MASS MEETING TONIGHT

DISCUSSION OF THE WATERWORKS ELECTION.

Every Brady Citizen Invited to Be Present—Subject to Be Discussed Pro and Con.

In order that the citizens of Brady might arrive at a better understanding of the proposition for the city to take over the waterworks and lighting system of the Brady Water and Light Co., for which an election has been ordered by the city council to be held tomorrow, a mass meeting has been called at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the court house, at which there will be a free and open discussion of the matter from every viewpoint.

The waterworks election has been the leading subject of discussion by Brady citizens for the past several weeks. Many have not taken time to read the lengthy order of election and have not familiarized themselves with the proposition; others do not understand certain phases of the same and want more information. By thoroughly going over the matter in open meeting it is hoped to explain clearly just what effect the favorable result of the election will have upon the city of Brady and the citizens of Brady as concerns the water and light question in the future.

Every citizen is vitally concerned in the future welfare of Brady, and should feel it his duty to attend the meeting and obtain all knowledge and information possible, in order that he may vote intelligently Saturday, and thereby further the best interests of the city and citizens.

We have been requested to advise the residents in the neighborhood of the mouth of Onion that the bombardment in that vicinity the first of the week, was not occasioned by the near approach of the Mexican revolution, but that it was merely a bit of target practice by Dr. J. S. Anderson and M. F. Fuller preparatory to their engaging in a hunt.

Phone Bumgardner for feed. Mart L. Williams, our farmer friend from the Voca community, brought us another big bunch of turnips Wednesday. There were five turnips in the bunch, which weighed 35 pounds. Turnips are a healthy article of food and, as long as Mr. Williams supplies them, a very inexpensive article as well. Mr. Williams grew these big turnips without irrigation, by the Williams system of farming, which system he discovered, perfected and succeeded. He explains his method by saying he has combined with scientific farming the experience and study of over thirty years of practical farming, with the result that he excels all his neighbors in quantity and quality of products.

$25.00 Reward.

For information leading to the recovery of two bales of cotton belonging to J. P. Shafer, and stolen from the Voca gin between Oct. 28th and Nov. 6th. Bales marked with red paint as follows: No. 101, weight 578; No. 121, weight 575; gin brand, V; owner's brand, J. P. S. J. C. WALL, Sheriff, Brady.

AT THE LYRIC.

Magic, Illusions, Sleight-of-Hand and Comedy All Combined.

Saturday night at the Lyric will be given the second of the lyceum numbers. Brush, the renowned magician, illusionist and entertainer will delight the audience with his feats of skill and dexterity, his illusions and his transformations. His program includes tricks of the Hindoos, Chinese, Japanese and Europeans as well as a number of original ones. A continuous patter of humor and comedy accompanies the performance of these tricks and all who attend are assured the treat of their lives.

As previously announced, the Lyric management will give a vaudeville performance immediately after the conclusion of the entertainment for which regular admission will be charged, and all who care to do so are invited to remain.

COMPRESS RECEIPTS.

More Bales on Wharf Now Than Any Time During Season.

The Brady compress up to yesterday has received for this season 11,292 bales. Of this number 9,197 bales had been pressed. At noon yesterday the wharf held more bales than at any time during the present season—a total of 3200. The cotton is being received rapidly now, and the windup is thought not far off.

COTTON YARD RECEIPTS.

Cotton Coming in Slowly—Average 45 to 50 Bales Daily.

Public Weigher Tom Jordan reports cotton coming in slowly at the cotton yard, and from 100 or more bales per day it has dropped to 40 to 50 bales. The total receipts at the yard yesterday were 5,713; total shipments, 4,786; on hand in yard, 927. This last is the smallest amount the yard has held since the opening of the season.

The United Doctors

An Association of Prominent American
Physician Specialists Giving Free
Medical Services to the Sick

At Hotel Queen Tuesday, Nov.
26--One Day Only

Startling disclosures relative to the most remarkable treatments known. The United Doctors are visiting the principal cities throughout the United States. Licensed by the states for the treatment of diseases, deformities, ailments and maladies of various forms without surgical operation.

By this developed system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, kidney stones, tubercular glands, tumor, goitre, piles or cancer. They were among the first in America to do away with the knife, blood and pain in the treatment and cure of these serious and dangerous diseases.

Selected cases of consumption, asthma, bronchitis and catarrhal diseases, absolutely cured with combination of medicine, diet, hygiene and exercise. This is the most reliable and scientific home treatment known today.

Rheumatism, diabetes, bed-wetting, leg ulcers, sore eyes, and diseases of the stomach, liver, heart, kidneys, bowels, bladder, all treated by their successful methods, developed after years of special practice and experience.

Patients with cancer, tumor or tubercular glands not larger than one to two inches can be cured with their hypodermic injection method, used in hundreds of cases with entire success.

These Doctors and nerve specialists treat successfully neuralgia, constant headaches, epilepsy, sciatica, nervous debility and other diseases related to the nervous system.

Because of their vast experience in the treatment and cure of chronic blood diseases, scrofula, diseases of the skin, falling of the hair, hydrocele, varicocele, swelling of the limbs, enlarged veins, paralysis and all diseases of men, women and children they are eminently fitted for the high position they have attained in the extensive practice of their profession.

If your case is incurable, the doctor will give you valuable advice that will relieve you and stay the disease. They are curing the diseases they undertake and you may some day regret it if you don't give them a chance.

The United Doctors will give free treatment (except a small charge for medicines) on this particular visit, and this only to those who are interested and really sick.

Inasmuch as these doctors are giving their valuable services free to the sick they will expect of those treated to tell the results to their friends.

If you have kidney or bladder trouble bring a two ounce bottle of your urine for analysis.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and children with their parents.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE

SWEDEN NEWS.

Rochelle, Texas, Nov. 11.
Editor Brady Standard:
Here I come again. As cotton picking is about over perhaps "Aunt Susan" can write better letters.

We were just about ready to lay away our winter clothes when Mr. Norther said, "Take up those old clothes and wear them." His visit wasn't so very long, but it was very cold.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Hurd and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Wilson were guests at the J. E. Samuelson home last Sunday a week ago.

Miss Lella Anderson of Rochelle is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. E. Samuelson.

Several of our citizens attended the lecture at Brady last week.

School began last Monday, with a goodly number in attendance. Mrs. J. S. Abernathy and Miss Mary Sellman were appointed as teachers for the following term. We know our school can't help but progress under the instruction of these able teachers. Mrs. Abernathy was our former teacher and no woman could have any more pleasant things said about her than this one woman, while Miss Sellman may prove equally as well when she has been with us just as long as has Mrs. Abernathy.

Misses Myrtle and Nina Hurd were shopping in Rochelle last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Johanson and sons, Thomas and George, and Miss Segred Johnson visited in West Sweden last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Dial and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Galloway and children and Mrs. S. L. Hurd were guests at the W. F. Dutton home last Sunday.

Mr. Freeman Hurd and sisters, Misses Alma, Myrtle and Nina, and Mrs. M. H. Wilson and son, Master Fred Burgess, were guests of their sister, Mrs. R. B. Spears, of Brady last Sunday afternoon.

A nice crowd of Rochelle's young people paid us a visit last Sunday night. We are only too glad to have these estimable young people with us. Some time we good-hearted Swedes are going to pay back these visits.

