THE PIANO

is the visible sign of culture in every genteel household. A fine instrument bespeaks eloquently the musical feeling, the artistic appreciation of the family, and lends a certain distinction to its environment however simple. Similarly is it true that an inferior piano cheapens the effect of the richest surroundings and hints of some stain on the owner's escutcheon of taste.

Only Partially Successful.

The news reached Capitan this week of a daring attempt at assassination, the deed occurring last week, in Bernado Gap, about five miles north of Nogal.

Leo Oswald, accompanied by a small son, left Nogal to spend the night at his ranch in the Gap. The report is that he had been warned that his house would be attacked, and when he reached his place late in the evening, he made a careful examination to ascertain if any one was near. He failed to find any evidences of danger, and, with his little boy, retired for the night. Awakening about 11 or 12 o'clock, he felt uneasy, and getting up got a scent of burning fuse. He immediately returned to the bed, grabbed his boy and ran from the building. As he was running he saw two or three persons, or objects he took for such, and began firing. His fire was returned, but so far as known, no one was hurt.

While this was going on the charge of dynamite exploded, and all the rear end of the building was demolished.

J. J. Hicks and Robt. Leslie, Jr., have been arrested, charged with the crime, the arrests having been made by Territorial Ranger W. E. Dudley and Constable Lum Byfield. The accused gave a bond for their appearance tomorrow at Nogal, at which time a preliminary hearing will be given.

Talmadges Not Guilty.

Roswell, N.M., April 28.—The trials of C. L. Talmadge and brothers, of Chicago, upon indictments charging them with having committed land frauds, which have been going on in the United States district court for ten days, closed this forenoon with the verdict of "not guilty" in all the cases tried. The jury was out about twenty minutes and brought in the above verdict. The cases attracted a great deal of attention on account of the prominence of the defendants and were hotly contested by both the United States attorney and by the attorneys for defendants.

Cattle are looking well, and the calf crop this year will be the heaviest since 1899. And prices are good, too; all of which the cowman can stand smilingly.

Hay Measurement.

The question is often asked, "What is the standard rule for measuring hay in stack?" In answer to this question the News publishes the following, which was adopted by the New Mexico legislature, 1901 session, Chapter XXXIV; and vouches for its legality though not its correctness, as that is questioned:

Section 1. The following rule and method of measuring loose hay in the stack, and specifying the cubical contents of a ton of loose hay, is hereby established.

Sec. 2. measure the stack for length, width, and the "over," to get the "over," throw a tape line over the stack at an average place, from ground to ground, drawing it tightly.

Multiply result of division by the length, for approximate cubical contents of stack.

To reduce to tons, for hay that has stood in stack less than 20 days, divide cubical contents by 512, for more than 20 and less than 60 days divide cubical contents by 423, for more than 60 days divide cubical contents by 380.

Example: Stack measures 17 feet wide, 58 feet long, and 36 feet over. Stack has stood 15 days.

Multiply 17 by 36, equals 612. Divide 612 by 4, equals 153.

Multiply 153 by length, 58, equals 8874, which gives the cubical contents in feet. Divide 8874 by 512, equals 17 3-10 tons in stack.

The Capitan meat market has changed hands, W. H. Johnson succeeding W. M. Reily.

Angus Items.

The Angus people will have a longer term of school this year than any other district in the county. Last Friday Prof. Harper closed a four months' term of private school with an enrollment of fifty-five scholars, and last Monday began a four months' term of public school with an enrollment of about forty-five.

Mr. Fred Pfingsten is contemplating the construction of a skating rink at Angus.

Mr. P. F. Griffith came in from Three Rivers this week and is arranging to move his family to Tularosa.

Mr. Rich. Hust was over the first of the week from Nogal and transacted some business on the Bonito.

Roy Haney, who has been quite ill with a rising in his head, is much better.

Mr. J. G. Riggle came over last Friday evening for a short visit with his family. Mr. Riggle expects to leave his family here this summer to get the benefit of the public school.

Mrs. M. J. Reynolds visited her old home on Gavaland this week, and reports the range to be improving very rapidly.

Mrs. Stella Griffith started for Tularosa last Wednesday, where she will make her home while Mr. Griffith is working on the range.

Baseballists from the surrounding country were in town Saturday, and will be on hand tomorrow to meet the Lincoln team on the local diamond, provided the latter comes up.

HERITAGE OF CIVIL WAR.

