THE FOREST RESERVES.

Their History and the Reasons for their Creation, from a Governmental Point of View.

will not be permitted.

In all cases the first step for the prospective purchaser is to consult the nearest forest office. Inquiries or applications should never be sent to Washington direct. Remittances of money or complaints against the conduct of local officers are the only communications which applicants or purchasers should make to the Washington office during any stage of a sale.

There are three classes of sales:

(a) Of not over $20 worth of dead timber.

These sales may be made by any forest ranger or deputy forest ranger, as well as by any supervisor, except in California.

No delay is required. The applicant should consult in person with the nearest ranger, who will designate the timber, fix the terms of sale, and at once, upon assurance that full advance payment has been forwarded the Special Fiscal Agent, permit cutting and removal.

(b) Of not over $100 worth of dead or living timber.

Application may be made through any ranger, but the forest supervisor must approve the sale. Except in California, the only delay involved is the time required for an estimate and report to the supervisor. Upon the latter's approval and permission, after the forwarding of full or partial payment, cutting may begin. In California every sale of any class must be advertised for sixty days.

(c) Of over $100 worth of dead or living timber.

Sales involving more than $100 must always be advertised and can, as a rule, be approved only by the Forester. The application and examining officer's report, if indorsed by the supervisor, are sent to Washington. Upon the Forester's approval an advertisement for bids is published in the local papers for thirty days (sixty days in California), after deposit to cover this expense has been sent by applicant. Grand Lodge Knights Pythias.

The Knights of Pythias of the domain of New Mexico assembled in Las Vegas last week. Representation from the various subordinate lodges of the territory were present, and the number exceeded those of any previous convention of the Grand Lodge. The officers elected for the ensuing term were:

Grand Chancellor—Julius Uhl-fieder, Elizabethtown.

Grand vice-chancellor—W. E. Dudley, Alamogordo.

Grand Prelate—A. R. O'Quinn, Carlsbad.

Grand-keeper of records and seals—C. E. Perry, Las Vegas.

Grand master of exchequer—Jno. A. Haley, Capitan.

Grand-master at arms—Homer Hill, Socorro.

Grand inner guard—M. C. Keenan, Springer.

Grand outer guard—R. C. Bowler, Santa Fe.

Supreme representative—E. W. Clapp, Lordsburg.

The next Grand Lodge will meet in Albuquerque.

Wm. Burns, auditor of Henry Pfaff's business, came in yesterday from El Paso.

Business is good in Capitan, and has been all the past season, and today there is not a vacant habitable house in the town.

The Coalora saloon closed Saturday, the license expiring on that date. Business did not justify the renewal of license, consequently all the thirsty have to come to Capitan to slake their thirst.

The publisher of the News has just recently returned from a trip to the northern part of the territory, and wishes to say frankly that he saw no section, in his mind, as good as Lincoln county. Exchanges please do not copy.

Mike O'Shea, a freight conductor on the El Paso & South-western was run over by his train when leaving the El Paso yards last Sunday. The deceased was a brother of John O'Shea, a conductor on the regular passenger train.

A rearrangement of the range of forest rangers' range has taken place this week. G. L. Bradford goes to the Capitan mountains, to take the place of G. A. Peters, while the latter goes to the White Mountains to take up his duties there.

AGAINST JOINT STATEHOOD.

Communicated.

The Hon. A. J. Beveridge, from his home in Indiana, has recently franked a short excerpt of his speech in the Senate on the statehood bill entitled "Arizona the Great" to the voters of this territory.

There were portions of the speech in question which were anything but complimentary to the intelligence of the voters of New Mexico which he very wisely saw fit to omit.

Mr. Beveridge is a very bright, brainy man, just such a forceful person the railroads and corporate powers are on the hunt for. They understand the value of such talent; why are they so solicitous that we should be ingrafted into the "Arizona the Great?"

The smaller states are governed with more economy than the large ones. The corporate power centered in the seaboard cities of the Atlantic, are our rulers; they decide our tariff taxes from which the farmer receives no benefit. They carve out our counties, cut up our territories to suit their pleasure. Our voters do not seem to take political economy very seriously. The many politicians who are out want to get rid of the old gangs, any change in the administration is liable to let them in the ring.

