FIREMEN'S BENEFIT AT LYRIC THEATRE MONDAY NIGHT DESERVES SUPPORT

Every Brady citizen jot this down in your note book, or else tag your memory with the thought—next Monday night is fireboys' benefit night at the Lyric theatre. Now, The Standard feels compelled to speak out in meeting and state that these benefits have not averaged such success as might be expected or is to be desired. Now it is public indifference, again it is threatening weather—and the net result is the boys operate at a loss. Let every citizen feel that it is his duty to attend the show next Monday night, if for no other reason than to show the boys the citizenship of Brady is behind them.

The boys now have a plan to sell season tickets, good for the next four shows, the tickets selling for $1.00. These tickets will be on sale today, tomorrow and Monday, and it is expected to sell enough season tickets to assure the expenses of these next four shows being covered. You can add your part by buying a season ticket at a dollar—the regular price for the next four shows.

For Monday night, the Selznick feature, "Red Foam," will be offered. It is a most dramatic and interesting theme. It shows a typical "small town"—quiet, peaceful, even sluggish. Then suddenly it is transformed into an inferno of hate, with the red foam of passion bubbling up and boiling over. You will want to see the reason for this sudden transformation, and, as we have said before, you should not fail to attend the show.

HOME OF CARL NELIN TWO MILES EAST OF BRADY IS DESTROYED

The home of Carl Nelin, two miles east and south of Brady on the Sealy Bros' farm, was totally destroyed by fire between three and four o'clock Thursday morning of last week. Mr. Nelin at the time was in Brady with a bale of cotton, having had to spend the night here, and his first intimation of the disaster was when he was met upon his return home Thursday by his wife and children. Mrs. Nelin reported that she had been awakened by a roaring like that of an auto close at hand, and was startled to find the house a mass of flames. No help was at hand, and Mrs. Nelin was driven by the flames from the phone before she could ring central. The only article saved was a sewing machine. With the children, Mrs. Nelin kept a long and lonely vigil alongside the glowing embers of what had been her home, awaiting the return of Mr. Nelin. The house contained four rooms, and in one of the unused rooms, Mr. Nelin had stored a bale of loose cotton for protection from the weather. This, together with all the contents of the house, was destroyed. No insurance was carried.

For the present, Mr. Nelin and family are making their home with his father, Eric Nelin. In their loss, they have the sympathy of all.

SELLMAN SHIPS ANGUS CATTLE TO MARYLAND

Visitors returning the first of the week from Fort Worth report a carload of Poll Angus cattle from R. A. Sellman ranch near Rochelle at the stockyards there, the cattle being unloaded for feeding while en route to Mr. Sellman's old home in Maryland. The shipment was made up of year old past steers, and was universally conceded by cattlemen to be as fine a bunch as has ever been seen at the Fort Worth market. The steers were grass-fed and averaged 870 pounds. The shipment was in charge of Mr. Sellman's son, Maynard.

The shipment is being sent to Maryland by Mr. Sellman to show the folks there that Texas raises something besides the proverbial long-horn steer, and will amply explain why Mr. Sellman has, for the past 45 years, made his home in Texas in preference to Maryland. Heretofore the citizens of that state have been going to Chicago and Nebraska to buy their fine stock, but Mr. Sellman's shipment is expected to open their eyes to the wonders of Texas and, without question, will turn buyers to this section of the Southwest.

PLANTERS GIN, ROCHELLE, BURNED SATURDAY NIGHT—REBUILD FOR 1922 SEASON

The Planters Gin at Rochelle was completely destroyed by fire about midnight Saturday, together with the seed house and gin office. Origin of the fire is a mystery. The gin boilers were fired with crude oil, and burners were burned out about 11 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at which time the gin closed down for the week. The gin force remained at the gin for sometime afterwards, cleaning up and getting everything in shape for resuming operations Monday.

The flames were first noticed by citizens of Rochelle, and by that time had gained such headway that nothing could be done to prevent the total destruction of the plant. Included in the loss were all the season's records, destroyed with the gin office, and also about a carload of cotton seed, stored in the seed house.

The value of the gin was placed at $15,000, fully covered by insurance. No attempt will be made to rebuild the gin this season, but it is announced by the management that a modern twin-gin will be built next year in time for the new season's run.