Thousands of Soldiers Contracted Chronic Kidney Trouble While in the Service.

The experience of Capt. John L. Ely, of Co. E, 17th Ohio, now living at 500 East Second street, Newton, Kansas, will interest the thousands of veterans who came back from the Civil War suffering tortures with kidney complaint. Capt. Ely says: "I contracted kidney trouble during the civil war, and the occasional attacks finally developed into a chronic case. At one time I had to use a crutch and cane to get about. My back was lame and weak, and besides the aching, there was a distressing retention of the kidney secretions. I was in a bad way when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills in 1901, but the remedy cured me and I have been well ever since."

To Harness Victoria Falls.

Consul General Washington of Cape Town thinks that South Africa is on the eve of introducing vast changes in its industrial life. He looks for the transmission of electrical power that is to be generated by the mighty rivers of the interior. The question of the development and transmission of electrical power from the Victoria Falls, the consul general says, is to be considered by a committee of experts. Two engineering specialists to the Victoria company are inspecting water power installations in European countries with a view to their application to Rhodesia. America's supremacy in the electrical field should secure the orders for machinery and supplies that will be needed to develop this vast water power.

An electrical engineer from New York has been visiting Europe in connection with the project of supplying electrical power to the Rand from the Victoria Falls. He and the highest European authorities whom the chartered company consulted in the matter were unanimous that the scheme was not only possible, but was payable. The experts regarded the climate of South Africa as the most suitable in the world for the transmission of power, because, apart from its dryness, there is no ice or snow to interfere with the working of the plant. The distance over which transmission would have to be made presents, they declare, absolutely no difficulty.

"I don't see how you got dyspepsia at that French restaurant. I hear the cooking there is splendid." "Maybe it is, but the only dishes whose names I'm able to pronounce seem to be indigestible."

THE EDITOR.

Explains How to Keep Up Mental and Physical Vigor.

A New Jersey editor writes: "A long indulgence in improper food brought on a condition of nervous dyspepsia, nearly three years ago, so severe that I had to quit work entirely. I put myself on a strict regimen of Grape-Nuts food, with plenty of outdoor exercise and in a few months found my stomach so far restored that the process of digestion gave me pleasure instead of distress.

"It also built up my strength so that I was able to resume my business, which is onerous, as I not only edit my paper but also do a great deal of 'outside' writing.

"I find that the Grape-Nuts diet enables me to write with greater vigor than ever before, and without the feeling of brain fag with which I used to be troubled. As to bodily vigor—I can and do walk miles every day without fatigue—a few squares used to weary me before I began to live on Grape-Nuts!" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"MEAN THING" MADE APOLOGY.

And Still It is Doubtful if Telephone Girl is Satisfied.

She has bright eyes, rosy cheeks, and an awful estimate of the proper confines of propriety. It is an invariable rule of hers to observe that subtle barrier of modesty which all well ordered young women should observe, and, better still, she prides herself on making the sterner sex observe this barrier in all its invisible but nice distinctions.

Then how this incident must have shocked her.

Being a telephone girl, it is her obnoxious duty to hold converse with the "mean things" of the world—otherwise known as men. The other afternoon a subscriber called for a certain number in Germantown.

"What number did you say?" she cooed.

"Germantown 33333-z, quick."

"I can't understand; please repeat it."

"Blank, blankety, blank, x y z!"

"Well, if you don't say what number you want I can't give it to you. I'm not going to fool here all day."

"Now, keep your shirt on, little girl; keep your shirt on—"

But the subscriber got no further; she slammed up her cam, rushed to the overseer with flaming cheeks, and reported the subscriber. The company rightly said that subscribers had no right to comment on how its employes should treat their wearing apparel, and demanded that the subscriber apologize or lose his 'phone. The subscriber was willing. He called up the girl with the bright eyes and said:

"Are you the young lady whom I just told to keep her shirt on?"

"Yes," was the curt rejoinder.

"Well, possibly I was a little hasty. It may be warm in your office, so now you may take it off."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Must Have Been a Sight.

A magazine editor was sadly praising William Sharp, recently deceased in Sicily, who achieved no little fame as a poet under the pen name of Fiona McLeod.

"Sharp," he said, "wrote melancholy, dreamy things, but he was personally a cheery, vigorous soul. He was one day praising the real literary talent that humble, uneducated people often show in conversation.

