Space Reserved For The Expressing of the Opinions Of Our Readers

A REPUBLICAN SPEAKS AGAIN

To the Editor of the Outlook;
As promised in last weeks issue I will briefly refer to the remaining objections of the delegate from White Oaks and will endeavor to use as little of your valuable space as actually necessary.

In his comment on Article IV, Sec. 1, the gentleman objects to the Referendum under the new constitution. I will merely ask him to tell us what states at present having Referendum provisions in their constitutions provide for appropriation laws to be referred to the people? And I will also ask the gentleman if he has read Sec. 8, of Article IX which reads as follows: "No such law (referring to special appropriation laws) shall take effect until it shall have been submitted to the qualified electors of the state, and have received a majority of all the votes thereon at a general election," so much for the gentleman's troubles on that point.

Objection to Article II, Sec. 2, is certainly unique, as the gentleman asks the following question, Why have ALL THE RAILROADS sent private cars to Santa Fe and wined and dined the delegates? Mr. Chew must feel badly because he was not a delegate and missed the wining and dining. But will he mention a Railroad that sent a private car to Santa Fe and name one delegate who was wined and dined in any private car at any time during the convention?

He objects to Article VIII, Sec. 8, and misrepresents a little, a common disease with all anti-constitutionists, the inference one would draw from Mr. Chew's letter is that all Corporations for six years are exempt from taxation; if he will read the Article in question he will see that it reads as follows, "The legislature may exempt new railroads, new sugar factories, new smelters, reduction works and pumping plants for irrigation work for NOT MORE than six years after their establishment." Does not the acute legal mind of the gentleman grasp the difference and see that the matter is entirely in the hands of the Legislature WHO MAY exempt them six years. Would not the people of White Oaks be willing to see a railroad built to their coal deposits, and a reduction plant or smelter established at Robsart or Coyote, and would they not be willing to see them exempt from taxation for a few years to get these enterprises started, and in what way would such enterprises hurt the owner of a homestead?

His objection to Article XII, Sec. 2, is that it provides for the sale of some of our school lands donated under the enabling act, and he is in favor of leasing the land at 5cts an acre and holding it until it will be worth as much as the school lands of Minnesota. Inasmuch as the Enabling act provides that the land so donated cannot be sold for less than $3 per acre it is not at all probable that it will be grabbed up by speculators but that there will be lots of it left for many years to come. It hardly looks reasonable that any one would vote against Statehood on such immaterial points as these unless as we predicted in last weeks communication that the gentlemen who oppose Statehood out and out are only looking for some excuse to fight the Constitution. However, the great mass of the voters of New Mexico both Democratic and Republican without any 'axes to grind' will demonstrate by their votes on Saturday, January 21st that they are satisfied with the constitution and they will vote for Statehood by an overwhelming majority.

A REPUBLICAN.

BY HON. JOHN H. CANNING

To the Editor of the Outlook.
Dear Sir:
In last weeks issue of the Carrizozo News appears on the front page a reprint from a recent article published by the Santa Fe Eagle concerning exemptions in the Constitution, which article, to say the least, is very misleading and I believe is intended by the Eagle to create a very wrong impression on its readers.
The casual reader would infer from reading the above mentioned article that the present law exempting heads of families in the sum of $200 00 has been repealed by the Constitution, and forever prohibited. Statements like the following are certainly misleading. "The fact is that the Constitution does not exempt one penny." "When New Mexico becomes a state, it will be possible to exempt no one." "The poor man will have to pay taxes to the utmost penny on his property." "Then vote for it, if you want to pay taxes on an additional $200 00 every year as long as you live."

Now the average reader would naturally infer after reading this article, that when we become a state what has been in existence for a great number of years would be repealed and that the exemption now allowed the head of a family of $200 00 would be taken away.
Article XXII section 4 of the Constitution provides that:—All laws in force at the time of admission shall be and remain in force as the laws of the state
Article VIII section 2, provides that the Legislature may exempt from taxation, property of each head of a family to the amount of two hundred dollars.

Because the word "may" is used, the editor of the Eagle tries to draw the inference that the two hundred dollars exemption will be taken away forever, and that the poor man will have to pay taxes on every dollars worth of his property as soon as we become a state.
No such condition was intended on the part of the Constitution makers, and as the present law is, and will continue in force until repealed by the legislature, it is hardly possible that any legislature elected in New Mexico will attempt to deprive the poor man of this concession that has been willingly granted to him for the past thirty years or more. If Statehood will create more taxes, they will be met from other sources, such as taxes on the production of coal mines, and lumber mills, by income and inheritance taxes and not by cutting off the $200.00 exemption to a family. I will merely ask the editor of the "Eagle" if this was such an unjust measure, why it was that the 27 Democratic members of the Constitutional Convention did not protest when the section was before the Committee of the Whole. To my knowledge this section passed unanimously. It is only fair that we should interpret the Constitution in the spirit it was written and not attempt to place the wrong construction on such simple and fair sections as the above.

Moore. Mr. Hightower was elected, receiving 65 votes out of 108 votes cast. Jose Torres, running on the ticket with Mr. Hightower, was also elected over Newt Kemp, receiving 62 votes out of 111 votes cast for Constable.

THE SOCIAL WHIRL

Although it has been a week since the Carrizozo Whist Club entertained, Mesdames McDonald, Rolland and Ulrich as hostesses, at the residence of Mrs. Rolland, the weather then proving propitious for the pleasure which was the result, no meeting has taken place since, and a full report of the entertainment is herein given. Honoring Miss Frances McDonald and Mr. Francis Canning before their return to school after the holidays, the Whist Club on Friday last chronicled a most delightful evening, in spite of the party being impromptu and unexpected by the club members, the substitutes and the honorees. With only a days preparation, the hostesses managed to make the entertainment all that was desired, serving a two course supper to the players. Mrs. H. S. Fairbank won the first prize, a silver berry spoon; Mr. John Canning, the gentlemen first prize, a neckscarf; Mrs. Will Whittingham, the booby; and Mr. Holmes the corresponding men's prize.
Owing to the wind storms of Wednesday, the club did not meet with Mrs. Mudge as was announced.

The Subscription price of The Outlook is now $1.50 for the year. Old subscribers will be allowed until February 1 to renew at $1.00.

THE SOURCES of revenue that will be available to the state, but are not now open to the Territory, have been pointed out. It is clearly shown, that although there will be a moderate increase of expenses, though not reaching $100,000, caused by the state government, there will nevertheless be a reduction not only of the tax rate but the actual taxes paid by the average taxpayer. It is true that the Santa Fe Railway Company will have to pay $40,000 more taxes on its railroad from Albuquerque to the Arizona boundary but no one is grieving on that account. It is true, that county officials will have to surrender their fees, which in some cases are enormous but that is not a cause for the taxpayer to weep. It is true, that eight million acres which come to New Mexico through the enabling act, will eventually yield ten times one hundred thousand dollars, but that is not a burden upon the tax payer. It is also true, that the owners of large tracts of land will be compelled to pay as much per acre in taxes as the man who holds but a small plot but that is only right and just. All in all, there is no reason why a few years from now that taxation should be more than one-half what it is today upon the average taxpayer. Whatever it is, it dare not be above ten mills on the dollar for state purposes, which is less than it is today or than it has been for years.

