Topics of Interest From Daily Press

Friday morning early, Will Fritts was electrocuted for the slaying of a farmer named Hamilton and his son. The trouble arose over evidence turned in to the grand jury by the Hamilton boy connecting Fritts with violations of the liquor law. Burial was made at Rule.

Jack Diamond, notorious New York gangster who like Archilles of old has borne a charmed life both in escaping death at the hands of enemy rivals and punishment by the long arm of the law, was "rubbed out" Friday night for good. The dapper beer baron had given a party in celebration of a "verdict of not guilty" and was sleeping off the effects in his Albany residence when he was slain. No one has been arrested for the crime.

Previous to the recess of Congress Wednesday which will last to January 4, two actions of note were made. The 'Moratorium' extending reparations payments from last July for a year and allowing this years payments to be made during the next ten, was ratified. $20,000,000 was appropriated to the almost depleted veterans fund.

Tuesday the Chinese cabinet together with all other important officers, resigned. This following the resignation the past week of the Chinese president leaves the country with any semblance of government. Meanwhile the war continues in Manchuria, the Chinese making a better showing with the recent acquisition of air planes and machine guns.

Haskell Suffers $50,000 Fire Loss

The most destructive fire in the history of Haskell's business district completely destroyed the Jno. E. Robertson Dry Goods Store, The City Market and Grocery, owned and operated by A. J. Joeslet and the Palace Confectionery, owned by P. G. Hendricks located on the east side of the Courthouse square early Wednesday morning. The fire was discovered about 12:30 o'clock and for a time it appeared that the entire block would be destroyed. Fire trucks from Munday and Stamford were rushed here to assist the local fire department. Due to the heroic effort of the firemen and the fact the buildings on each side of the burning structures were two story and the second floor windows being fitted with steel frames and shatter-proof glass the blaze was kept from spreading to the adjoining buildings.—Haskell Free Press.

Air plane passenger service was recently inaugurated between Fort Worth and Houston giving service from Amarillo to Houston for the first time.

The wheat acreage has been reduced twenty per cent in the Panhandle according to recent estimates.

A band was organized recently at Miami, Texas.

Mr. L. A. Grimes, President of the Texas Water Works Association, has announced that the Fourteenth Annual Water Works School will be held in Mineral Wells, January 18 - 21 1932 inclusive. This is a combined school for water and sewer plant operators, water superintendents and city officials of Texas towns to acquaint them with the solution of problems of operation and management of water and sewer plants. ## Tech. May Get Into Conference in 1932

Lubbock, Dec. 23. — Texas Technological College, 7 years old with an enrollment of 2,300 students, ranking third in enrollment in the big state of Texas, may get into an athletic conference in January.

Officials of the college will attend a meeting at Albuquerque, N. M., January 9 and 10, at which time it is possible that the Tech will be admitted to membership in the Border Conference, now composed of the following: University of New Mexico, University of Arizona, Tempe Teachers, Arizona State Teachers, and New Mexico A. & M. College.

The Tech has a standing appeal to be admitted to the Southwestern Conference. Last year the Texas Conference refused the school admission on the theory that within a year or more, Tech would be too strong, and an effort to organize a West Texas—Eastern New Mexico conference two years ago failed.

With a winning season this year with a sophomore team, Texas Tech has arranged the most difficult schedule for 1932 that any West Texas team ever faced. It follows:

Sept. 17. Abilene Christian College at Lubbock.

Sept. 23. Texas A. & M. College at Amarillo.

Sept. 30. Southern Methodist University at Dallas.

Oct. 15. Attempting to schedule game with Austin College, Trinity or Southwestern.

Oct. 21 University of Arizona at Lubbock.

Oct. 28. "B" team of Notre Dame at Lubbock.

Nov. 4 Louisiana Tech, either Lubbock or New Orleans.

Nov. 11. Baylor University at Lubbock.

Nov. 18. University of New Mexico at Albuquerque.

Nov. 25. Simmons University at Lubbock.

In Texas will be discussed under the title of "Co-operative Federal and State Investigations of the Underground Waters of Texas."

Also problems of mineral water production and handling of bottled waters, reports on recent developments in sewage disposal, sewage sludge digestion, and installation of sewage pipes are part of the papers scheduled for the sewer plant operator's session.

Among the prominent speakers at the meeting are Dr. J. C. Anderson, State Health Officer, Mr. E. L. Filby of Kansas City, Missouri, Mr. O. A. DeCelle of Chicago, Mr. W. J. Orchaed of New Jersey and Mr. Walter M. White of Washington. Many prominent water and sewer plant authorities from Texas also are scheduled to take part in the meeting and to present papers.