"He said that in Londonderry one afternoon he was seated in a barber shop when a farmer entered to get his hair cut. The farmer's locks had an odd, ragged look and the barber, after regarding them scornfully, said:

"Who cut your hair last, old man?"

"My wife," the farmer answered with an awkward smile.

"The barber snorted. 'What did she do it with?' he asked. 'A knife and fork?'"

Memories.

When you are old, and I am passed away—
Passed, and your face, your golden face, is gray—
I think whatever the end, this dream of mine,
Comforting you, a friendly star will shine
Down the dim slope where still you stumble and stray.

So may it be, that no dead Yesterday,
No sad-eyed ghost, but generous and gay,
May serve your memories like almighty wine,
When you are old.

Dear Heart, it shall be so. Under the sway
Of death the past's enormous disarray
Lies hushed and dark. Yet though there come no sign,
Live on well pleased; immortal and divine
Love shall still tend you, as God's angels may,
When you are old.

—W. E. Henley.

League for Upright Writing.

In Paris a "League for Upright Writing" has been formed, and it takes a phrase from Georges Sand as its motto: "Upright writing on horizontal paper with the body held straight." The league crusades against the English style of writing slanting and angular, which, it says, is no longer really taught in England or America. Slanting writing is said to cause short sight, "scholiosis," and many other optical troubles.

A Horse's Hands and Feet.

The horse never puts his heel on the ground, nor even the ball of his foot. He stands up on the very tips of his toes, and this is, in part, the reason why he can trot so fast. Dobbin's heels are half way up his hind legs, and what we call his knees are really his wrists. The part corresponding to the upper arm is short and is so embedded in the muscles of the shoulder that the elbow comes next the body, but the horse has only one digit to each limb, and the wrist bones are comparatively small. The so-called ankle, then, is the knuckle, where the digit joins the hand or the foot, and the "foot" is only a single thick finger or toe, with a great nail for a hoof. The lower half of the horse's foreleg is really a gigantic hand, with only the middle finger and a piece out of the middle of the palm, while the corresponding part of his hind leg is a big single toed foot.—St. Nicholas.

Rational Temperance Movement.

During the past summer and winter the officials of the Baden railroads inaugurated the practice of serving hot coffee to their employes at the expense of the management of the railroads, or at the expense of the government. The experiment has been attended with gratifying results. The consumption of alcoholic drinks has materially decreased as a result of the practice, and the efficiency of the workmen has increased.

RESTORE STRENGTH

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Actually Make New Blood and Good Health Follows.

The evil effects that follow many diseases—particularly the grip and the wasting fevers, such as typhoid and malaria, are caused by the bad condition in which these diseases leave the blood. As a result, the flesh continues to fall away, the sufferer grows nervous and irritable, and even slight exertion causes shortness of breath. These are dangerous symptoms and indicate that the system is in a state that invites pneumonia, bronchitis or even consumption. What is needed is a new supply of rich, red blood to carry health and strength to every part of the body.

"I was all run down from the effects of the grip," says Mrs. Amelia Hall, of No. 5 High street, Norwich Conn., "and could not seem to get strength to walk; could not eat a full meal, my stomach was so weak, and I was so nervous that I could not sleep. I could only stay in bed a few minutes at a time, either night or day. The least little thing would startle me. I had difficulty in breathing and had frequent fainting spells.

"My general health was completely wrecked and I had neuralgic and rheumatic pains, dyspepsia, constipation, and female weakness. My physician attended me for the grip and again for the condition that it left me in, but I got no strength from the tonics he prescribed. In fact, nothing helped me until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they cured me.

"I grew stronger and gained flesh from the time I began taking them. I am satisfied that the pills are all that I claimed for them and I shall do all I can to make their good qualities known."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure nervous disorders of every kind, check wasting diseases and build up strength. For booklet, address the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Habit-forming Medicines

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great interest in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now of known composition. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

WORKING THE OATMEAL DODGE.

Shrewd Scheme by Which Thieves Victimized Grocer.

"It reminds me of the oatmeal dodge," said John M. Collins, Chicago's chief of police.

He was speaking of an ingenious swindle that had been worked successfully on a dentist.

"The oatmeal dodge," he continued, "was worked on a grocer in the suburbs.

"A man entered the shop and engaged the grocer in conversation. While they talked another man came in.

"Do you sell oatmeal?" the newcomer asked.

