900 Acres Oats.

G. V. Gansel is wearing the smile that won't come off. Mr. Gansel's reason is a good one, as he has in about 900 acres of oats on his ranch, and during the past few days he has seen his chances for a good oat yield going a-glimmering. Telephone reports yesterday stated that a splendid rain was had on the Gansel ranch, and Mr. Gansel is hoping that it may have come in time to assure a bumper yield. While having a good stand, the oats lacked growth, and was just beginning to head out. The rain should be instrumental in giving it the desired growth and in filling out the heads.

HEAVY RAINS FALL IN THE COUNTY WEDNESDAY.

Two Inches Rain Falls in Brady in Little Over an Hour—A Rise of 2 Ft. Over Dam

Just in the nick of time to save McCulloch county's monster oat crop came one of the heaviest rains that has fallen in years, and with it came smiles as broad as you please. Nothing could have been better suited, and the good the rain did is inestimable. Beginning at a little after 6:00 o'clock Wednesday evening the rain fell in sheets for something over an hour. A sharp patter of hail accompanied the rain, but no damage has been reported.

In Brady the rain fell so fast that the storm sewers were unable to receive the water as fast as it fell. The catch basins at the Brady National bank and Simon's old stand were both deluged by the flood coming down Blackburn, and the water backed over the sidewalk into the rear of Wilansky's store. The square resembled a big lake, the water pouring from all directions toward the catch basin at Anderson & Moffatt's, where it chortled and surged like an immense whirlpool.

Parties who were caught out in the rain say it fell so fast that they were unable to see their way. At Lohn, the flood of Tuesday was duplicated, the rain falling in sheets and torrents. Likewise at Lightner a terrific rain, the hardest on record, fell. At Stacy, Waldrip, Fife, Millersview, Melvin, Callan and San Saba, a fine rain is reported. Big rains are also reported on the Gansel and Walker ranches. No rain on the Wilhelm ranch.

From Brownwood to Brady the country resembled an immense lake. At Eden there was no rain, and Menard had but a sprinkle. In the south part of the county, at Katemcy, Camp San Saba and Voca, no rain is reported, and Mason was likewise overlooked.

Within an hour after the rain Brady creek was up and booming. At 7:30 Wednesday night, immediately after the cessation of the rain, the water was half way up the dam; at 8:30 it lacked but a few inches of the top, and at 10 o'clock it was two and one-half feet over the dam. Brady creek at the same time was on a five foot rise, while Live Oak had about a six foot rise. Yesterday morning the water was still running over the dam.

All day yesterday the dam was visited by Brady citizens eager to get a look at the big lake of water impounded for the first time since the dam was completed. According to Engineer Hawley's estimate enough water is held in check by the dam to supply a city of 5,000 inhabitants for one year, without another drop of rain.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE

WALDRIP WHOOPS.

Waldrip, Texas, May 6.
Editor Brady Standard:
Yes, I'm back again, but just why my last letter wasn't printed I cannot tell. To be sure I did not have any news, but I sent in my name, or rather I did all I could to get it there. I fulfilled my promise, but pardon me, please, dear editor, I'll not do that way again.

I am very glad to see The Standard steadily improving. Let the good work go on. I sincerely hope it will not be long before our merchants begin advertising and building up, which of course, is natural when they advertise.

For the past few days April showers have been very much in vogue; a very nice fashion too, I must say. Prospects were never better, hopes were never brighter for a successful year. And it is also a noticeable fact that very few people leave McCulloch county, yet every day brings new settlers in, who stay with us.

Mr. James Lafferty has returned from Copperas Cove, where he has been visiting his sisters, Mrs. Frank Goen and Mrs. Sam White.

Misses Lona Lederer and Mabel Winstead spent last Sunday with Mrs. W. D. Walker. Mr. Grover Gattis was also a guest at the Walker home.

Quite a number of our most prominent citizens attended the speaking by Judge Ramsey at Brady Monday. Among them were T. R. H. S. and W. S. Briscoe, Capt. J. F. Chaffin and son, Orlando Chaffin.

The election was pulled off last Saturday, and with much wrangling over it the pros won a glorious success, Capt. J. F. Chaffin being elected as delegate and W. T. Stacy as alternate.

Mr. John Ramsey is staying with his brother, Mr. Will H. Ramsey of Salt Gap, who has the measles and is quite ill.

Mrs. H. M. Martin is very ill. It is feared she has been stricken with paralysis. Her daughter and son-in-law of Stacy, Mr. and Mrs. Will Smith, are with her now.

Mr. Glenn Wright and Miss Margaret Powell attended the convention at Stacy Sunday.

Messrs. John and Elbert Briscoe and sister, Miss Verna, attended singing at Lohn Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. M. J. Hutto entertained the younger folks with a social Saturday night. All report a splendid time.

Mr. Jesse Nix of Gansel visited his sister, Mrs. Mayo, last week.

Say, Y's Acre, did you get all done up in the base ball or basket ball team? Better come to the front, or I'll be down to see about you.

Rev. J. E. Robinson of Winchell will preach here Sunday morning and afternoon at 3:00 o'clock and Sunday night. Members as well as all others are invited to attend these splendid services.

Hoping this will be in print, I wish others better success than I have. THE KID.

Escapes An Awful Fate.
A thousand tongues could not express the gratitude of Mrs. J. E. Cox of Joliet, Ill., for her wonderful deliverance from an awful fate. "Typhoid pneumonia had left me with a dreadful cough," she writes. "Sometimes I had such awful coughing spells I thought I would die. I could get no help from doctor's treatment or other medicines till I used Dr. King's New Discovery. But I owe my life to this wonderful remedy for I scarcely cough at all now." Quick and safe, it's the most reliable of all throat and lung medicines. Every bottle guaranteed. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Jones Drug Co.

