Returns from Meeting

Rev. C. R. Joyner returned yesterday morning from Eden, where he attended the annual meeting of the Brady Baptist association, of which he is clerk.

Rev. Joyner reports one of the most enjoyable and profitable meetings in the history of the association, there being a good attendance from the churches composing the body, as well as a number of prominent members of the denomination representing the various branches of the church work in the state.

The association selected the same officers as last year. They are as follows:

J. T. Hamilton, Rochelle, Moderator.

C. R. Joyner, Brady, Clerk.
W. P. Burleson, Mercury, Corresponding Secretary.

Rev. S. H. Green of Bangs was named as associational missionary for the coming year.

New Missionary Elected

Rev. S. H. Green of Bangs was in the city yesterday to make arrangements for moving his family here next week to make their home at this place.

Rev. Green is the newly elected missionary of the Brady Baptist association, he having been selected at the associational meeting held at Eden last week. He is a very pleasant gentleman, and one of the ablest ministers in this section of the state.

His family will arrive here some time next week.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

Plan Outlined Which Will Insure Good Cotton Prices

That the Texas bankers are very much alive to the situation as to the 1914 cotton crop and are planning to do everything necessary to care for it is evidenced by the activity of Joe Hirsch, of the Corpus Christi National Bank, and chairman of the agricultural committee of Texas Bankers' Association. Mr. Hirsch has assured the farmers of Nueces county that his bank will help them to hold their cotton for a good price if it is properly stored and insured, by advancing funds on their warehouse receipts. This has had a good effect, and the communication has received the approval of such prominent bankers as R. D. Harris of Houston and Nathan Adams of Dallas.

Mr. Hirsch believes it would be a good plan for the Texas Bankers' Association, through its agricultural committee, to get into touch with the agricultural committees of the bankers' association in other Southern states with a view to formulating a general plan for curtailing the cotton acreage next year.

"If this war lasts four to six months, and the European mills should then resume," says Mr. Hirsch, "from the best sources of information obtainable it would take a long time to catch up with our present production, and in the meantime next season's crop would be upon us. I believe the bankers of the South can perform a great service if by united effort they can succeed in curtailing the cotton acreage of the South one-third or one-fourth next year. This is a stupendous task, yet I believe it can be accomplished by a united effort on the part of the bankers, merchants and farmers, and I further believe that this can be done by our method of county organization. I believe we could, by a united effort, get a committee of business men in every county of every state in the South, which could obtain a complete list of all the farmers in their counties, with the amount planted this year to cotton, and that by a concentrated effort, and with the assistance of the commercial organizations, we could bring such pressure to bear that we could get a majority of the farmers to agree—to absolutely pledge themselves—to such reduction."

FREE CONCERT.

Entertaining Program to Be Rendered Thursday Night.

The open air concert given on the court house lawn last Thursday night by the Brady Booster band drew a large and appreciative audience.

The band, under the skillful direction of Director Billie Lee-man, has shown remarkable progress during the past few months, and the program rendered at Thursday night's concert served to show that the band boys are working hard, and are fast developing into a first-class musical organization.

Their public spiritedness in giving these free concerts weekly is the subject of much favorable comment from the citizens of the town, several of whom have suggested that a subscription fund be started and the merchants and business men given an opportunity to show their appreciation in a substantial manner. The band has been entirely self-supporting since its organization several months ago, but the expense of keeping the band intact falls rather heavily on the members individually, and the merchants are unwilling that they should bear all the burden themselves.

Another concert has been arranged for Thursday night of this week, beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The program is as follows:

Medley Two Step—"There's a Girl in the Heart of Maryland," Carroll.

Waltz—"Garland of Old Fashioned Roses," Keithley.

Medley Two Step—"When Uncle Joe Plays a Rag on His Old Banjo," Morse.

March—"Easy Street," Seitz.
Rag—"Down Home," Sweatman.

March—"Legend of the Stars," Fredericks.

Rag—"Powder Rag," Birch.

Waltz—"Wedding of the Winds," Hall.

Trot—"Cross the Mason-Dixon Line" Daniels.

