U.D.C. AND LEGION DECORATE VETERANS' GRAVES

In addition to decorating the graves of the four World War veterans, Cohen Blount, Jerry Wright, Finis Westbrook and Jackson West, and the holding of impressive ceremonies at each grave, Elijah F. Allin Post of the American Legion also decorated the graves of all veterans who rest in the hallowed soil of Brady cemetery.

In this they were assisted by the U. D. C., represented by Mrs. W. H. Ballou, who is also brigade matron, and by Misses Katharine Ballou, brigade sponsor, Gertrude Trigg, brigade maid of honor and Edith McShan, sponsor for Ben McCulloch camp No. 503. No distinction was made between the graves of Southern and Northern soldiers—both were decorated alike—for

"Under the sod and the dew Awaiting the Judgment Day, Under the laurel, the blue; Under the willow, the gray."

Beside the placing of flags upon each grave, the Legion also placed flowers upon the last resting place of each veteran.

Former members of Ben McCulloch Camp No. 503, who are buried in Brady cemetery, are the following:

R. H. LOWREY, EARLY-DAY McCULLOCH CITIZEN, DIES AT LUBBOCK, AGED 80 YEARS

Notice has been received here of the death at Lubbock on May 25th of R. H. Lowrey, one of McCulloch county's early-day citizens and who was well-known over this section of Texas. According to the funeral notices received by relatives and friends here, funeral services were held in Lubbock on May 26th, at the First Methodist church, conducted by the Rev. W. A. Bowen, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the Masonic lodge, interment being in the Lubbock cemetery.

Mr. Lowrey was born January 9, 1842, and was, therefore, past 80 years of age. He came to McCulloch county something like forty years ago, locating in the Camp San Saba community, where he resided for many years being one of the most prominent and influential men of this county. At one time he served as representative in the State legislature. He sold his place there to L. Brook, and about eighteen years ago removed to Lubbock, where he had since resided.

Besides the widow, there survive four sons: Bob and Ed in Montana, John, county clerk at Sonora, and Henry, druggist at Lubbock.

BRADY ODD FELLOWS AT-TEND BARBECUE AND ICE CREAM SUPPER AT EDEN

Messrs. J. S. Mayse, Jr., W. H. Goodner, A. N. Awalt, O. B. White and O. A. Schill motored Tuesday evening to Eden, to attend a big barbecue and ice cream supper given by the Eden Lodge, I. O. O. F., and where they report the time of their lives. Talks on Odd Fellowship were made by the Rev. Mr. Woods of Eden lodge, and by Mr. Mayse and Mr. Goodner of the Brady lodge and the entire program proved most enjoyable.

Upon the homeward trip the party found that the heavy rain which fell during the entertainment program, had given them a stretch of about 25 miles of very muddy road to negotiate. Then there was about 8 miles of dry road and mud again. Although the party had to push their Ford out of mud holes at two different times, they say the experience robbed the trip of none of the grand time had.

BOYS' STOCK JUDGING CONTEST, DISTRICT NO. 8, PROVES GREAT EVENT

MASON COUNTY JUDGING TEAM WINS LOVING CUP OFFERED BY BRADY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FOR HIGH SCORE—EIGHT COUNTIES REPRESENTED

Mason county won first place and the loving cup offered by the Brady Chamber of Commerce in the Boys' Stock Judging Contest for District No. 8, held in Brady on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The contest was the first to be staged in this district, and aroused great interest among the citizenship, and demonstrated more clearly than anything the valuable training received by Live Stock club boys under direction of the county agents. Eight counties had stock-judging teams present the two days of the contest, and Mills and other counties also would have had entrants in the contest but for heavy rains Monday, which prevented their coming.

The following is the order of place won by the eight judging teams, and total number of points won by each team:

- 1st—Mason1,346 points
2nd—San Saba1,159 points
3rd—Concho1,157 points
4th—Runnels1,141 points
5th—Llano1,119 points
6th—Tom Green1,043 points
7th—Lampasas1,041 points
8th—McCulloch1,030 points

In individual scoring, Mason won 1st, 2nd and 4th places, with scores, respectively, of 485, 433 and 428 points; San Saba won 3rd place with a score of 431 points, and Concho won 5th place with a score of 415.

Individuals winning cash prizes, also offered by the Brady Chamber of Commerce, were:

- 1st—Harold Schmidt, Mason, 485 points.
2nd—Murray Kyger, Mason, 433 points.
3rd—Gordon Treadway, San Saba, 431 points.
4th—Richard Jordan, Mason, 428 points.
5th—Ira Pearson, Concho, 415 points.