ROSH HOSHANA, JEWISH NEW YEAR, TO BE OBSERVED HERE MONDAY

Next Monday, October 3rd, marks the dawn of the year 5682, according to the Jewish calendar, and orthodox Jews all over the world will observe it as their New Year's day, closing their places of business, and observing the day as a fast day. As a matter of fact, two days really comprise the New Year's celebration, but local members of the Jewish race will observe only the first day—Monday—by closing their business and enjoying a holiday. The tenth day after New Year's is observed as a fast day.

 Voca, Texas, Sept. 27.

Editor Brady Standard:
 The cotton crop for this year is all just about picked out here.
 The children are now ready to start to school and our school will start next Monday, with Miss Irene Taylor of Llano county as principal and Miss Lillie Westerman, assistant.

Henry and Jack Taff of Galveston, who have been visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Henderson for the past month, left for their home at Galveston Monday.

W. W. Henderson attended court at Brady Monday as jurymen.

If it goes to raining soon the farmers will get a good early start for farming and will have lots of time to get their land put in good shape, which is the main thing in making a good crop.

We want you to have the best paper for "BULL." So now you can receive with each package a book of 24 leaves of BULL—the very finest cigarette paper in the world.

I have seen many cartoons in the newspapers of farmers and business men and speculators, etc., and I don't think that I have yet to see one but what they had the farmer shown in the picture with short, stubby, or long beard, with an old straw hat and patched pants and suspenders, sometimes just one and maybe it is a string or piece of rope, and usually carrying a heavy burden of some kind. Sometimes the world is on his back and sometimes one or two big fat men. I have often thought that a picture like this was all wrong and should not be drawn like this. I will admit that some farmers do go a week and sometimes weeks without a clean shave. The remedy for this is to attend church every Sunday and associate with the best and cleanest people on earth and it won't be long until everyone will want to appear neat and clean. It doesn't require expensive dressing; just plain, but neat, clothing. If I could draw a cartoon I would fix it like this: A farmer, clean-shaven, as he should be, with plain, substantial, but neat clothing, with neat but not expensive hat and shoes, standing erect, with a broad smile on his face, surrounded with bales of cotton, sacks of wool, wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, potatoes sugar and rice, baskets of fruits and vegetables, cans of syrup, honey and jellies, boxes of bacon, hams, eggs, butter, cattle, sheep and hogs. I would place in one of his master-strong hands the world which would represent the wealth of the world. For he is the producer of the wealth of the world and he owns it if he could be made to realize the fact that he does own it. Instead of the other fellow being a big fat fellow, I would show him the lean one and the farmer the fat one. I would have the other fellow standing with outstretched, pleading hands and bowed heads. This will be the situation when the farmer learns a lesson. After he makes and gathers and sells his crop, and has the money in his pocket, the lesson is to spend his money right. The trouble is, so many folks waste their money. They try to keep up with the wealthier class in dress and style and pomp and soon their money is all gone. They buy too many things they don't need and could easily do without. My plan is, and has been for a long time, to go and buy what I want and need and quit, no matter how many inducements and bargains the salesman offers. That is his bus-men will go into a store to buy a pair of plow lines and let the salesman talk him into buying a steamboat or something that he had just as little use for as he would have for a steam boat. A man can buy what he needs and wants and have plenty and not be called stingy. He can dress well enough and not be extravagant.

It is said of William Jennings Bryan that he went into a clothiers store to buy a suit of clothes. I suppose the salesman thought he would sell Mr. Bryan a fine, costly suit. But Mr. Bryan insisted that it must not cost over thirty dollars. Of course he could have easily paid for a suit costing three times thirty; but economy in buying should be the watchword regardless of the spell the salesman may make. If this rule was more closely followed you would see the farmer appear as is shown in this picture.

GOVERNMENT SPECIALIST ADVOCATES PLANTING BETTER STAPLE COTTON SEED

The following letter has been addressed by John B. Beers of College Station, specialist in cotton classing for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, to county agents, in which Mr. Beers advocates the planting of cotton seed of better staple varieties, and gives conclusive evidence as to the importance of this being done at this time. The following is Mr. Beers' letter:

"Premiums for cotton having staple length of 1 1-16" and better are improving right along, and it is believed they will continue to show improvement as the season progresses, due to the fact that the drought in August brought about the premature opening of bolls over a larger section of Texas thus causing the short staple varieties (7-8" to 1") to run about 3-4" to 7-8" in length and to be of very poor strength and character. "Half and Half" and kindred varieties, if possible, are making a poorer showing this year than ever. It is true, of course, that the staple of these varieties which normally produce a staple length of 1 1-16", 1 1-8", 1 3-16" and 1 1-4" has been affected by the August drought, but not to the extent the short varieties have, so far as strength, character, and uniformity are concerned, and this is what the spinner desires in the final analysis. Those farmers who planted the better varieties of seed last spring should be informed of the advance in premiums for better staples and should market their cotton accordingly.