Bulldogs Tounce Exes 14 to 12 in Game Monday

The Spur High School Bulldogs began and closed their 1931 football season here Monday afternoon with a victory over the all-star town team of 14 to 12, leaving them with a 1000 per cent standing and the record of being an undefeated team for the year.

The game was a hard fought one on a muddy field and aerial offensive was used largely by both sides. A touchdown in the last few minutes of play gave the victory to the Bulldogs.

A large crowd attended and proceeds which were $131.21 will be used in the county Christmas Charity fund.

Watchnight Service at Nazarene Church

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to be out for the service and watch the old year out and the new one in.

The Devils River News, Sonora, celebrated its forty-first anniversary recently.

A Christmas Present To The Texas Spur

The Texas Spur once was the recipient of a real Christmas present Wednesday morning. Buster Robinson, a big hearted farmer of the Highway community and a staunch supporter of this publication, dropped into our sanctum sanctorum struggling with a fat young turkey gobbler and said, "Merry Christmas." Needless to say we can't think of a more appropriate and appreciated gift.

It was beginning to look like the turkey would have to be left off or substituted on our X-mas menu this year, but thanks to the Robinson family, we will have a real, old time Yuletide feast with all the trimmin's.

Mr. Robinson states that this is going to be a Big Christmas out his way this year. He has a prize 30-pound gobbler that he has been saving for a reunion feast. Mildred Robinson will be here from Ft. Worth and relatives and friends from Stamford will also be here for the day.

State Fire Insurance Commissioner Issues Warning of Christmas Fires

J. W. DeWeese, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, issued a warning today to the people of Texas against fires caused by Carelessness during the Christmas Holidays.

Mr. DeWeese said that past records reveal that ninety percent of the fires that have occurred during Christmas Holidays was due to Carelessness on the part of the people by their failure to keep down the many common fire hazards that are so prevalent in the average home and place of business.

The following rules, Mr. DeWeese said, should be adhered to during the Christmas Holidays to prevent fires of Careless origin.

Rule 1. It is unsafe to put highly inflammable materials on the Christmas tree; however, if such materials are to be used, every precaution should be taken to prevent fires in any form to come into close contact with the tree, and especially should every precaution be taken to prevent unsafe wiring in and about the tree.

Rule 2. Under no condition should a penny or wire be used to replace a burnt out fuse plug. The fuse is the Safety Valve for protection against overloading, and to use a penny or wire to replace a fuse defeats the purpose of the fuse as a Safety protection.

Rule 3. Lighted candles should never be placed on the Christmas tree.

Rule 4. Lighted candles should not be placed in the window near curtains or other inflammable materials.

Rule 5. All wrapping paper, boxes and other rubbish, should be removed from the house immediately when a package has been opened.

Rule 6. Small children should not be permitted to play with matches, for it is thru this medium that many unhappy fires have occurred.

Rule 7. Small children should never be permitted to handle fireworks.

Rule 8. Under no condition should two people engage in a roman candle fight, for to do so is likely to result in serious bodily injury to one of the two. Past records reveal that many people have been seriously burned, or received an eye injury. Neither should one person throw a fire-cracker at another person, for such innocent pleasure may result in serious injury.

Rule 9. Parents are warned not to leave small children at home to take care of themselves, for there are too many dangerous fire hazards in the household, and small children are not aware to such dangers. The records reveal that such practice as this on the part of parents has resulted in the death of small children not capable of taking care of themselves.

Rule 10. Last, but not LEAST: All people are urged to THINK in terms of SAFETY before doing any act during the Christmas Holidays, and if this precaution is practiced, we are sure to have few fires of Careless origin and loss casualties than ever before.

Three Held For Shop-Lifting; 1 on Liquor Count

A considerable furor of excitement was caused among the crowds of Christmas shoppers here Tuesday afternoon when two lads from the north end of the county were "picked up" for shop-lifting. The articles involved, which were taken from Speer's Variety Store, were of negligible value, and the youths claim to have purchased them. They, however, are being retained at the county bastille pending further evidence and developments.

Again Wednesday afternoon a youth from Kalgary community was arrested for the same offense at the same store.

Young fellows who are tempted to help Old Santa out by "picking up things" from display counters would do well to let that old Gentleman take care of the gift problem personally.

"Legger Caught" One of the colored gentlemen of the flat was caught with the goods this week, according to Sheriff Arthur, and is now one of the guests of the county awaiting trial.

Officers state that the Negro was in the act of making a delivery when apprehended.

Plan Crops to Fit Livestock Needs

College Station, Dec.—Success in raising livestock depends a lot on planning cropping systems to give necessary feed and pasture of the right kinds in the right amounts, declare livestock specialists of the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College and the United States Department of Agriculture. In Circular 89 "Planning Texas Farming—1932" the feed requirements for various classes of livestock are listed as a guide to intelligent planning of crop acres. Attention is also called to farm demonstrations found in most parts of the State for examples of good livestock management.