Our steam pressing method is used by the most up-to-date tailoring shops in the United States. It's the best by test. Baker's Tailor shop.

LOST CREEK ECHOES.

Voca, Texas, May 7.
Editor Brady Standard:
This section of country is beginning to need a little rain. For the past week or so several big rain clouds have come in sight, but the rain here was light. It seems that the more rain we have the more it takes.

Crops have begun to grow and are looking better as the days go by.

The democratic voters of this precinct met in convention Saturday and selected Mr. D. H. Henderson as a delegate to the county convention with instructions to vote for Woodrow Wilson.

Elder Simpson of Mason of the Church of Christ has been in a meeting here for the past week. Bro. Simpson is a good preacher and don't fail to tell the plain truths of the gospel with telling effect.

Among the number who attended the speaking of Judge W. F. Ramsey (the coming governor of Texas) at Brady Monday were Joe Elliot, Ed Elliot, Howard Childers, D. H. Henderson, J. J. Armor and Dr. Jackson.

popular household remedy in the world have been made known to the public. This means a new era in the advertising of popular family medicines—Peruna leads.

Peruna contains among other things, golden seal, powerful in its effect upon the mucous membranes. Cedron seed, a rare medicine and unsurpassed tonic.
Cubeba, valuable in nasal catarrh and affections of the kidneys and bladder. Stone root, valuable for the nerves, mucous membranes gestion.

SWEDEN PARAGRAPHS.

Rochelle, Texas, May 8.
Editor Brady Standard:

Here I come again, after so long an absence. But hope you will all pardon me for not writing sooner. I have been going around having such a good time
I just didn't have time to write.

On last Monday night a week ago Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johanson threw open the doors of their beautiful country home to the young people of Sweden who appreciated their kindness very much. The guests arrived at an early hour and out-door games were at once taken up. About 10:30 the guests were led by ye hostess into the dining room, where refreshments were served.
After the luncheon, in-door games and singing were enjoyed until a late hour, when the guests saw fit to make their departure wishing Mr. and Mrs.
Johanson many more such happy occasions.

Many thanks to you, Mr. Kid, for the compliment, but I don't deserve it. There are many more writers far better than I.
Praise those who are such good writers and watch the results.

Mrs. Thos. Jordan and daughter, little Miss Margaret, and sister, Miss Ollie Moore, of Brady were guests at the S. L. Hurd home last Tuesday a week ago and spent the day.

On April 29, 1912, Dr. W. M.
Burgess and family did their utmost to entertain a few of their many friends, this being their fourth wedding anniversary, so they decided to commemorate the event with a reception. The guests arrived at an early hour.
From eight to eleven the program said, and at eight o'clock the guests were called to order by the first one on the program.
The program read as follows:
Piano solo, "Old Kentucky Home," with variations, Miss Wilda Ford; vocal solo, "A Wild Rose," Miss Esther Turn; recitation, "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse," Signa Ford Burgess; "Over the Hill From the Poorhouse," Dr. W. M. Burgess; violin solo, "Spring's Awakening," Prof. Gotfried Swenson; recitation, selected, Miss Myrtle Hurd; violin solo, "A Romance and Reverie," Miss Shirley Ford; recitation, "Whistling in Heaven," Mrs. Will Dutton; piano solo, selected, Miss Sarah Johanson; vocal solo, "A Curious Circumstance," Mrs. C. J.
Hendrickson; recitation, "What Is a Hedgehog?" Mrs. Thos. Donnell; vocal solo, cornet accompaniment, "Old Church Choir," Mrs. M. L. Cravens, Mr. Finis
E. Thompson; recitation, "Lillie Sersverse's Ride," Mrs. Thos.
Dial. After the rendering of that splendid program refreshments of cake, coffee and salad were served, after which the young people enjoyed all the outdoor games they could think of.
If you are doubting this, just ask Mr. Schwenker how to play
"Pig in the Parlor" and Miss Mamie Spiller how to play
"Cross Questions and Crooked Answers." Outside the Sweden congregation, those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. J. E.
Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. M. L.
Cravens of Winchell and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Beasley and daughter, Baby Tom, of Mercury Mrs. Simpson and granddaughters, Misses Inez and Mildred Irvine, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Donnell, Miss Mamie Spiller, Mr. F.
V. Hurd, Mr. H. F. Schwenker and another gentleman whose name we failed to learn. The guests stayed until the proper hour to bid adieu to the charming host and hostess. We wish the good doctor and wife many more such pleasant anniversaries.

On last Friday night a week ago Mr. R. B. Spears and his good wife opened the doors of their neat little country cottage to Sweden's estimable young people. The moon shone out with all her brilliancy, making the out-door games more pleasant. The guests made their arrival early for they knew Mr. and Mrs. Spears were splendid entertainers. All kinds of games were played until a late hour. We extend our heartiest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs.
Spears for the nice time which we had.

Mrs. C. A. Johnson is attend-a scare was presented to all at reaching home he became the Public Lands.

The Standard is in receipt of the following advice from Jas.
T. Robison, Commissioner General Land Office, Austin, Texas, which may be of interest to our readers:

"Towards the last of this month I expect to have ready for distribution the 23rd semi-annual list of public free school lands. This list will include all unsold school land except a small quantity that is leased and some scattering sections that are in conflict with other surveys. While the larger part will be for sale to actual settlers only, yet there will be some that may be purchased without settlement. These lists are free.
It is my desire that everyone of your readers who wants information concerning our public lands should have it. I will send a list free to everyone who writes to me for it."

A GENUINE HAIR RESTORER.

Did you ever know of any hair preparation which would really grow hair and restore the color to gray or faded hair?