"The exporters, and shippers of the better staples to mills in the United States are not going to be as choosy nor as hard to please, in filling their requirements for the better staples this season, as they were last season, because the staple is not here in quantities sufficient to supply the need later on.

"The Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates of U. S. Department of Agriculture in weekly bulletins of September 19, 1921, gives out the following information regarding staple premiums:

"Memphis, Tennessee—On a basis of 19.50 cents for middling upland short staple cotton, the premiums for Middling premium staples average about as follows: 1 1-16", 250 points on; 1 1-8", 750 points on; 1 3-16", 1250 points on; 1 1-4", 1550 points on; 1 5-16" and 1 3-8" normal, Demand fair.

"New Orleans, Louisiana—On a basis of 18.50 cents for Middling upland short staple cotton, the premiums for Middling premium staples average about as follows: 1 1-16", 125 points on; 1 1-8", 500 points on; 1 3-16", 850 points on; 1 1-4", 1250 points on; 1 5-16" and 1 3-8" nominal, Demand good.

"Cotton in bales of the grade of Low Middling and above, and having a staple length of 1 1-16 inch and better is going to be as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth before the new planting season. It is believed, therefore, that County Agents can do a very constructive piece of work in their counties; a piece of work which will bring large financial returns to their farmers next year, if they will start a county campaign for the planting of cotton seed of better staple varieties, at once.

"Texas bankers... doubt be interested in assisting local farmers to finance the purchase of seed of the better staple varieties, where assistance is needed. In fact the Extension Service at College Station is receiving letters and samples of cotton every week from bankers in various sections of the state asking for information regarding the staple, and value of cotton represented by samples sent in, with the idea in view of interesting their customers in the planting of better staple varieties next year. Bankers who are taking this step are progressive, and have the interest of their customers at heart. Next year will be the year of years to demonstrate the value of planting cotton seed of better staple lengths.

"The Extension Service of the A. and M. College will be pleased to cooperate with any one interested in the proposition, with the idea in view of bringing about community production of one or two varieties of cotton best suited to the particular community or county. It is suggested that you communicate with the Experiment Station nearest you for information regarding test made by them this year by the actual planting of the several varieties of cotton which have a staple length of 1 1-16 inch and better. The Extension Service of the A. and M. College of Texas will be pleased to answer all correspondence, and will be glad to make engagements for future meetings at which time representatives will be sent to discuss this important feature of the 1922 Agricultural program with progressive farmers, through engagements made with County Agents, as well as in counties having no County Agents."

The little folks played various games and had a most enjoyable time, following which they partook of refreshments consisting of cake and cream. Many pretty gifts were left with the host, and upon departing the guests all wished him many returns of the happy day.

Fifth Birthday Anniversary.

Little Miss Drusilla Davidson was five years old Monday, and made the occasion a memorable one by inviting a number of little friends to a birthday party at her home in the afternoon. The dining room of the Davidson home had been converted into a veritable fairyland, a color scheme of pink and white being followed through. At each end of the table were silver candle holders tied with pink tulle bows, while five candles burned brightly on the birthday cake in token of the five happy summers passed by the little hostess. Cut flowers in a bowl of silver formed the centerpiece, which was surrounded by dainty little Dresden dolls, dressed in different colors and each holding a basket of candy. Pink cream and pink and white mints were served.

Many beautiful gifts were left with little Miss Drusilla by her guests, together with best wishes for many happy returns of the occasion.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

A special Hudson Super-Six designed as a speedster occasioned much notice and comment Monday, during a brief stop on the Brady square. The driver was enroute from San Antonio to Abilene, where he expected to enter the auto races in the West Texas fair.

