Secure a Home in McCulloch County, the Land of Opportunity. Do it Now!

THE CENTER of Business Advantage

Draw a circle twenty miles in diameter, with the Brady National Bank in the center, and you will have within this circle a public institution radiating business advantages to hundreds of people in every direction.

Ten miles in every direction is not the limit of this bank's usefulness. We have customers at greater distances.

If you are within the twenty mile circle, we ask you to share with these other hundreds, the benefits of our bank service.

WE KNOW YOUR WANTS and WANT YOUR BUSINESS.

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS:

F. M. Richards, Pres. J. F. Montgomery, Cashier.
F. W. Henderson, Vice-Pres.
John P. Sheridan, Vice-Pres.
Clarence Snyder, Ass't Cashier.
T. J. Wood. E. E. Willoughby. J. S. Neal.

For Tax Assessor.

J. A. Watkins this week authorizes The Standard to announce him as a candidate for the office of tax assessor of McCulloch county, subject to the democratic primary, July 23. Mr. Watkins has been a citizen of the county for twenty years; in fact has been raised here, and is a good citizen with a good common school education, standing well with all who know him. At present he is in business at Rochelle. About one year ago Mr. Watkins happened to the misfortune of losing a hand by accidental gun shot. He will appreciate your support in this race, and if elected will make a good officer. The voters are respectfully requested to consider well his candidacy.

Give us your 1910 account, note the quality of our goods, the service we give and we believe you will then become a steady customer for the house. O. D. Mann Sons.

The handsome new home of Lewis Brook has so nearly reached completion as to enable the family to move in by the first of March. Chas. Gray is having material placed on the ground for his new home on the adjoining block. That section of the city is coming to the front rapidly.

THE COUNTY FINANCES

Treasurer's Quarterly Report to Commissioners Court Shows Healthy Balance on Hand.

County Treasurer H. A. Martin made his quarterly report to the commissioners court in session last week, accompanied by a statement of the receipts and disbursements. The report was checked over and approved. It shows the financial condition of the several funds to be in quite a healthy condition, the following balances being now on hand:

Jury Fund	$ 1,716.73
Road and Bridge Fund	9,026.99
General Fund	12,047.44
Court House & Jail Fund	10,026.56
Court House Bonds	903.99
Bridge Bonds	1,986.31
Estray Fund	10.97
Total	$35,718.99

W. H. Caldwell came over from Brady in his auto Monday, and brought with him Miss Clara Wilhelm, Misses Walker and Westmoreland, of Eagle Lake, and Miss Addie Conner, of Brady. The three last mentioned are visiting Miss Winnie Ellis of Oak Knoll ranch. Fred Ellis seemed pleased that this crowd came over.—Menard Messenger.

Bankers Coming to Brady.

The Sixth District Bankers' Association was held at Coleman last week, and Brady was selected as the place for holding the next annual meeting. Those attending from this city were J. F. Montgomery, W. D. Crothers, G. R. White and D. F. Savage.

Don't waste your time in looking for a planter that compares with the J. I. Case. They have not made them yet. O. D. Mann & Sons.

A. L. Coleman was called to Dallas last week by the death of his brother, J. H. Coleman, who was caught in a belt and instantly killed at the cement works in that city. The funeral was held at the family burying ground in Alvarado Friday. Deceased leaves a wife, having been married but five months.

J. F. Schaeg has added to the looks and value of his home by putting down several hundred feet of cement sidewalks. Clarence Trigg has also joined the sidewalk builders in that portion of the city.

Builders hardware a specialty. Our goods are of standard make, and the price is what you are looking for. O. D. Mann & Sons.

An Interesting Rumor.

A well defined rumor to the effect that on May 1st the Frisco will establish a double daily passenger service Fort. Worth to Brady, running the trains through to this point and establishing a division point here, is in circulation. The Standard has been unable to get anything definite on the matter; that is, there is no one to quote occupying an official position, but local railroad employes say the rumor is current all over the road.

This means that Brady will be a division point on the Frisco and that the repair shops will be moved here from Brownwood, thus giving Brady quite an added prestige in railroad circles and putting a good deal more railroad money in circulation here each month. We hope to have something more definite to report in the near future.

Capt. T. H. Marsden Dead.

All Brady was shocked Saturday morning when the news came over the telephone from Lampasas that our townsman, Capt. T. H. Marsden, had died there suddenly during the night. His sons, Duke and Dick Marsden, left immediately in an automobile, and the remains were brought home on Sunday's train, accompanied also by three sons and a daughter from South Texas, who had also been notified by wire.

The cause of Capt. Marsden's sudden death was apoplexy, and the indications are that he died without a struggle. Deceased had been down in South Texas visiting relatives and friends at Corpus Christi, Beeville, Alice, Sabinal, San Antonio and Austin. In the latter city he had spent a day at the Old Confederates Home, living over again the scenes of the Lost Cause with old war-time companions. He left Austin feeling badly and when Lampasas was reached he was a very sick man and was removed to the Nichols Hotel where friends looked after him and a physician administered to his relief. About 10:00 p. m. his friends left him apparently resting comfortably, and when his room was entered next morning he was found to be dead, lying in a comfortable position, evidently having passed away peacefully and without a struggle. The physician stated that death had probably occurred about 4:00 a. m. Lampasas friends took charge of the remains, headed by Miss Etta Adkins, a former Brady friend, and everything was done that loving kindness could devise.

Funeral services were conducted from the family home in West Brady at 2:30 p. m. Monday, Rev. L. C. Matthis, of the Methodist church, officiating, and the funeral being under the direction of the local camp of ex-Confederates aided by the Sons and Daughters.

Capt. Marsden was one of Brady's oldest citizens and was highly respected. He came to Brady in 1882. He leaves a wife and nine children, six boys and three girls—all grown. His age was 63 years, seven months and twenty-one days. He was a beloved member of the ex-Confederate Camp and took great delight in the fellowship of that organization. During his long residence here Capt. Marsden had accumulated much property and was looked upon as not only a good citizen but one of substantial means and much progressiveness. The Standard joins with the many friends of the family in extending sympathy in their hour of grief.

Among the Brady boys who attended the ball Monday night, we saw George Vierling, George Yantis, Chas. White and Mat Roberts.—Menard Messenger.

COMING TO BRADY AGAIN

Dr. J. Harvey Moore

The Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist, of San Antonio, Will be at his office over New State Bank Tuesday to Saturday, March 1st to 5th.

SOME REMARKABLE CURES

A Brady Ranchman

Mr. John V. Ewing, who has lived here twenty years, says: "I was nearly blind with granulated sore eyes. I had been treated by several physicians and specialists, but got no relief. I wrote to Dr. J. Harvey Moore while he was in St. Louis. He sent me medicine that cured my eyes and they have not troubled me for five years."

A Bad Case

Rev. D. F. Draper, of Sabinal, Texas, formerly of Taylor, who is well-known here, wrote the following letter to a Brady citizen: "If I had not met Dr. Moore twelve years ago I would now be blind. I know of many wonderful cures he has performed. I will go Dr. Moore's bond for anything he promises."

Straightened His Eyes.

Howard Gould of Brady has been cross-eyed all his life. Dr. Moore straightened his eyes without pain and without chloroform and he said it did not hurt him at all. He has been around town all the time.

Blind With Cataract

Mr. F. M. Miller, who was county treasurer and sheriff for many years and a pioneer of this county, was blind with cataract and Dr. Moore removed it by an operation and he is able to see again.

Dr. Moore cures all kinds of weak and watery eyes, overflow of tears, granulated sore eyes, cataracts, cross eyes, ingrown lashes, growth on the eyes, etc.

He treats catarrh and deafness, enlarged tonsils and all nose and throat affections. He makes a free examination and if you are incurable he will tell you so and will not take your money.

THE JEWISH SABBATH.

Its Influence on the Habits of the Hebrew Children.

The Hebrew Sabbath, including its complicated preparations, is rich and impressive material for a child's imagination. On Thursday evening the mother already prepares dough, goes to market, cleans the fish, etc., says the American Hebrew.

In the morning comes the baking of "chales" (breads). How bewitching for a child to watch the mother making different shapes of dough, smearing it with egg and decorating it with braids of different shapes and forms. A Jewish child gets the first lesson in modeling by making make believe "chales."

In the evening the mother prepares to meet the Sabbath. The child partakes in the household occupations, order and regard for the rights and ideas of others and the fundamental habit of subordinating his activities to the general interest of the household.

This is especially true in regard to Jewish households where everything seems to be prescribed by law. Before darkness sets in on Friday the housewife lights in the dining room extra candles or a special lamp in honor of Sabbath and reads the blessing.

Quite often a child not yet able to talk will cover its face with its little palms, imitating the gestures of the devoted mother. The returning from the synagogue, the appreciative greeting "Good Sabbath," the Kiddush, the blessing over wine, the special menu and the holiday spirit of all who participate have undoubtedly a soothing, beneficent influence upon the child. After supper the time is spent in resting.

FIRST SHAPE OF EELS.

Strait of Messina Revealed Mystery of the Snake-like Fish.

In the strait of Messina are channels of immense depth, through which a wild tide surges, and owing probably to irregularities at the bottom there are whirling eddies which have the effect of bringing up from the depths below many marine creatures which are rarely seen except in the deep sea trawls.

It was here that the larval form of a fresh water eel was first discovered, an incident which threw a blaze of light on the life history of a very mysterious fish.

All kinds of theories had been given forth with regard to the propagation of the eel. Some naturalists declared they bred in fresh water, others that they visited the estuaries for spawning purposes, but thanks to the discovery of Messina and later captures of the eel in its larval form it is practically certain that after mature eels drop down our rivers in autumn they lie them to exceedingly deep water in the sea and there deposit their eggs.

