Brownwood Easy Monday.

Manager Hail is rapidly getting the Buccaneers rounded into form, and the way the boys have been batting of late will win games. Every member of the team fattened his average Monday at the expense of the Brownwood pitchers, and the locals played rings around their adversaries in the field as well. A big six-footer named Myers essayed to fling for the visitors, but was greeted with a regular tattoo of hits, and in the fourth inning after the locals had touched him for a couple of singles and a brace of doubles which were good for four runs Mr. Myers was yanked from the box and Davis sent in. The locals had their eye on the ball, however and scored twice more on Davis in the same inning.

The final score was 9 to 2 in Brady's favor, and the game was noted principally for the errors of the visitors and the hitting of the locals. The Brownwood team was clearly outclassed.

Score by innings:
Brady... 3 0 0 6 0 0 0 0—9

Straub was in the box for Brady and pitched his usual consistent game, yielding only six hits, passing none and striking out three.

A double header is being played at the park this afternoon. In the first game Latham will pitch for the locals, and Westmoreland, an ex-leaguer, for Brownwood. Baldrige will pitch the second game for the locals, while Kilker will oppose him. The games today ought to be good ones, and probably will be if the visitors can get over the habit of booting the ball—a habit so marked in yesterday's game.

Mrs. E. R. Stiles is in receipt of news of the death of her aunt, Mrs. Flint, which occurred at Harletin, Texas, last Friday, the cause of death being paralysis.

Tax Assessor Quicksall is now at work on the tax rolls for 1910. He is assisted by Messrs. C. P. Taylor and Lem Paschal, and with two such capable assistants the work is bound to come up right and rapidly.

Owen Henry Roberts was here from Mason Monday and says he will get out the first issue of the Mason County Star this week. He is associated with Mr. Calvert and a stock company has been organized. He reports the business outlook good.

POLL TAX EXEMPTIONS

Ruling of Attorney General's Office Regarding Necessity of Procuring Exemption Certificates.

Tax Assessor J. F. Quicksall is in receipt of the following letter from the Attorney General's department, which is self explanatory:

Austin, June 4, 1910:
Mr. J. F. Quicksall,
Tax Collector,
Brady, Texas.

Dear Sir:

We have your letter of May 27th, in which you ask the opinion of this Department on two questions as follows:

1st. Can the Commissioners court set the county tax rate prior to the regular term in August, and if so, when?

2nd. Will persons who are exempt from paying poll tax by reason of age be required to exhibit exemption certificates to vote in the primary?

In answer to your first question, you are advised that the county assessor has until August 1st to return his rolls to the board of equalization. As soon as this has been done by him, whether done before August 1st or not, and as soon as the board of equalization has thereafter made final approval of such rolls, then the tax levy may be made if a regular term of commissioners court is in session and all members of the court are present when the levy is made. (See Sayles Civil Statutes, Articles 5130 to 5132, inclusive, and the Acts of 1909 page 372.)

We also call your attention to Articles 1540 and 1552 of Sayles Civil Statutes, which are as follows:

"Art. 1540. No county tax shall be levied except at a regular term of the court and when all the members of said court are present."

"Art. 1552. The regular terms of the commissioners' courts shall commence and be held at the court house of their respective counties on the second Mondays in February, May August, and November in every year, and may continue in session one week."

See also the case of Labadie vs Deen, 47 Tex., 90.

It follows that, if when the rolls are finally approved the May term of commissioners' court has not adjourned or expired by limitation of time, the tax levy may be made at such May term.

In answer to your second question, we have to advise you that persons exempt from the payment of a poll tax for the year 1909 on account of being over the age of sixty years or permanently disabled on January 1, 1909, are not required to obtain exemption certificates in order to vote in elections held during 1910, unless they are residents of cities of ten thousand or more inhabitants. They are controlled by section 19 of the Terrill Election Law of 1905. On the other hand, persons who were exempt from the payment of a poll tax for the year 1909, on account of being under the age of twenty-one years on January 1st of that year must procure exemption certificates before February 1st, 1910, in order to vote in the elections held during 1910, and this regardless of whether they reside in cities of ten thousand inhabitants or not. They are controlled by section 23 of the Terrill Election Law 1905. See also the case of Savage vs. Umphries, 118 S. W., 893, which construes said section 23, and holds in accordance with this opinion.

Yours very truly,
R. M. ROWLANDS,
Assistant Attorney General.

Arranging For Hog Farm.
H. P. Jordan is now at work arranging a modern hog and sheep farm on his land three miles west of town. He is building a nice residence which will be occupied by Bird Davis who will have charge of the farm. The entire pasture of 980 acres will be fenced with hog-proof fencing, and Mr. Davis will devote his entire time and energies to raising hogs, sheep, goats and poultry. There could not be found a more suitable tract of land anywhere for the purpose. Mr. Davis is an expert chicken fancier and an all around good farmer. He will plant no cotton whatever, but will devote his farming land to feed crops suitable for the class of stock he will handle. The Standard predicts success for the combination.

