True Detective Stories

OUT OF THE AIR

SOMEWHERE, somehow, the Germans were getting messages through from the United States to the fatherland. That much was certain. Washington knew it beyond the shadow of a doubt, but the way in which the messages were transmitted was a mystery—dark and apparently unfathomable.

This was in the days before America entered the war, in the days when the United States was, theoretically at least, a neutral nation. But Von Bernstorff, Von Papen and the rest of the embassy at Washington were doing everything they could to further their schemes from this side of the Atlantic.

Not even the secret service could penetrate the mystery of the messages. That these were flashed from the huge wireless towers on this side of the Atlantic, or relayed from the German radio stations, seemed fairly obvious. But how?

"They must be sending the stuff through the air," argued the chief of the secret service to Talbot, one of his best men, "for the simple reason that we've closed all their other channels."

"Any idea as to the code they are using?" asked Talbot.

"None at all, but it's probably concealed somewhere in the messages which they send out to the ships at sea—press bulletins, stock quotations, and the like. We've studied them carefully, but haven't been able to find a thing."

"How about the outburst from Nauen every morning?"

"The only explanation for that seems to be that it's an attempt to 'fog the air' so that ships and other towers can't get anything through."

"Yes, but in that case would the Germans send it for an hour early every morning? Why not all day long? And why that hash of language that doesn't mean a thing? If they were trying to fog things they'd wireless the Bible or Nietzsche or excerpts from some other long book instead of that mess of meaningless rot."

5-ACRE POULTRY FARM NETS $15,000.00 IROFIT IN SIX YEARS' TIME

Now to go ahead with the story of what we saw. After arriving in San Angelo we met some ex-Bradycytes there and were being shown about the city when the suggestion was made that we visit the Breezeland Poultry farm; so the idea proved to be popular with the crowd, and we drove out to see it.

When we arrived there we found Miss Bigelow, who is one of the partners, was out in the pens, and we asked her if we might be allowed to see their farm, and she graciously consented to show us around. The first place she took us to see was the trap nest pens; here we saw how the hens were trapped in the nests and could not get out until some one came to release them and made a record, or rather I should have said credited the record of this hen for the day. Now here is where we visitors received some real information; each hen has a leg band, and a band on their wing with numerals on them; these bands are used for referring to the records and one can trace their ancestors back thirty years. Noticing Miss Bigelow taking the eggs from the nests and putting them together in a large container, the writer asked the question as to how they expected to know anything about the ancestors of the chickens when they just gathered the eggs and put them together that way? Although we had been watching Miss Bigelow work we did not notice that when she took an egg out of the nest that she placed a number on the egg, and that number was the same number that was on the hen's leg band. From there we went to the brooder and found some little chicks two days old, 800 in number, each one of them had a leg band and the wing band; Miss Bigelow picked up several of them and told what she priced them at; some of them she sold for 20c and some of them she sold for $1.50—they were priced according to the record of their ancestors.

Miss Bigelow then showed us a rooster that they had paid $150.00 for and two that they would sell for $175.00; we were so stunned that we don't know what else we were shown until we arrived at the incubator room where we were placed in the hands of Miss Schott, Miss Bigelow's partner. Miss Schott explained the incubator system and also how they prevented the chickens from getting mixed before they put the leg and wing bands on them.

They had a number of incubators there but their choice was an incubator with a 2400 egg capacity; they put 800 eggs in it each week, thereby having a hatch of 800 chicks each week from this incubator. They are going to purchase a larger incubator, one with an 8,000 egg capacity for this fall.

Miss Schott and Miss Bigelow were very much pleased that we visited their farm and also with the fact that the Brady Chamber of Commerce intends to promote the poultry industry in McCulloch county and proceeded to tell us what they had accomplished in six years, net profits, $15,000.00 on five acres of land.

I would tell you a lot more about that farm but I became so confused over the price of those roosters that I am afraid to write any more on the subject; however, I have been talking on the street and several have expressed a desire to go over and see this farm and I would like to see a party of those who are interested in poultry go to San Angelo and see a wonderful poultry farm.

I have not consulted any of the people who were in the party yesterday and cannot say whether they will substantiate this story or not, but if you are interested see the County Agent, Mr. Ehlinger; he wants to make up a party to go over and see.

I would like to say that we have a mighty fine country for poultry, and I would like to see a few five-acre plots occupied as poultry farms; it means money every day in the year and that is what we need in McCulloch county.