The territory of Dakota was divided by order of two railroads; now two territories must be consolidated into one state for their especial benefit. An area of many times larger than Indiana, with more economic resources for a large population.

Before the advent of railroads in Indiana the writer traveled through more than half of the counties of that state by wagon, day by day rode over corduroy roads, thumpy-thump, Time has not denied his memory of the scenes and experiences he then had. Ague and fever were then the prime industries, would shake a person half a day and then put in the other half with a burning fever.

The people there then were a very disconsolate set; all "went back to their wife's relations" that could get back. The state was settled by the people that were stranded, that had not the means wherewith to leave. They made Joe Wright governor, (bless his soul), for he would get out of his carriage, pull off his coat and help a fellow pry his wagon out of a slough.

New Mexico has great possibilities—None of us know what the future industries will be—are on the tract of the world's greatest activities and civilization. A half dozen decades of twentieth century enterprise may give us a much larger population than Indiana, that too, with only one senator, half representation in the councils of the nation. Representatives have but little influence now, the president and senators govern the nation.

There is scarcely a quarter section of available land in New Mexico that cannot be irrigated with twentieth century appliances. The agriculture probably will be of a different class than that of the humid states, and more remunerative.

FEAR FOR NIAGARA

IMMENSE VOLUME OF WATER DIVERTED FROM FALLS.

Commercial Enterprises are Making Heavy Drains on This Famous Show-Place—Its Tremendous Electrical Power the Inducement.

Niagara Falls, August 7:—The volume of water being diverted from the historic Niagara Falls is reaching such proportions that the people of the State are trying to pass laws which will prevent the possibility of a practical wiping out of this sublime natural spectacle.

Water sufficient to develop nearly five hundred thousand horse-power continuously, twenty-four hours per day, for industrial purposes, is now being taken from the river above the Falls, and further developments requiring more water are contemplated.

Probably the largest user of the electricity produced by the waters of the mighty river is the concern which by the five or six thousand degree heat of the electric furnace brings lime and coke into unwilling union, thereby producing what is known as Calcium Carbide.

Dry calcium carbide is lifeless as so much broken rock, but in contact with water it springs into activity and begets abundantly the gas Acetylene. The light resulting from the ignition of acetylene is the nearest approach to sunlight known.

These facts, though of comparatively recent discovery, were soon seized by men with an eye to the commercial possibilities and to-day calcium carbide is being shipped everywhere and used for dispelling darkness in buildings of all descriptions, from the ordinary barn of the farmer to the country villa of the wealthy, as well as for lighting the streets of a large number of towns. Acetylene can be easily and cheaply installed, and the manufacture and sale of acetylene generators has become a business of recognized standing, has assumed large proportions and is steadily growing.

Sports of Fish.

For twenty years fish of many varieties have been kept in aquaria by F. Davis of London and his observations have convinced him—contrary to common belief—that fish sleep, though only in darkness. Artificial light awakens them. He finds also that fish have their play or sports, like other creatures.

Every housekeeper should know that if they will buy Defiance Cold Water Starch for laundry use they will save not only time, because it never sticks to the iron, but because each package contains 16 oz.—one full pound—while all other Cold Water Starches are put up in ¾-pound packages, and the price is the same, 10 cents. Then again because Defiance Starch is free from all injurious chemicals. If your grocer tries to sell you a 12-oz. package it is because he has a stock on hand which he wishes to dispose of before he puts in Defiance. He knows that Defiance Starch has printed on every package in large letters and figures "16 oz." Demand Defiance and save much time and money and the annoyance of the iron sticking. Defiance never sticks.

The patch is apt to come off in a patched-up quarrel.

SHE HAD HER REVENGE.

Facts of History Didn't Trouble Her at All.

"The fad of tracing one's ancestors back as far as possible has a firmer hold in the east than in the west," said Mortimer E. Walker of Boston.

"One winter I spent some time in a certain southern city which is noted for its blueblooded and exclusive inhabitants. There was much jealousy in the highest social circles, as there were two factions which desired the honor of being the original grandees. Finally the leader of one faction gathered together a few friends and started a society known as the Daughters of Ferdinand de Soto.

"This was supposed to be the ultra-fashionable society of the city, and one by one the aspiring matrons produced the indisputable proof that they were eligible for membership.

"Finally one of the younger set had the temerity to try and force an entrance into the charmed circle. She was blackballed almost unanimously.