Jesse Lockhart came in Sunday from Austin where he has been attending school. His mother and sister will also return to Brady this week, and the genial doctor says Brady is good enough for he and his family. They will occupy the Morrow residence on the north side for the present; but later on Dr. Lockhart expects to erect a handsome residence on his lots in Jones addition.

Thos. Bell made a trip to Gatesville last week on business connected with the State School for Incurables, of which he is one of the trustees.

County Attorney John E. Brown is now at home in his handsome new residence in the southwestern portion of the city. Mr. Brown has one of the prettiest locations in the city.

A fishing and camping party composed of Ed Broad and family, Ed Jackson and family, Will Broad and family, of Coleman, leave today for a stay of two weeks on the San Saba river near Voca. They will be joined by T. J. Wood and family of Fredonia, E. J. Broad and family, of Fort Worth, and J. R. Card, of Fort Worth, the latter part of the week. The party goes well equipped for camp life, and with Ed Broad in charge of affairs an ideal outing is assured.

Ellis Blacklock, who has been employed in the grocery department at the Broad Mercantile, has resigned, and with his wife will move to Winchell this week.

J. L. Smith, of Lohn, was here Monday.

Brady 7, Fort Worth 4.

Brady made it three out of four from the Ft. Worth Athletics by taking the Saturday's game, 7 to 4. Straub got revenge on the Pantherites for the defeat of Wednesday, and had them eating out of his hand throughout the game. The locals took kindly to Mr. Freeman's offerings and hit him at will, Gordon leading with a homer. Fuller and Straub each got an extra long hit to deep center which would have been over the fence in any other part of the field.

Score by innings:
Brady... 0 2 3 0 0 0 0 2—7
Ft. Worth... 0 3 0 0 0 0 1 0—4

J. A. Barnes has been employed as principal of the Lohn school for the next term with Miss Jessie Ramsey and sister as assistants.

THE BIG SALE

Goes on at the Grand Leader, and the Grand Leader had the crowd Saturday and Monday, and as we are making this notice our house is alive with pleased customers, and we did not have to get out and bawl our brains out on the streets to get the people. We thought competition was paying ten per cent of their sales for foreign brains to conduct their sales with, but we have learned since that instead of getting brains they only got a bunch of foul air.

We had scores of people tell that the Great Mid-Season Sale at the Grand Leader was the only sale in Brady, and we are satisfied to take their word for it, as we haven't had time to chase around town and see.

This great sale will go on until July 2, rain or shine, hot or cold.

SMILE WITH US!

WE are wearing the smile that won't come off. The crowd of eager, smiling, more-than-pleased buyers who thronged our store last Saturday and who will crowd it every day this week is the cause of this smile. We promised them something new, we promised them the biggest and best sale ever held in Brady. We promised them that we would save them big money. We did all this and more. They showed their appreciation by buying liberally, nay, generously. 'Tis here a few come to scoff and laugh, they were our biggest and best customers. The prices quoted, combined with quality and the goods we offered, were irresistible. To show our appreciation of the biggest day's business ever done in Brady, we are inaugurating a further reduction and offer you further special inducements to buy now. Remember this Great Mercantile Battle closes June 23, so come at once and supply your wants for months to come and you will join the merry crowds who, with us, are wearing the smile that won't come off. This invitation is also extended to our genial competitors. So why not smile with us?

OUR BEST FRIEND.

Without any doubt of sentiment or suggestion that we owe allegiance to anyone, the cold, hard truth is that the retail merchants of our home town are the best business friends we have.

The retailer conducts a school of commerce for our education—and tuition is free. Every man, woman and child gets the benefit of seeing in the home town about anything that is of real importance. He protects us against fraud and deceit. He stands for the square deal.

You never ordered a $10 lightning rod of your home merchant and then found notes for a thousand in the bank the next day as a result. You never paid him $80 for a range that warped out of shape in six months—with out your wife getting the money back. He never charged $75 for a "trailer" buggy that you found out afterwards could be bought anywhere for $60.

No, the home merchant is just like you. He lives where he does business, and his success depends on his making a friend of you and your neighbor. Like you, he has to "make good."

The retail merchant is now the one great factor in our commercial system, and this is true solely because he rendered us better service than we can get elsewhere. Take him away and our home town is gone; take our home town and we deprive our children of the retail store, which is the greatest single educational factor in modern life. No, it cannot be. The retail merchants will continue to abide in our affections so long as we value our homes, because the average citizen is proud of his town (he always tells how close he is to it) and he secretly despises the methods of peddlers—and the peddler system is now known to be the legitimate father of the whole catalogue house business.—Selected.

