

OIL STRIKE AT 369 FT. ON COMFORT RANCH NEW EXCITEMENT

DOUBLE PACKER SET IN DAY WELL BAIL OUT TODAY

Oil men interested in McCulloch county are on tip-toe in expectancy of developments in the Thad O. Day well on the Dutton tract, 11 miles north of Brady. The new double packer was received the end of the past week, and also new rubber was received for the repairing of the original packer. The casing was reset yesterday, and late yesterday evening the hole was bailed down about 130 ft. Today, if the packers hold sufficiently to cut off all leakage, the well will be bailed to the bottom and the oil strike then tested.

With the new double packer supplementing the original packer, thereby virtually making three packers set in the hole, it is thought certain the leak will have been overcome. Large numbers of local oil men are at the well, and the city is in nervous expectancy awaiting news of what the well will show up.

Another cause of local excitement is that the drillers expect to bring in the Leonard Petroleum Co.'s well on the Waring ranch in Cencho county today. With watching developments on these two wells, and with the striking of oil on the Comfort ranch to also claim attention, it is proving difficult to keep one's eyes glued on the spot where the first development is to be had.

C. E. MOORE & SON OPEN THE MODEL RESTAURANT ON SOUTH BLACKBURN

C. E. Moore & Son Saturday opened the Model restaurant in the building adjoining the Masonic Temple on South Blackburn street. The interior of the building has been remodeled and presents an immaculate and entirely attractive appearance. The fixtures comprise those of the restaurant formerly operated by H. & L. Irwin. Mr. Moore is an experienced restaurateur, having been engaged in this business for many years, and up to two years ago was located at Enloe. The war-time restrictions caused him to sell out and retire from this calling, however, and for the past couple years he has resided at Holland. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Moore of this city, and with his family, who are expected here the end of the week, will make a welcome addition to our citizenship.

ROY E. FOX'S POPULAR PLAYERS GREETED BY FULL HOUSE ON OPENING NIGHT

By clever acting, high-class comedy and original methods of entertainment, the Roy E. Fox's popular players Monday night won enthusiastic approval from the large audience in attendance upon the initial performance last night. The title of the play was "My Mother's Rosary," and while the play was somewhat long-drawn out, yet the clever acting and excellent presentation of the plot by the players, together with the high-class vaudeville between acts, more than redeemed the play, and made the evening a thoroughly enjoyable one. Mr. Fox has surrounded himself with some splendid players, and there is no question but what they are gifted entertainers.

The comedian came in for universal approval and applause, and the audience was agreed that he alone was worth the price of admission. The novel contests inaugurated by Mr. Fox, as well as those announced for the balance of the week, are strong drawing cards. Then, as Mr. Fox stated in his altogether unique and droll announcement, his talk, too, is worth the price of admission. To sum it all up, you are sure of getting your money's worth several times over.

For tonight, the play announced is "Pals." For the program the balance of the week, see the ad elsewhere in this issue.

UNEXPECTED FINDING OF OIL POOL AT MERCURY—DRILLING FOR WATER

DRILL STOPPED AFTER PENETRATING 4 1/2-FT. OF SAND—ABOUT 20 GALLONS HIGH GRADE OIL, WITH NO WATER BAILED FROM WELL WEDNESDAY.

The halcyon days of the early part of the present year, when the oil fever ran highest in McCulloch county, promise to be surpassed at the present time, by reason of the finding of new pools of oil in unexpected parts of the county and at unexpected depths. With all eyes centered on development in the Thad O. Day oil well strike, attention was suddenly diverted to the Comfort ranch, where a new pool of oil was struck at the shallow depth of 369 feet in a well being drilled for water. Four and a half feet of the sand were penetrated, and the oil has been coming up through about five feet of mud at the bottom of the hole. The strike was made last Friday, and yesterday about twenty gallons of oil were bailed out of the well, the oil being free from water and apparently of higher test than even the Lohn shallow oil.

The well was started about six weeks ago by C. J. Vater of Mason, being drilled for G. R. White in the hopes of securing a supply of stock water. The well is located about one mile west of the Comfort ranch house, and 2 1-2 miles west and a little south of Mercury. It is within a mile of the Cunningham & Devine deep test location on the east White ranch, and four or five miles east of the place where the gas well was brought in about seven years ago on the White ranch at 300 ft.

