10 PERCENT DIVIDEND TO BE PAID BY CITY NATIONAL BANK RECEIVERS IN NEAR FUTURE

It is announced by L. B. Withers, Receiver of the City National Bank of Spur, Texas, that his trust expects to pay the first dividend to depositors at an early date.

It will be recalled the City National Bank closed its doors early last September, when it found itself in an extended condition, due, primarily to frozen agricultural loans. Three successive crop failures locally culminating in last year's drouth and general depression has caused the farmers inability to pay their indebtedness to the bank.

Since last fall in spite of the tightness of money, enough has been collected by the receiver to pay the first dividend. According to Mr. Withers' statement this dividend will be 10 per cent in all claims proven and allowed. This payment based on all liabilities of the trust of about $300,000.00, will be approximately $30,000.00. Subsequent dividends will follow this, all depending upon the Receivers collections from the debtors in the future.

Dividend checks have been prepared and sent to the office of the Comptroller of the Currency in Washington, D. C. for comparison and signature, they will then be returned to be distributed by Mr. Withers. This is done on presentation by depositors of the Receiver's Certificate that has been issued them, which payment will be endorsed thereon and a separate receipt taken to be sent to Washington acknowledging receipt of the check. The checks will be Government checks drawn on the Comptroller's depository bank where the funds have been collected and are held secured by Government bonds.

The checks are anticipated to be returned for distribution about the middle of July.

Texas Wheat Yield Estimated at 46,175,000 Bushels

Austin, June 18.—A record wheat crop for Texas was predicted Thursday in the report of Carl H. Robinson, senior agricultural statistician for Texas, who estimated the production of this state at 46,175,000 bushels. Last year production totaled 28,270,000 bushels and the five-year average production was listed at 23,454,000.

Condition of Texas wheat on June 1 was estimated 77 per cent normal compared with 55 last year and the 10-year average of 67. Yields in the northwestern area will average 15 bushels per acre and nearly 18 bushels in the central areas.

Total wheat production in the United States was estimated at 649,115,000 bushels compared with 604,337,000 bushels last year. The general condition of wheat in the United States was estimated at 84.3 per cent of normal. The 10-year average is 75.7 per cent.

Condition of oats was given at 86 percent normal as compared with 65 last year and a 10-year average of 69. The yield per acre will be only slightly below the record yields of 42 and 42.6 bushels in 1919 and 1926, respectively. The black lands of north and central Texas were estimated at 92 per cent of normal and prospects for an exceptionally large yield.

1932 License Plates Green and White

It's a little early yet to be of great moment to most motorists, but anyhow the Texas number plates for 1932 motor cars will have a green body with letter and borders of white according to specifications laid out by the board of control, in asking bids to be opened a few days ago.

Commercial vehicle plates will have a yellow body with letters, figures and borders of green; tractor and tractor plates, maroon body with letters, figures and border of white; dealers plates, white body with letters, figures and border of maroon; motor bus plates, black body with letters, and border of white; exempt plates, gray body with letters, figures and border of green; motorcycle plates, green body with white letters, figures and border, and motorcycle side-car plates, white body with letters, figures and border of green.

Bids have been called for 1-450,000 pair of automobile plates, 250,000 pairs of commercial vehicle plates, 45,000 tractor and tractor plates, 15,000 dealer plates, 6,000 pairs of motor bus plates, 10,000 exempt plates, 8,000 motorcycle plates, 300 motorcycle side-car plates and 30,000 chauffeur badges.

Federal Land Bank Representatives Here Thursday

John V. Van DeMark, vice-president of the Federal Land Bank at Houston, and A. K. (Dad) Short, agricultural representative of the company were here Thursday to meet with the board of directors of the local loan association and to make a survey of the farms of this section as to crop prospects and terracing operations.

Half and Half Is Advised For Late Planting

Although it is exceptionally late in the season for planting of cotton, a number of farmers in this county and especially in this community have so far been unable to get a stand and will be forced to take the long chances of late planting.

It is preferable to plant a feed crop which will have ample time to make at this late date, but if cotton is to be planted, it is the advice of agricultural men and experienced farmers of this section to plant Half and Half. This variety of cotton matures quicker, fruits heavier and earlier, and will stand the last stages of maturity with considerably less moisture than the longer staple varieties.