Every now and then some of Brady's enterprising merchants have a particularly attractive show window, but none have anything on the Trigg Drug Co. for a real classy display this week. The exhibit in question is devoted to the Jonteel-line of toilet articles. As everyone knows, the Jonteel goods are put up in most attractive containers, the Jonteel bird which decorates every package, being particularly striking. Combined with this, is a most pleasing arrangement of the various goods, set with artistic foundation of decorated crepe, and with appropriate background. It is just such a window as will cause the passerby to stop, look, linger and long. N. A. Collier is the mastermind in the designing and arranging of the display.

W. W. Spiller left Saturday night and was joined in Fort Worth by Judge J. E. Brown of this city, who will accompany him on a two-weeks trip to Philadelphia and Boston in the interest of the Menard Wool and Mohair Commission Co. of Menard. Immediately upon Mr. Spiller's return he will move the J. W. Nixon stock of general merchandise from Fort McKavett to Brady, where he expects to close them out at once, either to merchants of this city or to individuals over the counter in a real cost sale. This stock of goods was taken over by Mr. Spiller for himself and others at a price which enables him to offer every purchaser a splendid bargain. Watch the Brady papers and learn the time and place for the display and disposal of this stock and get your part of the bargain.

Despite continued cloudy and threatening weather the greater part of the week, McCulloch county is still lacking the promised or hoped-for general rain. Wednesday evening, the low-hanging clouds of the afternoon were followed by a dust storm and wind, which apparently only served to scatter the clouds instead of preceding a rain-storm. This was repeated yesterday evening. Reports in the London section state that good rains fell in that vicinity on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, and a 1 1/4-inch rain was reported as having covered the greater part of the J. E. White ranch near London Monday evening, followed by another rain Tuesday. Rain was also reported in the Waldrip community Wednesday afternoon.

C. G. Cowan of the Broadmoor community was in Brady yesterday on business. Mr. Cowan reports having just returned from a two weeks' prospecting trip out to New Mexico in company with his brother-in-law of Abilene. He says he saw lots of good country, but, like here, the good land was high, while the land that offered good opportunities had drawbacks, such as mixed population. Mr. Cowan says they made the trip via Texline and Clayton and on up to Trinidad, Colo. The San Louie valley, which they visited, lies about 45 miles west of Trinidad and runs down to Santa Fe, N. M. There is wonderful irrigated land in this valley. Mr. Cowan said many of the roads were built of crushed granite and were smooth as glass.

PERSONAL MENTION

Abe Ornish will leave Saturday night for Dallas to spend the Jewish New Year with home folks and friends.

Ab Salter was in Brady from the East Sweden community Wednesday. Ab reports that he is down to the tag end of his cotton, and is ready for a good rain.

P. W. Appleton was here from the Camp San Saba community Wednesday, reporting a fairly good rain down his way Monday evening. Like most everyone in McCulloch county, Mr. Appleton is ready for a good, heavy rain.

Messrs. J. D. Branscum, J. U. Silvers and L. J. Wood made a business trip to San Antonio last Thursday, returning Friday. They report the scenes of wreckage and destruction wrought by the recent flood as indescribable.

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Estill returned Monday night to their home at Grapevine, after spending a week or so with the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Willoughby.

Congratulations are being extended Mr. and Mrs. Leo Moore upon the arrival of a fine son Thursday morning, September 30th. Mother and babe are reported doing nicely, and Father Moore is smiling broadly and happily.

CUPID MAKES RAID ON CONFEDERATE HOMES AT AUSTIN

Austin, Texas, Sept. 24.—Wyatt A. Taylor, 77 years old, and Mrs. S. A. Moore, 71 years old, were married at the Confederate Women's Home yesterday. The bridegroom is a veteran at the Confederate Home and his bride was formerly a resident in the Women's Home, her previous husband also having been a Confederate soldier. After the marriage both went to live at the Confederate Home, where provision has been made for such couples under the recent legislative action. Another similar wedding is scheduled within the next few days. The Women's Home loses and the Men's Home gains in each instance. Two women, who formerly lived at the Women's Home and whose husbands are in the Men's Home have gone to reside at the home with their husbands. It was to take care of this last situation that the Legislature provided for husband and wife living in the home but it has had the effect of encouraging Cupid at both homes.

So Mr. Editor, if you see anyone that is willing to work just enough to make a little, feed the cows and get him a cream can, let Sallie raise some chickens, start the kiddies to school for 9 months in

WONDER WORDS.

