FIVE LYCEUM NUMBERS

UNDER AUSPICES OF BRADY
COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Entertainment of the Highest Order to Be Presented to the Citizens of Brady.

Believing that the citizens of Brady are in position to appreciate entertainment and amusement of the highest order, the directors of the Brady Commercial club have undertaken to secure a lyceum course for Brady during the next few months, and to this end a committee composed of Messrs. D. Doole, C. A. Trigg and J. T. Mann was appointed to ascertain whether the citizenship could be interested in the matter. It was decided to make very low rates on season tickets in order to interest as many as possible, and to place the entertainment within reach of all. Accordingly, one season ticket is sold for $2.00; two for $3.00; three for $3.75; four for $4.50; five for $5.00, provided that these prices are to be maintained only when all the tickets so sold are taken in one family. It was also agreed that no children over six years of age were to be admitted free.

Mr. Doole, who has been active in interesting the citizens in the matter, states that owing to rush of personal affairs and sickness among his office force, he has been able to devote but little time to the matter, yet so prompt and so encouraging were the returns of his solicitations that but about $50 worth of tickets remain to be sold to assure the financial success of the course. As soon as this remaining amount of tickets has been subscribed, the lists will be closed, and tickets thereafter will be sold only at the regular rate. Mr. Doole requests us to state that his intentions have been to slight no one, but as above stated, he has been unable to see all, and those who desire season tickets should call on him at once at the post office.

The course is made up of five numbers, all of which come highly recommended, and several Brady citizens who have heard or seen various numbers of the course, add their praise to the testimonials. The Commercial club has interested itself in the securing of the course merely to provide a form of entertainment that the directors think will find favor and be appreciated. The club has no intention of making money off the venture, but believes that by mutual co-operation they will be enabled to offer at very low prices a class of entertainments for which tickets are regularly sold at $1.00 a number.

The first number of the course is to be given the night of November the 14th, and Booth Lowrey, the humorist-lecturer, will appear at that time. Mr. Lowrey is rated as one of the best of his profession in the country.

Brush, the great magician, will mystify the audience with feats in black art and sleight-of-hand on November 18.

The Hawkeye Glee Club will appear Dec. 4th, and everyone who loves music will be well repaid for their attendance upon this number.

December 20th Ray E. Bendell, impersonator, will appear, and some time after January 1st the Chicago Ladies orchestra,

McCULLOCH IS SOAKED

RAIN FALLS STEADILY FOR OVER 30 HOURS.

Telephone Reports Show That Rain Is General Throughout
This Section of the State.

All parts of McCulloch county, in fact all this section of Texas, are thoroughly soaked by a downpour of rain that began Tuesday night and continued unabated for over thirty hours. The rain fell slowly and steadily, and was accompanied by only a slight wind from the north. The rain ceased at 9:30 yesterday morning, although the sky remained overcast with clouds the greater part of the day, and appearances seemed good for more rain. The government rain gauge at the school house yesterday morning at 10 o'clock registered 2.3 inches rain.

Reports received over the telephone indicate that the rain was general, all points from Brownwood west to San Angelo, and also south and southwest through San Saba, McCulloch and Mason counties reporting rain of the same duration and in the same amount as at Brady.

The rain fell so slowly that every drop was taken up by the ground, consequently practically no stock water was put out, and stockmen are anxious to see the present moisture followed by a heavy rain. The farmers, however, are rejoicing already, as the rain is of untold value to oats and all feed crops.

EXHIBIT IS POSTPONED

RAIN AND MUD INTERFERES WITH PLANS.

Dates for McCulloch County Exhibit and Parade Set for October 25th and 26th.

Following the two days' rain, the roads throughout the county are reported in such muddy condition that it has been deemed advisable to postpone the McCulloch County Exhibit and Parade until Friday and Saturday of next week, at which time it will be pulled off as originally planned.

The change, quite naturally, inconveniences the committee in charge of arrangements and premiums to some extent, but with fair weather next week, and with everyone in good spirits over the rain, it is felt that the exhibit will be bigger and better than it would otherwise have been.

All citizens of McCulloch county are urged to bring their exhibits in next Friday and place them with the committee in charge, who will look after the placing and arranging of the same.

WILL GIN 3000 BALES.

Brady Will Beat Last Year By 400 Bales.

It is now conservatively estimated that at least 3000 bales will be ginned in Brady this year, which amount will total 400 better than the number ginned last year, which was in the neighborhood of 2600.

Gin receipts up to yesterday were:

McAnally & Wells..... 884
J. C. Koerth..... 828
Wm. Bauhof..... 745

Total..... 2458

Total number of bales received in Brady up to yesterday was 6,967; the public cotton yard having received 4,111, and the Farmers Union warehouse 2856. Up to Thursday of last week the cotton yard had shipped 2611 bales (this week's shipments were not obtained), and the Farmers Union warehouse had shipped up to last night 1676, making a total of 4287 shipped, as far as our records are complete.

The biggest sensation of the season is our piano contest. You get the highest grade of goods at the lowest possible figure and the votes are free. Wm. Connolly & Co.

with a lady reader, will conclude the course. This last number is said to be one of the finest entertainments in the way of lyceum numbers, that has ever appeared, and because of the expense of securing them, they have heretofore played in only the larger cities. This number alone is well worth the price of a season ticket.

Weather Reports.

Secretary Hardison of the Commercial club reports that he has arranged with Mr. Day, of the West Texas Telephone Co., for correct and reliable daily weather reports, and hereafter the reports will be displayed on a bulletin board at the Commercial club office, as well as by flags from the flag pole on top the high school building.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holliday are receiving congratulations over a fine boy, who arrived at their home yesterday morning.

DRILLING AT MILLERSVIEW

Savage and Bartlett Have Good Indication for Oil.

D. F. Savage and G. F. Bartlett are drilling on the W. O. Schultz place four miles beyond Millersview, the drilling being done by the Stewarts. The hole has already been drilled to a depth of 800 feet and two good indications for oil were encountered, the first at 400 feet and the second at 700 feet. At 800 feet they have a ten inch hole that will take 8-inch casing, and at this depth the drilling was stopped to change to a heavier machine. A steel cable will be used in drilling when the new machine gets in operation. This will be some time next week.

Messrs. Savage and Bartlett have a tract of nearly 40,000 acres leased in the Millersview community, and in order to hold the lease they are under contract to drill a 1200 foot well. With the new machine they expect to go at least 1500 feet. So far it has not been found necessary to use any casing at all.

Showings of oil are found in all the wells in the vicinity where the drilling is in progress, and with the indications struck in the first 800 feet, the drillers feel very optimistic over the prospects for a good strike.

At Lohn the well drilled by Brady Oil & Gas Co. has been abandoned, the oil struck at a little over 200 feet being not in sufficient quantity to justify pumping. This well was drilled to about the depth of the other shallow wells in the Meers tract, but evidently did not strike the oil sands of the latter. The five shallow wells continue to produce as well as when first brought in, and as a consequence all the storage tanks of the company have been filled. The big 1600-barrel tank turned over to the Brady Oil & Gas Co. by the Pierce-Fordyce people, will be put in shape as soon as possible and the oil piped to it.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE

WHITELAND LOCALS.

Whiteland, Texas, Oct. 15.
Editor Brady Standard:

Well, here I come again with a few of the locals.

Everybody is busy around Whiteland this week trying to get the cotton out, and their work done before cold weather gets here.

Rounding up all the cattle in the different pastures is the program at the Ford ranch this week.

The Whiteland teacher, Miss Sadie Westbrook, and the Carroll Colony teacher, Miss Annie Mogford, spent Saturday night here, leaving on the 8:30 train for Menard.

We are sorry to report that Mr. Paul Allen of Dodge, one of our frequent visitors, has moved away. Guess someone in this community will be lonesome now.

Mr. Charlie White was out Monday afternoon to start the work on the Comfort ranch.