An unusually large percentage of the acreage this year has been planted to long staple, pure bred varieties in an attempt to raise the local market price for a better grade of cotton. Very little if any difference has been made in the past as to prices paid for long and short staples in this section, but whether or not a difference is made this year will not alter the advisability of using half and half in late planting. June 1st is considered the latest date at which long staple cotton may be planted with any degree of success in making a crop.

Spikes Libel Suit Ended Saturday At Lubbock

The $200,000 libel suit of Fred Spikes against J. Everetts Haley and the trustees of the Capitol Reservation Land Co. which has been followed so closely by the people of this section ended Saturday, after a seven weeks trial, judgement in favor of the defendant. Suit was based on reputed libelous statements concerning the Spikes brothers and others in a history of the XIT Ranch written by Haley, which mentions the 'Spikes Gang' in connection with cattle rustling and recounts the killing of two of the Spikes brothers. Motion for a new trial was filed in the 99th District court Monday by the plaintiff.

Three new suits of $200,000 filed by Fred and Oscar Caudill and Mrs. Lillie Spikes Tuesday, in addition to suits filed previously by other relatives of Fred Spikes, bring the total damages asked of Haley and the land company to $1,800,000.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs state that they have just begun to flight and that the cases will be carried to higher courts.

Payment of Federal Farm Loans Is Demanded

According to advices received here this week by S. L. Davis, local representative of the Federal Land Bank at Houston, payment of all delinquent loans held by the bank will be demanded by August 4th. This report dispels previous rumors and news items to the effect that no foreclosures would be made his year on federal farm and ranch loans. And according to Mr. Davis, the laws governing the actions of this bank makes it impossible to grant extensions of time on loans.

The Land Bank has extended loans on 346 farms and ranches in this section to the amount of approximately $1,000,000. Payments on which are due semi-annually, May 1 and November 1.

A check-up shows that 65 of these loans with an aggregate payment of over $6,000 are delinquent since May 1 and must be paid by the 4th of August. Fred Graham, special representative of the Houston Bank is here today to attend the joint meeting of directors and members of the association whose loans are due. The meeting is for the purpose of discussing ways and means of making payment, and if possible to perfect an organization to take care of such loans as farmers are unable to meet. The entire 65 are loans on farms, none of the ranch loans being delinquent.

Enforced payment of loans at this time is a severe blow to the community, due to the critical shortage of money and poor prospects of a good market this fall. However, it is believed by members and officers of the association that a plan may be devised whereby the biggest part of the loan payments may be met and that very few foreclosures will be made.

Everything In Readiness For the Encampment

It is about two weeks before the Leuders Baptist Encampment will open. Full details are being worked out and everything will be in readiness to open on the 13 of July.

At a recent meeting of the program and arrangement committee it was decided to make special rates for meals. Where five or more attend in groups from one church, society or family meals will be served for the entire time at the rate of $4.00 per person. Every inducement is being made to make it easy on the campers so they may take part in the program for the full time. This is also done in order to induce attendance for the full time of the camp.

The best loaders available have been secured to load the various conferences. Playgrounds have been cleared and the play features will be varied and full.

Encouraging reports are coming in from all points. Services in many of the surrounding churches will be dismissed for the one Sunday of the encampment in order that the various congregations may attend the encampment services. Dr. W. R. White state secretary, will be the principal speaker.

Messrs Dunlap and Dobson, of Dobbs city were business visitors in Spur Tuesday of this week and while here were pleasant callers at the Texas Spur Office.

New Demonstration Agent For County Arrives

At a special session of the Commissioners court Monday, Miss Clara Pratt, of Mission, was chosen to take the place of Miss Jennie Osborne, Home Demonstration agent of this county, whose resignation takes effect July 1.

Miss Pratt arrived here Wednesday and will work with Miss Osborne during the remaining days of her term. She has had many years of experience in this line of work and is fully capable to carry it on in the excellent manner that it has been. During the past year or so Miss Pratt has been a teacher of Home Economics in the schools at Mission.

In her four years of service here Miss Osborne has rendered a noteworthy and beneficial service, the most important of her accomplishments being the sponsoring of a home canning and live-at-home program that has proven of inestimable value in the past two years. It is with regret that her resignation has been accepted and the farewells being accorded her over the county portray the high esteem of her by club members and friends.

