Wallace-Brown.

Mr. J. Olen Wallace left last night for Rockwall, where, on Thursday morning, he will be married to Miss Evalyn Brown, daughter of Mrs. B. F. Brown of Rockwall. Mr. Wallace and his bride will return to Brady Friday to make their home here.

Mr. Wallace is principal of the Brady high school, having been unanimously re-elected to this position at the opening of the present term. He is a man of noble character and high ideals, and above all, a true Christian gentleman. During the two years he has taught in the Brady schools he has been popular with students, patrons and friends alike.

The bride-to-be is a most charming and accomplished young lady, as all must agree, to have won the affections of Mr. Wallace, and will find a most cordial welcome and open-hearted reception awaiting her upon the return of the happy couple.

The Standard wishes every happiness for them in their journey through life.

I am working to win the prize piano, and want your help. Save your votes and deposit them each Wednesday for Rilla Mooring, daughter of John Mooring.

Correct time—I keep it. H. C. Boyd, Jeweler.

We can supply all your wants in dry goods, suits, hats, shoes, groceries, feed and hardware. We can serve you best. Wm. Connolly & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coe are the happy parents of a fine girl, born Saturday morning, and Jack never boasted bigger or better than since he acquired the dignity of "daddy."

Mrs. Barsch Dead.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Alvin Barsch, which occurred September 21st at her old home in Grunefeldt, Germany. Mrs. Barsch was a sister of Mrs. J. C. Wilhelm, and together with her husband and family came to Brady something over two years ago to make her home, Mr. Barsch being an expert mechanician, and being employed by the Brady Auto Co. Mrs. Barsch's health began failing about a year ago, and the doctors could hold out no hopes for her recovery. In the hopes of benefitting her health, she returned last spring to her old home in Germany, where the end came last month.

Mr. Barsch left Brady about two months ago for Brownwood, and is at present making his home there. The citizens of Brady sympathize deeply with the relatives of the deceased in their grief.

Sheriff Hugh Miller was up from San Saba Monday bringing one of the show men, who had been arrested at San Saba for fighting, and whose fine was paid here by the show. According to the best information obtainable, some of the San Saba boys tried to take the show in, and were promptly laid out by stake pins in the hands of several of the show men. But one of the latter was arrested, and while public sentiment was with him, he chose to pay a fine and secure his release rather than lay in jail and fight the case.

FILTER PLANT READY

FIRST TEST SATURDAY IS HIGHLY SATISFACTORY.

Capacity 250,000 Gallons in 24 Hours—Filtered Water 98 Per Cent Pure.

All arrangements for the test of the new filter plant were completed last Saturday, and the first run of the plant that day proved highly successful. The plant was inspected by a number of Brady citizens, all of whom marveled at the change wrought in the water from the time it was pumped out of the creek until it was run into the immense storage well.

Through the courtesy of C. B. Wiley, who has had charge of the installation of the filter machinery, and P. T. Ortopp, local engineer in charge of waterworks construction, the editor had the pleasure of inspecting every part of the building, as well as the filtering operation. The water when first pumped from the creek enters the chemical basin, where the alum in the proportion of 1-1-2 to 2 grains to a gallon of water is automatically fed into it. From this basin the water flows into the sedimentation basin and finally enters the filter bed. In the bottom of the bed is 32 inches of sand over 10 inches of gravel, and the water seeps through this and into the clear well, being pumped from the clear well into the mains. The impurities that have not been eliminated in the sedimentation basin are left in the sand and gravel of the filter bed. It is necessary, in order to keep the bed working freely, to clean it out daily, and this operation is accomplished merely by reversing the flow of water and forcing it back up through the gravel and sand, which causes the impurities to rise to the surface and flow away.

Mr. J. B. Hawley arrived in the city yesterday, and together with the city council, has been making an official test of the plant today. Mr. Hawley clearly demonstrates the success of the plant by showing two samples of water in glass containers, the one showing water taken from the creek; the other, water drawn from the faucet of the filter, the latter being clear as crystal. He will make bacteriological tests of the two samples, and states that statistics show that ordinary creek water contains 50,000 to 60,000 microbes to the teaspoonful, while the filtered water will show but 3 or 4 to the teaspoonful.