"Yes, sir," said the grocer, rubbing his hands. "The very best. How much—"

"But the man interrupted.

"I just wanted to know," he said. "Good-day." And he walked out.

"The grocer, looking a little disappointed, resumed his conversation with the stranger. In a few minutes a second man appeared.

"Do you sell oatmeal?" he asked.

"Yes," the grocer answered.

"Thank you. Good-day."

"And this man also disappeared.

"Well, what the deuce?" exclaimed the grocer. "But, as we were saying, he resumed, and the interrupted conversation went briskly on.

"Soon a third man entered the shop He said:

"Do you sell oatmeal?"

"Yes," the grocer snapped.

"Thank you. Good-day."

"And this man departed—on a run. For the grocer, thoroughly enraged at last, had seized a club and rushed upon him. He had, however, a clear pair of heels. The grocer was unable to overtake him. So, after a chase of 100 yards or so, he returned breathless.

"He found the first man gone. The shop was empty. So was the till.

"Once more the oatmeal dodge had succeeded."

Where He Lacked Proficiency.

The young men were playing "soccer." Their naked knees were red and chapped in the cold wind. Now and then, when one fell on the frozen field, he rose and caressed a bare leg from which oozed gouty red blood.

"Dribble the ball Dribble the ball!" howled a coach.

Walter Camp laughed.

"I once saw this game played on a winter day in Glasgow," he said. "How gray and cold it was. Now and then a handful of snow fell through the still air.

"Near me sat an old man with a pocket pistol. Every little while he would shiver and uncock the pistol and take a comfortable drink.

"A younger man regarded him enviously. The ninth or tenth time the old man put the pistol to his lips the other said:

"Man, ye're a grand dribbler, but ye're a poor hand at the passin'."

Embroidery Work for Men.

Of white brocaded satin, embroidered with gold, the vestment measured about three feet by five.

"It is $500," the dealer said. "It is 200 years old."

He touched the heavy and bright embroidery.

"This gold work," he said, "is as fresh as though new, and it will always stay fresh, for it is worked with Holland gold thread—a thread of silver, gold plated, such as only the Dutch can make.

"With these stiff threads of silver plated with gold only strong men can embroider. The task is beyond the strength of women. All good ecclesiastical embroidery is men's work."

Imperfect Casting Causes Death.

The collapse of the roof of the Charing Cross railway station, London, was caused by a "pocket" formed in the casting of one of the iron tie rods. The weight of a staging on which carpenters were working broke it. There was no way of detecting the fault, experts said at the inquest.

"Two or three times a year I am troubled with my throat, a kind of raw feeling, turning to bronchitis. I have had the services of my physician in each case. Chronic Catarrh of Throat and Lungs

Mrs. Virginia Caviana, room 32, Cambridge Block, Portland, Ore., writes:

"I was a sufferer with catarrh of the throat and lungs for a long time before Peruna was recommended to me. I gave it a trial, although I thought at the time it would be just like other medicines and do me no good. I was pleased to find that my improvement began in less than two weeks and continued until I was entirely well. I gained nearly 15 pounds, have a splendid appetite and am grateful for what your medicine has done for me."

Prophet Elijah met a cold reception when he reentered Zion City after a prolonged absence. Even his wife and son had made common cause with his enemies, yet, by the beard of the prophet, he has recovered their lost affections.

The fruit, which has withstood some rather severe cold, is, in most part, yet safe. A few peaches and apricots have been nipped, and possibly other fruit damaged to a small extent, yet if all matures that is now on the trees a fairly good crop is assured.

The generosity displayed by the people of this country, in extending aid to San Francisco sufferers, dispels the idea that the people have grown sordidly selfish. It requires a disaster like the one at San Francisco to bring out the better qualities of the American people.

Congress has a proposition before it to allow building material to be imported free of duty for the purpose of rebuilding San Francisco. Only another admission that the tariff is a tax and that the consumer, to which class all Americans belong, pays it and not the foreigner.

Aside from the individual, municipal and national contributions to relief of the sufferers of the Pacific coast, the secret societies of the United States have contributed, or will contribute, about $2,000,000. The aggregate relief will likely be the largest in the history of the world.

The "stand-patters" are in the middle of a very bad fix. They are afraid to oppose the proposition to admit building material free of duty to California sufferers, for a failure to do so would incur the wrath of the people; and they fear equally as much the proposition from the fact that it opens up the question and they can't tell where the revision will stop. The "stand-patter" is in a hard row of stumps, and receives but little sympathy from the common people.