Sprains Foot.

Laurence Fuller, who has been playing base ball with the Austin team of the Texas league since the close of the Mid-Texas league season, arrived home on Monday. Fuller happened to a painful accident in a game with Waco last Tuesday in which he suffered a severe sprained foot, when he caught a spike in the base bag in sliding into the base. The tendons in the left foot were wrenched, and as a result of the injuries he was unable to play any more this season and is forced to use crutches in getting about.

Mass Meeting Monday.

On account of adverse conditions in the cotton market, occasioned by the European war, local business and professional men have issued a call for a mass meeting of the farmers and business men to be held at the court house next Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Many farmers of the county are at present very much in need of funds with which to pay for gathering their crops, and the meeting called for Monday is to arrange for means for financing and taking care of the crop. It is very important that a representative gathering of the farmers of the county be had, and leaders in the move for the meeting ask that a representative from every community in the county be sent.

Attended Funeral of Brother

Jack McGaughy has returned from Alpine, where he was called last week by the death of his brother, Will McGaughy, arriving in Alpine in time to attend the funeral the latter part of the week.

Mr. McGaughy states that his brother's death resulted from an attack of acute indigestion, from which he only suffered 55 minutes before death came. Previously he had been in excellent health, and had not before suffered from indigestion. Mr. McGaughy is survived by his wife and two sons, aged 19 and 25. Friends of the family sympathize deeply with Mr. McGaughy, whose grief is even greater because of the recent death of his father, Dr. J. B. McGaughy, who was buried here on the Fourth of July.—Brown-wood Bulletin.

"APOSTLE OF BUTTER-MILK" IN DEFEAT.

In the last issue of the Honey Grove Signal, Jim Lowry's paper, the editor tells of his late candidacy and canvass for congressman-at-large, which proved abortive.

In the story, wit, humor and philosophy are intermingled and no one who reads it will fail to be impressed with the fact that a splendid opportunity to elect a straight, pure and able man congressman-at-large was overlooked when Jim Lowry's aspirations to serve in that capacity met with defeat.
Not that the successful candidates do not measure up to the same standard, but in addition to native ability, the philosophy of the man rises to supreme heights on all occasions, and even in the hour of defeat and while drinking the dregs of political disappointment, enables him to extract grains of comfort from the fact that he will not be called upon to move away from Honey Grove.
Concluding his story of how it happened, he says:

"My purse has grown very very thin and poverty has gained a strong hold; defeat has come with its blasted hopes and I have seen an ambition cherished from the days when I was a one-gallus plowboy fade forever, but there is no soreness in my heart and melancholy shall not have dominion over me. Instead of wringing sorrow from defeat in the state,

I shall pluck joy from the loyal support of my home people.
I was sad and tired when I wended my way home Tuesday, but when from the train I caught a view of Honey Grove, the sun-crowned gem of the prairies, home of the most loyal-hearted, chivalric, forgiving people on earth, and was assured that I might dwell in this fair city and with this splendid people, the features of joy came back to dwell forever and my heart was attuned to gladness. Wife and daughter met me with a smile, and my dog wagged his tail and howled a paen of joy because his days of loneliness were over.

"The dingy walls of the Signal office now stretch away into a kingly palace and unseen fingers work the ceiling with richest tapestry; the hum of the press is sweeter than the music of all the bells, and at my political grave I recon-ciliate my life to my profession and my people. There will be weariness of brain and hand, I know; there will be a ceaseless struggle to provide the things necessary for the comfort of me and mine, but there shall be no drudgery. I will tend a bright spot in the green fields of Arcadia, back turned upon the dead, dry fields of yesterday and eyes intently fixed upon the plants which I know will burgeon and bloom and fruit in due season."—Denison

GOOD ADVICE

Valuable Suggestions Made by Ballinger Banker

The Farmers & Merchants State Bank of Ballinger is sending out to the farmers of its business territory a suggested solution of the good roads problem which merits the thoughtful consideration of business men everywhere—especially as it provides at the same time for a more profitable crop marketing system and a prevention of the loss of soil fertility. This plan expresses admirably the purpose of the Texas Industrial Congress in including livestock in its competitive crop productions, and is as follows:

"We congratulate our farmers on having the largest, heaviest, and best matured feed crops in the history of our country. It is yours and, wisdom says, get the most possible out of it.