BRADY MAN, ARRESTED AT SAN ANGELO FACES SERIOUS CHARGE IN N. M.

INCRIMINATING EVIDENCE FOUND BY SHERIFF WALL PUTS JERRY WRIGHT IN BAD LIGHT—IS TAKEN TO NEW MEXICO TO FACE CHARGE OF ROBBERY.

Jerry Wright, well-known Brady man, and Allen Holder of Bangs, were arrested at San Angelo a week ago last Saturday on a charge of theft in New Mexico. The arrest followed the receipt by Sheriff J. C. Wall of Brady of the following telegram from W. C. Pinnell, constable at Encino, N. M., on October 27th: "Understand Jerry Wright and Allen Holder reside in or near Brady, Texas. I hold warrant for these two men. Arrest and wire me at once. Also wire any information you can get as to their whereabouts." Sheriff Wall immediately replied that the men could be found at the San Angelo fair, and the result was their arrest by Sheriff H. C. Allen at that place on the closing day of the fair.

Further light as to the reason for the arrest and the charge upon which it was based, was had in the following letter received by Mr. Wall from R. L. Hitt, assistant district attorney of Willard, N. M., the letter being dated November 3rd: "Jerry Wright and Allen Holder, as I understand, are residents of your town. These men are under arrest charged with burglary of a house in New Mexico. Several things were taken from the house. As yet we have only circumstantial evidence—pretty good though—as to their guilt.

"I understand that these men, on or about the 20th of last month, shipped a trunk and other stuff stolen, from Texico, Texas, to Brady, Texas. They were driving a Ford car—a new one. These men follow carnivals and pose as ropers.

"The stuff taken is briefly described as follows: The trunk—not new—is canvas-covered. Good sized trunk. One lady's gray serge skirt; one silk plaid waist; colored glass water set with a picture of a bunch of cherries; one colored glass bowl with a picture of a pea fowl on same; one silk quilt with a baby hand-stitched on it, a man's head and the Odd Fellow's emblem; one old quilt with a pine burr stitched in it; one white-tail deer rug. These are the articles that could be identified. A great many other things were taken.

"Perhaps you can help us out in this matter by watching, and especially if you know either of these parties.

"Assuring you that anything that you can do in this matter will be appreciated, and hoping to hear from you, I am, R. L. Hitt, Assistant District Attorney."

Mr. Wall immediately got busy on the case and by some clever detective work virtually had the stolen goods spotted. The express company's records showed the receipt and delivery to Wright's wife of a trunk shipped from Springer, N. M., a valuation of $100 having been placed on the trunk and its contents.

Mr. Wall learned that on Monday of last week, Wright is understood to have phoned his wife from San Angelo to "get rid of the trunk and its contents and to do it quick."

R. D. Shumate, state ranger, who had been looking for Holder in the Bangs community, came over from Brownwood last Friday and together with Mr. Wall made a search of the Jerry Wright home in the north part of town. The express tags, as described in the preceding paragraph, were found tied to a trunk containing some of Wright's old clothes, but the trunk did not answer the description of the trunk sent from New Mexico. The officers then searched the home of Pete Sims, discovering all the wearing apparel and dry goods mentioned in District Attorney Hitt's letter, hidden away in a mattress. The trunk was also found, an attempt to burn it having been unsuccessful. Mrs. Wright then advised the officers that the glassware had been buried in the chicken house, and later assisted in recovering other articles which had been included in the shipment from New Mexico. Practically all the goods were recovered Friday and were on exhibit in the sheriff's office Saturday, where hundreds of curious citizens viewed the layout. Other articles were recovered Sunday and still others yesterday.

The surprising part was that the intrinsic value of the goods was small, most of the articles being valued probably mostly as keep-sakes or because of their personal character. Wright and Holder were taken to New Mexico from San Angelo last Friday by a deputy sheriff from that state to face the charges against them. Both men are widely known throughout Texas, having taken prominent part in roping contests at fairs and stock shows all over the state. Wright was in the army for several months, securing his release shortly after the signing of the armistice. The outcome of the charges against him will be noted with interest by all McCulloch county citizens.

drilling four and one-half feet into the sand, operations were suspended last Friday, and yesterday the well was bailed. The samples brought to town show it to be a light oil, and apparently of higher flash test than the Lohn shallow oil. When placed in a lamp, it burned fiercely and brightly. A test is now being made of the oil, and as soon as the roads become passable, local oil operators will visit the location and decide whether or not to shoot the well.

