COMMITTEES MAKING GOOD PROGRESS WITH EXHIBIT PLANS

BRADY WATER & LIGHT CO. TO SO. SIDE OF SQUARE

Manager W. O. Kirchner announces the removal of the Brady Water & Light Co. office from its present location in the second story of the Brady National bank building to the building on the south side of the square now occupied by the Mexican restaurant. The move will be made on or before the first of the coming month. The new location is about midway of the west block on the south side, and will provide commodious quarters both for the water and light office and for storage of material and supplies. The light company for some time has been desirous of securing a down-town office, and the change will not only prove of greater convenience to patrons, but will enable them to keep closer check on goods carried in stock.

BRADY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MET IN BRADY IN ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The Brady Baptist association met the past week with the Brady Baptist church in annual meeting, and one of the best associations ever held is reported. There was a splendid attendance, much interest, good reports were had, and the workers received great encouragement from the meeting. In all, some 22 churches were represented, the delegates coming from all parts of the association.

The association was convened on Thursday of last week by the Rev. J. H. Taylor, moderator for the past four years. Miss Emma Young of Rochelle was clerk. At the election of new officers, Rev. Taylor was re-elected moderator, and Sterling Price of Eden was elected clerk. The next meeting will be held with the Pear Valley church.

MCCULLOCH COUNTY EXHIBIT GAINING INTEREST IN ALL PARTS COUNTY

A LARGE ATTENDANCE AND GREAT INTEREST MARK MEETINGS AT VARIOUS POINTS—SCHOOL DISTRICTS ORGANIZE AND WILL ARRANGE TO MAKE EXHIBITS.

The various committees which have been visiting school districts throughout the county in order to acquaint the citizens with the detailed plans and purposes of the McCulloch County Exhibit to be held on October 5th and 6th, return greatly encouraged by the large attendance had at the meetings, the interest aroused and the assurance of hearty co-operation. With but one or two exceptions, good meetings have everywhere been had, and organization of local committees has been made to co-operate with the central committee, as well as to arrange for local exhibits.

As indicative of the interest in the exhibit which is being manifested, Messrs. C. A. Trigg and Ed Broad, who visited the Cow Boy community the latter part of last week, report something like 75 or 100 citizens in attendance, and a genuine get-together meeting resulted, with the citizenship aroused to the greatest enthusiasm. Assurance was given the committee that Cow Boy would be represented at the meeting in creditable manner, and that the local committee would lend every effort towards co-operating for the complete success of the exhibit.

A meeting of the program and entertainment committee was held Wednesday afternoon, at which preliminary plans were made for the program of the big two-day... parade, in which school children, boy scouts, campfire girls, club boys and other organizations will participate, and in which merchants and business interests will be invited to have floats, will be one of the main events. It is hoped to have a first-class band here for the entire two days' program, and with band concerts and other forms of entertain-

OPENING OF NEW STRAND THEATRE WED. MARKED BY LARGE ATTENDANCE

A record-breaking attendance marked the opening of the new Strand theatre on the west side of the square Wednesday night, every seat in the house being occupied, and many being obliged to wait for the second show to gain admittance. A double row of automobiles was lined up clear across the west side of the square, even before the beginning of the first show at 7:30 o'clock.

To an exceptionally good program of pictures, was added the pleasure of a musical program furnished throughout the evening's performance by the Mexican orchestra. In addition to the feature film, "The Great Air Robbery," in which the world's most famous stunt aviator, Omer Locklear, performed a number of his daring feats, a two-reel comedy was shown, much to the enjoyment of the audience.

Mayor J. E. Shropshire formally opened the theatre with a brief address, in which he commended the enterprise of Manager W. E. Weeks for establishing so complete and up-to-date a play house and expressed confidence in Brady's appreciation of his efforts to the end that he might enjoy a most liberal patronage. A good program is assured at The Strand for the balance of the week, with Paramount and other high-class productions included in the booking.

FIRST SHIPMENT COMMERCIAL OIL MADE BY COOPER

The first shipment of commercial oil from McCulloch county has been made by A. W. Cooper, two carloads being sold and shipped to the Baney Refinery of Brownwood. The oil was produced in the White shallow field at Mercury, where Cooper has four producing wells. The oil is reported of high grade, with gravity test of 46, and the contract price was $4.25 per barrel.

Concerning this, and other activities in McCulloch county, the Texas Oil Ledger of Fort Worth, under date of September 3rd, has the following report:

It was announced here late today that the Thad O. Day No. 2 well was flowing over the top of the casing. The last shot of 50 quarts is believed to have materially aided in production which is estimated by some to be from 20 to 40 barrels per day at a depth of around 1,100 feet.

A. W. Cooper of Fort Worth who recently opened up a shallow field in the northern part of McCulloch County has commenced marketing his production the first ever commercially sold in this district. Two car loads were recently purchased by the Baney Refinery of Brownwood at a contracted price of $4.25 per barrel. The oil is of high grade and has a gravity test of 46.

Mr. Geo. E. Moon et al., drilled in a well yesterday that extends the field to the northeast. They got the sand at 360 feet. This well will be shot tomorrow.

Memphis Men Buy.
T. E. Sheaffer, H. J. Reiner and H. T. Knapp of Memphis, Tenn., who recently purchased several tracts of acreage on the Arrowhead anticline, adjoining the Cooper shallow field and the Lohn shallow field have returned home after a visit to the field this week. They will start drilling operations on their holdings at once.

Otto R. Winters, and O. L. Tally, who have purchased acreage near the field have their machinery on the ground and will spud in this week. The King 8 Oil Company No. 2, have purchased acreage and their machinery arrived at Mercury yesterday. They expect to drill a series of wells.

Harry Keiner and associates of Wichita Falls, have also purchased acreage in the Cooper field and expect to drill several wells. Their machinery is now on the road. They have also contracted to drill four wells for Mr. Cooper.

D. W. Wiggins et al., are also moving a rig on the ground to start a test of their holdings north of the field.

Going away to school? If you are, get your Fall bill before you leave and save money. Lots new Suits—Society Brand, Kuppenheimer and other brands—the best to be had, at KIRK'S, of Course. Nuf-Sed.

FIFE FINDINGS.

Citizens Enthusiastic About County Fair—Name Committees.

Fife, Texas, Sept. 7.

Editor Brady Standard:

The rains have stopped cotton from opening, and if we have no more rain picking will open up next week. The gin is ready to gin and is expecting a busy season.

S. H. Mayo was out from Brady Tuesday on business.

J. P. Cozby is back from Rifle, Colorado, where he has been prospecting for the past two months. John says he is satisfied to stay here now.

J. M. Doyle was a visitor at Brady Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Doole Sr., of Mason are visiting their daughter, Mrs. A. M. Finlay here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bradley visited relatives at Rockwood Tuesday.

L. A. Russell is at Eden this week on business.

Sidney McKeand and son, Jack, and daughter, Miss Maggie, are visiting relatives at Coleman this week.