From the egg comes a little ribbon shaped creature, the larval form. In due course this changes into an eel of still smaller size, strange to say, and these small eels or evers afterward ascend our rivers and there remain until they reach maturity, when they in their turn descend to the sea and history is repeated.—London Telegraph.

Horses in Literature.

In sacred writ it was deemed worthy of record that Solomon imported horses from Egypt, while the description of the war steed in Job is accounted one of the finest parts of that piece of literature. In Greek myth and English satire the qualities ascribed to Centaur and the Houyhnhnms testify sufficiently to the high regard in which the horse has ever been held. The name of Bucephalus is inseparably coupled with that of Alexander. At least one Roman emperor had divine honors paid to his charger. Who can picture Don Quixote sleeping on his armor without seeing the princely Rosinante tethered under the dewy night? And the stirring incidents of John Gilpin's ride conclusively proved that the racing blood of far removed equine ancestors was not entirely wanting in the degenerate descendant.

Got All He Asked For.

Another "meest man" has been found. He lives in the city and conducts a thriving business. The other day a seedy individual approached him and said: "Say, mister, I'm hungry and would like to get a nickel to get a cup of coffee and a roll. I have four pennies and only need one more. Please give me a penny."

The man after searching himself said: "I haven't got a penny. All I have is a nickel. Give me your four cents in change, and I will give you the nickel."

The beggar requests that his name be not mentioned in connection with the item.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Doubtful Praise.

Stippler—Did Miss Kittle admire your paintings? Dobber—I don't know. Stippler—What did she say about them? Dobber—That she could feel that I put a great deal of myself into my work. Stippler—Well, that's praise. Dobber—Is it? The picture I showed her was "Calves in the Meadow."—New York Journal.

Music Lovers.

"How do you know those people are sincere lovers of music?" "By the fact," replied Miss Cayenne, "that they compelled their youngest boy to stop trying to learn to play the piano."—Washington Star.

Soup Marks.

Guest—You called "Minna." Is that the blond, the dark one or the old woman? Walter—How do you know our cooks? Guest—By the soup.—Meggen-dorfer Blatter.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by Central Drug Store.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

Another Nice Deal in Dirt.

H. P. Jordan and H. H. Sessions, of the firm of the W. T. Melton & Co., were in Austin last week where they consummated a deal whereby G. R. White sold to H. Youngquist, Robt. E., J. A. and Frank Gustafson, of Travis county, 680 acres of land in Mr. White's South Brady pasture. The total consideration was $19,995.00.

This is one of the finest tracts of land in the Melvin South Brady country, and the purchasers will at once begin putting same into farms. They are all thrifty Swede farmers, and are the kind of citizens we like to see come into our county.

Melton & Co. also report the sale by them of 700 acres of land owned by the McCulloch County Land and Cattle Co. near Rochelle, to E. E. Willoughby, at $6.00 per acre.

SPECIAL CLUBBING OFFER

Every intelligent man wants to keep up with the news of his own community and his county. Therefore he needs a good local paper. He also needs a paper of general news, and for State, National and world-wide happenings he will find that has no superior. The secret of its great success is that it gives the farmer and his family just what they need in the way of a family newspaper. In addition to its general news and agricultural news, it has special pages for the wife, the boys and the girls. It gives the latest market reports and publishes more special crop reports during the year than any other paper. For $1.75 cash in advance, we will send the Semi-Weekly Farm News and The Brady Standard each for one year. This means you will get a total of 156 copies. It's a combination which can't be beat, and you will secure your money's worth many times over. Subscribe at once at the office of this paper.

The Semi-Weekly Farm News

IF SICK--WHY PAY

Unless Health First Returns.

Here is what should and can be done for you. Now you would not willingly pay for food that was worthless—would you?

Then why pay for medicine until that medicine first proves to you its actual worth? Positively knowing what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do for the sick, I say to all "don't pay unless health first returns". And I back my Restorative with a signed and sealed 30 day "No help, No pay" contract.

I positively pledge to the sick everywhere that "Dr. Shoop's Restorative is absolute-ly free if it fails". Let others do the same—or else pass their prescriptions by.

If you need more strength, more vitality, more vigor or more vim, use my Restorative a few days and note the immediate improvement.

When the Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys go wrong, then test Dr. Shoop's Restorative. I do not lose the Stomach nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys, for that is wrong. Years ago I cast away that mistaken idea in medicine. The books below will tell you how I am succeeding.

These books also tell of a tiny hidden "inside nerve," no larger than a silken thread. They tell how that nerve, until it fails, actually gives to the Heart its power, its tone, its never-ending action or impulse.

These books will open up new and helpful ideas to those who are not well. They tell how the Stomach and Kidneys each have their "inside" or power nerves. They tell how the Restorative was especially made to reach and revitalize these weak or failing inside nerves. All of these facts will why I am able to say, "It is free if it fails".

This is why I say "take no chance on a medicine whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer".

So write me today for the order. I have appointed honest and responsible druggists in nearly every community to issue my medicines to the sick.

But write me first for the order. All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test. So drop me a line please—and thus save disappointment and delays. Tell me also which book you need.

A postal will do. Besides, you are free to consult me as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some uncertainties. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request. So write now while you have it fresh in mind, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

GOOD GYPSUM ROAD.

Successful Experiments With the Mineral Made by Kansas Experts.

W. S. Gearhart, state highway engineer of Kansas, who recently returned from an inspection tour through the southwestern part of that state, says the county commissioners in that part of the state believe in permanent roads and permanent bridges. Mr. Gearhart is well pleased with the results of the experiment in road building through the sand hills near Garden City.

"A little more than a year ago," he said, "the commercial club and the county commissioners requested the office of public roads to send a man out to investigate possibilities of improving this road. Mr. Spoon, the sand clay expert, made then a visit and found that there were large deposits of gypsum all along the road. Tests were made on the gypsum, showing that it would make a good binder for the sand. The people decided to construct 700 feet of road under the direction of Mr. Spoon, and it was so satisfactory that they have now finished six miles of road at a total cost of $3,500. The 700 feet constructed first is smoother now than the remainder because the sand and gypsum were thoroughly mixed by plowing, disking and harrowing. The remainder was constructed by placing six inches of gypsum on the sand for a width of twelve feet and then a few inches of sand were placed on top of this and left for the traffic to do the mixing.

"It requires about two years to get a road in first class condition when constructed in this manner, but it is much cheaper than the other construction. Hot, dry weather is the worst enemy of this type of road, but despite the drought it is now in excellent condition and compares very favorably with the best macadam roads. The surface is hard and smooth and shows no signs of wear.

"The only complaint any one has to make is that the road is so smooth that loads must be placed on the wagons so that they can be safely taken down the hills. Some still refuse to get a lock and in going down drive with one wheel out in the sand and the other on the hard road. One year ago the sand on the road was so bad that people living ten miles south of Garden City, just beyond the hills, hauled their grain forty miles south to a railroad station, while at present grain and produce are being hauled twenty-eight miles north to Garden City.

"It is a place to go to be 'shown' if one has any doubt in his mind about the possibility of successfully constructing a sand, gypsum or clay road."

ROAD REPAIRER ENJOINED.

Physician Who Tried to Improve Highway Served With Injunction.

Widespread interest has been created in good roads circles in the case of Dr. Donald McCaskey of Witmer, Pa., who has been restrained from making further improvements to the Witmer road, a much traveled thoroughfare of East Lampeter township.

The physician, after failing to get the road supervisors of his local township to fix a dangerous and unkept half mile of yellow clay roadway, in desperation and at his own expense began to make repairs to the road himself. The doctor built King road drags and hired horses from farmers throughout the community who would rent them, and, not being able to induce anybody to repair the road for him, the physician drove the team and rode the drag himself. Occasionally a small boy was taken along to stand on the drag for ballast.

After fifteen hours of strenuous labor distributed over a period of six to eight weeks after each rain the neglected byroad was transformed into a substantial highway. All that was used was the simple wooden instrument termed the split log drag, which can be made by any farmer out of a log or a few boards.

The physician's efforts worked such a transformation in the minds of the incredulous inhabitants of his community that the road drag met with popular favor, and the road officials began to be critically censured for their alleged indisposition to fulfill the duties of their official office.

They promptly secured an injunction restraining the physician from doing any more work of the kind, alleging that he had done this work "to the injury of the road at times and to the inconvenience of the traveling public." The case is still before the courts.

Good Roads as Memorials.

W. W. Mitchell, one of the men of means at Cadillac, Mich., has offered a bonus, said to be as much as $300, for each mile of good road constructed in Wexford county in the next three years. Presumably one of the principal highways leading into the county seat will be known as the Mitchell road. Whether it is or not, the aid given in the creation of a county system of improved highways will cause Mr. Mitchell to be held in grateful remembrance by future users of the roads.

State Supports Good Road Cause.

The state of Rhode Island has taken in about $43,000 so far this year for automobile registrations. The money goes into the fund for repair and maintenance of roads.

Good Highways in Cuba.

General Carlos Garcia-Velez, minister from Cuba to the United States, says that Cuba has 1,300 miles of the most excellent macadam roads constructed of crushed coral.

Whose Behind the Goods

You are Thinking of Buying?

The most important features to consider in the purchase of merchandise are: Where can I buy goods that I can absolutely depend on; and, whose behind the goods? The firm of Conley Mercantile Company for years enjoyed the best reputation for honorable business methods. To "make good" our statement is the foundation upon which we've built the enormous business we now enjoy. The stress that we put on the quality and value of our goods is not so much what is said but who says it. We would be glad to have every lady and gentleman in this territory to come to our store and see the new things that we are showing; if we don't sell you, we can at least put you next as to the leading staples for the coming season. We didn't get all the plums, when in market, but we were lucky enough to get the latest thing in all lines. A look will convince you. Come to Conley's and get posted before buying.

IS LONG PAST CENTURY MARK

Samuel Salyers, Living Near Norton, Va., in Fair Health Although 117 Years Old.