Mr. Erving Haines left last week for Denison.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Hall and children spent Sunday at the hotel.

Miss Maude Mitchell spent Saturday afternoon with Miss Lonnie Haley.

Miss Alma Posey spent Saturday in Brady shopping.

Mr. John Jackson was also a visitor in Brady Saturday.

Mr. A. W. Haley is working at the Ford ranch this week.

Mrs. Will Keng spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. A. W. Haley.

Mr. and Mrs. Christwell and children and Master Brown Strickland spent Sunday at the Ford ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. White were out at the Ford ranch Sunday afternoon.

Come on, all you correspondents, with your good letters.

HAPPY JACK.

EAST BRADY.

Brady, Texas, Oct. 15.
Editor Brady Standard:

Well, here I come again with the news of East Brady.

Mr. Fred Young was in Brady Friday he is selling out. He says he has enough of McCulloch county and is going to Oklahoma, where he can make a living.

Mrs. J. F. Tindel went to Melvin Saturday to visit her brother and mother, Mrs. Westbrook. She returned Sunday, and her mother came home with her.

Mr. Frank Davison was in town this week on business.

Miss Ethel Brown was on the sick list this week, but is now much better.

Misses Eda Bell, Flossie and Master Anderson Castleman were in to see their sisters Saturday.

Miss Alma Posey of Whiteland was in Brady Saturday shopping. Mr. Hillary Tindel took a load of cotton seed to the farm Sunday evening and had the pleasure of spending the night by himself.

Mr. and Mrs. King Davison were in Brady two days this week. Mr. Davison went to the Brownwood show.

Mrs. Bratton and daughter of Rochelle were the guests of Mrs. Nix Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. Jasper Nixon left Monday night for Oklahoma.

Mr. Emmett Young made a flying trip to Calf Creek Saturday.

I will ring off for this time.

THE BABE.

PEAR VALLEY MAKEUPS.

Pear Valley, Texas, Oct. 14.
Editor Brady Standard:

Here we come again, after an absence of about three months. We will try to write oftener now, as we are almost through picking cotton.

There will be church here Sunday. Bro. Moran will do the preaching. Everybody invited.

Miss Ellen Watkins attended Sunday school here Sunday. We were glad to have her with us again.

Mr. Boley Horne was seen in the Valley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rush.

Mr. Claud Hester and family left Thursday for Round Rock, where they will make their home. We are sorry to lose such good neighbors, but wish them good luck in their new home.

Rev. Dunsworth was in the Valley Monday and Tuesday. We are always glad to have him in our midst.

Our school begins October 28, with three teachers. We hope the work will be even more successful than it was last year.

Quite a number from here were seen in Brady Monday—taking in the show, I suppose.

Mr. H. D. Broyles, Misses Lena Carroll, Lola Bullock and Dona Faulkner returned from Brady the latter part of the week, where they have been attending the institute.

There was only a small crowd at the debate Saturday on account of bad weather. The question was, "Resolved that the United States Should Interfere With the War in Mexico." Mr. Priest, Mr. Walter Russell, Mr. Owen Rush were on the affirmative side and Mr. Arthur Russell, Mr. Jones and Mr. J. B. Russell on the negative. The negative side won.

Singing at Mr. Bullock's Sunday night. I think everyone enjoyed it, especially Mr. Fred Hodges.

We have Sunday school every Sunday evening at 4 o'clock, and it is worth coming to; so everybody come.

Best wishes to the editor and all the readers.

THE TWIN SISTERS.

When you have a bad cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to cure it with as little delay as possible. MRS. MCGILL BROKE DOWN

Gives the Real Facts in Regard to Her Case and Tells How She Suffered.

Jonesboro, Ark.—"I suffered a complete break down in health, some time ago," writes Mrs. A. McGill, from this place. "I was very weak and could not do any work. I tried different remedies, but they did me no good. One day, I got a bottle of Cardui. It did me so much good, I was surprised, and took some more.

Before I took Cardui, I had headache and backache, and sometimes I would cry for hours. Now I am over all that, and can do all kinds of housework. I think it is the greatest medicine on earth."

In the past fifty years, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. McGill, to tell of the benefit received from Cardui.

Such testimony, from earnest women, surely indicates the great value of this tonic remedy, for diseases peculiar to women. Are you a sufferer? Yes? Cardui is the medicine you need. We urge you to try it.

DODGE NEWS.

Brady, Texas, Oct. 13.
Editor Brady Standard:

We have a norther today, consequently are feeling much more energetic and shall try to tell you what has happened in our community the past week.

Most everyone is about to get through picking cotton, so far as we know, and some of us are going to break some land this fall, because we are going to experiment next year on dry farming. Your scribe has been studying scientific farming the past few months and means to put some of the knowledge acquired into use. If our experiment be a success, we shall probably have something for the big fair next fall.

Dick Martin and family left Wednesday for Tahoka, where they expect to spend the winter. We regret to see Mr. Martin and family leave, but hope they will like their new home, and that success will be theirs wherever they go.

Marion Williamson came up from Satuit Monday to look after the Martin ranch which he has leased.

Miss Jeanette Miller spent last week in Brady attending the teachers' institute.

Mrs. Robert Harrell and little daughter spent last week at the home of V. C. Miller.

Paul Irvine is still looking for cotton pickers. Anyone wanting a job of that kind should see him at once.

C. C. House spent a part of last Sunday in our community.

WALDRIP WHOOPS.

Waldrip, Texas, Oct. 14.
Editor Brady Standard:

Our long looked-for norther reached here Friday night, but it's very mild.

T. R. Briscoe and daughter, Verna, were in Brady last Tuesday shopping.

W. T. Stacy was transacting business in Brady last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Cry of Coleman are visiting their relatives here, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winstead.

We are glad to report Mrs. M. J. Hutton much better.

T. C. Ramsey and Master Paul Powell were in Brady last Tuesday.

Lum Daniels and sister, Miss Lottie, Misses Mary and Lois Bratton took advantage of the excursion and attended the show at Brownwood. Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Ramsey chaperoned the crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winstead and daughter, Maybel and Marjorie, and Miss Maggie Powell left Thursday morning for Brownwood to attend the circus. They were going through in a hack.

G. E. Metts of Coleman was handshaking with friends here week before last.

Messrs. John and Elbert Briscoe left Thursday for Texico, Texas, where they will work on the railroad.

Mrs. Nora Goen and son, John Edmund, and her father-in-law, E. S. Goen, are visiting old friends and relatives here.

T. R. Briscoe was in Brady last Tuesday on business.

THE KID.

Dr. Hartman Answers Questions About The Revised Pe-ru-na

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

In response to a great many queries I wish to make public statement concerning the sale of Pe-ru-na.

No, we are not selling as much Pe-ru-na as we used to. The reason for this is the change in the formula of Pe-ru-na.

The patent medicine business is very peculiar and particular. A person who has been in the habit of taking patent medicine will notice very quickly the slightest alteration in color, taste or effect. It does not look as it used to, or smell as it used to, or have exactly the same taste as it used to. It does not feel exactly the same in the stomach as before. The medicine will be promptly returned to the drug store and a new bottle demanded.

All this I knew before I changed the formula of Pe-ru-na, which I did six years ago, but did not realize the difficulty of overcoming the people's notions on this subject.

I made a change in the formula of Pe-ru-na. Quite a radical change. A change that altered the color and the taste and somewhat the medicinal effect of Pe-ru-na. I did this believing it was the best thing to do under the circumstances.

Immediately the change appeared, the people began to complain of Pe-ru-na. They generally thought the druggist was to blame, that their bottle of Pe-ru-na had been tampered with. This made bad feelings between the users of Pe-ru-na and the druggists. The druggists in some cases became irritated and angered and made complaint to the wholesalers and manufacturers. Thus the trade was temporarily in an uproar.