Jim Selman and John Liverman were at Brady Monday on business.

Miss Beula Lawson of Corpus Christi is visiting her sister, Mrs. Otto Lange here this week.

Judge J. E. Brown and Elmer Baze of Brady were here Friday night to attend a meeting of the citizens of this school district to discuss the county fair proposition. After talks by the visitors it was unanimously agreed that we would do our part towards making the fair a success. The following committees were elected: Chairman, E. B. Baldridge; vice-chairman, Sidney McKeand; Sec'y-Treas., Mrs. E. L. Guyton. Finance Committee: J. W. Larkin, James Finlay and Thos. Mitchell. Exhibit Committee: R. K. Catarthal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarthal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarthal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are cured by Catarthol, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarthol medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surface of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarthal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarthol Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 75c. F. J. CHEENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and chills.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

Million Dollar Rains Come Too Often—Dry Weather Wanted.

Brady, Texas, Sept. 7.

Editor Brady Standard:

We are wishing for the million dollar rains to let up now, as they are coming entirely too often. One came Saturday and Sunday morning and one Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dosier from Brady visited her brother, J. Shaver and family from Saturday until Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Dillard and B. D., Jr., visited at J. T. Horn's at Fredonia from Friday until Sunday afternoon. They say crops are not near so good there as here.

Miss Bernice Winstead and Gladys Jones from Coleman visited at H. L. Winstead's from Friday until Sunday. They returned to Coleman Sunday afternoon.

Miss Olive Dillard went down to Brady Sunday to be there for opening of school Monday morning.

Chas. Hilliard and family and Miss Helen Newton spent the day at Mr. Ferris' Sunday.

Grandma Shaver came out Monday for a week's visit in the home of J. Shaver and family.

Misses Selma and Thelma Dillard and Ethel Newton visited Jewel and Cleo McShan Sunday.

PEAR VALLEY WHISPERS.

George Rogers Improving Nicely at Temple Sanitarium.

Pear Valley, Texas, Sept. 7.

Editor Brady Standard:

Oh my! did you ever see so much rain? Pear Valley is still receiving her "daily."

Mr. and Mrs. George Vineyard, Arlos and Carrie Ludwick went to Llano Friday, returning here Monday. Miss Maudie Belle Reed accompanied them home.

Charley Davee is spending a few days here in the home of his brother, Will Davee.

Among those who attended the Association at Brady from here, all or part of the time, were: Mrs. Richard Brown, Mrs. J. Reed, Mr. Cobern, Mr. Joe Russell, Misses Lola Bullock, Lizzie Faulkner and Dulah Russell.

Edwin Shannon of San Antonio is back in the Valley greeting old friends and relatives.

The musical at Jack Jones' Monday night was enjoyed by all present, with Jack Ferguson picking the guitar and Edwin Shannon playing the violin, we are always sure of a musical treat.

Messrs. Crockett Reed, Jack Jones, Pet Reed and Dutch Kizer went to Llano Monday night. Mr. Jones went after a truck.

Brother Ferguson, sons, Craven and Jack, and Homer Seymour made a trip to Ingram, Kerr county, last week.

The young folks enjoyed a singing at the Baptist church Saturday night. Ivan Elliott and Willys Faulkner made a business trip to Brady Monday.

We are glad to report that recent news from George Rogers, who is in a sanitarium at Temple, says that he is much improved, but is getting very anxious to come back home. His many friends are hoping that he will be

WONDER WORDS.

Hunting Season Opens in Oregon—Dry Times There.
Wonder, Ore., Sept. 1.
Editor Brady Standard:

This is called the first day of Autumn. And it is still as dry as a powder house. Springs, wells and creeks have gone dry that never did so before; at least during the last twenty years to my own personal knowledge. This is truly a bone-dry country in every sense of the word.

Today the hunting season opened for deer, and you may listen to hear of someone being shot (by mistake they call it) at any time. But I don't call it a mistake. I call it cussed carelessness, or D—d! doesn't mean Doctor Divine, either!

When I was writing on the hog question I forgot to tell you what I heard, tho' don't know whether it is so or not. That ex-governor James Hogg of Texas, had a daughter named Ima and one named Ura. That would sound like "I'm a hog and you're a hog. (Ima Hogg and Ura Hogg)."

I read a good one yesterday in a farm journal. The jealous pig said to the sheep: "You think you're the whole cheese, don't you?"

The ram replied, "No, I don't! but I'm the best farm butter; and don't you forget it!"

"O. L. C. U. R. RIGHT."

When you have an achey, stretchy feeling and you are dull, tired and discouraged it is a sign of approaching malaria or chills. You should act quickly to ward off an attack. HERBINE offers you the help you need. It destroys the malarial germ, drives out all impurities and makes you feel bright, vigorous and cheerful. Sold by Central Drug Store and Trigg Drug Store.

His Preference.

"An easy job would suit me, boss."
"How about winding the clocks every week?"

"Well, I might make that do, tho' I'd prefer the job of tearing the leaves off the calendars every month."—Boston Transcript.

Knew Them Both.

The young instructor was holding a class on board one of his majesty's ships. Grammar was the subject his bright and uninterested pupils were trying to tackle.

"What are the two principal parts of a sentence?" he asked an old salt. Expecting of course, the answer, "Subject and predicate."

After much meditation, Jack finally plunged into it.

"Solitary confinement and bread and water."

SHERIFF'S SALE.

The State of Texas, County of McCulloch.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain execution issued out of the Honorable Justice Court of Precinct No. 1, McCulloch County, on the 26th day of July, 1920, by N. G. Lyle, Justice of the Peace of said Court for the sum of Two Hundred Fifty-five and 5/100 ($255.05) Dollars and costs of suit, under a Judgment, in favor of C. W. Scott in a certain cause in said Court, No. 2086 and styled C. W. Scott vs. O. A. McShan, placed in my hands for service, I, J. C. Wall as Sheriff of McCulloch County, Texas, did, on the 27th day of July, 1920, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in McCulloch County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

Two Hundred Sixty-two and one-tenth (262 1/10) acres of land situated in McCulloch County, Texas, and being all of the Emil Begeman Survey No. 1032, Abst. No. 123, Cert. No. 753, patented to F. Berkemeier by patent No. 124, Vol. 17, save and except 80 acres off of the West end of said Survey No. 1032, heretofore conveyed to S. E. Alexander by O. A. McShan and wife, by deed dated the 10th day of June 1916, recorded in Vol. 32, page 348, deed records of McCulloch County, Texas, leaving by a re-survey and corrected survey of said survey No. 1032, the sum of 262 1/10 acres of land and levied upon as the property of O. A. McShan and that on the first Tuesday in October 1920, the same being the 5th day of said month at the Court House door, of McCulloch County, in the City of Brady, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said execution I will sell above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said O. A. McShan.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Brady Standard, a newspaper published in McCulloch County.

