Plainview Man Dies Here When Car Plunges Over Red Bluff

Chas. L. White, salesman for the Radford Grocery Company at Plainview was killed here Saturday afternoon of last week when the car in which he was driving plunged down Red Bluff into the creek below.

James and Ross Culbert, two young boys, living in the vicinity of the scene of the accident saw the car drive upon the bluff and park and a few minutes later saw it plunge down the bluff and into four feet of water in the creek. They immediately summoned aid at the pump station nearby and the man was taken out within very few minutes after he accident happened. He was found to be dead however and efforts of resuscitate him proved futile. A coroners verdict was rendered of death due to drowning.

Mr. White and his brother Von who lives in the Afton community had come to Spur in the afternoon, the families of both men having remained at Afton, and while Von was attending to business matters here his brother happened to the accident which took his life. A dim unfrequented road leads upon the bluff from the south and no warning or obstruction is present which would prevent one unfamiliar with the locality from driving on over the 70 foot precipice. It is supposed that the victim either failed to notice it in time or that the brakes on the heavy machine failed to work properly and that he was thus plunged to his death.

Campbell and Campbell undertakers took charge of the body it being carried to Plainview Sunday where funeral services were held the following afternoon.

Association Will Ask Grain Aid in Cotton Campaign

Austin, Texas, August 5.—Overcoming objection of farmers and dealers to the use of cotton bagging as a container for binder twine will be an objective of the Association for the Increased Use of Cotton, Lowe Simons, executive secretary of the Texas division has notified the International Harvester company.

This company is one of the largest manufacturers of binder twine.

Simons was informed by Alexander Legge, president of the company, that they had tried a number of times to use cotton sacks in place of burlap as containers for the twine but that the cotton wrappers had proven unpopular.

The difficulty, Legge said, seemed to be largely of appearance. The binder twine must be oiled to make it flexible enough for use in the grain binder, and this oil soaks through the bag. The burlap bag, because of its natural color, does not show the dirt so apparently as the cotton sack, and therefore dealers and farmers have objected to its use because of its appearance, Legge wrote.

Simon advised Legge he was certain that with the cooperation of the sellers of binder twine it would be possible to overcome this objection as to the appearance by 'missionary work' among dealers and farmers, who would be more interested in increasing the consumption of cotton than in appearance of the sack, in which their binder twine was shipped, other qualities of the two containers being equal.

The binder industry has not yet worked out a tying device that will handle cotton binder twine satisfactorily, according to Legge.

Miss Alice Brashear, local manager of the Western Union, left this week for a two weeks vacation and visit to her parents in Cameron. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are here from Houston to take care of the business during her absence.

Broomcorn Over This Section is Maturing Rapidly

Broomcorn in the thousand or more acres in the Spur section is now in the last stages of maturity and the first harvesting is expected to begin within the next two weeks. Many farmers have during the past two weeks brought in samples from different sections of the county and in each case the straw has been well developed and of good quality.

Much discussion has been made recently, since the crop is new in this section, about the proper time and way of harvesting it. From what we have been able to learn in conversation with experienced broomcorn men the straw should be pulled at the time when the center of the head has reached the uniform pale green stage. The heads should be pulled from the boot and stacked in the field to cure previous to threshing. It is better to stack the heads and cover with fodder so that as little sunshine as possible will fall on the straw while curing, since if it is subjected to the hot sun rays the straw will have a tendency to curl and not cure properly. Also it is better to make small stacks to prevent moulding.

Between six and seven days are ordinarily required for the corn to cure and although it is really better to thresh green and cure afterwards the procedure here this year will more than likely be to cure first and thresh when convenient. When the cured straw is taken from the field it should be stacked with the butts to the center and heads out to make threshing convenient. After the straw is cleaned, however it is baled with the heads to the center and the butts out. The three hundred pound bales are considered best.

In gathering or 'jerking' of the corn caution should be taken to pull no heads where the straw is crooked or curled and to leave out the faulty ones called 'mule tails' which have short and inferior straw. If faulty heads are allowed to go into the bale, the buyer will make a heavy penalty in the grading.