There are many preparations highly advertised to do the work, but it is probably your experience that none of them will really meet the claims of their manufacturers.

There are many so-called hair restorers which are nothing more than harmful chemical dyes, which do not grow any hair the only result being that they dyed the hair, having no permanency and often causing a streaky appearance.

It has been the aim of the chemists for years to discover a preparation which would really grow hair and restore the color to gray or faded hair, but heretofore they have met with no success.

Prof. Rembler now claims to have discovered a combination of harmless vegetable composition which is a genuine hair restorer and will grow hair and does not contain any dye of any kind, but will positively restore the color and brilliancy to gray and faded hair.

This is a very strong statement to make and if any chemist without the recognized ability and national reputation of Prof. Rembler were to make this claim we would be inclined to be skeptical as to its truth. It will be remembered by readers that are familiar with scientific discoveries that Prof.
Rembler was the inventor of the one fire process for gilding glass and also the Rembler wireless Coherer. Any statement made by Prof. Rembler is entitled to consideration as he would not make any statements which were not true and would injure his established reputation.

The Siloron Mfg. Co., of Pueblo, Colo., have purchased the exclusive American rights to manufacture Sagine, as they have named Prof. Rembler's invention, after having made a six months' test of Sagine and thoroughly demonstrating that it would positively do the work. The Siloron Mfg. Co. have authorized us to make the following remarkable offer to all who need a "Genuine Hair Restorer."

They will send a written agreement with every bottle of Sagine, to the effect that if one bottle of Sagine conscientiously used according to the directions does not give entire satisfaction to the purchaser; if Sagine does not actually grow hair and restore the color to gray or faded hair, remove dandruff and make the hair glossy and healthy, that they will pay the sum of $5 to any dissatisfied customer.

This is the strongest offer ever made by any manufacturer and one they could not possibly make if they did not know positively from experiment that it would do exactly what they claim for it. No one takes any chance in buying Sagine as it is certainly worth $1 to use a Genuine Hair Restorer that will really grow hair, and if it does not give satisfaction they will pay you the $5 as agreed. Send a $1 bill to the Siloron Mfg. Co., Pueblo, Colo., stating that you wish to purchase a bottle of Sagine with the written agreement to grow hair and restore the color to gray or faded hair or pay you the sum of $5 and it will be sent to you by express in plain wrapper.

The Siloron Mfg. Co., is incorporated under the laws of the state of Colorado and refer you to the mercantile agencies or any Pueblo banks as to their ability to fulfill any agreement they make.

BRADY, TEXAS, May 10, 1912.

PIONEERS, WE THREE.

"You never have a town anywhere until you have a postoffice, a newspaper and a blacksmith shop," said D. D. Doole, Jr., in the course of his address on "Brady's Postoffice" at the Commercial club banquet recently.

Had you given any thought to the significance of this remark, either before or since the meeting?

It may take railroads, good roads, manufacturing industries and what-not to develop a community—to build a city, but long before the advent of any of these, it takes recognition from Uncle Sam to place a town upon the map, and until the post office is established there is no town.

Along with the postoffice; alongside the postoffice, we might say, there is invariably to be found the blacksmith shop, for as the blacksmith shapes the glowing iron into horse shoes and into plowshares, so in turn do these inanimate objects serve an important purpose in the shaping of the destiny and welfare of the community.

And in connection with these two, a potent factor in the establishing of the community is the home newspaper; the paper that tells of the joys and woes of the citizenship; that struggles through adversities, always boosting, always scattering encouragement; in bad times pointing forward to the good times to follow; in good times predicting great things for the greatest of all communities—the home community.

Verily, we three; we are the pioneers in the building of the town, cities, states and nations.

Niagara Falls has nothing on us. See Brady's dam first.

Peace, happiness and plenty are here. Come to McCulloch.

Life in McCulloch county is just one glorious rain after another.

Brady's girls are not only the most beautiful now on earth, but all the beautiful Brady girls are rich in their own rights. Come to Brady and win you a home.

Just as a caution, we wish to advise our readers that we will positively refuse to allow any of them to present us with watermelons this year weighing over 100 pounds.

Only a light shower fell in Menard Wednesday, while all McCulloch county was being soaked. The Menard beer-barrel politicians were so busy saving the country that they didn't have time to bother the Lord about a rain to save the oat crop.

RUBBER

It is related that a peculiar phenomenon happened in a neighboring city recently. Mr. Wood and Mr. Stone met, and while they were engaged in conversation a remarkably pretty lady passed. Wood turned to Stone and Stone turned to Wood; then both turned to rubber.

Brady wants 5,000 more citizens to help us use our tremendous supply of water, so it can rain sometime again before next crop.

The nearest the editor of the Mammoth Menard Messenger ever expects to get to heaven is to have one single look at the photo of the water pouring over Brady's dam at the rate of ten billion pints per second.

Never let it be thought for an instant that we ever desired to convey the intelligence that Menard citizens were not industrious. In fact, Menard is a very busy place. Every citizen there thinks the world owes him a living and is eternally busy trying to hire a collector.

McCulloch county's most largest oat crop in history is assured. After supplying all of Texas with oats as long as their money holds out, McCulloch county will have enough left to supply Menard county with breakfast food for a million years to come.

"McCulloch county is the storehouse of the gods," says The Brady Standard. And Menard county is the show room.—Menard Messenger.

Over in Menard the other day the citizens thought they had discovered a human prodigy in the way of a violinist. Investigation disclosed one of the young "hopefuls" engaged in sawing the neck off of one of the monster gourds raised in McCulloch county and placed on exhibition in the "show room."

Mattress Factory in Operation.