"She determined to be revenged and to that end did a little real investigating which was more thorough than any ancestor hunt which was ever made in that city. The result of her investigations she made public and the result was the utter rout of the daughters.

"For the young woman proved beyond the question of a doubt that Ferdinand de Soto had died a bachelor."

Signature Thieves.

It is difficult to get access to the government's historical documents and papers in Washington, and they who do get access to them are always accompanied, as they make their consultations, by a guide.

H. Clay Evans said recently that a big percentage of the government's documents have been robbed of their signatures. The signatures, if of value, have been cut out by thieves. Hence the precautions that are taken to-day.

Autograph hunting is thought to be not very common, and yet so many hundreds of the signatures of Washington, Hamilton, Burr, Lincoln, Jefferson, etc., have been stolen from governmental documents that it appears as if every American citizen, on seeing a good autograph, feels that he has the moral right to lift it.

For five years, though, thanks to the vigilance that is now maintained, no autographs have been lifted from the government's archives.

Food That Produces Cancer.

"I could see no reason for the prevalence of cancer among the backwoodsmen of North America," says an English writer. "The other day, however, I happened to read, in an account of the backwoods of Canada, that the lumbermen maintain their remarkable powers on buckwheat cakes served with molasses, potato pie, baked beans, white bread, pork, and bacon; so far so good, but that tea, black as ink, sweetened with molasses or sugarhouse sirup, is always near the fire by day and night, and is used in vast quantities. Here we have the rich nutriment and the great excess of stewed tea and the excess of sugar, corresponding to the excessive beer and excessive coffee of parts of Holland, Scandinavia, Switzerland, Baden and Bavaria, in all of which cancer is exceedingly prevalent."

Life is Good.

The maiden, virgin-eyed, laughed low and sweet,
"Give me of love and joy my fill," she sang.
"And Sorrow?" asked the angel pityingly,
"I know her not," her merry laughter rang.

The woman drank her cup and at the lees
She faltered sore: "Ah, why so bitter cruel?"
The angel answered gently: "Nay, poor heart,
"Thou has not won thy sorrow's priceless jewel."

The aged one sat dreaming at life's dusk,
"Lo! I have lived unto the end," she said.
"What thinkest now?" the kind-voiced angel asked.
"Life has been good," she whispered with bowed head.

TWENTY YEARS OF IT.

Emaclated by Diabetes; Tortured with Gravel and Kidney Pains.

Henry Soule, cobbler, of Hammondsport, N. Y., says: "Since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me eight years ago, I've reached 70 and hope to live many years longer. But twenty years ago I had kidney trouble so bad I could not work. Backache was persistent and it was agony to lift anything. Gravel, whirling headaches, dizziness and terrible urinary disorders ran me down from 168 to 100 pounds. Doctors told me I had diabetes and could not live. I was wretched and hopeless when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, but they cured me eight years ago and I've been well ever since."

Round-Up of Buffaloes.

An exciting drive of buffaloes is reported from the interior of the Yellowstone Park, a large number of bison escaping from their reserve in the hills while quenching their thirst in the Gardner river.

The park fence offered but little resistance to the burly brutes who, one after another, leaped over the obstruction. A hurry call to Fort Yellowstone brought out a detachment of cavalry and the troopers were accorded an experience which they will not forget for some time.

Several of the cavalymen were thrown from their horses during the excitement of the round-up and were forced to scurry behind trees for safety as the maddened buffaloes would charge blindly at anything in their path.

Like a bull, the buffalo will charge an obstacle with his eyes on the ground unable to see ahead at the time, and more than one bison turned somersaults as a result of colliding with trees in their blind fury.

It required several hours of the hardest kind of work on the part of the troopers before the buffaloes were finally headed back to the park.

Dinner of Big Things.

A dinner of big things was recently served by an American farmer. The table was set for twelve, and the bill of fare consisted of one five and one-half-pound potato, one fifteen-pound cabbage, one ten-pound chicken, one six-pound turnip, one two-pound onion and three pies made from a single apple weighing one and one-half pounds.

BABY'S INSTINCT

Shows He Knew What Food to Stick To.

Forwarding a photo of a splendidly handsome and healthy young boy, a happy mother writes from an Ohio town:

"The enclosed picture shows my 4-year-old Grape-Nuts boy.