May not retain County Agent

Although it was definitely decided to maintain the Home Demonstration agent service at the meeting of the Commissioners it was tentatively agreed to discontinue the services of a county agent. This motion was purely an economic one, the object being to reduce the expenses of the county, as far as possible, until a more prosperous era. No definite decision in this matter will be made, however, until July 13, at which time the present contract expires.

Postponement of War Debts For a Year is Proposed

Following a conference the past week, in which the U. S. was represented by Sec. of Treas. Mellon, President Hoover, made the proposal that all nations postpone war debts for a period of one year, payments to begin again at the end of this period as of the previous year. The plan was readily accepted by all countries concerned with the exception of France upon whose decision its adoption hinges. France replied Wednesday that she would favor a plan to make the payments as usual and loan the money back to Germany and other nations in need of money.

The proposal was made in an attempt to relieve somewhat the world wide economic situation and to assist Germany, who it is thought would not be able to make payment this year. It is also thought that with the adoption of such plan, a rise in values and an increase in foreign trade would result that would more than repay the loss of interest by the various nations.

Freedom of Press Upheld by Court

Setting aside the famous Minnesota newspaper 'gag' law by the United States Supreme court, may be one of the most important decisions ever handed down.

Chief Justice Hughes, stressed the need for freedom of the press—holding that need to be greater than ever before. The law, in its intention, may have been good—to outlaw indecent and scandalous sheets. But in its wording, it put newspapers at the mercy of political corruption or dictation. There is no place in America for suppression of honest comment or criticism.

The decision said in effect that while a newspaper might be stopped and punished for malicious, libelous or statements unlawful to publish, such punishment must come after publication of said matter and in no way be a form of censorship.

Spur Men Attend Murder Trial At Plainview Friday

J. Vernon Powell, Geo. Sloan, Archer L. Powell and Newt Kidd, all of this community were in Plainview Friday and Saturday of last week as witness in the murder trial of Jessie Swanner, a negro charged with the killing of another negro at that place.

The trouble which led to the killing was said to have started over the 'stealing' of Swanners wife and the attempt to take his household goods also. In the fight which ensued, Swanner is accused of stabbing the other negro to death.

Snowden formerly lived here, working for several years on the Powell and Sloan farms.

Trench Silos Cheap And Satisfactory

College Station, Tex. June 25.—Trench silos, of which it is estimated there are less than 100 in Texas, are cheap to construct and are a fairly satisfactory way of preserving feed stuff, in the opinion of M. R. Bentley, farm engineer in the Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College and the United States Department of Agriculture. He has made a partial survey of the situation with the assistance of county agents to find that these silos are usually 12-12 feet wide at top, 10-12 feet wide at bottom and 9-12 feet deep, which is a little larger than is recommended. Length varies greatly and is figured on the basis of one cubic foot of ensilage weighing 25 pounds. South Texas, North Texas and Northwest Texas farmers furnished most of the reports in the survey.

Wastage in these silos from rotting ranged from 1 per cent to 18 per cent with an average of 5-12 and was mostly from tops and walls rather than from the bottoms. The ensilage was generally cut up, packed in by tramping of men or by teams and wagons, and covered over with straw and dirt. County agents expressed the opinion that spoilage might be reduced by building concrete walls or by making dirt walls smoother. In the majority of cases no trouble was experienced from rain water at the end of the trench from which the ensilage was removed. Most of the trench silos reported had been built one year, too short a time for much caving-in to occur. The oldest silo was built five years ago.

Some of the advantages of trench silos noted by Mr. Bentley are their low cost of construction, convenience of filling, wind, fire and frost proof features, and ease of removing the ensilage. On the other hand he cites as disadvantages the relatively high wastage, added expense of covering, labor of smoothing walls each year unless lined, their unadaptability where the water table is high, troubles that may come from rain water in the caved portions of the trench unless drainage or roof is provided, and the unsightliness of such a silo in the farmstead.

Complete details for building trench silos may be obtained from county agents or from MS-78 'Trench Silos in Texas' distributed by the Extension Service at College Station.

Immunization Work Begins At Afton, Croton

The first immunization clinic in the health program of this county was held at Afton, Tuesday, June 23, at which time serum and vaccine treatments were given. At this clinic 142 first doses of typhoid serum were given, 30 injections of diphtheria toxoid made, and 10 were vaccinated for small pox. Another clinic will be held at Afton July 1 from 1:00 to 3:30 p. m. at which time second doses of typhoid serum will be given and also the diphtheria toxoid. No first doses of the typhoid serum will be given at this time. This second opportunity to receive the protection treatment for diphtheria is offered in the hope that a greater percentage of the children will be given it. Children over six months of age are not endangered by this treatment and should be protected from this dread disease.

