TWICE-A-WEEK ABSORBED THE BRADY ENTERPRISE AND THE McCULLOCH COUNTY STAR MAY 2, 1910. TUESDAY-FRIDAY

VOL. XII, No. 6. THE BRADY ENTERPRISE VOL. XIII, No. 34 Brady, McCulloch County, Texas, Tuesday, April 13, 1920. McCULLOCH COUNTY STAR Vol. III, No. 70 Whole Number 1000.

TUBERCULAR HOSPITAL QUOTA IS NEARING COMPLETION

H. P. RODDIE HOME COMPLETELY DESTROYED BY FIRE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

DEBRIS-STREWN AND BLACKENED SHELL ALL THAT REMAINS OF ONE OF MOST BEAUTIFUL HOMES IN THIS SECTION—LOSS APPROXIMATELY $20,000.

A burned and blackened shell, strewn with debris, is all that remains of the H. P. Roddie home in the southeastern part of the city. Fire, which started about 4:30 Sunday afternoon, in the course of two hours laid in ruins what was accounted one of the most beautiful and artistically furnished homes in this section, and incidentally gave the local fire department one of the hardest and most stubborn blazes with which they have ever had to contend. A strong northwest wind fanned the glowing embers into flames every time the stream of water was turned in another direction, and burning embers were carried for blocks. The loss totals between $18,000 and $20,000, with but $7,000 insurance.

The fire supposedly had its origin in the doll room upstairs, where a lighted candle had been left by Mr. Roddie's 9-year old daughter, Bessie. Mr. and Mrs. Roddie and daughter returned Sunday afternoon from a visit in San Angelo, and the little girl, after playing for a time with her dolls, placed them in the doll room adjoining her bedroom, lighting a candle, as the room was dark. Then she went to lay down for a nap with her mother. Mrs. Roddie awakened about 4:30 o'clock, and found the doll room a mass of flames and smoke. Her cry for help brought Mr. Roddie from down-stairs, where he had been reading, and Mr. Roddie carried the little girl downstairs to safety.

In the meantime, neighbors had observed the flames and smoke pouring from the roof of the building and, after turning in the alarm, hurried to Mr. Roddie's assistance in rescuing the furniture and valuables from the downstairs rooms. The hallway furnished a draft towards the upstairs rooms that turned the second story into a roaring furnace within a few minute's time. Mrs. Roddie made an attempt to return upstairs to rescue clothing and furnishings, but was met by a blast of flames that singed her hair and drove her back.

The fireboys made a quick response, and laid a line of hose from the nearest fire plug, three blocks distant, and would have been enabled to make an effective fight against the flames but for the bursting of a section of the hose. This delay, together with a weak pressure for a time, enabled the fire to envelope the entire building, and gave the fire boys two hours of hardest fight before the flames were finally subdued.

While most of the furniture and furnishings downstairs were rescued, not a single article was saved from the upstairs. Mrs. Roddie and the children saved only the clothes they wore, Mr. Roddie alone managing to save some apparel. In addition to the furniture, all bed clothes were also destroyed.

The home was erected nine years ago by Mr. Roddie, and two years ago the entire second story was rebuilt and remodeled. A year ago a great amount of improvements in the way of hardwood floors and wood-work was done, the house being refitted and refurnished in modern and most beautiful fashion.

Insurance carried totals $5,000 on the house and $2,000 on the furniture.

F. M. RANNE MISSING SINCE MARCH 8TH—WAS ENROUTE TO OKLAHOMA

Jas. Finlay of Fife, accompanied by E. B. Ranne of Killeen, Texas, was in the city Monday, Mr. Ranne having come to Brady in an endeavor to get trace of his son, F. M. Ranne, who has not been heard of since March 8th, at which time he started for Berywn, Okla., with the intention of buying a farm. Enroute Mr. Ranne expected to stop at Dublin for a visit with a brother, but he never put in his appearance there. No alarm was felt the first couple weeks, but his continued silence has given rise to alarm being felt for his safety.