AN ENORMOUS WASTE.

Two hundred and fifty million dollars are wasted annually on bad roads in this country which is noted for its business sagacity and thrift, and which has been pronounced a great success as a business community. Add that waste to losses occasioned by bad roads, and the sum leaps to a billion a year. It is estimated that, in short, each man, woman and child in the United States bears a tax of $12.50 because of bad roads. If this doesn't show that good roads is a national question that bulks as big as the tariff, the navy, foreign relations, commerce—anything; if it does not prove that the federal government ought to turn to the road question with as much energy as it extends on anything else, then there is nothing more to be said.—Southern Good Roads.

The farmer who bought McCulloch county land last week for an alfalfa farm is building wisely to the future. The first cutting of alfalfa from the Pecos valley country of West Texas sold at Pecos City at $22.50 per ton. At this price alfalfa farming is as good as a gold mine, but even at lower prices there is good money for the alfalfa farmer. The crop of West Texas is equal, if not superior, to that of any section of Texas, and with from three to six cuttings per year this industry is destined to prove one of the big successes of West Texas farming. McCulloch county has plenty of good alfalfa land, and properly handled alfalfa will beat cotton year in and year out as a money crop.—Brady Standard.

And where alfalfa makes such splendid returns, corn and other feed stuffs and hogs and cattle also make good crops and with less work than is required for cotton. The Standard has certainly sent out a good advertisement for the Brady country.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

GOOD ROADS are the most valuable asset a county can possess. Every farm within their operation is largely increased in value. The farmer is closer to his markets, his church and to the city. The conveniences and pleasures of country life are enhanced ten fold. Few railroads do more for the welfare of the agriculturists than good modern highways.

Wealth Creators.

In building a house we must use material that is stable and durable, and in building a community we must use lines of industry that are constructive and active. The former promotes and the latter perpetuates prosperity. Among the classes of property that constitute building material for empire are public highways, railroads, factories, mines, irrigating canals, etc. These industries create and thrust values upon adjoining property, and the amount of unearned wealth they distribute depends upon their native characteristics and upon their surroundings, but it is more than likely that the irrigating canal makes the largest gift of permanent values to contiguous property. It takes the desert and swamp lands and makes fertile fields and gardens and fills uninhabited places with happy and prosperous homes.

Irrigating Canal.

All lines of industry that build countries have characteristics equally as meritorious as the canal.

Activity in property is as important as constructiveness. The factory, the railroad, the mine and the canal have not a single fiber of idleness in their construction, and inactivity inflicts upon them self-destruction. The land owner may let his farm lie idle and it will increase in fertility and value, but the manufacturer must run his factory as fast as the wheels will turn or his property decays and declines in value.

Industrial Activity.

What we have said of the factory is also true of all lines of constructive industry. The irrigating canal builds farms, the factory makes cities, and transportation facilities build both farms and cities, and any sort of property that has inherent characteristics of generosity and activity should be encouraged. Improved public highways constitute a most convincing invitation to industry, as the farm, the factory, the railroad, the mine and all the people are vitally interested in public highways, says the Texas Commercial Secretaries' Association.

A character study of property and an analysis of the requirements of a community are essential to the intelligent development of a locality. A commercial club is the architect of empires, and every citizen should join the local club and study property and its ability to develop the community.

Editor Brady Standard:
Brady, Texas.
Kind Sir and Friend:

I do not expect to become a regular correspondent, but beg leave to drop in a few lines, as I became interested by reading the letters of your correspondents over the county. I see the columns filled with names of old time people, which reminds me of days past and gone. I can hardly keep from saying I want to go back to the old home on the San Saba river, which I left some 28 or 30 years ago. At that time land was worth just any price you was a mind to give for it. I could have bought plenty of it for $1.00 per acre, but I would not expect to get any of it now for less than $10.00. The boys that were raised up there didn't know the value of land, and they did not need it, for it was all out side. So we are to be excused or pitied, I don't know which would be proper.

I see some of my old friends running for office in that county. I wish them good luck. I will call a few of their names: John Rainbolt, Jack Beasley, Oscar Latta, and J. C. Wall, if there is any more I can not call them to mind now.

I will close by wishing the country at large good luck and prosperity. As ever your friend,
J. T. DAVIS.

Mrs. Jack McGaughy entertained the Fortnightly Club and a few visiting ladies with a forty-two party on Thursday morning. The guests were met at the door by Mesdames Dupree, Binham and White and Misses Robbie Seale, Black, Bingham and others. Delicious punch was served and after the games the guests were treated to a course consisting of chicken salad and orange ice. This marks the last meeting of the club until next October.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Judge G. W. and H. E. Jones returned the first of the week from a pleasant six weeks' visit to relatives at Odessa. Mrs. May Witcher and daughter, Miss Wanda, returned with them. Mrs. Witcher is a daughter of Judge Jones.—Rochelle Record.