"Since he was 2 years old he has eaten nothing but Grape-Nuts. He demands and gets this food three times a day. This may seem rather unusual, but he does not care for anything else after he has eaten his Grape-Nuts, which he uses with milk or cream, and then he is through with his meal. Even on Thanksgiving day he refused turkey and all the good things that make up that great dinner, and ate his dish of Grape-Nuts and cream with the best results and none of the evils that the other foolish members of the family experienced.

"He is never sick, has a beautiful complexion, and is considered a very handsome boy. May the Postum Company prosper and long continue to furnish their wholesome food!" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Baby Covered With Sores and Scales—Could Not Tell What She Looked Like—Marvelous Cure by Cuticura.

At four months old my baby's face and body were so covered with sores and large scales you could not tell what she looked like. No child ever had a worse case. Her face was being eaten away, and even her finger nails fell off. It itched so she could not sleep, and for many weary nights we could get no rest. At last we got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The sores began to heal at once, and she could sleep at night, and in one month she had not one sore on her face or body.—Mrs. Mary Sanders, 709 Spring St., Camden, N. J."

How the Last Man Will Live.

The earth is ever radiating away heat into space. And so at last comes a vision of earthly cherubim, hopping heads, great unemotional intelligences and little hearts, fighting together perforce and fiercely against the cold that grips them tighter and tighter. For the world is cooling—slowly and inevitably it grows colder as the years roll by. "We must imagine these creatures," says the professor, "in galleries and laboratories deep down in the bowels of the earth. The whole world will be snow-covered and piled with ice; all animals, all vegetation vanished, except this last branch of the tree of life. The last men have gone even deeper, following the diminishing heat of the planet, and vast metallic shafts and ventilators make way for the air they need."—From the Metropolitan Magazine for July.

Sold the Preacher's Hat.

FOLLY OF PESSIMISM

IN THE DAY'S WORK WE REAP WHAT WE SOW.

Much May Be Accomplished by the Determination to Realize Happiness from Whatever Is Undertaken—Insist on Success.

What are you putting into this day—fear, uncertainty, growls, grouches, discouragements? Doubt of yourself and your powers—fear lest the thing you want to do you will not be able to do? Or are you taking to it a glad faith and assurance, a determination to succeed, a live, thrilling belief in yourself and in the work you are to do?

Whatever your attitude may be, each morning when you awaken to face another day, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, remember this: Whatever you put into that day you will get out of it.

Perhaps you have been in the habit of waiting to see what the day would bring to you—waiting upon its events, so to speak. Perhaps, while wishing for inspiration and for success in your work, you have deferred to conditions and influences yet to be manifested.

If those conditions and influences proved to be unfavorable you blamed luck for it. You believed yourself to be at the mercy of circumstances. If the day brought you a blue mood instead of the happy, energetic one you wanted, you thought there was no help for it, and fought your blues as best you could.

Why not get at the root of the matter. Why not put the blame where it belongs? The fact is that by your own words you decide what the day shall mean to you. It is in your power to say each morning what you intend to realize before night comes.

The hours stretch before you plastic to your thought. It is you who must determine the shape their events shall take.

If you have been facing the morning with a mind full of ifs, buts and howevers, why wonder that you have not succeeded as you hoped?

It is one thing to hope and another to decree. You may hope with fervency every day of your life for the good you desire, but if you fortify that hope with nothing more positive than ifs, buts and howevers, you need not be disappointed to see that you are continually doomed to disappointment.

Whatever you put into the day you get out of it.

Take the conquering attitude. At the very beginning ally yourself with success forces by declaring that you intend to do the things you want to do. Determine to realize happiness from whatever you undertake. Determine to fill your work with magnetism and joy.

When you take this stand you league your mind with all the success forces in the universe. Just so soon as you cease waiting upon conditions and declare your rights as ruler you summon these forces to work with you and for you in every endeavor.

Be glad and complain no longer of handicaps, of moods, of discouragements. Let go of your fears, let go of your uncertainty, your doubt, your unfaith. Success is for you if you are for success. Happiness is with you if you are with happiness. Greet the day with a glad hand.

What are you putting into the day? Ask yourself the question. Whatever you put into it you will get from it.

Substitute for Ice Water.

