Brady Extends Cordial Invitation to McCulloch County Exhibit, Oct. 24-25

Inspired by the enthusiastic support and whole-hearted encouragement of the citizenship of McCulloch county, the officials of the McCulloch County Co-Operative Exhibit have given their best and most earnest efforts towards making the coming event one of the greatest in the history of McCulloch county, and one which will reflect added luster to the fame of McCulloch county. All obstacles have been surmounted. All arrangements have been completed. Tuesday will dawn on a magnificent showing of McCulloch County's best—hundreds of sleek and fancy cattle, fat and aristocratic swine, registered sheep, pedigreed cackling hens and crowing cocks, and gobbling turkeys. In the Exhibit Hall will be displayed the blue ribbon offering of McCulloch county's fertile soil, the hundreds of cans, jars and bottles containing the most delicious of canned goods, preserves, pickles and fruit, such as McCulloch county has long been famed for. Then there will be the masterpieces of the needle—art work representing many tedious, painstaking hours of labor of our fair ladies. There will be curios gathered from every nook and corner, and relics which have no price. It will indeed be a sight to convince everyone that here must be the fabled land of "Milk and Honey," where peace, prosperity and plenty abide.

Not unmindful of the fact that along with the fruits of toil, industry and ingenuity, there must be something to relieve the tedium of life, the Exhibit committee has arranged a fulsome program of entertainment and amusement. There will be numerous feats of skill and daring; exhibitions of endurance and persistence; blue-blooded sports such as bring back the days of long ago. There will be enjoyable musical programs, clever presentations of drills, dialogues and plays. There will be music galore—vocal, instrumental and band. Comedy will be intermingled with the artistic and the dramatic. There will be picture shows including drama, comedy and educational reels. And there will be one of the highest class of entertainments in the lyceum number to be presented on the night of the first day—a cartoonist, who, with a few clever strokes of crayon can present a picture that will speak volumes.

The business houses of Brady will be asked to close both mornings of the Exhibit, so the employes may join in the big affair, mingle with the visitors from over the county and establish more cordial relations one with another.

The idea back of this great Community Co-Operative Exhibit is to show just what town and country can do when united in endeavor. It is a big idea that was demonstrated a success two years ago. It is going to be a bigger success this year, because the citizenship of McCulloch county has the spirit of the occasion—each one striving to be best in every line of endeavor—a friendly, spirited rivalry that is certain to build town and country and bring manifold returns to both. It's all free—and yours to enjoy, if you but come!

So Brady invites all the citizenship of McCulloch county to declare next Tuesday and Wednesday a holiday—to come and join in building the biggest and best community co-operative event in the State of Texas—to show with pride their accomplishments of the good year of 1922—to relax from their labors and to take on new life and spirit.

Come, we bid you welcome to the McCulloch County Co-Operative Exhibit!

PARADE IS OUTSTANDING FEATURE OF EXHIBIT

Every citizen of Brady and McCulloch county who can and will provide a decorated car, float or some attractive or unique unit is wanted in the great parade, with which the McCulloch County Co-Operative Exhibit will be opened next Tuesday morning, announces C. H. Vincent, director in charge of the parade.

This one feature promises to be a whole show in itself, for not only have the various communities promised both attractive and unique floats, cars and displays for the parade, but individual efforts are also being put forth to bring into the parade decidedly novel and interesting displays and attractions. Practically every business man of Brady has agreed to take a representative part in the parade, and hints of clever ideas have given assurance that the parade is going to be a hummer, and that Barnum & Bailey in the hey-day of their success, never staged anything more gorgeous, more glittering, more novel, more comical, nor has there ever been a more educational, interesting and entertaining feature, than will be provided in the great parade.

With three bands to enliven the march, there should be nothing lacking in the way of martial music, military airs and quicksteps. The paraders will begin assembling at the former E. J. Broad building at 9:00 a. m., and every entrant must be on hand and in proper place in line by 10:00 a. m. The parade will be headed by Brady city officials, and by the various community entrants. Following, will be the Brady school, and then the merchants floats and decorated cars.

At the conclusion of the parade, all participants should remain in line on the public square, so that a picture of the big spectacle may be taken.

Read it in The Standard.

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS AND PLACE OF HOLDING SAME.

| All Agricultural, Culinary, Textile and like exhibits to be displayed in Exhibit hall (former A. T. Jordan skating rink) one block south of square. | Picture show, including A. & M. college reels, at Brady Opera house Tuesday afternoon. |

NO EFFORT SPARED TO PROVIDE ENTERTAINMENT

That no effort has been spared by the Entertainment committee to provide instructive, interesting and amusing entertainment at the McCulloch County Exhibit next Tuesday, and Wednesday, is evidenced by the program printed in an adjoining column. There is a variety which should meet any requirement and any individual taste. If you are interested in matters educational, there are the agricultural and live stock exhibits, together with the judging by experts from A. & M. college. There is the agricultural and pig club reels, which are certain to contain interesting and useful information. There is the lyceum number, the cartoonist, whose efforts with crayon and blackboard may prove inspiring to local talent clever in drawing and sketching.

If your interest is claimed by red-blooded sport and feats of daring and skill, then the tournament program, with goat roping and other features should prove most attractive. The football game should also appeal to you as a sport in which brains and brawn are admirably combined in skillful exhibition.

If you crave entertainment, then what better could you wish than the community programs and the musical and entertainment programs, such as are scheduled on both the first and second afternoons at the Methodist tabernacle.

If it is amusement, pure and simple, that you want, then you have a varied program from which to choose. Picture show, afternoon and night at the Brady Opera house. The fat man race should appeal to everyone with a sense of humor; also, greased pig, greased pole and grow fat. And make you laugh and grow fat. And that wolf chase is going to provide some shivers.

Care of Clothing.

In the care and up-keep of clothing no small amount of ability and common judgment is necessary. As for my own self, I am very negligent and careless; yet I appreciate the value of "keeping up" my wardrobe. I might enumerate a few suggestions for myself as well as others.