The big event had been arranged by the county agents of this district, and was held under supervision of expert judges from A. & M. college. County agents present and with teams entered in the contest, were:

- A. J. Cotton, Llano county.
W. I. Marschall, Mason county,
R. W. Terry, Concho county,
Dor W. Brown, Tom Green county
B. F. Eaton, Runnels county,
S. H. Clark, San Saba county,
O. P. Griffin, Lampasas county.
Each team was composed of three regular men, and one alternate. In all except one of the judging contests, the contestants were required to both give place to the animal judged, and the reason for so placing. Upon these two points, the judges scored each contestant.

A. L. Smith, district agent, with headquarters at College Station, superintended the holding of the two-days' contest, while S. C. Evans and Mr. Magee, both of College Station, acted as judges of the contest.

Tuesday afternoon the teams went to the Richards ranch where they judged a class of Hereford bulls and also a class of Hereford cows. By way of explanation, it might be said that a class consists, as a rule, of four animals. Following this the teams went to the Burt Priddy place to judge a class of Poland China gilts. Wednesday morning another class of Poland China gilts were judged at the A. W. Keller barn, and a class of fat mutton sheep at the P. C. Dutton place. This was followed by the judging of dairy cattle on the square.

In the afternoon, the judges, Evans and Magee, judged a Jersey show on the public square, for the benefit of owners of Jersey stock. This show consisted of 13 Jersey cows and 5 Jersey bulls, and the work of the judges served to attract much attention from stock raisers and fanciers.

It is planned to make this district stock-judging contests a semi-annual event, and it has been arranged to hold the next one at Llano during the fair there in November. Accompanying this article is shown in tabular form, the individual score of each of the contestants in the various contests.

CLARK BENHAM SHOT TO DEATH AT HENDERSON, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY NOON

A message received by S. A. Benham Wednesday afternoon from his brother, Henry Benham, of Breckenridge, read as follows:

"Will notify when Clark's body will arrive. Will bury alongside of his mother."

This and the following brief newspaper statement, is all the information so far had here concerning the tragedy in which Clark Benham nephew of S. A. Benham of this city, was shot to death. The newspaper account was as follows:

Henderson, Rusk Co., Texas, May 31.—N. C. Benham of Pittsburg, a traveling salesman for an oil company, was shot and killed in the lobby of the Whitson hotel here at 12:30 today.

Immediately after the shooting Sheriff Joel N. Hale surrendered to J. A. Ward, Justice of the Peace, and made bond in the sum of $5,000 which was numerously signed by his friends.

Benham is survived by his wife and one child.

Sheriff Hale is serving his twelfth year as sheriff of Rusk county.

Clark Benham was born in Brady, the son of Newt Benham, recently of San Saba, and now of Breckenridge. The mother of the deceased was a daughter of T. J. Wood of Brady, she having died about twenty years ago. Clark Benham spent a few years of his early life in Brady, and returned here again a number of years ago at which time he was employed as a mason on the O. D. Mann & Sons building. For some time past he had been district manager for the Petroleum Oil Co. at Pittsburg, Texas.

The body will arrive here on Saturday morning's train, the funeral procession going from the depot directly to Brady cemetery, where the body will be laid at rest alongside that of his mother.

BRADY MASONS WITNESS AND TAKE PART IN CORNER STONE CEREMONIES

Brady Masons attending the ceremonies marking the laying of the cornerstone of the new high school building at Mason, Texas, Tuesday were John C. Moffatt, Dr. Wm. C. Jones and Judge F. M. Newman. Dr. Jones was accorded the honor of acting Grand Master at the ceremonies, while Mr. Moffatt acted as Grand Marshal. Following the laying of the cornerstone, Grand Master D. F. Johnson of Brownwood made a most beautiful and impressive address.

There was a great attendance at the ceremonies and representatives of the Masonic orders at Fredericksburg Junction, London, Menard and other places were present.

Mason lived up to her reputation for lavish hospitality, and a wonderful dinner was served the visitors, the ladies of the Mason Eastern Star waiting on the tables, and the returning delegation speak in terms of highest praise of their hosts and hostesses.

ELECTION FOR $1 SCHOOL TAX AND $40,000 BUILDING

The Parent-Teachers association is sponsoring the circulating of a petition, requesting the Brady school board to call an election for the purpose of enabling the citizens of Brady Independent school district to vote upon two propositions, the first being to increase the school tax to the $1.00 limit, and the second being for the voting of bonds in the sum of $40,000 for a new high school building. In sponsoring the move, the Parent-Teachers association has gone on record as desiring to give Brady a high school building which will not only serve to meet all future needs, but which will be the first unit of a building, which, when completed, will give Brady a school building the equal of any in West Texas. The building is to be built thoroughly fire-proof, and along the most modern and approved lines.