Messrs. S. L. Hurd and M. H. Wilson made a flying trip to Menard last Monday in Mr. Hurd's car.

Mrs. A. E. Hibdon and baby, little Miss Mary, were guests of Mrs. S. L. Hurd last Tuesday afternoon.

Success and all good wishes

DO YOU ENJOY EATING

Or Does Everything You Eat Distress You?

Experts declare that the reason stomach disorders are so common in this country is due to hasty and careless habits of eating. Stomach troubles and run-down conditions also usually go together.

John Lind, of Onseota, N. Y., says: "I have been troubled with a bad stomach trouble for fifteen years, and became so weak that I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was very poor, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. Since taking two bottles of Vinol I find that it has already made a remarkable improvement in my health; my digestion is much stronger, and I have gained in weight."

Vinol makes weak stomachs strong because it strengthens and tones up the weakened, tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs. Vinol is easily assimilated by the weakest stomachs, and is delicious to the taste.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

PEAR VALLEY MAKEUPS.

Pear Valley, Texas, Nov. 10.
Editor Brady Standard:

How is the editor, and readers, enjoying this pleasant weather we are having? I would enjoy it very much if the wind did not blow so hard.

The school is progressing nicely. We believe that we are going to have a fine school this year.

Bro. Shirley will preach here tonight. We hope to hear a good sermon, which we always do when Bro. Shirley preaches.

Everyone is invited to attend our Sunday school. We don't have a very large attendance, as most everyone has gone cotton picking.

Mr. Fred Slaughter was seen in the Valley Thursday.

Mr. Tommie is visiting his sister, Mrs. Faulkner.

Mr. John Slaughter and Miss Audrey Miers were seen in the Valley Saturday.

Mr. Watkins and family of Gansel passed through the Valley Tuesday on their way to the coast. We regret to see them leave, but wish them good fortune in their new home.

Mr. Craven Ferguson returned from Brady last week, where he has been the past month or two. He will attend school here this winter. We are glad to have him in our midst.

Mrs. S. J. Howard visited her sister, Mrs. R. Brown, Wednesday.

A few of our young folks went to the river in search of some pecans. They returned with very few.

Well, as news is scarce in this part of the world, I will say goodbye. TWIN SISTERS.

A Great Building Falls when its foundation is undermined, and if the foundation of health—good digestion—is attacked, quick collapse follows. On the first sign of indigestion, Dr. King's New Life Pills should be taken to tone the stomach and regulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Pleasant, easy, safe and only 25c at Jones Drug Co.

WHITELAND LOCALS.

Whiteland, Texas, Nov. 12.
Editor Brady Standard:

I haven't sent a letter to the paper for two weeks, so will try to fill the space again for a few minutes.

School began the 4th of this month with fourteen scholars, and more coming in every day. You can see, if all goes well, we will have quite a school in our small village after awhile.

Mrs. G. R. Mitchell was shopping in Brady Saturday.

Mr. Darty of Austin spent Saturday and Sunday at the Mitchell home.

Mr. G. R. White and Mr. Erkle were met on the road with a pipe out fix in the car, but it didn't take them long to fix it and were soon under way again.

We had quite an accident here Thursday when Mr. Tom Smith got both bones in his ankle broken. He was going to throw a cow by the horns, stepped in a crevice in the ground and broke his ankle. He can't walk yet, but hope he will be better soon.

The oil men have quit drilling here. They had drilled over 1300 feet, but had not struck oil.

Miss Sadie Westbrook spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Annie Mogford at Carroll Colony.

Miss Alma Posey went to Brady Thursday.

Mr. A. H. Haley and daughter, Lonie, spent Saturday in Brady.

Two nieces of Mrs. Mitchell spent Saturday night and Sunday with their aunt and uncle.

As news is scarce this week, will close and do better next time. HAPPY JACK.

PRAIRIE VIEW PICKUPS.

Brady, Texas, Nov. 11.

Editor Brady Standard:

Well, here I come again, after some time.

Mr. Sam Baird spent Sunday with Mr. Jesse Burk.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Pence were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Pence Sunday.

Misses Emma Bell Davis and Vera Evans spent Sunday with Miss Gertrude Priddy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Campbell were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barker Sunday.

Mr. Bert Priddy and Miss Anna Bell Davis went to church at Live Oak Sunday afternoon.

Miss Maggie Barker spent Sunday with Miss Minnie Fann.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davis and children will leave Wednesday for Round Rock on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Evans and Miss Gertrude Priddy went to church at Live Oak Sunday.

Mrs. H. J. Huffman was the guest of Mrs. J. T. Holmes Sunday.

Miss Gertrude Priddy spent Saturday afternoon with Miss Anna Bell Davis.

Mr. Rube Huffman left for Pontotoc Saturday and will return Tuesday.

Mr. Homer Pence and Miss Agnes Baird went to Live Oak Sunday.

Mrs. M. B. Phillips was the guest of Mrs. Henry Davis Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Priddy were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kiser Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Amos Campbell and Miss Lillian Crump went to church at Live Oak Sunday.

The singing at Mr. J. E. Campbell's was enjoyed by all. I will ring off for this time.

EAST BRADY.

Brady, Texas, Nov. 12.
Editor Brady Standard:

Well, here I am again with the news of East Brady.

The people in this part of town have very good health; not much sickness here.

Mr. and Mrs. Case and son and Miss Nola Tindel made a flying trip to Fife Sunday and reported a nice time. Had their lunch along.

Miss Sadie Nix is on the sick list this week.

Mr. K. S. Davison was in town Monday on business.

Mr. J. F. Tindel left Tuesday for Oklahoma looking for a location.

Mr. Neal Davison of Comanche passed through Brady Thursday on his way to Whiteland on business.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.

Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble. My husband asked me to try Cardul. I felt better after the first bottle, and now, I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."

If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardul.

Cardul is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution.

For more than fifty years, it has been used by women of all ages, with great success. Try it. Ye—drugist sells it.

S. F. EDUCATIONAL TRAIN

IN BRADY DEC. 2nd FOR TWO HOURS.

Interesting Exhibits—Talks by Experts on Good Chickens, Hogs and Dairy Cows.

Perhaps never has there been a time when greater efforts were put forward to promote the welfare of the farmer, the poultry and the stock raiser. The U. S. government is spending immense sums of money for this purpose; every live commercial organization in every city is devoting much time in the interest of these three classes, and the big railway systems are seconding the efforts of both the government and the citizens in no small way.

We call special attention to the advertisement of the Santa Fe Poultry, Hog and Dairy Educational train, appearing elsewhere in this issue. This train

Mr. J. H. Allen came in after his sister, Miss Evie, who has been visiting in Brady the past week.

Mrs. McLeod and son, Mr. Albert McNatt, of San Saba are the guests of her daughter, Mrs. R. A. Brown.

Mrs. A. E. Taylor and daughter, Miss Lena, were in town Thursday on business.

Mr. Bruce Wren was in town Wednesday on business.

A jolly crowd enjoyed themselves last Saturday night at the party at Mr. R. A. Brown's. It was given in honor of Mr. Albert McNatt of San Saba.

Messrs. Robert and Roy Daisay and Bud and Roy Young of near Calf Creek enjoyed the party Saturday night. Come again, boys.