One of the most notable instances of longevity in modern times is that of Mr. Samuel Salyers, now residing near Norton, Va., at the advanced age of 117 years, says Leslie's Weekly. He has been living in a little log cabin for 35 years in succession. Mr. Salyers was justice of the peace for 25 years in Wise county, and served in that capacity after he had passed his one hundredth birthday, being, it is believed, the oldest incumbent on record of such an office. He was so competent in his position that there were not two cases in which his decision was reversed. But for the fact that he is afflicted with rheumatism, Mr. Salyers would be quite an active man. He walks around yet very well with the aid of a cane and a crutch. He has several children living that are as gray-headed as he is. Mr. Salyers, although he continues to take an interest in affairs, says he does not understand why he has been kept on the earth so long and that he is pretty tired of staying here. Many people have enjoyed his relation of events of the distant past, and especially his reminiscences of the war of 1812.

LOCAL KINGS IN AUSTRALIA.

Apparently there are still kings in Australia. At Collarenebri recently Sir Harry Rawson, as governor of New South Wales, performed the ceremony of crowning the king of a local aboriginal tribe. Sir Harry afterwards shook hands with the monarch, and presented him with a sovereign. His excellency was in turn presented with a plate worn by a deceased king, and he promised to have a similar one sent to the new ruler.

BRADY, TEXAS, FEBRUARY 24, 1910

INVESTMENTS in Brady city
property are gilt edged.

GET a home in bully, bustling, busy Brady, the best town in Central West Texas.

OUR chiefest need now is an active commercial club with a paid secretary. Let's have it.

will now have time to make the race for governor.

FARM land investments in Mc-Culloch county are gilt edged of opportunity.

BRADY'S smokestack district should be increased this year by the addition of a flour mill, a broom factory, and a score of smaller enterprises. A commercial club would get them.

BRADY'S prospects for making a big city are better than any other town's in this entire section of the state, and yet Brady city property is no higher in price than that of much smaller towns. Compare the prices with Mason, Menardville and other towns not yet on the railroad.

Just think of it! Twenty-five hundred homeseekers passed through Fort Worth one day recently and not a one of them came to the great Brady Country! Really, we MUST do some advertising. Thousands of homeseekers looking to Texas,
yea, coming to Texas, every month and Brady is doing nothing to encourage emigration!

BRADY and McCulloch county, properly advertised, would draw more homeseekers who would STAY than any other section of Texas. A commercial club could do wonders, but we have it not. And there is no good reason for this condition. Every man you meet will acknowledge

the need of an active commercial body, and most of them will give liberally to support it. Has Brady no one to take the lead in effecting the organization?

LOOK AFTER YOUR PROPERTY.

It is a safe rule in this world to look carefully after the details of your own property. Be sure your title deeds are recorded, that your insurance is kept up, that you alone have the key to your strong box in the safety vault. Do not leave your securities with your broker. If he is doing a conservative business he has no need of them. If he isn't you don't want him to handle your property. The wonder is that with all the confidence reposed in financial matters there are so few defalcations. There is no use in making it easy for some one to get your property. In this world it is hard for most persons to acquire anything, and they should be careful to the last degree in seeing that they are fully protected in it.—Philadel-

THE NEW MACADAM.

How Road Builders Have Improved on Scotchman's Idea.

IDEAL HIGHWAY NECESSITIES

Careful Grading, Good Drainage, Sub-
Surface Necessary For the Up to Date Macadamized Road.

In a recent speech on the construction and maintenance of macadam roads Austin B. Fletcher, secretary of the Massachusetts highway commission, said:

Macadam's road is a thing of the past. In fact, the road of the kind built by the Scotchman John Loudon Macadam and named in his honor has been obsolete in this country for some time.

Macadam knew nothing of machine broken stone, and he did not dream that a broken stone roadway could be made as smooth as a billiard table by the use of steam road rollers.

In these days when we speak of a macadam road we mean a road with the following characteristics:

not exceeding a five foot rise in 100 feet of length.

A road with drainage appliances so
perfect that substantially no water reaches the broken stone from below.

A road with a foundation consisting
of either the natural soil, if suitable, otherwise of artificially placed gravel or unbroken stone, so that the foundation with the superimposed broken stone will have sufficient strength to distribute over the underlying soil any load to which the road is likely to be subjected.

A road with a wearing surface of two or more layers of broken stone,
small in size, those at the bottom usually not more than two and one-half inches in diameter and those at the top generally varying from one
and one-quarter inches to one-half inch.

BEAUTIFUL STRETCH OF MACADAMIZED

(From Good Roads Magazine, New York.)
In diameter, each course or layer carefully spread, uniform in depth and rolled thoroughly with a steam road roller before the next course is placed.
By this process, the rolling being done
on thin layers, the stones become thoroughly compacted and the void spaces or interstices between the stones are largely eliminated. The final process consists in spreading over the surface of the upper layer of broken stone a thin covering of the screenings which result from the machine breaking of the stones and which contain a considerable proportion of fine dust, then flushing or grouting the screenings
into such voids as remain between the broken stone and rolling the road with the steam roller.

So far as the treatment of macadam roads is concerned, the remedy seems to be in the application of protective coats or coverings of a bituminous nature.
Before any of the bituminous materials are applied it is essential that the road surface be evened up and patched where necessary, rolled and swept clean of all dust. The bituminous materials are then applied hot to the road surface by means of spraying machines or gravity distributors or by hand in quantities varying from one-quarter to three-quarters of a gallon to the square yard and immediately covered evenly with sand, fine gravel or broken stone screenings.
The annual maintenance will be merely the cost of renewing the covering, probably from 4 cents to 5 cents per square yard per annum. By this method no wear whatever will take place on the broken stone, and in a sense that portion of the ordinary macadam road which takes the wear will thereafter be only a foundation for the bituminous wearing coat.
The protective coat referred to would probably be inadequate for traffic, and
the introduction of bituminous binders
into the voids between the broken stones would be necessary.
A good deal of work of this sort is being done now in an experimental way by mixing the bituminous material with the broken stone before it is placed on the roadway or by grout-ing the bituminous material into the spaces between and around the broken stone after it has been placed and partially rolled.
The cost of the ordinary macadam road is probably from 20 to 50 cents per square yard, and the roadway will require a protective covering at least as often as once in two years. It would be economical to rely upon the protective covering and to omit the bituminous material from the voids between the stone while the traffic remains as at present.

A QUESTION OF

Should the Beggar Leave For Cents in His Hat?

"One thing that I've never settled in my mind to my satisfaction," said a street beggar specialty is sitting on a step ling out his hat to passersby.
The question of how many pennies it is wise to have in the hat for people to see as they go by. Of course you understand there are two theories on this.
Working on one you leave there only a few, just three or four pennies scattered around irregular, but pretty far apart, and on the other you leave in the hat a lot of pennies.

"Of course the idea of the first plan is to make people when they see how little you've got want to chip in and
is to stir people up to generosity by showing them how generous others have been, and there's a heap to be said for that. There's lots of people that give because other people have given—because they like to go with the crowd.

"I've tried both plans and had good days with lean bait and bad days with a full bait in the hat, and then I've had good days with a full bait and bad days with a lean bait. All you can do is, if one plan doesn't work well, try the other. You never can tell."

AVIATION.

The Dangers Involved in Three Dimensional Steering.

The navigation of the air is a form of
locomotion that differs from all the others to which men have resorted in that it involves three dimensional steering.

It is in the three dimensional nature
of aviation that the real wonder of it lies. Its demands upon the aviator's attention are almost appalling in number and constancy. The automobilist has to mind what he is about not a little, and a moment's carelessness means disaster, but his divergences from safety are all horizontal. The road and gravity take care of the others for him, while the aeroplane can make mistakes all the way around a sphere;
hence, in addition to lending an attentive ear to every sound from a complicated and delicate engine, he must
two more at the ends of his wings.
And all these must be combined and co-ordinated. Water is stability itself in comparison with the medium through which he moves. When in flight, therefore, the aviator is probably the busiest man alive, and there is not an instant
of rest for him till after he has made his perilous descent.—New York Times.

He Put the Brake On.

In his autobiography the late Professor Shaler of Harvard tells this story: Once he was present at a dinner
in England where Tyndall, the renowned scientist, started to tell about his experiences in America. His descriptions were, to say the least, exaggerated. Just as he was telling about a thrilling escape from drowning which he had had while viewing Niagara falls—describing it with bursts of hyperbole—his eye happened to catch that of Shaler, whom he had not noticed before.

For a moment Tyndall stopped,
flushed—then, with wink of the eye,
as if begging Shaler not to "give him away," he continued the tale, but in a noticeably subdued vein.

At its conclusion Tyndall sought Shaler.

"I fear that yarn of mine was rather highly colored," he confessed to the American, "but it is sometimes necessary to touch up the truth a bit."

More Than One Trafalgar Square.

The Scotland Yard examination
which would be taxicab drivers have undergo in the knowledge of London is no mere matter of form. "If,"
asked the inquisitor recently of a candidate, "a fare hails you in Trafalgar square and asks to be driven to Trafalgar square what would you do?" "I should drive him around a bit and drop him on the other side of the square," replied the candidate. And he was turned down, for he did not know that London has three Trafalgar squares besides the finest site in Europe—one in Camberwell, one in Chelsea and one in Stepney.—London Chronicle.

The Truly Reticent Woman.

Speak of a reticent woman and most people picture to themselves a woman who doesn't talk much. But the truly reticent woman—the woman who makes reticence an art—is not at all silent. She talks with what is apparently the greatest candor, so that people go away from her saying what a frank, genial woman she is. And no one ever suspects, unless he or she is phenomenally clever, that the genial conversationalist had all sorts of unspoken things in her mind.—Exchange.

Father's Real Role.

"As to how?"
"About using their boots on suitors.
On four different occasions I have been referred by a young lady to her father, and every time I found it was for the

sociation.)