"Have you ever figured on what it costs you to market your farm products? Using government estimates and applying them in the most conservative manner, the cost of hauling the Rannels county feed crop from the farm to the shipping point this year totals more than $75,000.

"It is admitted by all that the most effective and economic way of marketing any bulky feed is through livestock. The stomachs of the hog, calf and steer are self-propelling factories for foundation. Let our slogan be:

'Ship Rannels county feed via the hoof.'

The utilization of Texas crops, so far as possible, in feeding livestock, and marketing them in the form of meat and dairy products will make Texas one of the richest sections in the world; their sale in the form of field crops must inevitably result in continuing to give away our prosperity to the states that do use them in livestock production.

city had one. In the entire state there were only three feture of these factories is that

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles.
I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework.

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you.

A Good Year to Feed

This should be a good year for every cattleman to strain a point and get ready to feed something for the winter or at least early spring market. It does not require large pasturage to prepare for it, and there is a trite saying that usually the very seasons which seem the most uninviting for feeding operations prove to be the most profitable. If the war continues feeders will be cheap, for the reason that money will be tight.
The present outlook is for cheap meal and hulls, and the man who has or can buy a good string of steers stands a show of making a handsome profit on his investment, but if he only makes good wages for his 90-days' feeding operations he will have prospered. The oil mills will, no doubt, be glad to enter into negotiations with prospective feeders and regard them as a very present help in time of trouble, now that exports must be curtailed, if not entirely abandoned. Let's try to utilize as much of the cotton crop as possible this season, and especially while it gives such good promise of paying us for doing so.—San Antonio Express.

Farmers to Ask Federal Aid

With representatives from more than two-thirds of the states in the Union, the 11th annual meeting of the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America came to a close in Ft. Worth today, after a three days' session. The keynote of the convention was the action of the body in voting to ask direct aid from the government in the present crisis which confronts the American farmer as a result of the titanic struggle across the water. A plan was formulated whereby the federal government will be asked to tide the farmers over the emergency and a committee was appointed to go to Washington to consult with federal authorities relative to the situation.

A high tribute was paid to the work of Peter Radford by National President C. S. Barrett in his opening address to the convention, who declared that it was the Radford type of men which keeps one's faith sound, his courage high and renews his faith in humanity. He stated that Mr. Radford had been of invaluable assistance to him in his work and that his wise counsel and suggestions had materially assisted him in the solution of problems confronting the national work.

The National Union has strong and active organizations in 27 states of the Union and is composed of a membership numbering eight million. The officers of the union were unanimously re-elected for the coming year, as follows: President, C. S. Barrett, Georgia; Vice-President, A. V. Swift, Oregon; Secretary-Treasurer, A. C. Davis, Arkansas.

"APOSTLE OF BUTTER-MILK" IN DEFEAT.

In the last issue of the Honey Grove Signal, Jim Lowry's paper, the editor tells of his late candidacy and canvass for congressman-at-large, which proved abortive.

In the story, wit, humor and philosophy are intermingled and no one who reads it will fail to be impressed with the fact that a splendid opportunity to elect a straight, pure and able man congressman-at-large was overlooked when Jim Lowry's aspirations to serve in that capacity met with defeat. Not that the successful candidates do not measure up to the same standard, but in addition to native ability, the philosophy of the man rises to supreme heights on all occasions, and even in the hour of defeat and while drinking the dregs of political disappointment, enables him to extract grains of comfort from the fact that he will not be called upon to move away from Honey Grove. Concluding his story of how it happened, he says:

"My purse has grown very, very thin and poverty has gained a strong hold; defeat has come with its blasted hopes and I have seen an ambition cherished from the days when I was a one-gallus plowboy fade forever, but there is no soreness in my heart and melancholy shall not have dominion over me. Instead of wringing sorrow from defeat in the state,

I shall pluck joy from the loyal support of my home people. I was sad and tired when I wended my way home Tuesday, but when from the train I caught a view of Honey Grove, the sun-crowned gem of the prairies, home of the most loyal-hearted, chivalric, forgiving people on earth, and was assured that I might dwell in this fair city and with this splendid people, the features of joy came back to dwell forever and my heart was attuned to gladness. Wife and daughter met me with a smile, and my dog wagged his tail and howled a paen of joy because his days of loneliness were over.