Mr. Rudolph Bost was in Brady Saturday on business.

Mr. Arthur Hall of Staey passed through Brady Saturday on his way to Pontotoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Si Proctor are moving down near Voca.

Mr. Hillary Tindel is suffering the pains of a spider bite on his hand, but is much better at this report. THE BABE.

Flagged Train With Shirt.

Tearing his shirt from his back an Ohio man flagged a train and saved it from wreck, but H. T. Alston, Raleigh, N. C., once prevented a wreck with Electric Bitters. "I was in a terrible plight when I began to use them," he writes, "my stomach, head, back and kidneys were all badly affected and my liver was in bad condition, but four bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." A trial will convince you of their matchless merit for stomach, liver or kidney trouble. Price 50c at Jones Drug Co.

is an innovation on the Texas lines, but wherever it has appeared it has been accorded a rousing reception. The up-to-date farmer and stockman has long since come to realize that these educational efforts were not merely for the benefit of the cities and city dwellers, but were helping him as well, and placing his calling upon the highest plane. He realizes that the interests of the city and the country are mutual; that the prosperity of the one is dependent almost entirely upon the other. The more prosperous the country, the better the city; the better the city, the better market for the farmer and stockman.

As stated in the ad, experts will give lectures showing why it is to your interest to raise more and better stock, and how to obtain better prices and larger profits. Concerning these experts, we quote from the letter of R. J. Kennedy, colonization agent of the Santa Fe, as follows:

"Mr. H. E. Singleton of McKinney, who is one of the best known hog men in the state, will have charge of the hog car and give the talk on hogs. Mr. H. M. Bainer, who is in charge of the demonstration work in Northwest Texas for the Santa Fe and who is a practical and experienced dairy man, will handle the dairy subject and Mr. L. L. Johnson of Amarillo, a practical poultry man, will have charge of the poultry department and be assisted by Mr. E. C. McCray of Silsbee.

"We will have a six-car train; four cars to be devoted to exhibit purposes, one car for poultry and poultry appliances, one for dairy cows and dairy appliances and the third for hogs and hog appliances; and flat car with model silo, also lectures will be given from flat car and cattle will be led onto it to illustrate lectures. I am satisfied that both the talks and exhibits will be valuable and interesting to your farmers as the men in charge of each department are practical men who have made a thorough study of their subjects and have also had years of actual experience."

Do not forget that the train will be here Monday, Dec. 2nd, from 11:40 a. m. to 1:40 p. m., and arrange to be present and profit by the lectures and exhibits so generously offered by the Santa Fe.

Irregular bowel movements lead to chronic constipation and a constipated habit fills the system with impurities. HERBINE is a great bowel regulator. It purifies the system, vitalizes the blood and puts the digestive organs in fine vigorous condition. Price 50c. Sold by Central Drug Store.

HONOR HIS MEMORY.

Knapp Agricultural Day November 27th.

The 148,000 teachers and the 7,000,000 pupils of the South are being urged by their educational and agricultural leaders to assemble 3,000,000 farmers, their families and friends, in the 89,000 school houses on November 27th for an hour, in order to survey and review their agricultural resources and achievements, and to express their appreciation of the services of one of their great benefactors. Agriculture is worthy of this consideration, for the farmers of the nation have this year produced ten billion dollars worth of crops to feed and clothe the nearly 100,000,000 people here, with a surplus for other nations.

Knapp Agricultural Day is the official designation. The South wishes to honor the memory of Dr. S. A. Knapp as the founder of the Demonstration Work and the Boys' and Girls' clubs. This is fitting, because 100,000 demonstrators are making larger crops on their farms and Corn Club boys are attracting world-wide attention by growing more than 225 bushels on one acre at low cost. The indications are that several of the 75,000 boys will this year break all records. It is fitting because 25,000 girls, in the harvest season, are filling pantries with wholesome food and selling the surplus. It is a duty, because Dr. Knapp taught a new method in agriculture and the lessons must be more widely impressed and unflinchingly transmitted. Representatives of England, Russia, Brazil, South Africa, Siam and Argentina have come to learn them. It is high time for American schools to take the lead in these ideas.

There is to be a Knapp school and a Knapp farm near Nashville and in connection with Peabody college. When $15,000 is collected for the farm and school building, $250,000 will be added for endowment of the School of Country Life by the General Education Board. No other such institution exists. It will start out with the purpose of reaching and helping every school and farm in the South. This institution will be a laboratory a clearing house and an assembling place for agricultural and educational workers. Eventually, it will have demonstration schools in each state and county teaching its lessons. It will be a working, living memorial, but in a conspicuous place will also appear a life-sized statue of Dr. Knapp.

What vast possibilities loom up, if the people of the whole South will annually contemplate agricultural matters for one hour! The state and county superintendents of education are taking the lead in this movement. It will be a worthy tribute to a worthy man. The name of each contributor will be kept as a grateful record.

Suggested Program.

1. State song or "America," by school.
2. "How the Bible Teaches Agriculture," by an invited minister.
3. "What Great Poets Have Sung About the Farm," selections by class of pupils.
4. "How Dr. Knapp Prepared Himself for Great Service," by a boy.

ALABAMA MINSTRELS.

Here Monday Night, November 18th.

The E. L. Jones Alabama Minstrels, who will show in Brady Monday night, have just recently begun a tour of Texas, after a number of years of success throughout Canada and Northwest and Western United States.

The following highly complimentary press notice appeared in the San Bernardino, Cal., Daily Sun of October 22nd:

"The richest treat in the negro minstrel line given here perhaps in years, attracted a big audience to the 'Alabama Minstrels' performance at Second and E streets last night. From the moment the curtain went up until it was rung down two and a half hours later the big tent in which the show is given resounded with splendid vocal and instrumental music and dialogue, interspersed or punctuated with uproarious laughter and encores from the audience.

"This is a genuine 'down south' minstrel troupe. Every one of the forty members, men and women, are perfectly trained, and they sing some of the sweetest negro melodies imaginable. The also sing such songs as 'Silver Threads Among the Gold,' with a pathos that brings out all the beautiful expression in the selection.

"A quartette put on a 'steam caliope' to perfection. One would almost imagine the circus was coming down the street. The singers have perfect control of their voices. Interspersed with the singing are the richest of jokes which at times almost convulse the audience. Watts and Edwards are the principal comedians, but all do splendidly.

"Included in the performance is some remarkably clever wire walking and stunts by 'His Majesty, the Devil,' who does a fire eating act, which is highly clever. A trick mule also furnishes lots of amusement. All in all, the performance is fine, and for a real darkey minstrel performance it would be hard to beat. C. L. Erickson, a trained theatrical man, is manager of the minstrels."

Times Have Changed.

"When pa was young, people who had bad colds soaked their feet in hot water and took a few draughts of catnip and got well. Now they have la grippe, take quinine and feel sick all summer. Then they had sore throat, wrapped a nice piece of bacon in an old wool stocking, tied it around the neck at night and went to work next day. Now they have tonsillitis, a surgical operation and two weeks in the hospital. Then they had stomach trouble and took castor oil and recovered. Now they have appendicitis, a week in the hospital and feet perpendicular. In those days they wore underclothes. Now they wear lingerie. Then they went to the restaurant, now they go to the cafe. Then they broke a leg, now they fracture a limb. People went crazy, now they have brain storms—or bone crazy—we don't know which. Politicians then paid good hard cash for support, now they send government garden seed instead." Yes, times have changed, and we all change with the times. That's progress.—Exchange.

