FARM NOTES

By E. L. Tanner, County Agent

A SIMPLE STORY IN MATHEMATICS ABOUT CREAM PRICES

The price of butterfat is at a deplorable level now. Usually at this time of year when the cost of producing cream is at its high point the price of butter fat is at a correspondingly good price. However, it is hovering around 35 cents and discouragement is setting in. A glance at the figures that are causing this will show that it is a temporary condition and the man who holds on will be back in the lucky column in time and will have the cash for the groceryman next spring when cash is at its shortest point. For the past five years the average pounds of butter in cold storage in the United States at this time has been 135,000-00 pounds. On October first there was in storage a total of 159,000,000 pounds of butter. In short, there is 25,000,000 pounds more butter than usual in storage, or an excess of 15 per cent. This 15 per cent has got to move out of storage and it is being sold at such a low price that it has reflected in the price of fresh cream. This condition will ast until the surplus is moved out of storage.

The situation will right itself just as it has occasionally done in the past. The millions of dairy cows in the United States will be fed less feed and production will be cut down so that the supply and demand will average up. People in the big cities will eat more butter this winter on account of the price being lower than usual.

Ground bundle stuff and a couple of pounds of cotton seed meal and pasture if one has it will prove to be about the cheapest ration to produce the most butter fat at present prices according to the records of the various cow testing associations of Texas. A man named J. H. Youngblood from near Waco produced butterfat at a cost of 6.6 cents per pound for the month of October for feed alone. He fed whole ground hegra heads, a little cottonseed meal and what pasturage he had.

J. L. Hagins of Gilpin has a nice flock of 350 White Leghorn pullets and hens. He is going to cut them down to 200 and sell off the surplus. He is selling off these pullets and hens because he has not the required floor space in his two hen houses. When he gets the meat down there will be two and a half feet of floor space for each hen and he can then all commercial poultrymen. Mr. Hagins is keeping a daily and monthly egg record of his flock and is following instructions from the A. & M. College as to their feed and care.

Joe Rose of Duncan Flat community has 325 White Leghorn pullets which are ready to come into laying now. Mr. Rose built a model laying house last summer and now has his pullets housed in that. He reports the use of carbolineum on the roosts as a preventive of bluebugs. Says that he painted the roosts the first day it turned cold and that he closed the north ventilation windows that night and that the fumes set his laying back but that he expects Mr. Rose is going to terrace his farm this winter.

W. S. Smiley of Duncan Flat reports a splendid stand of alfalfa on a patch which he sowed last spring. This is on a sandy land and on one which he has been trying to get a stand on for several years. He finally solved this by first cutting the stalks which were more than waist high. He then turned around and broadcast ten pounds of common wester grown seed per acre. Then he covered this seed by merely running the stalk cutter over the land again. He was afraid to plow or even to harrow this land on account of the fact that it blows badly in the spring. His stand is now perfect.

Mr. Smiley plants two rows of feed and one of a small variety of black cowpea. He lets his feed get up about three inches high and then plants the peas. He says that if he waits longer than this to plant the peas the feed gets ahead of them. He has never kept an adequate record of how much more he makes to the acre on his place on account of planting peas, but he estimates that his place is making at least half as much again as it would have made after trying this for five years. He is going to do some terracing this winter.

Terracing schools have been arranged for at the following places the past week: Wilson's Draw for Nov. 21 and 22, which is Thursday and Friday on the place of Mace Hunter; Croton on the place of Robert Reynolds early in January; McAdoo on the place of George Harris; another school for north of McAdoo which has not yet been definitely located; Dry Lake at an early date, probably on the place of Will Stacy; and others in process of organization. Any farmer is welcome to spend the entire two days learning to operate the farm level at one of these schools. These schools will be placed in every section of the county during the winter so that no farmer who is interested will not have a chance to learn. Indications at present are that about fifteen thousand acres will be contoured or terraced by spring.