At a mass meeting held at the court house Wednesday afternoon, the proposition of voting to increase the school tax to the $1.00 maximum was given unanimous endorsement. Incidentally a resolution was passed endorsing the Brady school board in whatever action they may deem necessary towards providing a building suited to Brady's present and future needs. Inasmuch as the school board is agreed upon a $40,000 bond election, this means the virtual endorsement of the entire proposition as contained in the petitions now being circulated by the Parent-Teachers association. The leaders in the move who have sounded out the citizenship express the belief that the two propositions will be carried by practically a unanimous vote.

Messrs. J. B. Smith and J. B. Whitman presented facts and figures at the mass meeting, showing not only the need of an increased tax, but of a new high school building as well. Mr. Smith's figures on the basis of a $50,000 bond issue, as the maximum amount which could safely be voted. Mr. Whitman took as a basis, a $40,000 bond issue, and showed that it would take all of 97 1/2c tax to take care of the interest and sinking fund of this issue, and also of the old bond issue balance still outstanding, and to operate the schools upon practically the same basis as last year. This, then, would leave but 7 1/2c to enable the hiring of an additional high school teacher, or to provide a Mexican or an additional colored school teacher.

It is understood that the school board will take action upon the petition immediately upon its presentation to them, and that the election date will be set for the earliest possible time, which the law provides shall be not less than 30 days following.

When the Verdict is, "Dead Plates"

The Car Owner knows that it means a New Battery

To get the best battery, it is first necessary to choose the best plates—the longest lived plates.

What the thoroughbred is to commonbred, Prest-O-Plates are to ordinary plates. They reveal their two-fold value in heat-resisting, non-buckling strength in hottest summer, and a ready reserve power in coldest winter.

Car owners may well select Prest-O-Lite Batteries on account of Prest-O-Plates alone. But they may choose them, confident that every other part of the battery is par with Prest-O-Plates.

Secure in the certainty of quality and uniform product, Prest-O-Lite underwrites every Prest-O-Lite Battery with a liberal guaranty. This is a specifically stated obligation, plus a policy that says the car owner must be pleased.

Jas. Finlay for Legislator.
To the people of the Legislative District:

In the proper column will be found my announcement as a candidate for the legislature. I have delayed my announcement somewhat on account of the fact that the redistricting bill passed by the last legislature was in the courts on account of leaving Swisher county entirely out of the bill. The bill stands, and Lampasas county will be added to McCulloch and San Saba counties as the 93rd District.

I am a candidate for the place, and earnestly solicit the vote of every lady and gentleman in the district.

I am 42 years old, a native Texan, a Democrat, and a farmer. I have no special hobby to run on; the issues of this race are of the future and not those of the past. Those issues that have been settled by the voice of the people are no longer issues, and we have a new chapter before us.

I expect to make an active campaign, to let the people know how I shall vote on questions before the next legislative body.

I shall not stump the district, but if anyone wishes to know how I stand on any question I shall be glad to let them know.

The office of representative is, in my opinion, next to county commissioner, the most important office the people must fill. The legislature can make wasteful appropriation, pay our employers high salaries and we must pay the bill. On account of the small remuneration it offers, the office is not sought after as much as the others, but the people should send representatives to Austin who will vote to their interests and not in interest of the office holder.

I am a farmer and stock grower. I have been paying increased taxes for, lo, these many years, and the tax rate is now at the limit. The

WONDER WORDS.

Jack Roberson and His Wonderful Cane Stalk—Not a Modern Fable.

Wonder, Ore., May 20.

Editor Brady Standard: I was not surprised about your floods, for it had been dry so long and you know the old saying often holds good about the seasons, viz: "One extreme follows another."

Well now about that cane seed. When I was only a boy of sixteen, we lived in a community where there was no molasses mill. But my mother wanted me to plant some sorghum for our milk cows. I inquired around in the neighborhood and secured a few cane seed of four different parties; each having a different sort. One was called "African" or "Sumac"—short thick stalks and joints and thick, kinky heads. One was called "China" with slim stalks and black shiny seed. One was called "Honduras," a very tall, long jointed sort with red sprangly top like broomcorn. The other was the "Early Amber" with black top. As I only wanted it for feed I planted one row of each kind along side by side. The next year I planted seed from the largest heads that I raised of the four original kinds, but to my surprise when it headed out, instead of four kinds I had six or seven distinct kinds and amongst them was one variety unquestionably the finest sort I have ever seen before or since. It was a tall, long jointed stalk, with a long slim-tapering head of gray seeds; few blades and as sweet as sugar. I was only a boy then and didn't know about Luther Burbank and his wonderful productions of improved plant creations done only by crossing the best varieties by pollenization, judicious selection and survival of the fittest. I should have retained my improved variety of cane and discarded all of the inferior sorts until I found something better yet than that.