June Is the Happiest Month of the Year

FOR CENTURIES June has been celebrated as the month when summer is fresh and young.

June is the month of good omen.

From the entire year, June is chosen throughout the world as the favorite mating time--when new "nests" are being prepared by thousands of un-daunted young folks "for better or for worse."

To those of you young people with the "light of courage sparkling from your eyes," there is a message from this store which concerns your happiness.

Begin your housekeeping with a high ideal of home, and life will be sweet-er all the way. In the words of an old man "it will be for better and for better."

You are puzzled perhaps, over the problem of your early housekeeping. The comforts, such as you have enjoyed in your own homes, are beyond your purse maybe, for even if you have a good sum saved now, it isn't sound sense to spend it all in gratifying your ideal of a happy home. The solution is here.

In few of the larger cities, is there a more comprehensive display of furniture and furnishings of the right sort than you will find in this spacious store.

You select the outfit you need--good, substantial furniture that will wear, and grace your home all through your happy married life.

We will figure with you on the small amount you can spare each week. Your bank account will be undisturbed, and in a little while your cozy, cheerful home furnishings will be all your own. That's the easy way--our way--which you are cordially invited to enjoy.

WALDRIP WHISPERINGS.

Waldrip, Texas, June 4.
Editor Brady Standard:
June--the glory of the summer.

Rain! Well we had it today, as fine as heart could wish. Everything was in splendid condition before, but with such a rain it will add a finer touch to its splendor. Every year surpasses the last.

The wall of high cost of living should not trouble us much, as we are the people that produce all those expensive eatables, so they cost us no more than they did twenty years ago. Very few farms here are run by hired help, and if the farmer works his own crop it takes just the same amount of labor that it did twenty years ago to make a potato, and with the improved machinery he can do it much quicker.

By the way, A. J. Bassett has some of the finest plums, grapes, and peaches I ever saw, on exhibition at Mr. Winstead's store. If you don't believe this section will produce anything, just go around and inspect the well developed clusters.

Mrs. J. E. Kelley of Lohn, is visiting her brother, Bob Rabe.

Miss Florence Tidrow returned to her home in Coleman Saturday, after a pleasant visit here with relatives and friends.

J. R. Winstead had the misfortune to get his tening house burned last Sunday evening.

Several of the Waldrip people attended the singing convention at Stacy Sunday.

The high wind of last Saturday blew down the half completed frame work of the new gin. The work will all have to be done over, but the whole thing will be complete in ample time for the new crop. It is to be a thoroughly modern, up-to-date gin in every respect.

Rev. Kelly of Lohn, filled his regular appointment here Sunday.

PROGRESS.

Get in the Push.

Get an extra pair of pants, same goods and quality, free with every suit ordered this month. Kirk, the tailor. "Nuf sed."

FIVE FINDINGS.

Fife, Texas, June 5.
Editor Brady Standard:
The best rain of the season fell on last Saturday evening. Tanks and creeks were all filled, and the ground given a good soaking.

Oats are about all out and there is not much of a crop this year. Only one man, Joe Catter, will thrash this year, and he will make about 25 bu.

per acre on his 60 acre patch.

Grandma Smith died Saturday evening, June 4th, after a long illness, and was buried Sunday evening in the Fife cemetery. She leaves a devoted husband, and five children, all of whom were with her in her last illness. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Will Bradley and Robert Finlay visited at Eden Friday, returning Saturday.

R. K. Finlay and wife, returned Friday from a visit to relatives in the Panhandle.

A. A. Dudley, an erstwhile citizen of this place but now of Holiday, Archer Co., is here on a short visit to relatives. He reports his country looking fine.

J. M. Doyle and James Finlay were at Waldrip Saturday on business.

Henry Baldrige, our crack pitcher, played ball with Brady this week.

Rev. J. M. Burrows of Stacy, filled his regular appointment here Sunday morning and night.

E. Saunders made a trip to Mercury Saturday on business.

Miss Vivian Jordan of Brady, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jas. Finlay, here this week.

Constable P. A. Rainbolt made a trip to Lohn Saturday after a Mexican who was wanted here on a serious charge, but the bird had flown and he came back empty handed.

Joe Palacisco was bitten on the finger by a rattlesnake last Saturday. The prompt amputation of the member fixed him up all right.

If it takes Brady as long to get that bridge across the creek as it has us to get these wanted here, she will probably have to make a boat to cross the creek in.

Several farmers around here expect to make up an exhibit for the county Fair next fall that will beat the last one all hollow. Every one save up your best stuff and turn it over to R. K. Finlay, who will have charge of the exhibit.

George Yantis, of Brady, was a visitor here Sunday.