After a year of explanation the trade quieted down and the new Pe-ru-na took its place in the drug stores as a popular household remedy. And yet it has not attained the popularity that the other Pe-ru-na had. Changing the formula of Pe-ru-na was equivalent to introducing a new medicine into the drug trade, an extremely difficult thing to do now-a-days.

Pe-ru-na as it is made today is a very excellent remedy for catarrh and general catarrhal ailments. It is for sale in all drug stores and has a slight laxative effect, very much needed in these days. It seemed to me that it was in many ways a better remedy than before. Yet in spite of all explanations there is a considerable demand for the old Pe-ru-na as it used to be made.

I have authorized the formation of a company to manufacture it, under the trade name of Ka-tar-no. The Ka-tar-no Co. is located in Columbus, Ohio, and stands ready to supply the trade with the old-time formula of Pe-ru-na under the name of Ka-tar-no.

Send for free booklet. Address Ka-tar-no Co., Columbus, Ohio.

HARRISON THEATRE CO.

Will Show in Brady All Next Week.

That the Harrison Theatre Co. will continue their stay for another week in Brady is the pleasing announcement made yesterday. The company scored hits both Monday and Tuesday nights, and but for the rain which caused them to abandon the performance Wednesday night, would have showed to a capacity house every night following. Because of the muddy condition of the streets which prevented many from attending last night, the feature play of "Mr. Jim Bailey" has been postponed, the exact date to be announced later. This play comes so highly recommended from other towns that no one should miss seeing it.

The company has a repertoire of high-class plays, and judging from the satisfaction given in the performances of the week, they should have no difficulty in packing the house during the remainder of their stay, more especially since the admission price is but 10 cents.

Fortunes in Faces.

There's often much truth in the saying "her face is her fortune," but it's never said where pimples, skin eruptions, blotches or other blemishes disfigure it. Impure blood is back of them all and shows the need of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They promote health and beauty. Try them. 25c at Jones Drug Co.

You don't often hear of people complaining of the goods we sell. The reason is we handle nothing but reliable goods, and when people buy the best to be had at the best price to be had, it usually pleases them. We want your business. Broad Mercantile Co.

"Oh, that's bully," he shrieked. "I haven't heard a story like that for ages."

"Why, where have you been, Dr. Temple?" asked Ashton, who could not imagine where a man could have concealed himself from such stories. But he laughed loudest of all when the doctor answered: "You see, I live in Ypsilanti. They don't tell me stories like that."

"They—who?" said Fosdick. "Why, my pa—my patients," the doctor explained, and laughed so hard that he forgot to feel guilty, laughed so hard that his wife in the next room heard him and giggled to Mrs. Whitcomb:

"Listen to dear Walter. He hasn't laughed like that since he was—a medical student." Then she buried her face guiltily in a book.

"Wasn't it good?" Dr. Temple demanded, wiping his streaming eyes and nudging the solemn-faced Englishman, who understood his own nation's humor, but had not yet learned the Yankee quirk.

Wedgewood made a hollow effort at laughter and answered: "Extremely—very droll, but what I don't quite get was—why the porter said—" The others drowned him in a roar of laughter, but Ashton was angry. "Why, you blamed fool, that's where the joke came in. Don't you see, the bridegroom said to the bride—" then he lowered his voice and diagrammed the story on his fingers.

Mrs. Temple was still shaking with sympathetic laughter, never dreaming what her husband was laughing at. She turned to Mrs. Whitcomb, but Mrs. Whitcomb was still glaring at Mrs. Wellington, who was still writing with flying fingers and underscoring every other word.

"Some people seem to think they own the train," Mrs. Whitcomb raged. "That creature has been at the writing desk an hour. The worst of it is, I'm sure she's writing to my husband."

Mrs. Temple looked shocked, but another peal of laughter came through the partition between the male and female sections of the car, and she beamed again. Then Mrs. Wellington finished her letter, glanced it over, addressed an envelope, sealed and stamped it with a deliberation that maddened Mrs. Whitcomb. When at last she rose, Mrs. Whitcomb was in the seat almost before Mrs. Wellington was out of it.

Mrs. Wellington paused at another wave of laughter from the men's room. She commented petulantly: "What good times men have. They've formed a club in there already. We women can only sit around and hate each other."

"Why, I don't hate anybody, do you?" Mrs. Temple exclaimed, looking up from the novel she had found on the book shelves. Mrs. Wellington dropped into the next chair: "On a long railroad journey I hate everybody. Don't you hate long journeys?"

"It's the first I ever took," Mrs. Temple apologized, radiantly, "and I'm having the—what my oldest boy would call the time of my life. And dear Walter—such goings on for him! A few minutes ago I strolled by the door and I saw him playing cards with a stranger, and smoking and drinking, too, all at once."

"Boys will be boys," said Mrs. Wellington. "But for Dr. Temple of all people—" "Why shouldn't a doctor? It's a shame the way men have everything. Think of it, a special smoking room. And women have no place to take a puff except on the sly."

Mrs. Temple stared at her in awe: "The woman in this book smokes!—perfumed things!" "All women smoke nowadays," said Mrs. Wellington, carelessly. "Don't you?"

The politest thing Mrs. Temple could think of in answer was: "Not yet."

"Really!" said Mrs. Wellington. "Don't you like tobacco?" "I never tried it."

"It's time you did. I smoke cigars myself."

Mrs. Temple almost collapsed at this double shock: "Cigars—cigars?" "Yes; cigarettes are too strong for me; will you try one of my pets?"

Mrs. Temple was about to express her repugnance at the thought, but Mrs. Wellington thrust before her a portfolio in which nestled such dainty shapes of such a warm and winsome brown, that Mrs. Temple paused to stare, and, like Mother Eve, found the fruit of knowledge too interesting once seen to reject with scorn. She hung over the cigar case in hesitant excitement one moment too long. Then she said in a trembling voice: "I—I should like to try once—just to see what it's like. But there's no place."

Mrs. Wellington felt that she had already made a proselyte to her own beloved vice, and she rushed her victim to the precipice: "There's the observation platform, my dear. Come on out."

Mrs. Temple was shivering with dismay at the dreadful deed: "What would they say in Ypsilanti?"

"What do you care? Be a sport. Your husband smokes. If it's right for him, why not for you?"

Mrs. Temple set her teeth and crossed the Rubicon with a resolute "I will!"

Mrs. Wellington led the timid neophyte along the wavering floor of the car and flung back the door of the observation car. She found Ira Lathrop holding Anne Gattie's hand and evidently explaining something of great importance, for their heads were very close together. They rose and with abashed faces and confused mumbblings of half-swallowed explanations, left the platform to Mrs. Wellington and her new pupil.

Shortly afterward Little Jimmie Wellington grew restive and set out for a brief constitutional and a breath of air. He carried a siphon to which he had become greatly attached, and made heavy going for the observation room, but reached the door in fairly good order. He swung it open and brought in with it the pale and wavering ghost of Mrs. Temple, who had been leaning against it for much-needed support. Wellington was stupefied to observe smoke pouring round Mrs. Temple's form, and he resolved to perform a great life-saving feat. He decided that the poor little woman was on fire and he poised the siphon like a fire extinguisher, with the noble intention of putting her out.

He pressed the handle, and a stream of vichy shot from the nozzle.

Fortunately, his aim was so very nobly that none of the extinguisher touched Mrs. Temple.

Wellington was about to play the siphon at her again when he saw her take from her lips a top cigar and emit a stream of cough-shaken smoke. The poor little experimentalist was too wretched to notice even so large a menace as Wellington. She threw the cigar away and gasped:

"I think I've had enough."

From the platform came a voice very well known to Little Jimmie. It said: "You'll like the second one better."

Mrs. Temple shuddered at the thought, but Wellington drew himself up majestically and called out:

"Like second one better, eh? I suppose it's the same way with husbands."