Witness my hand, this 7th day of September 1920.

The KITCHEN CABINET

The creation of a joyous, harmonious, altruistic home is a work sacred enough to win an angel from her harp, or a monarch from his throne.—E. B. Herbert.

THREE MEALS A DAY.

The every day problem of preparing nourishing food in the right quantity, with little waste and a reasonable expenditure, is the work of twenty million housewives in the United States. In cities where the community kitchen has been established, where families may purchase a cooked meal, much of the labor, fuel and good health of the women may be conserved. Where the servant problem was difficult in days past it is now unsolvable, for we are coming to the place where "there ain't no such animal" they are not to be had at any price.

The labor saving in this plan is worth considering. If 40 homes in any community bought meals, even the saving of dish-washing (as the dishes in some places are sent and returned to be washed) would give the housemother many hours a day to attend to other household duties, saving her strength, good looks and temper.

Instead of using the telephone to order the day's supply of foods or marketing from place to place, in towns where co-operative or community kitchens are established, she simply orders the meal prepared for that day, and it is delivered in piping-hot receptacles, with dishes for serving if so desired. In a few minutes the meal is on the table, and afterward there are no cooking dishes to be washed. A motor appears and gathers the food containers; these will be washed in steam vats, hundreds of them at once. The economy of this enterprise will appeal to most householders, as it does away with the cost of the fuel burned in the forty or a hundred homes preparing that meal. Food bought in such quantities can be purchased much cheaper, as everyone knows.

These community kitchens have proved successful in several cities, and are growing in popularity. The cost of the plant, to begin with, the salary of the manager and helpers, has all been met with a fair profit in most cases, and so far this seems to be the only ray of light for the servantless home.

What a young man earns during the day goes into his pocket; but what he spends in the evening goes into his character.—Dr. T. L. Cuyler.

WHAT TO EAT.

Bread made with buttermilk is fine of texture, tender and especially good.

Take one and one-fourth pints of sweet fresh buttermilk, and one tablespoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-half of a compressed yeast cake and flour to make a stiff batter. Scald half a pint of sifted flour with the buttermilk, then add the salt and sugar. Dissolve the yeast in a little tepid water. When it is a little more than lukewarm add it to the batter. Beat thoroughly and set to rise overnight in a warm place. In the morning it should be very light and covered with air bubbles, which break when the cover is removed.

When mixing the batter take three quarts of flour, a tablespoonful of lard and one-half teaspoonful of soda, and more salt if needed. Add to the sponge and water to make a smooth stiff dough. Knead fifteen minutes and set to rise in a warm place. Cover closely to exclude the air. When the dough is light mold into loaves. Set to rise again and when light bake as carefully as if it were cake.

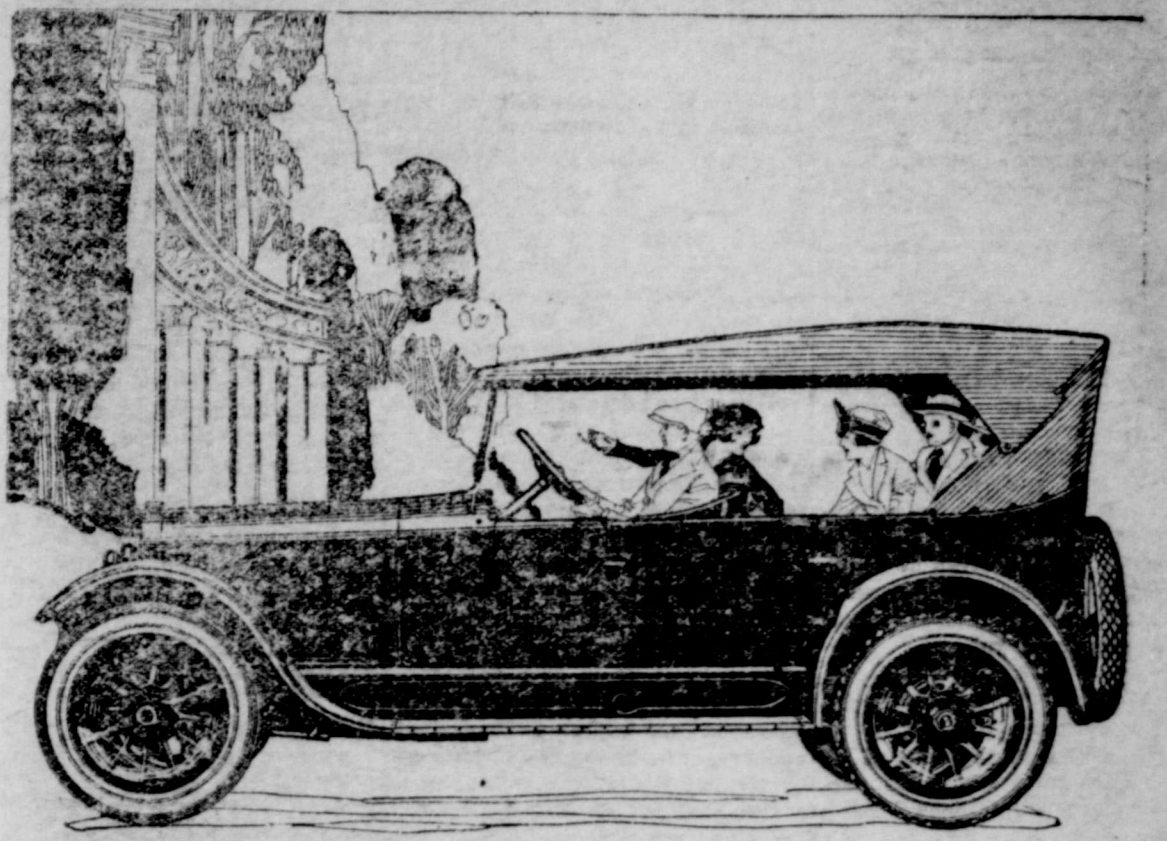

Sally Lunns.—Take four cups of flour, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of butter, one-quarter of a tablespoonful of salt, one yeast cake, two eggs, half a cupful of milk and water. Crumble the yeast cake into a cup, put with it one teaspoonful each of sugar and flour; add half a cupful of lukewarm water and stand in a warm place for fifteen minutes. Sift into a bowl the flour, salt and sugar; rub in the butter. Pour the yeast into the center of the flour, add the eggs well beaten, milk and enough lukewarm water to make a very soft dough. Mix and beat well with a wooden spoon; set in a warm place to rise for one hour. Grease three round cake tins and place the mixture in these. Let stand in warm place till risen to the top of the tins. Brush over with beaten egg. Bake in a hot oven for ten minutes. They should be lightly browned all over. Stand a minute before turning out. They may be buttered and eaten fresh, but are usually split in three and toasted when a day old.