Sec. Brady Chamber of Commerce.

MISS HILMA JORDAN APPEARS IN RECITAL LAST NIGHT AT M. E. CHURCH

Quite one of the most delightful of the season's musical entertainments was the recital given last night at the Methodist church, in which Miss Pinkie Jones presented Miss Hilma Inez Jordan, one of Brady's accomplished young pianists. Miss Jordan was assisted in her recital by Mr. Maurice Cohen, violinist and Mrs. J. S. Anderson, accompanist.

The grace and skill with which Miss Jordan played the difficult masterpieces, her pleasing interpretations of the composer's moods, and her delicate intonations proved a revelation to the entire audience, and was voiced in their hearty approval of the numbers rendered. All her selections were memorized.

Miss Jordan's numbers were interspersed with violin solos by Mr. Maurice Cohen, with Mrs. J. S. Anderson as accompanist, which added to the evening's enjoyment and which were well received by the audience.

The program as rendered was as follows:

- "Bonnie Doone"Willie Pape
- Miss Hilma Jordan
- "Kujawek, Seconde Mazurka
- Henri Wieniewski
- Mr. Maurice Cohen
- "Norwegian Bridal Procession"....
- E. Grieg
- Miss Hilma Jordan
- "Call Me Back, Pal O' Mine"....
- Harold Dixon
- Mr. Maurice Cohen
- "Valse Brillante" "Valse In E Min-

- Chopin
- Miss Hilma Jordan
- "Hungarian Dance"Albert Fraz
- Mr. Maurice Cohen
- "Cavatina"
- J. Raff
- "Whims, Op. 12, No. 4" ..Schumann
- Miss Hilma Jordan

At the conclusion of the program, Miss Jordan was showered with the congratulations of friends and admirers, and Miss Jones also came in for commendation upon the wonderful showing made by her talented pupil and which reflected credit in no small degree upon Miss Jones' ability as a teacher.

"Yes, thanks. I've often had it as tough as this at home."

PUPILS OF MRS. J. B. SMITH AND MISS JENNIE BANNISTER IN PIANO-VIOLIN RECITAL

Two very enjoyable piano and violin recitals were given the past week by pupils of Mrs. J. B. Smith and Miss Jennie Bannister, with a large attendance of admiring parents and friends gathered at the Methodist church to enjoy the events. The first of the programs was given on Wednesday night, the junior pupils taking part, and their program delighted all in the large audience present. Each and everyone of the pupils did so splendidly that to mention each one deserving of praise would be to mention every one on the program.

Taking part in the program were the following: Misses Gertrude Dutton, Wilma Baze, Bessie Roddie, Lillian Turney, Janie Marshall, Dorothy Nell Broad, Marjorie Winstead, Mable Turney, Mildred Jones, Ila Ruth Andrews, Loraine Townsend, Minnie and Audry Whitehead, Lucy Mae Ricks, Mildred Silvers, Mary Josephine Adkins, Gertrude Trigg; Masters Hymie Myers, Edwin Ramsay, Courtney Evers.

The second program on Friday night proved another delightful musical treat, and reflected the greatest of credit upon the skill and untiring devotion of the teachers. The pupils rendered their various numbers, many of them of the most difficult composition, with consummate skill and ease, and won the praise of the audience.

The program included violin quartets by Misses Elizabeth Ballou, Estelle Levy, Marjorie Cottrell and Master Hymie Myers; trios by Misses Estelle Levy, Beatrice Myers and Katherine Ballou; by Misses Ebba Carlson, Dorothy Nell Broad and Marjorie Winstead, and by Misses Marjorie Cottrell, Estelle Levy and Elizabeth Ballou; and duets by Misses Lucy Mae Ricks and Mildred Jones; Marjorie Cottrell and Ruby Coleson; Marjorie Cottrell and Elizabeth Ballou; Estelle Levy and Marjorie Cottrell; and individual numbers by Misses Mary Evers, Velma Gray, Gladys Martin, Wilma Baze, Nellie Brown, Elizabeth Ballou, Frances Armstrong, Florence Bates, Lucy Mae Ricks, Gertrude Trigg, Mary Josephine Adkins and Ebba Carlson.

Quite naturally, Mrs. Smith and Miss Bannister have every reason to feel duly proud of the splendid manner in which their pupils acquitted themselves upon this public occasion, and are to be complimented highly upon the splendid performance.