Meanwhile the strike extends the proven shallow field something like fifteen miles farther northeast, and assures widespread operations over this territory.

MORE NEW HOME OWNERS IN BRADY EVERY WEEK NOW

The list of Brady home owners is constantly lengthening, and the steady demand for desirable resident property indicates the growing prosperity of the Brady country, and the fact that new citizens are finding the advantages and attractions of our city such as to induce them to become permanent residents. Among the new deals reported this week are the following:

Tom Bodenhamer, who returned about a year ago from the coast country, has indicated his willingness to concede that Brady is the most desirable of abiding places, by purchasing the E. L. White residence in the south part of town, the deal having been closed yesterday. The purchase includes a neat 5-room cottage, with bath, and a nicely located lot in a desirable neighborhood. H. Meers is credited with making the deal.

Another new Brady home owner is C. W. Pippin, who recently moved here from Ranger. Mr. Pippin is owner of the Southern hotel, and has demonstrated his faith in Brady by purchasing in addition a 100 ft. square block of land and the three-room house thereon, being part of the Sammons' homestead. The deal was made through S. W. Hughes & Co., the property being purchased from Mrs. Annie Sammons, and the purchase price being $750. Mr. Pippin is improving the property, and expects to occupy it with his family. The Southern hotel building has been thoroughly renovated and improved by Mr. Pippin, and will be operated by Mrs. Ab Williams. Both pieces of property owned by Mr. Pippin are well located, close in, and are most desirable.

All the more—

BY CONTRASTS.

Most everything in this life goes (and comes) by contrasts. For instance—

Excessive rains follow extraordinary drouths—
Bumper crops follow dismal failures—

Armistice Day 1919 observed as quietly as the same day in 1918 was noisy.

HAD YOU EVER THOUGHT ABOUT IT?

That a full year after the cessation of hostilities with Germany, we still are at war with her—technically!

A news item appears with the heading: "Desperado Turns Into a Preacher." Nothing so very remarkable about that after all—but if the H. C. L. keeps on high, and higher, we may yet see a news item headed: "Preacher Turns Into a Desperado."

HOW IS THIS FOR A DROUTH STRICKEN COUNTRY?

A farm of 453 acres was bought here last March at a cost of $20.00 per acre. This farmer has already gathered and ginned and sold fifty bales of cotton and expects to get fifty more. He has already gotten more than enough to pay for the place and for all the cost of making and gathering the crop, and will likely get something like $10,000 more. And this on an initial payment of some $6,000.—Paint Rock Herald.

NIGGER IN THE WOODPILE.

Texas voters last Tuesday defeated all the proposed Constitutional amendments, with two exceptions—the Galveston amendment, and the Confederate veterans' pension—and it was a foregone conclusion that these two would meet with popular approval, because the citizenship of Texas could offer no objection to the citizens of Galveston and Galveston county securing further protection from wind and waves at their own expense; neither do they begrudge the few cents additional tax required to add to the meagerly pensions now being paid our gallant Confederate veterans.

But, on the whole, Texas voters are wary of anything in the form of a Constitutional amendment—and to all but the blind the reason is obvious—they are afraid of a "nigger in the woodpile." Texans have been cheated, defrauded, humbugged, slugged and sandbagged by wily and unscrupulous politicians until they have reason to be wary of anything that might further curtail their liberties or add to their burdens.

Give the people a square deal; play open and fair with them, and valuable legislation will not do down in defeat.

The Smith and Joneses have lost their one-time prestige, according to a man by name of Johnson, who lives in Wichita, Kansas. Mr. Johnson claims that the Johnsons won the war. He submits statistics to show that there were 53,200 Johnsons in the army, against only 51,950 Smiths, 48,000 Browns, about the same number of Andersons and Walkers and only 25,000 members of the Jones family.—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

SIXTY YEARS AGO—AND MORE.

People didn't wear $12 silk shirts and $20 shoes and $2 silk hose when I was a boy, at least, they didn't do it on the frontier of Texas. I was born in a two-room clapboard shanty with a dirt floor. The entire building was erected by my father, and he rived the boards and cut the saplings and hewed the sills, and split the sticks, even, that went into the chimney flue. I saw the old house still standing when I was twenty years old though we moved away from it before I can remember. But we lived in a log cabin with a dirt floor as early as I can remember, and later in a raw-hide lumber box house with two rooms, and the floor remained the same until a few years later, when it was floored with plank—also of native lumber. The first piece of cotton checks that my mother bought was in 1849 and it cost 25 cents a yard. When the war of the 60's came on I was in my eleventh year. The Yankees at once blockaded all the southern ports, and the armies stood between the south and all trade and commerce.