The market price on this commodity in ordinary grades is between sixty and eighty dollars per ton being unusually low as is every other farm product. However considering it on average production of a quarter ton to the acre, and the crops in this section are above average, the ready cash that will be brought in by the sale of the estimated three hundred tons here this year will be of material benefit and will put a little money in circulation at a time when it is most needed.

The local Chamber of Commerce and others have been lending their assistance to promote the growing of broomcorn in this section have made arrangements for threshers and other necessary machinery to care for the crop and these men will be glad to give you any information or assist you in any way that they can.

No definite program has yet been arranged but since the threshing and baling is of secondary consideration and may be done when convenient, if you will see to it that your crop is properly gathered and cured you may be assured that threshers and storage facilities will be provided.

Local Pastor To Hold Revival At Matador; Sunday

Rev. F. G. Rogers, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city, was called to Matador this week to conduct a revival meeting. Services, however, will be continued as usual at the local church, Rev. Smith of Portales, N. M., having been engaged to take charge during Bro. Rogers' absence, and the general public are cordially invited to attend.

This makes the fifth consecutive revival this of the summer that Rev. Rogers has conducted, he having carried on meetings at Girard, Jayton, Aspermont, and Peacock previous to being called to Matador. He is an able and interesting talker, and although his sermons sometimes carry the sting of hurt to his audience, he has that honesty of convictions and forcefulness of character that makes his services demanded outside the bounds of the local pastorate.

Local Men Invent Miniature Golf Playing Machine

J. J. South and Jack Schroer of this city have perfected and patented a miniature golf playing machine designed as are the various others similar machines to be placed on drug store counters and other popular places for the amusement of the public and incidentally to gather in the loose pennies that comes that way.

One machine has been perfected and last week was placed in one of the emporiums for a trial. It seemed to meet with approval of the public in every way and now plans are in progress for manufacture on a wholesale scale.

Such things as these have more than once made millions for the lucky man who conceived the idea that 'anyone should have thought of' and we hope that this will be the case with these fellows when they place it on the market.

Golden Wedding Anniversary Celebrated At Rogers Home on Croton

Sunday of this week a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Rogers were guests at their home on east Croton, at a dinner and celebration in honor of their Golden Wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers are well known throughout this entire section they having been citizens and residents of Dickens county for the past twenty years.

Pat Watson acted as master of ceremonies at the dinner in honor of the occasion and followed by Geo. D. Rogers of Portales, a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, made a brief talk expressing the sentiment of the many friends present in extending congratulations to this much beloved couple on their 50th wedding anniversary, and wishing to them many more years of happiness.

Those in attendance at the dinner were Messrs and Mesdames C. L. Love, Pat Watson, W. E. Hutton and children, J. T. White, Coke Pillow and children, G. M. Cox and children, I. C. Hobson and children, Ralph Karr and children, J. H. Hobson and children, and Mrs. M. C. Hobson, of Spur; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. E. Rogers and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Youngblood.

In the afternoon many other friends from all sections of the county came by to pay their respects and extend congratulations.

Acreage-Cut Bill Gets New Support

Austin, Texas, August 6.—Declaring he had been against acreage regulation by law but 'the time has come for whatever is necessary to meet the situation,' C. O. Moser, vice-president of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, pledged his support to pending legislation to reduce cotton acreage.

A surplus of cotton has been accumulated and pyramided Moser said, until it will equal an entire years production by the end of the coming season, and at the same time, the word has the low buying power that any living man has ever known.

'It is not a time for normal measures, he said, "but a time for whatever it takes to meet the situation. He added that it was up to the Texas legislature, representing the greatest cotton state, to "meet this issue squarely. He pledged the cooperation would do everything to get other states to follow Texas leadership.

Crops Are Holding Up Fine In This Section And bumper Harvest Assured

We have the past week had occasion to do considerable running around over the county, through the broomcorn and cotton fields, the feed patches and late gardens and this section is unquestionably due to come to the front this year with a good crop whether the price is good or not.

The maize, hegari, feterita, broomcorn, corn and other feed crops are in 'the doe' maturing rapidly and are holding up fine through the 'dry' weather. It is possibly better that rains have been no heavier than they have so far this season since very little damage from insect pests have so far been reported.