YOU CITIZENS of New Mexico who have lived here for the past ten years have not forgotten the bitter opposition of a large majority of the eastern newspapers to our admission to the union; an opposition that remained unbroken up to a very short time ago.

You will recall how our ability to form a decent constitution was questioned and our citizenship sneered at.

You will recall that the "down east" representatives in congress persistently asserted that we could not possibly form a constitution fit to live under.

Our constitution has been formed

It has been read by the editors of a majority of the far eastern newspapers, great and small.

Without exception those editors who have read it have pronounced it a sane, strong, American fundamental law; good to live under and grow under.

What do you think of that?

Also a majority of the eastern congressmen who have read our constitution have declared it good and have expressed a willingness to approve it.

What do you think of that?

Doesn't it look like a favorable verdict from a pretty exacting jury?

*ARE YOU a republican, or a democrat?

If so forget it.

No time for politics now. We want to get into the United States. We are getting dopy from being too long in the same class with the Philippines.

If the ginger germ is going to do business, we must cut out this territory stunt.

New Mexico has had too much hot atmosphere, soothing syrup and other poor nourishment from Uncle Sam. What we want now is a Statehood Sandwich, buttered on both sides.

New Mexico can be a state this year if she wants to-if you want to.

If you do, vote for the constitution on January 21.—Albuquerque Morning Journal.

MR. CHEW has written another article in reply to A Republican which will appear next week.

WHITE OAKS MINING ACTIVITY

Santa Fe New Mexican. Judge John Y. Hewitt, of White Oaks, Lincoln county, one of the few Democratic members of the last legislative council, is in Santa Fe on business before the Supreme court. He says that it was zero when he left White Oaks on Monday but that he anticipates no serious suffering from the brief cold spell. On the famous Old Abe mine at present, one shift is working and twenty stamps are dropping in the mill. The owners also work a four foot coal vein, which in addition to supplying the mine also supplies domestic coal to White Oaks and Carrizozo. It is of an excellent quality and only its distance from the railroad, six miles, prevents its being worked on a large scale. Ten stamps are dropping at the North Homestake mine all the time. Development work is being done on other patented properties and also some assessment work. At Capitan, however, work has not yet been resumed on the coal mines although attempts have been made in that direction repeatedly during the past three years.

The Big Four-San Juan Oil and Development Company is the name of a strong company organized at Cortez.

There is much activity noticeable at the Gold Hammer group of claims situated on Donaldson mountain, Idaho Springs.

The Colorado bureau of mines, in its report on Ouray county, shows that the production of gold last year was $3,011,388.

The Blue Ridge and Senator mines at Dumont have been revived upon a firm financial basis and are operating quite largely.

The Dorit Mining, Milling, Tunnel and Transportation Company is an important development enterprise in the Chicago creek and Alps mountain, Idaho Springs district.

The Terrible mine is said to be one of the best properties in the Silver Plume country and the owners could be producing ore in ten days from the time of opening in the lower levels.

Thirty million dollars has been taken from the metal mines of Colorado during the past year. A far larger amount has been added to the value of the ore that remains in the ground.

The most extensively and perfectly developed mining property in the Clear Creek-Gilpin gold belt is the Old Town which has been near the head of the list of producers for many years.

Work was begun January 1st in grading a site for a hundred ton mill by the Ajax Company at Cripple Creek. The mill will use the Clancy process, cyanide-electric, a process that is new to Cripple Creek ores.

The Pickett group of four patented lode mining claims, situated up Trail creek in the Freeland district, was the scene recently of a most important discovery, a body of solid smelting ore having been uncovered that is eighteen inches wide. Assay tests that have been made show values of from $40 to $110 to the ton in gold, silver and copper.

Mr. W. F. Crawford, Idaho Springs, received returns recently on a car lot of ore from the Kinda mine on Bellevue mountain. The value of the ore was $35 per ton. A large body of ore has been opened in the stopes of the mine and steady shipments will now be maintained.

In running a drift on the Peterson vein, Ten Spot mine, Idaho Springs, for a length of 350 feet ore was followed for almost the entire distance, tests showing values of from $14 to $18 to the ton in gold, silver and lead. The ore is adaptable to concentration and providing milling facilities were at hand no doubt the product could be handled at a fair margin of profit.

Eureka mountain is one and one-half miles west of Empire and is traversed by many well known large mineral veins. The Missouri, Bergelin and Three Kings lode claims, the Charter Raton group of three claims, the Boston and Great Northern group of mine claims and the Breckenridge mines group. The Breckenridge vein is twelve feet wide and with values across the crevice of from $12 to $80 per ton.

AN OLD COLONIAL CAKE

Recipe for Yellow Loaf Said to Have Come From Family of Washington.

An old colonial recipe for yellow loaf cake, said to come originally from the family of George Washington, calls for one cupful of butter, two and a half cupfuls of granulated sugar, six eggs, a cupful of cream or rich milk, one even teaspoonful of soda, two of cream of tartar, four cupfuls of pastry flour and one cupful of seeded raisins. Cream the butter and sugar, then stir in the yolks of the eggs. Add the cream of tartar to the flour and sift them together several times. Add the soda to the milk and stir the mixture into the butter, sugar and yolks. Then beat the whole into the flour and cream of tartar. When smooth add the raisins and finally fold the whites of the eggs, whipped to a very stiff froth, through the batter. Do not stir the cake after the whites are added. Butter a large tube pan and fill it half full. After it has baked and become cold, ice it with a heavy snow white icing that will contrast prettily with the yellow of the cake. Citron sliced in thin strips may be used instead of raisins or in combinations with them.

This confection may be used as a birthday cake and is very attractive for the purpose.

TURPENTINE MOST USEFUL

All Sorts of Ways in Which It Can Be Used About the House.

Turpentine can be used in all sorts of ways. Here are some:

Spirits of turpentine will restore the brilliancy to patent leather. Bags and boots rubbed with a rag moistened with it look almost like new.

A few drops in boxes and cupboards will keep moths away.

If a few drops are added to starch, it will prevent the iron from sticking.

A flannel dipped in hot water sprinkled with turpentine and laid on the part affected will often relieve lumbago and rheumatism.

Turpentine mixed with beeswax makes a good floor polish.

A little added to the steeping water (a tablespoonful to a gallon) makes clothes beautifully white.

HANDY KITCHEN CABINET

Pie Crust.