"The dingy walls of the Signal office now stretch away into a kingly palace and unseen fingers work the ceiling with richest tapestry; the hum of the press is sweeter than the music of all the bells, and at my political grave I reconsecrate my life to my profession and my people. There will be weariness of brain and hand, I know; there will be a ceaseless struggle to provide the things necessary for the comfort of me and mine, but there shall be no drudgery. I will tend a bright spot in the green fields of Arcadia, back turned upon the dead, dry fields of yesterday and eyes intently fixed upon the plants which I know will burgeon and bloom and fruit in due season."—Denison Herald.

GOOD ADVICE

Valuable Suggestions Made by Ballinger Banker

The Farmers & Merchants State Bank of Ballinger is sending out to the farmers of its business territory a suggested solution of the good roads problem which merits the thoughtful consideration of business men everywhere—especially as it provides at the same time for a more profitable crop marketing system and a prevention of the loss of soil fertility. This plan expresses admirably the purpose of the Texas Industrial Congress in including livestock in its competitive crop productions, and is as follows:

"We congratulate our farmers on having the largest, heaviest, and best matured feed crops in the history of our country. It is yours and, wisdom says, get the most possible out of it.

"Have you ever figured on what it costs you to market your farm products? Using government estimates and applying them in the most conservative manner, the cost of hauling the Runnels county feed crop from the farm to the shipping point this year totals more than $75,000.

"It is admitted by all that the most effective and economic way of marketing any bulky feed is through livestock. The stomachs of the hog, calf and steer are self-propelling factories for foundation. Let our slogan be: 'Ship Runnels county feed via the hoof.'"

The utilization of Texas crops, so far as possible, in feeding livestock, and marketing them in the form of meat and dairy products will make Texas one of the richest sections in the world; their sale in the form of field crops must inevitably result in continuing to give away our prosperity to the states that do use them in livestock production.

Another Woman Lawyer

Ft. Worth now boasts a woman lawyer in the person of Mrs. R. E. Baker, the first female ever admitted to the bar in Tarrant county. When the last Federal census of Texas was taken, Houston and Waco were the only two Texas cities that had women attorneys. Each city had one. In the entire state there were only three female lawyers at that time.

"Another commendable feature of these factories is that they need so little attention. When permitted, they will do their own harvesting, restoring to the soil its fertility, and when their product is ready for the market they will furnish their own transportation to the shipping point.

"Have you forgotten the immense benefits derived from last winter's pasturage of growing grain, and have you stopped to consider that the waste on our stubble and stalk fields properly utilized as pasture for live stock would more than pay our freight bills?"

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework.

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

A Good Year to Feed

This should be a good year for every cattleman to strain a point and get ready to feed something for the winter or at least early spring market. It does not require large pasturage to prepare for it, and there is a trite saying that usually the very seasons which seem the most uninviting for feeding operations prove to be the most profitable. If the war continues feeders will be cheap, for the reason that money will be tight. The present outlook is for cheap meal and hulls, and the man who has or can buy a good string of steers stands a show of making a handsome profit on his investment, but if he only makes good wages for his 90-days' feeding operations he will have prospered. The oil mills will, no doubt, be glad to enter into negotiations with prospective feeders and regard them as a very present help in time of trouble, now that exports must be curtailed, if not entirely abandoned. Let's try to utilize as much of the cotton crop as possible this season, and especially while it gives such good promise of paying us for doing so.—San Antonio Express.