In my everyday habits of cleanliness and preparation for school, my greatest difficulties arise with the most common article of my apparel, namely, my hose. Needless to say, perspiration is the most harmful enemy to our hosiery. From publications of the leading hosiery mills in the United States, facts have been proven that more than seventy-five percent of the defects in hose are traced to, not so much wear especially, but to tiny particle of perspiration. To avoid this, or rather to increase the life of your hose, whether for school or for nice wear, each night just before retiring, rinse them good in lukewarm water; and by morning they are fresh and ready for wear. If this simple habit is formed, the "runners" stop at once; the feet kept properly mended when needed, the life and wear will be prolonged many, many times the usual length. Last, but not least, I think an excellent plan to keep your stockings separated from the other members of the family—especially if there are several sisters, as I have—is to let each have a certain "mark" to designate their own, whereby much trouble and confusion will easily be abolished.

The underwear does not require such personal care. Ordinarily they need little mending, except sometimes a little lace or ribbon needs tacking down or pressing when they are returned from the laundry. Perfect cleanliness, above all, and underwear that is suitable, are the only two facts I think worthy of comment here. The school girl needs many suits of underwear.

"It isn't the dress that makes the girl, but the girl emphasizes the dress." Many and various ideas may be concluded from this statement. But the point or main thought which I aim to bring out is this: a simple, pretty little dress on a school girl looks much better than the more sought-after, elaborate ones. She then has the desired background for her own personal charms, besides giving herself freedom of thought and actions. Not only is simplicity desirable for your personality but above all, they are less expensive and more easily kept. Pressing adds to one's appearance, while it also saves them from being washed so much. Each girl should have a closet or rack on which to hang her dresses as well as skirts, sweaters, waists and coats. Little spots should not be allowed to remain; and frequent airing, shaking and brushing are indispensable for skirts and woolen dresses. The proper care during the changes of seasons necessitates plenty of storing room and germ preventatives.

To sum up the general care of clothing, I should say, they need to be kept perfectly clean, mended and pressed at all times, neatly folded and in place in your bureau drawers when not being worn, and when the occasion presents itself, renovate your old clothes for yourself or little brothers and sisters. This is practicing thrift and economy to the utmost degree.

In Bad Either Way.
Why don't you take your wife to a girl and music show?

"Dear me" exclaimed the young wife, with a shudder. "Don't talk about them that way. You'll make me so sorry for the poor things I won't be able to eat one."

THE BIG CO-OPERATIVE EXHIBIT OPENS NEXT TUESDAY--COME!

LOCAL OFFICERS BELIEVE BURGLAR RING BROKEN IN CAPTURE TWO MEN

TWO YOUNG MEN IN TOILS OF LAW CHARGED WITH BURGLARY AND THEFT—OFFICERS CLAIM WERE CAUGHT WITH GOODS AFTER EXCITING CHASE.

Capture of two young men giving their names as T. W. Turning and W. Petersen, and the recovery of a quantity of goods alleged to have been stolen Monday night at Mercury, marks the breaking up of an organized band of burglars and thieves, according to local officers. The capture was effected Wednesday evening after a several hours' chase down the Mason road, and across the country through several pastures in the Katemcy neighborhood. A command to halt merely served to cause the driver of a big Buick Six roadster to step on the gas, but when the bullets began to fly about the car, the two men leaped out and threw up their hands in surrender.

Turning and Peterson have been lo-past three or four months, stating cated in and around Brady for the their business was the collection of judgments in lease suits. In getting about they drove a big, practically new Buick Six roadster. Both men had been in the oil fields for some time, and while there Turning, who was known here as Marion Holmes, became acquainted with a young Brady lady, member of a prominent family living west of Brady. Following his coming to Brady, Turning, or Holmes, frequently called upon this young lady, and last Monday was issued a license to marry her, by County Clerk Yantis, at which time he gave the name of Holmes. However, the wedding was not consummated, and following his arrest, he made the enigmatic statement to the officers that he had taken out the license so he could not marry the girl, and that he had no intention of marrying her. His reference probably was to his assumed name.

Both men had been under suspicion for some time, and more especially since the robbery of the Murphy Filling station, at which time a number of auto and truck casings and several tubes were taken. The trail left by the burglars led down the alley at the rear of the Murphy place of business to a block west, where the loot showed to have been loaded on a car with a rather unusual set of casings. It later developed that these same two men had been observed loading something in their car by a neighbor, who, however, paid no special attention, thinking they were loading their own belongings. When the Murphy robbery became known the next morning, the circumstances were recalled and Mr. Murphy was advised. As a result, the two had been under close surveillance ever since.

The Mercury burglary occurred the night of the rain, so that the tracks leading to and from Mercury were plainly visible, and again the same unusual tread was observed. Besides stealing two casings from Porter Squires' garage, the burglars had knocked the combination off his safe with a heavy sledge hammer, stealing two watches, one with Mr. Squires' initial engraved thereon, also a .25 calibre automatic. All these were recovered from the car after the men's arrest and positively identified by Mr. Squires. At the Jim Cawyer store, the burglars secured a collection of 7 watches, 57 pocket knives, a ring, 4 pair of gloves, 7 cartons of cigarettes, which they had evidently gathered up in a cloth used to cover one of the clothing counters. All these goods were recovered from the Buick car, and identified in a general way by Mr. Cawyer, who, however, was able to positively identify one certain knife and some other articles. The burglars also broke the combination off the Cawyer safe, and knocked the dogs in, but were unable to open the safe because the dial afforded the only handle to the same.

Wednesday the pair appeared at Murphy's filling station to secure a supply of gas, evidently preparing to take a trip. Their appearance at the station was timed at noon, just when nearly everyone was gone to dinner, but Mr. Murphy managed to delay their departure by forcing some repairs on a valve, and when W. N. Roberts appeared in sight, Murphy whispered to Roberts to trail them and get the direction they were leaving town. After following them out into the south resident district, Roberts lost sight of them, and was returning to town, when they suddenly again appeared, having in the meantime circled about in the vicinity of the Chas. Roberts dairy. Roberts again took up the trail and saw them heading out the Mason road. Then he returned to town and phoned the officers, who at once started on the chase, in the meantime having phoned Sheriff Leslie at Mason to be on the lookout and arrest them.