Put one pint of pastry flour, a little salt and a level teaspoon of baking powder into the sieve and sift. Then add two heaping tablespoons of lard and chop up with the spoon into chunks about the size of a nutmeg. The lard should be cold enough to be firm and the spoon heaped pretty high. Then add water by the spoonful until the flour is all taken up. It should be stiff enough to stay in shape. I consider pie crust more wholesome with a little raising in it. Common causes of tough pie crust are the use of bread flour, too little shortening, too much water and too hot a fire. The heat should be about the same as for cake.

Hard Sauce.

Beat less than one-quarter of a pound of butter with seven or eight tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, adding by degrees one wineglass of sherry. It should be white and light. When serving pile on a plate and dust nutmeg over the top.

Cream Sponge.

Dissolve 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls of granulated gelatine into 2 tablespoonfuls of cold water. Beat 1 pint of cream until stiff, fold in 1/2 cup powdered sugar. Add the gelatine and beat a few minutes until well mixed. Flavor with a teaspoon of vanilla. Turn into a mold and let it get very cold.

Baked Apples With Nuts.

Core the apples and fill the cavities with one-fourth cup walnut meats cut in small pieces, with a little sugar, and bake in the oven.

Nut Bread.

Two cups graham flour, two cups bread flour, half cup sugar, one teaspoonful salt; sift together; add two cups sour milk, half cup molasses, one cup boiling water, one teaspoon soda, one cup walnut meats chopped fine; stir well; pour into two bread pans; let rise 20 minutes; bake in medium oven three-quarters of an hour.

Very Striking.

"Do you approve of corporal punishment?" "Well, there are some striking arguments for it."

Though Silver City already has three large sanatoriums, one of which is the largest in the United States, for the reception, care and treatment of tubercular patients, another institution of the same character has just been opened. This latter institution, which is known as the Africo-Tubercular Sanatorium, is devoted to the treatment of colored patients exclusively, and on this account it is probably the first of its kind to be established in this country.

 Benedict (seriously)—Neither. We live under a provisional government by the cook.

Young Age Pensions.
 Young-age pensions! Why not? Titles, honors, riches, pensions and most other good things are, as a rule, postponed to a period of life when the capacity for enjoying them has been blunted. Australia was one of the first countries to adopt old-age pensions, and now a Labor member of the commonwealth parliament proposes a complementary scheme of young-age pensions. He would start by pensioning the fourth child at birth. The fact that three had previously been born showed that the parents were doing their duty and deserving well of the state. The young-age pension would "reward industry and encourage the birth rate."—London Chronicle.

Life's Varied Interests.
 "The weather's rather bad, isn't it?" said the young woman.
 "Yes," replied the nonchalant youth.
 "Lucky thing it is. Helps conversation. It would be a deadly bore to go on forever saying 'it's a pleasant day.'"

The Cache.
 Knicker—We are told to do our shopping early.
 Bocker—I know it; my wife has already concealed a forty-nine-cent tie in the top bureau drawer.

GOT IT.
 Got Something Else, Too.

"I liked my coffee strong and I drank it strong," says a Pennsylvania woman, telling a good story, "and although I had headaches nearly every day I just would not believe there was any connection between the two. I had weak and heavy spells and palpitation of the heart, too, and although husband told me he thought it was the coffee that made me so poorly, and did not drink it himself for he said it did not agree with him, yet I loved my coffee and thought I just couldn't do without it."

"One day a friend called at my home—that was a year ago. I spoke about how well she was looking and she said:

"Yes, and I feel well, too. It's because I am drinking Postum in place of ordinary coffee."

"I said, 'What is Postum?'"

"Then she told me how it was a food-drink and how much better she felt since using it in place of coffee or tea, so I sent to the store and bought a package and when it was made according to directions it was so good I have never bought a pound of coffee since. I began to improve immediately."

"I cannot begin to tell you how much better I feel since using Postum and leaving coffee alone. My health is better than it has been for years and I cannot say enough in praise of this delicious food drink."

Take away the destroyer and put a builder to work and Nature will do the rest. That's what you do when Postum takes coffee's place in your diet. "There's a Reason."

Left Both Satisfied.

It all happened on one of those few surviving pay-after-you-enter cars.
 "Oh, I insist on paying, Gladys," said the brunette. "You paid coming down."
 "No, I shall pay," declared Gladys with equal firmness. "What if I did pay coming down—didn't you buy that last package of gum?"
 "Let me settle the quarrel, ladies," suggested the diplomatic conductor. "Why not use the denatured form of Dutch treat?"
 "What's that?"
 "Well, you each pay the other's fare."
 And that was the way they solved it.—Cleveland Leader.

MORPHINE RELIEVED PAIN—THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY RESTORES TO HEALTH

For the past few years I suffered greatly from what three physicians called neuralgia of the stomach. The doctors treated me without any success and I called in a fourth doctor, who pronounced my disease gall stones. I suffered intense pain and the only relief the doctor could give me was by injections of morphine. I was so completely discouraged that I had almost given up hope when a neighbor told me about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. I decided to try it and began its use at once and after taking nine bottles was completely cured, not having a spell of sickness in over two years.

I have so much confidence in Swamp-Root that I never fail to recommend it to my friends who may have kidney trouble of any kind. I feel certain that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root saved my life, why should it not do likewise for others who take it in time?

You are at liberty to use this testimony at any time.

Yours truly,

Ended the Controversy.

On the steeple of an old Universalist church in Bath, Me., there is a wooden figure of an angel. It is not a remarkably fine specimen of art, and has always been somewhat laughed about, especially because of its high-heeled shoes. The Bath Enquirer recalls the story that a former pastor of the North Congregational church once accosted a devoted Universalist with the question: "Mr. Raymond, did you ever see an angel with high-heeled shoes on its feet?" "Why, no," answered Mr. Raymond, "I can't say that I ever did; but did you ever see one without them?"

U. S. FIGHTS STEAMSHIPS

THIRTEEN TRANS-ATLANTIC CARRIERS ARE INVOLVED IN GOVERNMENT SUIT.

COMBINE IS CHARGED

THE COMPANIES ORGANIZED IN 1908 IN LONDON ENGLAND.

New York.—The federal government has brought suit in the United States Circuit Court under the Sherman anti-trust law against thirteen of the principal trans-Atlantic carriers, which are estimated to control 90 per cent of the storage traffic, worth to them $55,000,000 a year.

Twelve officers of the defendant companies, all resident in America, are named as co-defendants.

These companies, the government charges, entered into an illegal contract February 5, 1908, at London, England, by which they constituted themselves the Atlantic conference, with power to apportion all traffic pro rata, impose heavy fines on members of the conference for violation of any of the articles of agreement, and wage competition against all lines outside the conference.

Senator Elkins Is Dead.