The first immunization clinic for Croton will be held there July 1 from 8:30 to 11:00 a. m. At this time the first injections of typhoid serum will be given; also the diphtheria toxoid and small pox vaccinations. Competent physicians are in charge of these clinics and since the service is offered free, it is urgently requested that everyone avail themselves of this opportunity to protect themselves and their children against these diseases.

According to Miss Ruth Kooker, state health nurse, no definite announcement will be made at present as to dates of clinics in other communities of the county and it is reported that the work is being delayed because of a shortage of the serums and vaccines. However, the complete program of the work will be carried out and dates of other clinics will be announced in the near future.

Coops Plan to Handle Million Bales Texas Crop

Dallas, June 26.—Plans and policies for handling approximately 1,000,000 bales of this season's Texas cotton crop through the channels of cooperative marketing have been completed by the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, according to an announcement by E. C. Pittuck, acting general manager. Last season the association handled 616,000 bales of the Texas crop under the Federal Farm Board and Agricultural Marketing Act program, it was said.

"In the face of the trade's attack upon the cooperatives and the dissemination of propaganda, rumors, allegations, etc. with respect to the Federal Farm Board," Mr. Pittuck said, "reports to the association from ever section of the State indicate that the value and benefit of organized effort is appreciated more than ever before, and with the low price of cotton prevailing the individual farmer can hope for but little relief from present conditions. He must meet organized industry in an organized way.

The Association's program this season is on a greatly enlarged scale for direct membership service, it was said, through district offices, branch offices, and receiving agents located in every section of the State. The Federally licensed cotton classing program will be continued, it was stated, and according to Mr. Pittuck, "the association will be ready with its facilities to care for the movement of cotton when it starts soon in the South Texas area, and as it progresses thru-out other sections of the State."

Oh Ye of Little Faith

When will the clouds roll up again
Black massed in the West?
And soak again once more with rain,
Ah, then we would be blessed.

I've heard it said, Ye must have faith.
But how long must that be?
For three years now my neighbors face,
I've hated most to see,

My own, of course, I never see
With eyes as I see his.
I know his heart, his honest Plis
And nearly all his Bis.

Anxiety and hard work age
Much faster than the years
I wish some one would only page
Old Jup, he'd heed our fears.
To see our plight, I am sure would cause,
A loosening of his tears.

Spirit of Intolerance

Among the other lines of bunk we Americans like to indulge in is an exaltation of the motives of the Pilgrim fathers. We like to say that they came to this country from exalted motives, searching for a place where they might worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience, presumably allowing others to do the same. Which is all right except as to presumption.

As a matter of fact the Pilgrim Fathers were, a densely ignorant and deeply intolerant bunch. Comparatively few of them could do more than laboriously read the gospels, practically all other literature being forbidden, and to scrawl their own name. They had their own iron-bound concepts, based on the fact that they drew from the glorious story of Jesus and the Bible, only the hard-boiled, and the sinister and the gloomy. If anybody in the colony dared to differ in this concept, the only thing that could save their lives was to take to the brush the moment their 'heresy' was announced to the selectmen. Even such great thinkers as Robert Williams had to go while the going was good, and he was only one of many who felt the mailed hand of the colonial religion.

All sorts of superstition was prevalent, including a belief in witch-craft which resulted in the burning of some poor old soul accused of dark magic, every once in a while at the stake. The 10th day of this month was the anniversary of the death of Bridget, at Salem, in 1692, in this horribly cruel and inhuman way.

She was convicted on the testimony of some terrified children whose dread of home punishment was so great that they would invent any story in order to escape it. In reality she was a harmless old crone, who was made unfit by a life of bitter toil and privation, and who did not even understand clearly the charges that were brought against her. Accordingly she was bound at the stake and died "that God-fearing folk might be safe from her evil ministrations." The horrors of the inquisition had nothing upon that fiendish process, and it was all in the name of one whose life was a lesson for all time in love-gentleness and compassion.