Did you ever read about Luther Burbank's experiences with his world championship strawberry? How that for ten years of patient experiments he had produced a most wonderfully superior berry which he considered as perfect as it was possible for him to attain by systematic crossing and in a patch of several hundred plants he had only about a dozen that he desired to keep and he stuck stakes by those and instructed a hired man to dig up all except the ones which had stakes by them; and in a few days he happened along and to his mortal anguish discovered that the hired man had only dug up those plants that had the stakes by them and left the ones he wished to get rid of.

So when I butcher you bet I either do the shooting or am right there to see that the other fellow does not kill the wrong hog. For I would not keep an inferior animal for breeding purposes.

"O. I. C. U. R. RIGHT."
P. S.—I will send you an article in The Literary Digest upon this same scientific question next week.

schools of the state are closed before time, and the free school children are denied a large part of their education; yet the legislature increases salaries, creates more offices and are more lavish with the peoples' money than ever before. I am against all this, and I believe the people of the state are, and they are going to send a bunch of representatives to Austin who, as representatives of the people, have the peoples' interests at heart. I am prompted to make this race because I believe I can help the free school children of the state, the farmer, the business man, and all other classes, except the pockets of the professional politician.

Give me a chance.

Junior Bridge Club.

Misses Lessie and Norma Samuel were hostesses on Wednesday afternoon for the Junior Bridge club, with the following members attending: Mesdames J. W. Ragsdale, P. B. Melton, Chas. Williams; Miss Erin Yantis. Guests were Misses Willie Florence Yantis, Alice and Frances Samuel.

In the series of "Bridge," Mrs. Melton won high score.

The hostesses served a salad course.

Jolly Thirteen Club.

The "Jolly Thirteen" club met Wednesday afternoon as guests of Mrs. Marion Rice, and three tables of "42" formed the afternoon's diversion.

Club members present included Mesdames N. A. Collier, T. Gray, Edd Broad, Evans Adkins, H. N. Tipton, B. L. Hughes, O. F. Bates; Miss Mozelle Glenn. Guests were Mesdames Henry King, Frank Matthews; Miss Gussie Rice.

The hostess served a salad course. Cape jasmines were used as favors.

Friday Forty-Two Club.

The Friday Forty-Two club held a most enjoyable night party on last Friday at the home of Mrs. N. G. Lyle, Jr., Mrs. Lyle and Miss Mozelle Glenn being hostesses, and the gentlemen being honor guests.

Six tables were set for the usual series of Progressive "42." Attending members were Messrs. and Mesdames Edd Broad, A. B. Cox, N. A. Collier, Chas. Gray, H. R. Hodges, F. M. Richards, J. E. Shropshire, Roy Wilkerson; Mesdames W. J. Day, J. F. Davis. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Hughes; Mesdames Culbreath, Elma Campbell; Mr. Gus Carlson.

Ferns and cut flowers added attractive decoration to the Lyle home. A salad course was served at the close of the evening.

Mrs. A. B. Cox entertains for the next meeting of the club.

Apron-Overall Dance.

One of the most delightful of the season's dances was the Apron-Overall dance at K. P. hall on last Friday night. The hall was attractively decorated for the occasion, the Brady orchestra of five pieces furnished an entrancing program of rhythmic dance numbers, and the young ladies in their charmingly designed aprons, and the young men in work-day attire, enjoyed the occasion to the fullest extent. Some twenty-five couples were in attendance, including visitors from Fredericksburg and Brownwood, and each and every one voted the occasion most enjoyable. As the most charming young lady in costume Miss Katharine Ballou was awarded the prize a 5-pound box of candy while Mr. Guy Walker received a box of cigars for being the homeliest overall-clad attendant.

Missionary Society Entertains.

A pretty compliment was paid by the Missionary society of the Methodist church when it entertained the Missionary societies of all other churches at the Methodist church parlors on Monday afternoon.

The ladies assembled in the auditorium of the church, and were called to order by the president, Mrs. Wm. C. Jones. All presiding officers of the other societies and all old presidents of the Missionary society of the Methodist church were invited to sit on the platform with the president.

Opening with prayer by Mrs. F. M. Richards, the following program was then had:

Piano Solo—Mrs. Jack Ragsdale. Talk on Home and Foreign Works of the Baptist Ladies Aid, by Mrs. Lee Jones.

Solo—Mrs. F. W. Lazalier. Talk by Mrs. F. H. Kruse, secretary of the Presbyterian Ladies Aid. Piano Solo, Miss Hilma Jordan. Solo, Mrs. Chas. Williams.