Washington.—Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia is dead. At his bedside were his wife, his daughter Katherine, and four sons, David, Richard, Stephen and Blaine, and the physician. Death was due to septicaemia or blood poisoning. He was conscious until within a half hour of death. Senator Elkins became ill in the early summer at his home in Elkins, W. Va. He was kept in strict confinement there and only the members of his immediate family were allowed to see him. November 9th, when he was removed to Washington in a private car, he was reported considerably improved. Physicians declared that he might possibly be able to take his seat in the Senate at the opening of Congress. His death was caused by a complication of diseases.

Asks Postponement of Payment.

Washington.—Senator Warren has requested the secretary of the interior to postpone for one year the call for second payment on land entries under the Shoshone reclamation project, Wyoming. Adverse crop conditions for the last year make the second payment for lands under this project hard.

Millionaire Assassinated.

Cheyenne.—Mark M. Coad, a millionaire sheep and cattle raiser of Fremont, Neb., was assassinated in the office of the Normandie hotel by Francisco S. Garrido, a Spanish sheep herder, also known as "Mike Moose." After the shooting Garrido ran, pursued by officers and citizens, and more than 100 shots were exchanged without effect before he was captured. It was a real frontier day scene, but lacked the good marksmanship feature of the frontier days.

Violent Earthquake in Russia.

Tashkent, Asiatic Russia.—Practically all the stores and residences at Vyreny, the capital of the territory of Somirytchensk, were destroyed or damaged by a violent earthquake. The city has a population of 25,000. The loss will reach $2,000,000. Communication in the disturbed district is interrupted.

The four-story Bitting office and business block and the store stock on the first floor of the building burned at Wichita, Kans., loss $150,000.

A frozen body found in a gravel pit north of Salt Lake, proved to be that of Allan MacGregor, a well known advertising man and piano salesman. From letters he left it is inferred that he poisoned himself and retired to the pit to die.

A small part of a human body was found a quarter of a mile from the scene of the disastrous explosion in the smelter slag dump near El Paso. This is the first trace found of the three men known to have been in the wrecked tunnel.

With the theory that the two masked bandits that held up the Southern Pacific's Overland Limited at Reese, Utah, are hiding in Ogden, every rooming house in the city is being thoroughly searched and all suspects are being taken into custody. Two masked bandits entered the office of the Angelus hotel in El Paso and robbed the safe of about $5,000 in cash and jewelry. The clerk and porter were forced into the basement at the point of revolvers. Thirteen safety deposit boxes were carried away.

The grand jury in the Los Angeles Times explosion case returned twenty-two indictments. All of the indictments charge murder or connection with that crime. It is not likely that the names of any of the indicted persons will be made public until after arrests have been made. It is believed a large number of San Franciscans have been indicted. Wholesale murder the outcome of a dynamite plot, is understood to be the charge set forth in all the indictments, but it is believed not more than three or four men are named in the true bills.

FOREIGN.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Nelson, aged 82 and 72, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home in Yankton, S. D.

Twenty-seven killed, and twenty-eight wounded is the official report of casualties during the recent fighting at Mal Paso, Mexico.

A message from Tashkent, Russian Turkestan, says there are unconfirmed rumors that the towns of Irzhevsk and Pishpek, in the territory of Seminyetchensk, were destroyed by an earthquake and that a lake was formed on the site of the former place. Each town has a population of about 8,000.

Senator Beveridge, a member of the committee on privileges and elections, has decided to make a minority report in the Lorimer case and will make a speech asking the senate to declare the election of Senator Lorimer to have been illegal.

Representatives Smith of Iowa and Boutell of Illinois are under consideration by President Taft for judgeships, the former to succeed Judge Willis Van Devanter, recently promoted to the Supreme Court, on the Circuit Bench, and Mr. Boutell to take the place on the Court of Customs appeals made vacant by the promotion of Judge William H. Hunt to the Court of Commerce.

The bank guaranty laws of Oklahoma, Nebraska and Kansas were declared constitutional by the United States Supreme Court and thus the fight over the policy of guaranteeing through the state deposits in banks, was won by the advocates of such a policy. The court practically dismissed the Panama libel case of the government against the New York World, holding that it must be prosecuted in the New York state courts.

Graft, embezzlement, mismanagement and the fruits thereof, such as lack of confidence in the "purposes and judgment of those who control and manage the great railways," is the underlying cause of the demand of the railroads that they be allowed to increase rates. This is the charge made by Louis Brandeis before the interstate commerce commission in his reply, for the shippers of the Atlantic seaboard, to the plea of the roads that they be granted permission to increase their freight rates.

GENERAL.

Blizzard weather, which has been riding into the South recently, reached the Gulf and South Atlantic states.

The Western Union Telegraph Company will be brought into the limelight before the January Federal Grand Jury, which convened in Chicago in connection with the "bucket shop" cases.

Almost continuous trembling of the seismograph at the Spring Hill college, near Mobile, caused Prof. C. Kuhlman to issue a warning of a great seismic upheaval, which, he says, is sure to come soon. Constantly increasing tremors have been recorded.

BABY'S HAIR ALL CAME OUT

"When my first baby was six months old he broke out on his head with little bumps. They would dry up and leave a scale. Then it would break out again and it spread all over his head. All the hair came out and his head was scaly all over. Then his face broke out all over in red bumps and it kept spreading until it was on his hands and arms. I bought several boxes of ointment, gave him blood medicine, and had two doctors to treat him, but he got worse all the time. He had it about six months when a friend told me about Cuticura. I sent and got a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. In three days after using them he began to improve. He began to take long naps and to stop scratching his head. After taking two bottles of Resolvent, two boxes of Ointment and three cakes of Soap he was sound and well, and never had any breaking out of any kind. His hair came out in little curls all over his head. I don't think anything else would have cured him except Cuticura. "I have bought Cuticura Ointment and Soap several times since to use for cuts and sores and have never known them to fail to cure what I put them on. I think Cuticura is a great remedy and would advise any one to use it. Cuticura Soap is the best that I have ever used for toilet purposes." (Signed) Mrs. F. E. Harmon, R. F. The fool said one day in the king's presence, "I am the king!" And the king laughed, for he knew that his fool was wrong.

Unusual Case in Court.

Santa Fe.—In the District Court Judge McFie took up the unusual case of the United States versus Rose J. Hide and A. J. Coolidge to cancel patents issued to them for homesteads on the ground of fraud. The land has been sold to third parties, innocent purchasers, who seek to intervene.

New Mexico Crop Report.