The high wind here Saturday blew the house of J. J. Wright off its foundation but did not damage it. The Mexican school house was also moved but no damage. X. Y. Z.

Chickens and eggs wanted at McCully Co. Highest cash price.

LOST CREEK ECHOES

Voca, Texas, June 5.
Editor Brady Standard:

We are glad to note we had a fine rain last Saturday. It sure was fine on the crops.

Mrs. N. C. Poe of Voca, has returned from a visit to her granddaughter, Mrs. Newses, of Melvin.

The music entertainment at Mrs. Allen's last night was enjoyed by a large crowd, and all report a nice time.

Mrs. Schaefer's little daughter, Jewel, visited Mrs. Tom Lemons Saturday.

Monroe Carter and family, visited Mr. and Mrs. Behrens Sunday.

Mrs. Maud Lewallen of this place, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Newses, of Melvin.

The singing at Mr. Hopkins' Sunday night was greatly enjoyed.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely, everybody come and visit us, we will show you a nice time.

Miss Margaret Schaffer visited the Misses Hopkins Saturday night and reported a nice time.

I had just about forgot to tell you about the picnic at Lost Creek June 11th, everyone come and take part with us.

Mrs. Kirklen visited Mrs. Crumbley Saturday afternoon.

As news is scarce will ring off for this time. WATER LILY.

KATEMEY NOTES.

Katemey, Texas, June 6.
Editor Brady Standard:

As I have not seen anything from this part of the country, I will try to give you the news.

Crops are just simply fine. Corn bids fair to make a bumper crop, fruit is very good, especially plums and berries.

Grandpa Coalson is very sick and is not expected to live.

A boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kusse on the 4th. Mother and babe are doing nicely, but Albert seems a little nutty.

This community is trying to organize a rural telephone system. They met last Monday night and got forty-eight members. PAT.

VOCA NEWS.

Voca, Texas, June 10.
Editor Brady Standard:

I will try to give you some of the news of this community again.

On the 4th we had a fine rain which we all enjoyed to the depth of our hearts. Corn was beginning to need rain and now it we don't have anything to happen to us or our corn we will soon be able to bring you a mess of roasting ears.

Health of this community is very good, though Mrs. Bertha Crutsinger has been quite sick with the roseola.

Mrs. I. B. Lemmons has two brothers visiting her from Cook county.

E. J. Allen and wife, of Gorman, are visiting relatives and friends here this week. They report health and crops good about Gorman but crops far behind ours, but we don't expect any county to keep up with old McCulloch.

The candidates swarmed last week and settled right in our neighborhood, each one carrying a smile little less than the Mammoth cave.

The musical entertainment at Mrs. Allen's Saturday night was well attended and all seemed to enjoy themselves to the utmost.

As weeds and grass are growing so fast will quit and go to hoeing. DUSTY DODGER.

What Everybody Wants.

ELEPHANT LABOR TOO COSTLY

Modern Machinery Will Soon Displace Animal Workers in Lumber Yards of India.

The laboring elephants are in their prime when they are 25 years old. They are expensive to feed, literally eating their heads off. It is declared that an elephant eats a quarter of his weight in feed every day. Certain it is that the average amount required to keep one of the gigantic workers in good condition is 800 pounds a day. While perfectly tractable and reliable when properly tamed and trained, an elephant is likely to become frightened and stampede without warning. In spite of his massive body and immense strength, he is timid in the extreme and becomes frenzied at the sight of a rat, or dog or an automobile. Every elephant has a small hole in the side of its head, from which, periodically, a white fluid is discharged. Unless the animal is chained during the entire period of this discharge, he is liable to turn rogue and kill every day within reach. At other times he is easy to manage. The time is not far distant when the elephant will disappear from the lumber yards of Rangoon to give place to modern machinery, which is much cheaper and more reliable than animal labor. Even now they are vanishing, but a few old ones may still be seen doing their work in the mills and yards.--Southern Workman.

QUIET TO QUICK BOSOMS.

Napoleon was sojourning at St. Helena.

"This only man at the summer resort business is terrible," he decided.

Thus another legend was busted.

Opposes Good Roads.

Brady Standard. June 6.

Please allow me to express through the columns of your paper the sentiments of myself and also those of nine-tenths of the other farmers of McCulloch county, relative to the road bond issue now being agitated by the Commercial Club of Brady.

I appreciate the fact that a news paper publication costs money, and that space in it is valuable, hence will "boil down" what I have to say into the least possible space.

In the first place, McCulloch county is unlike most of the counties, and especially unlike Brown county, for in this county unless a man is unusually exacting, he finds that we have as good roads as any one could wish. This true we have had roads after two or three days rain, but on these somewhat rare occasions we are perfectly willing to stand the disagreeableness of mud for a few days, or else wait till the roads dry to do our traveling.