The getting up of a car of cotton seed has proved such a slow process and is said to be holding back the sale if individual orders by salesmen from reputable seed farms. It has been decided to call off this proposition at Spur. Salesmen from several of the leading cotton seed farms of the State have complained that they cannot do business as long as this move is on. The progress has been so slow that we can not afford to let any seed man who has reputable cotton miss the chance of a sale because the more good seed in the country the better off everyone will be. Accordingly the door has been "thrown wide open" and from now on it is open to the world if this move has been the reason of such hard luck by representatives of good cotton seed.

ROY McCLURE KILLED

VICTIM OF ACCIDENT IN DAVIS MOUNTAINS

We this week have the painful duty of reporting the death of Roy H. McClure, a brother of the editor and co-partner in the establishment of this publication in 1909-10.

While on a hunting trip in the extreme lower corner of Brewster county, on the Rio Grande, with a party consisting of himself, M. H. Boone, Odessa, Bill Snodgrass, Odessa; J. G. Henderson, Odessa; Jack Hart, Brownfield and J. C. Gedcumb, of Odessa, Roy accidentally shot himself through the arm above the elbow with a soft nose 33-30 bullet which severed the main artery and lacerated the entire segment. The accident occurred Monday afternoon about 2 o'clock.

The party had started up a canyon in the vicinity of Glenn Springs, Bill Snodgrass to retrieve a buck killed the day before, and the rest scattering out for more hunting. Roy, in crossing a branch canyon, slipped and in an attempt to use the butt of his gun as a staff, discharged the shot into his arm which caused his death. He was found in a semistupor by a member of a hunting party from Carbon, who signaled to members of the Odessa party, and after administering first aid the journey was made to camp. It taking five hours to cover the seven miles from the scene of the accident to the river.

Such joviality and good humor was displayed by the victim on the journey to camp that the real seriousness of the wound was not realized, regardless of the two hours of bleeding and suffering before he was found, that is was elected that two of the party whose labors in his behalf had been most strenuous, should remain for rest and to gather up the camping equipment, and later follow the other party into Odessa.

However, the trip to town had hardly gotten underway when they realized that he was dead, and so without turning back they continued to Alpine where the various official duties were performed and the body prepared for shipment to Rising Star to be interred near his parents. The other parties believing they were following the others, and that all was well, proceeded to Odessa before learning of their friends death.

Roy McClure was 45 years of age, the youngest in the family. He is survived by his wife, Nettie, brothers and sisters, Clyde McClure of Ft. Worth, Oran McClure of this city, and Mrs. Will Roach of Corsicana; and a multitude of friends. He was high in the orders of Masonry and was most beloved by his fraternity brothers.

Funeral services will be conducted in Rising Star Thursday evening.

MRS. E. F. LAVERTY ENTERS HER BRIDGE CLUB

One of the most delightful and unusual parties of the social season was given by Mrs. E. F. Laverty honoring the 125 bridge club with a clever Painters party.

As each guest arrived she was presented with a smock and painters cap, each of which was a different color. They were then presented a paint brush and a small can of paint. With this they each painted one of the new chairs recently purchased by the club.

After this clever diversion four games of bridge were played, Mrs. Hill Perry and Riley Wooten winning prizes which were painted. A beautiful compact and pain remover, a jar of cleansing cream.

The motif carried out in the score cards, being small hardwood plates with daubs of paint on them.

Refreshments consisting of fruit salad, sandwiches, olive cake and tea were served buffet style to the following: Mesdames Riley Wooten, Hill Perry, F. W. Jennings, W. D. Wilson, Sanders, E. L. Tanner, M. C. Golding, James B. Reed, C. L. Lova and the charming tea guest, Miss Hattie Turvin.

W. B. Lee Suburban Home Burns Tuesday

Tuesday night about 8:00 o'clock the W. B. Lee home in the West Addition of the city was completely destroyed by fire. Practically all the household furniture was saved by friends and neighbors.