Santa Fe.—The crop report for December gives the production for New Mexico as follows: Corn, 70,000 acres, 1,610,000 bushels, 23 bushels to the acre, total value $1,449,000 at 90 cents per bushel. Spring wheat, 43,000 acres, 20 bushels per acre, 860,000 bushels at $1 per bushel, total value $860,000. Oats, 30,000 acres, 27.4 bushels per acre 822,000 bushels at 62 cents a bushel, $510,000. Barley, 1,000 acres, 25 bushels per acre, 25,000 bushels at 80 cents, $20,000. Potatoes, 2,000 acres, 47 bushels per acre, 94,000 bushels at $1.04, a total of $98,000. Hay, 194,000 acres, 2.10 tons per acre, 407,000 tons at $11.50, a total of $4,680,000.

Statehood League Organized.

Albuquerque.—The Statehood league was organized here at one of the largest and most enthusiastic mass meetings on record, addressed by Gov. Mills, O. A. Larrazolo of Las Vegas, a leading Democratic orator; Attorney Isaac Barth of this city and District Attorney Edward A. Mann. The speakers made powerful addresses calling on the people to vote for the constitution and thus take advantage of the only chance of immediate statehood. The meeting was attended by thousands of people from city and county, and the speakers were vociferously applauded. This meeting marks the beginning of a vigorous organized non-partisan campaign to make the vote for the constitution at the election January 21st as nearly unanimous as possible. Other branches of the league will be formed.

New Mexico Rejoicing.

Washington, D. C.—As a New Year's greeting to New Mexico, it is announced here that President Taft anticipates in sixty-five days from date to send the order to Governor Mills to issue his proclamation calling an election of state officers, legislators, two congressmen, county and precinct officers for the state of New Mexico under its constitution which is sure to receive his approval. This election is to take place within sixty to ninety days of the date of the proclamation, which probably will be dated March 11, 1911. This would throw the election into June, 1911. At the same time the announcement is made that Arizona will not get the election returns on the constitution to Washington in time to be submitted to the present Congress and will therefore not come in for at least another two years.

New Rules for Land Office Contests.

Washington.—New rules of practice governing cases before local land offices, the general land office and the Department of the Interior have been approved by Secretary Ballinger and of interest to New Mexico, will go into effect February 1st. These rules are intended to simplify practice, avoid delay and nullify the advantage of a contestant of wealth over a poor one. Under the new rules a contest against an entry or claim or record can only be instituted by a person who seeks to acquire title or to claim an interest in the land involved, and the ground of contest must be based on matters not disclosed by the land office records.

Speaking for Constitution.

Albuquerque.—Gov. Mills, O. A. Larrazolo, of Las Vegas; H. O. Bursum and other speakers for the constitution have addressed big crowds at San Marcial and Las Cruces, and each succeeding statehood meeting indicates that the sentiment is growing rapidly for the ratification of the constitution.

GOT HIS SOBRIQUET EARLY

"Honest John" Kelly Proved His Right to the Title Long Before Manhood.

There have been many stories about the manner in which "Honest John" Kelly, the ex-umpire, first got his nickname. Mr. Kelly himself, according to a New York letter, holds that it came to him naturally, for even as a small boy the purity of his soul shone through his face. "I think the first time I was ever called 'Honest John' was when I was quite a youngster," said Kelly. "A man engaged as an ambulatory salesman of tinware observed the ingenious countenance I presented to the world and hailed me. 'You look honest, boy,' said he. 'What might your name be?' 'John,' said I, quite simply. 'John—just like that. Then hold my horse while I go in the saloon and get a drink,' said he. And so I held his horse while he went in the saloon and got a drink. But this was on lower Ninth avenue, in a day when the avenue's honors went to the man who could clean the most cops in a given time. By and by the gang came along and beheld that wagon full of tinware. The peddler was detained within by a sore thirst, and they took the tinware. And then they came back and took the cushions off the wagon. Eventually, becoming daring, they unhitched the wagon and took it away. True to my trust, I stood there, holding the horse. And by and by the peddler came out of the saloon and sized up the situation. 'Well,' said he warmly, 'you're Honest John, all right. You saved the horse.'"

Really Opened Their Eyes

Rev. Henry R. Rose in the Newark Star tells the story of a young minister who had recently taken charge of a small parish in Vermont. He aspired to greater things and a large field, and in the hope that his reputation would travel beyond the limits of the village to which he had been sent he threw into his sermons all the force and eloquence at his command. He was, however, totally unprepared for what was intended for a compliment, but which was put to him in such a way that it left him in doubt as to the real impression he had made. One Sunday morning, after an especially brilliant effort, he was greeted by an old lady, who was one of the most faithful attendants at all services. Approaching the young minister, she said: "Ah, sir, we do enjoy your sermons so much, they are so instructive. Do you believe it, we never knew what sin was until you came to the parish."

The Limit.
"Do you have much trouble with your automobile?"
"Trouble! Say, I couldn't have more if I was married to the blamed machine."—St. Louis Star.

His Ruling Passion.
The young man waited for the millionaire's reply.
"I don't blame you for wanting to marry my daughter," said the latter. "And now how much do you suppose you and she can worry along on?"
The youth brightened up.
"I—I think," he cheerfully stammered, "that $200,000 well invested, would produce a sufficient income."
The millionaire turned back to his papers.
"Very well," he said, "I will give you $100,000, providing you raise a similar amount."
And the young man went away sorrowing.

A Discouraging View.
"We must investigate this affair," said the rural official.
"What's the use?" responded Farmer Cornstossel. "I never saw an investigation that changed anybody's personal likes and dislikes."

The life of a man consists not in seeing visions, and in dreaming dreams, but in active charity and willing service.—Longfellow.

Now About Clean Food

Another Splendid Opportunity to Bring Out Facts

When the "Weekly" which sued us for libel (because we publicly denounced them for an editorial attack on our claims) was searching for some "weak spot," they thought best to send a N. Y. Atty. to Battle Creek, summoned 25 of our workmen and took their sworn statements before a Commissioner.

Did we object? No. On the contrary, we helped all we could, for the opportunity was too good to be lost.

Geo. Haines testified he inspected the wheat and barley, also floors and every part of the factories to know things were kept clean. That every 30 minutes a sample of the products was taken and inspected to keep the food up to standard and keep out any impurities, also that it is the duty of every man in the factories to see that anything not right is immediately reported. Has been with the Co. 10 years.

Edward Young testified he had been with Co. 15 years. Inspector, he and his men examined every sack and car of wheat and barley to see they were up to standard and rejected many cars.

H. E. Burt, Supt., testified has been with Co. over 13 years. Bought only the best grain obtainable. That the Co. kept a corps of men who do nothing but keep things clean, bright and polished.

Testified that no ingredient went into Grape-Nuts and Postum except those printed in the advertising. No possibility of any foreign things getting into the foods as most of the machinery is kept closed. Asked if the factory is open to the public, said "yes" and "it took from two to three guides constantly to show visitors through the works." Said none of the processes were carried on behind closed doors.

At this point attys. for the "Weekly" tried to show the water used was from some outside source. Testified the water came from Co.'s own artesian wells and was pure.

