The Fredonia Picnic.

The picnic at Fredonia Saturday is said to have been one of the biggest things ever pulled off in this country. There were about 5000 people there and an abundance of barbecued meats and basket grub for all. The picnic was held in a beautiful grove near the place where McCulloch, Mason and San Saba counties corner, and people were there from all three counties, also a number from Llano county. Political speeches were made by Thos. Bell, J. E. Shropshire and Joe A. Adkins, of Brady; the former championing the cause of Cone Johnson, Mr. Shropshire the cause of Davidson, and the latter speaking for Colquitt, also taking up the cause of Pondexter in that he defended that candidate on charges made, and advised his hearers to vote for Pondexter if they couldn't consistently vote for Colquitt. Everybody attending reports a big time.

The Glorious Fourth.

The 4th of July was celebrated in Brady quietly, but thoroughly. A number of our citizens went over to Brownwood to the big blowout there. A very large crowd took part in the Sunday school picnic given by the Methodist church in the Dutton park, while still others hied themselves to the nooks and glens of Brady creek and the San Saba river and spent the day fishing.

There was no agreement signed to close up, but the merchants all seemed to become imbued with the patriotism of the day suddenly and at the same time, and practically every business institution in the city closed its doors and took holiday. Even the drug stores and cold drink stands quit business for a part of the day, and nobody worked—except the printers. In the afternoon the baseball game attracted a large crowd, and altogether the day was spent in rest and satisfactory recreation all around.

J. N. Israel and wife, of San Angelo, are visiting the family of J. M. Williams, near Nine, this week. The two ladies are sisters. Mr. Israel reports the Nine country looking very fine indeed.

CONTRACT IS SIGNED

Eden Railroad Committee and Santa Fe Officials Finally Get Together and Deal is Closed.

Our Friday issue contained a letter from the Eden railroad committee in which they corrected our statement of Tuesday to the effect that they had signed a contract with the Santa Fe officials. Before the paper was out, however, the contract had been signed, and a member of the committee called us up over the phone Friday morning to give us the news, but on account of the storm the night before the wires were working badly and we could not understand him. However, we note in the Eden Echo of last Friday that the contract was received in Eden Wednesday and signed Thursday. Details of the contract are given by the San Angelo Standard, as follows:

The contract between the Santa Fe and the railroad committee representing the town of Eden and consisting of H. G. Maclean, chairman; G. Y. Lee, Lee Pfluger, T. B. Drinkard, J. T. Sorrells, W. T. Molloy and M. Kelley was closed at 4 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon at Eden.

A bonus of $15,000 cash and right of way through the county and terminal sites, all valued at an approximate total of $40,000 is guaranteed the Santa Fe, and about half a hundred of the leading business and professional men of Eden and the territory contiguous to Eden have guaranteed the amount to the Santa Fe.

While the Santa Fe does not guarantee to put passenger and freight trains into operation to Eden depots until June 1, 1912, or within 23 months, Vice President Pettibone of the Santa Fe has assured Chairman Maclean that the work of building the line will be rushed with all possible speed.

Eden is happy over the results of the railroad committee's faithful and successful efforts. A long distance phone message to the Standard Friday afternoon brings confirmation of the happy news from Eden.

The scholastic census of Brown county, just completed, shows a falling off of about 200 from last year's report. The Brownwood district has 1519, while the entire county has 5594 children of scholastic age.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Strickland, Mart Strickland and Mabel Loring came over from Brady Sunday. Mrs. Strickland and Mrs. Jennie Williams left Tuesday for Austin, and Mart Strickland returned to Brady, while Oscar and Miss Mabel will remain here for several days.—Mason Herald.

Wool Sold at Angelo.

At prices ranging from 12 1/2c to 15 cents per pound the Wool Growers Central Storage Company sold 400,000 pounds of wool Saturday through C. D. Stokes, of Lampasas, to Willett & Company, of Boston. A sales committee, composed of Robert Massie, S. E. Crouch and Sam H. Hill, engineered the deal for the local concern, and the bulk of the staple involved went at the higher figures.

The lot was sold in separate clips, all classed individually, and represented the consignments of half a dozen or more West Texas sheepmen. Shipment to Galveston and thence to Boston will be made next week.—San Angelo Standard.

Boosting Our Fair. Thanks!