Brady's mattress factory is in full operation, the first of its products being placed on exhibition at the Martin Hardware store Monday. Mr. Cameron has installed his machinery in the Willbanks auto building, and last Saturday commenced operations. His mattresses he has very appropriately named the "Slumberland," and he guarantees his products to know no superior. Already business is opening up nicely for the new industry, and Mr. Cameron is very much encouraged by his prospects.

He has entered upon an extensive advertising campaign, and says he will make Brady known far and near as the home of the best mattresses ever placed on the market.

The Standard office is fragrant today in the perfume of an armful of roses, the kind remembrance of Mrs. Laura White. Not only does the editor appreciate and admire the beautiful roses, but every visitor in the office pays tribute to their beauty. Mrs. White's home is known near and far as one of the most beautiful in Brady, and the bouquet of which The Standard office boasts is but a token of the greater beauty that surrounds her home place.

CONVALESCENTS

Those Recovering from Any Severe Illness

After a long wasting illness, convalescents require nourishing food that will not overtax the digestive functions—and in the way of a strength-restoring and vitality-making tonic, we know of nothing that equals Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic (without oil).

Vinol creates an appetite, re-establishes good digestion and helps the daily food to make rich blood, form flesh, strong muscles and impart new life and vitality to every organ in the body. We ask those who need a strength and flesh-building tonic restorative to call at our store and get a bottle of Vinol, with the understanding that if it does not help them we will refund their money without question.

What's The Matter With Your Baby?

The young mother—and many an old one, too—is often puzzled to know the cause of her child's ill nature. The loudness of its crying does not necessarily indicate the seriousness of its trouble. It may have nothing more than a headache or a feeling of general dullness. It cannot, of course, describe its feelings, but as a preliminary measure you are safe in trying a mild laxative.

Nine times out of ten, you will find it in all the child needs, for its restlessness and peevishness are perhaps due to obstruction of the bowels, and once that has been remedied the headache, the sluggishness and the many other evidences of constipation and indigestion will quickly disappear.

Don't give the little one salts, cathartic pills or nasty waters, for these will act as purgatives, and they are too strong for a child. In the families of Mrs. J. H. Sowders, Morgan, Texas, and Mrs. B. B. Rosser, 1011 34th St., Galveston, Texas, the only laxative given in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been found to answer most perfectly all the purposes of a laxative, and its very mildness and freedom from gripping recommend it especially for the use of children, women, and old folks generally—people who need a gentle bowel stimulant. Thousands of American families have been enthusiastic about it for more than a quarter of a century.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 495 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

DELEGATES FOR HARMON

SO INSTRUCTED AT COUNTY CONVENTION TUESDAY.

Resolutions Adopted Endorse Harmon, Bailey, Colquitt, Wolters and Slayden.

The Democratic county convention met last Tuesday at 2 o'clock, Hon. W. R. Davidson calling the house to order, and reading the call from the Democratic county convention.

A. W. Tipton was elected temporary chairman, D. H. Henderson, temporary secretary. Temporary chairman appointed the following committee on credentials: John S. Wall, W. W. Spiller, W. M. Hundley.

Committee on permanent organization and resolutions was appointed as follows: J. R. Stone, J. R. Beasley, Jas. Finlay, Clay Oldham, W. N. Liverman.

Committee on credentials and representation reported the Brady box entitled to 8 votes; Voca, 2; Melvin, 1; Lohn, 1; Waldrip, 1; Mercury, 1; Fife, 1; Rochelle, 2; Milburn, 1; Mt. Tabor, 1; Calf Creek, 1; Lost Creek, 1; a total of twenty-one accredited votes. The other boxes were not represented.

Committee on permanent organization reported having named A. W. Tipton permanent chairman and D. H. Henderson, permanent secretary.

Resolutions were offered by the committee and adopted.

In the vote of delegates to the State convention at Houston, J. A. Adkins and W. R. Davidson, Harmon men, and F. M. Newman and J. F. Montgomery, Wilson men, were placed in nomination, the vote resulting 15 to 6, in favor of the two former. J. R. Beasley of Mercury and J. R. Winstead of Waldrip were named as alternates.

The convention adjourned Harmon (y) prevailing.

A feature of the convention that has been the subject of comment was that for the first time in local history not a single member of the legal fraternity was among the delegates, the delegates to the convention being farmers, stockmen, merchants, business men and mechanics. Probably no other county convention in the state presented a like representation.

The following are the resolutions adopted:

"We, the committee on resolutions, beg to report as follows: We reaffirm our allegiance to the time honored principles of democracy and believe that the perpetuity of our free institutions and our representative form of government as taught us by Jefferson, Hogg, Jefferson Davis, John H. Reagan and Joseph Weldon Bailey. That we look with fear upon the teachings of some of our leading men and unless there is a halt called by them in their wild heresies they will soon be found in the ranks of the Socialist party.

"Resolved that we endorse Hon. Judson Harmon for the Democratic nomination for president of the United States, that we endorse his high standard of citizenship, and we recognize in him the true exponent of pure democracy, and we further instruct our delegates to the State convention to be held at Houston Texas, to cast the two votes of McCulloch county for Judson Harmon for president so long as his name is before the convention.

"Resolved, that we condemn the proposition as advocated by certain men now in the democratic ranks, known as the "Initiative, Referendum and Recall" and say that the same is undemocratic and should find a resting place in the ranks of the malcontents and Socialists.

"Resolved that we endorse the official acts of Hon. Joseph Weldon Bailey, our matchless U. S. Senator, who has at all times stood for the true principles of democracy and has at all times been in strict accord with the teachings of the grand old democrats of our party who have crossed over the river and are today resting under the shade. We sincerely regret his determination to retire from the United States senate, as in his retirement the people of Texas have lost their most tireless worker and their great champion of equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

"Resolved that we endorse our governor, Hon. O. B. Colquitt, in his untiring work for the best interests of our state. That we endorse his acts in behalf of the farmer and cotton raisers of Texas and the South, and say his course in this has been wise and patriotic.