EAT MORE RAW CABBAGE

New cabbage, one of the most appetizing and nutritious of all vegetables, is on the market now in such quantities that its cost is comparatively small according to the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, which highly recommends its use in the most elaborate as well as in the low cost dietary.

Cabbage is a protective food because of its mineral and vitamin content. Calcium is perhaps its most important mineral. Raw cabbage ranks with orange juice and tomatoes among the richest sources of Vitamin C. Raw and cooked cabbage differ in their Vitamin C content for heat destroys much of this antiscorbutic vitamin. The loss of this vitamin in heating varies with different vegetables but usually much of it is destroyed in cooking. Fortunately, raw cabbage is a delicious as well as inexpensive food and lends itself to many combination dishes. It can be served as a salad with other vegetables or fruits, or can be chopped fine for sandwiches. Small children, especially, relish raw vegetable sandwiches, and since a deficiency of Vitamin C causes irritability, lack of stamina, and retardation of growth, foods which offer a generous supply should be eaten by them in abundance.

Green raw cabbage leaves are richer in Vitamin A and iron than the white ones. The inner cabbage leaves are relatively poor in this vitamin but it is not destroyed to any serious extent by ordinary cooking. Both Vitamins A and C are protective vitamins since they are a defense against nutritional deficiencies that are most likely to appear when the diet is composed too largely of grain products, meats, sweets, and fats.

Children as young as two years may have cooked cabbage provided it has not been cooked too long. In preparing it for the table, the outer green leaves should not be thrown away for they are the most valuable part of the head. Any discarded leaves might well find their way into the soup kettle.

Cabbage sprouts, which grow on the stalk after the head is cut, are very tender and are green practically all the way through. When boiled they require only five or six minutes to cook. They are especially delicious if scalloped with cheese sauce or mixed with other greens and cooked with bacon.

Oil And Water Mix Perfectly---And Fast

When The Mixing Is Done By World's Champion Outboard Drivers.

NEVER in the long and exciting history of motor-boat racing has there been such an astonishing series of contests as those staged during the four-day regatta for the National Outboard Championships, at Middletown, Conn., recently. Forty new world records in four days—an achievement never equaled in this or any other sport!

Ideal weather and a slight wind-borne hobbie on the water to put just enough air under the boats for fast going were conducive to high speeds. But it was not these things that broke forty records which the country's most daring drivers had been striving to break in scores of regattas all summer. The furious Middletown attacks on Father Time by sectional champions from all over the United States were successful because of three outstanding factors—the downright courage of the drivers, the uncanny coordination of mind and physical action which denotes the champion in any sport and the care they had lavished on their boats and engines.

genius, physical and mental bravery and the ability to think in lightning-like flashes.

Six years ago any boat with a detachable engine which could go eight miles an hour was considered a pretty speedy outfit. That year the world's record plunged upward to sixteen miles an hour. Now all that is changed. Ray Pregenzer Jr., of Antioch, Ill., at Fox Lake made one mile against the clock six times at an average of 50.934—the present world's record. At Middletown Walter Widegren, of Glen Cove, N. Y., 18 years old, beat the champions of Florida, California and all intermediate racing spots, including a couple of rip-snorting cowboys from Arizona, at 45.153, a new world's record in competition.

The things that spell the amazing difference between the sluggish results of 1925 and the whizzing, slashing outboard racing of today, are the great improvement in hulls and engines, the superior knowledge and driving skill of the modern racers, the tender care they gave their motors and the availability of gasoline which will produce the necessary 8,000 or more revolutions per minute demanded of racing outboard motors, and oil which will not break down under the terrific heat created by this tremendous engine speed.

Good Oil Vital to Speed

The champions have found maybe a dozen brands of gasoline to produce the desired results. But the oil is a different matter. No amount of skillful refining will give an oil the necessary qualities if they are not present in the crude from which it is made. Of the forty world's record holders established at Middletown, 38 used pure Pennsylvania lubricants, most of them of the same type and make employed by Car Wood in his 2300 h. p., 100-mile-an-hour international winners, the Miss America's, by a majority of the successful racing pilots in other boat classes and specified by 85 per cent of American marine engine builders.

er's purse. Since 1921 total motor vehicle tax income has increased at the rate of 14 per cent a year—and gas tax income at the rate of 79 per cent a year. In spite of this, annual increases in motor vehicle registration have been less than 11 per cent, and expenditures for highways have gone up but six per cent.