For those who believe that ice water is unhealthy the "olla" of the Latin countries and Mexico is earnestly recommended in this hot weather. The "olla"—the Mexicans pronounce it "olya"—is a porous earthen jar. Its pores are continually sweating little beads of water, which, by the principle of evaporation, keep the liquid within at a cool temperature, half-way between that of hydrant water and that of ice water.—New York Sun.

THE STATEHOOD QUESTION.

The NEWS contains an article this week from an advocate of single statehood. While the writer depicts a bright future for New Mexico and portrays the beauty of a great state, yet he does not seem to realize that we are "up against it," and no chance to remedy the already bad conditions under which we labor, for the Republican congress will give us nothing but the joint article.

We publish this communication for the reason that we like to give every side its say, and with the hope of arousing an interest in the subject, and perhaps induce a discussion that will be productive of good results. Our position is well known on statehood, and we feel it unnecessary at this time to reply to the article in question.

However, the columns of the NEWS are open to the discussion of this subject, and we invite an open discussion from all parties.

There seems to be little doubt but that congress will pass some kind of a statehood measure at the coming session, and that the measure will be Joint Statehood and no other, it behooves the people to make themselves perfectly familiar with the subject. Therefore, we would like to hear from others on the subject.

There is considerable talk of Carrizozo becoming a division point on the El Paso & Southwestern, and from all indications there seems to be some foundation for the report. Hail the day when such a result takes place, for it will mean the opening up of that section, and prove a source of great benefit to the entire county.

The NEWS is in receipt of a complimentary to the Roswell Fair, which meets in the famous Pecos Valley city on the 10-13, 1905. Roswell does not usually do things by halves, and we have no reason to believe that the coming one will be an exception to the rule

English Characteristics Gone

"It may be doubted," says the London Saturday Review, "Whether the Americans would quite care to be spoken of as British colonists. To be sure, America was once a British colony, and then certain of our ancestors took it away from others of our ancestors. So much the histories record; but none of them, to my knowledge, refers to the fact that those of our ancestors who took the side of the mother country have been amply avenged. For since the great Declaration of Independence those who ratted have been despoiled by a mighty host of Germans, French, Poles, Dutch, and Russians; and what was once a solid English and English-speaking country has become a conglomeration of hybrids who speak a snuffle and a snuffle and a gargle which is certainly not the English tongue. Such names as Roosevelt, Carl, Schmidt, Steinweg, etc., have no peculiarly English sound." Quite true; and the bearers of such names have no peculiarly English characteristics, thank God!—Harper's Weekly.

REFUND BONDED DEBT

Twenty-three Thousand Dollars of 6's Refunded at 5 per cent; a Saving to the Tax-payers of $900 per annum.

$17,000 OF 6's REMAIN UNPAID.

The Board of County Commissioners, at their regular session this week, refunded $23,000 6 per cent bonds into 20 year 5 per cent bonds, thereby effecting a saving to the tax-payers of the county of 1 per cent interest for a period of 20 years.

These 6 per cent bonds were by their terms payable in ten annual installments, which would have largely increased the tax levy to a burdensome extent.

The county still has outstanding $17,000 6 per cent bonds which can be paid from time to time as the interest fund permits.

If the present tax levy be not raised, but continues as it now is, the county will be able to pay $900 each year on the principal of the debt, without any additional levy to meet the payment of said bonds when they fall due; and when the new 5 per cent bonds become payable the old $17,000 6 per cent bonds will be entirely paid.

The board is to be congratulated upon their promptness in taking advantage of this opportunity. The deal will relieve the county of the necessity of making a heavy levy to meet these bonds and make their redemption come in such a way as not to be felt by the taxpayers.

Commissioners Meeting.

The Board of County Commissioners met in regular session this week, and transacted considerable business before adjourning. The bills of the last quarter remained unpaid, and all of the present quarter just passed had accumulated, thus creating quite a large sum to be dealt with. And the difficulty was that there was only money enough in the general county fund to pay 10 per cent of the indebtedness. So the only thing for the Board to do was to propose, which was done. However, many of the county's creditors will no doubt refuse to take the per cent offered, and will await developments, hoping and believing that some definite arrangement may be made whereby these accounts will be paid. In fact propositions are already on foot to settle the matter at the January meeting of the Board.