When the citizens of Brady and McCulloch county organized a fair association a few years ago, it was with a view of making the organization permanent and giving annual exhibits that would advertise and benefit the town. In this undertaking the stockholders have been very successful and the third annual fair, to be held this fall, promises to be the biggest and best ever held. The directors of the association met one day last week and fixed the date for the fair this fall at Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 12, 13 and 14. W. D. Crothers was elected president and T. P. Grant was elected secretary. Mr. Grant has been acting secretary for the association since its organization and its success is largely due to his individual efforts. The directors were pleased when he accepted the place as secretary for another year.—Brownwood Bulletin.

A. Ogden and family this week moved into their old home, removed to the southern portion of the city and made new. They have a much nicer location out there.

The Vendome.

The Howard Stock Company closed a successful week's engagement at the Vendome Saturday night. This is a very strong company, and some of the bills presented were exceptionally good. Their opening play Monday night, and their feature play on Friday night were said by those who saw them to be about the best ever presented in this city.

This week's bill consists of a strong vaudeville team and new motion pictures. Three big vaudeville acts are presented, Mr. and Mrs. Blessing in novel comedies, Baby Mildred and Master Eugene, clever little juvenile entertainers, and V. D'Ennis, character comedian. Two shows nightly—8:45 and 9:45. Admission 10c and 20c.

The work of laying the foundations for the new ward school building is well under way. The foundations are being made of concrete and are of a character that will endure forever.

Lee Norrell came in last night from Brady where he has been engaged in the real estate business for several months. Mr. Norrell is making his home in Brady now and is having much success as a real estate dealer.—Brownwood Bulletin.

For Rent.

Desirable 4-room house, near the business section, for rent, fine location. See Pat Acosta, at Abney & Vincent.

Locals Drop Two Out of Three.

The Comanche Indians succeeded in taking the big end of the series from the Buccaneers last week, winning Thursday's game 5 to 1 and Saturday's 10 to 6. The locals took Friday's game by a score of 2 to 0. This was really the only game of the series worth mentioning, the other two being slow and draggy and characterized by errors and slow playing on both sides. In Friday's game, however, the players were in the game from start to finish, not a single costly error was made and not a single earned run. Brady's two scores were the result of a home run by Gordon, with a man on second. Comanche presented the strongest set of baseball players seen this season on the local diamond, and the games should all have been as interesting as Friday's.

SANTAFE LAYING TRACK

Big Force of Men Now Engaged Laying Rails from Brady to the Junction Twelve Miles West.

The "look out for the cars" sign is soon due to be erected by the Santa Fe just north of the bridge in this city, and it looks like building a railroad to see the work train pulling back and forth in that locality.

R. C. Brewster, engineer in charge of the construction work for the Santa Fe in McCulloch county, started a force of 100 men on the track laying last Wednesday, beginning at the intersection with the Frisco and working west through North Brady. Up to yesterday (Monday) afternoon the track laying gang had reached a point in the Marsden pasture west of town and about two miles from the starting point. The track is being put down at the rate of about a half mile a day, and allowing for accidents, bad weather and "strikes," Mr. Brewster figures that he will complete the line to the Junction, twelve miles west, by the 1st of August. His Mexicans struck on him Friday, and tied up the work for part of two days, but everything was straightened out in good shape Monday and the work is proceeding nicely.

Mr. Brewster has enough materials of all kinds on hand to complete the twelve miles, and has cross ties enough to build 40 or 50 miles. The work is being pushed as fast as possible to the junction so that the Frisco may have the use of the track to push the building of their Menard line from that point. The Santa Fe will then proceed with their track laying to Melvin and also back east to the San Saba county line.

Mr. Brewster has charge of the entire work, grading and all, and reports a big force of men on the grade work east of Brady, and that this work is about 50 per cent completed. All possible haste is being used all along the line, Brady to Lometa, and the work of preparing the approaches and setting the concrete foundations for the big bridge over the Colorado river is now under way. This bridge is a big one, containing three steel spans, the center one of which will be trussed. This span is 200 feet long, the other two 100 and 65 feet respectively. The center span will be 85 feet above the water level.

The Frisco is also working hard on the grade work to Menard from the junction, and will probably be in shape to begin track laying on that stretch as soon as the Santa Fe gives them a track to the junction to work from. The signs just now all point to a speedy rail connection for Brady with Menard, Melvin and Eden.