"That we take pleasure in stating that he has been true to the trust confided in him by the people of Texas as their governor, that his acts, and conduct at all times have been wise, patriotic and humane; that we believe him to be entitled to the time-honored custom of democracy of election to governor the second term.

"While his enemies have tried to destroy all good influence of his administration and have harassed him and vilified him, yet he has gone on in his statesman-like manner and with the hand of charity and the voice of kindness he has disarmed them, and today he stands in the ranks of and is one of the greatest governors Texas has ever had.

"We endorse his acts in behalf of the Confederate soldiers of Texas and of work in behalf of the old Confederate mothers of Texas.

"We further endorse his wise and humane treatment of the unfortunate convicts in our separate penitentiaries and his acts in abolishing the cruel "bat" and its inhuman results.

"Resolved that we endorse the Hon. Jake Wolters for United States senator, and we further endorse his high plane of statesmanship and the stand taken by him on the tariff. We endorse his views relative to a national law forbidding the shipment of intoxicating liquors into local option territory, except to the consumer and the forbidding of the issuance of internal revenue license to anyone in any prohibition or local option territory until such applicant shall first show a permit from the proper authority in such state.

"Resolved, that we endorse Hon. James L. Slayden for reelection to Congress from this district and we further endorse him as a delegate to the national democratic convention; that we further endorse his course in congress as being wise and statesmanlike, that he has, at all times, during his term in congress been as a watchman on the tower to warn the people of the danger of the approach of the enemy, and has been found always standing for pure and undefiled democracy and the people. Yea, verily, he has been our Moses; he led us out of the wilderness of Republicanism years ago.

"Resolved that we endorse the appointment of W. R. Davidson as county chairman."

Again Bob tried. But this time he was barely quarter around when the doubled quilt on his nose compelled him to drop his fore feet to the road. Then, with neither rein nor spur, but by the mere threat of the quilt, she straightened him out.

Dede looked triumphantly at Daylight.

"Let me give him a run," she asked. Daylight nodded, and she shot down the road. He watched her out of sight around the bend, and watched till she came into sight returning. She certainly could sit her horse, was his thought, and she was a sure enough hummer. God, she was the wife for a man! Made most of them look pretty slim. And to think of her hammering all week at a typewriter. That was no place for her. She should be a man's wife, taking it easy, with silks and satins and diamonds (his frontier notion of what befit a wife beloved), and dogs and horses, and such things.

But the quarry was doomed to pass out of his plans for a time, for on the following Sunday he rode alone. No Dede on a chestnut sorrel came across the back-road from Berkeley that day, nor the day a week later. As the third week drew to a close and another desolate Sunday confronted him, Daylight resolved to speak, office or no office. And as was his nature, he went simply and directly to the point. She had finished her work with him, and was gathering her note pad and pencils together to depart, when he said:

"Oh, one more thing, Miss Mason, and I hope you won't mind my being frank and straight out. You've struck me right along as a sensible-minded girl, and I don't think you'll take offense at what I'm going to say. You know how long you've been in the office—it's years, now, several of them, anyway; and you know I've always been straight and aboveboard with you. I've never what you call—presumed. Because you were in my office I've tried to be more careful than if—I if you wasn't in my office—you understand. But just the same, it don't make me any the less human. I'm a lonely sort of a fellow—don't take that as a bid for kindness. What I mean by it is to try and tell you just how much those two rides with you have meant. And now I hope you won't mind my just asking why you haven't been out riding the last two Sundays?"

She played nervously with a pencil for a time, as if debating her reply, while he waited patiently.

"This riding," she began, "it's not what they call the right thing. I leave it to you. You know the world. That's the trouble. It's what the world would have to say about me and my employer meeting regularly and riding in the hills on Sundays. It's funny, but it's so. I could ride with one of the clerks without remark, but with you—no."

"Look here, Miss Mason," said Daylight. "I know you don't like this talking over of things in the office. Neither do I. It's part of the whole thing, I guess; a man ain't supposed to talk anything but business with his stenographer. Will you ride with me next Sunday, and we can talk it over thoroughly then and reach some sort of a conclusion. Out in the hills is the place where you can talk some thing besides business. I guess you've seen enough of me to know I'm pretty square. I—I do honor and respect you, and . . . and all that, and I . . ."

He was beginning to flounder, and the hand that rested on the desk blotter was visibly trembling. He strove to pull himself together. "I just want to harder than anything ever in my life before. I—I can't explain myself, but I do, that's all. Will you—just next Sunday? Tomorrow?"

Nor did he dream that her low acquiescence was due, as much as anything else, to the beads of sweat on his forehead, his trembling hand and his all too-evident general distress.

"Of course, there's no way of telling what anybody wants from what they say," Daylight rubbed Bob's rebellious ear with his quilt and pondered with dissatisfaction the words he had just uttered. They did not say what he had meant them to say. "What I'm driving at is that you say flatfooted that you won't meet me again, and give your reasons, but how am I to know they are your real reasons? Maybe you just don't want to get acquainted with me, and won't say so for fear of hurting my feelings. Don't you see? I'm the last man in the world to shove in where I'm not wanted. And if I thought you didn't care a whoop to see anything more of me, why I'd clear out so blamed quick you couldn't see me for smoke."

It had been a happy day. Daylight had met her on the back-road from Berkeley, and they had had hours together. It was only now, with the day drawing to a close and with them approaching the gate of the road to Berkeley, that he had broached the important subject.