The result was that we had to live at home. If we had had money we couldn't buy anything with it, the only money in circulation being Confederate government promissory notes, redeemable six months after the conclusion of a treaty of peace between the Confederate States and the United States. That treaty has never been concluded yet. The money based on that condition went down until a dollar of it was worth only two and a half cents. As for gold and silver, it was as scarce as the proverbial hens teeth.

We not only raised our own chickens, eggs, pigs, goats and other meat foods but we had to depend on corn alone as a rule, for bread, and we didn't always get that right at hand. But what the present generation knows nothing whatever about, we had to make our own clothing from the raw wool and cotton.

People always get through some way or other when they have got to do it. The whole country went to work to make the best of a bad condition. In my father's family, my mother and two negro women set to work to carding and spinning cotton and wool. My father made a loom complete all except the harness and sley, and there were enough mechanics in the south to make the sleys for everybody that wanted them, and also enough good skilful women to make the harness for the warp. If I am not mistaken, Jim Barcroft told me not long ago that he has sleyed among his household effects now.

As I was too awkward to learn how to card and spin, they set me at the loom. I was kept at it much of the entire four years. However, I alternated that job with hauling a barrel of water every other day with an old Spanish pony hitched to a forked mesquite slide. I went to mill every other Saturday, even before the war came on, my father putting me astride an old gray horse on top of a bag of corn divided so half the corn was on one side and half on the other. That Saturday was the big frolic, for the mill was always busy on Saturday, every fellow had to take his turn and there were always a lot of other boys there on the same errand. But I stuck close enough to the loom to weave about a thousand yards of homespun during the years of the war.

Of course we had to make our own soap, and we didn't buy the lye or the grease, either. The old ash-hopper used to be just as certainly out in the back yard as the washpot. We leached the ashes and boiled down the lye and then put in the grease, which was the savings from the kitchen—bacon rinds, old tallow, cracklings, spoilt lard, anything greasy and unfit to eat went into the soapgrease reservoir and when soapmaking day rolled round it was an all-day job for the women.

At hogkilling time there was more fun. The old kitchen chimney was nearly big enough to put cordwood in full length and when cold weather came on so there was no danger of spoiling the meat, all hands and the cook found themselves fully occupied.

We couldn't use up all the bones, scraps, spareribs, and so we always found somebody who were a little poorer than we were in provisions, and we had the fun of dividing up with them. It makes my mouth water now to think of those spareribs two or three at a time hanging up before the log fire in the kitchen on a cold day, each hung by a string, and turning around all the time, while the heat sizzled out the surplus grease and it dropped into a pan below.

Well, there was a part of the time in southwest Texas, especially in '64 and '65 when we had a drouth—the worst I ever knew until the last three or four years. Cattle starved to death by the hundreds of thousands. No kind of beef was fit to eat. We kept two or three cows in milk all winter in '64-65 by feeding them on singed prickly pears. They went through all right. The singeing of the pear and feeding the cows was also my job. I used to think an old cow never would get full. But I knew I couldn't afford to throw off on the job, because it would tell from the reduced quantity of milk.

I am quite sure that during those two years we did not spend $100 in gold value all told. But we were happy as the days were long. And the purpose of this story is merely to point the moral that satisfaction and contentment come from within and not from without. There is nothing so conducive to true happiness as the consciousness of having done something useful, or of having helped some other person out of a trouble. "No man liveth unto himself."

The high cost of living is, in fact, principally the high cost of self-indulgence.—L. B. Russell in The Comanche Enterprise.

A wise woman once said that there were three follies of men that always amused her. The first was climbing trees to shake the fruit down, when if they would wait long enough the fruit would fall itself; the second was going to war to kill each other, when if they only waited they would die naturally; and the third was that they should run after the women, when if they did not do so the women would be sure to run after them.—Hamilton Record.

TRAINING LITTLE CHILDREN.
By MRS. ELVIRA HYATT.