Old King Cotton is right there too. Old timers tell us that we can go by this and that sign to tell whether it will all go to stalk, the leaves drop off or what not—but regardless of what made it do it is putting on plenty of fruit this year. It is a real pleasure to step out into a cotton patch and stoop down and look through the stalks and count the bolls. Little stalks in the late stuff have fifteen to twenty bolls and squares and the early stuff—oh my—when she goes to filling out the limbs are just naturally going to bend down to the ground.

The broomcorn is nearly ready to go. We have well over a thousand acres planted to this crop here this season and only a small percentage of the people know this, however, that we have some of the best straw ever grown and if the harvesting and curing gets along as well as the success we have had with growing it we are going to draw some top prices around here within the next few weeks. And we venture the assertion that the men who have boosted the initiation of this crop here will see it developed into a staple if the Spur country.

Following the late heavy rains of three weeks ago many bushels of peas and beans were planted as well as other late crops. It is practically all up and with very little more rain we may be competing with New Mexico and Colorado in the shipments of beans and may be listed as a shipping point of the Texas special black-eyed peas.

Locally grown Mellons, roasting ears and other vegetables are in abundance and are being marketed on the streets daily. A great change has come over this section since the depression and a more universal program of diversification has been inaugurated than has ever before been known. Cotton acreage has been materially decreased, new crops are being successfully grown and rural sections with the assistance of the Home Demonstration agent are carrying out a 'live at home' program that will bring us an era of prosperity undreamed of.

Come to the great Spur country where good lands is cheap and where a man can grow more than a dozen can harvest, take advantage of the opportunities and grow rich—and don't forget to take the Texas Spur.

Farmers Turning 25c Wheat Into $8 Liquor For Profit

Washington, July 24.—Some Western farmers are turning their 25c a bushel wheat into hard liquor, according to word brought to Washington from the wheat belt. It is not indicated how many gallons are produced from a given number of bushels of unsold wheat, but the product brings $8 a gallon which is regarded pretty good return in these days of depression.

Information in Washington is that wheat liquor, or what some term 'wheatig' is produced about the same as is other liquor and as potent in 'kick' and tastes as any would desire.

Vinglo is sold without alcoholic content made from California grape concentrates, and financed in part by farm relief money through the Federal Farm Board appointed by Congress. Vinglo is sold without restriction, only the purchaser has to make it into the finished product.

Wheatwhiskey after the first run or so has the appearance of corn liquor but when aged by the addition of charcoal, turns a dark green. It is as smooth as oil and said to make excellent cocktails and highballs.

Just how extensive the new industry has become is not known, however in some sections it is said to be quite general since wheat dropped to the low figure of four or five bushels to the dollar. The industry is similar to that in Minnesota where there is produced 'Minnesota thirteen' from one of the select breeds of corn of that State, and has grown into something of a local industry. The product is of such fineness and flavor that the district where it is produced consumes the output. It is classed as fine whiskey as ever produced in the old days. The low price of farm products and the attending high profits is said to have been the inducement to Minnesota farmers turning their corn into liquid beverages.—Dallas News.

J. E. Johnson Has Acreage Planted to New Feed Crops

J. E. Johnson was in from his farm and ranch south of the city a few miles, Wednesday of this week and brought in the first sample of the new feed Gromoni that we have seen. Mr. Johnson has six acres of this crop this year and states that it is the best thing in the grain sorghum line that he has ever seen. The heads are of unusual size and the leaves are five or more inches wide making a heavy percentage of good fodder as well as grain. He states that the seed are very expensive being one dollar per pound or two dollars for one 18 inch head—however we expect he will have some of these seed for sale another season considerably cheaper than he had to pay for planting this spring.

Mr. Johnson was in the belt two weeks ago and suffered damage to approximately 600 acres. He says however that the cotton is coming out on his as well as his neighbors places and that the stalks which were stripped are now leaved out and are putting on squares and bolls and that a partial crop will be made barring further mishaps. He also has another new crop planted on his diversified acreage this year Sagrain. This is a crop that is very drought resisting, being originated on the bad lands in Texas and will grow well in red clay spots that will hardly produce anything. If you have any of the bad lands on your farm you might do well to talk to Mr. Johnson and investigate his crop that makes good on bad land in a dry year.