The people of San Francisco have begun the task of rebuilding the destroyed city. The railroads gave free transportation and so many took advantage of the opportunity to leave the city that a scarcity of labor is sure to follow.

BABY'S TORTURING HUMOR.

Ears Looked as if They Would Drop Off—Face Mass of Sores—Cured by Cuticura in Two Weeks for 75c.

"I feel it my duty to parents of other poor suffering babies to tell you what Cuticura has done for my little daughter. She broke out all over her body with a humor, and we used everything recommended, but without results. I called in three doctors, they all claimed they could help her, but she continued to grow worse. Her body was a mass of sores, and her little face was being eaten away; her ears looked as if they would drop off. Neighbors advised me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and before I had used half of the cake of Soap and box of Ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's face and body were as clear as a new-born babe's. I would not be without it again if it cost five dollars, instead of seventy-five cents. Mrs. George J. Steese, 701 Colburn St., Akron, Ohio."

CAPITOL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY PAYS THE FULL POLICY HELD BY ROBERT S. BRANNEN ON THE DAY AFTER HIS DEATH

The Capitol Life Insurance Co. OF COLORADO
No. 81
Denver, Colo., March 8th 1906
Pay to the order of Estate of Robert S. Brannen, deceased $10,000.00
Ten thousand Dollars
To the Denver National Bank
DENVER, COLORADO
P. J. Daly, President

Fac-simile of Check Issued by Capitol Life Insurance Company in the Payment of R. S. Brannen's Policy.

The above is an intensely interesting exhibit proving the promptness of the Capitol Life Insurance Company of Colorado in settling claims under its policies. It illustrates one of the many ways in which an enterprising western company, with characteristic western energy, does things while the others are thinking about doing them.

It is the very best way in which to practice life insurance, and to make it of the greatest value to the family—to pay the money when it will do the most good. No life insurance settlement should be delayed a single day by red tape methods, and the Capitol Life is determined that the beneficiaries under its policies shall never suffer one day's unnecessary delay.

Robert S. Brannen, of Denver was insured under Policy No. 353 issued by the Capitol Life Insurance Company of Colorado. He died of apoplexy on March 7, 1906. Having positive evidence of identity and the fact of his death, the company immediately charged the loss to its death claim account. Check, as reproduced above, was drawn, signed, and certified on the following day, March 8, 1906, ready to be handed over to the administrator of the estate. Mr. Brannen was one of the best known fire underwriters in the United States, having organized the National Association of Local Underwriters. He was a genial, whole-souled gentleman, and much beloved by all those who knew him in this community.

SHOULD A HORSE BE CLIPPED?

CLIPPING IN THE EARLY SPRING
RECOMMENDED BY LEADING VETERINARIANS.

All Thinking Men Readily Recognize
Its Advantages.

"A horse is a valuable asset, and should receive the best care possible. He should be well fed, comfortably stabled, carefully groomed and clipped in the early spring. If he receives these attentions he will work well and improve in value. A horse lives under artificial conditions. In his wild state he required none of these attentions, for he was able to look out for himself. The domesticated animal, being worked under conditions that are in themselves artificial, must be kept in condition for such work.

The clipping of a horse in the early spring is now conceded by all the leading veterinarians to be as essential to a horse's well being as shoeing him or giving him a comfortable bed to lie on. Farmers in England and France have been clipping their horses for many years, and American farmers are not slow to realize its advantages. A clipped horse dries out rapidly after a hard day's work, and will rest comfortably and be refreshed for the work the following day. An unclipped horse is liable to catch the heaves, pneumonia and all sorts of colds, rheumatism, etc. More especially is this so in the early spring, when his hair is long and he is "soft." If worked hard he will perspire freely and the moisture will be held by his long hair, and the food that should go to nourish him will be used to replenish the heat that is being constantly taken from his body by the mass of cold wet hair. If clipped, the perspiration will evaporate almost as soon as secreted, and when put in the stable he rests comfortably and his food does him good.

Some years ago a Buffalo street car company tested the value of clipping in the following manner: They owned 500 horses, and 250 of these were clipped early in the spring and 250 were not clipped. A careful record was kept of results, and it was found that of the 250 unclipped horses 153 were afflicted with coughs and pneumonia, while of the 250 clipped not one case of sickness was reported.

