A Girl's Composition on Boys

Boys are men that have got as big as their papas, and girls are ladies by-and-by. Man was made before woman. When God looked at Adam he said to himself: "Well, I guess I can do better than that if I try again," and then he made Eve so much better than he did Adam that there has been more women than men in the world ever an approaching school examinasince. Boys are a trouble. They tion for which they were preare very wearing on everything paring. This is what one of a little girl when he was a little

A Story for Boys.

(By Felix Faxton)

Not long ago I chanced to overhear two boys talking about

Well. I don't care what kind of marks I get, just so I get by all right."

Then the other boy said this: thing more than to just 'get by' I would not have to put any more time into getting ready for the exams. for I feel sure that I could 'get by' without any more study, but I want to get simply "get by" and who has ahead. Then he asked: no ambition beyond this degree by" him in the race toward the the lawnmower?" goal of success. Thousands of men have made failures of their lives because they have cared for nothing but to "get by" this or that task, duty, business depression or duty. Many of them are men entirely capable of achieving success in life but they have been satisfied so long as they have been able to hang on to a position or to what business they happened to be doing at the time. If you will look about you you will see many fellows "getting by" other young fellows in life. In hundreds of cases this is noth-

"How do you like it?" one of them asked.

"Oh, pretty well. I might like it better. But so long as I am able to get by I'll be satisfied."

I have an idea that that man will not hold that position very long. He has not a right idea of what he owes to himself or

I have several men in mind whose failures in life have been, I feel sure, caused by this "it will do' spirit. They have been willing "Well, if I didn't care for any- to simply "get by." No employer is satisfied with that kind of work.

One day last summer a boy of about 17 years came to my house and wanted to cut the grass on my lawn. It needed cutting and I was too busy to Now the boy who wants to cut it, so I told the boy to go

I got him the grass shears and he went to work in a hot sun. I watched him now and then from the window of my study. I saw him running the mower several times over some parts of the lawn. I saw him go to one end of the lawn and look it all over to see if any stray blades of grass had been left standing. Then he got down on his knees and trimmed the edges of the borders with care. Finally he raked up all the grass and carried it away and when he at last came to tell me that the work was done it was done to perfection. He did the work much better than a man I had hired several times had done it. That boy had a standard far above the "it will do" standard. He said that he was trying to get several lawns to cut regularly all summer to earn money to enable him to keep in school. He got my lawn to cut all right and a friend of mine who had a large lawn to be taken care of employed him after I had told him about the