He testified the workmen were first-class, high-grade and inspected by the Co.'s physician to be sure they were all in proper physical condition; also testified that state reports showed that Co. pays better wages than the average and he thought higher than any in the state.

F. B. Martin, Asst. Supt., testified Grape-Nuts made of wheat, barley, yeast and water. Anything else? "No, sir." Postum made of Wheat, Wheat Bran and New Orleans Molasses. Statements made on his experience of about 10 years with Co.

Testified bakers are required to wear fresh white suits, changed every other day. Said had never known any of the products being sent out that were below the high standard of inspection. Asked if any one connected with the Postum Co. had instructed him how to testify. Said, "No, sir."

Horace Brown testified has been with Co. 9 years. Worked in Grape-Nuts bake shop. Testified the whole of the flour is composed of Wheat and Barley. Attys. tried to confuse him, but he insisted that any casual visitor could see that nothing else went into the flour. Said machinery and floors always kept clean.

So these men were examined by the "Weekly" lawyers hoping to find at least one who would say that some under-grade grain was put in or some unclean condition was found somewhere.

But it was no use.
Each and every man testified to the purity and cleanliness.

As a sample, take the testimony of Luther W. Mayo.

Testified been with Company about 10 years. Now working in the bakery department making Grape-Nuts. Testified that the ovens and floors are kept clean and the raw products as they go in are kept clean. Also that the wearing apparel of the employes has to be changed three times a week.

Q. Do you use Postum or Grape-Nuts yourself at all?

A. Yes, I use them at home.

Q. If from your knowledge of the factory which you have gained in your ten years at the factory you believed that they were dirty or impure in any way, would you use them?

A. I do not think I would, No.

Asked if any one on behalf of the Company had asked him to testify in any particular manner. Stated "No."

All these sworn depositions were carefully excluded from the testimony at the trial, for they wouldn't sound well for the "Weekly."

Think of the fact that every man swore to the purity and cleanliness so that the Atty. for the "Weekly" was forced to say in open court that the food was pure and good.

What a disappointment for the "Weekly!"

But the testimony showed:

All of the grain used in Grape-Nuts, Postum and Post Toasties is the highest standard possible to obtain.

All parts of the factory are kept scrupulously clean.

None of the workmen had been told how to testify.

Most of them have been from 10 to 15 years with the Co. and use the products on their tables at home.

Why do their families use the products, Grape-Nuts, Postum and Post Toasties, that they, themselves, make?

WHEN A MAN MARRIES

BY MARY ROBERTS RINEHART
AUTHOR OF THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE
"THE MAN IN LOWER TEN," ETC.

SYNOPSIS.

James Wilson or Jimmy as he is called by his friends. Jimmy was rotund and looked shorter than he really was. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to do so, his art is considered a huge joke, except to himself. If he asked people to dinner everyone expected a frolic. Jimmy marries Bella Knowles; they live together a year and are divorced. Jimmy's friends arrange to celebrate the first anniversary of his divorce. Those who attend the party are Miss Katherine McNair, who every one calls Kit, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Brown, the Misses Mercer, Maxwell Reed and a Mr. Thomas Harbison, a South American civil engineer. The party is in full swing when Jimmy receives a telegram from his Aunt Selina, who will arrive in four hours to visit him and his wife. Jimmy gets his funds from Aunt Selina and after he marries she doubles his allowance. He neglects to tell her of his divorce, as she proposed to it. Jimmy takes Kit into his confidence, he tries to devise some way so that his aunt will not learn that he has no longer a wife. He suggests that Kit play the hostess for one night, be Mrs. Wilson pro tem. Kit refuses, but is finally prevailed upon to act the part.

CHAPTER III.

I Might Have Known It.

The minute I had consented I regretted it. After all, what were Jimmy's troubles to me? Why should I help him impose on an unsuspecting elderly woman? And it was only putting off discovery anyhow. Sooner or later, she would learn of the divorce, and—just at that instant my eyes fell on Mr. Harbison—Tom Harbison, as Anne called him. He was looking on with an amused, half-puzzled smile, while people were rushing around hiding the roulette wheel and things of which Miss Caruthers might disapprove, and Betty Mercer was on her knees winding up a toy bear that Max had brought her. What would he think? It was evident that he thought badly of us already—that he was contemptuously amused, and then to have to ask him to lend himself to the deception!

With a gasp I hurried myself after Jimmy, only to hear a strange voice in the hall and to know that I was too late. I was in for it, whatever was coming. It was Aunt Selina who was coming—along the hall, followed by Jim, who was mopping his face and trying not to notice the paralyzed silence in the library.

Aunt Selina met me in the doorway. To my frantic eyes she seemed to tower above us by at least a foot, and beside her Jimmy was a red, perspiring cherub.

"Here she is," Jimmy said, from behind a temporary eclipse of black cloak and traveling bag. He was on top of the situation now, and he was mendaciously cheerful. He had not said, "Here is my wife." That would have been a lie. No, Jimmy merely said, "Here she is." If Aunt Selina chose to think me Bella, was it not her responsibility? And if I chose to accept the situation, was it not mine? Dallas Brown came forward gravely as Aunt Selina folded over and kissed me, and surreptitiously patted me with one hand while he held out the other to Miss Caruthers. I loathed him!

"We always expect something unusual from James, Miss Caruthers," he said, with his best manner, "but this—this is beyond our wildest dreams."

Well, it's too awful to linger over. Anne took her upstairs and into Bella's bedroom. It was a fancy of Jim's to leave that room just as Bella had left it, dusty dance cards and favors hanging around and a pair of discarded slippers under the bed. I don't think it had been swept since Bella left it. I believe in sentiment, but I like it brushed and dusted and the cobwebs off of it, and when Aunt Selina put down her bonnet, it stirred up a gray white cloud that made her cough. She did not say anything, but she looked around the room grimly, and I saw her run her finger over the back of a chair before she let Hannah, the maid, put her cloak on it. Anne looked frightened. She ran into Bella's bath and wet the end of a towel and when Hannah was changing Aunt Selina's collar—her concession to evening dress—Anne wiped off the obvious places on the furniture.

"What's that young woman's name?" she asked me sharply, when Anne had taken the towel out to hide it.

"Anne Brown, Mrs. Dallas Brown," I replied meekly. Every one replied meekly to Aunt Selina.

"Does she live here?"

"Oh, no," I said airily. "They are here to dinner, she and her husband. They are old friends of Jim's—and mine."

"Seems to have a good eye for dirt," said Aunt Selina and went on fastening her brooch. When she was finally ready, she took a bead purse from somewhere about her waist and took out a half dollar. She held it up before Hannah's eyes.

"Tomorrow morning," she said sternly, "you take off that white cap and that fold-over apron and that black henrietta cloth, and put on a calico wrapper. And when you've got this room aired and swept, Mrs. Wilson will give you this."