The capacity of the filter plant is 250,000 gallons every twenty-four hours, and the filtered water is about 98 per cent pure.

A good shower, but of only short duration, fell yesterday morning in Brady. Despite the overcast skies, the weather cleared up and the day was warm and sunshiny.

BREAKS ALL RECORDS.

Richard Sellman of Rochelle, McCulloch county, Texas, created quite a sensation on the Fort Worth livestock market yesterday when he smashed all previous high-price records for feeder cows by selling to Jess Carter, local dealer, a shipment of 120 black muley cows, that averaged 880 pounds, for $4.65 per hundred weight.

Mr. Sellman is one of the largest breeders of black muleys in Texas and is said to be the world's biggest breeder of Morgan horses.

The selling of forty-eight feeder steers, averaging 936 pounds, for $6 per hundred weight was another record-breaking feature of the Fort Worth livestock market yesterday. These steers were sold by Carrow Brothers of Henrietta to R. C. Kinder of Cresson, Texas. This is the highest price that has been paid for stocker steers on this market in 1912 and the highest price that ever has been paid for stockers on the local market at this time of year.

The steers were shipped from Clay county. They were 2-year-olds, about three-fourths Herefords and one-fourth shorthorns. Carrow Brothers are well known as breeders of fine cattle, and they have topped the local market numbers of times.—Fort Worth Record.

RATES ARE SUSPENDED.

Deferred Until April 5, 1913, for West Texas.

Secretary Hardison of the Commercial club is in receipt of advice from the secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission to the effect that the increase in interstate tariff rates has again been postponed. This action was found necessary because the hearing of the case could not be concluded by Oct. 5th of this year, which was the expiration of the time during which the proposed increase in rates had first been suspended.

The citizens of West Texas have been making a determined fight against this proposed increase, having employed Sam H. Cowan of Washington, D. C., to represent them in the matter in the hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission. The suspension is a matter of gratification to the citizens affected by the rates, and all are confident that they will have no difficulty in securing a permanent suspension when the matter comes up for trial again next April.

Mexican Again Arrested.

The Mexican, Victoriana Florez, who was tried for lunacy last week and released in charge of his father was surrendered to the officers again Saturday morning, his father himself bringing the man in. It was learned that besides entering the home of August Young in the West Sweden neighborhood, he had attempted to kill his father. He was confined in the county jail, awaiting an opportunity to place him in one of the state asylums.

M. Neumegen Closes.

The Fair Racket Store closed its doors yesterday morning, M. Neumegen, the proprietor, having made an assignment in favor of his creditors. Mr. Neumegen has been engaged in the racket business in Brady for the past three years, carrying a nice stock and running a model, up-to-date store, but depressed financial conditions have rendered the business unprofitable, and made the closing advisable.

Mr. Neumegen has made many friends during his stay in business, all of whom regret the necessity of his taking such a step. He is a man of splendid business ability, and under ordinary circumstances would have met with deserved success. He expects to locate in Dallas, where he has several positions open to him.

MULES AND HORSES.

One Buyer's Purchases Aggregate $27,000.

Something over two hundred head of horses and mules have been purchased during the past seven weeks in Brady by C. B. White of Cleburne. Mr. White has been coming to Brady at intervals for the past several years, and never fails to get up one or more car loads each trip. His preference runs to fine, large mules, but he also has an eye for good, chunky horses and mares. Since his first visit here this fall—about seven weeks ago—he has purchased something over two hundred head of mules and horses at an average price of $135 a head, making his total purchases aggregate $27,000.

Mr. White is but one of a number of buyers that make this territory and, as the above figures indicate, Brady and McCulloch county citizens have resources other than cotton crops of which to boast.

BRADY ORDERLY.

We claim that Brady is one of the most orderly and best regulated cities in the State of Texas and cite the city and county court records for proof. The show Monday had an immense attendance in the afternoon. In fact, there was an immense crowd in town all day, yet during all that time there was not a single disturbance of any kind to mar the occasion, not one act of rowdiness, not one violation of the law. It may have been that the swearing in of some thirty or forty special officers may have aided materially in the enforcement of law and order. If so, the plan was highly successful, for not a single arrest is on record.