Banks Will Finance Cigarette Taxes

In order that retail cigarette dealers will experience no difficulty in obtaining a supply of stamps for sale made subsequent to August 22 arrangements have been made with various banks over the country to carry an initial supply until permanent arrangements can be made.

State Treasurer Chas. Lockhart states that arrangements have been made with the Spirit National Bank to carry a supply of stamps and they may be obtained here or by order direct to the Treasurers office at Austin. The law provides a penalty to anyone selling cigarettes after this date that have not been properly stamped making it necessary for the local dealers to stamp what supply he might have on hand. Wholesalers will stamp packages distributed after the law goes into effect.

Hints For Homemakers

CANDIES make a delicious garnish for many simple desserts and save the time necessary for preparing more elaborate ones. Try crumbling up chocolate fudge over junket or vanilla ice cream. Garnish cherry gelatin with quartered marshmallows and chopped candied cherries.

To make an old dust mop practically as good as new, put a large tablespoon of concentrated lye in a pail half full of boiling water and let the mop boil in it. Rinse thoroughly several times and put in the sun to dry. One or two tablespoons of kerosene added to the suds while boiling white clothes will make the clothes much whiter.

Largest Underpass
In Southwest Opened at Amarillo

Amarillo, July 31.—The largest underpass in Texas and the southwest was dedicated here last night in presence of 10,000 people. It extends under the Rock Island and the Burlington railroad systems, unites two main parts of the city and carries traffic of five federal and eight state highways.

The dedication was by Mayor Ernest O. Thompson. Wilbur Hawk, president of the Tri-State Fair association, responded on behalf of the people. The Rock Island railroad was represented by Hal S. Ray of Chicago and the Burlington by General John A. Hulin, L. M. Hogsett and F. D. Daggett of Fort Worth.

The starting of work was hastened in Feb. for unemployment relief. It has given 9,600 days work to unskilled labor, and 3,000 to skilled labor making a payroll of $75,000. Minimum wages were 50 cents per hour, with prevailing union wages to craftsmen.

Construction is of steel and concrete, which consumed 300 carloads. The underpass is 780 feet long. The building permit was for a quarter of a million dollars. The structure is architecturally ornamented and lighted. It is crossed by four vehicle bridges in addition to the two trunkline railroads.

Mrs. McAlister of Lubbock is here this week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Price.

DRY chewing gum, often carried indoors on the soles of shoes, is easily removed from carpets and rugs by putting on a few drops of gasoline. The gum will crumble and can be brushed off.

Serving a sherbet with the meat course adds a novelty touch to the dinner. It is not only delicious in itself but gives a piquant contrasting flavor to heavier dishes. Another all-important point for the busy housewife is that sherbets are easily and quickly prepared.

SUMMER SWALLOWS By Jane Rogers

To revive the hot and dusty tennis players and weary golfers, not to mention the porch brigade who just sit and try to keep cool, there is nothing like a well prepared iced beverage. Its frosty coolness will quickly drive away thoughts of the oppressive heat, while generous sweetening with sugar will provide renewed energy for the fagged out players and rocking chair athletes alike.

Drivers of sixes never want less because it takes six cylinders to give the smooth, silent power that makes driving really enjoyable

CHEVROLET Drivers of sixes are spoiled for anything less. Drivers of sixes are sold on multiple cylinders. They would no more think of giving up "six" performance than any other real advancement of motoring. For them, the whole cylinder question has been settled.

Slip behind the wheel of a Chevrolet Six, and you'll know why these drivers feel as they do. Step on the starter, let the motor idle—and notice its silence. Throw in the clutch, shift into "low"—and feel that smoothness. Change into "second," hit a faster and faster clip, slip into "high," sweep along at top speed—then throttle down to barely a crawl. The smoothness and flexibility you always get are six-cylinder smoothness, six-cylinder flexibility. Annoying vibration is gone!