Although the fire department answered the call promptly and assisted in every way possible, they were unable to save the home because of the lack of water.

Pauline Douglas of Megargel, Near Death

Miss Pauline Douglass, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Douglass of Megargel, was operated the past week for appendicitis. Gangrene, or Peritonitis, set up and Miss Douglass is in a critical condition at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglass lived here in the early days, Mrs. Douglass being a daughter of the late James E. Johnson, and their many friends of this section will bear with them during this crisis.

Spur Hunters Meet With Accident Near Midland Texas

Enroute to the Davis Mountains on a big game hunt, Sam Sparks of the Spur Bakery, Bill Brown of the Shrimpsher & Stack Barber shop, and Monk Rucker of Rucker Shoe Shop, met with an automobile accident on the Bankhead highway near Midland, the car overturning several times. The accident was caused by heading into a bridge to avoid collision with another car. Sparks was driving the car, which was totally demolished.

Mr. Sparks, most seriously injured of the three is in Thomas Building Hospital at Midland and is expected to be released next Sunday. He is suffering from a deep cut over the left eye and a severely bruised chest. Mr. Rucker sustained cuts on the forehead and face requiring some 40 stitches and is severely injured in the foot. Mr. Brown riding in the rear seat and completely surrounded by a mass of bedding and camping equipment escaped with very slight injuries.

Spur Defeats Colorado City, Score 33 to 0

Spur, having her regular schedule broken matched an out of conference game for the past week end with the Colorado Wolves, a game and fightin' team.

The game was played on Spur gridiron Wednesday afternoon, the Bulldogs winning by a score of 33 to nothing.

Spur stars in the game were Rick, whose unexcelled interference made possible Spur's lead; and Brode Puckett whose line plunges and long runs scored most of the downs for the game.

Although the game was unevenly matched, both teams are to be praised for clean sportsmanship and courageous playing of the great American game, football.

Otto Denson, who lives three miles northwest of Spur, has eight Jersey cows which ave fed themselves, raised four heifer calves and four bull calves, and fed his family since the middle of last April. This is in the middle of a hail strip and he has been without roughness, a good part of the time and pasture also. He has had to buy all of his feed except what little pasture he had during that time. He uses as his grain feed the ration which E. R. Egday gave at the poultry and dairy school held last April. This mixture is 200 pounds ground maize heads; 100 pounds wheat bran; 10 pounds cotton seed meal; and 100 pounds alfalfa hay. All this is ground together and he has been feeding it, as follows: During the summer he fed each cow one ten pound lard bucket full of this mixture morning and night. He turned them onto what little pasture he had. Early in November he turned them into a wheat pasture and stalk filed which does not amount to much. However, the wheat is good. His milk yield doubled and he has cut his grain feed down half. At present his feed bill is five dollars per week and his cream check is ten dollars per week.

Spur Hunters Bring In the Game

J. M. Hahn and Dr. M. H. Eranen, two amateur sportsmen of this city returned Tuesday of the past week from the Davis mountains with a buck each, and being black tails, place their status up among the professionals.

E. L. Caraway and Earl Harkey also returned the past week from a hunting trip bringing in three big bucks from the South Texas reserves.

These fellows may live out of the big game district and be amateurs at the sport but they certainly bring in the bacon.

COCCIDIOSIS CAN BE CONQUERED

"No matter how you slice it, it's boloney," runs the refrain of a song recently popular, and no matter how you pronounce it, Coccidiosis is still the same menace to the health of your growing chicks. It might help some, so far as pronunciation is concerned, to adopt the suggestion of one writer, and call the disease "Coxy." It will require something more drastic than a change of name, however, to stamp out this disease if it once gets a start in your flock.