Storm at Waldrip.

Our Waldrip correspondent reports quite a severe storm at that place Thursday evening. Crops were not damaged to any great extent, but a very heavy wind prevailed, coming from the northwest, accompanied by heavy rain, some hail and lightning. Great damage was done to small outhouses all over the neighborhood, while the Chas. Hill gin was totally wrecked. The business men at Waldrip suffered considerable damage from water blowing in, and a number of dwellings suffered damaged north walls and windows. Across the river in Coleman county three houses were entirely demolished and one man, a Mr. Bante, was killed.

The contractors last week completed the immense water tower for the Brady Water & Light Co., and turned it over to the company in good shape and on time. This is perhaps the biggest water tower in west Texas, and the stars and stripes floated proudly from the flag pole on top in celebration of July 4th.

Hail Storm Near Nine.

J. L. Kinsel, who is farming on the Dave Harkrider place seven miles southwest of Brady, near Nine, was in the city Monday and brought to the Standard office a handful of cotton stalks taken from his field after the storm of last Thursday evening. Mr. Kinsel had sixty one acres of cotton practically ruined by the hail, but says his corn and other crops were not hurt. The hail seemed to come in a narrow strip and Mr. Kinsel is the only farmer we have yet heard of who was seriously damaged.

A completed census of the scholastics in McCulloch county shows a substantial gain over the number enumerated last year. A gain of 469 has caused The Brady Standard to estimate the county's population at 23,290, but that paper admits that Uncle Sam has the right to change the county any time he sees fit to give out the official count. McCulloch county is developing as rapidly as any county in this section of the state, and it is but natural that there should be large increases in scholastics and population each year.—Brownwood Bulletin.

PUTS THE KIBOSH ON TUNNELL.

Rev. John Power conducts a most interesting "Parson's Column" in the Brownwood Bulletin, and on various and sundry occasions the Bulletin's force have mixed his metaphors and "bulled" his copy to an extent that explanations were necessary. The Parson got even with the Bulletin one day last week in the following paragraph in his regular column, and City Editor Cy Tunnell has failed to reply, probably for the reason there is nothing for him to say. The Parson says:

The only man of the Parson's acquaintance who is not fascinated by the Bulletin's Cy Tunnell. He is not intimidated, he is terrified. They say that George Kidd, when he used to work, once asked Cy to go with him and learn how to work. George was not very expert and struggled and gasped a good deal. Cy looked on for a while, and then said: "Is it so hard as that?" George intimated that it was sometimes a good deal harder. "Excuse me," said Cy, "I have an engagement." He at once took flight and let Ike Lear play pool with him at the Elk's club. And since that time if Cy ever comes within two blocks of work, he bursts into a cold, clammy sweat, and rushes off to find a restorative.

We are simply "burnt but" on spring chickens, vegetables and watermelons and long for a good mess of brown beans and dried apples—like they have in Brady.—Menard Messenger.

What the Menard brother really needs is a mess of bile beans and green apples.

The report that the editor of The Brady Standard wants to move to Rochelle is thought to be true.—Rochelle Record.

Wonder how that report got out? True we've always had an abiding admiration for McCulloch's second city, and have expressed that admiration times without number, but it remains for the Record to delve deep into our innermost thoughts and dig out that which we had thought hidden from all.

The Record wants the farmers of the Rochelle country to prepare for the exhibit at the Dallas fair. Fix up your exhibit, tag it and turn it over to Frank Bennett, Brady.—Rochelle Record.

Now you're talking! By all means let the Rochelle country be represented in the McCulloch county exhibit at Dallas this fall. And while you are about it you get your exhibit ready in time for the Brady Fair, which is going to be "some pumpkins" itself. Keep talking, B. O. Adkins, until your farmers get together an exhibit which will beat 'em all.

Our correspondent from Voca sounds a keynote of vital importance when he suggests the establishment in Brady of a produce commission house which will handle everything the farmer raises. Such an industry in Brady would do more to promote the development and growth of the county's diversified farming interests than any other one thing the town could have. McCulloch county will grow anything, and does grow most everything in the way of truck, fruits, vegetables, etc. Especially is this true of the southern portion of the county where the land is peculiarly adapted to such crops.—Brady Standard.