Hannah took two steps back and caught hold of a chair; she stared helplessly from Aunt Selina to the half dollar, and then at me. Anne was trying not to catch my eye.

"And another thing," Aunt Selina said, from the head of the stairs, "I sent those towels over from Ireland. Tell her to wash and bleach the one Mrs. What's-her-name Brown used as a duster."

Anne was quite crushed as we went down the stairs. I turned once, half-way down, and her face was a curious mixture of guilt and hopeless wrath. Over her shoulder I could see Hannah, wide-eyed and puzzled, staring after us.

Jim presented everybody, and then he went into the den and closed the door and we heard him unlock the cellarette. Aunt Selina looked at Lella's bare shoulders and said she guessed she didn't take cold easily, and conversation rather languished. Max Reed was looking like a thundercloud, and he came over to me with a lowering expression that I had learned to dread in him.

"What fool nonsense is this?" he demanded. "What in the world pos-

"Hideous!" she said. "It looks like Cousin Jane, shape and coloring."

Then she looked at it more closely, pounced on it, turned it upside down and shook it. A card fell out, which Dallas picked up and gave her with a bow. Jim had come out of the den and was dancing wildly around and beckoning to me. By the time I had made out that that was not the vase Cousin Jane had sent us as a wedding present, Aunt Selina had examined the card. Then she glared across at me and, stooping, put the card in the fire. I did not understand at all, but I knew I had in some way done the unforgivable thing. Later, Dal told me it was her card, and that she had sent the vase to Jim at Christmas, with a generous check inside. When she straightened from the fireplace, it was to a new theme, which she attacked with her usual vigor. The vase incident was over, but she never forgot it. She proved that she never did when she sent me two urn-shaped vases with Paul and Virginia on them, when I—that is, later on.

"The cause in England has made great strides," she announced from the fire place. "Soon the hand that rocks the cradle will be the hand that actually rules the world." Here she looked at me.

"I'm not up on such things," Max said blandly, having recovered some of his good humor, "but— isn't it usually a foot that rocks the cradle?"

Aunt Selina turned on him and Mr. Harbison, who were standing together, with a snort.

"What have you, or you, ever done for the independence of woman?" she demanded.

Mr. Harbison smiled. He had been looking rather grave until then. "We have at least remained unmarried," he retorted. And then dinner was again announced.

He was to take me out, and he came across the room to where I sat collapsed in a chair, and bent over me.

the back of my chair as it flew past. Jim had ordered away the wines and brought out some weak and cheap Chianti. Dallas looked gloomy at the change, but Jim explained in an undertone that Aunt Selina didn't approve of expensive vintages. Naturally, the meal was glum enough.

Aunt Selina had had her dinner on the train, so she spent her time in asking me questions the length of the table, and in getting acquainted with me. She had brought a bottle of some sort of medicine downstairs with her, and she took a claret glassful, while she talked. The stuff was called Pomonax: Shall I ever forget it?

It was Mr. Harbison who first noticed Takahiro. Jimmy's Jap had been the only thing in the menage that Bella declared she had hated to leave. But he was doing the strangest things: His little black eyes shifted nervously, and he looked queer.

"What's wrong with him?" Mr. Harbison asked me finally, when he saw that I noticed. "Is he ill?"

Then Aunt Selina's voice from the other end of the table:

"Bella," she called, in a high shrill tone, "do you let James eat cucumbers?"

"I think he must be," I said hurriedly aside to Mr. Harbison. "See how his hands shake!" But Aunt Selina would not be ignored.

"Cucumbers and strawberries," she repeated impressively. "I was saying, Bella, that cucumbers have always given James the most fearful indigestion. And yet I see you serve them at your table. Do you remember what I wrote you to give him when he has his dreadful spells?"

I was quite speechless; every one was looking, and no one could help. It was clear Jim was racking his brain, and we sat staring desperately at each other across the candles. Everything I had ever known faded from me; eight pairs of eyes bored into me, Mr. Harbison's politely amused.

"I don't remember," I said at last. "Really, I don't believe—" Aunt Selina smiled in a superior way.

"Now, don't you recall it?" she insisted. "I said: 'Baking soda in water taken internally for cucumbers; baking soda in water externally, rubbed on, when he gets that dreadful, itching strawberry rash.'"

I believe the dinner went on. Somebody asked Aunt Selina how much overcharge she had paid in foreign hotels, and after that she was as harmless as a dove.

Then half-way through the dinner we heard a crash in Takahiro's pantry, and when he did not appear again, Jim got up and went out to investigate. He was gone quite a little while, and when he came back he looked worried.

"Sick," he replied to our inquiring glances. "One of the maids will come in. They have sent for a doctor."

Aunt Selina was for going out at once and "fixing him up," as she put it, but Dallas gently interfered.

"I wouldn't, Miss Caruthers," he said, in the deferential manner he had adopted toward her. "You don't know what it may be. He's been looking spotty all evening."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Guessed She Didn't Take Cold Easily.

sessed you, Kit, to put yourself in such an equivocal position? Unless"—he stopped and turned a little white—"unless you are going to marry Jim."

I am sorry for Max. He is such a nice boy, and good looking, too, if only he were not so fierce, and did not want to make love to me. No matter what I do, Max always disapproves of it. I have always had a deeply rooted conviction that if I should ever in a weak moment marry Max, he would disapprove of that, too, before I had done it very long.

"Are you?" he demanded, narrowing his eyes—a sign of unusually bad humor.

"Am I what?"

"Going to marry him?"

"If you mean Jim," I said with dignity, "I haven't made up my mind yet. Besides, he hasn't asked me."

Aunt Selina had been talking woman's suffrage in front of the fireplace, but now she turned to me.

"Is this the vase Cousin Jane Whitcomb sent you as a wedding present?" she demanded, indicating a hideous urn-shaped affair on the mantel. It came to me as an inspiration that Jim had once said it was an ancestral urn, so I said without hesitation that it was. And because there was a pause and every one was looking at us, I added that it was a beautiful thing.

Aunt Selina sniffed.

"Do you know," he said, looking down at me with his clear, disconcerting gaze, "do you know that I have just grasped the situation? There was such a noise that I did not hear your name, and I am only realizing now that you are my hostess! I don't know why I got the impression that this was a bachelor establishment, but I did. Odd, wasn't it?"

I positively couldn't look away from him. My features seemed frozen, and my eyes were glued to his. As for telling him the truth—well, my tongue refused to move. I intended to tell him during dinner if I had an opportunity: I honestly did. But the more I looked at him and saw how candid his eyes were, and how stern his mouth might be, the more I shivered at the plunge. And, of course, as everybody knows now, I didn't tell him at all. And every moment I expected that awful old woman to ask me what I paid my cook, and when I had changed the color of my hair—Bella's being black.