Wonder, Or., Sept. 22. Editor Brady Standard: Your remarks about that Idaho fruit and the cold weather brings it "mighty" close to home! We had ice here in Southern Oregon four mornings in succession, on the 13, 14, 15 and 16 of September. Then it clouded up and tried to rain, but only drizzled a little here. But the Portland paper says they had an inch and three-quarters of rainfall at Portland. But I am only writing from Wonder and I shall not count this rain at all, for it only sprinkled. The apple crop this year seems to be more wormy than usual. Such things as plagues and pests seem to have their favorite or favorable seasons. I haven't yet seen a tick nor a flea this season and only one rattlesnake, and it got away and hid among the weeds, bushes and logs before I could kill it. Some seasons we have millions of fleas and ticks and hundreds of snakes. But this year our pests were chiefly grasshoppers, codling moths, skunks, coyotes and raccoons. I appreciate ye editor's kindly mention of the prunes or plums I sent, especially as I grew them on my own land. I have one tree of white prunes called "Egg Prunes," which were not ripe when I sent the others. They are just now getting ripe and are fully as large as hens eggs and about the same shape. The government now has let the contract and a crew of men are building a road into the Oregon caves; so when you come to the World's Fair you can also see that one of the world's greatest "Wonders." "O. I. C. U. R. RIGHT."

LARGE MAIL ORDER HOUSE READS ALL COUNTRY PAPERS

"We have a bureau whose duty it is to read each week the country newspapers from all over the country. There is not a paper of any consequence in our trade territory that our bureau does not get. This bureau looks over these papers and when we find a town where the merchants are not advertising in the local paper we immediately flood that territory with our literature. It always brings results far in excess of the same effort put forth in territory where the local merchants use their local papers," said Herman Rosenfield, advertising manager for Sears, Roebuck & Co.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Young Carlyle Wilburton Dale, or "Bill Dale," as he elects to be known, son of a wealthy coal operator, John K. Dale, arrives at the Halfway Switch, in eastern Tennessee, abandoning a life of idle ease—and incidentally a bride, Patricia Clavering, at the altar—determined to make his own way in life. He meets "Babe" Littleford, typical mountaineer girl. "By Heck," a character of the hills, takes him to John Moreland's home. Moreland is chief of his "clan," which has an old feud with the Littlefords. He tells Dale of the killing of his brother, David Moreland, years ago, owner of rich coal deposits, by a man named Carlyle. Moreland's description of "Carlyle" causes Dale to believe the man was his father.

CHAPTER II—Dale arranges to make his home with the Moreland family, for whom he entertains a deep respect.

CHAPTER III—Talking with "Babe" Littleford next day, Dale is ordered by "Black Adam" Ball, bully of the district, to leave "his girl" alone. Dale replies spiritedly, and they fight. Dale whips the bully, though badly used up. Arrangements with John Moreland to develop David's coal deposits. Babe Littleford sends a challenge to John Moreland to meet him with his followers next day, in battle. Moreland agrees.

CHAPTER IV—During the night all the guns belonging to the Littlefords and the Morelands mysteriously disappear.

CHAPTER V—Dale arranges to go to Cincinnati to secure money for the mining of the coal. The two clans find their weapons, which the women had hidden, and line up for battle. "Babe," in an effort to stop the fighting, crosses to the Moreland side of the river, and is accidentally shot by her father and seriously wounded.

CHAPTER VI—To get proper surgical aid, John Moreland, Ben Littleford and Dale convey "Babe," unconscious, to the city. Doctors assure them she is not seriously hurt. Dale meets an old friend, Bobby McLaurin, who has married Patricia Clavering. Telling his father of David Moreland's coal, the old gentleman's actions convince his father of his father's guilt in the killing of Moreland.

CHAPTER VII—It is arranged that "Babe" is to stay with Mrs. McLaurin to be educated. Dale, refusing his father's proffered financial aid to develop the mine, interests Newton Whesley, capitalist, who agrees to furnish the money. Dale realizes he loves "Babe."

CHAPTER VIII—Returning to the Halfway Switch, Dale meets Major Bradley, lawyer, and real friend of the mountaineers, whom he engages, as counsel for the company. A man named Goff, of evil repute, tries to bribe Dale to betray the Morelands by selling him the coal deposits, and telling them they are of little value. Dale attempts to throw him, but Goff draws a revolver. They are unharmed.