Swellings of the flesh caused by inflammation, cold, fractures of the bone, toothache, neuralgia or rheumatism can be relieved by applying BAL-LARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It should be well rubbed in over the part affected. Its great healing and penetrating power eases the pain, reduces swelling and restores natural conditions. BUICK

STURDILY built—designed for power and dependability, possessing grace and beauty in every line—the new Buick Nineteen Twenty One series signally upholds the traditions that have made the name Buick a notable word in the automotive industry.

Two decades have more than justified the unwavering fidelity to the accepted engineering ideals to which Buick stands committed. The same rugged Valve-in-Head motor refined is a distinguishing feature of every model.

In appearance, the Buick Nineteen Twenty One series is notable for the harmonious blending of low, graceful body lines; in appointments, for those added refinements that so materially increase the pleasure and comfort of motoring.

In addition to the general features of the new models the Buick Five-Passenger Touring Car (Twenty One Forty Five) possesses a roominess of tonneau and new arrangement of seating that afford occupants the utmost in riding comfort. For the business man or his family, for the needs of city driving or country driving, this model excels because of its capacity for varied service.

Whatyegot To Eat?
Never thought about it much
In the days of long ago,
That it was a boyish touch,
Then it was a boyish touch,
Then I didn't seem to know.
Never thought that I'd recall
Simple words that he'd repeat
As he rushed into the hall:
"Whatyegot to eat?"

Started as a lad of five,
Clamoring for cake or pie,
"Hungriest little boy alive,"
Many and many a time, said I.
He'd come bounding in from play,
Seeking me on eager feet
And excitedly he'd say:
"Whatyegot to eat?"

Home from school he'd daily run,
Thinking of the pantry shelf,
Cookies vanished one by one.
When he'd learned to help himself,
"Hello, Ma; I'm back again!"
Was his little greeting sweet,
Then a boyish smile, and then:
"Whatyegot to eat?"

Wish that I could hear it now,
Never dreamed I'd miss it so.
Wish that I could know, somehow,
That old joy of long ago.
But he stands across the sea
Serving in the Battle's heat
And he cannot say to me:
"Whatyegot to eat?"

What a glorious day 'twill be,
When the cruel war is done,
And the boys come home from sea
With the victories they've won!
Oh, the joy to hear him then
Saying gladly as we meet,
"Hello, Ma, I'm back again!
Whatyegot to eat?"
—Edgar A. Guest.

REPUBLICAN PAPER COMES OUT FOR COX—LEADERS BROKE FAITH

Norristown, Pa.—Declaring that Republican leadership in the country has broken faith with the rank and file of the party, with the American people as a whole, and with humanity everywhere, and that the Democratic platform offers "peace, lasting peace, builded on the justice of the golden rule which humanity is praying for," the Norristown Times, a Republican newspaper since its founding in 1881, announces that, in accordance with the dictates of conscience and in the belief that it is doing a patriotic and humanitarian duty, it can not do other than support Cox and Roosevelt for president and vice president.

The Times' denunciation of the Republican platform and tactics has caused a sensation in this Republican stronghold. It sets forth that "for the sake of gratifying hate the Republican leadership would pass over the glory of American boys on the bloody stretches of France and Belgium, breaking faith with those who returned as well as those who died."

Republicans are charged by the Times with premeditating the murder of the treaty, dishonoring the word "Americanism," and ignoring the sentiment of the people of the country with their "double-faced platform." The league of nations is indorsed, and it is contended that, with the assistance of the United States, lasting peace will be crystallized into an actual fact.

BRADY, TEXAS, Sept. 10, 1920

HONEST INJUN.

Our guess is that Brady and McCulloch county have a "whopper" population. The census bureau at Washington has been counting ever since January, and hasn't gotten all of our citizens enumerated yet.

A good friend of ours tells about some folks down in South Texas who got mad at the editor because of his political opinions in the recent election, and planned swift and terrible revenge. They gave him ten new subscribers to his paper. Inasmuch as the subscription price does not cover the cost of blank paper, these partisans figured the worst thing they could do to the editor was to make him work for less than nothing.

SNAP SHOTS.

Newspaper "columns" as a rule, bear a 75 per cent resemblance to a bride's wedding ring—something old, something new, something borrowed—but nothing "blue."

Why is the Sky Blue?

Not one person in a hundred could give a satisfactory answer to the question. And yet the explanation, as given by Professor W. H. Bragg, at the Royal Institution, is quite simple.

The blue sky, he explained, is due to the interception by particles in the atmosphere of the blue rays which form a part of the white light of the sun. The parts of white light conveyed by longer red and yellow light waves manage to jump the many substances in the atmosphere and are seen at sunrise and sunset.

The professor illustrated his meaning by showing a disc of light on the screen which, passing through a bowl of water, became gradually redder as the water got cloudier, till at last, after an imitation of the sun in November fog, it faded away.

Professor Bragg has also revealed some of the mysteries of sound. If you put a stick in a revolving bowl of water, it sets up little whirlpools behind it. In the same way, the wind rushing past trees forms whirlwinds on the same scale, and these cause those sounds so admirably described by the imitative word "soughing." Similar sounds are set up by telegraph wires.

CONFECTIONERY TO BE OPENED ON EAST SIDE

A. B. Stobaugh, who disposed of his tailoring business the first of the week to J. B. Baker of Santa Anna, announces that he will open a modern and strictly high-class cold drink emporium and confectionery in his quarters on the East Side, adjoining S. A. Benham's store. Associated with Mr. Stobaugh in the new venture is Claude Wood. The new firm has purchased the fountain tables, chairs and complete cold drink equipment of the Trigg Drug Co., which will be installed in their quarters as soon as present plans of renovation and improvement are completed. The interior of the building is to be entirely refinished, the walls being covered with sanitary wall board, and decorated in attractive colors. A line of confections will be added, and it is also the intention of the new firm to serve light lunches along with cold and hot drinks.

The building is especially well-located for the purpose intended, and with assurance of the patronage heretofore given the Trigg fountain, Messrs. Stobaugh & Wood are certain of success in their new endeavors. They are now engaged in making the alterations and improvements desired, and expect to be ready for business by the early part of next week.

turbance when swimming through the water, although there is a rushing noise when a stone is flung in?

This is explained by the fact that, in the latter case, it is the filling of the cavity that is made, rather than the mere impact, which causes the noise, whereas the body of the fish is so shaped that when it moves through the water it leaves no such cavity behind it and therefore there is no disturbance.

Unfortunate Comparison.

When a person solemnly states that he "worked like a dog," all day it is probable he hasn't considered the correct meaning of the phrase. The Concordia (Kan.) Press says that if this were literally true the twenty-four hours would be spent thus. One hour digging out a rat, two hours gnawing a bone, one hour waiting for a cat to come down from a tree, half an hour begging to come into the house and the rest of the time sleeping on a mat in front of the door fighting fleas.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Silvers have the sympathy of their friends in the death of their infant child, which passed away Monday after living but a day.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Roberts have the sympathy of all in the loss of their baby boy, who died Monday, aged one year, one month and one day. The death is the second in the family in the past two weeks, another infant having passed away Saturday, August 21st, after living but a day.