F. M. Ranne has lived in the Fife community for the past 7 or 8 years and his family is still located there. When he left for Oklahoma, he carried with him $800, and had virtually closed a deal for a farm near Berywn, upon which he expected to locate.

The elder Mr. Ranne expects to use ever effort to find trace of his missing son, and in his endeavors he is having the assistance of all neighbors and friends of the family.

BRADY HOTEL WOMAN IS TO OPEN ROOMS IN BROWNWOOD—WILL BE STRICTLY MODERN

Mrs. Kate Roberts, proprietress of the Queen Hotel, at Brady, well-known throughout West Texas as one of the most popular hostleries in all this section, returned to her home today after spending several days in Brownwood in connection with matters of business. Mrs. Roberts will, in the near future, open rooms on the second floor of the building now occupied by the Lambert Grocery and which has been undergoing a general overhauling and repairing during the past few weeks.

G. COHEN IN CITY TO OPEN 'LEADER' DRY GOODS STORE

Mr. and Mrs. G. Cohen arrived Sunday from Wellington to make their home in Brady. They were accompanied by Mr. Sol Gross of Burlington, Iowa, a brother-in-law of Mr. Cohen, who will also locate in Brady and engage in some line of business as yet not announced. Mr. and Mrs. Cohen's elder daughter, Miss Rose, is in St. Louis for a visit, and will join the family here in the course of about a month, while the younger daughter, Miss Ruth, is visiting for a week or so with the family of her uncle in San Saba.

Mr. Cohen and family have taken up their residence in the M. Simon home on North Bridge street, and Mr. Cohen hopes to have his goods and fixtures here within another week or ten days to open his store in the M. Simon building on the southeast corner of the square, which he has leased for a term of years. The new store will be known as "The Leader," and Mr. Cohen says he expects to build a business that will make his store live fully up to its name. He will handle a complete line of dry goods, millinery, men's, ladies' and children's clothing and shoes, notions, etc.—in fact, he expects to establish one of the most complete dry goods and clothing stores in this section.

Mr. Cohen has just closed out a very successful business at Wellington, Texas, and comes to Brady because he sees a splendid opportunity here to build a business and to grow and expand as the city develops.

BURNING SHINGLES CARRY BLAZE TO COTTON YARD AND BARN SUNDAY AFT.

Probably all that saved a good part of the southeastern section of Brady from being swept clean by fire Sunday afternoon, was the fact that the wind chanced to be in the northwest. Had the wind been blowing as strongly from the south, the flames from the H. P. Roddie dwelling would have carried from one residence to another, and nothing could have been done to prevent the holocaust.

As it was, the high northwest wind carried burning shingles and embers as far as the cotton yard, three blocks distant, where fire was set to one bale belonging to Huie & Roe, the bale being badly damaged before the fire could be extinguished. Watch was kept thruout the afternoon and night to prevent other cotton from catching fire. Another live coal set fire to C. R. Horn's barn, a block distant, but the blaze was extinguished before any damage resulted.

Fire can clean you out in a few minute's time—but an insurance policy stands between you and destruction. It's a real friend in need. See us today about insuring your property. Anderson & Carrithers.

CUNNINGHAM & DEVINE EXPECT TO SPUD IN BOTH WELLS NEAR FUTURE

ALL TOOLS AND MATERIAL ON GROUND FOR WELL NO. 2.—RIGGING UP NOW BEING COMPLETED—"HELEN" AND "MARIE" WELLS NAMES NEW TESTS.

C. A. Devine was in Brady Monday, coming over from Brownwood, and reported all tools and material on the ground for the Cunningham & Devine well No. 2, to be known as the "Helen" test, and which will be located on State Survey No. 2, (W. N. White Company ranch) 14 miles north of Brady. The tools and material were unloaded at Mercury on Wednesday of last week, and hauling out has just been completed. Rigging up is now in progress and should be completed within the next few days.