Punishments should never be inflicted in anger, but should rather be the natural consequence of the wrong doing itself. Nature teaches her laws in this way: If you go too near a fire, you are burned; if too much indigestible food is eaten, sickness results; and if you drop a fragile glass it will break. No one ever questions the justice of these inevitable consequences, nor will a child ever resent a punishment which he feels to be the result of his own heedlessness or wrong-doing. To quote Miss Harrison, "A child readily realizes that scattered toys must be gathered up, that soiled clothes must be changed, that tardiness necessarily brings a loss of opportunity, that money foolishly spent by him will not be re-supplied by the parent, that teasing or tormenting the younger brother or sister causes a loss of the society of the mistreated one, that petulance on his part brings silence on the part of the mother, that recklessness when on the street causes loss of liberty."

In families where several children play together too much cannot be said in favor of a quiet hour, a time when each child shall be entirely alone, undisturbed by others. If the children are too old for a daily nap, they can be given some quiet occupation or play, such as looking at picture books, drawing with pencil or crayons, cutting out pictures with blunt-pointed scissors, making scrap-books, modeling with clay or plasticine or stringing beads or buttons. With older children, and with babies, too, poise and self-control are gained "in the silence," and the wise mother will give herself as well as the children this hour of rest.
It is a mistake to allow children to play with a dozen toys at one time. Children can easily be taught when very little to select and play with one thing at a time, and to put it away in its place before another is taken. Even in a crowded apartment it is possible to fit up a box or shelf where each child can have a place for his own treasures.

Toys which develop the imagination are better than intricate mechanical toys and elaborately dressed dolls. Next to a ball, the very best plaything is a set of blocks, which is capable of being transformed into anything desired, from a train of cars to a pigeon house. Give a boy of 5 a hammer, some nails and a few pieces of wood and see what he can make—the results are often surprising. Children love to create, and the toy which they have made themselves will give a more lasting pleasure than the usual elaborate plaything bought ready-made.

The occupations of grownups have great attraction for children. A few simple regular duties should be given them every day. Work is one of the greatest means of spiritual development, and the wisest of all teachers for little children. Friedrich Froebel said that a child's offer to help should never be refused. To be sure, the mother may at first find it far more of a hindrance than a help, but children of 4 or 5 can learn to dress and undress themselves, wipe the dishes, dust the chairs, help make beds, carry small pieces of kindling, empty scrap baskets, water plants and help in many other ways.

If the mother's spirit is right, children will always love to help. Children are little reflectors, and soon catch the spirit of cheerful, willing work. If they see work done complainingly, what wonder if they also begin to feel badly used when asked to perform some simple helpful service—and to look upon work as a disagreeable hardship.

SCHOOL PUPILS OF 5TH AND 6TH GRADES HELP FARMERS GATHER COTTON

The boys and girls of the 5th and 6th grades have responded to the farmers call for help, and have gone out and picked cotton two afternoons. Their work was not in vain, for they made $10.00. This money is to be used to buy records for the Victrola, that has been purchased by the Parent-Teachers' club for the Brady central school.

Mrs. Abernathy took the children the first afternoon they picked, then she and Miss Edna Davis accompanied them the second day.

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks. He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Theford's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theford's Black-Draught."

Theford's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work. Try it!

SHE'D WALK MILES TO TELL ABOUT IT

Nashville Woman Says She Gained 25 Pounds By Taking Tanlac

"I feel so grateful for the wonderful relief I have gotten thru taking Tanlac that I would willingly walk twenty miles to tell other sufferers what this medicine has done for me," said Miss Adela McKenzie, of 424 Sixth Ave., Nashville, Tenn.
"I suffered for about eighteen months from nervous prostration," she continued, "and kept getting worse in spite of all I could do. I had no appetite and after eating anything my stomach would burn like fire. I would turn hot one minute and cold the next, and I was so nervous I could hardly sleep at all and lost sixty pounds.

"After trying several different medicines without relief, my brother got me a bottle of Tanlac and I started taking it. By the time I had finished my second bottle my appetite began to improve and my other troubles were greatly relieved. That burning sensation has disappeared from my stomach, the nervousness is gone, I sleep like a child and I have gained twenty five pounds in weight."

LOCAL BRIEFS

A bright little Miss arrived yesterday, November 10th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Drago on the Ford ranch, bringing with her a whole lot of sunshine and happiness.

