taking the medicine only two weeks produced a radical change, and two months restored me to perfect health. I am now a changed woman, and my friends wonder at the change, it is so marvellous. Sincerely yours, MISS MATTIE HENRY, 429 Green St., Danville, Va."

The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women prove beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases.

THE GIRL WHO WANTED A MASTER

From her childhood the girl had felt a vague longing to be controlled. Hers was the woman heart that craved the word of authority now and then; and yet she had gone through some twenty years in a world where all sorts of words abound and had not met that kind. She knew just where the trouble lay. She had been shielded from it—unwisely, foolishly—by a too tender family of male relatives. She had been kept out of her right, as it were. When she merited rebuke she got only gentle remonstrance; and when she needed to be led, she was followed instead, sometimes far in folly.

But now that she had come to the city to earn her living, she meant to change that. Her brother was away from home on a business trip and did not know her plans.

Fate and a want ad led her to the establishment of Mr. Barney Blevins, and a red-haired youth led her on into Mr. Blevin's own office. It developed that Mr. Barney Blevins had increasing outside interests and that he wanted some one in his office as confidential clerk. He thought she would do.

"And check up the cash registry," he explained. "And watch the others, the cheats! Watch every one of them. And—I hope you're honest," he shouted suddenly. "Are ye honest, eh? Well, about how honest, now—what's the very lowest price for your honesty?"

The week passed slowly by. The girl watched the others and saw many things, but she kept them to herself. Somehow it seemed difficult to lay them before Mr. Barney Blevins. The cash came short every blessed night; and grins—quiet, ghostlike grins—went the rounds when the confidential clerk squared things each time out of her little purse.

On Saturday Mr. Barney Blevins arrived early at the office and called his employes before him. It seemed to be a weekly custom. He began at the top of the line and went impartially along telling them things in vigorous language. "You're a dirty thief!" he roared to one. "You think I don't see things with my eyes. Hand over that change you took from the register. Give it to the girl there—she's the honestest one in the bunch. Quick for you." And to another: "You're awful scared I'll fire ye, ain't ye, now—eh? Just don't you worry!

I'll keep ye, and I'll work ye, and the girl and me'll watch that you don't thieve us. See?"

When she got to the boarding house that night, late, hungry, tired, she was ushered into the dim parlor, and there she saw a manly figure standing very stiff and quiet. She knew it well. She had more than once stamped her foot at this same manly figure and said, "No! No! No!" to its soft and gentle pleading. Now she stood silent before him. The man's eyes were stern and his lips were drawn into a straight, hard line. He said:

"Go to your room. You will please go to your room and wash your face. Pour the water from the bowl and do not throw the towel on the floor. Put another hat on. Get a wrap. Do not forget a clean handkerchief. Be sure to lock your trunk. Be back here within ten minutes."

Meekly she obeyed. In the big hotel dining room the severe-looking man opposite her ordered dinner without a word of consultation. He ordered as for a child, and very humbly she ate what he served to her. Then he called a cab and they drove to the theater. After the play he led the way to a supper room. He made light conversation, and now and then smiled, but he ordered things without parley. She wondered whether she might mention that lobster always made her very ill; but she did not tell him.

It was very late when he left her inside the hall of her boarding house. He turned and looked back at her. She seemed very small and wan, and he came back and put his hands on her shoulders, and when she looked up he was smiling, but he tried to frown.

"The voice of authority?" he said, musingly. "That is what your letter to your brother said. Well, it is all right. That can be arranged. All you have to do is to say 'Yes' at the right place in the service; I'll tell you when. You shall never have to think again."

She was very tired and very sleepy. She clung to him ignominiously while she said: "I'll do anything you s-s-say. Th-th-thank you. But don't ever ask me if I'm honest—and don't b-b-bully me, and I can't b-b-bear to b-be b-b-b-bossed."

And she fled up the dark, dingy stairs.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Singing the Last Hymn

The sacred day was ending in a village by the sea; The uttered benediction touched the people tenderly; And they rose to face the sunset in the golden glowing west, And then hastened to their dwellings for God's blessed boon of rest.

But they looked across the waters, and a storm was raging there; A fierce spirit moved above them—the wild spirit of the air; And it lashed and shook and tore them till they thundered, groaned and boomed; And, alas! for any vessel in their yawning gulfs entombed!

Sad and anxious were the people on that rocky coast of Wales, Lest the dawns of coming morrows should be telling fearful tales, When the sea had spent its passions, and should cast upon the shore Tangled wreck and swollen victims, as it had done heretofore.

With the rough winds blowing round her, a brave woman strained her eyes, And she saw along the billows a large vessel fall and rise, O, it did not need a prophet to tell what the end must be, For no ship could ride in safety near that shore on such a sea.