We doubt if any city in Texas of Brady's size can show as clean a slate.

ALMOST PERSUADED.

An exchange says: "A new game called 'Christianity' is being played in certain parts of the city. The girls get on one side and are the Christians. The boys get on the other side and are the heathens. Then the heathens embrace Christianity." Such a game may do very well in some communities, but our private detective informs us that the Brady boys embrace every opportunity.—Brady Standard.

Like King Agrippa, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian."—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The esteemed San Angelo Standard is boasting of 345 converts at the Adair revival in that city. Considering that San Angelo's male population is composed entirely of real estate agents with something to sell, the revival record is a mighty poor one.—Brownwood News.

"Get the San Angelo gait," advises the San Angelo Standard. From most reliable sources we learn that the San Angelo gait is a cross between an antelope and a turkey trot.—Brady Standard.

The San Angelo people who come to Fort Worth have such a fast gait that automobilists complain about them splashing mud over the cars as they pass the automobiles on the street.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

We permitted Claude Callan to associate with us on the streets of Brady for two hours Monday in the hopes that he might make us acquainted with the lone pretty girl who, he

We intended to show Callan just how anxious we were to marry by asking the Menard girl to share a Brady lot with us, providing she agreed to love, obey and support us, but never a good looking one did we see. Anyhow we don't believe there is any such thing as a good-looking girl in Menard.

Yankee-Robinson Show.

The Yankee-Robinson show, the greatest show on earth 70 years ago, was here Monday in all the glory of its two live Indians, a cage containing one specimen of the monkey family, and a big buck nigger 8 ft. and 2 inches in depth.

First of all we might state the reason for our grouch—they favored us with but a dozen or two complimentary passes, when any one ought to know that every man, woman and child is our friend on circus day, and that even the dogs lick our hands.

The show itself, however, was a very nice show, as we saw it, and we didn't shut our eyes more'n half the time. They provided the politest and most attentive of ushers, who escorted folks that had been separated from the price of a reserve seat ticket, almost to their seats. Of course some of the Menard folks who had never seen an usher in operation, were highly frustrated by such attentions, and persisted in bumping into that party and getting their pedal extremities tangle-footed.

The immensity part of the show was the "butches", and they were immensely numerous. Just as we would complete the purchasing of the 24 red soda pops for the twenty-three girls (and us) who insisted that we be their only escort to the greatest show that ever crossed our path, along would come the man with the three sticks-for-a-nick candy, followed by the ice cream cone man, the pop-corn man, the peanut man, the lemonade man, the get-a-whip man, the balloon man, the minstrel song book man, until the $4.99 with which we had armed ourself began to look like thirty cents. Then came the last straw—the same one they laid onto the camel—the concert ticket man. We broke out in a cold sweat, we broke to run, for we were broke.

But the timely appearance of milady in red saved the day, and us our 15c, and for the next two and a half minutes we gazed in wrapt wonder at the lady who tried to swing her trapeze until her toes kicked the sky-lights out of the canvas top.

The hippopotamus had been lost in the wilds of San Saba county, but in its place they had the largest hippodrome ever in captivity under the tent of this, the world's greatest three-ring circus with an elevated stage. This fierce and untamed hippodrome was ridden by the death-defying, diabolical, dare-devilish Diamond Dick of Denver and dime novel fame.

Our hair turned gray by the excitement, our money spent and our twenty-three girls having found other beaux, we retired from the three circus rings a mental dyspeptic, a financial failure and a hater of all woman-kind.

Squire of Dames

"One, two, three! One, two, three!" counted the dancing teacher, while a straggling, many footed, line of pupils squirmed in more or less successful imitation behind her.

"Aw, gee!" said Kendall to the boy in front of him. "Don't you hate it?"

"Sure," responded the boy in front, kicking the heels of the boy in front of him, who shrilled "Ouch!"

"Boys," chanted the teacher, "attention, please. Now, all together! One, two, three! One, two, three!"

"Say, Bill," said Kendall to the boy in front, "does your mother make you come?"

"You know it," said Bill. "Does yours?"