Then he stalked back to the smoking room, feeling that he had annihilated his wife, but knowing from experience that she always had a comeback. He knew it would be good, but he was afraid to hear it. He rolled into the smoking room, and sprawling across Doctor Temple's shoulders, dragged him from the midst of a highly improper story with alarming news.

"Doc, your wife looks kind o' seedy. Better go to her at once."

Dr. Temple leaped to his feet and ran to his wife's aid. He found her a dismal, ashen sight.

"Sally! What on earth ails you?" "Been smok-oking," she hiccupped. The world seemed to be crashing round Dr. Temple's head. He could only gurgie, "Sally!"

Mrs. Temple drew herself up with weak defiance: "Well, I saw you playing cards and drinking."

In the presence of such innocent devilry he could only smile. "Aren't we having an exciting vacation? But to think of you smoking!—and a cigar!"

She tossed her head in pride. "And it didn't make me sick—much." She clutched a chair. He tried to support her. He could not help pondering: "What would they say in Ypsilanti?"

"Who cares?" she laughed. "I—I wish the old train wouldn't rock so."

"I—I've smoked too much, too," said Dr. Temple with perfect truth, but Mrs. Temple, remembering that long glass she had seen, narrowed her eyes at him: "Are you sure it was the smoke?"

"Sally!" he cried, in abject horror at her implied suspicion. Then she turned a pale green. "Oh, I feel such a quail."

"In your conscience, Sally?" "No, not in my conscience. I think I'll go back to my berth and lie down."

"Let me help you, Mother."

And Darby and Joan hurried along the corridor, crowding it as they were crowding their vacation with belated experience.

CHAPTER XIX.

Failed!

It was late in the forenoon before the train came to the end of its iron furrow across that fertile space between two of the world's greatest rivers, which the Indians called "Iowa," nobody knows exactly why. In contrast with the palisades of the Missisissippi, the Missouri twists like a great brown dragon wallowing in congenial mud. The water itself, as Bob Burdette said, is so muddy that the wind blowing across it raises a cloud of dust.

A sonorous bridge led the way into Nebraska, and the train came to a halt at Omaha. Mallory and Marjorie got out to stretch their legs and their dog. If they had only known that the train was to stop there the quarter of an hour, and if they had only known some preacher there and had had him to the station, the ceremony could have been consummated then and there.

The horizon was fairly saw-toothed with church spires. There were preachers, preachers everywhere, and not a dominie to do their deed.

After they had strolled up and down the platform, and up and down, and up and down till they were faint of their cramped quarters, again, Marjorie suddenly dug her nails into Mallory's arm.

"Honey! look—look!" Honey looked, and there before their very eyes stood as clerical a looking person as ever announced a strawberry festival.

Mallory stared and stared, till Marjorie said: "Don't you see? stupid! It's a preacher! a preacher!"

"It looks like one," was as far as Mallory would commit himself, and he was turning away. He had about come to the belief that anything that looked like a parson was something else. But Marjorie whirled him round again, with a shrill whisper to listen. And he overheard in tones addicted to the pulpit:

"Yes, deacon, I trust that the harvest will be plentiful at my new church. It grieves me to leave the dear brothers and sisters in the Lord in Omaha, but I felt called to wider pastures."

And a lady who was evidently Mrs. Deacon spoke up: "We'll miss you terrible. We all say you are the best pastor our church ever had."

Mallory prepared to spring on his prey and drag him to his lair, but Marjorie held him back.

"He's taking our train, Lord bless his dear old soul."

And Mallory could have hugged him. But he kept close watch. To the rapture of the wedding-hungry twain, the preacher shook hands with such of his flock as had followed him to the station, picked up his valise and walked up to the porter, extending his ticket.

But the porter said—and Mallory could have throttled him for saying it: "Scuse me, posson, but that's yo' train ova yonda. You betta move right smaht, for it's gettin' ready to pull out."

With a little shriek of dismay, the parson clutched his valise and set off at a run. Mallory dashed after him and Marjorie after Mallory. They shouted as they ran, but the conductor of the east-bound train sang out "All aboard!" and swung on.

The parson made a sprint and caught the ultimate rail of the moving train. Mallory made a frantic leap at a flying coat-tail and missed. As he and Marjorie stood gazing reproachfully at the train which was giving a beautiful illustration of the laws of retreating perspective, they heard wild howls of "Hi! hi!" and "Hay! hay!" and turned to see their own train in motion, and the porter dancing a Zulu step alongside.

CHAPTER XX.

Foiled Again.

Mallory tucked Marjorie under his arm and Marjorie tucked Snoozleums under hers, and they did a sort of three-legged race down the platform. The porter was pale blue with excitement, and it was with the last gasp of breath in all three bodies that they scrambled up the steps of the only open vestibule.

The porter was mad enough to give them a piece of his mind, and they were meek enough to take it without a word of explanation or resentment.

And the train sped on into the heart of Nebraska, along the unpoetic valley of the Platte. When lunch-time came, they ate it together, but in gloomy silence. They sat in Marjorie's berth throughout the appalling monotonous afternoon in a stupor of disappointment and helpless dejection, speaking little and saying nothing.

Whenever the train stopped, Mallory watched the ongetting passengers with his keenest eye. He had a theory that since most people who looked like preachers were decidedly lay, it might be well to take a gambler's chance and accost the least ministerial person next.

So, in his frantic anxiety, he selected a horsey-looking individual who got on at North Platte. He looked so much like a rawhided ranchman that Mallory stole up on him and asked him to excuse him, but did he happen to be a clergyman? The man replied by asking Mallory if he happened to be a sea-bitten maverick, and embellished his question with a copious flow of the words ministers use, but with a secular arrangement of them. In fact he split one word in two to insert a double-barrelled curse. All that Mallory could do was to admit that he was a sea-bitten what-he-said, and back away.

After that, if a vicar in full uniform had marched down the aisle heading a procession of choir-boys, Mallory would have suspected him. He vowed in his haste that Marjorie might die an old maid before he would approach anybody else on that subject.

Nebraska would have been a nice long state for a honeymoon, but its four hundred-odd miles were a dreary length for the couple so near and yet so far. The railroad clinging to the meandering Platte made the way far longer, and Mallory and Marjorie left like Pyramus and Thisbe wandering along an eternal wall, through which they could see, but not reach, one another.

They dined together as dolefully as if they had been married for forty years. Then the slow twilight soaked them in its melancholy. The porter lighted up the car, and the angels lighted up the stars, but nothing lighted up their hopes.

"We've got to quarrel again, my beloved," Mallory groaned to Marjorie. "Somehow they were too dreary even to nag one another with an outburst for the benefit of the eager-eyed passengers."

A little excitement bestirred them as they realized that they were confronted with another night-robeless night and a morrow without change of gear.

"What a pity that we left our things in the taxicab," Marjorie sighed. And this time she said, "we left them." Instead of "you left them." It was very gracious of her, but Mallory did not acknowledge the courtesy. Instead he gave a start and a gasp:

"Good Lord, Marjorie, we never paid the second taxicab!"

"Great heavens, how shall we ever pay him? He's been waiting there twenty-four hours. How much do you suppose we owe him?"

"About a year of my pay, I guess."

BOOSTING THE GOOD.

Believing that every move for the good of Brady and for the moral benefit of her citizens should receive all encouragement, The Standard has volunteered its services in interesting its readers in the numbers to be given in the lyceum course to be presented in Brady under the auspices of the Brady Commercial club. This character of entertainment cannot be too much encouraged by all who believe in maintaining the highest of standards in entertainments and amusements.

The course to be presented in Brady is of that class. The several numbers have received the endorsement of press and pulpit alike. The readings, lectures and musical numbers are educating, uplifting and refining, and the boy or girl who prefers this class of entertainment to any other is building character upon a firm and lasting foundation.

For these reasons we heartily endorse the action of the Commercial club in securing the lyceum course and believe the citizens should not be slow to show their appreciation by purchasing season tickets for every member in the family.