Now if the Commercial Club had said, the owners and promoters of automobiles wanted good roads, and in order to facilitate and hasten the matter it would be best to call for a bond issue of the small amount of $75,000, they would have made their object clear. They wanted the bridge bond issue, they got it. And now, perforce, they want good roads.

The farmers of this county do not want this road bond; they are satisfied with the roads and the system we have to keep them in repair. This ever increase of taxes is getting monotonous. Why should the tax payers of the county build roads for these automobiles? They are a nuisance to the farmer. If we go to Brady we are in constant fear that our teams may be frightened and caused to run away and possibly cripple us. Our women folks, who used to derive no small amount of money from marketing their butter and eggs, are afraid to drive a horse on the roads. Do the merchants derive a greater volume of trade from the owners of automobiles than they do from the farmers? We notice they always conspicuously occupy the space in front of the stores, and if the farmers want to load up and leave town they are forced to drive to the rear of the stores to do so.

What do the farmers over in Brown county, who live near this graded road, that the committee was sent to inspect, say about it? They say since this road was graded it has become ten times more dangerous to travel than before--the reason is obvious--better roads and more automobiles.

Now for one, I am opposed to this road bond issue, and I also stand ready to petition the next legislature to force automobiles off the public roads, also force them to procure stations in each respective town and stay off the streets and driveways.

We hope our Commissioners Court will not bear their petition for the road bond issue. About twenty years ago the Commissioners Court of Fayette county became so notorious in public improvements such as bridge building, etc., that the people expressed themselves by holding indignation meetings all over the county. At the next election the entire court was defeated, even to the Judge.

The Only Exclusive Vehicle Man in Brady

I Want to Trade for Some Horses

W. N. Tisdale, of Brady, and then to the home of a woman who lives in the county. If you can't think and have a good reason for the great new advance in your road, or for some other of this problem, get it to the end.

In the case of the Brady Creamery, it was started something that every one should appreciate, and stand up for at every opportunity. It is for the people of the people and by the people. Your own home capital is involved, you are not only the king of the home industry, but the king of what a load you are putting on your good wife's shoulders by bringing your milk and cream to the Creamery and having them to do the work.

New facts you can not get around. In figures never lie. If you want from 20c to 25c per gallon for your whole milk, you can't have it in the world, even if the creamery in the world paid you 17c per gallon being the standard price and also the market price to Creameries. Say you brought your whole milk to the Creamery and sold it for 17c per gallon and bringing 10 gallon every day, excepting Sunday, for six months, you have brought 150 gallons of milk and received the whole sum of $265.20 which amount one can see was pretty good for 8 or 10 head of pretty good cows and this too on grass through the spring and summer and you can raise your own feed for them for winter. Then on the other hand you figure this way, watch closely, you bring your milk to the Creamery, they separate it take the cream and give you back about the same amount in separated milk that you brought in whole milk. You take it home, let it clabber, give part to the chickens, which is good for them, part to the children, it is good for them, and last but by no means least, have you a small bunch of hogs, say 4 or 5 or what ever amount of milk you have, but this estimate will easily feed 5 head. We test this milk you bring and we have a Babcock tester which is absolutely correct there being no chance for an unfair deal, and give you 30c per pound for your butter fat, say your milk tests 4 per cent, which is a good average per cent, and you had 10 gallons per day which is 80 pound multiplied by 26 days in a month equals 2080 pounds per month for 6 months. 12,480 pounds of milk tested 4 per cent. 12,480 multiplied by .04 equals 499.20 pounds of butter fat at 30c per pound equals $149.76 you have received for your butter fat. Then you have received all this separated milk back for your hogs and have fattened 5 to weigh say 350 pounds each at 10c per pound equals $175. $149.76 plus $175 equals $324.76. Then not only that, you have fed your chickens these six months, had all you wanted to eat and have probably sold $5 or $10 worth and had plenty milk for your other various uses. And above all you have lightened the burden on that good wife of taking care of that milk, churning it into butter bringing it to town and selling it for 15c or 20c per pound and when you find the market a little glutted you can not sell it at all and have to take it home to let ruin or give it away.

Come friends, one and all, and try this proposition from the standpoint of facts and you will readily see that the Creamery will make you money in the long run. Yours for Prosperity. BRADY CREAMERY CO., Per Butter Maker.

C. R. Tisdale, of Brady, and A. J. Smith and son, of Lohn, leave tonight for a three-months prospecting trip to points in Old Mexico.

Judge Joe Adkins, wife and mother, and A. B. Carrithers went to San Angelo Sunday by auto, returning Monday. Mrs. Adkins Sr., remained in Angelo, where she will spend the summer.

T. J. Bradley, who took the school census for Brady, calls our attention to an error in the figures given last week. We reported the total number of scholars as being 673 when it should have been 679. Judge Walker reports the addition of one more, making 680.