"Coxy" is one of the most widely spread and fatal diseases of baby chicks there is at the present time. Baby chicks from three to eight weeks are the ones that usually have the disease. It often runs a rapid course and may kill a large percentage of the flock in a short time. Many of the chicks that survive are permanently affected, stunted in growth and of little value.

The disease is caused by tiny parasites which during a certain stage in their development bury themselves in the intestinal walls of infected chicks. The irritation and damage to the intestines cause the chicks to become droopy and dispirited; their feathers appear ruffled and dull; they huddle together, lose interest in food and sometimes cease eating altogether. They grow light, walk unsteadily and the droppings are frequently but not always tinged with blood.

If chicks showing such symptoms really have coccidiosis, a post mortem examination of the blind guts will usually reveal them considerably enlarged and full of a bloody material of cheesy consistency.

While the disease is most common among chicks, it is sometimes contracted in chronic form by older birds usually from four to eight months old. In such cases, it develops slowly and may affect only a few fowls. The symptoms of chronic coccidiosis are much like those caused by worms, lice and other parasites or by nutritional diseases.

If the disease is found in your flocks, immediate steps should be taken to conquer it. A milk diet and sanitation and isolation of infected birds are your most effective weapons. Then keep an untiring campaign of sanitation. Your advantage lies in the fact that germs are expelled with the droppings during their inactive period and must develop outside the body, which requires about four days time. Droppings should be removed from the chicken houses every day, and the yards swept and cleaned every three or four days. All feeding and drinking vessels should be protected so the chicks cannot roost above them and befoul them with droppings. Where chicks can be raised on wire floors such as is seen in battery brooders this disease is seldom seen.

It is also a good idea to cover the floors of the houses where infected chicks are kept with several layers of paper. Remove one layer each day and burn it. Spray every nook and cranny of every house with a strong dip and disinfectant solution often and allow no one who has been working among the diseased chicks to go among the healthy ones until their shoes have been disinfected.

Lactose in milk is deadly to the tiny parasites that cause the disease. Remove all water and either give the chicks all the fresh buttermilk, semi-solid buttermilk, or fresh clabber milk they will drink in clean vessels or mix from 20 to 40 per cent powdered milk in mash feed which contains no meat scraps and let them eat all of it they will. Give plenty of green food and feed lightly of grain for a few days.

After all trace of the disease has vanished, which should take from one to two weeks, gradually reduce the amount of milk and increase the mash and grain until normal feeding is resumed. Do not make the mistake of thinking that a milk diet alone will give results. The most important part of your campaign is the sanitary measures and these should be continued after the disease has run its course. With the right kind of feeding and sanitation Coccidiosis can be conquered.

RED CROSS HONOR FLAG GOES TO NEW HAMPSHIRE

The honor flag, given annually to the State which enrolls the greatest percentage of its population as member of the American Red Cross, went this year to New Hampshire. The decision was so close between New Hampshire and Vermont that it hung in the balance for a time. California ranked third in the honor list and Connecticut fourth.

A final tabulation of figures of the 1928 Roll Call showed a nationwide membership of 4,127,946. The banner rests with New Hampshire, where it is hung in the State House, until the 1929 Roll Call—held between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day—is completed and new figures available for the 1929 winner.

TUBERCULOSIS IS RESULT OF FILTH

Can Be Prevented if Proper Steps Are Taken.

That most dreaded disease of live stock, tuberculosis, is largely a filth-born infection. It can be prevented if proper measures are taken.

"Experimental evidence seems to prove that very few animals of any of the species are born infected with tuberculosis," says J. W. Lumb, extension veterinarian, Kansas State Agricultural college, in telling of the scientific findings. "Animals can be prevented from acquiring the disease if proper measures are taken. The organisms are usually taken in by way of the mouth with feed and water, occasionally with the air, or by way of mucous membranes."