Then the pitying people hurried from their homes and thronged the beach, Oh, for power to cross the waters and the perishing wreck to reach! Helpless hands were wrung for sorrow, tender hearts grew cold with dread, And the ship, urged by the tempest, to the fatal rock-shore sped.

"She has parted in the middle! Oh, the half of her goes down! God have mercy! Is his Heaven far to seek for those who drown?" Lo! when next the white, shocked faces looked with terror on that sea, Only one last clinging figure on a spar was seen to be.

Nearer the trembling watchers came the wreck across the wave, And the man still clung and floated, though no power on earth could save.

"Could we send him a short message? Here's a trumpet; shout away." 'Twas the preacher's hand that took it, and he wondered what to say.

Any memory of his sermon? Firstly, secondly? Ah, no! There was but one thing to utter in that awful hour of woe. So he shouted through the trumpet, "Look to Jesus! Can you hear?" And "Ay, ay, sir!" rang the answer o'er the waters' loud and clear.

Then they listened: "He is singing 'Jesus, lover of my soul.'" And the winds brought back the echo, "While the nearer waters roll." Strange, indeed, it was to hear him, "Till the storm of life is past," Singing bravely from the waters, "O, receive my soul at last!"

He could have no other refuge, "Hangs my helpless soul on Thee; Leave, ah leave me not"—the singer dropped at last into the sea; And the watchers, looking homeward through their eyes by tears made dim, Said, "He passed to be with Jesus in the singing of that hymn."

CAVES IN COLORADO

Located on Beaver Creek, Near Florence, Colorado—Now Being Explored by Professors in Florence Schools—Curious Engravings Are Found.

About seven miles northeast of Florence, close to the mountain range and in the vicinity of what is known as Glendale, close to Beaver creek, are two caves of the paleolithic period. They are situated upon a ranch owned by a farmer named McLean, and were only visited by competent judges a few days ago, says the Florence correspondent of the Denver News. These two, Prof. E. A. Kenyon of the science department of the Florence high school, and Superintendent Durfee of the Florence schools, were induced to make the trip from the many vague and wild rumors as to the appearance of the caves and of what they consisted. These caves extend into the Dakota sandstone to an unknown distance and are very extensive, the roofs being but ten feet high, but the area so far unknown.

The entrances to these caves have been filled for years with sand that has washed in from the small creek that passes the opening, but recently interested parties have excavated sufficiently to allow of an unobstructed entrance into them.

The excavations made enable one to see a portion of the walls, which are covered with curious engravings, which for the most part run horizontally. These scratches are of considerable depth and are highly polished, their surfaces being much harder than the surrounding rocks, so that in places where the wall has crumbled away these marks stand out an inch or more.

The earliest settlers have no recollection of these caves, and the ravine which passes the opening has been traversed for years. Mr. McLean has resided on this ranch for twenty years and there has not been a flood that reached near the level of the flood deposit in the cave during all that time. That the debris in the caves is a true flood deposit is shown by its fine laminations and other marks of stratification. Judging from the number of laminations (they run up into the thousands and give evidence of repeated floodings) and the rarity of floods that reach as high as the laminations extend, the time that has elapsed since the caves were inhabited is of great length, running back hundreds of thousands of years.

ABOUT FEAR

Often Comes From Lack of Right Food.

Napoleon said that the best fed soldiers were his best soldiers, for fear and nervousness come quickly when the stomach is not nourished. Nervous fear is a sure sign that the body is not supplied with the right food.

A Connecticut lady says: "For many years I had been a sufferer from indigestion and heart trouble and in almost constant fear of sudden death, the most acute suffering possible. Dieting brought on weakness, emaciation and nervous exhaustion and I was a complete wreck physically and almost a wreck mentally.

"I tried many foods, but could not avoid the terrible nausea followed by vomiting that came after eating until I tried Grape-Nuts. This food agreed with my palate and stomach from the start. This was about a year ago. Steadily and surely a change from sickness to health came until now I have no symptoms of dyspepsia and can walk 10 miles a day without being greatly fatigued. I have not taken a drop of medicine since I began the use of Grape-Nuts and people say I look many years younger than I really am.

"My poor old sick body has been made over and I feel as though my head had been too. Life is worth living now and I expect to enjoy it for many years to come if I can keep away from bad foods and have Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Look in each package for a copy of the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Dr. W. A. Shepard, of Colorado Springs, Colo., has had a most wonderful career in the treatment of tubercular diseases, especially consumption of the lungs and the sore throats with hoarseness which so frequently accompanies this disease. Some of his greatest triumphs in treating this disease have been in treating tubercular bowels. His patients when cured live in any climate without any fear that the disease will return. He sends interesting literature to all inquiries.

Dragging Pains

2825 Keeley St.,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct., 2, 1902.
I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groins I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

Maudie Bush

Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.