Youthful Depredators.

Two horses, each wearing saddles, disappeared last Saturday night from the rack where they were tied at the school house. It was at first thought that they had broken loose, but this belief was dissipated when no trace of them could be found the next day coupled with the further fact that two boys disappeared the same night. It was afterwards reported that these boys and horses were seen early Sunday morning, going through White Oaks.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private ills, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise women more wisely than the local physician.

Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Ia. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female trouble and would daily have fainting spells, backache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

READY FOR THE THIEF.

Famous Sprinter Happened to Be in Condition for Chase.

Arthur Duffy the sprinter, who carried off many racing honors here and abroad, once told a friend of an amusing experience in New Haven, where he had gone to participate in intercollegiate athletic events.

The evening following the close of the meet Duffy was in a hotel demonstrating to his friends the best kind of clothes to don for a race. To do this better, he had stripped and put on his new trunks and running shoes. Just as he had done so, a commotion was heard in the corridor outside Duffy's door, and there were cries of "Thief! Stop thief!" It should be added that this occurred at about one in the morning, for Duffy and his friends had been to a theater and had supped afterward.

As soon as he heard the words, Duffy threw open his door and dashed out, in time to see a man darting down the stairway. He made after the man and after a sprint of half a block overtook him. As Duffy grabbed the culprit by the collar the latter wheeled as if to fight, but when he observed the trunks and the running shoes his jaw dropped and he shook his head.

"I give up, old man," said he despondently. "When dese hotel people gets to keeping a man ready in runnin' costume to chase a man at one in the mornin', they're too much for me!"

The Moralizing Person Sighed again and shook his head, And the Cobbler kept on talking: "Why, it's plain as day," he said, "You kin put yer plant uv bilers Jist belcw the mill an' git A j'int er two uv pipin' To reach right up to it;

"Then chuck in slabs and shavin's, And set the pile afire, An' fore you know it, mister, You've got that steam up higher Than Person Trimble's steeple; Then 'turn yer throttle, and That mill will git a move on, And grind to heat the band." Prince Yoe and Women.

Prince Yoe, of Korea, was talking at Atlantic City about the outrageous bathing dresses that young women wear at Ostend and Trouville.

"But a mother, a young mother," said Prince Yoe, "would never wear a bathing dress of that kind out of respect for her children. As I look at the modest costumes of the women bathers here I would think they were all mothers were not some of them too young."

The Prince smiled. Then he resumed:

"It is a fact that little children have an unusual influence on young mothers. I heard the other day of a mother who came downstairs in a very décolleté gown and then went upstairs and took it off again. Why? Because her little son when he saw her in it said, ashamed: 'Oh, I'm going to write and tell papa.'"

Colorado Day—Lewis & Clark Exposition, Portland, August 22, 1905.

The largest and most important excursion from Colorado to the Portland fair this year will be that of August 19th, to be run under the auspices of the Colorado Board of Managers for the Lewis & Clark Exposition, and the Colorado State Commercial Association. The exposition management has set aside Tuesday, August 22d, as Colorado Day, and Governor McDonald and the Colorado Board of Managers are planning to make the day one of the most noteworthy during the life of the exposition.

Plans for the program at Portland, though as yet incomplete, include a great mass meeting at the Temple of Music on the afternoon of Colorado Day, with addresses by Governor Chamberlain of Oregon, the mayor of Portland, Governor McDonald, President Goods of the Lewis & Clark Exposition, and other prominent speakers from this and other states. In the evening there will be a banquet or a ball or possibly both, and on the following day an excursion to points on Puget Sound.

The official Colorado train will leave Denver at 9 a. m. August 19th, over the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. It will carry Governor McDonald and his staff and the Colorado visitors to Portland on account of the state's celebration there, and it will also be the official train for the Colorado delegates to the National Irrigation Congress, which holds its thirteenth annual session in Portland, August 22-24.

Arriving in Salt Lake City on the morning of August 20th, the train will lay over there until 8 p. m. A royal day's entertainment is being planned by the Utah Commercial Club and the citizens of Salt Lake City. The train will reach Portland early Tuesday morning.

All the details of the trip and sleeper reservations may be obtained from the secretary of the Colorado State Commercial Association, 707 Eighteenth street, Denver, or A. McFarland, C. T. A., Denver, J. M. Ellison, general agent, Colorado Springs, H. F. Krueger, general agent, Pueblo, or any Denver & Rio Grande agent.