Over two million owners have tested and proved this six-cylinder Chevrolet engine. They have found that it costs less for gas and oil than any other. They have found that it actually reduces upkeep costs, by holding vibration to a minimum. They know a six is better in every way—and they would never be satisfied with less!

Twenty beautiful models, at prices ranging from $475 to $675
All prices f. o. b. Flint, Michigan, special equipment extra. Low delivered prices and easy C. M. A. C. terms.

BUSINESS PITFALLS IN FARM DISTRICTS

Bankers Point Out Hazards of Unsound Practices—Help Farmers to Avoid Them

WAYS in which bankers may discourage unsound farm practices are described by President F. D. Farrell of the Kansas State Agricultural College in the American Bankers Association Journal. He says:

"In Kansas in connection with the importation of dairy cattle, a large shipment of very inferior animals came into a county to be sold at auction to local farmers. The county agricultural agent informed the bankers that the cattle would be a detriment to the community. The bankers refused to finance the purchase of the cattle and the sale was abandoned. The cattle were shipped to another county. The county agent and the bankers there did as was done in the first instance and the second county escaped."

An Unneeded Industry

"A year ago creamery promoters began trying to capitalize the Kansas farmers' desire to improve his markets by inducing communities of farmers to purchase creamery plants before production and local conditions justified them. Informed of this by the State Agricultural College, the bankers association sent warnings to every bank in the state, leading many to refuse to support the creamery promoters until the college approved the plan for the community concerned. This saved many communities loss from the premature establishment of plants."

"A third way bankers can discourage unsound practices is to refuse to finance farmers who wish to pyramid their enterprises, a temptation difficult to resist. This is illustrated among farmers who buy cattle for feeding purposes. A farmer feeds two or three cars of cattle one year and makes a good profit. This induces him to buy twice or three times as many the second year, still more the third and so on until he finally loses more by having too many cattle on feed in a year of bad prices than he made in several previous years with smaller numbers and better prices. When bankers discourage bad practices their action is a positive benefit to the farmers concerned."

WHAT A KEY BANKER DID FOR HIS COUNTY

The farmers of one county in Tennessee are receiving $400,000 additional annual income from new farm enterprises started since 1925 through the efforts of a "key banker" and the county agent, according to estimates from the Tennessee College of Agriculture. A "key banker" is a part of the state bankers' association voluntary field force cooperating with the American Bankers Association in its nation-wide plan for bringing about better agricultural conditions through combined banker-farmer effort. New projects started in this particular county are tobacco, Irish potato and cabbage production for cash crops, and dairying and poultry raising for livestock.

The key banker, looking for something to do to better his community, first attempted to procure a county agent but was unable to get the county to make the necessary appropriation, so he and other leading citizens made up the requisite funds through private subscription among farmers and business men and an agent was employed.

New Crop Ideas

Up until 1926 grain was the principal farm production in the county. The banker recognized the disadvantages of this. It afforded a low cash income, and the land was too hilly and rough for profitable grain raising. His idea was to introduce cash crops that offered more return per acre and were better fitted to the county. It was decided that the county should standardize on the Green Mountain potato and to market it in carload lots. Through his bank he sponsored the buying of a car of certified seed potatoes. He likewise bought some high quality tobacco seed and several hundred settings of purebred eggs. These supplies were distributed at cost through the banks to the farmers.

After considerable effort a market for dairy products was assured the farmers when in 1928 a national cheese company located a factory there. A county appropriation was secured for county agent work in 1928.

In 1929 the cash crop program resulted in farmers selling $45,000 worth of milk, $150,000 worth of tobacco and fifty-five carloads of potatoes and cabbage, mostly through cooperative sales. "This was some step from the $25,000 worth of cash crops in 1926," the county agent says, "and indications are that this amount will be doubled."

Mastodon Fossils Found in Fields Near Amarillo

The fossil of a mastodon recently unearthed northwest of Amarillo on the Castle Cliffs property, which is said to have roamed the Panhandle more than 25,000 years ago, will be presented to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

The head and tusks, the only parts discovered thus far, will be moved to Canyon today, and will be placed in the room now occupied by the Baxter Collection in the P. P. H. S. Museum. It will be braced to stand in a position which will make it easy for those interested to view it.