Oscar Squires drove the Ford car in which the chase was taken, W. N. Roberts, Sheriff Wall and Chief of Police Felty accompanying him. Turning and Peterson were delayed in their departure by a flat, and changed on the road to a tire alleged to have been taken from the Squires' garage. When Katemcy was reached, the officers were just twenty minutes behind. After continuing down the Mason road past Katemcy, the pursuers suddenly became aware that they had lost the trail, and meeting a drummer, asked if he had seen the men wanted. He replied that he had not met them and that Leslie was guarding the Mason end of the road. Turning back, the officers found where the trail led through a gate at Mrs. Lang's place, four miles beyond Katemcy, then thru the Kiser pasture and into the Dave Polk pasture. The men had just passed through a gate and were heading north again on the Voca road, when the officers caught sight of them. A call to halt, caused the Buick to jump like a scared rabbit, and the chase was on. Wall fired five shots with his Army .45 endeavoring to puncture the gas tank. One bullet tore through the number plate and knocked the paint off the top of the tank, and another went through the cowl of the car and struck the woodwork underneath the seat. Roberts used a Winchester, and perforations on either side of the glass in the back curtain showed to what good effect he aimed. One of the men jumped from the car and made a break for the brush, but ran full into a hog-proof fence, which all but laid him out. Wall jumped simultaneously, and landed right side up, although somewhat damaged by wear and tear. The pursued then threw up his hands in token of surrender, and his companion lost no time in getting out of the car and also surrendering.

Two automatics were found in the side pockets of the car, and the alleged loot as above described was also recovered.

The men gave their ages as 23 and 25, and one said he had been born in Denmark and had come to the U. S. when about 12 years old. One had a sister living in Wisconsin and the other a sister in San Antonio, but no other relatives. Examining trial was held yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace N. G. Lyle, and in default of $1500 bond each, the men were remanded to jail, to await the action of the grand jury.

EXHIBIT OF TEXTILES RECEIVES SPECIAL CARE

The exhibit of textiles and all manner of handwork and needlework will receive special attention and care at the McCulloch County Exhibit. The committee in charge of this department is composed of Mesdames H. R. Hodges, E. B. Newman and W. M. Deans, and these ladies have arranged to be at the Exhibit hall on next Monday to receive, record and arrange all work which the ladies may wish to place on display. Every effort will be made to safeguard the articles left in their care, and to assure their prompt and proper return to the owner, so that none may have the least hesitancy in bringing their fancy and art pieces to the Exhibit.

The Textile exhibit two years ago was one to delight any feminine heart and to cause wonder and consternation in the mind of mere man, for in it was included pieces of work representing the most tedious of work, and innumerable original and wonderfully clever designs.

The exhibit in this line this year should be bigger and better than ever, and many pieces of work, as well as curios, relics and other bits of interest and wonder are promised for the display.

OSCAR SQUIRES NOW AUTO SALESMAN WITH MANN-RICKS CO. OF THIS CITY

Oscar Squires has accepted a position as auto salesman with the Mann-Ricks Auto Co., and is now telling all friends of the firm of the beauty, simplicity and mechanical perfections of the Willys-Knight and Overland cars, for which the firm is local agent. It looks natural to see Mr. Squires back with this firm once more, and he unquestionably feels at home in the position, as he is actively pushing the sale of these cars without a moment's stop. Incidentally, Mr. Squires will also look after local sales of Essex and Hudson cars for W. R. Scrimgeour & Son of Brownwood, in whose sales territory McCulloch county is included. These four cars give a splendid range of values, and make a combination that is hard to get away from by the prospective purchaser.

DETAILS OF TRAGIC DEATH OF MRS. SAM WHITE KILLED BY STREET CAR SUNDAY

A street car accident was responsible for the death of Mrs. Sam White, sister-in-law of J. H. White of Brady, and whose death was mentioned in Tuesday's issue of The Standard.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram carried the following mention of the tragic incident in its issue of Tuesday morning:

"New Orleans, Oct. 16.—With an escort of honor from the Texas delegation of the American Legion convention here the body of Mrs. Sam White will be forwarded today to her home at Weatherford, Tex., for burial. Mrs. White, a Texas delegate to the Legion's auxiliary convention, suffered fatal injuries when struck by a street car here yesterday and died last night.

"Weatherford, Texas, Oct. 16.—The body of Mrs. G. S. White, who was killed in a street car accident in New Orleans Sunday evening, will reach this city Tuesday morning, according to telegrams from those in charge, and the funeral will be held Wednesday. Mrs. White was a leader in social and club life here, devoting most of her time to civic improvement. She was in New Orleans to attend the American Legion convention when the accident occurred.

"She is survived by her husband,

G. S. White, and the following children: Mrs. A. B. Patterson and Mrs. Chas. Corn of Houston, Mrs. Telen Semple of Eastland, and Sam White of Ft. Stockton. Mr. White left Friday for Fort Stockton and has not yet heard of the death of his wife."

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE BEGUN HERE THIS WEEK

The drive for funds for the Home Service work of the Salvation Army was begun in Brady this week by the local committee. McCulloch county has a quota of $500, in this annual drive, and this sum has been apportioned to the various towns of the county. The great work of the Salvation Army, in peace times, the same as in war, commends it to every citizen of charitable inclinations, and McCulloch county citizens should put over their quota without a minute's delay. Here is how the Governor of Texas views the Salvation Army and its cause:

Austin, Texas.—Governor Pat M. Neff, in a letter to Judge W. F. Ramsay, chairman of the board of directors of the Federal Reserve bank, and divisional finance chairman of the Salvation Army, has endorsed the "magnificent accomplishments of the Salvation Army," and urges "all Texans to assist as best they can this unselfish service."

The Governor's letter follows: "I take great pleasure in most heartily endorsing the work of the Salvation Army. This organization is one that not only ministers to the needs of suffering humanity during the stress of war, but continues its work of Good Samaritan, in times of peace, especially in localities stricken by fire, flood or other disasters. The broken-hearted, these needing friendly council and a lifting hand, the destitute, all are received with compassion and helped and strengthened on their further journey along life."