Mrs. W. M. Harrison and daughter, Virginia Frances, left Monday for San Antonio to visit her mother, Mrs. J. P. Schaege, who is recuperating there from the operation which she underwent at Austin a few weeks ago. Mrs. Schaege is reported making an excellent recovery, and will probably be enabled to return to Brady within the next few weeks.

W. M. Allen, former Brady citizen, and who sold out his interest in the produce business at Eden early in the year, was here this week and reported that he had decided to make his home at Junction. Mr. Allen has not fully decided what line of endeavor he will pursue, but his two months' residence at that place, has convinced him that Junction offers an ideal location for him. All his McCulloch county friends wish him every success in whatever he may undertake.

C. B. Harris of Locker was in Brady Wednesday, and reported just having concluded the sale of his farm in the Pear Valley community to R. M. Bundick. The land contains 128 acres, and the sale included a one-fourth interest in 30 acres of cotton. The purchase price was $4800. Mr. Harris says the farm has the finest cotton crop he has ever seen in his life. He is disposing of all his holdings in McCulloch and San Saba counties, and expects to locate in New Mexico the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilensky and little daughter returned Wednesday, Mr. Wilensky having been on a marketing trip, while Mrs. Wilensky and daughter visited with her parents in Dallas. Mr. Wilensky states that he visited both St. Louis and Chicago markets, and that he has bought extensstocks in all lines of merchandise. By reason of his extensive purchases and careful buying, he was enabled to secure much of his stock at lower prices than quoted on the open markets; consequently he will be enabled to make some interesting offers to his patrons during the fall and winter buying season.

PRUNES FROM OREGON—THEY GROW SWEET AND JUICY IN NORTHWEST

The Standard editor the first of the week received the following interesting epistle from our good friend, J. T. Roberson, more popularly known to our readers as "O. I. C. U. R. Right." The letter read: "I sent to you today by parcel post a small box of prunes. A few small sugar prunes (the purple ones) and a few egg prunes. I forgot the right name for them. The names of egg and silver are only nicknames, on account of their size, shape and color. They are very fine for canning and preserves. I had to pick them rather green to send so far and of course they are not as sweet as when ripened on the tree; and yet they may be too ripe when they reach you."

Well, sir, the prunes arrived in due time, and in first-class shape, and confirmed the editor's suspicion of long standing that prunes are nothing more or less than evaporated plums. Our other friend, Noah Webster, confirms this suspicion and elucidates that prunes are such plums as may be dried without removal of the pit, and without process of fermentation. So prunes are prunes—when they are dried in good old prohibition style.

But speaking with reference to Friend Roberson's prunes, we have no hesitancy in voting in favor of the silver prunes. They are smaller than the silver prunes, and red as compared with the latter's yellow—but they are really as sweet as sugar. At that, the silver prune is some good eating, and everybody should have a tree or two in his own back yard. We rather suspect this is the case with Friend Roberson—but if he grows all the varied and numerous products he has been writing us about, in his back yard, then that back yard must be the size of a small plantation.

To say the least, we are grateful to Friend Roberson for his kind remembrance, and assure him that the prunes were delicious and were appreciated accordingly. (P. S.—Prunes and Suppose There Could be No More Telephones—?

Suppose we should say today: "We will install no more telephones in this town!"

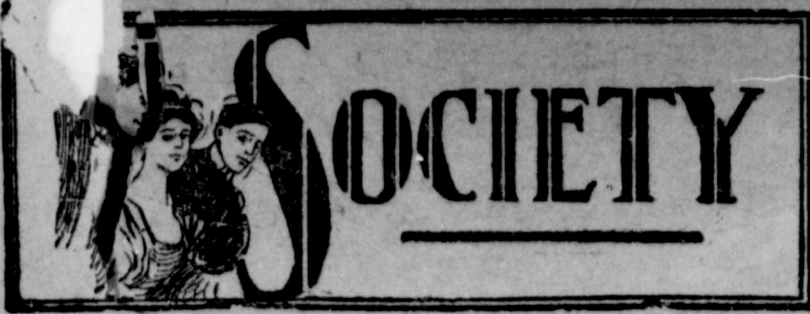

Immediately you would be alarmed and indignant, because the telephone company is expected to supply telephones to fit the needs of the citizenship.

But—it takes money to furnish the lines, the equipment, the labor, to install a telephone. Somebody must continue to supply that money if the telephone exchange is to grow with the town. And that "somebody"—the investor—will supply no money for a business that cannot pay dividends.

That is why we continue to say that telephone rates must be adequate to pay dividends and interest to the holders of the company's stock and bonds. Because, if we cannot pay them, we cannot get additional money—and when we cannot get money we cannot continue adding telephones!

AN OVERALL EXCHANGE

By OTILLIA F. PFEIFFER

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

"This overall propaganda is the limit, Tilden," spoke the proprietor of the general store at Gresham. "I suppose you know that denims have gone up over one hundred per cent in price?"

"I didn't," replied sturdy Aaron Tilden, old farmer and a lifetime customer of the first speaker, "and, although I need some right now, I'll not bankrupt myself by such reckless catering to this high cost of living extortion."

"Well, I'll favor you as I wouldn't many people," observed the storekeeper. "A new stock is coming in tomorrow, but I have a half bolt of the blue you like so well, old stock. You can have it at the old price, too."

"Thank you," nodded Tilden. "I'll be fair with you as to what potatoes you need," and departed with his team, congratulating himself on securing a real bargain.

"For mercy's sake!" exclaimed his wife as, reaching home, he carried in his purchase. "What do you ever suppose we can do with all that lot of goods?"

"Why, I'm always ready for a new outfit. Dick will be home from school next month and will want a roughing it suit, and I'll guarantee neighbor Forbes, with two grown-up daughters, will be glad to take the balance off our hands."

Fortwith Mrs. Tilden set at work to make four suits, two for her husband and two for her son. The latter were destined to play a prominent part in the career of a stranger who became a member of the Tilden household a week later. He was a young man from the city named Boyd Wisner, looking for comfortable board and lodging for a month amid the peace and quiet of nature. He had been directed to the Tilden farm as the select and ideal place where plain home living meant luxury to the man with a healthy appetite, and he walked out to the farm, took one look at its happy faced, buxom mistress and the evidences of comfort and prosperity about the home, and felt that he was among friends from the start.

"Sort of over stylish for us, isn't he, Maria?" suggested her husband, when their boarder appeared at the breakfast table the next morning wearing the light fancy suit of the afternoon previous.

"Oh, no," came the prompt reply. "Mr. Wisner has been telling me of his troubles. His trunk didn't arrive when he did and he won't have a change of clothing until it does. He is going to the station to see about it first thing after breakfast."

But two hours investigation and telegraphing brought no results. Somewhere along the line the trunk had been lost, stolen or delivered to the wrong person.

