BUSINESS SUSPENDED.

Local Citizens Honor Memory of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

For one hour yesterday afternoon all business in this city was at a standstill, practically every business house closing their doors from 3:00 to 4:00 o'clock to honor the memory of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of President Wilson, who died at the White House last Thursday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock.

The following petition to close during the funeral services in Washington was circulated yesterday morning among the business and professional men, and was signed by practically everyone: "To honor the memory of our beloved President, we, the undersigned business and professional men of Brady, McCulloch county, Texas, will close our respective places of business during the funeral services to be conducted in Washington, D. C., from 3:00 to 4:00 o'clock this afternoon."

Expressions of regret and words of sympathy were heard on all sides from Brady citizens yesterday.

Fewer Business Failures.

Houston, Tex. Aug. 9.—There were only 481 commercial failures in Texas last year, while the year before 589 were reported in this state, according to a recent issue of Dun's Review. The figures verify the fact that business conditions in this state are rapidly improving. The 481 failures reported last year involve 49,043 Texas business concerns, with liabilities aggregating $6,611,000.

A BIG SUCCESS.

Local Fire Department Realizes Neat Sum.

Carnival week in Brady came to a successful close Saturday night, with the biggest and best natured crowd of the entire week in attendance.

The attendance for the week was about fifty per cent of normal, on account of the inclemency of the weather during the entire time. The performances on Monday and Wednesday nights were rained out, and the threatening weather on almost every other night kept many away who would otherwise have attended. Notwithstanding the handicaps, the business for the week was gratifying, both to the carnival company and the local fire department, under whose auspices the attractions were brought here.

The company, under the capable and efficient management of Mr. J. W. Dyer, is undoubtedly one of the cleanest and most moral attractions ever brought to Brady, and local citizens and members of the fire department are loud in praise of the shows. There was absolutely nothing of an immoral or suggestive nature connected with any of the attractions, while on the contrary there was much which tends to elevate and educate those who attended.

Mr. Dyer stated to the committee from the fire department having the matter in charge that he would likely return to Brady this fall, probably in November, and that if he did he would have a much larger show than the one brought here the past week. The company left Monday for Menard, where they will show this week.

To Citizens of Brady.

I desire to call attention to the fact that there is an ordinance in this city for any purpose whatever, without first obtaining a permit from the mayor. Any person who is worthy of the help of the citizens of Brady can secure these permits without cost—the law having been enacted to protect our citizens against traveling grafters who are not worthy of the help which they secure from our business men and citizens.

Within the past few days two such cases have come to my notice, and after investigation, the parties were given the alternative of leaving the city at once or be subjected to the penalty of the law. They very promptly left.

Hereafter I would ask that all citizens require solicitors to show heir permits signed by myself before giving any assistance, and thus avoid helping people who are unworthy of your assistance.

Respectfully,
A. C. BAZE, Mayor.

Will save you money on your groceries. E. J. Broad.

TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

Negro and White Arrested Sunday Morning for Theft.

Wm. Thomas, a white man, aged about 22, and Walter Ligeon, colored, were arrested Sunday morning about 10:00 o'clock at the stock pens at Rochelle on charges of theft. The prisoner were brought to this city and lodged in the county jail shortly before noon.

The offense with which the men are charged occurred about 10:00 o'clock Saturday night on the carnival grounds, both being employed by the carnival company. Thomas, was employed by S. H. Walker, owner of one of the attractions, and is charged with having stolen his employer's suit case containing a quantity of clothing, a revolver and other personal effects. The theft was discovered by Walker a few minutes later, and as Thomas could not be located, it was supposed that he was the guilty party.

The sheriff's office was notified, and a description of the missing man was sent to officers in all portions of the county as well as to the surrounding counties. A hasty search of all public roads and the railroad yards was made by local officers, but no trace of the thief was found.

Sunday morning Walker, in company with Otis Turney, started out in an automobile to make a more thorough search. Just this side of Rochelle they learned that the two men had been seen there about an hour before, and upon reaching the town were told that the men were at the stock pens, presumably waiting for a train on which to make their escape. They hurried on and found them engaged in a quarrel over the division of their plunder.