On Lake Thun (Thunder lake), in Switzerland, is the little town of Ober-hofen, with its schloss and tiled roofed houses and quaint narrow streets running in so many diagonal directions that if the town were not very small one could never find his way from one end to the other. A short distance from Oberhofen, bordering
the lake, is a little fruit farm that for generations has belonged to a family of the name of Zeltner.

About a hundred years ago there was growing up on the farm Gretchen Zeltner, one of those plump, fair, flax-
en haired Swiss lasses who are attractive even to this day. And today on going to church of a Sunday the Swiss girls wear the same costumes that Gretchen then wore—a short skirt of bright colors, a black velvet hood-lece, with silver chains hanging the one

"WON'T YOU HAVE AN APPLE?" SHE ASKED, and from the bosom, the other from the shoulder blade. On Gretchen's head was a dainty white muslin cap.
A pretty girl in such a costume was not likely to want for lovers, nor did Gretchen, but she gave her heart to one Max Beck and had no encouragement for any other.

One day a peddler passed through
farm. Herman Zeltner, Gretchen's father, was seen to walk away from the house with the peddler in earnest conversation. They climbed up the mountain side and passed through a wood, beyond which was an open space, where grew a single apple tree. Zeltner returned to the house, but the peddler did not. Later his people, who missed him, tracked him to the Zeltner farm, but could gain no trace of him after his departure. The last person by whom he was seen was Herman Zeltner.

Naturally suspicion fell upon the farmer of having murdered the peddler, for it was known that the latter had a good deal of money on his person. Zeltner was arrested and taken before a magistrate. There were no witnesses, and he was simply questioned. He said that the peddler had told him that he had made enough money to buy a farm and was desirous of doing so. He asked Zeltner to show him over his own farm and give him some instruction as to what he would need. Zeltner had done so, and when the two reached the apple tree which marked the farthest point the farm extended up the mountain side they had stood under it for awhile, Zeltner telling the man what implements he would need and where to procure them. While talking some loose stones were detached above and came down the incline. Thinking it was some animal, they had listened, but heard nothing more. Then the peddler had gone on, having inquired the way to one of the villages higher up on the mountain side.

There being no evidence against Zeltner, he was discharged from custody; but, though he had previously borne an excellent reputation, many people believed him guilty. Unfortunately for Max and Gretchen old Carl Beck was among this number. He told his son that the Becks had for generations borne a spotless reputation
and that he would never consent that the daughter of a murderer should come into the family. This meant that the young man should give up Gretchen.

"Max," said Gretchen one day in tears, "if we could but find the mur-derer that would relieve father of this
suspicion which is killing him."
"He was grafting yesterday," said
Max. "I saw him from the height above. He was at work on the lone apple tree."
"That is the only work he has done.
He goes up there often, but usually to sit and brood. You know that is where
him when he went away. I wish father wouldn't go there. The neighbors see him sitting under the apple tree
and think he is drawn to the place where they say he killed his victim."
"What fruit did he graft on the tree?"
"A branch from the red apple tree
over there."

"It was here," said Gretchen, "that my father more than a year ago parted with a peddler whom he had been showing over his farm. The peddler has never been heard from since."
"What became of him?" asked the man, looking away and changing his position from one foot to another.
"My father was accused of murdering him."
"And was it proved against your father?" asked the stranger.
"No. There were no witnesses. But father is as innocent as you or I."
Gretchen thought she saw the man's pale face grow a little paler.

"And is he believed to be guilty?"
"Some people think so because he comes up here at times and sits under the tree. They say that something draws a murderer back to the scene of
his crime."
Gretchen saw the stranger tremble.
Her mind was absorbed in her father's trouble, which also kept her and her lover apart. This made her garrulous.
She kept on:

"I've tried to persuade father not to come up here. But he will in spite of all I can do."
"Doesn't that look as if he were guilty?" asked the man.

"No. It seems to me that he expects to meet the real murderer here.
And if it's true that murderers must revisit the scenes of their crimes perhaps father will find him here some day."

The man hurriedly turned to go.
Gretchen noticed that the hand he removed from the fence was trembling
like a leaf in the wind.

"Won't you have an apple?" she asked.

"No, no, no!" Then, suddenly checking himself, he added: "Thank you, my girl. I never eat apples. They're sour and hard."

"These are not. They're sweet and juicy." She moved toward him, holding out one of the apples she had plucked from a lower branch of the tree.

"No, no, no!" repeated the man, starting at the apple as if there was something about it to be dreaded.

Gretchen looked at him in astonishment. Then, as if to show him that the fruit was harmless, she raised it
to her mouth, took a big bite and held the exposed pulp up for him to see.

Down at the farmhouse Herman Zeltner heard a wild cry. It seemed to him that it came from the direction of the lone apple tree. Bounding up the incline, in another moment he came in sight of his daughter. A man was standing on the other side of the fence holding to the top.

"Take it away!" cried the stranger.
"There's blood on it! It's from his veins! It has grown up through the trunk and has got into the apples!"

Gretchen stood speechless. Suddenly her father dashed up to the stranger, leaped the fence and, grasping
him by the shoulder, forced him down into a kneeling position.

"You fiend! You killed him and left me to suffer for your crime! What do you mean by blood from his veins?
Where did you bury him? Under the
tree?"

"Yes," gasped the man, his terror
at the blood stains, as he supposed
them, in the grafted apple dominating his terror at being accused of the crime.

Zeltner called for assistance, and some of his farm hands came running toward the party.

"There is the murderer," he said.
"He killed the peddler and has buried him under the apple tree. Bring spades."

Spades were brought, and the body of the peddler was exhumed. His murderer refused to look on it, covering his face with his hands.

"So you took a grafted apple for blood stains, did you?" cried Zeltner, white with rage. "Thank heaven, who prompted me to put a red apple on this tree, for heaven, who sent you back here, must have led me to furnish the means to draw out your confession!" Then to the others, "Take him away to jail!"

When the man had gone Zeltner questioned Gretchen as to how it had occurred, and when he found that she had been the instrument by which he had been freed from the incubus that had been resting upon him he took her in his arms and wept tears of joy.

"The good book says," he cried, "that a woman tempted a man with an apple. It has been for you, my child, to convict a man with the same fruit and exonerate your father!"

A more detailed confession showed that the prisoner, who was walking from Interlaken to Thun, was resting on the mountain side on the day the peddler left Herman Zeltner. He saw the peddler take out a handful of gold and attempt to induce Zeltner to accept one of the pieces in recompense for the information he had received.
Throwing himself in the peddler's path, the man struck him from behind a tree, as he passed, on the back of the head, stunning him, then killed him.
He hid the body till night, then buried
it under the apple tree, thinking if it was found that the murder would be

SOME BULLS OF REAL HUMOR.

All Walks of Life Seem to Have Contributed Sentences Adding to the Gayety of Nations.

The British house of commons, as might have been expected, has contributed a fair share to a very amusing collection of "bulls." It was in one of the debates of that body that the late Col. Saunderson described Eastern Roumelia as "man enough to take her stand" in defense of a certain threatened right.

The biography of Dean Hook recalls a certain minor canon, who used to preach at the cathedral when Hook was a boy at Winchester school. In one of his sermons there occurred the striking reflection that "what is impossible can never be, and very seldom comes to pass."

Another discourse was long remembered for its pathetic lamentation on the degeneracy of the age: "O tempora! O mores! What times we live in! Little boys and girls run about the streets cursing and swearing before they can either walk or talk!"

But the Church of England has no monopoly of these violent contrasts, for it was at a city temple meeting not many years ago that a speaker exclaimed: "I find my time is already gone. Therefore I will keep within it."—Windsor Magazine.

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the home, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupefying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy Prescription. For City Recorder.

In our announcement column for city officers, election next April, appears this week the name of E. P. Lea as a candidate for City Recorder. Judge Lea asks for this office on the solicitation of friends to make the race. That he is qualified to fill the office with credit to himself and the city at large goes without saying. In addition to his past four years as justice of the peace he also had a number of years in Somerville county both as attorney and justice of the peace. His platform will be to conduct the office, if elected, with equal fairness to all and partiality to none, tracking the letter of the law without fear or favor in every case that may come before him. Your support will be appreciated.

property are gilt edged.

GET a home in bully, bustling,

active commercial club with a

should be increased this year by
the addition of a flour mill, a
broom factory, and a score of
smaller enterprises. A commercial club would get them.

a big city are better than any
other town's in this entire sec-
city property is no higher in
price than that of much smaller
towns. Compare the prices with Mason, Menardville and other towns not yet on the railroad.

JUST think of it! Twenty-five hundred homeseekers passed through Fort Worth one day recently and not a one of them
came to the great Brady Country! Really, we MUST do some advertising. Thousands of homeseekers looking to Texas,
yea, coming to Texas, every
month and Brady is doing nothing
to encourage emigration!

BRADY and McCulloch county,
properly advertised, would draw
more homeseekers who would STAY than any other section of Texas. A commercial club
could do wonders, but we have it not. And there is no good reason

on for this condition. Every man you meet will acknowledge
the need of an active commercial
body, and most of them will give
liberally to support it. Has Brady no one to take the lead in

It is a safe rule in this world to
look carefully after the details of
title deeds are recorded, that your
have the key to your strong box in
the safety vault. Do not leave your securities with your broker. If he
you don't want him to handle your

all the confidence reposed in financial matters there are so few defalcations. There is no use in making it easy for some one to get your
for most persons to acquire any-
the last degree in seeing that they

THE NEW MACADAM.

How Road Builders Have Improved on Scotchman's Idea.

Careful Grading, Good Drainage, Sub-
Surface Necessary For the Up to Date Macadamized Road.

In a recent speech on the construc-
roads Austin B. Fletcher, secretary of the Massachusetts highway commission, said:

Macadam's road is a thing of the
past. In fact, the road of the kind
built by the Scotchman John Loudon Macadam and named in his honor has become obsolete in this country for some time.