The Magnificence of the World War cannot soon be forgotten. It warmed and fed thousands, extending its hands across the sea to No Man's Land. The shrieking, death-dealing shells of the enemy did not strike fear into the hearts of the Salvation Army workers; undaunted, they went to the very firing lines, ministering to our boys fighting on the fields of Flanders and in France. The lavish praise our returned heroes have accorded the work of the Salvation Army among our soldiers makes us debtor in the coin of sincerest gratitude, and should imbue us with a desire to aid in every possible way the noble work that it is now doing. May I urge all Texans to assist as best they can this unselfish service. The Salvation Army draws no lines of sect or creed, but shows mercy in a healthy human way, having no favorite but favoring all. The funds being raised by this organization will be used to carry out their motto: "A man may be down but he is never out."

"Wishing you all success in your appeal for funds, and with appreciation of what the Salvation Army is doing for the people of Texas, I am, Yours most sincerely,
(Signed) PAT M. NEFF,
Governor.

BRADY TO PLAY JUNCTION FIRST DAY OF EXHIBIT

Definite arrangements have been concluded by the Brady high school team for a game with the Junction high school eleven, to be played at Dutton City park the first afternoon of the McCulloch County Exhibit, which would be next Tuesday. The game will be called promptly at 3:30 o'clock, and will be free to everyone. Arrangements to this effect having been made with the Exhibit Program committee. The Junction boys have been playing some good ball recently, and the locals are feeling good since their victory last Saturday and are in fine trim for the coming event. Everyone should be at the game next Tuesday and root for the home team.

Defeat Santa Anna 13 to 6.

Brady lost no time in lifting the scalp of the Santa Anna high eleven on the local grounds last Saturday afternoon, the final score being 13 to 6. The most spectacular incident of the game was when Strickland intercepted a pass by the visitor's quarter back, and with a clear field ahead of him, raced 50 yards for a touchdown, the visitors trailing hotly after him but just three jumps behind. Strickland thereupon kicked a perfect goal. This occurred in the second quarter. Previously, in the first quarter, Rabern Squyres got credit for a touchdown, which was made through off-tackle plays and concluded with a line buck. Brady then tried a run for the goal, but were downed by the visitors before they could make it.

In the third quarter Santa Anna pepped up and worked the ball down on Brady territory, and scored a touchdown when a punt from the 25-yard line was fumbled by Polk and recovered by one of the visiting team. It was just a case of error in judgment on the part of the local player and good luck for the visitors.

In the fourth quarter, Brady got into the game with real pep, and worked the ball down to the ten yard line. Two minutes' more play would, without question have netted them another touchdown, but time was called before the play could be completed.

"Yes," observed the boastful business man to his actor friend, "your profession may be a very lofty one in an artistic sense, but that of a successful merchant is much better. Look at me! At the early age of 45, retired on my fortune and presented by my fellow-merchants with an illuminated address! Can you boast of anything like that? Have you ever had an illuminated address?"

"I have," replied the actor—"once."
"When?" asked the merchant.
"Why," replied the actor, "when my lodgings caught fire."—Los Angeles Times.

With the passing of summer and the approach of indoor days and longer evenings, music again comes into its own. And as fancy leads one to hear in imagination, perhaps, the enlivening of glumly silent spaces with the sweet notes of a song or the gaiety of sprightly dance music, the longing for music grows. For life without music and home without music seem not the right life, not the right sort of home, at all.

SURELY WAS "QUARE THING"

No Wonder Mr. Murphy Couldn't Understand His Better Half's Sudden Indisposition.

In a certain town there is an Irish cobbler whose conversation is much relished by his fellow townsmen. "Good morning, Mr. Murphy," said a customer one day, going into the shop with shoes to be repaired. "I hear your wife is ill. What is the matter?"

"It's meself that's tried to find a ragson for Mary's being took since yesterday morning," said Mr. Murphy. "Unless it's the heat, I don't know what the trouble is. 'The day before yesterday she was as well as iver she was. Ye mind it was a powerful hot day, day before yesterday? Well, thin, Mary took no notice of the weather, no more than usual. She picked blueberries all morning; thin she made a blueberry pie for dinner, and she ate the half of that pie, and a quarter of a watermelon I'd bought, and she relished every mouthful."

"Thin she made the rest of the blueberries into a nice cake for supper, and she ate the half of that—me eatin' the rest, as I did of the pie—an' the last quarter of the watermelon; an' what with the fish doughnuts an' the last end of Mrs. Dooley's weddin' cake, she made out a foine meal. An' in the evenin', it being so terrible hot, she made a pitcher of lemonade, an' drunk the whole of that."

"It's the quare thing her being took sick yesterday mornin' after being so well the day before," said Mr. Murphy. "She ate twice what I did, and I remember spakin' to her about her foine appetite, with the heat an' all; and here she is flat on her back since yesterday mornin'." — Philadelphia Ledger.

Why British Flag Bears Large Cross.

During the early part of its history, Great Britain used a number of different flags or standards to identify the men and the ships belonging to the nation. In medieval times, practically every great nobleman had a flag of his own, but, at the time of Richard the Lion Hearted, what is now the official badge of Great Britain had its beginning.

As time went on, the insignia of conquered nations were added to this ensign, together with certain symbols of the reigning families with whom the British kings and queens intermarried, even the symbol of France appearing on this flag as late as 1801. Gradually, however, these were eliminated and the present royal standard adopted—divided into four quarters, symbolical of the divisions of the island empire. In the first quarter are the three British lions. In the second appears the fighting lion of Scotland. The harp of Ireland occupies the third quarter and the lion of England are repeated in the fourth quarter, for Wales does not appear as a separate entity. Joining the four—or separating them—is the Cross of St. George, as typical of the different British standards as the Stars and Stripes are of the various forms of the American flag.

A Quick Thinker.