On seeing that the two men were those sought, Walker dropped down out of sight in the car in order to surprise them, as neither he nor Mr. Turney were armed, while it was known that Thomas had Walker's pistol and that he would not hesitate to use it. On reaching the spot Walker leaped out of the car and grabbed the pistol which was laying on the ground near where Thomas was seated. A struggle for the possession of the weapon ensued, Walker finally wrenching it away and covered the prisoner. The negro broke to run but promptly stopped when Mr. Turney pointed his finger in his direction and commanded him to halt. He begged Turney not to shoot, stating that he "hadn't stole nothin'."

Both men were members of the carnival force, Thomas having joined at Goldthwaite the last week in July and the negro at McGregor the previous week, and little is known of either. Thomas is said to have told some of his companions that he was a deserter from the army, but it is not known whether this is true or not.

The sheriff's office is now making inquiries regarding Thomas, having communicated with the military authorities at San Antonio, and will likely hear from them within the next few days. The prisoners will likely remain in jail until the trial of their cases, as there is not much likelihood of them being able to give bond.

At The Airdome.

"Happy Doc" Holland and company opened a week's engagement at The Airdome last night before a small, but appreciative audience. The attendance was materially cut down by the rain which fell until nearly 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon, but even with that there were not many vacant seats to be seen.

The Hollands are not strangers in Brady, having played a week's engagement here last year following the close of the San Saba fair, where they appeared as one of the free attractions. So well did they please the fair management last year that they were secured again this year. Their act is one of the best seen here and consists of singing, dancing, talking and some high-class trapeze work by Mrs. Holland. Probably the most popular member of the company is Baby George. This talented youngster is only five years of age, and yet he goes through his part of the performance like a veteran, and never fails to elicit applause from his audience with his songs and dance steps.

The black-face work of Mr. Holland is above the ordinary, his bits of by-play always getting hearty laughs, even if he does have to occasionally remind his audience of the proper time to laugh.

The company will be here the entire week, with a complete change of program each night. On account of the length of the performance, only one show will be given each night, starting promptly at 8:30. The prices of admission have been placed at 10c and 20c.

BRADY, TEXAS, Aug. 14, 1914.

Citizens of Brady yesterday paid respects to the memory of the wife of President Wilson by closing all places of business during the hour in which the funeral services were held in Washington. Mrs. Wilson was a Southerner by birth, and one of the sweetest characters of all the great Southland. Her memory will remain long in the hearts and minds of not only those of the South, but of all sections of these United States.

Conditions were never more flattering in McCulloch county from an agricultural standpoint than at the present. A big feed crop has been made and saved, while every indication points to the biggest cotton yield in history. The only difficulty now facing the farmers of this section is to secure sufficient labor to gather the crop.

In a few days the hum of the gin will be heard in Brady, and this sweet music will be with us well up into the new year.

Texas' Rank in Population.

Washington, D. C. Aug. 9.—The Census Bureau has been throwing some side lights on the figures gathered at the Thirtieth Federal Census, and finds that out of 49 states in the Union, 15 now take higher rank in population than they did in 1900; 15 states hold the same position as in 1900 and the comparative rank of 19 states was lower at the 1910 Census than at the one ten years previous.

The first Federal Census of Texas was taken in 1850 and the records show that Texas ranked twenty-fifth with other states in total population. Ten years later Texas ranked twenty-third. The next Census, which was taken in 1870, showed Texas in 19th place. The following census, or the one in 1880, credits Texas as ranking 11th with the other states. The 1890 census shows Texas in 7th place and in 1900 she ranked 6th with other states, while the last census showed only four states with a greater population than Texas. During the 1900-1910 decade, Texas wrested the 5th place from Missouri, a position which that state had held for thirty years previous.

The following states have held 5th place among other states in population during the past 60 years: 1910, Texas; Missouri, 1900, 1890, 1880 and 1870; Virginia 1860; Tennessee, 1850.

SWAT ARMY WORM.

Industrial Congress Gives Advice For Extermination of Pest.