Basil Duke of San Leandro, Calif. and Miss Lois Duke of San Angelo, were called here on account of the illness of their father, J. M. Duke. The many friends of the family will be pleased to learn that Mr. Duke is now much improved. Basil expects to return to his home today.

Perry Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Reed, and who has been ill the past thirty days with typhoid, has been very low, but his friends are greatly encouraged by reports of his improved condition, and hope for his early complete recovery.

Friends of Duke Mann will be glad to learn that he is effecting a splendid recovery at the local sanitarium from the operation for appendicitis, which he underwent a couple weeks ago. While his recovery is slow, his gradual improvement is nevertheless very gratifying.

Kirby Huffman was the victim of an obstreperous Ford last Thursday, suffering a vicious kick when the car back-fired as he was attempting to crank it. One of the bones of the right fore-arm was broken, the injury necessitating carrying the member in a sling for the next couple weeks.

Allen G. Carter of Luling, Texas, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Abernathy. Mr. Carter spent fourteen months in France, was a member of the famous Thirty-Sixth division. He had the honor of going "over the top" several times, and he wouldn't take a million for his trip and experiences, though he doesn't care to repeat it.

Armistice Day in 1919 differed from any other but little in Brady. The banks closed, as usual, for the holiday, and some business firms undertook to declare a holiday. Otherwise, business went on as usual. Fourth of July and Armistice Day both, apparently, have to take the back seat for Christmas in Texas, when it comes to a demonstrative observance of the occasion.

It will be interesting news to Brady friends to learn of the arrival at Waco, Texas, of Jack Nussbaum, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nussbaum, who some five or six years ago were numbered among our most highly respected citizens, have been making their home in Waco for the past several years, Mr. Nussbaum being vice-president of a wholesale automobile accessories concern. The announcement of the new arrival was contained in a brief note sent to friends here.

Fleeson-Todd.

Announcement has been received here of the marriage in Wichita Falls on Tuesday, November 4th, of Miss Margaret Todd to Mr. Walter Thomas Fleeson of New York. This will be of interest to many Brady folks, Miss Todd having lived in Brady for a number of years, being engaged in the teaching of music. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Todd of Columbia, Ky., and a sister of Mrs. E. E. Spiller of this city. For the past year or so she has been engaged as stenographer with a prominent Wichita Falls firm, and it was at this place she first met her husband. Mr. Fleeson has been in charge of Call aviation field at Wichita Falls, and is at present checking out this field, which has been abandoned by the government. He will be in service until June, and after his discharge the newly-weds expect to go to New York to make their home.

"The 52 Biggest Problems of the Average Southern Farmer"

EVERY member of The Progressive Farmer staff has had actual farm experience—most of us are running Southern farms now—and from our own experiences, and from the multitude of farmers' letters that come to us every year—we believe we have figured out a pretty nearly perfect list of these "fifty-two biggest problems" of the average Southern farmer, and we are going to treat him in next year's Progressive Farmer.

We are going to treat them, too, in order of timeliness, just as far as possible. For the aim of The Progressive Farmer, always, is to tell the subscriber just what he wants to know, just when he wants to know it, and in as few words as possible.

Here's the list of big problems we shall treat during the fall months, and the date on which each discussion will appear:

- November 1.—Financing the Farmer: (Personal and Short-term Credit; Long-term Credit for Land Purchase; Avoiding "Time-prices," Utilizing National Farm Loan Associations, etc).
- November 8.—Systems of Farming—Affecting Soil Fertility, Money Profits, Prosperity and Permanence of Rural Life.
- November 15.—Arranging and Erecting Fences; Relative Values of Different Systems, Materials, etc.
- November 22.—How to Reduce Land-Washing to a Minimum. (Terracing, Ditching, Filling Land with Humus, Proper Use of Steep Hill-sides, etc).
- November 29.—What Changes are Needed to Insure Better Health for Men, Women, and Children on the Farm?
- December 6.—Winter Care and Feeding of Horses, Mules, Cattle and Hogs.
- December 13.—Getting Rocks and Stumps off the Land.
- December 20.—How Farm Neighbors May Work Together for Greater Profits and Happiness.
- December 27.—Business Methods on the Farm; (Inventories; Records; Accounts; Banking; Cost-keeping; Advertising; System in Correspondence and Making Sales, etc.).

The above subjects are of vital importance to you and alone are worth the price we ask, and remember The Progressive Farmer carries many other big features not mentioned above.