"Speaking of alphas," said Jim Bortoff, who prosecutes the cases of the state of Indiana in the Clark Circuit court at Jeffersonville, and has sometimes been troubled by alphas which he distrusts but which he does not prove, "I know an old negro once, well, he sure was a quick thinker. This negro used to deal with a grocer named John Burnside, who had a store just north of Jeffersonville. One night the negro crawled through a small hole, only made for chickens, and when he crawled out a chicken went with him. Next day Burnside picked up the negro's grocery account book near the place the chicken had been and was not. He silently handed out the book to the negro who came later to make a purchase, and then said: 'I found it in the chicken house, uncle.' 'Yes, sah, yes, sah; saah, sah. I've left it there so's you could charge up the chicken, sah.'" — Indianapolis News.

Road Built on Sandy Shore.

By the use of sectional planking it was possible to build a stretch of reinforced concrete highway along the shore of Lake Michigan, east of Michigan City, on what is known as the Long Beach road extension. Starting at the central mixing plant, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, the contractor put down 2,000 feet of sectional planking, made up in sections 5 feet wide and 10 feet long, 2 by 6 inch boards, laid over the sand surface. He then laid the concrete, which was carted from the mixing plant to the end of the walk, and as the road was laid, the duckboard was taken up and conveyed back to the mixing plant. When he had worked back to the mixing plant, he used the same planking, extending it 2,000 feet in the opposite direction and working back in the same manner.

Heligoland's Transformation.

When a syndicate of American and German capitalists finish waving the magic wand over Heligoland, the former grim waste will assume the aspect of a most attractive bathing resort with a winter hotel, and a casino offering every facility for polite gambling. It is intended that Monte Carlo shall feel the competition.

Business Up in Air.

LOCAL BRIEFS

R. L. McKinney, field director of the International Lions club, has been in Brady this week on a mission of organizing a Lions club. Mr. McKinney was a guest at the Luncheon club meeting Thursday, at which time he fully explained the organization and purposes of the Lion club.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wood are the proud possessors of a fine son and heir, who arrived Tuesday, October 17th. Leonard wears his new honors with becoming dignity, although a perpetual smile betrays just how immensely proud he is of the new arrival. Congratulations are extended to the happy parents.

H. N. Cook, recently-appointed postmaster of Brady, was formally checked into office Monday, and already wears his new honors with becoming grace and dignity, the while preserving his same old-time friendliness and courtesy which has made him so popular with the citizenship and the general public as well. One of Mr. Cook's first acts was to have the postoffice fixtures entirely renovated, the walls of the building kalsomined, and other noticeable improvements made. Another innovation is the installation of a telephone, which is certain to prove a decided convenience for the citizens, although it may prove a sore trial to the postmaster. Nevertheless, Mr. Cook says service is first consideration, and he is determined to leave nothing undone in his efforts to give the public "service with a smile."

SWEETWATER POSTMASTER IS VISITOR TO THE FAIR

M. D. Howard, postmaster at Sweetwater, was a visitor in Brady the first of the week, having accompanied Postmaster H. N. Cook on his return to Brady from Sweetwater, in his new car. Mr. Howard has been greatly interested in seeing Mr. Cook receive the local appointment, and his enviousness was shown in his conversation with Mr. Cook in his office. Mr. Howard is a postmaster for nearly twenty years, sixteen of which he spent at Sweetwater. He went on duty in 1914, and returned to his office in 1915. He is a most capable gentleman, and it is a pleasure to see just the reason for his popularity in Sweetwater.

HONEST INJUN.

All is fair in love and war. Also, all is "Fair" and "Exhibit" in Brady next week.

THE McCULLOCH COUNTY EXHIBIT.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday McCulloch county citizens will have the privilege of seeing what town and country can accomplish when they are united in purpose; when they put their best efforts forth unstintedly; when friendly rivalry animates their endeavors. Just two weeks ago, the Central committees reported everything in chaos; a few there were that said it couldn't be done—but just at that time there came a man from his sick bed who said it could be done, and he did it! That man was Jas. T. Mann of Brady. Jim was still shaky with fever when he attended that momentous meeting, but he was fired with a purpose, and that was to get town and country together in another such a great Exhibit as he and a few other fellow workers planned and accomplished two years ago. And when he said it could be done, he fully realized from past experience the hard work it meant, the midnight hours and the many problems to be met and overcome. In his efforts, he was ably seconded by Geo. E. Ehlinger and a few others of the Brady "Light Brigade," who are always ready to forget business and lend their earnest assistance in any move for the benefit of the community at large and its citizens.

And the response met with from the rural districts has been gratifying, indeed. Everywhere there is a bunch of live wires, who only needed a spark from the Central committee to set them at work—and they were off. And to the credit of several communities be it said, that even without help from the Central committee, they are going ahead with their Exhibit plans and promise to be in the final count when the premiums are awarded.

That is the spirit that puts over anything. The spirit of "It can be done, and we're the folks to do it!" McCulloch county is going to have a great Exhibit this year—the biggest thing ever pulled off in this county. And this Exhibit will mark the beginning of a permanent Exhibit, which will grow and develop in succeeding years, until every community in the county will be represented in the annual events, and until the fame of McCulloch county is spread to the four corners of the earth through this great showing of prize-winning products of her soil.

Great is McCulloch county. Greater than any one of us really can imagine. And her greatness can in no better way be brought to the attention of the world than by the assembling of her offerings in annual Exhibit.

MAKING A 100% NEWSPAPER.

Just what a community can do towards making of a 100% newspaper, and at the same time derive 100% benefit for itself, is very patently set forth in last week's issue of the Ballinger Banner-Ledger. By arrangement with the Young Men's Business League of that city, the Ballinger paper will be sent into the homes of every citizen of Runnels county for the next three months. That is a wonderful advertising stunt for the home town merchants. It is a wonderful opportunity for the people to get acquainted with the merits of their home newspaper. Many people never realize just what an indispensable medium the newspaper is until they have read it a while and then have to do without it. In these enlightened days and times, the citizen who does not read both state and local news, is placed hopelessly a straggler among his home community and home people. Ever since the art of printing was invented, the dissemination of news and information has continued one of the greatest educational forces of civilization. And, in this great work, the home-town newspaper plays a most important part, however humble that part may be.

Here is the plan of the Ballinger live-wires—it is well worthy of study and emulation:

The placing of The Banner-Ledger, our weekly paper, in the home of every family in Runnels county makes the paper a one-hundred percent newspaper, and offers an advertising medium no other county in the state can boast of.