Prof. Lowrance will teach a summer school in Rochelle this summer, beginning in the early part of July. Watch next week's paper for announcement.

GOOD ROADS MEAN PROGRESS.

They Tend to Increase the Value of Property.

WILL LOWER COST OF LIVING

Farm Lands Will Be Settled More Rapidly, More Good Crops Will Be Raised, and the Consumer Will Receive Supplies at Smaller Prices.

A team of horses struggling along a mud road in the endeavor to draw half a load affords a striking object lesson of road improvement when compared to a team drawing a heavily loaded wagon at a comfortable trot along a stone surfaced road. This isolated example must be multiplied by 8,000,000 in order to obtain the cumulative effect of bad roads upon traffic in the United States. Not less than $250,000,000 is the useless tribute annually levied upon the people of the United States by its bad roads.

In 1893 a widespread inquiry made by the office of public roads indicated that the average cost of hauling on roads in the United States was 25 cents per ton per mile. In 1906 the bureau of statistics ascertained from its 2,800 county correspondents that the average cost per ton per mile was about 23 cents and the average length of haul 8.4 miles.

The high cost of hauling is not the only burden which the American people are carrying by reason of their bad roads. In traversing a region of country isolated from markets by reason of bad roads one is struck by the wastes of untitled land and by the lack of variety in the products. This is a condition more frequently due to lack of adequate transportation facilities than to lack of industry and intelligence of the inhabitants.

The point may be illustrated by assuming a series of concentric circles to be drawn about a market town or railroad station, constituting zones of production in all of which the roads are uniformly bad. Within the first zone all products can be delivered to market at a profit. Within the second zone certain products must be eliminated because of the length of haul. Milk, small fruits and certain kinds of vegetables requiring quick delivery and careful transportation might be cited as examples.

In the third zone still other products must be eliminated because of the prohibitive cost of hauling. The fourth zone will include only those products which can be held until the roads are passable and then hauled long distances and sold at a profit. Beyond this zone the land must be left unproductive or utilized for grazing and timber.

Every improvement in the roads leading from this market widens these zones, makes unproductive land productive and enables the farmer to exercise a wider discretion in determining the character of his crops. The prosperity of the individual farmer becomes far greater, the traffic of the railroad increases, the consumer receives better supplies at lower prices, and thus the beneficial effects continue in an ever widening circle.

While it is impossible to assign an arbitrary percentage or amount to represent the increase in land values by reason of road improvement, it is generally believed that the average increase per acre within the zone of influence of an improved road would be from $2 to $9 per acre. As there are about 850,000,000 acres of farm lands improved and unimproved in the United States the possibilities of aggregate increase in value are enormous. These figures constitute conclusive evidence of the immensity of traffic on the common roads. They do more—they give food for reflection as to where the cumulative losses in wear and tear of wagons, harness and teams, due to poor roads, will land us on the debit side. Nobody can ever approximately estimate this drain, but everybody must know it is in terms of millions.

The loss in dollars is serious enough for grave concern, but when the additional charge is made that bad roads are a menace to our institutions, our health and our educational development it constitutes an indictment of such gravity as to demand paramount consideration. Hundreds of millions of fertile acres remain untitled while the insanitary and unwholesome city tenements are crowded with human beings whose standard of living must result in their mental, moral and physical decay.

It is not generally realized that our 2,125,000 miles of road constitute a great source of disease. By means of dust disease germs enter the human system. This is particularly true of tuberculosis germs. Roads of the future in great centers of population will be practically dustless, and the bituminous and other binders which will be used in the construction of such roads will not only minimize the danger of disease by reducing the dust nuisance, but they are in a measure possessed of antiseptic properties.

There is no phase of life in the country, social or economic, which is not affected by good roads. There is a direct relation between improved highways and the value of land, the attendance of children at school, the health of the community and everything else that tends to make life in the country efficient. And this, in turn, affects the people in the cities who live on the country products. It is a task—the maintenance of good roads—which affects every person in the country, no matter where he lives or what his profession.

Road building is an art based upon a science. In this age of specialists it almost surpasses belief that the American people, so practical in all other lines of endeavor, should permit their golden millions to be frittered away by men who for the most part know little or nothing about either the science or the art of road building. There are today more than 1,000 petty road officials in the United States, each and all receiving compensation.

Very few of these men devote more than a fraction of their time to road work, because their interests lie elsewhere and their compensation is too small to enable them to devote their entire time to the work. It is not surprising that a century and a quarter of this kind of supervision has resulted in the present chaotic condition of our public roads. The reforms that should take place will provide a comparatively small body of trained, competent road builders devoting their entire time to continuous road work.