Work already done indicates that the mastodon was at least 15 feet high and weighed more than eight tons. One of the tusks, although it has been broken off, is more than nine feet long. It probably was more than 13 feet long originally. It is ivory in a splendid state of preservation.

Floyd Studer, who has charge of the excavation, covers the fossil with shellac and gauze to preserve it as soon as it is uncovered. It is guarded day and night to keep vandals from destroying it.

Mr. Studer has uncovered 91 other sites where fossils may be secured. These will also be given to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.—The Prairie.

Call For Local War Made On Insect Pests Here

An appeal to the residence of Spur to take up the cudgels of war against the fly and other insect pests, is made by Dr. O. F. Hedenburg, nationally known authority on insecticides and director of the Rex Research Foundation, in a message to The Texas Spur and Dickens Item.

As a fellow of Mellon Institute of Industrial Research of Pittsburgh, Pa., Dr. Hedenburg has devoted sixteen years to the study of insects and the development of effective chemical compounds to combat them, especially in the Since the severe outbreak of 1912, Dr. Hedenburg states, the public has grown rather lax in keeping down the number of insects. The warm, moist weather prevailing in many sections also has favored the widespread of flies, mosquitoes and other pests. He urges the immediate inauguration of an intensive local campaign not alone for the greater physical comfort this would bring but also as a precautionary measure against hordes of insects infesting the locality next year.

Flies annually kill around 75,000 persons in the United States through infecting food and spreading deadly disease germs, Dr. Hedenburg estimates.

"Too many of us are inclined to think of flies in terms of physical discomfort and inconvenience, according to Dr. Hedenburg. There are probably no other car-

Two other Texas boys, Murray A. Winn, of San Antonio, and George Nicholas Willman, of Greenville, will also have their models judged in the scholarship competition, and receive $50 each, as winners of second awards.

The Detroit meeting, to be held August 24, 25 and 26, will be filled with entertainment and instruction. It will include visits to industrial plants, a day at the General Motors Proving Ground, a dinner, a boat trip, and a big league ball game, to mention only a few of the features.

When well sweetened, home-made, chilled beverages quickly relieve that mid-afternoon weariness which overtakes many of us in hot weather. The sugar used for sweetening is recognized by science as a source of quick energy to help relieve fatigue, while the natural fruit juices supply essential vitamins.

With development of special non smelling, non staining chemicals harmless to man and animals, but fatal to flies and other insect pests, Dr. Hedenburg thinks it inexcusable for anyone to invite trouble by tolerating insects. He discounts fly-paper and insect powders as ineffective and finds the old fashioned method of swatting the fly unsatisfactory in that it kills the fly, the germs carried by the fly remain alive and further capable of contaminating food and the human body.

"Since flies breed on filth, even a single fly is a source of danger," he states. Exhaustive research has shown that the chance of catching the last fly in a room with sticky and poisonous flypapers, powders or swatters is very small. Most effective for destroying flies in an insecticide distributed by a hand sprayer directing the spray toward the edge where walls and ceiling meet. This disturbs the flies into activity and ends them flying through the spray. Some droplets drawn into their breathing pores paralyze them rapidly and causes their death.

Blood Scent Will Round-Up Cattle

Take two or three gunny sacks and soak them in fresh beef blood and take them to where you wish to gather cattle. Get a small herd, tie the blood soaked sacks to the end of a rope and drag them among the cattle in the herd. The cattle, when they smell the blood, begin to set up an awful bellowing, calling the cattle within hearing distance to them at a run.

Scatter your men so as to hold the cattle that come up, and wait. It will not be long before all cattle in hearing will be at the herd. Do not hurry, for the ones farthest away will be the last to get in and all must take their best of shape.

turn at bellowing. You can catch more cattle in thirty minutes this way than you can gather all day in a brushy pasture, and more than you can drive in unless you have plenty of help. Recently I had 160 steers in a 1,200-acre, very bushy pasture. The first place that I put out the blood, I caught more than 140 steers in 15 minutes. One must work early in the morning when there is little wind and the cattle can hear along distance.—The Cattleman.