"Betcherlife," returned Kendall. "Do you think I'd come if she didn't?"

"Take partners and waitz," cried the teacher, rhythmically, laying firm hands upon the boy behind her and bearing him off, his large, unwilling feet dragging behind him.

Kendall seized Billy by the sleeve. "Let's duck," he whispered. "Here comes that pesky Dorothy. I bet she's going to ask me to dance with her."

"Come boys," she said, ingratiatingly. "Get your partners for the cotillon."

"I don't want to dance any more," said Kendall bluntly. "My foot's sore."

"Well, come and select your partner," said Miss Turner. "And then if your foot really hurts you needn't dance but a few times."

The two victims followed her back into the hall. Presently Miss Turner, making her dutiful round of the hall incidentally looking for partners for the group of fluttering wall flowers at the end of the hall, pounced genteelly upon Kendall and Billy.

"Well, boys," she said, sweetly, "have you selected your partners yet?"

"Yes," said Billy. "Where are they?" inquired Miss Turner, looking about in some perplexity.

"Oh, boys," sighed Miss Turner, "why are you so provoking? You know you have to dance with the girls. Now, come with me and I'll find partners for you."

With a polite but unyielding hand upon the shoulder of each, she moved toward the neglected blossoms seated together at the end of the hall.

"I don't want to dance with Dorothy," he said. "Can I dance with Elsie?"

"Elsie has a partner," said Miss Turner. "Next time if you want some special girl you'd better be quicker."

"Then can I dance with Marion?" pursued Kendall, despairingly.

"Billy's asking her now," said Miss Turner. "You see what comes of being so slow. Here's Dorothy, though. I think she'll dance with you if you ask her nicely."

"You must sit down, Dorothy," said Miss Turner, "until Kendall asks you. Now, ask her nicely, Kendall. How to her as I have taught you to do and say, 'May I have the pleasure of this dance?'"

With an angry shake of his shoulders Kendall growled through the formula. "Come on, then!" he jerked out, turning his back upon his eager partner and scudding for the nearest seat.

Dorothy trotted after him and pulled herself up into the chair next to his. She patted down her short skirt, fluffed up her huge hair ribbon and dangled her fat legs, looking the picture of content.

"Oh, I just love dancing school, don't you, Kendall?" she queried.

Kendall growled. "I like to dance with you, Kendall. Don't you like to dance with me?" pursued Dorothy, peering up and around into Kendall's gloomy countenance.

There was no answer.

Dorothy pouted. "If you don't talk to me I won't ever dance with you again," she said with just the suspicion of a tearful sniff.

Kendall withdrew his gaze from the ceiling with a little start. He looked around at Dorothy keenly, his face taking on a look that was almost cheerful.

"Honest, Dorothy?" he asked, eagerly. "Honest and truly, black and blue, lay you down and cut you in twain?"

"Why—why—yes," said Dorothy, uncertainly. "I guess so."

Kendall gave a subdued yelp of delight. "May, Dorothy," he whispered eagerly. "If you'll promise that you won't ever dance with me again, hope to die if you do, I'll give you half of my apple that I got out in the dressing room. Will you promise?"

Dorothy, indignant, not to say scandalized, nodded her head so that her ribbon danced wildly. "I'll promise," she said, "if you'll give me the whole apple."

MALARIAL DISEASES.
How to Avoid Them and the Serious Consequences of Neglect.

"Fix me up something to knock the malaria, doctor," remarked a sallow-faced, sickly looking man, entering a prominent physician's office the other day.

The doctor stepped to his medicine case, took down a couple of bottles, mixed a preparation which he handed to the patient with the customary advice to "shake well and follow directions," and resumed his seat.

"Such cases are frequent," replied the doctor in answer to a question. "The warm days and damp, chilly nights are certain malaria breeders and are most serious in those who have neglected to keep their stomach, liver and bowels in good condition. Such persons are full of the impurities on which the malarial germ thrives, and it is from this class that typhoid fever, pneumonia, Bright's disease, small pox and yellow fever claim most of their victims whenever these diseases are prevalent."

The proper way to guard against the malarial germ and the serious diseases which follow it is to get into good condition by taking a reliable remedy that will keep the bowel, clear and the liver healthy, and to continue with it at frequent intervals during the sickly season.