Pretty Home Wedding.

Mr. Ben Stone and Miss Ula Batton were united in marriage last night at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Batton, on Avenue A, with Rev. L. J. Mims officiating. The marriage was witnessed by sixty or seventy of the friends and acquaintances of the bride and groom. Upon their arrival the guests were ushered to the register by Misses Mae Stanley and Modena Whitehead. Miss Fletcher presided over the register. Afterwards the guests were scattered and Mrs. Fay Bonds Stanley sang "All for You," with Miss Davis playing the accompaniment. The last sweet note of this appropriate song had hardly died out when Miss Davis began to play Mendelssohn's wedding march and the bride and groom marched into the room and took up positions under the lovely arch, made of white chrysanthemums and ferns, with autumn leaves for a background. Immediately over the couple hung a lovely wedding bell made of large white chrysanthemums. The simple ceremony of the Baptist church was used and Dr. J. L. Mims in pleasing voice pronounced them man and wife.

Following the ceremony the guests were served with dainty refreshments and a pleasant half hour was spent before the bridal couple departed for the Coggin ranch, where they will make their home in the future. They were accompanied to the ranch by Mr. and Mrs. James R. Stone of Brady, who returned in the car.

The bride was gowned in a lovely gown of deft blue chiffon broadcloth elaborately draped, with silk beaver hat to match. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The groom wore the conventional black.

The bride threw her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Mammie McInnis, Miss Belle Fletcher and Miss Minnie Bonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone were the recipients of many lovely and useful gifts, which were displayed on the dining table.

Miss Batton is one of Brownwood's most charming and lovable young ladies, and her friends feel that Mr. Stone has indeed won a lovely prize. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Batton and has lived here most all her life. The groom is well known as a business man and ranchman in this city and county, and enjoys the esteem of the entire citizenship.

The Bulletin joins a whole host of friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Stone greatest joy and pleasure.—Brownwood Bulletin, Wednesday.

TEXAS "POSTING LAW."

Notices Unnecessary on Tracts of 2,000 Acres or Less.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 30.—According to a ruling announced today by Assistant Attorney General Funderburk, there is no such thing as a "posting law" in Texas and that where inclosures include more than 2,000 acres there is no law in force in this state making it unlawful to hunt or fish therein. On tracts under 2,000 acres the consent of the owner is necessary.

Judge Funderburk made the ruling at the request of Mat Cramer, acting county attorney of Frio county. It is as follows:

"We are in receipt of your letter of Oct. 21, in which you ask to be advised as to our opinion of the present status of the law relating to hunting and fishing on inclosed lands and the law of posting lands. Your question arises mainly on the effect, if any, of the late codification of the criminal statutes.

"In reply, I respectfully advise that, in my opinion, the 1911 codification of the criminal statutes very much simplifies the law relating to the provisions mentioned. The whole of the law on the subject named, so far as I can ascertain, is comprised in Arts. 1255 and 1256, as the latter article was amended by Chapter 50, General laws of 1911. I understand the law now to be that it is unlawful for anyone to enter upon the inclosed land of another without the consent of the owner, proprietor or agent in charge, and therein hunt with firearms, or therein catch or take any fish from any pond, lake, tank or stream, or in any other manner depredate upon the same. The penalty is not less than $10 nor more than $100. The enclosures mentioned are inclosures less than 2,000 acres, and there is no requirement that such inclosed lands be posted for the penalty to apply. This law is effective in every county in Texas except Upton county. Where inclosures include more than 2,000 acres there is no law in force in this state, in my opinion, making it unlawful to fish or hunt therein, without the consent of the owner, proprietor or agent in charge. There is no law providing for the posting of such inclosures and thereby making it unlawful to hunt or fish therein."

IT'S NO USE.

All this week we walked in the straight and narrow path, and our only reward has been that two of our citizens have declared their intention of "telling Claude Callan" on us. Tell 'im, gol dern ye, but when it comes to naming the baby don't name him after us; call him Claud or Montmorency or Adelbert or Speck or some other name that will make him want to whip you when he grows up.

From the latest gin reports, it begins to look like Brady is some cotton town good year or bad.

Owing to the fact that even the editor of the Menard Messenger is privileged to become an aspirant for the Brady postoffice, we have decided to withdraw from the race. We would rather be right than be postmaster, anyhow.

Some of our local German brethren have taken exception to our use or abuse of His Majesty, Emperor William's Muttersprache. Although we had presumed to think our German was as highbrowed as any, we are bound to admit that der Gebrauch davon war ausgezeichnet schlecht.

MASS MEETING TONIGHT.

The question to be discussed at the mass meeting to be held in the court house tonight is a momentous one. The correct solution of this question vitally concerns every man, woman and child in Brady, as well as those who have property here, or who expect at any time in the future to make their home here. Everybody wants to see Brady enjoying prosperity and growth; everyone realizes that Brady's development in the past, remarkable as it has been, has been greatly retarded through the lack of an adequate supply of water.

Brady has the water now, but lacks the means of distribution. If the proposition as agreed upon between the city council and the Brady Water & Light Co. is a good one, then it should by all means receive the hearty support of the citizens; if not, it should be rejected.

Upon this question there seems to be a wide divergence of opinion; some declare the proposition as good as the city could ask; others say it can be excelled. If the latter view be correct, the plans or the proposition should be placed before the citizens in some tangible form, or at least worked out where they may appear at least practical and not merely theoretical.

Brady's Turkey Trot is about to gobble all the turkeys, for which we give Thanksgiving.

In jubilating over the Democratic victory, Editor Cowan of the San Saba Star declares in scare type headings that "Imperial Texas, the banner state, with a quarter million Democratic majority and a big crop of gal babies, will continue to lead in Democratic victories". Rather a neat declaration for woman suffrage that, but Editor Cowan is going to be bald and toothless before those gal babies will be able to help roll up Democratic victory.

We understand that Claude Callan has blind-folded the goat, hog-tied the shoat, and with his household effects carefully packed in the carpet bag he fell heir to is prepared to march down on Brady and demand his first square meal at the Democratic pie counter. For fear Pres. Wilson may not recognize the extinguished citizen from Menard, we will state his very appearance is so democratic that he has difficulty in getting his collar on over his ears.

McCulloch county grows such a variety of products that before our farmers have run up their total cash receipts for feed and grain and cotton they have to round up some of our fine sheep and hogs and cattle to top off the market. Then they have to market their pecans, and bring in several loads of fat turkeys and chickens, and hurry back to the farm to begin another crop and raise more chickens, etc. Its no fun to farm in McCulloch, but it's a winning proposition.

Willy's Fear.

The evening callers were chatting gaily with the Kinterbys when a patter of little feet was heard from the head of the stairs. Mrs. Kinterby raised her hand warning the others to silence.

"Hush!" she said softly. "The children are going to deliver their 'good night' message. It always gives me a feeling of reverence to hear them—they are so much nearer the Creator than we are, and they speak the love that is in their little hearts never so fully as when the dark has come. Listen!"