Talk on Missionary Work of the Christian Ladies Aid, Mrs. Bert Stobaugh.

Song, Girls Glee club. Talk on Home and Foreign Missionary Work of the W. M. S. of the Methodist church, by Mrs. S. C. Dunn. Solo, Mrs. Duke Mann.

After the program, the ladies were invited into the church parlors, where cream and cake were served. About 150 ladies were present, and the program and entertainment were thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by all.

Complimenting Music Study Club.

One of the season's most delightful entertainments was had on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. J. B. Smith entertained at her home in compliment to the Brady Music Study club with the closing meeting of the season. The following musical program afforded delightful entertainment for all present:

FARM LAND BANKS CUT RATE TO 5 1/2 PER CENT—EFFECTIVE JUNE 1ST

Washington, May 31.—Reduction in the rate of interest charged farmers by Federal land banks from 6 per cent to 5 1/2 per cent, effective tomorrow, was announced today by Commissioner Lobdell of the Farm Loan Board.

The reduction in the rate, Mr. Lobdell explained, was the result of the successful flotation of $75,000,000 in 4 1/2 per cent farm loan bonds, the proceeds of which are now available for loaning purposes.

See Tom Elliot, secretary-treasurer Farm Loan Bank, Brady, Texas.

Mr. Kinsel has sold his farm at Lohn, and expects shortly to leave for May, where they will visit.

PERTINENT FACTS REGARDING THE PECAN INDUSTRY

It was my good fortune to have the pleasure of attending the second annual convention of the Texas Pecan Growers Association at Brownwood May 23 and 24th. As little as the people of McCulloch county realize and appreciate the actual opportunities which nature has placed at their very door, they are situated in the midst of one of the most promising agricultural industries in the state. From all over East, South Central, North and West Texas came reports of native wild forests of pecans being topped, worked and grafted to improved varieties of soft-shell pecans. Still with our wonderful possibilities for this kind of work in this county not a single instance has, so far, come under my observation, wherein any of our people have made any effort in the propagation of improved varieties of pecans. I wonder what is the matter. Our neighbors all around us have awakened to the realization of the opportunities afforded in the pecan field, and are off for a long start ahead of us. San Saba, Mason, Llano, Concho, Tom Green and in fact all counties surrounding us have more or less rotundly as pecan producing counties and yet McCulloch county, located right in the midst of them, is known to the outside world as producing a few pecans of questionable quality. Evidently there is something lacking and if it is lack of knowledge of the possibilities of pecan culture in the county, then we need a campaign of education along this line. Last year San Saba county shipped over three million pounds or over one hundred car loads of pecans; Brown county shipped over three times as many pecans as the rest of the pecan producing sections of the world combined, excepting the balance of Texas. McCulloch county has the water sources, the soil and the native trees which go to show that the industry could be made a big thing if properly developed.

Over in Georgia where the pecan is not indigenous, or a native in the wild state, they are many years ahead of Texas in the development of the soft shell pecan industry under intensive cultivation, and improved pecans shipped into Texas last year from Georgia were commanding a price from sixty cents to a dollar per pound, in our towns, whereas, our small and inferior Texas pecans went begging at from seven to ten cents per pound. It is true that early in the season the price of pecans ranged around fifteen cents, for a time, but when the break came in the market a little later inferior pecans were hardly salable at any price. Pecan handlers will tell you that they would much prefer to see the small and inferior pecans fed to some kind of stock than to make any kind of bid on them. If Georgia, a state in which the pecan is not a native can pull a stunt like this on Texas, one can readily see the possibilities in McCulloch and surrounding counties, its native habitat. It has been proven beyond a shadow of a doubt by many years of hard work and study on the part of some of the pioneer pecan enthusiasts of the state, that there is hardly a crop which will respond more readily and more profitably to cultivation and proper care than will the pecan.

Over in Georgia where they do not have a great deal of deep rich alluvial soil they have planted their pecan orchards on thin upland soils where they have to fertilize them every year and still land over there which has been planted to improved varieties of pecans commands a price of six hundred and fifty dollars per acre for three year old orchards and the price advances with the age of the tree until after ten years they are valued at from fifteen hundred dollars to two thousand dollars per acre.

The majority of people are under the impression that it takes a life time for a pecan tree to come into bearing, but this is an erroneous idea for an orchard set out to budged paper shell pecan trees will bear commercial quantities of nuts in ten years or less and surely anyone will admit that ten years is a short span of life in the development of a commercial proposition. There are many far-sighted men in the state of Texas today who, tho' they have passed the half century mark and realize that the odds are against them insofar as personally deriving the full benefit of their efforts is concerned, realize that no matter when they may be called across the Great Divide they are leaving behind them a boon to posterity. They enjoy also the consolation of knowing that they are doing a work which will make the world better for their having lived here.