A produce commission house would be worth while just as a creamery would be worth while. The first mentioned as well as the last affords a market for the farmer. Anything to stimulate interest in farming.—San Angelo Standard.

SOME GOOD ADVICE.

A few years ago when Cone Johnson was heaping compliments upon Senator Bailey, the Senator reciprocated by writing Mr. Johnson that he would like to see him made Attorney General. Now politics has separated these former friends. Two years ago Mr. Johnson spoke in behalf of the election of R. V. Davidson for Attorney General and he declared that Mr. Davidson was the greatest lawyer in all Texas. Now that they are rival candidates for the Governorship, Mr. Johnson declares that he defies any lawyer of ability to show that statutory prohibition is unconstitutional and yet Mr. Davidson the "greatest lawyer," declares emphatically that it is. We could extend the list into dozens, but these two shining examples will serve to illustrate what we want to say for about the "steenth" time: Do not fall out with your neighbor who disagrees with you. Do not talk politics on the streets at all and no where else unless you resolve that under all circumstances you will not get mad with your friend who does not see as you do.—Clarendon News.

Which is good advice and exactly the policy The Standard is following in this campaign. While we have our choice and have stated it, yet we allow our friends to have their choice too, and if our views do not coincide we are not going to fall out about it. We think more of our local friends than we do of any man who ever applied for any office under the sun. By all means, pick your candidate and support him, but don't let your partisanship come between you and your friends who are supporting another man.

We offer you a better value in art squares, rugs, etc. than you can get from any one, and you can get them at home. No use to buy from peddlers for you do not know what you are getting. We are here every day in the year and behind every article we sell. Is this worth anything to you? O. D. Mann & Sons.

Another County Heard From.

Richland Springs, Texas, June 25.

Editor Brady Standard.

I notice your columns are open to any one wishing to reply to Mr. C. W. Anderson's communication on good roads, in which Mr. Anderson makes a dire thrust into the automobile who travels upon our highways. I think Mr. Anderson was very mild in his remarks and should be denied room in your columns unless he will speak more plainly and delve deeper into the subject and not be so mealy mouthed. It is true so far as he went he ably and admirably defended the cause of justice pertaining to his countrymen and the tax payers of his county, and I admire the position he has taken in the premises and could judge by his communication that he is opposed to good roads, but on the other hand, should you travel over the road that Mr. Anderson has in his charge to look after will find that portion of road cannot be excelled by any other in his county. Mr. Anderson could have easily made this road merely passible with much less time and labor and acquitted himself with honor, had he been opposed to good roads. The farmers as a unit are in favor of good roads. Good roads are indispensable to the farmer. Yet the majority of the farmers are opposed to an enormous tax placed upon the county to be paid by the unborn to grade our roads for the benefit of the auto. The farmers, in a sense, are denied the rights of our public highways and in consequence are opposed to the issuing of bonds to better facilitate the traffic and travel of public roads. If the farmers were sure of traveling upon our highways without danger to life and property their sentiments no doubt would be for better roads upon some conservative and economic plan. To more plainly convey the idea that I wish to advance I will mention a few instances that actually occurred, these will also give you some idea of the reason so many are classed among the so called knockers against the improvements on our highways. I will first mention the circumstance of an old gentleman and his better half while traveling one of the McCulloch county roads, met an auto, these two old people did everything in their power to induce the driver not to run on them but failed and in consequence their buggy was completely demolished and fortunately they escaped unhurt but left standing in the road some distance from any home. The auto driver was asked by the old gentleman to take his wife to the nearest house on the road that she could be cared for, until he could make arrangements to get her home. The old gentleman's request was ignored. I wish to make mention of one more from the mass that I have heard of and that of an aged minister, who met with a similar fate, only he succeeded in getting out and getting hold of the cheek of the brute, but the horse in his fright threw the minister into the wire fence. The party in the auto gave the old man a hearty laugh but never offered any assistance. Many others I could mention but not necessary but will say that names and affidavits will be furnished if required. Now I would not have you understand me to oppose good roads or the autos, but would suggest that the common people's rights be protected while upon our highways. Texas often boasts through her public gazettes of her many resources and of the strong arm of protection thrown around her citizens, and of her solid democracy seeing that justice is meted out to all regardless of their station in life. "Oh consistency where art thou thy virtue?" I will mention a few states, some of which are republican states, that has a law to protect her citizens against the tyrannical practice of the autoist that exist here in Texas. To wit, Georgia, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, New Jersey and others, the law in each state is practically the same in substance, the law in part is as follows: No one can operate a motor cycle or vehicle upon the highways without their car being numbered, must have license, and it is a misdemeanor for anyone driving an auto upon the highways while drunk or under the influence of liquor, and in any case or conditions when passing or meeting persons riding, driving or leading a horse or any other domestic animal, where danger of life or property is at stake, the operator of the motor car shall travel at a speed of not more than six miles an hour until such person or persons are passed, upon raising of the hand of person or persons riding, driving or leading horses the car must be brought to an immediate stand still, and in violation of the law will be fined $100.00 or six months in chain gang. I have the law of every state mentioned and will furnish the same to all doubting Thomases. I am advised that they have good roads and that the autoist and farmers all pull together for good roads. Give us some protection and we will vote for your bonds. D. E. ASKEW.