There was a moment of tense silence. Then—

"Mamma," came the message in a shrill whisper, "Willy found a bedbug."

Resolutions of Respect.

To the officers and members of Brady Lodge No. 257 I. O. O. F.:

We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect and fraternal love in memory of our beloved brother, A. G. Walker, beg leave to submit the following:

Whereas, Death, on the 3rd day of November, 1912, invaded our ranks and took from our midst our beloved brother, therefore, be it

Resolved that the lodge has lost a true and faithful member; his wife and children a faithful and loving husband and father and his associates a loyal friend.

Resolved further, that we extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in this, their hour of bereavement.

Resolved further, that these resolutions shall be spread on the minutes of this lodge, a copy furnished the family of our deceased brother and copies furnished the Texas Odd Fellow and our local papers for publication.

Money Promptly Refunded if Dodson's Liver-Tone Fails to Take The Place of Calomel.

The Jones Drug Co. sells Dodson's Liver-Tone as a perfect substitute for calomel. If you try one bottle and find that it is not just as sure in its action as calomel and at the same time gentler and without the bad after-effects of calomel, please call and get your money back. It will be given you promptly. Dodson's Liver-Tone is a vegetable liquid with a pleasant taste, that lives up the liver mildly, but surely, instead of whipping it in to action as the strong chemical, calomel, does. It is used by both children and grown-ups for constipation and inactive liver.

That is why the Jones Drug Co. is willing to guarantee it absolutely, not with another bottle, but with your money back. Isn't a medicine with a guarantee like this worth a trial?

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Lieut. Harry Mallory is ordered to the Philippines. He and Marjorie Newton decide to elope, but wreck of taxicab prevents their seeing minister on the way to the train.

CHAPTER II.—Transcontinental train is taking on passengers. Porter has a lively time with an Englishman and Ira Lathrop, a Yankee business man.

CHAPTER III.—The elopers have an exciting time getting to the train.

CHAPTER IV.—"Little Jimmie" Wellington, bound for Reno to get a divorce, boards train in maulin condition. Later Mrs. Jimmie appears.

CHAPTER V.—She is also bound for Reno with same object. Likewise Mrs. Sammy Whitcomb.

CHAPTER VI.—Latter blames Mrs. Jimmie for her marital troubles. Classmates of Mallory decorate bridal berth.

CHAPTER VII.—Rev. and Mrs. Temple start on a vacation. They decide to cut loose and Temple removes evidence of his calling.

CHAPTER VIII.—Marjorie decides to let Mallory proceed alone, but train starts while they are lost in farewell.

CHAPTER IX.—Passengers join Mallory's classmates in giving couple wedding hazing.

CHAPTER X.—Marjorie is distracted over their situation.

CHAPTER XI.—Ira Lathrop, woman-hating bachelor, discovers an old sweetheart, Anne Gattie, a fellow passenger.

CHAPTER XII.—Mallory vainly hunts for a preacher among the passengers.

CHAPTER XIII.—Mrs. Wellington hears Little Jimmie's voice. Later she meets Mrs. Whitcomb.

CHAPTER XIV.—Mallory reports to Marjorie his failure to find a preacher.

CHAPTER XV.—They decide to pretend a quarrel and Mallory finds a vacant berth.

CHAPTER XVI.—Mrs. Jimmie discovers an unsuccessful hunt for a preacher.

CHAPTER XVII.—Mallory again makes an unsuccessful hunt for a preacher.

CHAPTER XVIII.—Dr. Temple poses as a physician. Mrs. Temple is induced by Mrs. Wellington to smoke a cigar.

CHAPTER XIX.—Sight of preacher on station platform raises Mallory's hopes, but he takes another train.

CHAPTER XX.—Missing hand baggage compels the couple to borrow from passengers.

CHAPTER XXI.—Jimmie gets a cinder in his eye and Mrs. Jimmie gives first-aid. Coiffure is then resumed.

She had grown indifferent to stars and audible comment and she could fight a protesting head waiter to a standstill. If monuments and tablets are ever erected to the first woman who smoked publicly in this place or that, Mrs. Jimmie Wellington will be variously remembered and occupy a large place in historical record.

The narrow confines of the women's room on the sleeping car soon palled on her, and she objected to smoking there except when she felt the added luxury of keeping some other woman outside—tuming, but not smoking. And now Mrs. Jimmie had staked out a claim on the observation platform. She sat there, puffing like a major-general, and in one portion of Nebraska two farmers fell off their agricultural vehicles at the sight of her cigar-smoke trailing after the train. In Wyoming three cowboys followed her for a mile, yipping and howling their compliments.

Feeling the smoke mood coming on, Mrs. Wellington invited Mrs. Temple to smoke with her, but Mrs. Temple felt a reminiscent qualm at the very thought, so Mrs. Jimmie sauntered out alone, to the great surprise of Ira Lathrop, whose motto was, "Two heads are better than one," and who was apparently willing to wait till Anne Gattie's head grew on his shoulder.

"I trust I don't intrude," Mrs. Wellington said.

"Oh, no. Oh, yes." Anne gasped in sery confusion as she fled into the car, followed by the purple-faced Ira, who slammed the door with a growl: "That Wellington woman would break up anything."

The prim little missionary toppled into the nearest chair: "Oh, Ira, what will she think?"

"She can't think!" Ira grumbled. "In a little while she'll know."

"Don't you think we'd better tell everybody before they begin to talk?" Ira glowed with pride at the thought and murmured with all the ardor of a senile Romeo: "I suppose so, ducky darling. I'll break it—I mean I'll tell it to the men, and you tell the women."

"All right, dear, I'll obey you," she answered, meekly.

"Obey me!" Ira laughed with boyish swagger. "And you a missionary!"

"Well, I've converted one heathen, anyway," said Anne as she darted down the corridor, followed by Ira, who announced his intention to "go to the baggage car and dig up his old Prince Albert."

In their flight forward they passed the mysterious woman in the state-room. They were too full of their own mystery to give thought to hers.

nel, thought to carry favor and a quarter by announcing its approach. He hustled in and made straight for Ashton just as the tunnel announced itself with a sudden swoop of gloom, a great increase of the train-noises and a far-off clang of the locomotive bell.

Out of the Egyptian darkness came the unmistakable sounds of osculation in various parts of the room. Doubtless, it was repeated in other parts of the train. There were numerous cooing sounds, too, but nobody spoke except Mrs. Temple, who was heard to murmur:

"Oh, Walter, dear, what makes your breath so funny?"

Next came a little yowl of pain in Mrs. Fosdick's voice, and then daylight flooded the car with a rush, as if time had made an instant leap from midnight to noon. There were interesting disclosures.

Mrs. Temple was caught with her arms round the doctor's neck, and she blushed like a spoony girl. Mrs. Fosdick was trying to disengage her hair from Mr. Fosdick's scarf-pin. Mrs. Whitcomb alone was deserted. Mr. Ashton was gazing devotion at Mrs. Wellington and trying to tell her with his eyes how velvet he had found her cheek.

But she was looking reproachfully at him from a chair, and saying, not without regret:

"I heard everybody kissing everybody, but I was cruelly neglected."

Ashton's eyes widened with unbelief, he heard a snicker at his elbow, and whirled to find the porter rubbing his black velvet cheek and writhing with pent-up laughter.