To the housewife who has not yet become acquainted with the new things of everyday use in the market and who is reasonably satisfied with the old, we would suggest that a trial of Defiance Cold Water Starch be made at once. Not alone because it is guaranteed by the manufacturers to be superior to any other brand, but because each 10c package contains 16 ozs., while all the other kinds contain but 12 ozs. It is safe to say that the lady who once uses Defiance Starch will use no other. Quality and quantity must win.

SAILORS IN MUTINY

BRITISH TARS HAVE TWICE RISEN IN REVOLT.

Hard Conditions of Service and Rigorous Discipline Responsible for Disturbances That Threw the Island Empire Into a Panic.

The mutiny on the Russian warship Kniaz Potemkin is paralleled by two mutinies that occurred in the British navy in the year 1797. It was a period of great gloom in England, of debt and of danger to the nation. For a long time discontent had been growing among the crews. The dearth of sailors had forced the authorities to impress men to such an extent that in many places it was unsafe to be out after nightfall, lest the "press gang" might be prowling around. Discipline was severe and the food wretched. The pay was miserably small, and had not been augmented since the time of Charles II., though the prices of commodities had vastly increased. On April 15 Lord Bridport, commanding the channel fleet at Spithead, ordered his flagship to weigh anchor. The order was disobeyed, the crew instead giving three cheers, which were echoed from every other ship. The red flag of mutiny was run up and the officers were secured, though the most scrupulous attention was paid them, none being harmed and the most obnoxious only sent ashore. Petitions setting forth the grievances were at once dispatched to the house of commons and the admiralty. The board of admiralty hastened to Portsmouth and terms were submitted. By the end of April the differences were adjusted and the mutiny was over.

Less than a month thereafter, however, May 22, a much more serious mutiny broke out at the Nore, in the mouth of the Thames. This mutiny was probably due to the spread of revolutionary doctrines. The ships at the Nore formed part of Admiral Duncan's command, the admiral himself with the remainder being then engaged watching the Dutch fleet off the coast of Holland. These, however, joined the mutineers, too, on the 6th of June and the admiral was left with his flagship and two frigates. At the head of the mutinous fleet was a seaman of the name of Parker, who assumed the title of president of the floating republic, and under his command the vessels were drawn up in line of battle across the Thames, effectually stopping all commerce.

London was panic-stricken, but the government at once faced the danger. The buoys at the mouth of the Thames were removed. Sheerness, which was menaced with bombardment, such as Odessa was threatened by the Kniaz Potemkin, was garrisoned with 4,000 men. Tilbury fort was armed with 100 heavy cannon and boats sunk to bar the harbor. An act was passed declaring the punishment of death on all who held communication with the mutineers, while at the same time the hopeless nature of the struggle was represented to the rebellious sailors.

As a result the men were not long in coming to their senses. One by one the ships surrendered. The leaders were hanged, but some escaped, while others were afterward pardoned.

Preacher Too Strenuous.

Rev. Thomas McLeod, a Brooklyn clergyman, in a sermon in the Congregational church, North Adams, recently, rounded out a statement by saying: "You can put that in your pipe and smoke it." A woman who was up in front rose and, in tones audible all over the church, said: "Sir, we are not accustomed to such language in this pulpit. Such words are more fitting for the race track than the house of God." Mr. McLeod paused for a moment, and then retorted mildly: "I have no objection to women speaking in meeting." Whereupon the incident closed and the doctrine continued his sermon.

Sound as a Dollar.

Monticello, Minn., Aug. 7th.—Mr. J. W. Moore of this place stands as a living proof of the fact that Bright's Disease, even in the last stages, may be perfectly and permanently cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Moore says: "In 1898 three reputable physicians after a careful examination told me that I would die with Bright's Disease inside of a year. My feet and ankles and legs were badly swollen; I could hardly stand on my feet and had given up all hopes of getting cured when a traveling salesman told me that he himself had been cured of Bright's Disease two years before.

"He said he had taken to his bed and expected to die with it, but that he had been cured by a remedy called Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I commenced taking them at once and I am thankful to say that they saved my life. After a short treatment I was completely restored to good health and I am now as sound as a dollar."