A dose of Prickly Ash Bitters three or four times a week will do all of this, besides stimulating the digestion, improving the appetite and keeping the bodily energy at the highest pitch.

Prickly Ash Bitters is known everywhere as a system tonic and bowel regulator. It not only removes all traces of malarial poison from the system, but tones up the vital organs, gives new strength and vigor, makes the body strong and the brain active.

"Prickly Ash Bitters is the best all-around medicine for the family I ever used. During the past ten years I have always kept it in my house. Whenever any of my family show signs of malaria, kidney trouble, indigestion or constipation a few doses in all that is needed to make them well and hearty again.—W. H. McWilliams, Pickering, La.

Sold by druggists. Price $1.00.

Sells Interest in Bakery.
M. C. Allman Monday sold a half interest in his bakery to Bruce McCarty, who takes an active part in the business. Ulrich Carroll, who has been Mr. Allman's right hand man since he first engaged in business, will continue with Messrs. Allman & McCarty as assistant. Mr. McCarty is well known to Brady folks, and all his many friends will be pleased to learn that he located in business here. Mr. Allman has built up a nice business, and will find an able assistant in Mr. McCarty.

Rufus Adams returned Saturday morning from Brownwood where he spent several days with relatives and friends, and incidentally took in the foot ball game between Howard Payne and Daniel Baker last Friday. He reports a big crowd out to see the game, and says it was one of the best played he has ever witnessed. The final score was a tie, 6 to 6.

At the invitation of H. N. Cook, the editor had the pleasure of sampling some very fine chili sauce the other day—just such sauce as would make one think of home and mother—so there was no mistake about its goodness. To Mrs. S. S. Graham belongs the credit for making this appetizing sauce, and if her product is a sample of the good things the ladies of Brady manufacture, the editor serves notice now that he expects to qualify as one of the judges of the culinary exhibit in our big exhibit next week.

A Splendid Tent Theatre.

The Harrison company will give its initial performance under its mammoth tent Monday night at the lot just east of Broad Mercantile Co., which will be the beginning of an engagement of clean and high-class entertainments. Seating arrangements have been rebuilt, and the tent is very comfortably arranged and equal in appointment to a fine theatre. There are three classes of seats: Box seats in the front, seats in the rear and the regular plank seats to the side capable of accommodating 1000 people. The general admission is 10 cents; parquet seats, which are elevated and have chair backs and foot rests, 25 cents. The box seats are comfortable chairs at 50 cents each—ten chairs in a box. No additional charge is made for the seats on the side, the 10 cents general admission admitting of their occupancy, and foot rests have been added to them. The stage fixtures are very elaborate and many electrical effects are provided for.

The Harrison Theatre is in a class by itself as an amusement enterprise. It is an ideal family theatre, affording high-class, clean entertainment for people of all ages, from all classes, and is free from anything that could be objected to by the most fastidious and scrupulous person. That this is an ideally conducted show is attested by its phenomenal success. The management apparently studies to please and everything is done for the comfort of their patrons.

A barrel of ice water is kept in the rear of the tent, which affords means of quieting many a restless child, and after "Dad", the good-natured usher, has seated his audience, he may be seen carrying a drink to some fretful baby. In fact, there is something about the entire demeanor of the entire show that at once establishes a kindly feeling of sociability and friendship, which makes the people welcome their coming and regret their going.

GROCERIES

We have nothing to offer but groceries, but we study to please in this line. Our stock is always complete with the best grade of everything. If you hear of anything being offered cheap, be sure you do not buy it until you see us for we always have the price.

TRICKHAM GAS WELL

Flows 1,500,000 Cubic Feet on Test Wednesday.