Available experimental records indicate that hogs acquire tuberculosis mainly through the mouth with feed and water and sometimes by way of the nostrils, according to the specialist. In the case of cattle it is acquired largely through the mouth, with feed and water, or licking each other while in contact. There is a possibility, most rarely, for the animal to acquire the disease through the nose, mucous membranes of the eyes, and through the skin.

Cattle Are Wintered on Mixture of Grass

J. Sotola, State college of Washington, reports that there is little if any commercial production of beef on alfalfa in that state. But the college, which is in the southeastern section of the state, maintains a herd of 80 purebred beef cattle and for nine years the herd was pastured on straight alfalfa all through the summer, approximately 220 days.

"Our cattle are wintered on a mixture of one part cut alfalfa and three parts sunflower silage," said Professor Sotola. "The last part of April, when the alfalfa pasture is ready, we give the cattle a good feed of roughage and then immediately turn them out on this pasture, but we choose periods of clear weather so as to avoid having the cattle on wet alfalfa. During the period of nine years that we have done this we have not had a single case of bloat or digestive disturbance. The first few weeks that cattle are on green feed, they may scour slightly but soon get over the exceedingly laxative effect of succulent feed."

Another practice that may be followed is pasturing the alfalfa after one or more cuttings of hay have been taken. Professor Sotola reports that the college has harvested 1½ tons of alfalfa an acre from a single cutting and then obtained 85 mature cowdays of pasture on the aftermath. By a mature cowday of pasture is meant the green feed consumed by a mature beef cow in 24 hours.

Live Stock Facts

There is no excuse for losing sheep and lambs from parasites.

Supply salt at all times and water even if the sheep uses but little.

The feeding of lambs is necessarily a speculative venture on the part of anyone.

Ewes suckling lambs can be fed as high as three pounds of silage per day with good results.

Coffee At A Cent A Cup

This little booth, in the shadow of the Tombs in New York City, seeks to restore broken humanity to self-respect and confidence.

COFFEE has power to cheer the drooping spirits of mankind and spur it on to renewed efforts. When ambitions were gone and hopes were faded, when stomachs were empty and backs were bare, a cup of fragrant, steaming coffee has often fanned the glimmering spark of life and restored a human being to self-confidence.

This, at least, has been the experience of the St. Andrew's One Cent Coffee Stands Society which for forty-two years has been supplying coffee at one cent a cup to the down-and-outers of New York.

Founded in 1887 by the late Clementina S. Lamadrid and conducted now by her husband, J. M. Lamadrid, this society has distilled human tolerance and well-wishing in the cups of coffee which it has sold, or given away, to hundreds of thousands of unfortunates. And, according to Mr. Lamadrid, it has seen many of its "customers" become self-respecting and useful citizens.

The St. Andrew's One Cent Coffee Stands Society has two shops—a restaurant at 432 Hudson Street and a stand at the corner of Centre and Franklin Streets, in the shadow of the Tombs. The stand is just a plain board affair, something like the ticket-seller's booth at a circus. There is nothing ostentatious about the restaurant.

A half pint of coffee with milk and sugar and a slice of bread or a roll are sold for a cent. Other one cent dishes are beef soup with vegetables, pork and beans, beef hash, a sandwich or, on Friday, fish. For a few cents one can get a regular meal.

Last year 382,276 portions were sold and 99,727 were given away to men and women and children who did not have even a penny.

Broken down gentlemen in beaver hats, ragged newsboys in long trousers, beshawled mothers carrying little children with pipe-stem legs, tough-looking men in sweaters with their caps pulled down over their eyes—they all are served and no questions are asked.

"We charge a penny," said Mr. Lamadrid, "because it helps preserve their self-respect. They do not feel like it is altogether charity when they pay something."

How happy would a growing ten year old boy be if required to wear his six year old trousers?

No parent would think of hampering his boy's progress with such a handicap.

Neither would a wise citizen permit his growing city to be handicapped by an old isolated electric plant which, after a fashion, fit several years ago.