So far during 1931 ten legislatures have given the gas tax a boost skyward—and in one state a seven cent tax just escaped passing. The gasoline tax will

The poor motorist is becoming one of the tax-collector's best sources of revenue. Last year he paid taxes exceeding $2,000,000 a day—and he will pay more this year. Some Swimming Don'ts

- Wait at least two hours after eating before going into the water.
- Don't swim if overheated or tired. Neither should a bather overtax his strength. When exhausted, he should rest on his back, then swim to shore.
- Don't swim if you have heart trouble.
- Don't dive without accurate knowledge of the depth of the water. Diving into unexplored water has resulted in many broken necks.
- When caught in swift current or undertow, don't struggle, but allow the current to bring you to the surface and then work toward the shore.
- When wading into water with your hands over your head you are not ready to stroke if you step in a hole.
- Always be ready to fall forward when wading.
- By learning Red Cross resuscitation methods, you will be capable of saving life.
- Don't cry for help in fun. You may need help some time and not get it.
- Don't go swimming alone.

Experiences of An 88 Year Old Texas Pioneer

William M. Shipman lives in the Lone Star community of Knox county, about 18 miles north-west of Seymour, Texas. Uncle Bill is 88 years old and came to Texas in 1856. An impressive event to this old Indian fighter was the death of his former school teacher, Miss Annie Whitney, who was killed by an Indian with bow and arrow, in 1866, while assisting her pupils to escape the Indians.

In Memory Of Oran McClure

Our dear friend has gone. We are sad and so lone. Oh, how we miss his kind face; We miss his glad smile Which was always worth while And no one can fill his good place.

He was kind to the weak, He was gentle and meek And yet he was noble and brave. In matters of right He was valliant in fight And to his convictions he clave.

He leaves a dear wife, The pride of his life. And children so dear to his heart. It grieves us so sore His friends by the score To know with this friend we had to part.

Alas dear friend Mack, We can't call you back, Thou brave and courageous fellow. But we'll send up a cheer For the ones you left here And the good old Texas Espuela.

Now to his good wife, Grief is common in life, Great pain we all must endure. In your sorrow and care Go to Jesus in prayer And He, Great Physician, can cure.

And to his dear boys, Mid your sorrows and joys, The banner of right hold up high: In sunshine and rain, In pleasure and pain, And success will be yours by and by.

A Variety of Main Dishes For Every Day Dinners

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Heinz Company

EVERY busy housewife is constantly on the look-out for suggestions regarding practical main dishes. Planning the remainder of the dinner is not a very serious problem, once you have decided upon the principal course. And in most homes this main dish usually is meat, or some nourishing meat substitute—such as beans, fish, eggs or cheese.

Today I am giving you recipes for some oven, casserole and braised dishes which are both practical and economical. These, however, should be chosen for serving on those days when one expects to remain at home, since they require long, slow cooking.

However, I also am including several recipes for excellent courses that are quickly prepared. And you will find all the suggestions listed below most helpful in planning seasonable dishes for the every-day dinner:

Smothered Veal Chops: 6 veal chops, 1 inch thick; 1 cup Cream of Tomato Soup; 1/2 cup water; 1/4 cup cracker crumbs; 1 egg; 1 large onion.

Salt and pepper the veal and dip in beaten egg, to which has been added 2 tablespoons water. Roll in cracker crumbs and brown on both sides in melted butter. Lay thin slices of onion on chops and pour over them the Tomato Soup mixed with 1/2 cup water. Cover and bake in a moderately hot oven—400 degrees F.—for about 1 hour. Serve garnished with sprigs of parsley and slices of Fresh Cucumber Pickle.

Surprise Potato Balls: 1/2 lb. canned mashed potatoes—white or sweet; 2 tablespoons Tomato Ketchup; 1 egg; 3 tablespoons flour.

Add Tomato Ketchup to the sausage and make into small thin cakes. Fry slowly until golden brown. Add the egg and flour to potatoes and blend thoroughly. Make into thin cakes slightly larger than the sausage cakes. Place a meat cake between two potato cakes and press firmly together. Fry until both sides are browned.

Salmon and Pickle Loaf: 1-1/2 lb. salmon; 1/2 cup bread crumbs; 1/2 cup milk; 1/4 cup Preserved Sweet Gherkins, chopped; 1 egg; 1 teaspoon butter; 1 teaspoon salt.