She began her answer to his last contention, and he listened gratefully.

"But suppose, just suppose, that the reasons I have given are the only ones—that there is no question of my not wanting to know you?"

"Then I'd go on urging like Sam Scratch," he said quickly. "Because, you see, I've always noticed that folks that incline to anything are much more open to hearing the case stated. But if you did have that other reason up your sleeve, if you didn't want to know me, if—well, if you thought my feelings oughtn't to be hurt just because you had a good job with me."

Here, his calm consideration of a possibility was swamped by the fear that it was an actuality, and he lost the thread of his reasoning. "Well, anyway, all you have to do is to say the word and I'll clear out. And with no hard feelings; it would be just a case of bad luck for me. So be honest, Miss Mason, please, and tell me if that's the reason—I almost got a hunch that it is."

"Oh, but that isn't fair," she cried. "You give me the choice of lying to you and hurting you in order to protect myself by getting rid of you, or of throwing away my protection by telling you the truth, for then you, as you said yourself, would stay and urge."

Daylight smiled grimly with satisfaction.

"I'm real glad, Miss Mason, real glad for those words."

"But they won't serve you," she went on hastily. "They can't serve you. I refuse to let them. This is our last ride, and . . . here is the gate."

Ranging her mare alongside, she bent, slid the catch, and followed the opening gate.

"No; please, no," she said, as Daylight started to follow.

Humbly acquiescent, he pulled Bob back, and the gate swung shut between them. But there was more to say, and she did not ride on.

"Listen, Miss Mason," he said, in a low voice that shook with sincerity; "I want to assure you of one thing. I'm not just trying to fool around with you. I like you. I want you, and I was never more earnest in my life. There's nothing wrong in my intentions or anything like that. What I mean is strictly honorable."

But the expression of her face made him stop. She was angry, and she was laughing at the same time.

Dede Mason had quick, birdlike ways, almost flitting from mood to mood; and she was all contrition on the instant.

"Forgive me for laughing," she said across the gate. "It wasn't really laughter. I was surprised off my guard, and hurt, too. You see, Mr. Harnish, I've not been . . ."

She paused, in sudden fear of completing the thought into which her birdlike precipitancy had betrayed her.

"What you mean is that you've not been used to such sort of proposing."

Daylight said: "A sort of on-the-run, 'Howdy, glad-to-make-your-acquaintance, won't-you-be-mine' proposition."

She nodded and broke into laughter, in which he joined, and which served to pass the awkwardness away. He gathered heart at this, and went on in greater confidence, with cooler head and tongue.

"There, you see, you prove my case. You've had experience in such matters. I don't doubt you've had six or seven of proposals. Well, I haven't, and I'm like a fish out of water. Besides, this ain't a proposal. It's a peculiar situation, that's all, and I'm in a corner. I've got enough plain horse-sense to know a man ain't supposed to argue marriage with a girl as a reason for getting acquainted with her. And right there was where I was in the hole. Number one, I can't get acquainted with you in the office. Number ber two, you say you won't see me out of the office to give me a chance. Number three, your reason is that folks will talk because you work for me. Number four, I just got to get acquainted with you, and I just got to get you to see that I mean fair and all right. Number five, there you are on one side the gate getting ready to go, and me here on the other side the gate pretty desperate and bound to say something to make you reconsider. Number six, I said it. And now and finally, I just do want you to reconsider."

He was such a boy, this big giant of a millionaire who had half the rich men of San Francisco afraid of him. Such a boy! She had never imagined this side of his nature.

"How do folks get married?" he was saying. "Why, number one, they meet; number two, like each other's looks; number three, get acquainted; and number four, get married or not, according to how they like each other after getting acquainted. But how in thunder we're to have a chance to find out whether we like each other enough is beyond my savvy, unless we make that chance ourselves. I'd come to see you, call on you, only I know you're just rooming or boarding, and that won't do."

"It's getting late now, anyway," Daylight hurried on, "and we've settled nothing at all. Just one more Sunday, anyway—that's not asking much—to settle it in."

She gathered the reins into her hand preliminary to starting.

"Good night," she said, "and—"

"Yes," he whispered, with just the faintest touch of imperativeness.

"Yes," she said, her voice low but distinct.

At the same moment she put the mare into a canter and went down the road without a backward glance, intent on an analysis of her own feelings.

CHAPTER XV.

Life at the office went on much the way it had always gone.

In spite of their high resolve, there was a very measurable degree of the furtive in their meetings. In essence, these meetings were stolen. They did not ride out brazenly together in the face of the world. On the contrary, they met always unobserved, she riding across the many-gated backroad from Berkeley to meet him halfway. Nor did they ride on any save unfrequented roads, preferring to cross the second range of hills and travel among a church-going farmer folk who would scarcely have recognized even Daylight from his newspaper photographs. He found Dede a good horsewoman—

"I Like You, I Want You and I Never Was More Earnest in My Life."

good not merely in riding, but in endurance. There were days when they covered sixty, seventy, and even eighty miles; nor did Dede ever claim any day too long, nor—another strong recommendation to Daylight—did the hardest day ever see the slightest chafe of the chestnut sorrel's back. "A sure enough hummer," was Daylight's stereotyped but ever enthusiastic verdict to himself.

His lifelong fear of woman had originated out of nonunderstanding and had also prevented him from reaching any understanding. Dede on horseback, Dede gathering poppies on a summer hillside, Dede taking down dictation in her swift shorthand

I Recommend These Beans

Conscientiously, I can say that never yet in canned pork and beans, or in the home cooked, have I found any that in every respect so nearly approached perfection as do White Swan.