There are a number of ways in which one can propagate an orchard of improved varieties of pecans. In the first place native trees which do not bear a pecan of commercial size and quality or those which are not prolific bearers can be successfully top worked to better varieties where they are not over twelve inches in diameter. In this method the buds are inserted in the limbs near the trunk or body and the top is severely cut back leaving a few lateral branches below the grafts to support the tree until the buds are forced out. The next year some of these branches are removed and then the following year all the old branches are removed leaving the tree with only the new top of improved pecans. In some instances trees worked in this manner have borne a few improved pecans the second year and some bear commercial quantities after the fourth year. Where the native trees are not available for budding and top working small budded trees can be obtained from the nursery houses throughout the state and these can be set out where desired. These young trees should be planted in rows forty feet apart each way and given thorough spring and summer cultivation. Deep rich soil is preferable for setting out trees of this nature and varieties chosen which are known to be successful in this section of the state. Varieties which have been found and propagated in East Texas do not as a rule do so well in this section and the same is true of many of our varieties when planted in the eastern part of the state. In case one doesn't wish to invest in young trees they can lay off their land in forty foot checks and plant a number of pecans in each check and at the end of two years can have these young trees budded to some improved variety. Of course the land on which one is growing these young trees will have to be kept free of weeds by good cultivation, the moisture conserved and the trees given an opportunity to make a vigorous growth. While this method is perhaps somewhat less expensive than buying the budded trees and setting them out it takes about two years longer to get the same results as when the budded trees are set out. When one puts out a pecan orchard it does not follow that he must lose the use of his land as regards other crops for he can plant between the rows leaving enough space on each side of the pecan row to allow for cultivation after the crop is laid by, for the cultivation of the pecans should continue until late September.

The best way in the world to get rid of worrisome pecan sprout which you have fought around your field and cut back year after year is to encourage a couple of shoots to make good and the next year buds a good variety of pecan onto them. In a very few years you will have a tree that will be worth many times the price of an acre of ground. This practice is being followed in many sections of the state and old troublesome stumps are being forced to foster trees of improved pecans.

Over near Junction, Texas, there stands a pecan tree known as the Oliver pecan, from the name of the man who owned the land on which the tree was found. This is a native tree bearing a nut of superior quality and a few years ago the Ramsey Nursery of Austin, Texas, paid the owner of the tree eighteen hundred dollars for the exclusive right to the bud wood produced by this tree for two years. This bud wood consists of the lateral branches or limbs grown the year before and on which the buds or eyes are set. After the leaves have fallen off in the fall this bud wood is removed from the tree and placed in cold storage to keep the buds dormant until needed for budding on native root stock the following spring.

The time is ripe for some of our McCulloch county people, who own land suitable for pecan culture to awaken to the realization of the opportunities before them in the development of this vast industry. It is to be hoped that when the next annual convention of the Texas Pecan Growers Association is called to order that McCulloch county will answer to the roll call with a number of delegates present representing a new industry in this county.

FRANKLIN'S COLD-AIR BATH

Homely Philosopher Was One of the Earliest American Advocates of the Open Window.

The cold bath in the morning is a social fetch that makes two clear divisions of mankind—the thoroughly virtuous who do not shrink from the full rigors and the Laodiceans who play with the hot water tap. As a custom it may be peculiarly English, but one hears less of a variation of it that has respectable authority, says the Manchester Guardian.

Benjamin Franklin, while representing the American colonies in London, wrote in one of his informing letters to a French correspondent that the "shock of cold water bath always appeared to me as too violent, and I have found it much more agreeable to my constitution to bathe in another element—I mean cold air. With this view I rise early almost every morning and sit in my chamber, without any clothes on whatever, half an hour or an hour, according to the season, either reading or writing. The practice is not in the least painful, but, on the contrary, agreeable, and if I return to bed afterward, before I dress myself, as it sometimes happens, I make a supplement to my night's rest of one or two hours of the most pleasing sleep that can be imagined."

Franklin was sixty-two at the time. He had still to live twenty-two of the most active years of his extraordinary career, so that in his case cold-air baths seem to have done no harm. Franklin was before his time in his belief in fresh air, and he wrote some savage things about the "serophs" that at present distresses weak minds and makes them choose to be stifled and poisoned rather than leave open the window of a bedchamber or put down the glass of a coach.

FLOWER-POT AS BRIDEGROOM

Unique Ceremony Which Transforms Chinese Girl into a Full-Fledged and Privileged Widow.