Macadam knew nothing of machine
the use of steam road rollers.

In these days when we speak of a macadam road we mean a road with
the following characteristics:

not exceeding a five foot rise in 100
feet of length.

A road with drainage appliances so
reaches the broken stone from below.

or broken stone, if suitable, or unbroken stone, so that the foundation will have sufficient strength to distribute over the underlying soil any load which the road is likely to be subjected to.

A road with a wearing surface of
small in size, those at the bottom
usually not more than two and one-
the top generally varying from one

[From Good Roads Magazine, New York.]
In diameter, each course or layer carefully spread, uniform in depth and
roller before the next course is placed.
By this process, the rolling being done
on thin layers, the stones become thor-
or interstices between the stones are
thin covering of the screenings which
result from the machine breaking of
the stones and which contain a considerable proportion of fine dust, then
broken stone and rolling the road with
the steam roller.

So far as the treatment of macadam
roads is concerned, the remedy seems
to be in the application of protective coats or coverings of a bituminous nature.

Before any of the bituminous materials are applied it is essential that
the road surface be evened up and
patched where necessary, rolled and
swept clean of all dust. The bitu-
to the road surface by means of spraying machines or gravity distributors or
by hand in quantities varying from
one-quarter to three-quarters of a gallon to the square yard and immediately covered evenly with sand, fine gravel or broken stone screenings.

The annual maintenance will be merely the cost of renewing the covering,
probably from 4 cents to 5 cents per square yard per annum. By this method no wear whatever will take place
that portion of the ordinary macadam
road which takes the wear will thereafter be only a foundation for the
bituminous wearing coat.

probably be inadequate for traffic, and
stones would be necessary.

being done now in an experimental
way by mixing the bituminous material with the broken stone before it is placed on the roadway or by grout-
spaces between and around the broken
stone after it has been placed and partially rolled.

The cost of the ordinary macadam
road is probably from 20 to 50 cents
per square yard, and the roadway will require a protective covering at least
protective covering and to omit the bituminous material from the voids between the stone while the traffic remains as at present.

Should the Beggar Leave Five Cents in His Hat?

"One thing that I've never to settle in my mind to my
specially is sitting on a step a-ling out his hat to passersby. The question of how many pennies it is wise to have in the hat for people to see as they go by. Of course you understand there are two theories on this.
Working on one you leave there only
a few, just three or four pennies scattered around irregular, but pretty far apart, and on the other you leave in
the hat a lot of pennies.

"Of course the idea of the first plan is to make people when they see how little you've got want to chip in and
showing them how generous others have been, and there's a heap of to be said for that. There's lots of people that give because other people have given—because they like to go with
the crowd.

"I've tried both plans and had good days with lean bait and had days with
had days with a lean bait. All you can do is, if one plan doesn't work well,

AVIATION.

The Dangers Involved In Three Dimensional Steering.

The navigation of the air is a form of
locomotion that differs from all the others to which men have resorted in
that it involves three dimensional steering.

It is in the three dimensional nature
of aviation that the real wonder of it
attention are almost appalling in number and constancy. The automobilist
disaster, but his divergences from safety
are all horizontal. The road and gravity take care of the others for him, while the aeroplaneist can make mistakes all the way around a sphere;
hence, in addition to lending an attentive ear to every sound from a complicated and delicate engine, he must
two more at the ends of his wings. And all these must be combined and coordinated. Water is stability itself in comparison with the medium through which he moves. When in flight, therefore, the aviator is probably the busiest
man alive, and there is not an instant
of rest for him till after he has made his perilous descent.—New York Times.

He Put the Brake On.

In his autobiography the late Professor Shaler of Harvard tells this story: Once he was present at a dinner
in England where Tyndall, the renowned scientist, started to tell about experiences in America. His descriptions were, to say the least, exaggerated. Just as he was telling about a thrilling escape from drowning which he had had while viewing Niagara
falls—describing it with bursts of hyperbole—his eye happened to catch that of Shaler, whom he had not noticed before.

For a moment Tyndall stopped,
abashed—then, with a wink of the eye,
as if begging Shaler not to "give him away," he continued the tale, but in a noticeably subdued vein.

At his conclusion Tyndall sought
Shaler.

"I fear that yarn of mine was rather highly colored," he confessed to the American, "but it is sometimes necessary to touch up the truth a bit."

More Than One Trafalgar Square.

which would be taxicab drivers have to undergo in the knowledge of London is no mere matter of form. "If,"
asked the inquisitor recently of a candidate, "a fare hails you in Trafalgar
square and asks to be driven to Trafal-
gar square what would you do?" "I should drive him around a bit and
drop him on the other side of the square," replied the candidate. And
he was turned down, for he did not
squares besides the finest site in Europe—one in Camberwell, one in Chel-
Chronicle.

The Truly Reticent Woman.

Speak of a reticent woman and most
people picture to themselves a woman who doesn't talk much. But the truly
reticent woman—the woman who
makes reticence an art—is not at all
silent. She talks with what is apparently the greatest candor, so that people go away from her saying what a
frank, genial woman she is. And no one ever suspects, unless he or she is phenomenally clever, that the genial conversationalist had all sorts of un-
spoken things in her mind.—Exchange.

Father's Real Role.

"As to how?"
"About using their boots on suitors.
On four different occasions I have been
referred by a young lady to her father,
and every time I found it was for the purpose of letting me down easy."—

Give Gretchen an Apple.

By ETHEL BOYER.
(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

On Lake Thun (Thunder lake), in Switzerland, is the little town of Ober-hofen, with its schloss and tiled roofed houses and quaint narrow streets running in so many diagonal direc-
small one could never find his way
from one end to the other. A short distance from Oberhofen, bordering
the lake, is a little fruit farm that for generations has belonged to a family
of the name of Zeltner.

About a hundred years ago there
was growing up on the farm Gretchen Zeltner, one of those plump, fair, flax-
en haired Swiss lasses who are attractive even to this day. And today on going to church of a Sunday the Swiss
girls wear the same costumes that Gretchen then wore—a short skirt of bright colors, a black velvet bodice,

After a hundred years ago there

Zeltner, one of those plump, fair, flax-
en haired Swiss lasses who are attractive even to this day. And today on end from the bosom, the other from the shoulder blade. On Gretchen's

head was a dainty white muslin cap.
A pretty girl in such a costume was
not likely to want for lovers, nor did Gretchen, but she gave her heart to
one Max Beck and had no encouragement for any other.

One day a peddler passed through
farm. Herman Zeltner, Gretchen's father, was seen to walk away from the house with the peddler in earnest conversation. They climbed up the mountain side and passed through a wood,
beyond which was an open space,
where grew a single apple tree. Zeltner returned to the house, but the peddler did not. Later his people, who missed him, tracked him to the Zeltner farm, but could gain no trace of him after his departure. The last person by whom he was seen was Herman Zeltner.

Naturally suspicion fell upon the
farmer of having murdered the peddler, for it was known that the latter
had a good deal of money on his per-
son. Zeltner was arrested and taken before a magistrate. There were no witnesses, and he was simply questioned. He said that the peddler had
money to buy a farm and was desirous of doing so. He asked Zeltner to show
him over his own farm and give him
some instruction as to what he would
the two reached the apple tree which
extended up the mountain side they
had stood under it for awhile, Zeltner
telling the man what implements he
them. While talking some loose stones
were detached above and came down
the incline. Thinking it was some animal, they had listened, but heard nothing more. Then the peddler had gone on, having inquired the way to one of the villages higher up on the mountain side.

There being no evidence against Zeltner, he was discharged from custody; but, though he had previously
borne an excellent reputation, many people believed him guilty. Unfortunately for Max and Gretchen old Carl Beck was among this number. He told his son that the Becks had for generations borne a spotless reputation
and that he would never consent that
the daughter of a murderer should
come into the family. This meant that the young man should give up Gretchen.

"Max," said Gretchen one day in
tears, "if we could but find the mur-derer that would relieve father of this
suspicion which is killing him."
"He was grafting yesterday," said
Max. "I saw him from the height above. He was at work on the lone apple tree."

"That is the only work he has done.
He goes up there often, but usually to
him when he went away. I wish father wouldn't go there. The neighbors see him sitting under the apple tree
and think he is drawn to the place
where they say he killed his victim."
"What fruit did he graft on the
tree?"

"A branch from the red apple tree
over there."

are white.

Gretchen was the apple tree and stopped to look at the fruit. While doing so a man came and, leaning on the fence, began to talk with her. He had a very restless eye and was constantly changing his position. He asked her a number of questions pertaining to the locality and finally began to talk about the tree.

"It was here," said Gretchen, "that my father more than a year ago parted with a peddler whom he had been showing over his farm. The peddler
has never been heard from since."
"What became of him?" asked the
man, looking away and changing his
position from one foot to another.

"My father was accused of murdering him."

"And was it proved against your father?" asked the stranger.

"No. There were no witnesses. But

Gretchen thought she saw the man's
pale face grow a little paler.

"And is he believed to be guilty?"
"Some people think so because he
comes up here at times and sits under
the tree. They say that something draws a murderer back to the scene of
his crime."

Gretchen saw the stranger tremble.
Her mind was absorbed in her father's
trouble, which also kept her and her lover apart. This made her garrulous.
She kept on:

"I've tried to persuade father not to come up here. But he will in spite of all I can do."

"Doesn't that look as if he were
guilty?" asked the man.

"No. It seems to me that he expects to meet the real murderer here.
And if it's true that murderers must
revisit the scenes of their crimes perhaps father will find him here some
day."

The man hurriedly turned to go.
Gretchen noticed that the hand he removed from the fence was trembling
like a leaf in the wind.

"Won't you have an apple?" she
asked.

"No, no, no!" Then, suddenly checking himself, he added: "Thank you, my girl. I never eat apples. They're sour and hard."