By an agreement between the publishers and the Young Men's Business League arrangements have been made to send the paper to every family in the county. To do this the business men of the city through the business league, will pay for 1,000 extra copies of The Banner-Ledger for a period of three months, from October 5th to January 5th.

The publishers have contracted to complete their mailing list by adding the 1,000 subscribers, and mailing the paper to them each week. While the publishers have granted a very low rate the proposition is one that will be of mutual benefit.

The publishers with the one hundred percent subscription list, can offer the advertisers a much larger advertising medium and at the same advertising rate, and the advertisers can reach a greater number of customers without additional cost, and in the end the publishers will profit by retaining many of those who received the paper for three months as regular subscribers.

The paper will go to the one thousand additional subscribers free of cost to them, and will serve to bring them in close touch with the Ballinger markets.

The weekly Banner-Ledger is declared to be one of the best weekly papers published in Texas and the substantial citizens of the county realizing the value of the paper thru the three months complimentary subscription, will readily renew and become regular readers.

Sold at Auction.

Four-year-old Charles was visiting a country auction with his father and older brother. The little chap did not say much during the morning, being too interested in the strange things about him; and at noon, being very hungry, the bountiful lunch which his mother had packed for them claimed his attention. But even hungry little boys have a limit. He had almost gone the round of the lunch basket, but there remained for him a great piece of chocolate cake. He took the cake and like most small boys began with the frosting. When that was gone the cake assumed proportions far beyond his capacity. After gazing a moment at the now unattractive cake, he turned beseechingly to his brother and holding out the cake asked, "How much am I offering for thith pieth of cake?"

His brother, with 8-year-old superiority, answered, "Nothing."

"Thold," said Charles, and solemnly passed the de-frosted cake to his brother's plate.—Judge.

COMMISSIONERS VOTE COUNTY AID IN WAR ON WOLF

At its regular session last week, the McCulloch county commissioners voted favorably upon the proposition to assist the McCulloch County Wolf club in their efforts to eradicate the wolf pest in McCulloch county.

The court also canvassed and declared the results as favorable in the stock law election held recently in Melvin.

The court proceedings were as follows.

A. R. Pool presented official bond as County Attorney, in sum of $2500; examined and approved.

Ordered by court that Burl Hallford be allowed $20 per month instead of $15 for taking care of H. Williams, pauper.

Ordered that sum of $500 be set aside out of 1923 General Fund for purpose of eradicating wolves and wild cats in McCulloch county; same to be paid for on monthly statements from McCulloch County Wolf Club after they are allowed by commissioners court. Total amount not to exceed one-fourth of the amount paid out by said club during year. Said year to begin Nov. 7, 1922 and close Nov. 7, 1923.

Ordered that Mrs. M. D. Morgan be dropped from county Pension roll. Bond presented by C. L. Cain for butcher at Melvin; examined and approved.

Court ordered to issue warrant for sum of $40, payable to Miss Bess Winters, county home demonstrator to pay for canner and sealer.

Stock Law election held at Melvin returns canvassed by county judge, county clerk and justice of peace, was declared by them carried. Therefore ordered that their findings be recorded in minutes of said court.

BRADY PASTOR CONDUCTS REMARKABLY SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL AT STEPHENVILLE

The Rev. S. C. Dunn returned Tuesday morning from Stephenville, where he was in charge of a revival meeting which was declared by Stephenville citizens to have been one of the greatest, if not the greatest, meetings ever held in that city. Called as emergency pastor in charge of the meeting, because of the sudden illness of the regular pastor, Rev. Dunn went into the meeting with heart and soul. The closing Sunday he experienced 64 conversions, numbered among whom were some of the leading citizens of the town and community. During the course of the meeting, Rev. Dunn delivered a sermon at the public school and had the pleasure of having five students join the penitent list. Monday night after the close of the meeting, he attended a meeting of the Masonic lodge of Stephenville, and after the regular lodge work had been disposed, he responded to an invitation to preach to the assembled members, to such good effect that five more were added to the penitent list.

Rev. Dunn speaks in terms of highest praise of the Stephenville citizenship and of the cordial reception and treatment given him during his stay there.

BENHAM'S

SPECIALS for FAIR WEEK

As always, Benham leads in Values and in High-Class Merchandise. And Benham's invites all visitors to the McCulloch County Co-Operative Exhibit to visit our store and see the Special Offers we are making in every department for Fair Week. Our display includes the "smartest of the smart" in New Autumn Millinery, Dresses, Coats, Sweaters, Hosiery and Novelties.

Fair Week Showing of FALL MILLINERY

EXHIBIT OF MILLINERY

—The most wonderful assembly of hats ever shown. No matter whether one is severely tailored or elaborately dressed, there is a hat of smart becomingness in this collection to suit the mode. Saucy tailors, perky toques or picturesque velvet dress hats—each one a joy to wear and own. Embroidery, flowers, smart quills, ostrich and self-trimmings are cleverly used to adorn them—and prices are amazingly low.

EXHIBIT OF COATS

—Autumn has brought forward a great array of new creations in coats, luxuriously fashioned from many different kinds of soft, graceful materials. The richer ones are all lavishly trimmed with furs—some only at the collars, and other at the collars, cuffs and bottoms.

—We are particularly proud of our superior collection, and of the many delightful innovations in the styles we have to show you.

EXHIBIT OF DRESSES

—With their variety of sweeping lines, are becoming to all figures. The softly draped effects, particularly, are not only smart on the slender figure, but the woman of fuller lines will find them equally attractive. Panels longer than the skirt hem are often responsible for the uneven effect around the bottom; and when lined with some contrasting color, give a smart touch indeed. Soft pile fabrics, not content with monopolizing the "coat world," have invaded the field of dresses, too. Oh, we can't begin to tell you about them all—you must see them.

EXHIBIT OF SWEATERS

—Will be a very essential part of milady's costume as long as sports last. Bright, dashing colors and novel combinations are only half of the charm in the sweaters you'll find here—the other half lies in their delightfully new styling.