In this machine age, industries both large and small, demand unlimited, dependable electric service. And in casting about for new locations these industries nearly always chose a city or town which is supplied with electric power through interconnected transmission line systems.

The West Texas Utilities Company with its three major generating stations, 15 auxiliary power plants and more than 2,300 miles of transmission lines is serving 111 prosperous cities, towns and communities in West Texas with unlimited power 365 days in the year.

Sargon Endorsed By President of Big Firm

"At the age of 79 I'm still active in business, and I attribute my splendid energy and vitality to Sargon. I believe it added years to my life."

DAVID S. BEEKMAN

"Before I took Sargon my health had been failing steadily for five years. What I ate soured almost as soon as it reached my stomach. My nerves were all to pieces and I hardly ever got a good night's sleep. I was continually bothered with constipation and biliousness. I tried many medicines but kept losing my weight and getting weaker every day. I thought I would have to give up my business, which would have cost me thousands of dollars."

"Six bottles of Sargon made me like a different man. If I have an ailment left I don't know it. My appetite is keen, all trace of stomach trouble is gone, and I sleep like a top. I've gained seven pounds and feel as well and strong as I did 25 years ago. I go to my office every morning ready for a real day's work. Kellam Dry Goods Company Opens a Branch Store At Afton

Mr. Joe Kellam, prominent business man of Spur, manager of the Kellam Dry Goods Company of this city, recently opened a branch store at Afton, Texas.

The Kellam Dry Goods company, under the management of Mr. Kellam, has been built upon the sound judgment of business principles and honesty, and we among his many other friends, are glad to congratulate him upon this new expansion.

W. H. Young, of Red Hill, last week paid his twentieth consecutive subscription to the Texas Spur. Mr. Young came here ten years before the city of Spur was founded, and before the county was organized. He is one of the best and most substantial and staunch citizens of the county, as well as one of the oldest Texas Spur readers, and we are glad to list him as one of our readers.

County Commissioner Chas. Perria Chas. was in Spur on business the past week.

Judge H. A. C. Brummett was transacting business in the city Tuesday of the past week.

D. N. Wilson, originator and breeder of Better Staple cotton seed, was in Spur this week completing arrangements with E. A. Bailey of the Price Bros. Gin to put several thousand bushels of Better Staple cotton seed on contract, also making arrangements with Price Bros. to gin his cotton.

MERRY MADCAPS STOCK CO. HERE ALL NEXT WEEK
Mr. Ernest Stewart, advance agent for the Merry Madcaps Stock Co. was in Spur Wednesday and billed for a week's entertainment, beginning Monday, November 25th.

According to press notices from Matador, Rule, Aspermont and other places that the company has played, they are stronger than ever this year and have a complete new line of entertainments. They also have a good band and orchestra; and the opening play for Monday night is "The Family Pride," a late New York success.

Ladies will be admitted free when accompanied by one paid adult ticket on the opening night.

The Merry Madcaps Company plays under a water proof tent heated by a huge underground heater. The shows is being held here under the auspices of the American Legion post of this city.

At Toby's This Week

We this week had the pleasure of attending the opening play of Toby's Comedians presented at the Palace. Indeed it was a surprise to see a mystery play presented equally as interesting and enthralling as "The Bat" and "The Monster." usually presented in larger towns; and wish to congratulate the entire cast.

The orchestra was good, the intermission acts were bum, but on the whole the play was thoroughly enjoyable and we hope you will consider this as a review rather than a news item. Toby's Comedians are good.

FOR SALE—Davidson Sunshine cottonseed, 1.00 per bushel, will matured.—H. E. Bennett, Prairie Chapel. 4-1f-3p

Mr. and Mrs. Burrows, of Stamford, spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Burrows, manager of the city light and power plant. Geo. W. Harris of McAdoo was on the streets Monday meeting his many friends and selling a bale or two of the long staple cotton.

L. D. Davis, of near McAdoo, was here Monday of this week.