"These are not. They're sweet and juicy." She moved toward him, holding out one of the apples she had plucked from a lower branch of the tree.

"No, no, no!" repeated the man, starting at the apple as if there was something about it to be dreaded.

Gretchen looked at him in astonishment. Then, as if to show him that
to her mouth, took a big bite and held
the exposed pulp up for him to see.

Down at the farmhouse Herman Zeltner heard a wild cry. It seemed
to him that it came from the direction of the lone apple tree. Bounding
up the incline, in another moment he
came in sight of his daughter. A man was standing on the other side of the fence holding to the top.

"Take it away!" cried the stranger.
"There's blood on it! It's from his veins! It has grown up through the

Gretchen stood speechless. Suddenly her father dashed up to the stranger,
leaped the fence and, grasping
him by the shoulder, forced him down
into a kneeling position.

"You fend! You killed him and left me to suffer for your crime! What do you mean by blood from his veins?
Where did you bury him? Under the
tree?"

"Yes," gasped the man, his terror
at the blood stains, as he supposed
them, in the grafted apple dominating his terror at being accused of the crime.

Zeltner called for assistance, and some of his farm hands came running
toward the party.

"There is the murderer," he said.
"He killed the peddler and has buried
him under the apple tree. Bring
spades."

Spades were brought, and the body of the peddler was exhumed. His murderer refused to look on it, covering his face with his hands.

"So you took a grafted apple for
blood stains, did you?" cried Zeltner,
white with rage. "Thank heaven, who
prompted me to put a red apple on this
tree, for heaven, who sent you back
here, must have led me to furnish the means to draw out your confession." Then to the others, "Take him away to jail!"

When the man had gone Zeltner
questioned Gretchen as to how it had
had been freed from the incubus that
had been resting upon him he took her in his arms and wept tears of joy.

"The good book says," he cried, "that
a woman tempted a man with an apple. It has been for you, my child, to convict a man with the same fruit and

A more detailed confession showed
that the prisoner, who was walking
from Interlaken to Thun, was resting
peddler left Herman Zeltner. He saw the peddler take out a handful of gold
and attempt to induce Zeltner to accept one of the pieces in recompense
for the information he had received.
Throwing himself in the peddler's
path, the man struck him from behind
a tree, as he passed, on the back of the head, stunning him, then killed him.
He hid the body till night, then buried
it under the apple tree, thinking if it was found that the murderer would be attributed to the owner of the farm, as indeed it was.

Max now had no difficulty in getting his father's consent to marry Gretchen, and the wedding occurred without delay. The baron, hearing of the incident, gave a fete to the young couple at the Schloss.

SOME BULLS OF REAL HUMOR.

All Walks of Life Seem to Have Contributed Sentences Adding to the Gayety of Nations.

The British house of commons, as might have been expected, has contributed a fair share to a very amusing collection of "bulls." It was in one of the debates of that body that the late Col. Saunderson described Eastern Roumelia as "man enough to take her stand" in defense of a certain threatened right.

Another discourse was long remembered for its pathetic lamentation on the degeneracy of the age: "O tempora! O mores! What times we live in! Little boys and girls run about the streets cursing and swearing before they can either walk or talk!"

But the Church of England has no monopoly of these violent contrasts, for it was at a city temple meeting not many years ago that a speaker exclaimed: "I find my time is already gone. Therefore I will keep within it."—Windsor Magazine.

If you would have a safe yet certain Cough Remedy in the home, try Dr. Shoop's—at least once. It is thoroughly unlike any other Cough preparation. Its taste will be entirely new to you—unless it is already your favorite Cough Remedy. No opium, chloroform, or any other stupefying ingredients are used. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung-healing mountainous shrub, give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its wonderful curative properties. It is truly a most certain and trustworthy Prescription. Sold by Central Drug Store.

For City Recorder.

In our announcement column for city officers, election next April, appears this week the name of E. P. Lea as a candidate for City Recorder. Judge Lea asks for this office on the solicitation of friends to make the race. That he is qualified to fill the office with credit to himself and the city at large goes without saying. In addition to his past four years as justice of the peace he also had a number of years in Somerville county both as attorney and justice of the peace. His platform will be to conduct the office, if elected, with equal fairness to all and partiality to none, tracking the letter of the law without fear or favor in every case that may come before him. Your support will be appreciated.

To The Voters!

Brady, Texas, Feb. 20.

At the earnest solicitation of a number of my friends I have decided to announce as a candidate for the office of County and District Clerk of McCulloch county. It would be a great pleasure to me to visit every voter in the county and personally solicit their support, but my family is dependent upon my daily work and hence I must depend upon my friends throughout the county to represent me.

I have had several years' experience as an accountant and business man and have been a resident of the county seven years. Your vote and influence is earnestly solicited. Whatever assistance you may render me among your friends I assure you will be greatly appreciated by me.

Very respectfully,
W. J. YANTIS.

School Bonds Carried.

In the election Monday for the purpose of voting on bonds to the amount of $8000 for the purchase of site, erection and equipping of building for ward school on the north side, a very light vote was polled. In fact, the interest manifested was so slight as to cause wonder after all the stir heretofore in discussing the measure. Seventy-three votes were cast, of which 66 were for the bonds and 7 against.

Institute, K. P. Lodge at Menardville.

Deputy Grand Chancellor R. A. Rutherford, Jr., went to Menardville Sunday, where on Monday night he instituted a subordinate lodge of the Knights of Pythias. The following members of the Brady lodge went over Monday and assisted Mr. Rutherford in the work: L. G. Callan, Julian Davis, Albert Hendersdorf, J. V. Searcy, J. C. Jones, Jas. Westmorland, Will Tisdale, Lee Jones and S. M. Richardson. District Deputy Grand Chancellor W. H. Kay, of the Abilene district, was also in attendance and assisted in the work. The new lodge starts off with a membership of about 30, including some of that little city's most prominent citizens, who are very enthusiastic in the work of the new organization. The lodge will be known as Menard Lodge No. 414.

The jail contractors were granted further time for the completion of the new jail.

P. A. Rainbolt was appointed constable in Precinct No. 4 and his bond filed and approved.

The Rochelle Independent School District bonds for the erection of their new $10,000 public school building were ordered issued.

The usual number of accounts were allowed.

District Court.

The February term of District court convened Monday morning, Judge John W. Goodwin, of Brownwood, presiding. After empanelling the grand jury the civil docket, which is an unusually heavy one, was taken up and the following cases disposed of:

J. D. Holmes vs. Fort Worth & Rio Grande Railway Co., dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

J. S. Neal vs. Fort Worth & Rio Grande Railway Co., continued.

Joe Moore vs. Fort Worth & Rio Grande Railway Co., compromised.

M. Simon vs. R. O. Jackson, on trial.

The following grand jury was empaneled: S. E. McKnight, C. J. Hendrickson, W. T. Harris, A. N. Bryson, W. H. Cottle, Lewis Brook, J. V. Ewing, W. F. Roberts, A. C. Baze, Ab Turner, W. E. Simpson, T. J. Beasley, foreman.

State vs. Wesley Spiller, murder, set for March 3, and a special venire of 72 men ordered.

State vs. Bob Corbell, murder; set for Monday, February 28, and a special venire of 72 men ordered.

Crossley & Rogers buy and sell second-hand furniture. Two doors east of Conley's.

The ladies of the Christian church gave a dinner Tuesday in the old Turner building, and so well was it patronized that everything eatable in stock was entirely consumed at the noon hour. About $65 was realized, this sum goes into the parsonage fund.

FOR RENT—Good second-hand piano. See J. C. Bourland.

Miss Juanita Wolf left Wednesday for a visit with friends in Galveston. She will visit in Lampasas on her return.

If you have never used mixed meal and hulls try a sack on our say-so; then you will be thankful in more ways than one. Besides having more milk and richer milk, you will find the cost comparatively a trifle. Brady Oil Mill.

The new store of C. B. Watters & Co., was thrown open to the public on last Friday, and Mr. Frank Watters, the manager, says he is very much gratified indeed at the manner in which the ladies of Brady greeted the new firm. Mr. Watters has evidenced the best taste in his manner of store decorations, and has one of the prettiest stores in West Texas. Attention is called to the firm's advertisement in this issue.

For Rent.

Two bedrooms. See Mrs. Coopender, near the Christian church.

Considerable fears are entertained for the safety of the oat crop of this section succeeding the freezing weather of last week. The Standard has been unable to obtain an intelligent estimate of the amount of damage done, some claiming that the fall oats are killed while others think they will yet survive. Late planted oats are said to be uninjured.

That Case planter is a hummer, will plant just like you want it done, in the way you like it, and every time you call on it. O. D. Mann & Sons.

Mrs. Joe J. McCall suffered a sudden attack of appendicitis last Saturday, and for a day or two her condition was critical. At this writing, however, we are glad to say she is out of danger and on the road to recovery. Her many friends will indeed be glad to see her back in her accustomed place in the county clerk's office.

For Sheriff.

J. C. (Jim) Wall authorizes The Standard to say to the public that he has yielded to the solicitations of his friends and will make the race for sheriff and tax collector of McCulloch county, subject to the action of the democratic primary. Mr. Wall needs no introduction at our hands. He served the county as sheriff and tax collector for twelve years consecutively, retiring from the office four years ago, and his friends unite in saying that he made the best sheriff the county ever had; that he was absolutely fearless and altogether efficient in all the points necessary in the make-up of a good sheriff and tax collector. Mr. Wall asks those who do not know him to investigate his record as sheriff during those twelve years, being entirely willing to rest his claims on the voters upon the result of such investigation. He will appreciate your support and your influence.

News Notes of Interest From Our Country Correspondents

FIFE LOCAL.

Fife, Texas, Feb. 21.
Editor Brady Standard:

The recent cold snap seriously damaged small grain in this neighborhood, young oats being killed completely in some places. There is plenty of time to replant and many will commence this week.