Rigging up of the "Marie" test on H. & T. C. Ry. Co. Survey 843, (Company ranch) has been completed, and everything is in readiness for the drillers. Spudding in of both wells will probably be started some time next week.

Mr. Devine has moved his family from Fort Worth to Brownwood, and expects to have both wells under his personal supervision. The contract for drilling has been let to one of the best-known drillers in this section of the state, and both wells are expected to be drilled in record time.

Day Well No. 2 Shut Down.

Day well No. 2, on the Dutton tract 11 miles North of Brady has been shut down indefinitely, and no information is to be had from Mr. Day as to when operations will be resumed. The well was drilled to a depth of about 700 ft. Day well No. 1 struck oil sands at 863 ft.

Operations Resumed.

McCULLOCH CO. RAISING QUOTA FOR HOSPITAL

Mrs. S. J. Howard, county chairman of the Woman's committee of the Benevolent War Risk society of Texas, announces that McCulloch county is nearing its quota of $634.00 for the tubercular hospital to be built for Texas ex-soldiers. While the work of raising the funds in each county of the state, has been placed upon the former members of draft boards, Mrs. Howard has taken the lead here, and with the able assistance of Miss Minnie J. Crothers, and other patriotic ladies, has met with the greatest of success in securing funds. Monday night Mrs. Howard stated the committee lacked but about $75.00 of attaining the quota of $634, and it was thought this balance would be subscribed before tonight. A house to house canvas is to be made today by the ladies.

Mrs. Howard and Miss Crothers Saturday went to Lohn, where $60 was subscribed to the fund. Mrs. W. N. White and Mrs. Leonard J. Wood Saturday solicited subscriptions in Melvin, adding $106 to the fund. Mrs. Roy Wilkerson and Mrs. S. W. Hughes have also ably assisted in the securing of subscriptions, and in their patriotic endeavors they have met with cheerful and encouraging response upon the part of the majority of our citizens.

FIRE PROTECTION.

It takes a calamity to bring us to a realization of our needs and to spur us to action. The adage: "Locking the barn after the horse is stolen," is as old as the hills, but it holds true even in this, the twentieth century.

More adequate fire protection has long been the talk in Brady. Last Sunday's fire demonstrated even to the most careless and thoughtless that Brady is in need of more fire plugs, more fighting equipment, and better fire fighting facilities.

When you see a home—the fruit of years of labor—being devoured by greedy flames, then is the thought brought home to you that another fire plug; another line of hose; new hose to replace the old—all these and many more should have been provided our volunteer firemen.

But what are you going to do about it? Forget the lesson you have just had, and slip back into the same old rut? Your turn may never come; on the other hand, it may be next.

NUMBER 1000.

This is issue Number 1,000 of The Brady Standard. In other words, since The Standard was established 999 editions of the paper have been put out, and this issue makes the 1000th. Incidentally, The Standard had a birthday a week or two ago—on March 25th, to be exact, when it attained its twelfth year. So while 1,000 issues of the paper may seem a whole lot, yet it has taken over twelve years to accomplish this fact. With the exception of a little more than two years, The Standard has been issued as a semi-weekly, being one of the most successful out of a total of about 32 semi-weekly papers issued in the immense state of Texas, the number including the semi-weekly editions of the great state dailies. So it can readily be seen that The Standard has been practically throughout its entire existence, in a class almost by itself. It has the advantage over a weekly paper in that it serves the news to its readers while it is news. It has the advantage over the daily in that its circulation covers both city and county, whereas the daily paper as a rule limits its circulation almost entirely to city subscribers.

Before it will have issued another 1,000 editions, The Standard will have lived another decade. Who knows what progress and development the next ten years will bring. The past ten years has seen Brady grow, build and improve upon all hands. The future looks brighter than ever; hence ten years from now The Standard will, doubtless, be recording another period of wonderful advancement.

We build as we aim!

Presence of Mind.