Mrs. Wellington glanced the same way, and a shriek of understanding burst from her. It sent the porter into a spasm of yah-yahs till he caught Ashton's eyes and saw murder in them. The porter fled to the platform and held the door fast, expecting to be lynched.

But Ashton dashed away in search of concealment and soap.

The porter remained on the platform for some time, planning to leap overboard and take his chances rather than fall into Ashton's hands, but at length, finding himself unpursued, he peered into the car and, seeing that Ashton had gone, he returned to his duties. He kept a close watch on Ashton, but on soberer thoughts Ashton had decided that the incident would best be consigned to silence and oblivion. But for all the rest of that day he kept rubbing his lips with his handkerchief.

The porter, noting that the train had swept into a granite gorge like an enormously magnified aisle in a made-up sleeping car, recognized the presence of Echo Canyon, and with it the entrance into Utah. He hastened to impart the tidings to Mr. Fosdick and held out his hand as he extended the information.

Fosdick could hardly believe that his twelve-hundred-mile exile was over.

"We're in Utah!" he exclaimed.

"Yassah," and the porter shoved his palm into view. Fosdick filled it with all his loose change, then whirled to his wife and cried:

"Edith! We are in Utah now! Embrace me!"

She flung herself into his arms with a gurgle of bliss. The other passengers gasped with amazement. This sort of thing was permissible enough in a tunnel, but in the full light of day—!

Fosdick, noting the sensation he had created, waved his hand reassuringly and called across his wife's shoulder:

"Don't be alarmed, ladies and gentlemen. She's my wife!" He added in a whisper meant for her ear alone: "At least till we get to Nevada!"

Then she whispered something in his ear and they hurried from the car. They left behind them a bewildered Mallorie. That couple spoke to each other at least during the day time. Here was a married pair that did not speak at all for two days and two nights and then made a sudden and public rush to each other's arms!

Dr. Temple summed up the general feeling when he said:

"I don't believe in witches, but if I did, I'd believe that this train is bewitched."

Later he decided that Fosdick was a Mormon elder and that Mrs. Fosdick was probably a twelfth or thirteenth spouse he was smuggling in from the east. The theory was not entirely false, for Fosdick was one of the many victims of the crazy-quilt of American divorce codes, though he was the most unwilling of polygamists. And Dr. Temple gave up his theory in despair the next morning when he found the Fosdicks still on the train, and once more keeping aloof from each other.

CHAPTER XXV.

The Train Butcher. Mallory was dragging out a miserable existence with a companion who was neither maid, wife, nor widow and to whom he was neither bachelor, husband, nor relict.

They were suffering brain-fag from their one topic of conversation, and heart-fag from rapture deferred. Marjorie had pretended to take a nap and Mallory had pretended that he would leave her for her own sake. Their contradictory chains were beginning to gall.

Mallory sat in the smoking room, and threw aside a half-finished cigar. Life was indeed nauseous when tobacco turned rank on his lips. He watched without interest the stupendous scenery whirling past the train; granite ravines, infernal grotesques of architecture and diabolical, the Giant's Teapot, the Devil's Slide, the Pulpit Rock, the Hanging Rock, splashes of mineral color, as if titanic paint pots had been spilled or flung against the cliffs, sudden bushes of green pine-woods, dreary graveyards of sand and sagebrush, mountain streams in frothing panics.

His jaded soul could not respond to any of these thrillers, the dime-novels and melodramatic third acts of nature. But with the arrival of a train-boy, who had got on at Evanston with a batch of Salt Lake City newspapers, he woke a little.

The other men came trooping round like sheep at a herd-boy's whistle or chickens when a pan of grain is brought into the yard. The train "butcher" had a nasal sing-song, but his strain might have been the Pied Piper's tune emptying Hamelin of its grown-ups. The charms of flirtation, matrimonial bliss and feminine beauty were forgotten, and the males flocked to the delights of stock-market reports, political or racing or dramatic or sporting or criminal news. Even Ashton braved the eyes of his fellow men for the luxury of burying his nose in a fresh paper.

"Papers, gents? Yes? No?" the train butcher chanted. "Salt Lake papers, Ogden papers, all the latest papers, comic papers, magazines, periodicals."

"Here, boy," said Ashton, snapping his fingers, "what's the latest New York paper?"

"Last Sat'day's."

"Six days old? I read that before I left New York. Well, give me that Salt Lake paper. It has yesterday's stock market, I suppose."

"Yes, sir." He passed over the sheet and made change, without abating his monody: "Papers, gents. Yes? No? Salt Lake pa—"

"Whash latest from Chicago?" said Wellington.

"Monday's."

"I read that before—that breakfast began," laughed Little Jimmie. "Well, give me Salt Lake Bazaar. It has baseball news, I s'pose."

"Yes, sir," the butcher answered, and his tone grew reverent as he said: "The Giants won. Mr. Mattyson was pitching. Papers, gents, all the latest papers, magazines, periodicals."

Wedgewood extended a languid hand: "What's the latest issue of the London Times?"

"Never heard of it."

Wedgewood almost fainted, and returned to his Baedeker of the United States.

Dr. Temple summoned the lad: "I don't suppose you have the Ypsilanti Eagle?"

The butcher regarded him with pity, and sniffed: "I carry newspapers, not poultry."

"Well, give me the—" he saw a pink weekly of rather picturesque appearance, and the adventure attracted him. "I'll take this—also the Outlook." He folded the pink within the green, and entered into a new and startling world—a sort of journalistic slumming tour.

"Give me any old thing," said Mallory, and flung open an Ogden Journal till he found the sporting page, where his eyes brightened. "By jove, a ten-inning game! Matthewson in the box!"

"Mallory is most intellectual pitcher in the world," said Little Jimmie, and then everybody disappeared behind paper ramparts, while the butcher lingered to explain to the porter the details of the great event.

About this time, Marjorie, tired of her pretence at slumber, strolled into the observation car, glancing into the men's room, where she saw nothing but newspapers. Then Mrs. Wellington saw her, and smiled: "Come in and make yourself at home."

"Thanks," said Marjorie, bashfully, "I was looking for my—my—"

"Husband?"

"My dog."

"How is he this morning?"

"My dog?"

"Your husband?"

"Oh, he's as well as could be expected."

"Where did you get that love of a waist?" Mrs. Wellington laughed.

"Mrs. Temple lent it to me. Isn't it sweet?"

"Exquisite! The latest Ypsilanti mode."

Marjorie, suffering almost more acutely from being badly frocked than from being duped in her matrimonial hopes, threw herself on Mrs. Wellington's mercy.

"I'm so unhappy in this. Couldn't you lend me or sell me something a little smarter?"

"I'd love to, my dear," said Mrs. Wellington, "but I left home on short notice myself. I shall need all my divorce tressure in Reno. Otherwise—I—but here's your husband. You two ought to have some whole room to spon. I'll leave you this place room."

And she swept out, nodding to Mallory, who had divined Marjorie's presence, and felt the need of being near her, though he also felt the need of finishing the story of the great ball game. Husbandlike, he felt that he was conferring sufficient courtesy in throwing a casual smile across the top of the paper.

Marjorie studied his motley garb, and her own, and groaned:

"We're a sweet looking pair, aren't we?"