R. K. Finlay made a business trip to Brady Monday.

E. B. Baldrige is serving his country this week in the capacity of Grand Juror.

J. M. Cavin has been on the sick list but is able to be out at present.

The Railroad committee of Rockwood were here the first of the week soliciting subscriptions for their bonus. They completed the $30,000 asked by the promoter on Saturday and its now up to him to build the road or back down. Should it be built it will bring Fife within 3 or 4 miles of the railroad.

Ed U. Wade, John Moore and Jas. Finlay attended the Masonic Lodge at Mercury Saturday night, returning Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. McKnight visited with Mrs. L. Bradley Sunday.

Rev. Lawrence, of Silver Valley filled his regular appointment here Sunday and Sunday night.

F. M. Bradley is dishing out great handfuls of justice to the wrong doer this week as a petit juror in District court.

Bill Walker and family visited with H. D. Bradley and wife Sunday.

We are not losing much sleep over the failure of Coleman County to build their part of the bridge across the river at Waldrip, the bridge will be built whether Coleman county comes across or not as it is an absolute necessity for this part of the county and has been carried by a majority vote of this county. We believe Coleman county will come across alright but whether they do or not we've to have it if we have to have a result.

A Simple Trick.

It's an easy matter to keep your joints and muscles supple no matter what your age may be or how you have suffered with rheumatism. Rub yourself night and morning with Ballard's Snow Liniment. PLACID YA AG APAS.

Placid, Texas, Feb. 21.

Editor Brady Standard:

The wheel of progress is still revolving in Placid and will still continue to revolve, because it has the natural force behind it to make it do so.

Mr. Viek began the erection of his meat market Monday. It is reported that he will also run a cold drink stand in connection with it and serve orders as well.

O. H. Robbins is remodeling his store this week putting in new shelves etc. making room for his new stock of dry goods, which arrived the latter part of last week.

The members of the Pentecostal Church of Nazarene are erecting a parsonage at Placid for Rev. Mance, their pastor.

Father J. F. Gault is moving into his new residence here this week. We heartily welcome him into our midst.

Achie Lee and Miss Augusta Tillman were united in the holy bonds of wedlock, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Bowden, of Rising Star officiating. We wish them all the joys that could be wished a lover and happy wedded life.

W. V. Day visited the home of the Berry Brothers Sunday.

Rev. Dillingham's little girl Lena is reported ill at the present writing.

Rev. Bowden of the Primitive Baptist faith preached an excellent sermon Sunday evening at the home of E. P. S. Lee's. Quite a number of friends and relatives were present.

W. R. Moore and wife and little daughter, Beatrice, Henry Haywood, Ennis Turbell, and William Haywood attended the service at Mr. Lee's Sunday evening.

Mr. Graey, Placid's new blacksmith threw open the doors of his shop last week and began business. Placid has been fortunate in securing Mr. Graey for he is a man that knows his business.

Mrs. Bessie Dillingham returned home Thursday evening after an extended visit of three weeks to Harbin, Texas, where she was assisting in a revival meeting.

Prof. Gault and Mrs. Bobbie Moore, who were reported ill at our last writing are up and fast gaining their strength.

Oscar Gault, another one of our bachelor townsmen was seen driving swiftly eastward Sunday evening. It is rumored that he was deer hunting. Your humble scribe knows not.

Mr. E. A. Kelly, Belvidere, Ill., writes us: "I am an ex-engineer with 22 years active service to my credit. About three years ago my kidneys were affected so that I had to give up my engine. First I was troubled with severe aching pains over the hips. Then followed inflammation of the bladder, and specks appeared before my eyes. A sample of Foley's Kidney Pills that I tried, so benefited me I bought more. I continued to take them until now I can safely testify they have made me a sound and well man." Sold by Jones Drug Co.

MERCURY MUSINGS.

Mercury, Tex. Feb. 21.

Editor Brady Standard:

After passing through one of the coldest waves of the winter he find our selves able to write for the dear old Standard.

Most everyone in Mercury is enjoying good health even though the cost of living is high and bacon is scarce.

Our farmers are just waiting for planting time and expect to reap a bountiful harvest in 1910.

C. C. Spiller, of Rochelle, was visiting in this neighborhood Sunday.

Mr. Moore, of Loba, was down here Saturday in his auto.

Henry Hughes, of Brownwood, visited his parents near Mercury Sunday.

Kid Jeffrey manager of the Company Ranch has just received a new incubator. From this we judge that the ranch will be turned into a poultry farm. Kid will surely make a success of his new enterprise, as most old backsliders like pets.

Rev. Vinson filled his regular appointment here last Sunday. The Baptist people have a nice church house and have it nicely seated. They expect to put in a bell in the near future.

While the candidates are rubbing up their political guns the boys' back in the woods are sharpening their pencils for much scratching. From the number of candidates on it will require a great deal of patience to vote, but we should use patience and judgment in our selection of officers.

J. H. Skipworth sold his residence to James Cawyer and will move about the first of March.

WALDRIP WAYS.

Waldrip, Texas, Feb. 20.

Editor Brady Standard:

Have been absent for sometime and have noticed there has been but only few items from our progressive little town, but we are gradually coming to the front.

R. A. Love and son, of Kansas City, the great railroad promoter, have been in our midst, and we are almost sure to get the railroad within a quarter of a mile, if not closer. Boost it up.

Mrs. D. W. Hill and children left for their new home near Pecos City a few days ago.

Mrs. J. M. Hutto and son, Raymond, came in Monday night.

Misses Edna Powell and Jessie Ramsey were in Brady last week.

Mrs. Callie Babe was shopping in Brady last Thursday.

Quite a number of Fife and Rockwood people were driving around in Waldrip Sunday.

Miss Mary Powell spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Lillie Knight of Fife.

The H. H. S. S. will give an open session the night of the 26th in honor of the birthday of George Washington. Everybody invited.

Misses Mary Powell and Vina Bugardner visited friends near Brady the first of the month.

The young people enjoyed a social at Mr. Walker's Friday night.

The young people met at Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Franklin's Saturday night and spent a few hours playing 42.

The Misses Ramseys, Myrtle Webb and Leon Browning, of Loba, were with the kodaking crowd Sunday.

Rev Barrow filled his appointment Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Finlay were autoing three over our city Sunday afternoon.

W. T. Bumgardner made a flying trip to Brady Sunday. He has sold out and will leave for Brady, shortly.

Mrs. G. E. Metts was called to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Emma Hayes, of Loba, who is seriously ill.

Was glad to see the Fife correspondent come through after so long a time. Come again your letter was splendid.

VUCA VOICES.

Voca, Feb. 21.

Editor Standard:

As we haven't heard from this part of the community in several weeks, I will try my luck.

As we have had some bad weather it has stopped the farmers for a few days. We are needing rain on our small grain.

Our school is progressing nicely under the efficient management of Miss Mary Spiller. About 76 pupils are enrolled.

Mrs. Della McHorse, of near Mason, visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick's, Saturday night and Sunday.

There has been quite a good deal of sickness in our community.

Jim Banta and Miss Ethel Seiman were married last Sunday at the home of the bride's parents. They will make their future home in New Mexico. Mr. Banta has been here a short time, but has gained many warm friends during his stay here. Miss Ethel has many friends here who will be sorry to see her leave.

The party at Mr. and Mrs. Carter's Saturday night was enjoyed by a big crowd. Everybody present reported a nice time.

The Valentine party at Mr. Campbell's last Monday night was enjoyed by a large crowd.

Dr. Jackson has been on the sick list this week, but is some better at this writing.

Well, as news is scarce I will quit and try to do better next time. Come on people and let's boost for old Voca WATER LILY.

If you will just take Kodol now and then you need not fear or hesitate to eat all the good food that you want, for Kodol will digest whatever you eat. Kodol is for weak and sour stomachs. Kodol is pleasant to take, and it is guaranteed to give relief at once. Sold by Central Drug Store.

Visit the Majestic Theatre—a good show at all times.

The Dreckenridge Coal Oil Burner is the best oil burner made. See it in operation at Graham's store. Let us show you. A. B. Walker.

Attempt at Suicide.

Bill Bivens, porter at a local barber shop, created considerable excitement late Friday night by taking a quantity of carbolic acid with suicidal intent. Almost immediately, however, he decided that he didn't want to die, and began drinking grease and other stuff, to counteract the poison. A physician with a stomach pump and emetics further assisted in the work of saving his life, with the result that he is at this writing out of danger and with good prospects of ultimate recovery.

SOCIETY NOTES

MRS. A. G. WALKER, Editor
PHONE 149

Mesdames Sam Graham and Geo. Gansel arranged a picnic at the Henderson Park on the twenty-second of this month in honor of their friends, the Misses Evans who left on the same afternoon for their home in St. Louis. Quite a number of young people were included, with Mrs. Collins, of Kansas City who arrived Friday to visit her sister, Mrs. Graham.

Miss Nora May Boyd was hostess on last Saturday afternoon to the little sewing club, the usual program was enjoyed. A word contest was a pleasing feature of the evening, forming the greatest number of words out of the letters composing the name of the hostess. Miss Gladys Phillips won the souvenir. Refreshments of apples, oranges and nabiscos concluded the afternoon.

Friday evening's dance at the Klondike Hall proved on of the most enjoyable social features of the season. The decorations were tastefully arranged—carrying out a valentine appearance. A canopy of draperies with crimson hearts was prepared for the receiving line, Mesdames Graham, Berry, Gansel and the young lady honorees. In the grand march led by Miss Edna Gansel and Mr. Berry were displayed many handsome gowns, too numerous to mention. The crimson heart shaped programs were provided the merry dancers. Refreshments of cream, cake and punch were served during the evening.