In the case of most beans, there are left behind, after each mouthful, several of the tough skins or husks—the careful hand picking, and the process of preparing and cooking White Swan beans, entirely does away with this—truly melt in your mouth. The rich, spicy tomato sauce—evenly distributed throughout; cooked with the beans—the firm but mealy, yet not dry, beans all of a uniformly large size—the delicate touch of pork flavor—it is, indeed, a combination that is truly and distinctively delicious—"that home-cooked taste."

And think of the trouble they save—they're all ready to serve, either cold or, just heat them and eat them. I know that they are clean in every particular of preparation and cooking—immaculately so. Again, I say—I heartily recommend these beans.

strokes—all this was comprehensible to him. But he did not know the Dede who so quickly changed from mood to mood, the Dede who refused steadfastly to ride with him and then suddenly consented, the Dede in whose eyes the golden glow forever waxed and waned and whispered hints and messages that were not for his ears. In all such things he saw the glimmering profundities of sex, acknowledged their lure, and accepted them as incomprehensible.

Taking a Chance

"It's little less than outrageous, Leslie, for you to squander your hard-earned money on a worthless lottery ticket," said Leslie's wife in a burst of indignation. "I haven't heard of anyone being so shallow-brained in years."

"Never mind, if 51178 wins you'll be able to buy all the luxuries your little heart craves for and I've always desired you to have. Don't be too skeptical but—wait—" replied Leslie.

"I'd prefer any day to have the two dollars you've wasted for some real necessities instead of imaginary luxuries. A pair of gloves, a rug for the hall, silk for a waist, and a thousand and one things."

"Let's not quarrel over the money until we get it," broke in her husband. After the above conversation Mrs. Leslie tried to forget all about the lottery ticket, but impossible.

Meanwhile her husband, occupied with the cares of business, had forgotten completely about the little blue ticket. Matters of much greater import occupied his mind.

"Beinda," he said one night, "the bills for the last month are simply enormous. My income does not warrant these expenditures. There's more money going out than coming in. I'm neither parsimonious, miserly nor stingy, but there's a limit to all extravagance."

For once Mrs. Leslie was silent; she simply smiled and kept on sewing. When she looked up she was startled to notice the silvery tinge to her husband's hair, how tired and old he looked, while she seemed to grow more youthful in appearance every day.

"Don't you feel well," she questioned, anxiously.

"Can a man feel well and happy," was his curt answer, "when he's continually harassed with financial troubles?"

The wife, wishing to end the discussion, proposed that they go to the "nickel show."

"Astonishing that you did not suggest a box at the opera," grumbled her husband as he assented.

Mrs. Leslie finally threw all caution to the winds. She seemed to have been bewitched by the "demon of buy." The old portieres in the little parlor were replaced by elegant new ones, which made the parlor carpet appear so shabby in contrast that it was not long before a new rug adorned the floor.

The comments of their friends were numerous. When they noticed the mahogany bookcases and the piano which had been purchased on the installment plan and Mrs. Leslie expected to pay for when the lottery money was distributed. "Mr. Leslie must have made a great deal of money," they said.

After three months of apprehension and anxiety Mr. Leslie gave vent to his pent-up feelings. Opening the new-fangled desk to look for a pencil, he burst forth in a voice of anger, dismay and exasperation. "Bills, bills, bills, that's the only kind of correspondence in this house nowadays. None of them received either. I'll have to borrow money on my life insurance if this continues."

"Yes," answered Mrs. Leslie with tears in her eyes. But I figure it will be all right if we only have a little patience."

"What do you mean?"

"It's rather inconvenient just now, but I fancy it will be all right when your lottery ticket comes due. Didn't you maintain vociferously that the lottery money would eventually pay for everything. Maybe then you can take a vacation and rest up a little."

"What coinage of your brain are these vivid imaginations?" said Mr. Leslie as he sprang to his feet, giving his wife one long look as if he had never seen her before. After a tense silence which seemed aged to his wife, he exclaimed, "The lottery money! What do you mean? I suppose it's a woman's prerogative to change her mind, but didn't you distinctly assert that you wouldn't touch one penny of that money?"

"Yes, but—"

"That's the reason why I never took the trouble to inform you that the drawing was weeks ago and our number was not among the lucky ones."

Mrs. Leslie turned pale. "What a foolish woman I've been," she said. "I thought so much about it that I didn't realize we could lose."

"Mother," called a sweet, young voice, "where are you? I've some wonderful, glorious news to tell you."

"What is it, dear?" she asked, as a young girl entered the room.

"Don't look so gloomy, mother mine," she replied, as she wound her arms around her mother's neck. "Bill Thorsch is coming tomorrow to ask father's consent to our wedding. Oh, I'm deliciously happy."

"I was not prepared for this great surprise, my dear, I didn't know he was even courting you," said her father.

"Oh, he's been coming here all winter. He said the parlor was so comfortable he simply couldn't stay away."

"Leslie," said Mrs. Leslie, taking her husband's hand, "it was a good investment nevertheless. Of evil good has come. If Bill, who is my ideal of perfection in a young man, hadn't enjoyed our pretty parlor and felt the atmosphere of affluence around he might never have proposed to our daughter."

The Path of the Tornado knows no sectional boundaries and respects neither persons nor buildings.

The meager reports to the United States for seven years showed destruction of property worth more than $24,767,000, and no recent record has been kept.

No state is immune, and care in construction counts for little. The only way to be safe is to have the protection of a policy of insurance against Tornado, Hurricane, and Wind-storm, in the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn.

The "Hartford" offers unsurpassed indemnity. Its business is distributed among more than ten thousand cities, towns, and villages throughout the United States and Canada. Its policies are safeguarded by ample resources and an honorable record.