"It won't take long to ruin this flimsy outfit I'm wearing among the bushes and brambles," remarked Wisner. "I came here to rough it, and any old suit would do if you could hunt one up for me."

"Why," exclaimed the helpful housewife, "if you're not too proud to wear overalls I can fit you out wonderfully well. Our son is about your build. I just finished two new working suits for him last week and you can wear either of them, or both, until your trunk is found."

"I declare!" exclaimed Wisner as he viewed himself newly attired in the mirror, "they actually become me. Mrs. Tilden, you are a jewel and I can play the happy farmer boy to perfection."

Just that Boyd Wisner set himself the task of doing. It became a novelty and a joy to share in the early morning work on the farm and get up a satisfactory appetite before breakfast. That jaded sensation of ennui began to dissipate under the spur of healthy exercise. Then afterwards he would take his fishing rod, and no Isaac Walton ever enjoyed more the sport of angling for a supper supply of rare speckled trout.

He was returning homeward with his usual string of fresh water beauties when a figure, that of a girl of about nineteen, crossed the path lining a perfect wildwood tangle, lost her footing and disappeared where the edge shelved. She was a blur of blue color, for she wore a skirt and waist of the same material as his overalls. Wisner caught the echo of a faint cry. He hurried to the path and glanced down among the bushes. The fairy in denim was recovering her poise where a ledge enabled her to sustain a temporary footing.

"Don't waver, or you will have another tumble," called down Wisner. He threw himself flat and extended his arms. A face of flushing beauty looked up into his own. A pair of delicate white hands accepted his proffered help.

"Marjorie!" How much that utterance expressed to him, for here strangely was the girl whom he had parted from in the city a week previously, he in a tiff because she snubbed at a rival, she nettled and imperiously declaring that "all was over between them!"

"Fate seems to have brought us together again," he said with earnest feeling. "Shall we forget the past and imagine ourselves farm boy and farm girl, begin life—and love—all over again?"

Marjorie Date placed a willing hand within his own, and the forest glade echoed with exquisite bird song, and life seemed to have a new meaning for them.

Benham's

Quality

When You Think of Benham's You Always Think of Quality

For over ten years, Benham's Millinery Parlor has been the fashion center of this section. This year our display of hats is more beautiful, more varied, more complete than ever before known. Our Fall and Winter styles include the most attractive of models—a hat for every occasion—a hat to match every garment—a hat to suit every purse. New arrivals most every day.

Benham's showing of Dresses and Suits is the equal of the metropolitan stores. Styles direct from fashion headquarters. Dainty, hand-embroidered garments—beautiful and serviceable garments—are here in endless array. A visit to our store will enable you to see what the style centers of the U. S. are wearing this Fall.

In Dress Goods there is an endless variety of new shades, colors and combinations—Silks, Serges, Poppins, Satins, etc.

Have a big line of New Skirts—you'll find here the smartest of styles and the most original of designs.

A big line of Children's Sweaters, Sweater Caps and Tam o' Shanters—just the thing to keep the kiddies warm this winter.

In Novelties we are showing everything that's new or popular—Brooches, Pins, Beads, dainty and novel Neckwear, Vanity Cases, Handbags, Canteens, etc.

If It's New If It's Popular You'll Find It at

ROSH HOSHANA, JEWISH NEW YEAR, TO BE OBSERVED HERE MONDAY

Next Monday, September 13th, marks the dawn of the year 5681, according to the Jewish calendar, and orthodox Jews all over the world will observe it as their New Year's day, closing their places of business, and observing the day as a feast day. As a matter of fact, two days really comprise the New Year's celebration, but local members of the Jewish race will observe only the first day—Monday—by closing their business and enjoying a holiday. The tenth day after New Year's is observed as a fast day.