Granted that their dads are all rich, we have never been able to make any cents out of the Menard girls' talk.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram has learned that Dallas, backward, spells "Sallad", and is mean enough to suggest that that probably explains why there are so many lobster suppers at the new Adolphus. Not content with this, it wants to know where the Old Adleffuss is.

As a result of the frenzied efforts of one Claude Callan in our behalf, we are this week flooded with proposals of marriage from some seventeen of the Menard fayre sex. Much as is the married state to be desired, we want no Menard ugly in it with us. Menard girls are too anxious to marry, anyway.

Julian Davis was over from Brady Saturday. What do you think of a town that business men will leave on Saturday?—Menard Messenger.

After having loaded out several dozens of wagons with superior Brady lumber every day in the week, it was quite natural that Julian should seek the absolute quiet of some out of the way place to recuperate from the strenuous life he leads in Brady. Could anything have been more natural than a visit to Menard?

HOMELY, BUT GOOD.

We permitted Claude Callan to associate with us on the streets of Brady for two hours Monday in the hopes that he might make us acquainted with the lone pretty girl who, he said, came over with the bunch of homelies from Menard. We intended to show him just how anxious we were to marry by asking the Menard girl to share a Brady lot with us, providing she agreed to love, honor and support us, but never a good-looking one did we see. Anyhow, we don't believe there is any such thing as a good-looking girl in Menard.—Brady Standard.

If there was only one, and nothing will make us believe it, it's a cinch Claude Callan didn't go introducing any Brady man to her.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Nope, he didn't. He even made the clown at the circus introduce himself to the Menard fainty femininity. By frequent use of his smelling salts, the clown managed to survive the ordeal.

The Standard is going to lay claim to first prize in next week's poultry show. Our rooster has crowed the loudest and longest of any over the rain.

A Youthful Traveler.

The Dublin Telephone gives the following account of the experiences of J. D., the bright 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cameron of this city:

"Little J. D. Cameron, Jr., of Brady, though only six years old, has already demonstrated courage and resourcefulness, which seem to indicate that he will never have any difficulty getting along in the world.

"Arriving on this morning's train for a visit with his grandfather, G. L. Bledsoe, through some misunderstanding as to train schedules, no one was there to meet him, but undismayed, the little fellow coolly alighted from the train and walked up town.

"Going into the first business house he came to, he asked permission to telephone to his grandfather and let him know he had arrived, but the proprietor either had no phone or did not take the trouble to find out what the child wanted, so he manfully trudged off alone to his grandfather's home near the standpipe, where he turned up, much to the surprise of everyone. Mr. Bledsoe, in the meantime, learning of his mistake as to the time the train arrived, had hurried to the station just before the train pulled out, and inquired of the conductor whether a small boy had been placed in his charge at Brady, to which he was answered in the negative, and returned home thinking the child had not been sent. When he told what the conductor had said, the little fellow replied: 'Oh, grandpa, you didn't see the right conductor. It was the black one I came with.'"

H. A. Cook arrived yesterday from Evansville, Ind., to spend several weeks as the guest of his son, H. N. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Abney, accompanied by Mary Lyle and J. B. Vincent, left Wednesday to enjoy several days at the Dallas fair.

Wm. Hoffman is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Montgomery, while upon his return to Mason from St. Louis, where he has been to purchase the fall and winter stock for the firm of Wm. Hoffman & Co.

Dr. G. H. Hampshire was greeting his many friends here Thursday and Friday on a brief visit while making a business trip out this way. The doctor is looking well, and is prospering in his new home. He reports fine crops in Falls county, both of feed and cotton, and things are looking prosperous there.

J. W. Townsend left Sunday night for Dallas to assist Butler Bros., during the fair. Mr. Townsend has twice been honored by being named one of twenty of Butler Bros.' customers in Texas who assist the firm in entertaining visitors and customers during the fair rush, having last year been called upon for a like service.

Jim Matthews was in from Peg Leg ranch last week bringing more potatoes and more pumpkins. One of the potatoes was placed on exhibition at the Polk barber shop, and was of a size to easily fill a peck measure. What gets us about these irrigated potatoes is how they stretch the peeling to permit of the potato growing so large.

OBITUARY OF A. J. SMITH.

A Prominent McCulloch County Citizen Dies at Austin.

(From the Austin Statesman)
A. J. Smith was born in 1845, at White Oak, Humphreys Co., Tenn. He attended school there until the war. The great agitation, especially in that part of the state interfered materially with his education; but being ambitious and desirous of becoming better educated, he made his home principally with Mr. Jesse Daniel, a college man, by whom he was regularly instructed till about the close of the war. February 3, 1869, he was married to Miss Bettie Daniel, daughter of his former instructor. The following year they came to Texas, where they began teaching and taught for ten consecutive years. Afterwards, he invested in lands in Bosque, Crosby, Brown and McCulloch counties. His energy, good judgment and extraordinary business capacity enabled him to accumulate considerable means in different parts of the state.

Three children were born to this union—Flora, Clyde and Floyd. Flora and Clyde, little daughters, died early, Flora at the age of one and Clyde at that of two. Floyd, the son, is now a student at the University of Texas. Besides his son, he is survived by his wife and an only brother, M. V. Smith of Tennessee City, Tenn.

He was a kind and indulgent father, a man whom anyone was glad to claim as a friend, a citizen who was always in line with any enterprise that meant progression and higher development for town, county or state; a cultured gentleman of the highest type. As previously stated, he was for many years a teacher; and it is as an educator that his memory will live longest. He loved young people and was intensely interested in their welfare, encouraging and assisting many to obtain an education which otherwise would have been impossible. Many are the letters coming from different parts of the state, bringing messages of love and sympathy to the bereaved wife and son—letters from friends and former pupils telling of the help and inspiration to a higher and nobler life which they gained in the schoolroom under his care. The prominent citizens of Austin, Prof. John A. Lomax, R. C. Lomax, Esquire and Mrs. Judge E. B. Robertson were his pupils in days gone by; each pays high tribute to his memory. It was the privilege of the writer to be his pupil and student assistant; and the instruction and wise counsel received from him during this association resulted in a life-long friendship. It was our sad pleasure to be with him almost constantly during the last few days of his life. He fully realized his condition, and spoke often of the end as "when I am gone to Brady." So that one would think that the journey to which he referred was only a temporary one. His last thoughts were mainly of his son, especially of his education. He expressed the desire that there would be no interruption in the plans for his future study. He said: "Money, what is it but a bauble?—I would rather be the promoter of my son's education, leading too the life of an honest and honorable citizen, than be governor of Texas;" and a smile flitted across his face as he spoke, for he knew that son would fulfill this ideal.

The first indication of bad health manifested itself in February, but he soon rallied, and was thought to be in perfect health again. About the twentieth of June he was taken with another severe attack; once more he gained sufficient strength to go to Galveston, where he was much benefited by the salt baths and mild gulf breeze. There, eminent physicians told him that they suspected cancer of the stomach. About this time he and his son were called back to their ranch at Lohn to attend to some business matters. Growing gradually worse, he returned with his son to Galveston; but this last trip did him little good; the breeze failed to relieve him; he therefore accompanied his wife back to their home in Austin, where another eminent physician pronounced the malady a well developed case of cancer of the liver. He gradually grew weaker and weaker, until at 6 o'clock on the evening of Sept. 13, he quietly passed away. His last words were: "It's all over with me now."

A few days before the end he spoke of death, and said he had no fears as to the hereafter; he was resigned to the inevitable, for he had lived an honorable and upright life. He could make the statement that never, in all his life, had he taken advantage of anyone. He did not make his fortune by injuring others. Good business man though he was, he placed a lofty moral and educational standard far higher than making money. He was a great lover of English literature, especially poetry. Often did he quote Bobby Burns' lines:—"O wad some power the giftie gie us To see oursels as ithers see us!" "The rank is but the guinea's stamp; The man's the gowd for a' that!" "An honest man's the noblest work of God."