Full particulars as to rates, which are exceedingly low, may be obtained from our local agents.

 2. Ties bundles laying down, making it possible to tie any length grain.
 3. Cuts with ease any height grain, which sometimes means you can save enough grain to nearly pay for the machine.
- If you are even thinking of buying a binder this year it will pay you to see our Deering. Yours truly,

CANDY FACTORY.

Wichita Falls Man Proposes to Establish in Brady.

W. L. Dillard is expected here today from Wichita Falls on a prospecting trip. Mr. Dillard is coming here with a view of locating a candy factory in Brady, and Commercial Secretary Hardison is confident that he will have no difficulty in establishing this industry here. Mr. Dillard recently disposed of his candy factory in Wichita Falls, and has had so many favorable reports upon Brady and the Brady country that he writes very encouragingly concerning the proposition. One of the reasons assigned by Mr. Dillard for viewing Brady with such favor is that it is a dry town, and his experience has taught him that candy finds a much more ready sale in "dry" territory than in a saloon town.

Mr. Dillard is one of the best candy manufacturers in the state, and should he decide to locate in Brady, it will be a feather in our cap.

Wreck on Santa Fe.

A Santa Fe freight was wrecked just beyond San Saba last Tuesday. The motion of the water in a tank car is supposed to have thrown it from the track. J. E. Stovall of Eden, who has been employed in Brady as engine watchman, and who was riding in a car just behind the tank car was seriously injured about the head, and grave fears are entertained for his recovery. He was taken to his home at Eden at his own request. The passenger train due here at 2:10 was delayed until 5:00 o'clock before the track was cleared.

Here is a case of it.

"Mrs. B. P. Brown, Brady, Texas, says: 'My kidneys were badly disordered, and I had to get up several times at night to void the kidney secretions. My back ached a great deal, especially when I was on my feet and any over-exertion caused sharp twinges to dart through me. The contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Palace Drug store, cured me. I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to my neighbors.'"

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Mr. Wood has completely transformed the appearance of the interior of the building with tastefully arranged paper and effective paint, and can boast of as neat and nicely arranged a restaurant as any in Brady. He invites his friends and hungry strangers to give him a call.

Geo. Yantis is back from Dallas for a months' vacation, having just passed all examinations most successfully. He was fortunate in being selected one of the internes at the Baptist sanitarium and will spend twelve weeks there. He states that he will be home for a six weeks' vacation before again taking up his course in pharmacy in the fall term.

COMMERCIAL CORNER

By the Secretary.

There will be another trade excursion to Brady on the 17th. This time it will be the merchants and business men of Ft. Worth. They get into Brady at 7:30 and stay until 10:00. From here they go to the kingdom of Menard, then double back to Ft. Worth. Our folks will give them some sort of entertainment while in Brady.

Since the occupancy of the union passenger and freight depots, Brady begins to put on city airs. When the grounds are finished and the grass and flowers well set, it will be the prettiest spot on any railroad in the state.

Farmers over the county report good stands for both cotton and corn. With another rain, the price of oats will go down some, for McCulloch county will turn out a crop that will prove a price reducer and help us all to feed better than we have for some time.

The work on the roads is progressing well and satisfactorily. If all the plans we have before us are successful and good crops with satisfactory prices prevail, some of the folks will feel mighty good this fall.

I do not exaggerate when I say that McCulloch county is in the "spot light" this year. We are being well advertised and I believe in a very judicious way. Every move in this direction will be a permanent one. Let us keep up the good work and do things.

Last Saturday was a good day for the boys of our corn clubs and the farmers who were with them. Mr. H. H. Williamson of College Station, the A. & M. college, M. T. Payne of Temple and our own county demonstrator, J. W. Griffin, turned the office of the Commercial club into a demonstration hall and addressed the boys and farmers on various topics of scientific farm work and seed culture. All these are experts under the employ of the Federal government and know what they are doing. We are glad that our progressive farmers appreciate them.

Next month there will be a big day here with all the boys in the county. The day will be well advertised, souvenirs of an advertising nature will be given to every boy of the club and the directors of the Commercial club will entertain them.

There is more Chlorin in the western part of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling in with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has shown Chlorin to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Halls Chlorin is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for literature and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

If You Were an Expert, What Car Would You Buy?

The time has passed when automobiles can be sold to you on their appearances or claims. This is a day when you and every purchaser must be shown what the car for which you pay your money will actually perform; what it will do. Beware of an automobile salesman who attempts to beguile you with a pleasing story. Tell him to show the goods and prove to you that his cars are worth the money. Find out whether his car is a real car or only an assembled automobile built to sell.

You have a right to your money's worth, but it is up to you to see that you get it. Deeper than all appearances, there are a few expert tests which ought to be applied to every car.

Who makes the car? Is it an assembled car or made from top to bottom by one manufacturer? What kind of a guarantee is on it? Does the manufacturer respect his own product with a real guarantee, or does he want you to take the chance? What do parts cost you and how conveniently can you get them? How many cars of this make are in service and how many are giving satisfaction? Questions like these go deep into the heart of the case, and if you put them rigorously upon any car you will find out with a certainty whether or not that car is worth its price.

We are selling Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars because we know that, dollar for dollar, their equal is not sold in the market today. The records of many thousands of cars in all kinds of service have convinced us absolutely. Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars are built to run, and because they run they sell. If we cannot prove to you under the most searching test that Studebaker cars are absolutely the best automobile values in the market, we do not want your business; but we can prove it, and your neighbors who drive these cars will tell you the same thing.

Be an expert when it comes to buying a car. You can, by getting from us some further ideas on real tests of an automobile. Clip the attached coupon and send it to us now because we have something new to tell you which you ought to know, whatever car you have in mind.