China is still a land of strange customs, one of the most curious being the ceremony of a flower-pot marriage.

When the man whom a Chinese girl is to marry dies shortly before the date fixed for the wedding, the grief-stricken bride-elect sometimes takes a vow never to marry. Should she do so, she goes through the ceremony of wedding an ordinary flower-pot. She is now considered a widow, and upon the parents of her intended husband falls the responsibility of maintaining her. Usually she goes to live with them.

In many cases, especially where the family is poor, great sacrifices are necessary in order that the daughter-in-law (as she is now regarded) may be properly cared for. But the parents have no option in the matter. And, actually, they have no desire to shirk their responsibilities, for the faithfulness of the "widow" brings great honor to the bridegroom's family, it being considered quite a disgrace should the bride-elect not wish to go through the ceremony of marrying the flower-pot.

In the days before China was a republic, the emperor, upon the facts being brought to his notice, had a handsome monument erected in commemoration of the "widow's" faithfulness.

Old Krook.

Krook is the name of a rather prominent but most uncanny character in Dickens' novel, "Bleak House," which has much to do with the then dilatory procedure of the Court of Chancery. The system Dickens describes ceased to exist many years.

Krook is the proprietor of a rag and bone warehouse, where everything seems to be bought and nothing sold. He is a grasping drunkard, who eventually dies of spontaneous combustion, that is, he is so saturated with liquor that he takes fire and is consumed. In a note to this chapter of "Bleak House" Dickens cites a case of spontaneous combustion that took place in Paris, France, and which, he said, was well verified by medical authority. It was probably from that case that Dickens obtained the idea which he made use of in describing Krook's wonderful death.

Purpose.

Ambition is more than a wish; it is desire intensified into determined purpose. All that is needed for the accomplishment of our ambitions is a desire so strong that we will sacrifice whatever may stand in the way of our success. The law of compensation never fails. If we would gain one thing we must give up another. How many people have you known who complain of failure through bad luck, when your own knowledge of them tells you that their downfall came through lack of really trying? They were not willing to forego pleasures or extravagances which interfered with their success.

Cooking Chicken.

Old saying is, no one can eat a quail a day for 30 days. H. J. Jaimar, Baptist missionary in the Congo, hasn't tested the quail theory. But he ate chicken three times a day for two years.

Don't pity Jaimar for monotony of diet. Pity his wife, who had to plan the meals to make them attractive. She evolved 22 ways of preparing chicken. No man has a task as difficult as his wife has, in planning meals. Doubt if Ask her.

FORD NEARS OUTPUT OF 5000 A DAY

Dealers Call for 194750 Cars, Trucks and Tractors for June

Ford dealers in the United States have asked for a total of 194,750 Ford cars, trucks and tractors to meet their June requirements, says a statement issued by the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, Michigan.

As a result, the estimated output for June has been boosted to 140,000, which is an increase of 10,000 over the present month, and, of course, will set up a new high record, in spite of the fact that the May output will show a substantial increase over the previous highest month.

Ford sales have been constantly increasing since the first of the year, the demand growing during the past two months faster than it has been possible to increase production.

Monday, May 16th, brought forth a new record of cars built for one day, the figures reaching 4878 at the close of the day's work. This was an increase of 16 over May 15th, when the previous high mark was established.

On May 18th, the six millionth Ford motor was assembled. Number five million came off the line May 28th, 1921.

Ford officials state that every attempt is being made to build a sufficient number of cars and trucks to fill the retail requirements of their 8,000 dealers.

NO FREE SEED FOR FLOOD-ED AREAS—ACCOUNT OF THE ADVANCED SEASON

There will be no free seed for the farmers whose crops were washed away this spring in floods. The sub-appropriation committee of Congress has refused to report the Rhodes bill, which authorized the appropriation of $2,000,000. Among the reasons advanced for Congress not reporting the bill were that the season was too far advanced to do the farmers any good, and that the results of planting would be problematical. It developed at the committee hearing that 700,000 acres of farm land in Texas had been damaged by floods this spring.

NORTH CAROLINA MAN HOLDS ODDEST CLAIM AGAINST GOVERNMENT

Atlanta, May 30.—A novel document, upon which is based a claim on the Federal Government for approximately $1,000,000, principal and accrued interest on a deposit of $9,000 made in the United States treasury, in Philadelphia, in 1795, was exhibited here by Major J. L. White, a retired physician, of Rowan county, N. C. The document consisted of an inscription on a copper plate bequeathing to the finder of the plate the initial deposit and accrued interest.

Major White, who said he served in the war between the States as the youngest major in the Confederate army and who had all the appearances of the fast-disappearing type generally referred to as the "Southern gentleman," said he found the plate in a cave in North Carolina while taking refuge from a storm.