Farmers to Ask Federal Aid

With representatives from more than two-thirds of the states in the Union, the 11th annual meeting of the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America came to a close in Ft. Worth today, after a three days' session. The keynote of the convention was the action of the body in voting to ask direct aid from the government in the present crisis which confronts the American farmer as a result of the titanic struggle across the water. A plan was formulated whereby the federal government will be asked to tide the farmers over the emergency and a committee was appointed to go to Washington to consult with federal authorities relative to the situation.

A high tribute was paid to the work of Peter Radford by National President C. S. Barrett in his opening address to the convention, who declared that it was the Radford type of men which keeps one's faith sound, his courage high and renews his faith in humanity. He stated that Mr. Radford had been of invaluable assistance to him in his work and that his wise counsel and suggestions had materially assisted him in the solution of problems confronting the national work.

The National Union has strong and active organizations in 27 states of the Union and is composed of a membership numbering eight million. The officers of the union were unanimously re-elected for the coming year, as follows: President, C. S. Barrett, Georgia; Vice-President, A. V. Swift, Oregon; Secretary-Treasurer, A. C. In General:

The locations are not given because the owner has so requested; he wants to know that there is almost a sure chance of making a deal before he has it advertised that he would consider a chance — so as not to hurt his business.

You will note that this amounts to $385,840.00 and that there has been deducted whatever loans there is on the real estate. This value is absolutely in this property and it will suit the most exacting person that wants to go into business. It is paying fine dividends. It is all well located and not so very far away from each other. In fact, all this property is within a radius of 40 miles of each other.

Nothing but Property Priced Right will be Considered. Will trade for a good large ranch if same is stocked. We will make the first inspection just as soon as we know the other side is in earnest and have hopes that a deal can be made on their prices.

THE SILO AND ITS USES

By R. M. Harkey.

The use of silos in the Midland country has brought about an entire change in the cattle raising of our territory. Men who have always controlled large herds of cattle are learning that the smaller herd well fed on silage will make him more profit than the average range cow. Many men in the Midland country in the past year have demonstrated the true worth of the silo.

One special feature that they demonstrated here last winter was that of cutting out the weakling calves and feeding them on silage through the winter. One man had 120 head of these runts and when he turned them on the range this spring, they were much finer than the average range calf that had wintered with its mother. Many cows, the mother of calves, do not furnish enough nourishment for them, and by placing them in a lot and feeding silage through the cold winter months these calves can be made to pay a good dividend. Nothing is better than the silo in my opinion for the farmer and stockraiser.

The Editor and His Newspaper

An editor of a newspaper is usually a bright business man who in almost any other calling would reap dollars where he gleans dimes. He knows this as well as he knows his own name. It is not lack of opportunity that keeps him in a business of limited returns, but a species of fascination hard to understand if not experienced. His newspaper is to him as his child. Usually married and the father of bright boys and girls; yet, as he watches his children grow and develop into happy man and womanhood, so also his heart and pride is bound up in the success of this other child—his newspaper. Dear is it to his heart, and he lavishes brain and energy in its growth and influence for good. The Greeks tell us of a fellow who so loved human beings that he stole sacred fire from heaven, that mankind might have its first fire. As punishment he was chained to the rocks by the gods, where the birds of the air should tear at his vitals, yet might he not die. His knowledge of an event threatening the gods caused his release. So, by fascination is the editor enmeshed in his love and the divine gift of intelligence poured out that the public may gain. Whatever hurts his advertising, wounds him. An injury to his paper is his wound. His stock in trade is advertising, which is the art of inducing people to "spend money" to their own advantage at times when they are not disposed to do so, that is, when they would as soon or a little rather not spend their cash. "Inducing" means to persuade; and the effort is to show where the money may be used to best advantage. Fish may bite at lure, and tricky methods may gain trade; but only to lose the customer, later—for good. Intelligent people, especially women, know the value of a dollar, and in dull times the strife is to keep it. Of course, if a man in business does not care for the cash, there would be no strife. But where each wants the dollar, special prices (inducements) must be made. Let a woman know where she can save money (by advertising) and she will go to that store. Advertising tells her this, and women control the cash and read the ads.