The twenty-second of February being an ideal day was celebrated by a party at the mouth of Onion Creek, an all day outing with dinner and supper and a return by moonlight, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Crothers, Messrs. Marie Crothers and Frankie Teddale, Messrs. Will Davidson, H. N. Cook and Fritz Savage composed the party and the pleasures of the day were many.

A house party composed of the following young ladies enjoyed the hospitality of Misses Ruth and Ruby Wood from Friday afternoon until Sunday: Misses Jaekye Walker, Vera King, Alma Christianus, Olga Scheeg, Carrie Berry, Mary Scheeg and Lucils Yantis. The young ladies, to enhance the pleasures of their guests included their young men friends for Saturday evening. Music and various games with refreshments of cake and chocolate made the evening pass all too soon. The young men who were so fortunate as to be present on this occasion were: Messrs. McCollum, Geo. Irvin, Herbert Wood, Robert King and Bart Hurlbut.

Messrs. Chas. White and Chas. Thorburn arranged an extra club dance for Tuesday evening complementing their young lady friends the Misses Evans, who were to leave on Wednesday afternoon. These young ladies have made many friends in Brady and it is with regret they leave so soon. The evening was one of those ideal ones like West Texas is noted for, with unusually good music. The effort of their friends to provide pleasing remembrances of them was a decided success. Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee.

Mrs. George Gansel was hostess on Friday at six o'clock dinner in honor of her guests the Misses Evans, Georgie McCall and Edna Gansel, Messrs. Sartwell, Caldwell, Brewster, and Dr. Lindley.

The Mother's Club had an interesting meeting on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Scott. Committees were appointed to arrange for changing the doors of the public school building as soon as possible.

A few minutes delay in treating some cases of croup, even the length of time it takes to go for a doctor often proves dangerous. The safest way is to keep Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and at the first indication of croup give the child a dose. Pleasant to take and always cures. Sold by Jones Drug Co.

Nervous Prostration

"I had a general breakdown. A gentleman advised Dr. Miles' Nerve, and I noted an improvement after a few doses, and two bottles gave me entire relief."

WM. R. BURKHARDT, 355 Rawling St., Washington C. H., O. When the nervous system is weakened, one after another of the organs which they control become inactive, and a general breakdown eventually follows. It may be either the stomach, heart, lungs or kidneys that is first affected.

Dr. Miles' Nerve makes weak nerves strong, by its soothing and strengthening influence upon the nervous system.

The Canton No. 12 Planter

The only Cotch Planter made where the hitch remains the same relative position whether plowing deep or shallow, avoiding all neck weight, which is accomplished by the small lever on the end of the tongue. The only planter made which throws the feed mechanism automatically out of gear without separating the gear wheels, avoiding all liability of breaking the teeth in the gears. These and other excellent features, protected by patents, can be found only on the F. & O. Canton Planter.

The bottom always remains at the same angle whether set deep or shallow. This angle can be instantly changed by the lever on the tongue. Has detachable hopper with the plates and actuator moving in opposite directions, preventing the seed from bunching. The finest Cotton and Corn Planter made.

BROAD MERCANTILE COMPANY

Can be easily changed from a Cotton to a Corn Planter, or it can be converted into a first-class Middle Breaker. Strong, simple, easy running.

Perry Johnson.

We are authorized to announce Perry Johnson as a candidate for the office of county commissioner from the Stacy precinct, No. 3, to succeed W. C. Dickinson who will not be a candidate for re-election. Mr. Johnson is one of the most prominent farmers of that end of the county, having lived in the precinct for about ten years and being well acquainted with the needs of the precinct and the ambitions and ideals of its citizens. He is well qualified for the office, and the fact that his friends have brought him out as a candidate speaks volumes for his standing among his people. The voters are respectfully requested to bear him in mind, and are assured that their support will be appreciated.

March 10th has been selected as the annual clean-up day for Texas. On this date, for several years Texas sanitarians have made a special effort at purifying our State.

I therefore call upon you now to do all in your power officially and privately to rid our State of filth and its products. Let each man cleanse his premises, each woman her house and each officer his territory.

To secure concerted action, each parliamentary body is requested to pass resolutions urging all Texans to observe Clean Up Day.

Very respectfully,
W. M. Brumby,
President Texas State Board of Health.

SANTA FE CONTRACTS NEW NATIONAL BANK

Work Will be Commenced Immediately on Line from Lometa to Brady.

Galveston, Tex., Feb. 17.—Contracts were awarded by the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway today for the construction of approximately 100 miles of railroad, running west from Lometa through San Saba and Brady. The contract prices were not given out. The contracts were awarded in sections, as follows: First section, approximately thirty miles, from Lometa westward, Morey & Faulhaber, St. Louis; second section, approximately thirty miles, west from point at end of first section, Levy & Owen, Galveston; third section, from end of second to point of western terminus, C. H. Sharp Contracting Company, Kansas City.

The eastern terminus is to be at Lometa, the western beyond Brady, though the exact point has not been decided upon. The road inside of the first fifteen miles will cross the Colorado River at a distance of eighty-five feet from river bed. It will be a maximum .6 grade line. The work will commence immediately.

For watch repairing done as it should be done, go to J. V. Searcy, Jeweler, Brady.

No factory can long maintain a reputation for quality unless they really do furnish good goods. Moon Bros. use high grade material throughout and they build their vehicles. They are not simply assemblers. Their poles and shafts are made from the best hickory that grows on American soil, they are ironed by hand by first class blacksmiths, extra heavy steel shaft irons and pole braces being used, and we are instructed in offering them to you for sale, to put them through the most severe test that the best hickory will withstand. In buying a pole or a pair of shafts, ask the salesman to lay them on the floor and test them thoroughly by allowing a number of men to stand on them. The same can be said about any other part of the Moon Bros. buggy. It is money in your pocket to buy a Moon Bros. buggy and then we are not asking any more for them than the price most of the cheap buggies are being sold at. Broad Mer. Co.

The Standard, $1 per year.

Time to talk cultivators and we can make the best talk because we have the best cultivator. The old reliable John Deere riding cultivator is the strongest and most durable machine of its kind on the market. It has stood the test for years and we have scores of satisfied farmers all around Brady who will tell you the John Deere will do the best work and last longer with no trouble to the operator. We have a full stock. Come and see us about your cultivator and have it ready when you need it. Satterwhite & Martin.

Hulls and Meal.

Cotton seed Hulls have more nutritive value than common hay, are more convenient to handle, are perfectly free from dust or foreign matter and are healthful and appetizing.

Cotton seed meal is the most concentrated and richest food known, has about six times the nutritive value of corn and more than four times that of wheat bran, and for cattle, horses or hogs will reduce your feed bill and give better results.

The mixed feed forms a "balanced ration," giving better results, increased milk and butter production in cows and in flesh, fat and general conditions in all animals. BRABY OIL MILL, A. W. Wood, Local Mgr.

McCulloch County's Fourth Banking House Organized at Hustling Little City of Rochelle.

The Rochelle National Bank was organized at Rochelle, McCulloch's second city, last week. The bank will have a capital stock of $25,000, all of which has been subscribed, and the following board of directors has been agreed upon: Richard Sellman, Thos. Sellman, F. M. Richards, E. E. Willoughby, J. F. Montgomery, W. H. Cottle and J. T. Price.

A building committee was appointed and the bank will immediately proceed to erect a brick home. The Standard congratulates our busy little neighboring city on acquiring this institution.

The South Bend—the watch that will run frozen in a solid block of ice, is sold by J. V. Searcy, Jeweler.

J. C. Gattis, of Winchester, Tenn., came in a week or so ago to make his home in this county, bringing his family with him. He is a brother of W. S. Gattis, of Waldrip, and both gentlemen called on The Standard Saturday.

When it comes to dropping the seed just right the John Deere riding planter is just the thing. The seed dropper is so arranged that it will sow the cotton seed one at a time and at regular intervals, not dropping the seed in bunches as other planters do. This is a big advantage and makes cotton chopping easy. Every farmer who has tried the John Deere knows how nice the seed dropper works and how much faster a hand can chop the cotton planted by the John Deere than by any other planter. We have a full line in stock. Satterwhite & Martin.

Judge A. G. Walker made a business trip to Austin last week.

Feed your cow right and get more milk and better milk. Dairy Food is the stuff and Souther & Co. the place to get it.

We have the Canton cultivator in every style—see them. You know what the value of this cultivator is, but we have it in all styles this year. To see is to buy. Broad Mer. Co.

H. C. Boyd, the jeweler, has opened up a new and complete line of watches, clocks and jewelry at the Palace Drug Store and will appreciate your trade.

We still insist that the Standard cultivator is the best cultivator on the market. Would you have the best? O. D. Mann & Sons.

We sell harness, collars and every thing in this line. O. D. Mann & Sons.

The Court's Decree.

Know all men by these presents: That the good citizens of McCulloch and surrounding counties are hereby given notice that they have the right and should avail themselves of the opportunity of lending their patronage to such institutions as afford the fairest treatment and where the greatest amount of courtesies are given. In consideration of the foregoing and knowing that the largest and best selected stock of Drugs, Medicines, Window glass, Wall Paper, School supplies and stationery is carried at Jones Drug Co., and that the said Jones Drug Co. are better equipped in every way for handling the business, both for cash and on time, it is hereby recommended that the people everywhere in this section give their most liberal patronage and hearty co-operation to the live and progressive firm of Jones Drug Co. The above is worthy of your careful consideration.

For Justice of The Peace.

Judge E. P. Lea authorizes The Standard to announce him as a candidate for re-election to the office of justice of the peace of the Brady precinct, subject to the democratic primary, July 23. Judge Lea has held this office for the past four years, and has made quite an enviable reputation in the conduct thereof. In asking for re-election he only promises a continuation of the methods employed in the past by him, believing that he has done his duty according to law, and assuring the voters that to do this duty as the law directs will ever be his aim. Your support is respectfully solicited on this basis.