A man would not expect to enjoy very good health if he did hard manual work clothed with heavy underwear, a heavy suit and a fur overcoat, and after perspiring freely, as he naturally would, go to sleep without removing same. It is just as ridiculous to expect a horse to be in perfect health if worked under the same conditions.

If you would get the best returns from your investment in your horse, treat him right, and be sure and clip him in the early spring. A first-class horse-clipping machine can be bought at almost any hardware store for less than $7.00.—Horse Review, Dec. 5th, 1905.

JUST MATTER OF PREFERENCE.

Small Man Doubtless Had Reason for His Choice.

The Bill club of Missouri is composed of "good fellows of the name of Bill." Its members include some of the leading men of the state.

At the Bill club's last meeting in Excelsior Springs the well-known detective, Hilary K. Adair, was a guest of honor.

Mr. Adair, in responding to a toast, talked about the Sherlock Holmes spirit.

"This spirit," he said, "reveals to its fortunate possessors startling truths in the most prosaic happenings. Every incident of life, to a true Sherlock, is full of wonderful significance—as full of wonderful significance as an incident that I witnessed in a grocery the other morning.

"This incident, which revealed to me a whole history of marital unhappiness, opened with the entrance of a little and slender man with a weak voice.

"A broom, please," he said. "I wish to purchase a broom."

"The grocer produced a 40-cent broom and praised it highly.

"One strong point about this broom," he said, "is the handle. It is made of tough, well-seasoned hickory. You could knock a man down with it and not break it."

"The other bit his lip.

"I think," he said, "that I prefer—a broom with a fragile handle, please."

So Lonesome Now.

Over t' Henry Murray's, why,
They always had lots an' lots o' pie,
An' toy automobiles an' v'losipedes
An' walkin' toys, like a fellow reads
About sometimes, but he seldom sees.
An' swings out under th' big oak trees,
An' childern a-playin' on every bough—
But my! It is terrible lonesome now.

Over t' Henry Murray's, why,
His mother an' father 'st seemed t' try
An' see if they couldn't get some new toys

For Henry an' all of us other boys
'At played with him; an' she used t' make
Th' dandiest currant an' raisin cake,
An' boys 'st flocked there like flies, somehow—
But my! It is terrible lonesome now.

Over t' Henry Murray's, why,
His mother 'ud see you goin' by An' ast you why didn't you come an' play
With Henry an' all of his toys, some day,
An' every Christmas she'd have a tree
With presents, th' finest you ever see,
An' nobody got forgot, somehow—
But my! It is terrible lonesome now.

An' over t' Henry Murray's, why,
We boys 'st look while we're goin' by,
An' see all his toys layin' there outside,
Once Big Bill Skinner broke down an' cried
An' says he don't care—it was 'st too bad,
'Cause Henry was all of th' boy they had,
An' th' swings 'st hang from th' big oak bough—
An' my! It is terrible lonesome now.

Humane Sentiment in Business.

It is not true that business is necessarily hardening. Kind and constant consideration is often displayed in it. If creditors are satisfied of the honesty and ability of a delinquent debtor he is usually treated with lenity. The relations between business men and their customers may be softened by lubrication of kindly sympathy. They do not necessarily produce any more hardening than results from the friction of life in other spheres. There is scarcely a considerable business concern which does not retain in its employment old servants who might be superseded by more efficient men, perhaps at less cost. Humane sentiment enters into business in many ways.—New York Sun.

Two Kinds of Man.

In a local paper, a few days ago, was a dispatch from Wyoming, telling how a rancher was spending $1,000 additional on a ditch, rather than disturb the grave of a dog that once saved his life, by leading him home through a blinding snowstorm.

By a strange coincidence, in the next column was a dispatch from Philadelphia, telling how a young man had raised some ready cash by selling his father's grave plot, in a cemetery.

Which of these men would you prefer to tie to?

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest-fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured and it became quite popular among them.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price, as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until today Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice—and there were thousands—received careful study, and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-won knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its originator passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. With woman assistants, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

Court convenes at Lincoln Monday, and the county seat will be crowded with jurors, witnesses, litigants and lawyers. The term will last the better part of three weeks.

The loco weed is causing considerable trouble to the stockmen of Lincoln county. The weed is worse this season than usual—probably the worst in the history of the county—and many horses have died, and many more ruined from eating it; and a loss in cattle will also result, mainly confined to this spring's calves.