We dye for others, why not let us dye for you? Demp, the tailor.

POINDEXTER'S PROHIBITION RECORD

From Greenville Banner.

Many persons pretend to believe that Judge Poindexter has not been a faithful prohibitionist the last twenty five years. These persons have relied upon the campaign tales of others who have had less regard for the truth than for their prejudices and passions. In order that the public may know what the real facts are, the following statement is made under such authority that it cannot be questioned by any honorable man. In the Dallas News of June 10, appeared an article from W. R. Walker, of Cleburne, which bears out the following facts.

That in 1876, in compliance with the constitution, the legislature passed the local option law of Texas. In the next year, 1877, just thirty three years ago, Johnson county, the home of Judge Poindexter, had a local option election under this law. Capt. O. T. Plummer, a life long prohibitionist and familiar with the election referred to, states that Judge Poindexter stumped the county then for local option. For that matter there are hundreds of living witnesses to this fact. Of course Judge Poindexter voted the prohibition ticket in this as in all subsequent elections on this subject.

There was no further special agitation on the subject until 1887, but in the meantime Judge Poindexter was an ardent advocate of the principles of prohibition whenever occasion was afforded him to speak his sentiments. In 1887 there was a state-wide issue on prohibition and Judge Poindexter stumped the state in favor of prohibition, and he paid his own expenses in traveling from one end of the state to the other. Not another man in the state took a more active part in behalf of prohibition, and not one paid more liberally than he to the cause.

Again there was a rest from political agitation on this subject until 1895, but in the meanwhile again Judge Poindexter maintained his faith and his influence in favor of prohibition, wherever the issue was raised publicly or privately. In 1895 the second local option contest took place in Johnson county. Prohibition sentiment had become very strong in that county by this time, and no living man could claim to have created it more than could Judge Poindexter, for he was never silent when the issue was sprung. So strong was the pro-sentiment that there was never any fear as to the outcome of the contest, so that there was no need of any great activity among the speakers on either side, and yet Judge Poindexter not only spoke before the people in favor of prohibition but contributed liberally of his own money to guarantee the support of any incidental expenses connected with the campaign.

Two years later, in 1897, the issue was sprung once more—a third time since 1877. Capt. O. T. Plummer was chairman of the campaign committee for the pros and it was decided to employ Cyclone Davis and other prominent prohibitionists to speak in the county. In every deliberative assembly where counsel was needed for the pros, Judge Poindexter was present and active and influential and he several times put up money for the campaign fund to pay Cyclone Davis and others.

Another season of political quiet followed, but still Judge Poindexter could be found at all times advocating prohibition principles, whenever and wherever the issue was mentioned. In 1899, however another election was called on prohibition in Johnson county. Judge Poindexter was again at his old post, fighting for prohibition and voting for it and advising its re-adoption. This was another victory for the pros and one in which Judge Poindexter did his full quota of work and influence in every way.

In 1901, the fifth contest was called. Judge Poindexter again contributed of his money and influence to the cause of prohibition. It is specifically declared by W. R. Walker, then chairman of the campaign, that Judge Poindexter again contributed financially to the cause and gave support to the movement by the aid of his counsel in furthering ways and means to accomplish another victory. This election was contested. Judge Poindexter was then district judge and he dissolved an injunction that had been granted by a non-resident judge. The case was appealed to the supreme court of the United States, by which court Judge Poindexter was sustained and yet it has been claimed by certain parties that Judge Poindexter represented the anti in this contest. The court records clearly show the above stated facts and may be verified by any man who questions this statement.