Thus he was ever the friend and adviser of the poor. His oft-repeated motto was taken from Tennyson's Ulysses:—"Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield." The following lines written on a slip of paper, were found in his vest pocket:—

"How dull it is to pause, to make an end,
To rust unburnished, not to shine in use!
As tho' to breathe were life."

A good man has gone to his reward. Kind and devoted friends cheerfully administered to his every want while here on earth, and even now the angels are ministering to him. Methinks I hear the Savior saying: "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least one of these, ye did it unto me." It was his request to be buried in the cemetery at Brady, beside his father and little daughter, Clyde. We placed all that was mortal of our honored friend in a beautiful casket, surrounded by lovely floral offerings; at 11:10 o'clock Saturday night we started on the sad journey. Messrs. R. C. Lomax, J. G. Burney, Judge E. B. Robertson and Mrs. M. Jones, all of this city, accompanied the family to Brady. The honorary and active pallbearers at Austin were: Judge E. B. Robertson, Prof. John A. Lomax, Dr. J. B. Lockhart, Dr. M. Jones, Messrs. R. C. Lomax, J. G. Burney, Milton Morris, Edwin Bowen, G. A. Bahn, Jack McKeown, D. C. Pace and B. L. Dillingham. Kind friends and neighbors awaited the arrival at the station in Brady; all was in readiness; so the casket was escorted to the Christian tabernacle, where a union service was conducted by the Rev. D. R. Hardison and the Rev. King. Up to this point the pallbearers were: J. C. Wall, J. F. Quicksall, J. T. Mann, Ben Anderson, San McCollum and J. D. Branscum. Afterward the Masonic lodge took charge, Judge F. M. Newman, Dr. B. L. Craddock, Messrs. T. J. Wood, W. F. Roberts, Jr., E. E. Willoughby, S. J. Striegler, L. A. Williams, E. R. Stiles being the pallbearers. With the beautiful and impressive ceremony of this fraternity, he was laid to rest.

MRS. (DR.) M. JONES.

A Tribute in Memory of A. J. Smith.

When men die they leave a record behind them; good, bad or indifferent. The impression made by them on their fellow-men, the work they do, the task accomplished, the influence exerted live after them and go far toward molding and shaping the lives of those who come in contact with them, and to a large extent those who come after them.

A good man died in our city Friday, Sept. 13, A. J. Smith of Brady, McCulloch county. Although not a resident of Austin, his wife and son had made their home here for the past six years in order to be in touch with the great educational institution found here, spending the vacations on the farms and ranch in McCulloch county.

The writer, when a mere boy, first knew A. J. Smith in Bosque county. He was then a teacher, and counted one of the best of that day. He, with his wife, Mrs. B. G. Smith, built up one of the best private schools in what was then known as West Texas, at Meridian.

But it is not of his record as a successful teacher that I wish to write. It is rather of his great love for his fellows, his encouraging word and his ever ready helping hand toward the boy and girl of that day who aspired for an education.

Conditions were hard thirty-five years ago to the boy who hungered to go to school more than two or three months in the year. Such aspirations were viewed with suspicion as an attempt to get away from the rough, crude life of the farm and ranch, as operated then, and not much encouragement was given, even by the hardy father and mother, pioneers to a new and undeveloped country. A. J. Smith lived among and understood these conditions. While never combating the rule of the head of the family, he never failed to impress upon his pupils the advantages of the best education possible, higher ideals and a better and fuller life. It would be difficult for the boy and the girl of today to understand and appreciate the hardship and sacrifice necessary to go to school a full year thirty-five years ago. There were no rich people in that part of Texas then; yet with all of that, there are men and women throughout our great state today in whose minds and hearts A. J. Smith first implanted the desire and the resolve to mentally equip themselves to meet the day and issues which he saw and told were coming to our state. Children of the boys and girls he influenced, started and helped in this way are graduating from Baylor, Kidd-Key, Agricultural and Mechanical college and our own state university. Surely no man could or would leave a more lasting memory or greater monument.

A gentle, lovable life; sincere in all things, a good business man. He invested his savings in Texas, and her development made him a rich man; yet no one would suspect it. There was never a change in his life; no austerity, no added dignity. He remained the plain, simple, loving man and friend.

It was my sad but willing duty to accompany his body to Brady and to see it laid to rest with impressive and sublime rites of the Masonic fraternity accorded him and to witness the tears and sad faces of hundreds of his friends and neighbors. Surely a good man has gone, but the work that he wrought and the influence that he exerted continue to grow and to expand.

C. LOMAX.

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

Whereas, on this 8th day of October, 1912, at a special meeting of the city council of the city of Brady, held at council chamber in said city, at which meeting being present the Mayor, F. M. Richards, and all of the aldermen, C. A. Anderson, A. C. Baze, J. B. McKnight, I. G. Abney and C. D. It is therefore agreed by and between the parties hereto that said company does hereby sell and said city does hereby purchase the said property so owned by said company for the sum of Forty Two Thousand, Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($42,250.00), to be paid in fifteen years, with interest from said date at the rate of eight per cent per annum, interest payable annually, with ten per cent interest on past due interest, said payment being evidenced by a written obligation payable to the order of said company at Brady, Texas, and signed by said city by and through its mayor and aldermen and secretary and under the corporate seal of said city, the said note being in words and figures substantially as follows: $42,250.00.

Brady, McCulloch Co., Texas, November 22, 1912.

On November 22nd, 1912, the city of Brady, a municipal corporation of McCulloch county, Texas, promises to pay to the order of the Brady Water and Light Co., a private corporation, the sum of Forty Two Thousand, Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($42,250.00), with interest from this date at the rate of eight (8) per cent per annum, interest payable on the 22nd day of November, 1913, and annually thereafter, and all past due interest to bear interest at the rate of ten (10) per cent per annum, to be paid out of the income of the water system and lighting system owned and to be acquired by said city, or the proceeds of said water system and lighting system, as provided in Chapter 112 of the Acts of the Regular Session of the 32nd Legislature of the State of Texas, but the holder hereof shall never have the right to demand payment of this obligation out of any funds raised or to be raised by taxation, and this obligation shall never be a debt of said city, but solely a charge upon the properties encumbered by this obligation by a contract this day entered into by and between said city of Brady and said Brady Water and Light Co., and said contract of encumbrance is here referred to and made part hereof for all purposes. No foreclosure proceedings under said contract of encumbrance shall be had on account of failure to pay any interest prior to the maturity of the principal of this obligation. In case of default in payment of this obligation and same is placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, or if any suit is brought thereon, or if lien given to secure payment of this obligation is foreclosed in whole or in part, by suit or otherwise, then an additional amount of five (5) per cent on the principal of this obligation shall be added thereto as collection fees. Any part of this obligation may be paid at any time prior to the maturity of this obligation.

Witness corporate seal of city of Brady, this 22nd day of November, 1912.

By Mayor

Attested: Aldermen

City Secretary

It is understood and agreed that said note or obligation shall never be a debt of said city, but shall be solely a charge upon the properties hereby encumbered, and that no foreclosure of the lien here granted on any of said property shall be had for non-payment of interest prior to maturity of the principal of said note or obligation. There is hereby created and acknowledged a valid and subsisting lien upon all of the properties so owned by said city and upon said properties so owned by said company and here so purchased by said city, and the income thereof and everything pertaining thereto and acquired or to be acquired, and all additions and improvements on and extensions of either said water or lighting system, or both of them, to secure the payment of said note.

Sam McCulloch of Brady, Texas, is hereby appointed trustee, to make sale of all said properties upon default in payment of said note, and in case said trustee, from any cause whatever, becomes disqualified or refuses to act or fails to act as such trustee, then the said company or other holder and owner of said note, or any interest therein, may, by written instrument duly acknowledged and placed of record in Deed Records of McCulloch county, Texas, appoint a successor who shall have all of the authority and powers herein granted to said Sam McCulloch.