Dinner was a half-hour late when we finally went out, Jimmy leading off with Aunt Selina, and I, as hostess, trailing behind the procession with Mr. Harbison. Dallas took in the two Mercer girls, for we were one man short, and Max took Anne. Lella Mercer was so excited that she wriggled, and as for me, the candles and the orchids—everything—danced around in a circle, and I just seemed to catch

FORMER EDUCATION OF GIRLS

Glance at the Methods of Sixty Years Ago Shows Great Advance of Present.

When one realizes the state of female education sixty years ago, its progress as evinced today is marvelous indeed.

In the first half of the Nineteenth Century, the policy of "sewing," rather than of "being," was followed throughout—languages and society manners were considered all important—there were no games and the only form of exercise was that of walking, with riding for the wealthy girls.

The schools were small and suffered from bad classification in consequence, as classes had to be made up from girls of widely differing ages, while "teaching" consisted of hearing lessons "got by heart," often without any explanation.

When one reads the report of an examiner of a girls' school only 30 years ago, that "many girls showed a great aptitude for mathematics, but parents discouraged continuance of sound education after the age of 13 or 14 in order to 'keep the girl feminine,'" the change in the popular estimation of women's capacity is indeed marvelous.—Christian Science Monitor.

Comfort and a Pious Soul.

Susan's only comfort under the circumstances was to reflect that Sir Guy was certainly going, at no distant date, to a place where his rank would not be cast in shadow by anything compared to the period for which he would be doomed to suffer torment.—From James Payne's "Gwendoline's Harvest."

Impossible.

The car conductor wears a frown. He daily sees. He cannot make the hobble gown Step lively, please.

It is said that the ex-king of Portugal has not money enough to pay his cab fare. Can't any of his admirers supply him with a second-hand bicycle?

Canada reports a shortage of wood pulp. But even a paper famine will not make the average scribbler "cut it short."

President Taft's plea for economy was so strong that a San Antonio man sent along a dollar to help out the government. Many a minister wishes he had the Taft power of exhortation when the collection plate is passed.

Just the Cure He Wanted.

The popular captain of an Atlantic liner has a fine collection of mal de mer stories, but easily the gem of the lot deals with a Philadelphia bridal couple.

The bridegroom, being on his first deep sea trip, continual tempestuous weather produced agonizing results.

"Take care, Marmaduke," cried the bride. "That isn't the cure for seasickness. Don't you see the bottle is marked 'carbolic acid?'"

"That's the bottle I want," he groaned.—New York Herald.

Puccini's latest opera is called "La Fanciulla del West." How many Western cowgirls recognize themselves in that description?

Own Will and Accord.

Mr. Myles.—Did you ask your wife to wear one of those hobble skirts? Mr. Styles.—Oh, no. It looks as if she had done it with her own will and accord.—Yonkers Statesman.

Rip Van Winkle Makes Some Suggestions.

Rip Van Winkle had just brushed the last of the cobwebs out of his eyes.

"I suppose somebody will werry likely make a play about me," he said in his Catskill stage dialect.

"No doubt about it," replied a bystander.

Rip yawned heavily, the spell of his long nap being still strong upon him.

"Well," he said, "I hope if dey do write such a play dey won't try to revive it after it has been asleep for twenty years."

And then he smiled, and they filed into the tavern and imbibed another one of the kind that didn't count.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Road to Fame.

It was Mme. Highnote's first appearance, and she was on her trial thrif. The audience sat spellbound, says the San Francisco Star. First came a cadenza, and then the high C. Would she do it? Mme. Highnote thought she wouldn't.

She was just about to attempt the note when a little brown mouse ran across the footlights. The diva shrieked, gathered up her skirts and ran.

Once in her dressing room she buried her face in her hands and sobbed.

"My prospects are forever blighted," she moaned.

At that moment there came a feverish knocking at the door. It was the manager's assistant.

"The manager," he exclaimed, "wants to know whether you ran away from the curtain because you were ill?"

"No. I am well. It was only—"

"And he wants me to tell you that high C you let out at the last was the finest he had heard in years, and the audience is crazy over you. You must give an encore."

"I can't—I can't," wailed the prima donna, "not unless you can get another mouse."

CASE SET FOR JANUARY

—Case No. 1350. S. T. Gray and Robert Brady, appellants, vs. Robert H. Taylor, et al. appellees, appeal from district court, Lincoln county. The motion for a rehearing was granted and the cause set for a hearing January 30."

The above is taken from the report of the Supreme Court which has been in session at Santa Fe. The court adjourned on request of a number of attorneys who wished to take part in the Constitutional campaign during the next ten days. The court will reconvene January 23rd and the County seat case will be given a hearing January 30th. This is a rehearing of the old injunction case and it is expected that the Court will determine whether Injunction is a proper procedure in the case, or not.

A DIFFERENT OPINION

The people in Jicarilla were much amused at the presumption of a man signing himself 'A Republican' in answer to Mr. Chew of White Oaks. Now if he at any time answered one of the thirteen democratic objections advanced by Mr. Chew for opposing the constitution we failed to find it. And again as for some of the men he quotes as supporting the constitution, they are very able men, but he must remember that their business affairs differ from a great many who are fully capable of condemning same. As for the term 'sore-head' he uses, we are in hopes there will be enough 'sore-heads' on the 21st of January. A vote against the Constitution at this time is not a vote against statehood. I suppose nearly every man wants statehood, but under different conditions. As to his comparison of Arizona and New Mexico constitutions, the people must live under the one where they reside and therefore discussing a comparison is unnecessary.

A. H. NORTON.

POLLY PARAGRAPHS

There seems to be a quietness about this region, due perhaps to the lethargic effect of the last cold snap. But the trains run as usual and an occasional traveler on the road braves the blast with wagon or auto.

Mrs. Goddard & Peters who spent the holiday vacation here have returned to their school work; the former to El Paso the latter to Branums ranch near White Oaks.

Wallace Gumm and Mr. Duke were out on the Beagle claims this week endeavoring to locate underground water currents.

CORONA ITEMS

Mrs. J. L. Jones has assumed management of the Bond Hotel, the Parkers moving to their town property here.

Teachers and pupils are now installed in the new schoolhouse and are loud in their praise—especially about the furnace beating the old stove.

Julian Dryfus of the Holzman clerking force returned Tuesday from a few days visit with his parents in Albuquerque.

Lon Jenkins shipped 350 of Zeb Owen's cattle last Saturday.

School at Gallinas is temporarily suspended due to illness of teacher.

Harry Smith of Cedarvale was in the city Monday delivering some home grown potatoes.

U. S. Forester F. S. Mundell came in Monday with an infected hand due to an accident while on duty.

Someone stole a fine roan horse from Mr. Mundells pasture Sunday. The trail led toward Pinos Wells.