In 1904, still another election was called, and again Judge Poindexter, true to his old convictions, was found contributing of his money for the pro side of the contest, and advocating the re-adoption of the time-tried local option. It is useless to reaffirm that in each of the foregoing years and those that came after, Judge Poindexter also voted for prohibition. In 1906 another election was called on prohibition in that county. Once more Judge Poindexter was actively a supporter of the prohibition cause, contributing financially to its support and actively engaged in its counsels.

In 1908, Judge Poindexter openly advocated submission, and his friends every where know this to be true. Not only so, but he went to the San Antonio convention as an unyielding advocate of submission. At that convention he was so strong and formidable a power in his advocacy of submission that he was chosen to defend the submission plank when it had opposition of the most violent sort, and when it needed friends to give it the breath of life and the possibility of a chance to live and become a part of our organic law, and so heroically did he defend it that no man in Texas can claim more credit or honor than he for the fact that it became the only demand in the entire platform. Mr. Johnson was not even present at this convention.

In May, 1909, there was a mass meeting on prohibition in the Methodist church in Cleburne, and such men as Sterling P. Strong, Geo. R. Stuart and others were present. Judge Poindexter made the first speech on this occasion. When he announced his candidacy for governor the first plank in his platform was state-wide submission, and it is there today. His next plank, or corollary to the first plank was and is today, in case submission is lost, "a law closing forever the saloons in Texas." In every speech made in this campaign he has advocated these principles with a vigor that has made him the dread of the saloon interests all over Texas, and these principles, if put into law as he has outlined in his printed platform, would move the cause of prohibition forward fifty years in a day.

On the contrary, with almost identically a parallel record of fighting against prohibition, state-wide and local, stands the history of Cone Johnson's life as the eloquent advocate of the whiskey traffic and the saloons in Texas. If Mr. Johnson's statutory prohibition is enacted the clause will remain in the constitution declaring that the people themselves in the different counties, cities and precincts shall have the right to vote on the question of whether or not intoxicating liquor shall be sold in given boundaries designated by the commissioners court and every county and subdivision of county that wants whiskey and the saloon regime back again will simply call an election under the constitution, and there is no power under the sun to prevent them. Therefore under such a law we would make not one step advance in the cause of real prohibition, but would leave the state in helpless confusion with possibly all our work to start over again. Under the restrictive legislation proposed by Judge Poindexter, provided submission fails, the saloons would be practically put out of business with no clause in the constitution to help the whiskey business in any respect or to any degree whatever. One of these men has been a life long champion of prohibition, state-wide and local, the other has been a life long friend of the whiskey traffic and has devoted his talents, his eloquence and his influence to keeping saloons protected against the wishes of the prohibition people, and has therefore been the friend of the saloon against the holiest interests of the home, the church and the state. Not until he began to plume himself for governor on a prohibition sentiment created by such men as Poindexter did he advocate prohibition principles. Judge Poindexter has been the unfaltering friend of prohibition all his life, and his policies today mean the utter destruction of the saloon in the quickest and safest possible manner.

Granbury Drops First.

The Granbury baseball team is here for three games with the locals, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Yesterday's game was won by Brady, score 9 to 7. The game started off with the promise of being one of the best, and during the first three innings there were no scores, few errors and some good fielding stunts. The visitors presented a twirler named Ward who was something new in the pitching line. He floats a ball up over the plate looking as big as a balloon, and for three innings the locals couldn't find him. In the fourth however, his support blew up and Mr. Ward suffered the embarrassment of seeing six of the Buccaneers caper around the bags at his expense.

In this inning Westmoreland hit safely. Hail followed with a single, West taking third. Hart hit a hot liner to 3rd and was safe on a muff. Fuller binged to right and Westmoreland scored. Gordon lined out a two-bagger to center field and cleared the bases. McClellan went out pitcher to 1st base. Straub hit a long fly to right field, which was muddled and Gordon scored. Strickland landed on the ball for three bags while the left fielder took a nap, Straub scoring. Westmoreland flew out; net result 6 runs. In the same inning the visitors scored once on a wild pitch.