In case of default in payment of said note at the date of maturity thereof then said trustee, after the giving of the notices provided in Section 5 of said Chapter 112 of the Acts of the Regular Session of the 32nd Legislature of the State of Texas, and after advertising the length of time and in the manner required by law for the sale of real estate, may proceed to sell all of said properties, rights and privileges upon which a lien is here given to satisfy said note and the interest and collection fees thereon, or any part thereof remaining unpaid at said time, said sale to be at public auction at the court house door of McCulloch county, Texas, and such trustee, after said sale shall make a good and sufficient conveyance to the purchaser or purchasers thereof and shall apply the proceeds of such sale to the satisfaction of said note, the interest and collection fees thereon, and any balance remaining shall be paid to said city, or its order.

In case said property is sold under any foreclosure proceedings, whether by said trustee under the powers of sale herein granted, or under any foreclosure proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction, the purchaser or purchasers of such property shall have a franchise for a period of twenty years from and after the date of sale under such foreclosure proceedings, to operate the systems and properties so purchased, within the corporate limits of said city.

Upon the payment of said note being well and truly made, according to the reading and tenor thereof, then the lien hereby created to secure payment of same shall be released by the holder of said note, otherwise to remain in full force and effect.

The management and control of said properties during the time the same are encumbered as herein provided shall be placed in the hands of a board of trustees, consisting of three members, herein known as managing trustees, one of whom shall always be the mayor of said city, and herein designated as first member of said managing trustees, and F. M. Richards, present mayor of said city, is hereby named as such member; and said company or other owner or holder of said note shall always have the right to appoint one member of said board of managing trustees, and which trustee is hereby designated as second member of said managing trustees, and E. L. Ogden is hereby named by said company as such member of said board of managing trustees. J. E. Shropshire is hereby agreed upon as the third member of said board of managing trustees, herein known as third member of said board. Said F. M. Richards shall constitute the first member of said board of trustees while he is such mayor and his successors in office shall thereafter always constitute said first member of said board, or other owner and holder of said note, shall have the right, at all times, to appoint a successor to said second member of said board. The successor to the third member of said board shall be selected by said first member and second member, subject to the approval of the city council of the said city, and if any successor is selected and such selection be disapproved by said city council then said successor shall not qualify, but another member suitable to said city council shall be selected. Said company or other owner or holder of said note shall, at all times, have the right to remove said second member of said board and to appoint a successor for said second member. Said third member of said board of managing trustees shall be removed and his successor appointed when so requested by the city council of said city.

The provisions herein for the removal of said second and third managing trustees shall apply to those herein named as well as to their successors.

All removals of said trustees shall be by notice in writing filed with the city secretary of said city and entered on the minutes of said city council, and all appointments of such trustees shall likewise be in writing filed with the city secretary and entered on the minutes of said city council. All such removals may be done without notice to the trustees so to be removed. Said managing trustees shall receive the same pay for the services of said city and entered on the minutes of said city council to exceed pay for more than two meetings per month, but never to exceed five per cent of the gross receipts from said properties in any one year. Said managing trustees shall hold their offices until their successors are selected. Said first trustee shall be deemed a member of said board without any further qualification than that said trustee, second and third, before entering upon their duties as such trustees, shall each qualify by taking and subscribing the oath of office as prescribed by the Constitution of the state of Texas, in Section 1, Article 16. Said managing trustees shall have full management and control of said properties as provided and contemplated in said Chapter 112, and shall be subject to all the provisions of said Chapter 112, and shall have authority to make all rules and regulations necessary for the proper management and control of said properties, and shall have all of the authority granted them under said Chapter 112. They shall have authority to employ labor necessary for the operation of said properties and to make all purchases of material necessary for the operation and improvement of said properties and systems, and shall have authority to select a manager of said properties and delegate to such manager such authority as said managing trustees may think proper. All rules and regulations proposed by said managing trustees shall be in writing and shall be filed with the secretary of said city, who shall enter them in a book to be kept for that purpose. In the making of all rules and regulations herein provided for it shall be necessary for all members of said board to be present, but a majority of said board may make such rules and regulations. Said board of managing trustees shall have authority to provide for the payment, out of the revenues arising from said properties, of the expenses of operating and maintenance of same, including all salaries, labor, material, interest, repairs and extensions necessary to render efficient service. Every such proper item of expense shall be a first lien and charged against the income from said properties and shall be first paid by said trustees. Said managing trustees shall keep, or cause to be kept, a complete set of books showing all of the transactions concerning said properties and shall make quarterly reports to the city council of said city, and such other reports as may be requested by said city council, showing fully the condition of said properties, and the matters pertaining thereto, including the actions done and performed by said managing trustees.

After the payment of expenses of operation and maintenance, including all salaries, labor, material, interest, repairs and extensions necessary to render efficient service, as above provided, said managing trustees shall pay, or cause to be paid, the balance of the income and revenue from said properties on the interest and principal of said note. Such payments on said principal and interest, if there be any funds out of which to make such payments, to be made at the end of each year, or oftener, if deemed proper by said managing trustees, or if so directed by the city council of said city.

Any rules and regulations made by said managing trustees may be changed or abrogated by the mutual agreement of said city council and said company, or other owner and holder of said note, and any rule and regulation, or rules and regulations, for the management and control of said properties made and mutually agreed upon by said city council and by said company, or other owner or holder of said note, shall be adopted and enforced by said managing trustees.

The provisions herein for foreclosure of lien here granted by sale by trustee shall in no wise preclude said company, or other holder of said note, from foreclosing said lien in a court of competent jurisdiction.

The franchise under which said company has heretofore operated its water and lighting systems in said city is hereby cancelled and abandoned.

Therefore it is hereby ordered by the city council of said city of Brady that an election be held on the 16th day of November, 1912, at which election shall be submitted the proposition as to whether or not said city council shall be authorized to enter into said contract with said Brady Water and Light Co., purchasing the properties from said Brady Water and Light Co. set out and described in said contract and mortgage and encumbering said properties so purchased, together with the properties, rights and privileges so owned by said city, as set out and described in said contract, together with all improvements, additions and extensions thereof, all as set out in said contract, and granting a franchise to the purchaser or purchasers of such property to operate same for twenty years in case same is sold under foreclosure proceedings under said contract.

Said election shall be held within the corporate limits of said city of Brady and in the northwest room on the first floor of the county court house of McCulloch county, Texas, and J. M. Duke is hereby appointed presiding officer for said election and he shall appoint two judges and two clerks to assist him in holding said election, and he shall, within the time prescribed by law, after said election has been held, make due return thereof to the city council of said city of Brady. The manner of holding said election shall be governed by the laws of the state of Texas regulating general elections. Only qualified voters of said city of Brady shall be allowed to vote, and all voters supporting the proposition authorizing the city council to enter into the said contract with said Brady Water and Light Co., as above set out, shall have printed on their ballots the words: "For the making of the contract and mortgage with the Brady Water and Light Co."; and all voters opposing the proposition authorizing the city council to enter into said contract with said Brady Water and Light Co., as above set out, shall have printed on their ballots the words: "Against the making of the contract and mortgage with the Brady Water and Light Co." Notices of said election shall be given by the city marshal of the city of Brady posting copies of this order, signed by the mayor of the said city, in three public places within the limits of said city, two of which shall be at the same place, and one of which shall be

Complimentary Party.

Mrs. William Davidson entertained Wednesday afternoon with cards, complimentary to Mrs. A. B. Jarvis of Henderson, Ky., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. D. Crothers.

The pretty Davidson bungalow was made beautiful with a profusion of roses and sweet-scented wild flowers and lighted by electric. In the dining room a silver basket, overflowing with pink flowers, and gracefully tied by a bow of white tulle, adorned the table.