"Mr. and Miss Pitt," said Mallory, from behind the paper.

"Oh, Harry, has your love grown cold?" she pleaded.

"Marjorie, how can you think such a thing?" still from behind the paper.

"Well, Mrs. Wellington said we ought to have some place to spon, and she went away and left us, and—there you stand—and—"

This pierced even the baseball news, and he threw his arms around her with glow of devotion.

She snuggled closer, and cooed:

"Aren't we having a nice long engagement? We've traveled a million miles, and the preacher isn't in sight yet. What have you been reading—wedding announcements?"

"No—I was reading about the most wonderful exhibition. Mattie was in the box—and in perfect form."

"Mattie!" Marjorie gasped uneasily.

"Mattie!" he raved, "and in perfect form."

And now the hidden serpent of jealousy, which promised to enliven their future, lifted its head for the first time, and Mallory caught his first glimpse of an unsuspected member of their household. Marjorie demanded with an ominous chill:

"And who's Mattie? Some former sweetheart of yours?"

"My dear," laughed Mallory.

But Marjorie was up and away, with apt temper: "So Mattie was in the box, was she? What is it to you, where she sits? You dare to read about her and rave over her perfect form, while you neglect your wife—or your—oh, what am I, anyway?"

Mallory stared at her in amazement. He was beginning to learn what ignorant heathen women are concerning so many of the gods and demi-gods of mankind. Then, with a tenderness he might not always show, he threw the paper down and took her in his arms: "You poor child. Mattie is a man—a pitcher—and you're the only woman I ever loved—and you are liable to be my wife any minute."

The explanation was sufficient, and she crawled into the shelter of his arm with little noises that served for apology, forgiveness and reconciliation. Then he made the mistake of mentioning the sickening topic of deferred hope:

"A minister's sure to get on at the next stop—or the next."

Marjorie's nerves were frayed by too much enduring, and it took only a word to set them jangling: "If you say minister to me again, I'll scream." Then she tried to control herself with a polite: "Where is the next stop?"

"Ogden."

"Where's that? On the map?"

"Well, it's in Utah."

"Utah!" she groaned. "They marry by wholesale there, and we can't even get a sample."

CHAPTER XXV.

The Train Wrecker. The train-butcher, entering the Observation Room, found only a loving couple. He took in at a glance their desire for solitude. A large part of his business was the forcing of wares on people who did not want them.

His voice and his method suggested the mosquito. Seeing Mallory and Marjorie mutually absorbed in reading each other's eyes, and evidently in need of nothing on earth less than something else to read, the train-butcher decided that his best plan of attack was to make himself a nuisance. It is a plan successfully adopted by organ-grinders, street pianists and other blackmailers under the guise of art, who have nothing so welcome to sell as their absence.

Mallory and Marjorie heard the train-boy's hum, but they tried to ignore it.

"Papers, gents and ladies? Yes? No? Paris fashions, lady?"

He shoved a large periodical between their very noses, but Marjorie threw it on the floor, with a bitter glance at her own borrowed plumage:

"Don't show me any Paris fashions!" Then she gave the boy his conge by resuming her chat with Mallory: "How long do we stop at Ogden?"

The train-boy went right on auctioning his papers and magazines, and poking them into the laps of his prey. And they went right on talking to one another and pushing his papers and magazines to the floor.

"I think I'd better get off at Ogden, and take the next train back. That's just what I'll do. Nothing, thank you!" this last to the train-boy.

"But you can't leave me like this," Mallory urged excitedly, with a side glance of "No, no!" to the train-boy.

"I can, and I must, and I will," Marjorie insisted. "I'll go pack my things now."

"But, Marjorie, listen to me."

"Will you let me alone!" This to the gaffly, but to Mallory a dejected wail: "I—I just remembered. I haven't anything to pack."

"And you'll have to give back that waist to Mrs. Temple. You can't get off at Ogden without a waist."

"I'll go anyway. I want to get home."

"Marjorie, if you talk that way—I'll throw you off the train!"

She gasped. He explained: "I wasn't talking to you; I was trying to stop this phonograph." Then he rose, and laid violent hands on the annoy, shoved him to the corridor, seized his bundle of papers from his arm, and hurried them at his head. They fell in a shower about the train-butcher, who could only feel a certain respect for the one man who had ever treated him as he knew he deserved. He bent to pick up his scattered merchandise, and when he had gathered his stock together, put his head in, and sang out a sincere:

"Excuse me."

But Mallory did not hear him, he was excitedly trying to calm the excited girl, who, having eloped with him, was preparing now to elope back without him.

"Darling, you can't desert me now," he pleaded, "and leave me to go on sions!"

ABNEY & VINCENT

BRADY, TEXAS :: :: SOUTH SIDE SQUARE

Miss Annie Estella Bradley, Editor; Phone 179

Complimentary Event.

Complimenting Miss Tassie Gohlman of Houston, Miss Harriet Cook entertained on Thursday evening in her apartments at the Queen hotel.

Cards were played until a late hour, when a delicious course luncheon was served. Covers were laid for the following: Misses Gohlman, Rosa Stallings, Chase Crothers, Harriet Cook; Messrs. Howard Ogden, Herbert Wood, Jamie Brook, N. H. Hardin and H. N. Cook.

Card Party.

Mrs. John McKnight successfully entertained Friday afternoon with cards at her pretty home.

The enthusiasm of the game ran high throughout the afternoon.

Refreshments consisting of a well-planned salad course were served to four tables of players.

The party included Mesdames Anderson, Nussbaum, Graham, Wallace, Davidson, Crothers, Donnell, G. R. White, Henderson, Hughes, Moffatt, Stone, Gansel, Misses White, Macy and Souther.

Afternoon Tea.

Mrs. S. S. Graham entertained Wednesday afternoon with a tea, complimentary to Mrs. Will Harris of Broadmoor and her sister, Mrs. Barclay, of St. Louis who is spending the winter with her.

Those present for the afternoon, other than the honor guests, were Mesdames G. R. White, F. W. Henderson, George Gansel, W. D. Crothers, Willie White, M. E. Turner, Laura White, William Davidson, Frank Hardin of Big Springs and Joe White.

Club Reorganized.

On Wednesday of last week Mrs. C. D. Allen entertained and reorganized the "42" club of last winter.

Decorations of roses and geraniums gave added beauty to the reception rooms.

A salad course of refreshments was served to four tables of players.

The guests were Mesdames Turner, Moffatt, McCall, McKnight, Benham, Stone, Mann, White, Wall, Donnell, Camp, Yearly, Shropshire, Matthews, Wilhelm and Miss Mary Anderson.

Souther-Orlopp.

Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Souther, Miss Olive Souther and Mr. P. T. Orlopp were united in marriage. Rev. Hardison, pastor of the Christian church, read the ceremony. Only the immediate family was present, and after words of congratulations were extended, the bride and groom left for Dallas, where they will make their home until after the holidays.

The bride wore a traveling suit of grey, which was most becoming to her particular style of beauty.

Mrs. Boyd Entertains. Mrs. C. Boyd was hostess on Monday afternoon to a very pleasant party at her home from 3:00 to 5:30 o'clock. Pleasant conversation and music were the diversions of the afternoon.

During the time a refreshing salad course with accompanying dainties was served in the dining room. Tall vases of chrysanthemums and roses lent their fragrance and beauty to the parlor and dining room.