In the fifth after Hail and Hart had gone out the locals registered twice more, Gordon landing on the ball for a home run, with Fuller on second.

The seventh inning was a combination of errors, bonehead plays, hits, runs, bunts, and a little baseball. The result was four runs for the visitors and one more for the locals, total 9 to 5.

The eighth was productive of no results, but the visitors got two more in their half of the ninth through courtesy of Manager Hail, who allowed them to send in their best batters regardless of batting order. Ferrell, batting for Cogsdale, lined out a two-bagger to right center. Archer batting for someone else, duplicated the feat and scored. Ferrell. Howard was safe on an error but was caught between bases a moment later and run down, Archer scoring in the melee. The side was finally retired and the game saved by a narrow margin.

Score by innings:
Granbury . . . 0 0 1 0 0 4 0 2-7
Brady . . . . . 0 0 0 6 2 0 1 0 x-9
Summary—Struck out, by Straub 6, by Ward 3. Home run, Gordon. Three base hits, Strickland. Two base hits, Gordon, Strickland, Hail, Ferrell, Archer. Umpire, Quicksall.

Feed! feed! feed!—nothing but feed. Macy & Co. want your feed business.

Dr. Wm. C. Jones returned Monday from a three weeks vacation trip to Hamilton, Lampasas, Gatesville and other points in that section. The doctor made the entire trip with his wife and baby in his new Moline automobile, and covered 500 miles in all, without a minute's trouble of any kind. No punctures or blow-outs, and everything lovely except the roads. Mrs. Jones remained at her father's ranch in Hamilton county for a week or ten days' visit. The doctor reports McCulloch county in the best shape of any county he saw while away. The rains have been very spotted, with dry spots bigger than the wet ones, and he thinks McCulloch county people have much to be thankful for.

WALDRIP WHISPERINGS.

Waldrip, Texas, July 2.
Editor Brady Standard:
Tomorrow is the glorious Fourth, let's celebrate it in a sane way and not have to mourn it as also the sad Fourth.

Last Thursday one of the most severe wind storms of several years visited us. For over an hour a straight wind from the north-west accompanied by rain and lightning and some hail. Timber was demolished for miles. Crops were not hurt but most everyone had to rebuild all small out houses. The gin of Chas. Hill was a total wreck, and all the business men sustained considerable loss. Most all goods on the north side in all stores being damaged. Most all of the dwelling houses had the north walls or windows blown in, while just across the river three houses were blown away entirely and one man, a Mr. Bante, killed. Storm cellars were the places of attraction during the entire evening.

The little infant of Mr. and Mrs. Briscoe has been quite ill but is some better.

Mrs. D. O. Hays returned to her home in Christoval last Monday after a pleasant visit with relatives here.

A. J. Bassett and daughter, Mrs. Metcalf, visited relatives in Coleman last week.

Messrs. V. L. Grady and W. R. Kelley with their families, of Santa Anna, have been enjoying the week fishing at the Kellett place.

Some few of our young people attended the ice cream supper given by The Ladies Aid society at Lohn last Wednesday night.

E. E. McClain, of Santa Anna, was here on business last Wednesday.

Mrs. W. D. Walker visited Mrs. Winstead last Tuesday.

The county singing convention is in session here today. It seems as if everybody is here with their dinner.

The manager of the telephone line from Stacy to Santa Anna has just completed the repair work on the line. They report the storm worse farther up the line as more poles were missing and more breaks in the wire.

PROGRESS.

G. W. Sutton, who lives just over the river from Waldrip, and who claims to be more of a McCulloch county citizen than Coleman, was in town Tuesday on business. He reports a fine rain, good crops and the goose hanging high generally. His corn promises 25 bushels to the acre, and his cotton a quarter-bale. All his neighbors in the Waldrip country are in equally good shape, and Mr. Sutton says they will all make a big feed crop—enough to run them another year.

Doc Sellers and Bert Hurlbut went to Brownwood Saturday night to remain over for the 4th of July celebration.

VOCA VOICES.

Voca Texas, July 2, 1910.

Editor Brady Standard:

It sure makes us farmers feel good to see the big ears of corn sticking out over all the stalks and all over the fields for such is the case all over this country.