A commercial traveler, during an extensive journey in the provinces, took his wife with him. Being nervous about fires, he frequently impressed upon her the necessity of keeping a "cool head" should ever the danger occur, says London Tit-Bits.

At one hotel they were staying at a fire actually broke out. The commercial traveler roused his wife, assisted her to dress, and, to demonstrate the value of presence of mind, reached for his frock coat, silk hat and umbrella, and accompanied his wife into the street. There they watched the firemen in their work of subduing the outbreak.

"And now," remarked the husband to his wife, "you see the advantage of having a cool head."

"Yes, John," was the reply, "but you might have put your trousers on."

of approval and commendation of my stand upon various questions which are spoken to me by friends throughout the district, together with the strong solicitations I have had to again become a candidate for the office and honor of being your representative. My actions are an open book; by them I stand or fall in your judgment. I know I have given my best endeavors to serve the best interests of my country and my constituency, and I feel that I can safely rest my claims for re-election upon my record. For the greater part of my two terms in office, I have been a member of the appropriations committee, which, as all must recognize, is one of the most important of duties. The knowledge gained has been of great value, and will be of even greater value to both my constituents and myself in the future. I respectfully solicit the vote and support of every lady and gentleman voter.

Sincerely, your friend,
T. J. BEASLEY.

A Financial Diagnosis.

In a confidential little talk to a group of medical students an eminent physician took up the extremely important matter of correct diagnosis of the maximum fee. "The best rewards," he said, "come, of course, to the established specialist. For instance, I charge $25 a call at the residence, $10 for an office consultation, and $5 for a telephone consultation."

There was an appreciative and envious silence, and then a voice from the back of the theatre slightly thickened, spoke:

"Doc," it asked, "how much do you charge a fellow for passing you on the street?—Chicago Journal.

His Secret Smoke.

"You look very sad, little boy," said the old lady. "Can I be of any help to you?"

The little boy, who had been reading stories of the kind usually found in dime novels, struck an attitude and exclaimed:

"Hist, woman! Thou canst be of signal service to me, an' thou wilt. See'st yon tobaccy shop across the way? Take thiz bronze coin, and bid the scurvy knave within to supply thee with two cigaretties and a match! Be secret, and betray me not, or thy life shall pay the forfeit! I will await thee here. Begone!"

The Tragedy of Maud Marie. Katherine Negley in London Saturday Journal: This is the sad story of Maud Marie:

Her sweetheart invited her to go to a cabaret with him, and she wanted to look her very best.

After her perfumed bath she lay down on the couch and relaxed for half an hour.

Then she drew on her silk hose and her slippers which were very high of heel and very pointed of toe.

She massaged her face with cold cream, powdered it lightly, touched her lips, chin and cheeks with rouge, then powdered again.

Her eyebrows were already shaved to the regulation thin line and she darkened them a little with an eyebrow pencil.

She touched her eyelashes to make them look longer.

She puffed her hair over her ears and coiled it low in the back.

She manicured her nails and rubbed cold cream into her elbows.

Her skirt was very long and her waist was very low. Her hat and wrap were of the latest design.

She sat down in front of the mirror and practiced bringing and holding a sweet expression.

But when she finally arrived, she felt dreadfully undressed.

She had forgotten her head chain, and every lady there had some sort of beads around her neck.

Too Much.

Mother—"Georgie, Georgie, fighting with your little visitor! For shame!"

Georgie (panting)—"He said—he said I was like father!"

HEAVY SHOT IS GIVEN BLAIR WELL; BRIDGE NOW BEING DRILLED

A shot of one hundred and eighty quarts of nitro-glycerine was given the Blair well two miles north of May late Thursday night and the resulting bridge is being drilled out today. The lifting of the casing for the shot gave cause for a cave-in that occurred just before the shot was fired and this formed a bridge that prevented a flow following the shot. Considerable gas is escaping between the six and eight-inch casing in the well, however, it is said at noon today.

