The Line of Least Resistence

THE BRADY ENTER Vol XIII No 3

The check account puts system into your bus-It lessens business friction by affording conveiness. nience and safety for all transactions.

Men could run swiftly if it were not for the force of gravity and the resistance of the atmosphere. Every means to overcome these counteracting forces enables man to increase his speed.

Just so in the business world, every method that saves times, insures accuracy and gives safety is hailed enthusiasm. The check account will do all of these things for your business, and more.

You cannot afford to go into business and daily waste your efforts to overcome resisting forces when the check account puts these advantages at your command.

It will be no experiment for you to employ the check account. Others have tried it and learned they could not get on half so well without it.

You will appreciate our service.

Very truly yours,

HOLD POULTRY EXHIBIT Brady Enthusiasts Will Exhibit Pens of

Fancy Poultry in Brady Saturday, January 28th. Brady has quite a number of enthusiastic raisers of fancy poultry, and the raising of fine blooded stock has gotten to be something more than mere pastime with them. New breeds and better blood are being constantly introduced into their pens, and the result is that we can boast of blooded stock that is not excelled anywhere in the state.

To add impetus to the desire for better stock and to give the citizens an opportunity of seeing what has already been accomplished, it has been decided to hold a poultry exhibit in some convenient place on the square Saturday, January 28th. There will be no prizes offered or ribbons awarded, it being merely the desire of the exhibitors to show what they have. Everyone in McCulloch county is invited to participate and help start the ball rolling.

We wish to call the attention of our readers, and especially the patrons of the Brady schools, to the article by Prof. Long published elsewhere in this issue. Beginning Monday of last week a new plan of exit was adopted, which will be observed, upon all occasions in passing out of the buildling as well as when the fire drill is given. The Standard heartily commends this plan, inasmuch as the pupils will become accustomed to it in a short sibility of confusion arising faculty as well, and feel assured that every interest of the children in their care is being looked after as carefully as is in their power to do. in case of emergency. Storms and wrecks frequently interfere with train service. When a town is suddeniy cat on from communication with the outside world by rail, the effect is nothing short of a calamity. ## Marriage Not a Failure By REGINALD D. HAVEN

Copyright, 1910, by American Press

The old bachelors and old maids matrimonial exchange, designed to bring together persons of opposite sex who had put off marriage to an inconvenient season and had therefore been left without homes in their old age, had been organized a year without re sults. Several of the male members had been married, but they had been captured by young women outside the society. At last Mr. Frederick Hornblower, aged fifty-four, and Miss So phia Gilbert, aged forty-eight, both members of the exchange, who had met there for a matrimonial purpose decided to marry. THE CAMERA OUSCURA.

From It Was Evolved Our Modern Photographic Apparatus.

The camera was invented by an Itad ian named Baptista Porta, though was not at first used for photographing. It was in reality merely a dark room, into which the light was admitted through a little round hale in one side. The rays of light coming from objects outside of this room entered it through this aperture and made a plo ture on the other side of the room glowing in all the beauty and color of nature itself, but rather indistinct and upside down. This dark room was contrived by Porta about the middle of the sixteenth century. He improved it later by placing a glass lens in the aperture and outside a mirror which received the rays of light and reflected them through the lons so that the image upon the opposite wall within was made much / brighter, more distinct and in a nataral or erect position. This was really the first camera obscura, an invention which is enjoyed to the present day.

EEF BREED attle Cross Makes Heavy Percentage of Dressed Beef-Dressing 64.08 Per Cent.

Col. Charles Goodnight of the Goodnight ranch, in Armstrong county, has made a successful demonstration of his cross-bred buffalo-cattle as beef makers. He shipped three animals to the Fort Worth packing houses, to be slaughtered and tested for beef percentage. Techanically, this is known as the "dressing-out" test, to ascertain how much dressed meat there is in an animal of given weight. The average Texas cow will yield about 50 per cent of her weight in beef. One of Col. Goodnight's three-quarter buffalo cows dressed out 64.08 per cent, a halfbred dressed 60.55 per cent, and a one-sixteenth yearling bull dressed 57.34 per cent. These figures show that the greater the percentage of buffalo blood the larger the per cent of beef. All of them were strictly grass fed, and were in rather thin condition.

Butchers pay for beef animals in proportion to the amount of beef they can get out of them. It appears that these buffalo-cattle, or "cattaloes," as Col. Goodnight has named them, are good things for cattle raisers to take up, as they will undoubtedly sell at better prices than the common cattle because they will make more beef.

Col. Goodnight is making arrangements to have a number of these cattaloes on exhibition at the National Feeders and Breeders Show. The half-breeds have the heavy forequarters and hump of the buffalo, with heavy coats of hair, but not so shaggy and woolly as the buffallo's coat. As their original buffalo progenitors were crossed on Polled-Angus less.

One of the cows was 21 years of their age, they were as lively and skittish as heifers.