About a month ago the Bulletin announced that an unusual discovery had probably been made in the Trickham oil and gas field, for the reason that the operators there had suddenly stopped work, locked the well tight and become as mum as oysters. Wednesday morning Mr. Robertson of the Robertson Oil Co., telephoned the Bulletin to have a representative there at 1 o'clock to see something thought worth the trip. Similar messages were sent to Santa Anna and Coleman, so that at the appointed hour there were some twenty or twenty-five parties there from neighboring towns. Brownwood was represented by H. A. Carey, T. C. Yantis, D. F. Johnson of the Commercial club, and the Bulletin representative. Before the appointed hour the Bulletin man learned from Mr. Lewis Robertson, who has been actively in charge of the well known as Robertson Well No. 2, that thirty days ago, right in the top of a sandstone formation at a depth of a thousand feet, there was a gas blow-out of such force as to create the opinion that further in the rock an unusually rich flow of gas, and possibly oil, would be obtained. The blow-out came immediately following the pricking of this sandstone formation. This formation, according to the logs of other wells in the locality, is of varying thickness, and is estimated to be from twenty to thirty-two feet thick at this particular place though it may prove to be much less. Mr. Robertson stated to the newspaper man that the well was then locked for the adjustment of some business matters and that he was quite confident that excellent results would be obtained as the drill penetrated this sandstone formation, and he desired the public to know the exact facts through the press, rather than have any wild statements go out.

At 1 o'clock the well was uncapped and the gas escaped with great force and noise for about a minute, shooting sand nearly to the top of the derrick. At the end of that time the noise stopped, but the force of the gas continued apparently unabated.

The baler was then sent down to ascertain if there was any water in the hole and it came up dry as powder. The drill was then started and it was kept at work for about an hour, going down a depth of four feet into the rock, gas pressure below sending the drilled rock high into the air. The baler was again lowered and the hole again proved dry. An open air tester was applied, and while the amount of gas produced was not stated, the parties apparently not wishing to give it out, it was stated that it showed about double the pressure at four feet in the rock that was shown at the first pricking. The Bulletin representative is not a gas expert, but his guess is that the well at this depth yesterday afternoon was registering about 1,500,000 feet.

The operators then announced that the work would not be continued until this morning. When asked why it was stopped then, the explanation was made that it pays to be extremely cautious at this point in the development of a well; that there was always danger that salt water would be struck and that it would prove ruinous to the well as a gasser; that a pipe joint would be put on above the ground and that the gas would be allowed to escape until this morning in order to watch developments and see what the well would do when left open, (whether the flow would increase or decrease) and that if everything looked favorable the drilling would be cautiously resumed this morning.

While appearing to be pleased with the showing now made by this well, the owners are confident that much more gas will be developed, as the drill goes deeper into this rock, and they extended a hearty invitation to the newspaper men to be back this morning or at any other time to watch their operations, promising to telephone immediately if anything important should happen. The gas obtained is a pure petroleum gas, showing clearly the existence of oil somewhere in the locality.

The Turner well, on the same tract of land and about 1,000 feet from the Robertson No. 2, is still flowing gas as strongly as when it was first brought in, and gas from it is being conveyed by pipes to the Robertson for power and also to the Producers well, about a mile distant. It was stated that a test of the Turner well showed about 2,750,000 feet soon after it was brought in. It is hoped that this new well will prove even better.

A franchise has already been granted the company by the city of Coleman for furnishing gas to that place, this being granted Monday night.

In addition to the Robertson No. 2, the same company is putting down another well about a mile west of there, and the Producers are operating about a mile south, the latter's drill, it is understood, now being down to the capstone.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local authorities, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by restoring the diseased portion of the ear to its normal condition. This is done by the use of the "Hearer's Friend," which is a small, delicate, and powerful instrument, which is inserted into the ear, and which, by its action, causes the diseased portion of the ear to become normal again. It is a simple, and a safe, and a sure method of curing deafness. It is the only method of curing deafness that has been known to man. It is the only method of curing deafness that is guaranteed to succeed. It is the only method of curing deafness that is sold by the "Hearer's Friend" Co., of New York City.

CONTINUE OPERATIONS.

Brady Oil and Gas Co. Are After Oil.

Jeff Meers returned yesterday from Dallas, where he went on business, and is very much pleased with the results of his trip. Among other things, he reports that C. W. Cahoon, vice president and general manager of the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association, had voluntarily turned over to the Brady Oil and Gas Co. their immense storage tank, together with the piping belonging to them in the Lohn oil field, stating that he believed that the Brady Oil and Gas Co. would eventually get the oil and that all he asked was to receive first consideration.