Not only must the roads be built by trained men, but they must be kept in repair. The road building era has already begun. Already great strides have been made in recent years toward bringing about these needed reforms in the road laws and administration, in providing more adequate revenues and in devising methods of construction and maintenance adapted to the requirements of modern traffic.—Logan W. Page in World's Work.

HASKELL'S HIGHWAY PLAN.

Oklahoma Governor Advocates a State Good Roads Commission.

Governor Haskell said recently that he will recommend to the Oklahoma legislature, possibly at a special session, the creation of a state good roads commission and the office of state engineer and will favor the continuance of good roads from one county into another.

"The building of roads—that is, permanent and good roads"—he said, "is quite as large an undertaking as building railroads. They should be of large extent and should not be stopped arbitrarily at the county line just because the authority of the county commissioners does not extend into the next county. The way to build our roads state wide is to create a good roads commission to act as a consulting board for the various sets of county commissioners. The engineer of the board would, in fact, be a state engineer, who would plan the best surveys for good roads from a state standpoint and lay the plans before the sets of county commissioners for approval and the voting of the necessary bonds to defray the expense by counties as must be done under the present good roads law. The only thing that the state can furnish is convict labor."

Sand-clay Roads in Kansas.

Sand-clay roads are made of those two materials, and in some parts of the south are held to be, for particular regions at least, more practicable than macadam. This construction is now being introduced in the sand hill country of Kansas, where the sandy roads have hindered agricultural development by imposing great difficulty on the transportation of farm products.

Garden City, which is in the sandy country, solved the transportation problem by building a sand-clay road through the hills south of that city. Before this road was built farmers had to haul their grain more than twenty-five miles by a roundabout way in order to reach a market that is only ten or twelve miles distant. The property owners of Hutchinson and McPherson counties are now considering the opening of a big territory that has been handicapped by heavy sand hill roads.

More Real Work Needed.

A good roads convention is always a helpful institution, but there are a great many people who would do well to spend more time in making roads instead of attending conventions.

A GAME OF HOME RUNS

Brady Wins Friday's Game from Ft. Worth, Score 6 to 2—Four Home Runs During Game.

"Little" Rogers got his bumps from his old team mates of last season at the ball park Friday, three of the aforesaid bumps being for home runs over the left field fence. The gentlemen who were so impolite toward Mr. Rogers as to park the ball were Messrs. Hucks, Hall, Fuller and "Fleecy" Gordon. Leaving out these three homers Little Rogers' work was not so bad, for he struck out eleven of his old team mates, gave only one free pass and yielded six hits. He used a dinky little out curve principally, and it was funny to see some of the locals fish at it.

Manager Hall offered the fans something new and something good in John O'Latham, an elongated sidewheeler from Pontotoc. Latham formerly pitched in both the Texas and Southern leagues, and if his work there was as good as it was here Friday we fail to see why he isn't playing professional ball today. Latham has everything a good pitcher needs—plenty of steam, a wide-breaking curve and good control, considering the fact that he has been out of the game for some time. He gave three passes, yielded seven hits and secured nine strikeouts—a pretty good record for a man just coming back. He made one error of judgment in the eighth when with two strikes and three balls on Jones he lobbed one straight over just where the batter wanted it. The result was Jones' batting was one of the features of the game, as he secured a hit on every trip to the plate. Latham's error was in not risking giving him a base rather than risking a homer. But the hit was not disastrous, and nobody is kicking. Latham is a distinct "find" for the Buccaneers, and Manager Hall is to be commended for securing him. He's just the pitcher the locals have been needing all season.

In the first inning Temp Hall was safe on a fielder's muff. He was followed to the plate by his big bud, "Hucks," who waited for a good one and swatted it over the left field fence for a circuit, his little brother trotting in ahead; "Good old Hucks." Then Rogers worked his little out and struck out Stub and Fleecy, having already fanned Strickland.

The visitors got one in the second on a base, a steal and a hit, Cravi scoring. In the same inning Quicksall hit a Texas Leaguer, stole second, was sacrificed to third and scored on Latham's long fly to left. Score 1 to 1.

In the fourth the visitors looked dangerous with three on bases, but Latham tightened up and there was nothing doing. Rogers gets credit for three strikeouts this inning, as well as in the first. Again in the fifth they got men on bases, but Stubblefield's pegging caught them on every steal.

In the sixth Latham fanned the first three men facing him. Then the locals set off the red fire again. Hucks went out, Rogers to Judkin; Stubb hit a nice Texas Leaguer; then Fuller came up and duplicated his home run of the day before, results two runs; Gordon, not to be out done, went Fuller one better and parked the ball a little further toward center. Lee fanned and Candy flew out. Score 6 to 1, Brady.

In the eighth Jones, first up, got his homer, but his team mates failed to take up the rally. This was the final score of the game, Brady winning 6 to 2.