THE UNROMANTIC MR. DALE
 By HAYDEN T. PRICE

(By 1524, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
 Marjorie Rogers had looked forward ever since February to Dale's visit at Eastertime. Dale was her brother's roommate at college. Brother Harry had "raved" about the great Dale in letters and on his visits home. He was one of the "big" men of the class, Harry claimed. And Marjorie's married sister, Alice, had met Dale on the occasion of her visit as chap- eron at the Junior Hop in February. Alice, like brother Harry, returned to praise the charm and clever, spark- ing personality of Dale.
 Marjorie, just turning eighteen, had heard so much about Dale that her girlish imagination had seized upon him as a subject for day-dreams. And when, in March, Harry had sent a copy of his Class Annual, the first thing Marjorie did was to look up Dale's picture among the seniors.
 A humorous descriptive sketch accompanied each senior's picture, and the sketch describing Dale pictured him as a young man too serious in his work to recognize the existence of the fair sex. It was not that Dale was unimaginative or a woman-hater. It was almost worse than that, thought Marjorie, for a woman-hater at least recognizes the existence of women and romance, but the serious Mr. Dale was so busy that he was in- different, chillingly indifferent, to girls, moonlight on lakes, porch swings for two on summer nights, and all other trappings and accessories of romance.
 Marjorie's heart sank a little as she read this disquieting description of Dale. What chances would she have with such a man, even though he was going to spend a week in the spring of the year?
 That afternoon Brother Harry and Dale were to arrive for the Easter vaca- tion. Marjorie lived in a state of suppressed excitement all day and felt that 5 o'clock would never come. At 4 the telephone rang and Marjorie answered.
 Her eighteen-year-old heart nearly stopped when a voice, announced as the property of Jerry Dale, conveyed the news that the boys had missed a train connection and wouldn't be home until 7. "I wonder if he heard my heart beating," said Marjorie to herself as she hung up.
 This delay in the arrival of the young men hardly made her more pa- tient. As a relief from her restlessness Marjorie went to the station to meet their train. When the train pulled in her heart was beating as only a girl's heart can beat under the urge of a star worship. What would he look like? Would he think her at- tractive? She was vaguely subcon- scious of the fact that other young men thought her attractive, but of what use was that if the great Dale didn't think so?
 "There's Madge!" cried her brother, as the train came to a stop. In a mo- ment she was being bear-hugged by Harry.
 "Why, what's the matter with your voice, Harry?"
 "Nothing much—just a cold, but I can't speak above a whisper. That's why Jerry had to do the telephoning when we missed our train."
 Then came the big moment. "Madge, this is Mr. Dale—Jerry Dale."
 Madge on the way home re-lived that moment when her hand rested in his. She liked to recall that there was nothing pertentious in his handshake. He had seemed to hold her hand rather tightly. But probably, she thought, she was mistaken. Probably the wish was father to the thought with her.
 She drove the car back from the station and between her busy thoughts and her eagerness to catch Dale's voice her driving would have caused worry to the founders of the Safety First movement.
 They drew up before the house and Marjorie's little heaven was nearly complete when Jerry Dale helped her from the car.
 She began to wonder if Mr. Dale had changed suddenly since his class- mates had described him as being "so serious for romance."
 But her happiness was short-lived. In a moment of last late arrival, and because of his inability to be in- terested in the telephone, Harry—her own brother—asked her to call up Ethel Marbridge and tell that young lady that he and Mr. Dale would be over to call on her that evening.
 Now it so happened that of all the young ladies in the little town Ethel Marbridge found least favor in Mar- jorie's eyes. But how could a brother remember a detail like that? And how could her brother know that Dale would so much in her life and thoughts?
 So she bit her lip and went to the telephone. She was sure she hated her brother in that moment.
 Marjorie called up Miss Marbridge and as casually as possible delivered the message. In her heart she felt certain that she had caught a little mischievous laugh of triumph in Ethel Marbridge's voice, and felt certain that Ethel was enjoying her discomfiture.
 The day was spoiled for Marjorie—even the Easter week was a dismal failure. She began to blame herself. After all it was rather presumptuous to have hoped that she might meet anything to Mr. Dale.
 She remembered when her famous ex-thought Dale had held her hand at the station, with something of significance in his clasp. Tears came into her eyes at the thought.
 That evening Dale and her brother called on Ethel Marbridge and it was 10 o'clock the next morning when Marjorie saw them again.
 "Madge," said Brother Harry in a husky whisper, "you'll have to act as our social secretary. My throat won't permit me to do any telephoning, so I'll have to ask you again to call up Ethel Marbridge and tell her we'll be over about 2 o'clock this afternoon."
 Dale was sitting in the room, smoking and reading the morning paper. For a moment Marjorie tried to contain herself. She was vaguely con- scious of wanting to avoid showing what a little temper she had when aroused. But restraint went flying at this second instance of brotherly blind- ness.
 "I'll not do anything of the sort, Harry. I'm sorry, but—well, I don't like Ethel Marbridge and I'll not tele- phone to her." She forgot for an an- gered instant Dale's presence in the room and went on: "I won't give that girl a chance to laugh at me. I'm sure she knows how I've been looking forward to Mr. Dale's—"
 Her sentence went unfinished. With a quick glance at Dale and a little cry of confusion she rushed from the room in tears.
 "Well, I'll be hanged," remarked Brother Harry, stunned. "I never saw her act like that before. I always thought she was a blushing violet. Al- lice," he said to his older sister, who had just entered, "what's the matter with Madge? I just asked her to phone to Ethel Marbridge, and she flatly refused. Flew into a rage and said something to the accompaniment of flashing eyes, about having looked forward to Jerry's visit. Can it be that— By George, I'll bet that's it!"
 "Of course that's it," said the shrewd and observant Alice. "Only a blind and stupid brother would have failed to notice it. Why, she's been moon- ing over Mr. Dale's picture ever since the annual came."
 "Excuse me, please," said Jerry, ris- ing. "I have to go up to my room for something."
 But Dale did not reach his room. On the way to his room he had to pass a little alcove on the second floor, and from that alcove he heard sounds of crying. He knew it was Marjorie. He hesitated a moment and then went in.
 "Don't cry, please, Marjorie," said Jerry. He felt a great desire to com- fort her. However, Jerry had had very little experience with girl psy- chology, so his resolution went to bits when at his first words of attempted comfort Marjorie turned on him, eyes blazing, and all humiliated at the re- membrance of her half-uttered con- fession of what Dale meant to her.
 "Please leave me. I'm crying about something else," said Marjorie in a denial that was the best confession.
 "I don't care what you're crying about," said Jerry. "Don't cry at all. I—I don't like to see you cry."
 "I guess I can cry if I want to. Please let me pass. I want to tele- phone to Miss Marbridge."
 To the uninitiated Jerry this exhibi- tion of perverse feminine psychology was a puzzle. Hadn't her protests to Brother Harry meant anything? Why had she refused to telephone in the first place? Girls were funny and variable, thought Jerry Dale.
 Marjorie brushed past him and started for the telephone at the other end of the hall. She had given the number when Jerry, still remonstrat- ing, reached her side. His pleadings were of no avail. Marjorie was bent on telephoning, cost what it would to her heart.
 She was sure she hated Dale as much as she hated her brother and the world in general that fine April morning. What right had Dale to overhear her impulsive revelation of his significance in her thoughts?
 "Hello," is this Ethel Marbridge?" asked Marjorie in her sweetest voice. "This is Marjorie Brown." She was on the point of delivering her brother's message when a strong hand was placed over her lips and another took the receiver away from her ear. She was held in Jerry's arm away from the telephone.
 "Hello," said Jerry into the trans- mitter. "This is Mr. Dale. We asked Marjorie to call your number for us. Harry can't whisper over the phone so he wants me to tell you that we can't come over this afternoon. Sorry."
 There were a few pertentious re- marks and Jerry hung up. "Now, Mar- jorie, do you understand why I'm not going over to Miss Marbridge's this afternoon? Because I'd rather spend the afternoon with you. Madge, look!" He took from his pocket a little photograph of Madge.
 "I've carried this in my pocket for months. Harry missed it from his dresser, but he never guessed that his roommate had appropriated the picture of his pretty sister. We can tell him now. And we can tell him that I—I like you very much, Madge!"
 Marjorie was having a hard time making her lips stop their trembling—happy, tearful trembling. Was it really true? It must be, for she was look- ing into Jerry's glistening eyes.
 "Let's go into the alcove," said Mar- jorie, jealous of these happy moments. And in the alcove they came to a very happy understanding. When finally they came out, in response to Harry's repeated calls for Jerry, Madge, after a mad, glad embrace, said: "Anyone can tell that thoughtless, proud, brutal brother of mine that I like you very much, Mr. Jerry Dale."

C. E. GRIFFIN, CITIZEN OF FIFE, AMERICAN PARTY MAN FOR REPRESENTATIVE

C. E. Griffin, well-known citizen of the Fife community, was nominated by the American Party convention at San Saba as a candidate for representative of the 114th district. So far as is known, no candidates for county offices will be out. Concerning Mr. Griffin's nomination, the San Saba Star gives the following report:

The American Party representative convention for the 114th district which met in this place last Saturday passed the following resolution endorsing Mr. C. E. Griffin of McCulloch county.

Whereas, the people of the 114th representative district believe the people should have a representative in the legislature who will carry out their wishes, and who stands for a radical reduction in the cost of government expense and who will always cast his vote in the interest of the taxpayer. Therefore be it.

Resolved, That we, the American party of the 114th district in convention assembled take pleasure in presenting to the people of San Saba and McCulloch counties the name of Mr. C. E. Griffin of Fife, McCulloch county, as a man in every way qualified to represent the people of this district. He answered the call of his country when the tocsin of war sounded, and when the smoke of battle cleared away Mr. Griffin again took up his former calling and is now a producer of the article the world so much stands in need of. We bespeak for him the active support of all who want beneficial legislation passed for the betterment of our entire state.