CHAPTER IX—Goff enlists the aid of a turbulent crowd, the Balls and Torreys, to make trouble for Dale's company. The Littlefords and Morelands agree to forget the old feud and dwell in harmony.

CHAPTER X—"Babe" returns to her home, fearing she is a burden to the McLaurins. Dale remonstrates, and she agrees to go back, for the sake of an education. "Waylay" by "Black Adam" Ball, Dale fights a pistol duel with the desperado, and Ball is killed. Dale is arrested and taken to jail at Carterville. He doesn't see how his shot could have killed Ball.

CHAPTER XI—There is much speculation as to who really killed Ball, the general opinion being it was by Heck, who had constituted himself Dale's guardian.

After some two hours of these worse than bacchanalian orgies the first watch, heavy with drink, stopped playing cards and singing outlandish songs, forgot all orders and began to nod. Then it was that Dale thought of the man who had been his faithful guardian for many days, the lanky By Heck. Why hadn't he thought of Heck before? He wondered if Heck had followed him to the trap, if Heck was near him even then, if Heck had gone for help.

By Heck had not followed Bill Dale to the little basin. But he had followed Henderson Goff, and Henderson Goff had followed Dale to the little basin. Goff had returned to the Big Pine Mountain country only that day and he knew nothing of the plans of the Ball-Torrey faction until he witnessed the mockery of a trial. Goff was now crouching in the darkness on the low line of cliffs to the eastward from the walnut tree; and not far behind him, well hidden in the Black laurels, watching him and watching Bill Dale, crouched By Heck.

Dale's guardian had not gone for help, because he feared to leave Dale unprotected in the hands of the gang of cutthroats. He believed that he could rescue Dale himself. When the first watch became a little more drowsy, he would steal up behind the tree and cut the cotton rope. Then he realized that Goff had disappeared entirely. He crept forward silently, his eyes alert, and a moment later he saw Goff stealing toward the walnut tree. He climbed noiselessly down over the face of the cliff and followed Goff like a shadow. When Goff's hands touched the tree, By Heck was within ten feet of it. Heck made sure his rifle was ready and took another step forward, watching, listening.

The shyter coal man leaned around the tree to the left. In the glow of the low-burned fire the blade of a small knife in his hand gleamed dull red. He whispered cautiously:

"You're in a fix, Dale. And it's none of my doing, either. Give me your word that I'll get that coal property for fifteen thousand, and I'll slash the rope. How about it? Sick of cussed polecat, even to save your own life, and 'at's what I calls nerve and principle in ye. Bill Dale, the ain't many men in this here whole outfit who wouldn't give ye the last d-d drop o' blood in their bodies, ef ye needed it. To the right, Bill—ahend of us is a cliff."

CHAPTER XIV.

A Letter and a Proposal.
The Moreland Coal company's two big rough buildings were completed in record time. There had been no further manifestations of interference from the Balls and Torreys, and Henderson Goff had been nowhere in evidence since the night of Bill Dale's ironclad verbal ultimatum. Work on the little railroad was progressing like wildfire, and everybody was in high spirits.

By Heck had just arrived with the mail. He stalked with an air of great importance into Dale's office, and threw the mail down on the new roll-top desk; then he stepped backward, dropped into a straight-back chair and began to nurse his rifle tenderly on his knees. There was a puzzled look on his leathery face. Dale had received half a dozen letters, and By Heck was at a loss to figure out the why of such an overwhelming amount of mail.

Dale finished his figuring, leaned back in his swivel chair and took up a letter that seemed altogether too bulky for a business letter. Moreover, its address was in pencil, and somewhat scrawled, though a chirography expert would have said that the handwriting showed strength of character.

"I wonder who it is," Dale muttered, "that mistakes us for a newspaper office and is sending us copy?"

"Jest what I was a-thinkin'," drawled By Heck through his Niagara

"Open Her Up, Bill, Mebbe It's Money, by Jake!"

Falls mustache. "Open her up, Bill; mebbe it's money, by Jake!" Dale saw the postmark then, and his brows drew with interest. It was the postmark of his old home city. "From Babe," he told himself—and

Tanlac Accomplishes Remarkable Results In Geo. H. Nickels Case

GEORGE H. NICKELS.