Fall Sweaters

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Alice Ballou of Hamilton was a guest in the city last week.

Cleve Jotes has been visiting here this week from the Eldorado country.

J. E. Brown has been here this week from Brownwood, attending county court.

Joe Conley was over from Mason the first of the week to spend a few days with Mrs. Conley, who is visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ogden have returned from San Antonio, where they have been the past several months, while Mr. Ogden was under treatment of a specialist. Their many friends are pleased to welcome them back home, and to learn that Mr. Ogden returns wonderfully improved in health.

F. W. Henderson returned Sunday morning from a visit of some two and a half months, spent with relatives and friends at Winchester, Ky., and also at Richmond, Va. Incidentally, Mr. Henderson visited the Buffalo Lithia Springs in Virginia. He returns greatly improved in health and spirits, all of which is gratifying both to himself and to his friends.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. White returned the first of the week, Mr. White having been in Kansas and Missouri on business, while Mrs. White visited in Fort Worth. Mr. White says he saw no signs or indication of frost in the section visited, which is rather remarkable at this time of the year, and the more especially since a light frost was experienced in the McCulloch county section the early part of this week.

GREAT IS POWER OF WEALTH

Nothing Impossible When John D. Rockefeller Gives Orders and Waves His Magic Wand.

No man is more conversant with the advantages of wealth than John D. Rockefeller, and no man is more familiar with its drawbacks, observes a writer in the Kansas City Star.

John D.'s estate in Pocantico Hills is like fairyland. He spends money on it in the most lavish manner and improvements are being carried out all the time. He keeps 500 men employed about the place, paying them $10,000 a week in wages. With this army of workmen he satisfies his fancies.

"I want an avenue of trees," perhaps he will explain. "But I haven't time to watch them grow up."
"What are we to do?" the foreman will ask.

John D. will wave his stick toward the skyline. "Shift those trees from over there."

It is one of the most awkward jobs in the world to shift big trees without killing them, but at the millionaire's bidding the miracle is performed, and by the end of the season there is a picturesque avenue of old-established trees where there was only green-sward before.

On one occasion John D. wanted to add an extra piece of ground to his estate, but the neighbor occupying the house wouldn't sell. The millionaire bought all the land around the house and erected a great barricade of tall trees that made the house like a prison. The neighbor was eventually glad to leave and the millionaire had his way.

Another day he came out of the house into the grounds, his mind casting around for improvements. His eye lighted on a distant hill about a mile away on his estate and he suddenly thought how much better it would be if there was a hill close to the house. He called the foreman of his army.

"I want that hill shifted," said John D. "We'll have it moved down here close to the house."

He waved his stick around.

The foreman immediately got busy, and in a short time the hill was torn down, carried nearer to the house, and then rebuilt. Then it was sodded and great, full-grown trees transplanted to its slopes.

Save the Woodpeckers.

Woodpeckers are indispensable in the forest. Old "Mr. Peckerwood" is a tree doctor. He performs surgical operations that save the trees, says the American Forestry Magazine. When the leopard moth was introduced into this country from Europe it seemed at first as if it were destined to destroy all our trees, but as time went on we found that it killed no trees except in and near the cities, where the ubiquitous English sparrow had largely driven out other birds; in the country, where native birds were numerous, the ravages of this moth soon were checked. In city after city its wood-boring larvae killed first the smaller branches, then the larger ones, and finally many trees died from its attacks. Many ancient trees in historic parks, like Boston common and the grounds of Harvard university in Cambridge, have been cut down or rooted out because of this and other tree pests, but in the rural districts the larvae of the leopard moth now do little injury, and in the woods they are hard to find. Woodpeckers search for them, dig into their holes, drag them out and wax fat upon such sustenance.

"Caucus" Had Origin in Boston.

Despite its Latin appearance, the word "caucus" never saw Rome in the person of a Latin ancestor. The term is a memorial of the Revolutionary war, and first saw the dispute in Boston.

In a dispute with some British soldiers, the ropemakers and calkers hotly denounced the British government at a public meeting. Such meetings of protest and expressing open disloyalty to the crown came to be humorously characterized by the toiles as "calkers' meetings," explains the Detroit News.

From the term of contempt the transition of the word to its use in its present form as a part of our basic electoral machinery was short. It became firmly imbedded in the American language as distinct in several minor details from the language spoken in England.

Country Life More Desirable.

A grocer in Des Moines talks to his country customers by radiophone, giving them prices on staple goods. They spread the news to their neighbors, who also take advantage of his special sales, Capper's Weekly observes. It will soon be commonplace for a farmer and his family to listen to the music of a great band or orchestra playing in Chicago, New York, St. Louis, St. Paul or Denver, while they sit in the living room after the evening meal. In a year or two, possibly, some other wizard inventor will make it possible to see a first night production of a great play on Broadway, while the ear hears the spoken words. There is less and less reason for wishing to live in a city. When the airplane is made absolutely safe, there will be a great exodus from the cities to the country.

Respectful Silence.

"Can you sing 'The Star Spangled Banner' all the way through?"
"I can," replied Senator Sorghum, "but I never attempt it in public. The way some of us make that splendid anthem sound is no way for a man to show his patriotism."

WONDER WORDS.

Pedigreed Stock Not in Class with Cross-Breds, Maintains "O. I. C."

Wonder, Ore., Oct. 12.
Editor Brady Standard:
Permit me to deviate from my Early Day Reminiscences for the present and write on other subjects this letter; and informally introduce the reader to the eccentric character, Capt. Dan Wills in my next chapter.

To begin with: I am profoundly impressed with the good sense and logic contained in the article in The Standard I received today of Oct. 6, copied from the Coleman Democrat-Voice, entitled "Toleration," and dealing upon the subject of prejudice and egotism. There is more good, sound sense in that article than there is in many articles of a thousand times its size. If everybody were like the writer of that article we would have no more wars. Such a condition of affairs would be impossible. Come to think of it, all wars are attributable to prejudice and preconceived patriotism. But I think that the writer was a little bit mistaken when he asserted that no two people are exactly alike. How about two Ku Klux? Another evidence of the theory of evolution. A man wraps up in a sheet and a monkey wraps up in a towel.