The drillers expect to clean out the well by Saturday morning, when it will be possible to ascertain to some extent, at least, the result of the shot. The value of the well which for these weeks has created considerable excitement in the northern part of the county—Brownwood Bulletin, Friday.

Conceited.

Mr. Biggins has a high opinion of himself. "Yes, if he could compel everybody to take him at his own valuation he'd be a terrible profiteer."

How He Figured It.

A medical corps officer chanced upon a negro acquaintance of civil life one day in France.

"How do you like the army, Mose?" he asked.

"Sall right so far, Cap'n," replied the negro, "but Ah don' know how I'm going to like it when dem Germans shoots at me."

"Don't worry about that," replied the officer. "All you have to do is to zig-zag." And he demonstrated. The next time the two met the negro was in a hospital.

"What's the matter with you, Mose?" asked the officer.

"I ain't sure, Cap'n, but Ah think I must have been ziggin' 'bout de time Ah oughta been zaggin'."

Worthy of Promotion.

"Why do you address that gentleman as 'major,' Sam? Has he ever been in the army?"

"Not dat I knows of, boss. But he don't never come in heah dat he don't give dis old nigger a quarter. Praise de Lawd! I see gwine to make him a 'gin-ral' befo' I die!"

ILLINOIS DOCTOR PRESCRIBES IT

Says He Has Never Known Medicine to Produce Results Like Tanlac.

Dr. B. H. Elder, with offices at 410 Shradski Bldg., Peoria, Ill., who has been in active practice for over forty years, says:

"Medical science has never before produced a medicine that brings results like Tanlac. I have been prescribing it some time with remarkable results. Personally I had suffered for years from stomach trouble and rheumatism and had devoted my best thought trying to find relief but to no avail. After eating, gas would form in my stomach and affect my heart, causing poor circulation, cold hands and feet, dizziness, peculiar feelings, terrible headaches and cramps. The rheumatism pained me so I could hardly stand to move my legs or arms.

"I had a patient who had also suffered for years with the same trouble as mine, and although I did all I could for him he got no better. One day, after he had been away for about six months, he came to my office and never in my life have I seen a man look better or seem to feel better than he did. He told me Tanlac was what had brought about the wonderful change. I began trying the medicine at once with the result that a few bottles relieved me entirely of stomach trouble, rheumatism and all other ailments. Although I am an extra hearty eater nothing ever disagrees with me any more. I have prescribed Tanlac in cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder disorders and a run-down condition with wonderful results, and I feel that I ought to give my experience with Tanlac to the public for the benefit of suffering humanity."

Tanlac is sold in Brady by Trigg Drug Co., in Mercury by J. T. Matlock, and in Rochelle by C. W. Carr.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side..."

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic."

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.

Sunday afternoon's fire proved disastrous to the fire boys, as well as to a large number of citizens who volunteered their assistance in handling the hose. Practically everyone was dressed in his Sunday clothes, and during the two hours of hard fighting, was completely drenched and be-spattered with mud. Silk shirts and brand new $80 suits were included in the damage, and the local tailor shops have been having a busy week restoring the clothes to their pristine glory.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Evans, of Ballinger, together with Miss Della Massey, Mrs. Evans' sister, are stopping over for a few days' stay with Mr. Evans' son, W. F. Evans' relatives in several different counties in West and North Texas. They are expecting a jolly time fishing and other out-door sport, as they expect to visit several ranches while in West Texas. STABLE AND STACK OF FEED DESTROYED ON JEFF BENSON PLACE SUN. NIGHT

A stable and a big stack of feed on the Jeff Benson place, 10 miles north of Brady, were sacrificed to flames Sunday night about 10:00 o'clock. The stable was the property of Curtis Benson of Brady and was used to house his Jack. Fortunately, the animal was free in the big lot enclosing the stable and so escaped the flames. After consuming the barn, the fire ran along a fence and communicated to a big stack of feed belonging to Mr. Benson, and which was also destroyed.