Prominent Wisconsin Man Says Tanlac Promptly Relieved Him of Bad Case of Stomach Trouble of Six Months' Standing—Gains 27 Pounds and Feels Fine As A Fiddle.

It is an unquestionable fact that Tanlac is now being more widely endorsed by well known men and women than any other medicine on the American market. One of the latest to testify is George H. Nickels, well known lecturer, residing at 227 Wells St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

"Tanlac has not only completely restored my health, but I have actually gained 27 pounds in weight," said Mr. Nickels in referring to the remarkable benefits he had derived from the medicine.

"For something over six months my stomach was very badly disordered. I suffered terribly from indigestion and Dyspepsia. At times I would be in great distress and I would invariably experience an uncomfortable bloated feeling for hours after eating. I had no appetite scarcely and the little I ate would often make me deathly sick. My head ached until I felt like it would burst and I was so nervous I trembled like a leaf. When I got up in the mornings, I was so weak and dizzy, I couldn't trust myself to walk around and I just hurt all over.

"Tanlac has brought about a wonderful change in my condition for I am now enjoying the very best of health. My appetite is splendid. I relish my meals. Everything agrees with me perfectly. The nervousness, headaches and dizzy spells are all gone and I never have an ache or pain. I am only too glad to tell others about the wonderful good Tanlac has done. It has no equal."

Tanlac is sold in Brady by Trigg Drug Co., in Mercury by J. T. Matlock, in Rochelle by C. W. Carr, and by leading druggists everywhere.

At the Methodist Church.
It was a real, live joy, worth while, to have you with us at the Methodist church last Sunday in our services, and we give you the same hearty in-itation and welcome greeting for next Sunday morning and Sunday night to our services. Oh, you say: "Preacher, you are mistaken, I didn't go to church anywhere last Sunday." Ah, you failed to go, did you. Then you make me sad, because of your neglect, your laziness, or your sin— whichever it was that kept you away and either one is bad enough, and you ought to be ashamed of yourself. All right, if you will come on next Sunday we will be glad to see you, and do our very best to help you.

Our subject at 11:00 a. m. will be "Great Questions Answered and Wonderful Privileges Granted." At 7:30 p. m. our subject will be "The Bible A Great Lamp and A Wonderful Light." Say, did you know we have a place in a real Sunday school for your boy and your girl, and you also, if you will bring them along and to get the full program you must be on hand at 9:30 a. m. at which time we will have some special features in music and other interesting items on the program.

The Epworth League meets each Sunday at 6:30 p. m. and the interest is growing, attendance fine, programs lively and very interesting. We had about 35 at the league last Sunday evening. Come along and enjoy the whole day with us. You are indeed welcome.

S. C. DUNN, Pastor.

It's a Scream!

THE ORIOLE

By Booth Tarkington

Herbert Atwater and Henry Foster, each thirteen, received a printing press. That was the genesis of a journalistic enterprise. Just why the name "Oriole" was selected for the newspaper is not clear; certainly not out of sentiment for the distant city of Baltimore nor for any interest in birds. But every journal must have a name and "Oriole" seemed good to the budding editors.

Imagine the trouble and the ludicrous complications which arose from a medium of publicity in the hands of two bright lads who suffered from no censorship and whose watchword was truth — too much truth for some of the residents of the community.

Things happened with great rapidity, especially after the young proprietors determined to exclude Herbert's cousin Florence from the enterprise, and that young miss with equal determination decided she would have a finger in it.

Did Florence succeed in joining the staff? Indeed she did! She got something on the editors and she held it over their heads direfully, with the result that she became the whole thing on The Oriole and the erstwhile bosses, rueful and unwilling, her hired men.

With The Oriole completely dominated by feminism, it becomes the funniest story you have ever read.

A Serial for these columns.
Don't miss it!

A TWICE-TOLD STORY.

One of Interest to Our Readers.
Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitated to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a Brady man is confirmed after four years.
Mr. W. McShan, lawyer, Brady, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have proven very beneficial to me. I have used them at different times when I have needed them. Doan's have always relieved my back and strengthened my kidneys." (Statement given April 30, 1915.)

Always Gets Good Results.
On May 16, 1919, Mr. McShan said: "My opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills remains the same as it did in 1915. Only occasionally now do I have need of them and they always relieve me. I highly recommend Doan's to all sufferers from kidney trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McShan says "the same that Mr. McShan says."