We have been having some good rains the past week which were of untold benefit. Corn and feed crops are safe. Of course the cotton crops are good but not made yet but of course will be for we never fail on that crop.

We attended the big barbecue at Fredonia last Saturday and by the way Mr. Editor you sure missed a good time for a good time we had. Fredonia has had several big barbecues but this one was the climax. It was estimated by some that there were four thousand people there. Those Fredonia people are a big hearted, wide-a-wake, progressive people.

A big lot of the very best beef, goat and mutton was left after all had eaten plenty. McCulloch county was well represented. Joe Adkins, Tom Bell and Mr. Shropshire, all of Brady, were the main speakers of the occasion. Everything passed off quietly until late in the afternoon when it was reported that Mrs. Jim Lemons, of near Voca, was run over by a team and seriously hurt. We heard later, however, that she was not hurt as badly as was first thought.

Mrs. J. D. Parker left last week for a visit to relatives and old time friends in South Texas.

A CITIZEN.

Miss Elva Yeager left Saturday night for Brownwood where she has accepted a position with the Rogers Dry Goods Co.

Ed W. Graves and wife visited friends at Voca Monday.

Wool Sale at Angelo.

The sale by George Richardson of around 600 bags of wool, weighing approximately 150,000 pounds, to C. D. Stokes, of Lampasas, representing Willett & Company, was consummated Tuesday. The price is kept secret. The lot represents only a small percentage of the amount of wool stored in Mr. Richardson's warehouses, and only about five per cent of the total amount of the fleecy staple stored in the city. No other sales have been made, but it is expected that the entire amount of around 3,000,000 pounds of wool already received here will change hands during the week.—San Angelo Standard.

The San Angelo Standard reports the sale at Del Rio by Hanks & Stocks, of 7,877 pounds of four months clip wool, held over from last fall, at 19c.

J. W. Embry came in from Eden Monday where he is at work on the new public school building. He reports satisfactory progress being made.

WOOL PRICES ARE LOW

Only 12c to 14c per Pound Being Offered at San Angelo—Nearly 3,000,000 Pounds in Storage.

The prices being offered on wool are so unsatisfactory that there are as yet few sales being made. At San Angelo the wool growers have about 3,000,000 pounds in storage and the buyers have been there for some time trying to induce the owners to part with their product at 12c to 14c. The owners are holding fast, however, and will hardly let the wool go at such prices. The San Angelo Standard says: A peculiar relation exists between the cotton and wool markets in West Texas at the present time, in that the two fleecy staples are selling at almost identical prices. Developments in the wool situation in San Angelo made public Wednesday brought to light the fact that for the 1,500,000 pounds of wool stored with local commission men, 12c to 14c per pound has been offered by buyers representing prominent northern concerns.

As a result, it is probable that few other wool sales will be recorded in the city within the next few weeks. The Wool Growers Central Storage Company will offer a million and a half pounds of the produce on Thursday morning, but in view of the extraordinarily low prices now prevailing it is not believed that any transfers will be made.

Dr. John Abe March, a prominent commission merchant, has withdrawn his holdings from the market for at least thirty days, and with the exception of the deal made by George Richardson Tuesday, in which he sold about 150,000 pounds to C. D. Stokes, representing Willett & Co., there has been no activity among the commission men.

For a consideration of around $5,000 the Wool Growers Central Storage Company sold 38,000 pounds of wool Thursday afternoon to A. Cohen & Company of San Antonio. The deal was the first to be made by the local concern in disposing of spring wool receipts, and the amount of the staple involved is only a fraction of the total amount stored in the company's warehouse.

The second sale of mohair which has been made this year by Dr. John Abe March was consummated this week, in the purchase of several thousand pounds of the staple from him by A. Cohen & Co. of San Antonio. The prices paid for the lot ranged from 21 cents to 30 cents per pound. Shipment was made Tuesday over the Santa Fe for San Antonio.

At Fort Worth Last Wednesday.

J. E. Roper, a McCulloch county shipper, sold 32 steers of 584 at $3.20. Frank Simmons sold 27 cows of 790 at $3.20. Phil Schmidt sold 17 cows of 830 at $3.45. D. H. Bickenbach sold 20 cows of 775 at $3.20, 8 of 688 at $3.70, and 3 bulls of 960 at $3.30.—Fort Worth Live Stock Reporter.