None of the family had been around the stable all day, according to Mr. Benson, and the fire is of unknown origin. A neighbor, who noticed the fire, drove about four miles to warn Mr. Benson, who was unaware at the time of the destruction taking place.

If fire should visit your home or your property tonight, would you be prepared—and protected? If not, see us at once and let us insure your property. Better safe than sorry. Anderson & Carrithers.

MABEL'S MISSION

By CARRIE GREENWAY.

Covington was cleaning up the desk. The upstairs girl, answering his ring for a larger waste basket, almost fell down the back stairs in her hurry to spread the news.

Covington had come to board at the Bradley's three years before, and since then no one could recall having seen the top of the desk. A little space in front, just large enough to write upon, was kept fairly clear, but for the rest Covington seemed to take a pride in the confusion he maintained and boasted that he could find anything he wanted at a moment's notice.

At the office his desk was scrupulously neat, but the roll top in his sitting room, used for his personal correspondence, was piled high with papers and books.

It might have continued so for another three years, but Covington was restless. He found the evening papers dull, the theatrical advertisements made no appeal to him, and books were intolerable.

In his restless roaming around the room his attention was attracted by the desk, and sinking into the chair he began to clean up. Here, at least, was a novel occupation, and soon he was busily engaged in reading over old letters and discarding those of no further interest.

Mabel's letters, of course, he kept in a drawer, the top one with the Yale lock. Well, perhaps it would be well to clear those out, too. Romance was dead. He had written her the proposal he seemed unable to make in person, and had added: "I shall not write again until your answer comes." That had been a fortnight ago.

His eyes caught a line in an advertisement in a theatrical paper that formed part of the litter of his desk. "Consider silence a polite negative," it ran. That was what he was doing. Mabel had not even taken the trouble to answer.

He viciously thrust the paper into the basket and caught up a letter. It was that check for his tailor. He had been positive he had mailed that; the subsequent argument had resulted in a transfer of his patronage, yet here was the check still inside. He was rather glad that he had commenced the cleaning up process.

There was another envelope under the pile of consular reports. He drew it out and his face blanched. It was the letter to Mabel. In some fashion it had slipped into the tangle on the desk. He remembered he had written a number of other letters at the same time. When he had done he snapped a rubber band about them and had given them to one of the fellows to take out.

What could she think of him? He had ceased his customary visits and had not even written. He slipped out of his house coat and into his dinner jacket. There was a telephone in the lower hall. Perhaps Mabel had not gone out.

It was her mother who answered, rather frigidly, with a certain note of disapproval in her voice. Mabel was in, but she was ill and had gone to her room. She did not think that she could see Mr. Covington.

But Covington was persistent and in the end he gained permission to call. He found her pale, with nervous lines in her face. She tried to laugh it off but he would not have it so.

"I have a special delivery message for you," he announced. "It should not have been a letter at all, but I guess I'm a sort of moral coward."
"Anyhow, I was cleaning up my desk at the house to-night and I found this. I thought it had been sent two weeks ago."

"Letters often go astray," she commented as she stretched out her hand to receive it.

"It was my fault," he said humbly. "You see, I've a desk up at the house and I've rather prided myself upon its confusion. Tonight I cleaned it up, just to have something to do, and I found this letter."

Something in his tone conveyed its import and she slowly broke the seal and glanced through the contents. At last she looked up.

"So that is the reason I have not heard from you lately," she said. "I wondered that you forgot the Apollo concert."

"That is only one count," he said humbly. "I did not bring the letter expecting that you would give the same answer I hoped for two weeks ago. I just wanted you to see that I was not quite as bad as you think I am."

"I did not give it great thought," she said, while the red, flooding her face, denied her words. "I thought that perhaps you were engrossed in some important deal."

"This is the most important deal in a man's life," he laughed a little bitterly. "And I have bungled it badly."

"Pity is akin to love," she reminded, "and do you know, Frank, I think I have a mission."

"And that?" he asked hoarsely.

"To keep that desk straight," she smiled.