A shallow well is now being drilled by this company for the purpose of equipping it with a vacuum pump, by which means it is hoped to greatly increase the oil production over that of the other oil wells. Arrangements are also being made to put down a deep well, and the directors of the company are confident that, with their knowledge of the field, this latest endeavor will meet with success. They have the pipe, fuel and water on the ground, thus eliminating three great items of expense, and the cost of drilling a deep well will be proportionately small.

CALLAN CONCOCTIONS FOR MAGNIFICENT MENARD

From the Messenger.

Work will commence on the waterworks system this week. One car of the pipe has already arrived and another is expected in a few days. A sufficient number of fire plugs will be placed over the city to afford ample protection, which will mean not only a benefit in reducing the danger of fire, but will greatly reduce the insurance rate. Mr. Clark says he expects to have the plant in operation before December 1st.

G. C. Kiehne and wife left Friday for Corsicana, where he has a position.

The Sonora New Era asks us to write an article on "The Duties of a Democratic Postmaster." His first duty is to get a postoffice.

H. M. Tipton made a business trip to Brady the last of the week.

The Messenger is at work on a plan that will make all ugly girls, without property or other accomplishments, the most popular and insure their early marriage, and yet Schwenker thinks we have it in for Brady—the town we would benefit most.

Julian Davis was over from the town that doesn't count the last of the week.

Schwenker says we are afflicted with the itch—for office. True it is, and Wilson, we think, will scratch us with the Brady postoffice. Of course, we are not going to move there—not for forty such offices, but we are going to turn it over to Brady's lone pretty girl—she who has determined to live and die an old maid because we are married.

The Del Rio Herald editor surely is not ambitious. He followed the Democratic party through all its defeats, and finally, when victory is assured, he quits the mule and grabs the elephant's tail. There is nothing mean about a deserter of this kind, but we would shrink from the herculean task of locating his judgment.

The Colonel insists that Wilson is a liar, but he has called pretty nearly everybody one, so the Governor needn't feel stuck up about it.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.

Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble."

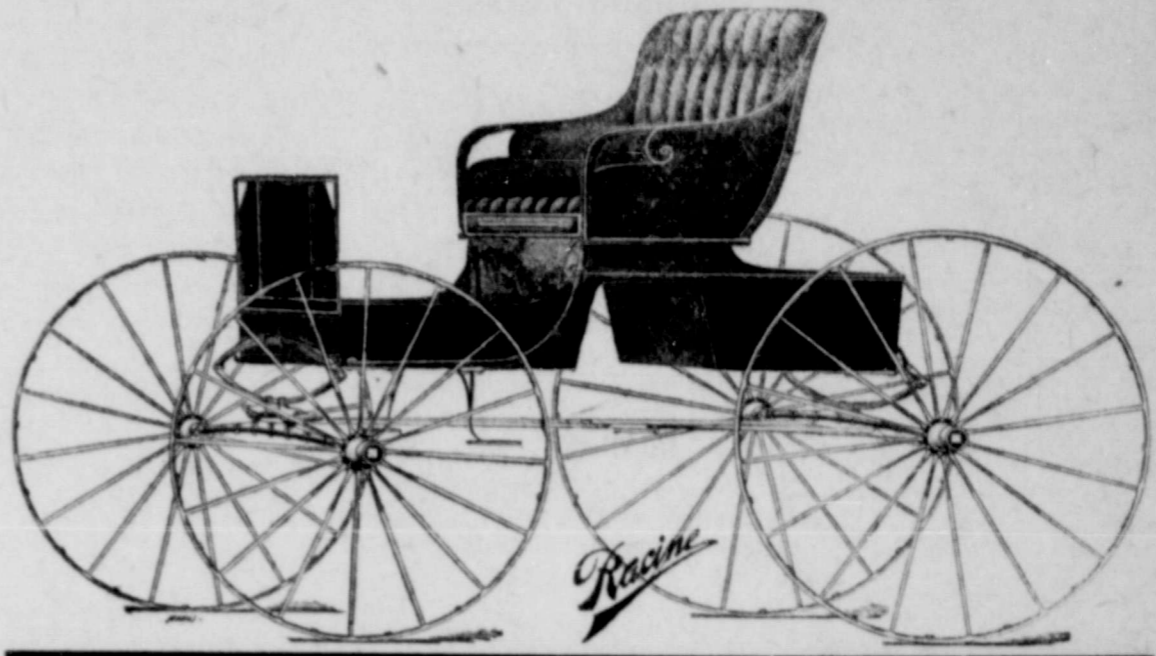

My husband asked me to try Cardui. I felt better after the first bottle, and now, I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."