I see you are going to have a county fair. We have already had ours. And to show you the unfairness of the fair, I went and looked over the hogs and cattle and saw a lot of little scrubs there. Nothing to begin to compare with my improved cross-bred animals; and yet I was not allowed to compete because mine were not registered inbred stock. One man had a pen of four, six month-old thoroughbred Hampshires. I told him I only had one six-month-old pig and he could come out and weigh mine and weigh his and if mine didn't weigh more than all four of his I would make him a present of it. He said "Oh, you have fed yours all it could eat!" I told him, indeed, I had not! If I had it would have been too fat. I had only fed it enuf to keep it growing fast, which is the only way to raise good stock.

But they all had pedigree papers in their pockets and blue and red ribbons for their animals which, of course, was satisfactory to them. And why should I worry? so long as Wouldn't Believe Her.

"What was that collector arguing about?" asked Mrs. Slopay. "Didn't you tell him that I wasn't at home?"
"Yessum. I told him," replied the maid, "but he would believe me. Why, he acted like he wouldn't have believed it if you had told him yourself with your own mouth."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

LAW ENFORCEMENT
It is often said that law enforcement depends upon public opinion. There was never a more fallacious statement made. It is a smoke screen which often hides cowardly, inefficient, or corrupt public officials. That doctrine has done more to break down respect for law and to prevent the enforcement of law than any other statement ever made.
Law is sovereign. There is no such thing as never was such a thing as the divine right of kings. But there is such a thing and there will be forever such a thing as the divine, sovereign right of law. Law is sovereign. And laws ought to conform to the sovereign right of eternal LAW.
No criminal believes in law. No criminal believes in the penalty that law inflicts. No criminal believes in justice. No criminal wants justice. Therefore, when it is said that public opinion controls the enforcement of law, THEN, it is said that public opinion is the opinion of criminals, and that public opinion is a criminal opinion.

I deny such a statement. If it is true, that in itself does not excuse the public official nor give him the license to neglect to enforce the law.

There are no methods by which justice should be averted except the methods prescribed by law. The poor midnight thief who steals a ham to support his hungry child is often caught and punished while the man who steals a railroad is made its president. These apparent injustices come because of the doctrine that public opinion must be consulted before law is enforced.
Whether the man be a plumber or preacher, whether he be a banker or butcher, whether he be the head of a labor organization or the president of a capitalist trust, if he violates the law, defies this government, flaunts his infamy in the face of the Constitution he ought to be put in the penitentiary and fed on bread and water until he confesses his wrong, pays his penalty to society and is willing to kiss the flag every day the rest of his life.
Law is supreme and should be enforced.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

Most every disease that begins to show, by the howl of pain or the tale of woe—be it nutmeg liver, or pest-house itch, or weepin' janders—I don't keer which,—We can jugulate 'em, beyond a doubt, by simply clippin' the tonsils out!
You mebbly have heard of Melindy Crane, who was borned with softenin' of her brain. . . .
TONSILS
So, when she developed the craze fer verse, we jedged a relapse would fetch the hearse . . . but she whooped with joy, an' hollered fer kraut—the minnit they jerked her tonsils out!
And of course—you knowed old Sandy Beggs, which had the paralysis in his legs,—an' when the old feller commenced to bloat, we seen right off, it was all his th'out! And, jest afore she run into gout, they cured him, by whackin' his tonsils out!
The feller that's skeered of a dearth of days, can dodge it —by joinin' the tonsil craze. He can set down, an' let 'em rim out his neck,—an' get up again—like new, by heck!

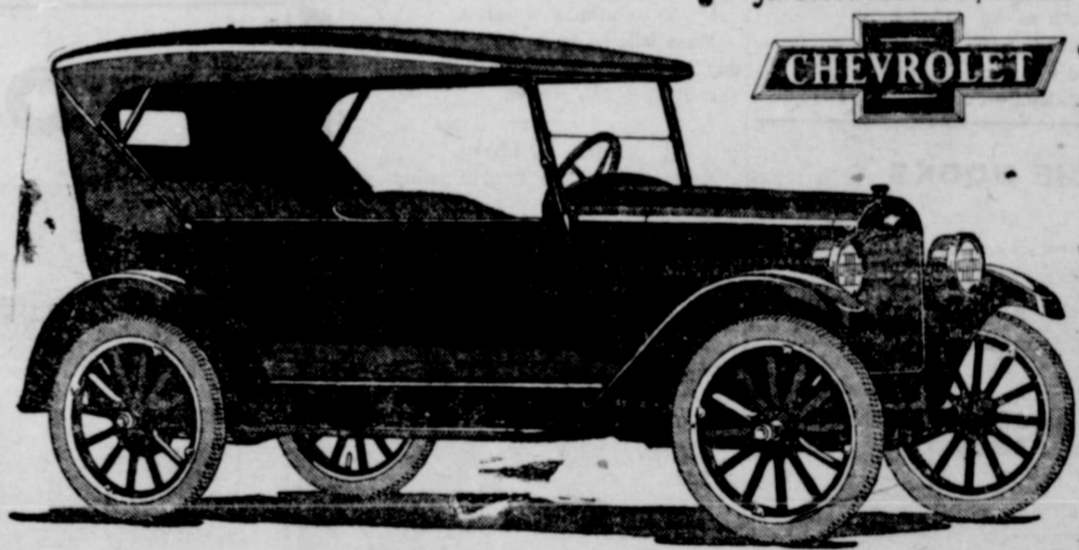

HOMELY PHILOSOPHY for 1922

WHEN the Irishman got into a row with his wife and she threw a plate at his head the melee is said to have started, and in the midst of it the husband jerkingly remarked: "If I'd known married life was like this—I'd have got married long ago." All of which carries out the general conception of the Celtic conviction that we must have peace even if we have to fight for it.
Tolstoi preached non-resistance which meant lettin' everybody walk on your neck. This brings peace to the bullies and death to the meek. Jesus turned the other cheek, but he took the money changer by the scruff of the neck and threw them out of the temple. So it all depends when to fight and what to fight for, which means keep an eye out for the spurious flag wavers.

Good Measure.