Several places in the state have reported that the army worm is beginning to be troublesome, although no serious damage has as yet occurred, and the Texas Industrial Congress, following its custom when unfavorable conditions are noted in its reports of local crop conditions over the state, has sent suggestions to the farmers of those sections as to the best means of exterminating the worm. The Congress is now in receipt of information from the U. S. Department of Agriculture that there is a general outbreak of these pests in the Northern States east of the Rocky mountains and in other sections of the country, and that the worms apparently swarmed from the Southwest. It appears advisable, therefore, to send the following to the press of the state for general publication:

As the army worms travel usually in one direction, the farmer whose crop is threatened may plow a furrow around it with the perpendicular side toward the field to be protected, and drag a log along in the furrow from time to time to keep the soil loose and dusty and kill the worms which have accumulated in the ditch. This, with poisoning thoroughly half dozen outside rows of the crop with one pound of arsenate of lead to fifty gallons of water, will answer the purpose. The heavy use of Paris green or London purple for poisoning is sure to injure more or less the foliage of the plants, and is not recommended unless the arsenate of lead cannot be secured.

When farms are carefully and cleanly cultivated and not near to waste or swampy land, damage will not often be sustained. Deep fall or spring plowing to break up the underground homes of the larvae or young moths, with the burning off of the old grass land near the field, will generally prevent a start. Of course, the preventive methods are best because there are four or five and sometimes six generations of these worms in a season.

Where the worms are already damaging a cotton field they may be poisoned by scattering a loose dough made of one pound of Paris green to a bushel of wheat bran thoroughly mixed and moistened with sufficient water, to which has been added a quart of molasses. This mixture should be scattered at the foot of the stalks late in the evening and care taken to keep chickens and livestock away from it. It should be remembered that arsenate of lead, Paris green and London purple are deadly poisons and that these mixtures must be kept away from children.

GOOD ROADS.

By Homer D. Wade, Stamford, Sec. Texas Good Roads Assn.

Good roads economize time. Good roads save wear, tear, worry and waste.

There's a reason for everything—except bad roads.

Improved highways prevent intellectual stagnation.

To make mankind better and happier, build good roads.

Let us have more split log drags and fewer mud holes in Texas.

The state of Georgia works 5000 convicts on her public roads and leads all other states in the nation in this respect.

Well constructed highways are an aid to social, religious, educational, industrial and all other progress.

The split log drag has contributed more to the economical maintenance of our public highways than any other implement of modern usage.

It does not require a special act of the legislature, a bond issue or an expensive educational campaign to improve highways with a split log drag.

FIRE PREVENTION.

By S. W. English, Austin, Texas,
State Fire Marshal.

A lot of useless paper thrown into a pile in the corner, to be removed when it is convenient, has caused the wealth creators more money during the last twenty-five years than has been spent in wars.

Trash invites the fire devil to have an inning. A lot of rubbish, papers, odds and ends of stuff that ought to be disposed of or properly stored for the time being in the far corner of a store, or a room, or in the cellar, has been an active handmaiden in the matter of starting fires.

A small match, a half consumed cigar, a cigarette carelessly dropped into this pile makes a story for the newspapers. It does more than this; it makes it harder for you to get insurance cheaper. It makes waste of the products of labor and it has no redeeming feature.

Quit dumping your trash. Quit inviting disaster by carelessness. If your neighbor is indifferent about this trash, admonish him that should he be visited by fire you will have to assist in paying him what he loses, and that he may burn you out besides.

Our Public Schools.

The conference for education in Texas has designated October 16th as "School house Day" in Texas. On this day the problems which affect "the little red school house" will be discussed by all citizens who are interested in education and plans for securing legislation favorable to the schools of Texas will be outlined. In a statement issued by the Conference, all citizens are asked to gather at their local school houses on this date and consider the best means of improving the educational facilities of the state.

Special attention will be given the rural school problem, and country schools which will impart the rural point of view will be urged. It has been claimed by educational leaders that the tendency of country schools in recent years has been to serve mainly as a "gang-way to city life." To correct this toward flow of country boys and girls and to inculcate in them a genuine love for the country and an appreciation of the blessings of rural life will be one of the objects of the Conference during the coming year.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble.

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.