If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardui. Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution.

For more than fifty years, it has been used by women of all ages, with great success. Try it. You—druggist sells it. N. B.—Write for Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 5¢ paper wrapper, or request.

SAN SABA SAYINGS.

From the Star.

Miss Fannie Kirkpatrick will leave Sunday for Brady to attend the McCulloch County Teachers institute next week, and from there will go to Rochelle, where she has a position in the public school.

Miss Balla Greenwood, who taught expression in the public school last year, came in Sunday from Lampasas and is making arrangements for a class this year. She is an exceptionally good teacher and we trust she will be successful in securing a large class.

From the News.

W. C. Brown, manager for the San Saba Oil Co., received a telegram from A. A. Scott of Wichita Falls Tuesday stating that tools will be shipped at once and that he will be in San Saba as soon as tools arrive to begin boring for oil and gas. The derrick is all in place and it requires only a short while to put the drilling machinery in place once it is here.

G. T. Newlin this week sold a year-old hog for $14.35. This is another striking illustration of what a hog will do for a farmer.

J. M. Carter sold a car load of hogs to B. R. Russell last week, the load bringing the elegant sum of $225.60. This suggests that a load of hogs on the farm is a very convenient thing to have as winter comes on. Every farmer could have a few hogs with very little extra effort and hogs are money, meat and lard combined—the mortgage lifter of the farm.

All you who have torpid liver, weak digestion or constipated bowels look out for chills. The season is here and the air is full of the disease germs. ### MASON MAVERICKS.

From the News.

Otto Schuessler has returns from mineral sent to Kansas City assayers showing a value of $26.50 per ton. This is mostly copper taken from property of Chas. Schuessler of this county.

Rudolph Martin returned Saturday from Fort Worth, where he marketed a fine bunch of cows that topped the market at $4.50.

LIVE LOCAL LINEUPS IN RUSTLING ROCHELLE.

From the Record.

Mr. and Mrs. Heath went to Brady Monday.

Prof. Parker, principal of the Rochelle school is here meeting the people of our town. He will attend the institute at Brady next week, and will be here to open his school the 14th.

Asa Bell, who is with the Bowman Lumber Co. of Brady, is here this week holding down the yard at this place while Tom Ivy is in San Saba county, collecting.

Mesdames A. D. Gentry, A. P. Head, W. T. Wilmeth and their children made a business trip to Brady Tuesday.

Mr. Embry, the broom man of Brady, was transacting business in our town one day this week.

A. E. Neal, who has been to Menard county for the past week purchasing feeders, returned Tuesday night with 209 head. They were unloaded here and delivered to the Neal ranch the following day.

Mrs. Q. C. Walker of Lohn, who has been on a visit to her sister, Mrs. A. D. Gentry, during the past few days returned to her home Tuesday.

Mrs. Snowden made a visit to Brady the first part of the week.

Trickham Second Well.

In a phone message to Fred Turner of the Trickham Development Co., today Jack Pippin was informed that the Robertson well at Trickham has improved in volume of gas wonderfully since the drill was sent deeper into the gas producing sand and that it is now as strong if not stronger than the Turner well. It is estimated that the Turner well flows 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas. If the Robertson well is this strong Brownwood could be furnished an abundance of gas at a price of less than one-half the cost she is paying for commercial gas.—Brownwood Bulletin.

A minister down in Arkansas found his people too poor to purchase hymn books, says an exchange, so being offered the same book free by a patent medicine house, provided they be allowed to insert their advertisement, ordered three dozen for the congregation. He was elated, upon receiving them, to find no ad in same. The next Sunday he distributed the books, telling the brethren his good fortune, and requesting that they sing page 120.
