The Farm and the Farm Home

The farm business is a household enterprise at the core. For the farmer knows nothing of those sharp distinctions of production and consumption and income and expenditures which divide the office, shop and mill from the home in the city man's thinking.

The farm and the farm home are a single unitwhere the kitchen range is productive capital, quite as much as a team of horses or a hay-rake.

Electric power is of even greater assistance in the farm home than in the field. Over half the current used is applied to kitchen, laundry and household cleaning.

Alhough the American farm is highly powered in the field, modern engineering did little for the women of the farm until the advent of electric power. every hour of farm work performed by engines and horses, even now three hours of man and woman power are required. It is in that two-thirds of farm work that electric power can be substituted for human labor.

The West Texas Utilities Company, serving 120 prosterous cities, towns and communities in West Texas, the "Land of Opportunity," stands ready with over 100,000 horsepower of electrical energy to meet your daily needs. Three major generating stations furnish power, distributed over 2,500 miles of high tension transmission lines, for the modernization of home, farm or industry.