The circular sheet of hammered copper bore the following inscription:

"As I came from the old country I deposited $9,000.00 (nine thousand dollars) in the United States Treasury in Philadelphia, in 1795. I donate this money to the finder of this plate as I am wounded and bound to die.

"H. A. BARKLEY."

Major White said he found the plate in 1914 and went to the North American Bank in Philadelphia which took over the affairs of the United States Treasury about 1812 where he said, he was shown the Treasury record where one H. A. Barkley had made a deposit as specified on the plate. The president of the bank, he said, told him the interest and principal would amount to approximately $1,000,000, but advised him to delay efforts to get possession of the money owing to unsettled conditions attendant upon the World War, which had already begun.

He said he showed the plate to William G. McAdoo, then Secretary of the Treasury, who, he declared, assured him it was a perfectly valid claim against the Government.

"I don't need the money now," said Major White, "but it is a comfortable feeling to know that Uncle Sam owes me $1,000,000."

BRADY'S DAY OFF AND SANTA ANNA WINS IN A WALK—SCORE IS 12 TO 0

It's a sad tale mates! But Brady had her day off and Santa Anna was going strong. Result 12 to 0 in Santa Anna's favor. Nuf Sed.

The first inning the game started off sweet and low just like the days of real sport. Three men up and three down on either side. Then in the second and third innings Robertson was unable to tame down and his team-mates added to the fireworks by errors, bad fielding and bad throws so that Santa Anna tallied four times in the second and six times in the third inning. Robertson thereupon finished the game behind the bat, and Fuller mounted the mound, and while Fuller was touched up for some hard hits, he managed to keep them sufficiently scattered to hold down the scoring to one tally in the 5th and another in the 7th. In the meantime Brady was ineffective against the visitors' big pitcher and not until the 9th inning did a Brady runner so much as reach third. The eleventh hour rally proved ineffective however for with runners on second and third, Baldrige struck out, and Bailey Jones and Hampton flew out, ending the game.

County Agent George Ehlinger made another trip to the Breezeland Poultry farm at San Angelo Sunday, this time carrying with him Messrs. A. W. Keller and J. P. Miller, the bee man. Mr. Keller, who is something of a chicken-raiser and fancier himself, says the trip and visit is worth anyone's time, and that the ladies operating this poultry farm have the trap-nest system down to its finest point. Mr. Keller believes that a visit there will convince anyone of the importance and great financial value of poultry raising, and believes nothing should be left undone towards creating greater interest in and enlarging the scale of poultry raising in McCulloch county.

Sam T. Wood, the hard-working ever-smiling hardware merchant on the South Side of the square promises some decided innovations in the matter of store display and up-to-the-minute merchandising. One of his first efforts has been to replace his store front with a series of folding doors, which, when folded back, throw the entire front of the store open and enable a full view of the entire store interior. Mr. Wood plans to follow this with a series of display tables ranged along either side of

BRADY TAKES EASY VICTORY FROM MASON BALL TEAM TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Brady claimed an easy victory from the Mason ball team on the latter's grounds Tuesday afternoon, the game being incident to the celebration which marked the laying of the cornerstone of the new Mason high school. Like Brady, the Mason team was just opening the season, and had one victory to her credit—the defeat of Menard last week. The Brady aggregation not only administered defeat, but hunc a goose-egg on the Mason team for good measure, the score resulting 8 to 0.

The following was the line-up of the Brady team:
 Fuller, c
 Spade, p
 H. Jones, 1b
 Melton, 2b
 Harrison, ss
 Robertson, 3b
 Hampton, lf
 Woosley, cf

the store, which will enable proper showing of and easy access to every article carried. Mr. Wood goes on the theory that "to see is to buy" and to judge from the success his efforts have already met with, his theory is as good as his practice.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Vincent, accompanied by Miss Mary Lyle and J. B. Vincent and Harold and Odell Olson, left Wednesday in their handsome new touring Studebaker Six for a six-weeks' vacation trip up into Colorado and through Yellowstone park. The party is making the trip fully equipped for camping out along the route, and expect to make their way leisurely stopping at Manitou Springs, and other points of interest for several days at a time, while enjoying the scenic and other wonders which this section offers tourists. During the absence of Mr. Vincent, the Vincent store will be in charge of Claud Wood

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lackey of Pear Valley are rejoicing over the arrival of a big 8½-pound boy. The little fellow came the 31st day of May. Mother and babe doing nicely.

About a quarter of an inch of rain fell in Brady Tuesday night at 9:00 o'clock. The rain appeared local in extent, being slightly heavier east and northeast, and lighter west from Brady.