Five hundred and "42" was the diversion of the afternoon. After several spirited games were played, prizes were awarded, the first prize—a handsome silver brush—went to Miss Chase Crothers, while Mrs. Jarvis received a pretty pair of silk hose, as guests' prize.

Refreshments were served consisting of a dainty salad course with raspberry ice and divinity candy.

Those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Davidson on this occasion were: Mesdames S. S. Graham, W. D. Crothers, F. W. Henderson, Jack Nussbaum, G. V. Gansel, J. G. McCall, Sam Moffatt, Jno. Wall, G. R. White, Jas. Mann, Turner, Beckham, Anderson and Misses Chase and Minnie Jarvis Crothers, Ollie Souther, Alice Ballou, Gillie Macy, Laura Lee White.

Miss Mary Estelle Thompson entertained a number of her friends on Saturday evening with progressive games.

Five tables of players enjoyed the games until a late hour, when delicious ice cream and cake was served on table trays.

The guests were Misses Hattie Pence, Annie Scott, Lucile Benham, Leslie Bradley, Norma and Lessie Samuels, Sarah Johanson, Fay Wall, Minnie Jarvis Crothers, Ruth and Flora

Schaeg, Sallie J. Morrow and Sallie and Virginia Miller; Messrs. Ery Boyd, John Doole, Neil Yeager, John McKnight, Marion Hardison, Ryan Adkins, Chester Baze, Rockett Hall.

Miss Olga Schaeg will entertain the Beau-Nots on next Wednesday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

CASH PRIZES OFFERED.

At Dallas for Three Best Loaves of Bread.

The school of Domestic Economy in the University of Texas will give cash prizes for the three best loaves of bread sent to Miss Jessie Rich, University Tent, Dallas Fair Grounds, on Friday, October 25. The money is divided into three prizes of $5, $3 and $2 respectively, for the three loaves of bread meeting the following test. Each competitor must exhibit one loaf of bread baked in a pan not exceeding ten inches long, six inches wide and three inches deep. The bread must be made out of white flour, sugar, yeast, salt and water or milk; and must be baked the day before it is sent to the fair for exhibition. Each competitor is further required to state the amount of flour and yeast used, with the cost and amount of all materials. Contestants are also required to describe the exact method followed in making the bread and to give the time of baking and the care used after baking. Each loaf of bread will be graded according to the following score card: Flavor, 35 points; texture of crumb, lightness, color, moisture, 35 points; texture of crust, color, depth, hardness, 10 points; form of loaf, 10 points; written report, clearness, accuracy, form, 10 points. Total, 100 points. Later announcement will be made giving the names of the judges in the bread contest.

For further information and for recipes, if desired, letters will be promptly answered if addressed to Miss Jessie Rich, University Tent, Dallas Fair, Dallas, Texas. All contestants may, of course, use their own recipes. This contest in bread-making is expected to attract wide attention among the women of the rural districts, where the art of good baking is so necessary to every individual home. The contest is, however, open to all housekeepers.

Pastor Vinson Resigns Work

What was almost like a clap of thunder out of a clear sky came to the members of the Baptist church Sunday morning when Pastor W. D. Vinson, at the conclusion of his sermon, offered his resignation as pastor to the congregation, and asked them to accept it.

The members present were taken so much by surprise that they knew nothing else to do, but to accede to the pastor's request, and accept the resignation. Reluctantly the minister's request in the matter was complied with and the resignation accepted, to take effect next Sunday.

Mr. Vinson gives up the pastorate to again go into the missionary work in Hamilton county. He is experienced in the mission work and rather enjoys that line of work. He has been in Miles just a year, but during that time he and his excellent family have endeared themselves not only to the entire membership of the Baptist church, but to the people generally in and around Miles. He is an able preacher, an excellent pastor and a splendid Christian gentleman.—Miles Enterprise.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Brady people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Brady reader of the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far-away places. Read the following:
C. V. Glover, Brady, Texas, says: "For many years I have been troubled by a dull ache in my back and across my kidneys. I consulted a doctor and he pronounced my complaint lumbago. He gave me a prescription, but it gave me no relief, and I tried other remedies. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and procured a box. Before long I noticed that my trouble was beginning to disappear, and I have not lost a day from work since. After taking two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I was cured. I think this remedy is well worthy of recommendation."

A Remedy No Family Should Do Without

No matter how healthy a human being may be it is safe to say that not many months are passed without some obstruction of the bowels, in other words, constipation, even if only temporary. The bloating, the dull feeling may start after the evening meal. If a laxative is not taken that night it is certain that sleep will not be sound, and you will awaken unrefreshed. Hence, it is important for you and for all the members of your family that a good, reliable laxative be always kept in the house for just such emergency. It is sure to be needed, and when needed you want it at hand. No family that is careful of its health can do without such a remedy. But the question of which remedy to have on hand is also of vast importance. The laxative most highly recommended by the majority of intelligent Americans as being best for babies and grownups is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a liquid laxative- tonic, mild, and never gripes, is effective on robust people and can be given with safety to an infant. Children like it because of these gentle qualities and because it is pleasant to the taste. It is the best all-around remedy you can have in the house for any disorder of the stomach, liver and bowels, and many people like Mrs. P. P. Eisele, 1809 W. Houston St., San Antonio, Texas, and Capt. J. A. H. Hossack, Cleburne, Texas, say they would as soon be without the no-castles as without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

COMMISSIONERS COURT.

Passes Orders, Allows Accounts, Examines Reports, Etc.

Commissioners court has been in session this week attending to various matters that have come up before it.

The annual report of the Brady Independent school district was examined and approved.

The election judges were appointed for the general election in November.

An order was passed providing for the sale of some lots near the jail, and the purchase of others, in order to give the jail a full half block.

An order was passed providing for the maintenance of bridges and approaches to stock passages by the owners of same.

The pay roll of Road District No. 1 was examined and approved.

Numerous accounts were allowed.

The court appears badly in need of the services of an expert to advise them concerning gray wolf and coyote scalps. The first two scalps brought in for bounty were accepted as those of young gray wolves, and the bounty of $5.00 each was paid for them. Then the suspicions of the court were aroused, and although every scalp taker has claimed his scalps to be those of young gray wolves, the court has decided to play safe by calling them all coyotes, and paying the bounty of $1.00 therefor.

The court will probably adjourn today.

Piano votes given with every purchase of shelf hardware at Wm. Connolly & Co.

Stand Ahead.

There is something about Hunt's Lightning Oil that no other liniment possesses. Others may be good, but it is surely the best. It does all you recommend it for, and more. For sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, aches and pains it has no equal on earth. It stands head on my medicine shelf. Very truly yours, T. J. Brownlow, Livingston, Tenn.

HAS ARTESIAN PROPOSAL.

Houston Company Offers to Guarantee 250,000 Gallon Well

What is considered as the most significant move made by the Commercial club of Coleman is the closing of a contract with a Houston firm for the drilling of an artesian well within a mile of the city of Coleman, which the company guarantees will furnish 250,000 gallons of pure water per day. The Houston company proposes to guarantee the daily output of water for the sum of $25,000, which Coleman readily gave. In event the company fails to get artesian water the city is not to be out a cent. It is proposed that the charter of the city of Coleman be so changed that the people can vote bonds to pay for the well in case the amount cannot be raised by subscriptions. — Brownwood Bulletin.

DOODSON'S LIVER-TONE BEATS CALOMEL.

No Need to Risk Your Health Taking Dangerous Drug—New Remedy Is Guaranteed.

Next time your liver gets sluggish and you feel dull and headachy go to Jones Drug store and get a bottle of the successful medicine, Doodson's Liver-Tone.

It will start your liver, gently but firmly, and cure an attack of constipation or biliousness without any restriction of habit or diet.

Doodson's Liver-Tone is a pleasant tasting vegetable liquid, for both children or grown people. Its use is not followed by any of the bad after-effects which sometimes follow the taking of calomel.

Jones Drug Co. will give you your money back if you do not find it a perfect substitute for calomel.