In his editorial column the editor of the San Saba Star eulogizes the McCulloch county man as follows:

The proceedings of the representative convention in another column tells of the nomination of Mr. C. E. Griffin of Fife, McCulloch county, who was nominated by the American Party convention here last Saturday to represent this district in the state legislature. Mr. Griffin is a real "dirt" farmer of McCulloch county, who is well posted on public affairs and who believes in economy in the expenditures of public money. It has been a long time since the farmers of this district had a chance to vote for a man of their own calling for this office, and as this is strictly an agricultural district it is nothing but fair, but that a farmer should represent a constituency in which he is so vitally interested. Mr. Griffin served his country eighteen months in the army, twelve of which was spent in France as a member of the 303d Wagon Train Division. He wore no bars, no epaulets, but was a "buck private" and played well his part in that great world drama. His claims are submitted to the voters of this the 114th district strictly upon his merits believing he will receive their endorsement at the polls in the November election.

Summer Salads.
With head lettuce in every garden and an abundance of the leaf lettuce, peas, onions, and other crisp flavor vegetables, one need never want for salad material.

A salad bowl of crisp fresh lettuce served with French mayonnaise, Thousand Island dressing, or even the common variety of boiled dressing, makes a palatable salad.

A small bed of mustard (the small black-seeded variety) makes a most excellent salad plant and a fine dish of greens. The leaves may be picked and served alone with salad dressing or mixed with lettuce. The pungent taste and good flavor is most appetizing. Added finely minced to any vegetable salad from potatoes to peas, it adds to the flavor.

Salads rich with mayonnaise will be sufficiently nourishing to serve as a main dish at luncheon.

Cabbage Salad.
Select a small heavy head of white cabbage. Cut a slice off the top and scoop out the interior, leaving a thin shell. Shred the inner portion and chop fine in a chopping bowl, mix with an equal portion of celery, also chopped, add a few nut meats, mix with mayonnaise and fill the shell. Serve garnished with lettuce.

Cherry Conserva.
Cover pitted cherries with good vinegar and let stand overnight. Pour off the vinegar and add to the cherries an equal weight of sugar. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. Place in a jar covered with cloth and plate and keep in a cool place.

Tomato and Cucumber Salad.
Arrange overlapping slices of peeled and uniformly sliced tomatoes on a chop plate. Alongside of the tomatoes arrange peeled sliced cucumbers. Garnish with lettuce or parsley and serve with the dressing passed in a bowl.

Brain Youth

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SOMEONE has given to us the striking sentence: "To the young, Nature does nothing but give; from the old she does nothing but take away." Your brain is the only Power in your entire body that may not age.

Keep Youth alive in Your Brain.

To your Brain your Will may say: "Life at its longest is but like the looking back and reviewing of a single day." For Youth never returns to your muscles and to your bones and to your arteries—but Youth trots along with your Brain—if your Will says so.

Keep Youth alive in Your Brain.

William E. Gladstone, past eighty, chopping down trees, translating the Classics anew, tramping the fields and solving mysteries—stands out as one of the most striking examples of those who kept their Brains young as their bodies grew old.

Keep Youth alive in Your Brain.

It is interest that puts Youth into your Brain and drives away age. Just so long as you are interested in the things you are doing, just so long work will grow upon you, strengthening your loyalty and enthusiasm and every ounce of your effort.

Keep Youth alive in Your Brain.

THE SLEEPING PORCH

THE sleeping porch is something which is added to a house in order to provide more room for fresh air and feel. Every night during the heated term thousands of new, expensive sleeping porches are crowded with feet which protrude carelessly from the coverlets, instead of having to be run out of a hall bedroom window in the effort to cool off. All over the middle West, at this time of the year, myriad number of faithful feet wearing patent corn pads are led into sleeping porches by their owners and put where the mild evening zephyr and the stray lightning bug can roam over their surface.

Nine times out of ten the sleeping porch is an afterthought. It is one of the most high-priced thoughts a man can have, if he is going to keep up with some neighbor who started his sleeping porch immediately after the cistern was dug. It costs more to tile a 12 by 18 sleeping porch to the second story of an old house than it does to build a bungalow from the ground up, including a hot-air furnace and open-work plumbing. This is because the work is never started until a hot night comes along and paralyzes the entire family to a delicate pink hue.

Most people never use the sleeping porch except when it is necessary to save human life. It is sad to see men put hundreds of hard-earned dollars into a capacious, hard pine sleeping porch and allow it to stand idle and collect dust and autumn leaves. It is equally sad to see a large family troop into one of those porous porches on the first hot evening and discover that the beds have not been made up since the 31st of the preceding August. This causes much discontent on the part of husbands who were led to expect different treatment prior to the wedding morn.

Some enthusiasts use the sleeping porch the year around, retiring in the dead of winter with a soapstone, a set of earlaps, a fur boa and four pairs of woolen underwear. This gives them plenty of fresh air and also encourages the growth of the unobtrusive chilblain. After a while they get so accustomed to it that they can remove one layer of underwear and substitute a hot-water bag, located in the small of the back. Those who think that all of the heat and heroines were in the European war should try this next winter. One week, and let down their impressions after coming out of the hospital.

GIRLS' BLOOMER TEAM PLAYS GOOD EXHIBITION GAME WED.

BRADY TEAM WINS BY SCORE OF 4 TO 1—GIRL BATTERY FEATURE OF GAME—CATCHER PEGS SECOND BASE LIKE VETERAN—1ST SACKER REAL BALL PLAYER

Something like a thousand spectators, assembled from all over this section, witnessed a real exhibition of the national sport on the local diamonds, when the local ball team played the famed "Bloomer Girls," and won the match by a score of 4 to 1. The big feature of the game was the girl battery, who put up a class of ball that would put to shame many an amateur aggregation. The pitcher had speed and control, and the catcher played like a veteran and could peg down to second base like the best of them. The first sacker was the heaviest "man" on the team, and played classy ball, covering the sack at all times and losing the ball in her big mitt every time it came within reaching distance.

Battery for the locals included Jack Wigginton on the mound and Henry Tipton behind the bat. Wigginton pitched a steady game, and had a large number of strikeouts to his credit. Bailey Jones registered the hardest hit for the locals, driving the ball over the side wall beyond left field, but had the ball called foul on him. The third baseman on the visiting team also lost the ball over the left field fence, with two "men" on base, but ground rules permitted but one base. Other heavy drives into the automobiles parked about the field also netted the batters but one-base hits, on account of ground rules.

The entire game was a clean, well-played exhibition, with comparatively few errors, and the conduct of the visitors throughout was above reproach. The "Bloomers" boasted one heavy slugger on the team—the second baseman, who swung on the horsehide in Babe Ruth fashion and managed to give the outfield some work. There were three men playing with the girls, the third baseman, short stop and one of the fielders, and their work strengthened the team to great extent, but the girls carried the big end of the playing and acquitted themselves with credit.