Warfare of "Regulators" and "Moderators" in 1842

Warfare between 'Regulators' and 'Moderators' started in Shelby county, East Texas, in 1842. Like other border counties at that time, Shelby county was a refuge for adventurers and lawless men.

The plan of the 'Regulators' was to keep watch on the conduct of certain suspicious characters, call upon them when necessary and give them so many hours to get out of the country. If they failed or refused to heed the warning, they were hanged to the highest limb, after being tried by a self-constituted 'Regulator' court. The intentions of the organization no doubt were good, but as time passed evil-minded men joined the band and sought to wreak vengeance on every one against whom they held personal spite. It followed that many innocent men were hanged or driven out of the country.

You can read this story of the civil war in Texas in the July 3rd issue of The Texas Spur.

Mrs. B. F. Hal, and daughter, Helen returned Thursday from Greenville where she has been visiting for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Effie Johnson is here this week from Farwell on a visit to her many friends in this city.

GREED

By BRUCE BARTON

If any writer were big enough to gather up all the thousands of stories of the stock market crash he would have material for the Great American Novel.

For the bull market, and the catastrophe which ended it, represented all that is best and worst in the American character: our optimism, which is at once our strength and our weakness; our restless desire to better our condition by any available means; our worthy ambition and our unworthy greed.

One of the best of the market stories was told me by a celebrated surgeon whose name I can not recall.

"I work hard for my money," he said, "and have never speculated. However, the fever got me finally, like everybody else. There was one particular stock which was a favorite in my city. Bank presidents and boot-blacks were in it together; it went up by leaps and bounds.

"Against all my traditions, I bought several hundred shares. It continued to climb; I had profit of many thousand dollars.

"One night my wife saw me making penciled calculations on the margin of the newspaper. She said I ought not to be worrying about stocks, and she urged me to sell out and never think about the market again.

"I argued that by holding on for another ten points we could pay for the wing which she wanted to build on the house.

"While we were still talking, my little girl came in to ask my help on her Latin lesson for the

He Who Farms Only For Money Seldom Makes It

(By CLARENCE POE in The Progressive Farmer)

The farmer may indeed elect to make himself a mere wage slave; he must shut his eyes to his own possibilities and think only of the dollars some money crop will bring next fall. But always when he forgets the power to make himself a creative next day. It was the translation of Aesop's fable of the dog and the bone. The dog, you remember, saw his reflection in the water and, thinking it was another dog whose bone he would steal, reached down with open jaws and lost his bone.

"The moral of that fable was 'Greed usually results in the loss of everything.'

"That night when I went to bed I could not sleep. The fable kept running through my mind. First thing next morning I telephoned my broker to sell me out. It happened that the stock went up a few more points, but a couple of weeks later it dropped like a shot. I was very lucky, and had sense enough not to think I had been smart. You can bet that I am done with speculating forever."

I hope that when this editorial is printed we may be in the midst of good times, with increasing business and a rising market. In that case, some young man may see it and appreciate the reminder that "greed usually results in the loss of everything."

worker, always when he ceases to be a farm-maker and home maker and limits himself instead to the drudgery of mere money-making for its own sake, he throws himself out of harmony with the purpose of nature and in the long run nature exacts its penalty. No truer words about Agriculture have ever been written than these:

"Study it, when and where you will, you will find this true in the long run: The farmer who farms first of all to have a good farm and make a good living will have some money too, but the farmer who farms only to make money makes neither money nor a living."

"Seek ye first the Kingdom," said the Master, "and all these things will be added unto you." So we may say that in farming the farmer who seeks first of all to make a farm and a home of which he and his children can be proud—all these and other things shall be added unto him.

This year the outlook for mere 'money-crops' farming is even less attractive than usual. It is more important than ever that we concern ourselves first of all with a 'good farm and a good living made on the farm.' It is a good year in which to cut expenses to a minimum holding down acreage of sale crops, fix up the farm, increase its fertility and homeliness get it well terraced, beautify the home, and realize the truth of that bit of home made poetry: With garden, cow and fifty hens, And hogs that graze (not housed in pens)

The farm's prosperity begins. And lets consider carefully whether this isn't a truth worthy of all acceptations, that, "In the long run the man who farms only for money seldom makes money, while the man who aims first at a good farm and a good living made on the farm, usually gets the most cash also."
