Some Brady People Have Learned That Neglect Is Dangerous.

That Neglect is Dangerous.

The slightest symptom of kidney trouble is far too serious to be overlooked. It's the small, neglected troubles that so often lead to serious kidney ailments. That pain in the "small" of your back; that urinary irregularity; those headaches and dizzy spells; that weak, weary, wornout feeling, may be nature's warning of kidney weakness. Why risk your life by neglecting these symptoms? Reach the cause of the trouble while there yet is time—begin treatwhile there yet is time—begin treating your kidneys at once with a tried and proven kidney remedy. No need to experiment—Doan's Kidney Pills have been successfully used in thousands of cases of kidney trouble for over 50 years. They had not had their breakfast, but they forgot it. A dusky waiter went by chanting his "Lass call for breakfuss in Rining Rar." He chanted it thrice in their ears, but they never heard. Marjorie was gloating over the discomfiture of the odious creature who had dared to precede her in the acquaintance of her hus-band-to-be. The husband-to-be was miserably wishing that he had to face a tribe of bolo-brandishing Moros, inead of this trivial girl whom he had Wagon and wood oked upon when her cheeks were Broad Mercantile Co.

CHAPTER XXXV.

Mr. and Mrs. Little Jimmle. Mrs. Sammy Whitcomb had longed for the sweet privilege of squaring matters with Mrs. Jimmie Wellington. Sneers and back-biting, shrugs and shudders of contempt were poor com pensation for the ever-vivid fact that Mrs. Wellington had proved attractive to her Sammy while Mrs. Welling-ton's Jimmle never looked at Mrs. Whitcomb. Or if he did, his eyes had been so blurred that he had seen two of her-and avoided both.

Yesterday she had overheard Jimmie vow sobriety. Today his shining morning face showed that he had kept his word. She could hardly wait to begin the flirtation which, she trusted, would render Mrs. Wellington helplessly furious for six long Reno

The Divorce Drummer interposed and held Jimmie prisoner for a time, but as soon as Mr. Baumann released him, Mrs. Whiteomb apprehended him. With a smile that beckoned and

She reeled him in and he plounced in the seat opposite. What she took for bashfulness was reluctance. To add the last charm to her success, Mrs. Wellington arrived to see it. Mrs. Whitcomb saw the lonely Ashton rise and offer her the seat facing him. Mrs. Wellington took it and sat down with the back of her head so close to the back of Mr. Wellington's head

Jimmie Wellington had seen his wife pass by. To his sober eyes she was a fine sight as she moved up the In his alcohol-emancipated aisle. CHAPTER VII.—Rev. and Mrs. Temple art on a vacation. They decide to cut case and Temple removes evidence of his dured that had driven him forth to Reno began to lose its edge. His own soul appealed from Jimmie drunk to Jimmie sober. The appellate judge began to reverse the lower court's decision, point by point.

He felt a sudden recrudescence of jealousy as he heard Ashton's voice unctuously, flirtatiously offering his wife hospitality. He wanted to trounce Ashton. But what right had he to defend from gallantry the woman he was about to forswear before the world? Jimmie's soul was in turmoil and Mrs. Whitcomb's pretty face and alluring smile only annoyed him.

She had made several gracious speeches before he quite comprehend ed any of them. Then he realized that she was saying. "I'm so glad you're going to stop at Reno, Mr. Well-

"Thank you. So am I," he mumbled, trying to look interested and wishing that his wife's plume would not tickle his neck.

Mrs. Whitcomb went on, leaning closer: We two poor mistreated wratches must try to console one another, musn't we?" "Yes,-yes,-we must," Wellington nodded, with a sickly cheer. Mrs. Whitcomb leaned a little closer. "Do you know that I feel almost related to you, Mr. Wellington?" "Related?" he echoed, "you?-to

We have some reason to rejoice over our victory for the retention of our present tariff rates. Last Friday the Inter-state Commerce Commission handed down the final decision in this case and secured to us common justice. The chapter is at an end at last, after a prolonged fight, and I may add a very expensive one. The first trial we secured before the Commission was at Dallas, the next at St. Louis and the last at Washington, D. C. several weeks

In the decision made last lay the I. C. C. stated that under the circumstances and with what data they had had given them by the commercial bodies in this section of the state, that it would be unjust for the railroads to raise the freight rates. That voiced the sentiments of the people of this part of the state exactly. At any rate, it is a victory for the consumers of the western division of Texas. It saves thousands of dollars to the people.

Our state special news serdee, through the co-operation of the come arcial secretaries of Texas furnishes some good reading, lots of news glong industrial lines and some very wholesome advice. Allow me to quote a few expressions from the page of "City Building Notes"

J. S. Brown and D. W. Hill, Jr., came in from Waldrip yesterday for lumber for their new gin. They report work progressing nicely upon the gin, and expect to have everything in readiness in ample time for the first bale of McCulloch county's bumper 1913 crop. Mr. Brown reports a nice little rain at Waldrip a week or so ago, and says it was sufficient to bring up feed, although not enough for cotton. He says his country is not looking so bad, and that feed has not been damaged to any great extent, and with a rain in the next few days should make good.