Those accepting of Mrs. Boyd's hospitality were Mesdames W. W. Spiller, John Griffin, Aug. Keller, John Tulk, M. E. McCann, C. H. Bradley, Ben Granville, Carl Steffins, J. P. Jones and Miss Estella Bradley.

Pleasant Afternoon.

Miss Minnie Elliot charmingly entertained the Beau-Nots with "42" at her home on Wednesday afternoon. Five tables of players participated in several enthusiastic games. Card-board bow knots were used as score cards, and as each tally was won an additional bow of yellow satin ribbon was linked to the score card.

Dainty refreshments of bread and butter sandwiches, fruit salad, olives, divinity candy and hot coffee were served. The dining room was decorated in autumn colors. The table was laid in an elaborate hand embroidered cover, in the center of which sat an evergreen, surrounded by banks of autumn leaves and red apples.

The club will meet on Wednesday with Miss Nettie Lou Morrow.

The invited guests were Misses Julia Lyle, Ima Carroll and Eva Broad of Fort Worth.

COMMISSIONERS COURT.

Election Returns Canvassed—Other Transactions.

Commissioners court has been in regular session this week.

The court ordered the payment of warrants for road work in Road District No. 1, also the payment of scalp warrants. A number of accounts were allowed.

The court also leased to E. B. Ramsay the road engine belonging to Road District No. 1 for a period of twenty-one days for the sum of $50.

W. F. Roberts, Jr., was appointed to fill the vacancy in the Justice of the Peace office in Precinct No. 4.

Quarterly reports of S. A. Newton, J. P. Prec. No. 4, and N. G. Lyle, J. P. Prec. No. 1 were examined and approved.

Monthly reports of P. A. Campbell, district clerk, and John Rainbolt, county treasurer, were examined and approved.

The election returns were canvassed and the bonds of the officers for the next two years were received.

G. B. Awalt, the newly elected county commissioner for Precinct No. 2, will probably qualify today. Henry Miller, who was elected commissioner in Precinct No. 1, has been serving in that capacity since his appointment a few months ago following the resignation of Commissioner Williams.

MORE CROSSINGS.
 South Side Property Owners Evidence Civic Pride.
 The property owners and tenants in the block from the Brady National bank to Goldwasser's are not lacking one whit in civic pride, and just to show that they are in line with every good move in Brady, they have this week contracted the building of two concrete street crossings, one from Goldwasser's corner east to Conley Mercantile corner and the other from the Brady National bank north to the Jones Drug Co. Both crossings will be seven feet wide, with sloping approaches for teams and vehicles, thereby affording a pleasant passage for pedestrians in muddy or rainy weather.

NEARING 3500 MARK.
Brady Gin Receipts Exceed Greatest Expectations.
 The Brady gins are still running daily, and will probably continue so for another week, even though the end was thought to be in sight several weeks ago. Nearly every farmer bringing in seed cotton, however, states that it is the last of his crop.
 The way cotton has been coming has been a surprise to the ginner, who thought the 3,000 mark would cover all that Brady ginned this year, and the fact that the receipts are already very near a half thousand beyond this mark is extremely gratifying to them. The falling short of the estimate is ascribed to the fact that nearly all of the farmers made more cotton than they anticipated, some of them making twice as much. One farmer who expected to make nine bales, made eighteen; another who estimated his crop at twenty-two bales, has already ginned thirty-eight, and many others have made like showings.
 The following is the report of the gins last night:

Porto Rico's New Wonder.
 From faraway Porto Rico come reports of a wonderful new discovery that is believed will vastly benefit the people. Ramon T. Marchan of Barceloneta writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is doing splendid work here. It cured me about five times of terrible coughs and colds, also my brother of a severe cold in his chest and more than twenty others who used it on my advice. We hope this great medicine will yet be sold in every drug store in Porto Rico." For throat and lung troubles it has no equal. A trial will convince you of its merits. Guaranteed by Jones Drug Co.

THE BEST PROOF.
 Brady Citizens Cannot Doubt It. Doan's Kidney Pills were used—They brought benefit. The story was told to Brady residents. Time has strengthened the evidence. Has proven the result lasting. The testimony is from this locality. The proof convincing. Mrs. Mollie Pierce, Brownwood, Texas, says: "Since I used Doan's Kidney Pills, I have had no return attacks of kidney trouble and I willingly confirm my former statement. You may continue its publication. For nearly a year I endured torture. The physicians did not know what ailed me and said that I would have to undergo an operation. I came to Brownwood for that purpose, but the change made me feel better and I put off the operation. Finally I got to feeling bad again and suffered from intense pains across my back. I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and sent for a box. The third day after I began using them, I passed three gravel stones with great agony. I have been feeling good since then and I am sure that Doan's Kidney Pills will do as much for others." For sale by all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

OFFICIAL WARNING.
Health Officer Advises That All Towns be Made Sanitary.
 Austin, Texas.—Not unmindful of the meningitis epidemic through which Texas went during the fall months of last year and the earlier months of this year, State Health Officer Steiner has issued to every city and county health officer a warning. He notes that with the colder months the disease may recur this year. He urges that the towns be placed in first-class condition, that if meningitis cases appear they be isolated together with all persons exposed, etc. His warning is given in the following letter:
 "From the history of the disease, there is a possibility of the reappearance of epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis in Texas during the colder months.
 "The disease is a contagious and infectious one, but to the bacillus intracellularis or meningococcus, infection being conveyed by contact with the sick and by carriers. There are approximately ten otherwise healthy carriers to every case of meningitis.
 "To control the disease it is necessary to isolate and quarantine not only the individual cases, but direct contacts and those contacts who are shown by microscopical examination to have become carriers. Cases should be centralized, if possible, and kept in quarantine until bacteriological examination of cultures made from the nose and throat secretions are negative. Carriers should be kept in quarantine until microscopical examinations made every two or four days of cultures prove negative. Direct examinations of the nose and throat secretions are unsatisfactory. In suspected cases microscopical examination of the spinal fluid is advised.
 "The State Bacteriologist will examine, free of cost, all cultures sent to this department. The following procedure is suggested by Dr. Henry Hartman, State Bacteriologist:
 "In collecting material from nose and throat to be examined for the presence of meningococci use a hyphtheria swab, inoculate Loeffler's blood serum tubes kept at body temperature, immediately after material has been collected, and incubate at once. Examine smears for Gram negative diplococci. If such are found inoculate several tubes of blood serum to isolate colonies. Send tubes with isolated colonies to the laboratory."
 "Antiseptic nose sprays and throat applications are probably of some prophylactic value. From experiments made by Sophian during the recent epidemic and from analogy, it is probable anti-meningitis vaccine will give active immunity. Vaccine with free directions will be furnished by the State Health Department at actual cost, that is, 20 cents per dose. The Health Department will also make every effort to keep on hand a full supply of anti-meningitis serum, which will be distributed at cost.
 "I would urge upon you not only to carry out the above measures, but immediately place your city or town in first-class sanitary condition."
 When you have a bad cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to cure it with as little delay as possible. Here is a druggist's opinion: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for fifteen years," says Enos Lollar of Saratoga, Ind., "and consider it the best on the market." For sale by all dealers.