For each horse or mule 50 bushels of corn or like grain is needed, and two tons of hay and one acre of improved pasture. For each dairy cow 25 bushels of grain, 2 tons of hay and 2 acres of improved pasture are required, and for each head of beef cattle 10 bushels of grain if creep fed otherwise 30 bushels and one ton of hay, or 3 acres of improved pasture. A hog needs 14 bushels of corn or like grain, and 1-8 acre of improved pasture. Every laying hen should be allowed one bushel of corn or similar grains, and each turkey raised should be allotted 1½ bushels of corn or other grain.

It is also pointed out that improved pastures are specified in every instance because they are the cheapest suppliers of juicy feed, and take half or less as many acres as ordinary native Bermuda or mesquite pastures to support a given number of livestock. Pasture demonstrations reported throughout Texas by county agents show that the sowing of clovers and improved grasses in native pastures more than doubles carrying capacity.

Attention is also called to the importance of providing as much legume hay as possible in the ration. Alfalfa or soy bean, or cowpea, or clover hay contains many times as much costly protein as Johnson grass or sorghum or prairie hay, and much more minerals. The raising and feeding of legume hay has been found a good way to cut costs and increase profits.

Christmas Night
155 Years Ago

When George Washington marched his 2400 cold, hungry and tired "ragged continentals" through the ice and snow of Christmas night, 1776, crossed the Delaware River with them in a collection of small boats and barges, then in a whirlwind attack that would not be denied, killed or captured the entire British garrison at Trenton, he headed an exploit which alone would have been sufficient to establish him as a military leader of the first rank.

The 155th anniversary, we are informed by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, of the battle of Trenton, coming on the eve of a nation wide celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of Washington's birth, turns the thoughts of all Americans toward that event, which some have called the turning point of the Revolution.

The hopes and spirits of Washington's soldiers had been considerably crushed during the autumn and early winter of 1776. The continental troops had enlisted for a short time only, and the period of service for most of them would expire with the end of the year. Under the unpromising conditions then prevailing Washington knew that few of the men would re-enlist. That meant the loss of his experienced and most valued troops.

What made the situation even worse was the fact that the enthusiasm of the entire country was waning, and with the ebb of possibility of obtaining new recruits was correspondingly lessened.

Even General Howe in his comfortable winterquarters in New York City believed that the Americans were incapable of further opposition and settled down to enjoy himself as much as possible while the Revolution was frozen and starved out by the winter.

General Washington saw the need of a decisive stroke which would restore the confidence of the troops and the entire country. He knew that England could never beat the patriots who were determined to be free, so he went about task of winning a victory which would renew the determination with which the war was first undertaken.

The best chance lay at Trenton which was garrisoned by Hessian mercenaries under the command of Colonel Rahl. Having no idea that the foe across the Delaware River would want to fight during the festive Christmas season, the Germans forgot the war and celebrated. Rahl so completely underestimated the mettle of his adversary that he refused even to erect fortifications of any sort. On the other hand, Washington took the correct measure of Rahl when he decided to attack Trenton. He caught the Hessians unawares in the midst of their revelries. The American victory was a certainty and it took only a few minutes of actual fighting to convince the enemy of this fact.

The heroism of Washington's men has been memorialized in countless tributes and every American is familiar with the details of that march in the December blizzard and the dangerous crossing of the ice filled Delaware. Any eulogy must fall short of its intent, yet nothing can be added to the record made that Christmas night by Washington and his ragged army.

GIVES NATIONAL ECONOMIC PLAN

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
Former President American Bankers Association.

WE hear much of future economic planning to save the nation from a repetition of depression and promote more stable business activity. I know no better plan to suggest to insure future better times than that every wage earner, every family and every business throughout the country lay down as soon as they are able a program of proper savings as the foundation of their financial policy.

I know of no better plan than this to build for the nation as a whole a stronger economic situation,—that is, through a common structure of individual working, earning and saving. And I know of no better plan to revive activity in a depression than to spend a proper volume of past savings to keep the momentum of business going. But unless there are savings in prosperity there cannot be spending during depression.

Those who practiced this plan during the past period of prosperity have a security and a protection against present adversity that could be provided in no other way. Those who did not are the ones who are now most dependent upon others. If there had been more preaching of this doctrine when it was more feasible to put it into effect than it is now, there would be less depression and less financial insecurity.

However, while there should have been more emphasis on savings during prosperity, a measure of the emphasis today might properly be the other way,—at least to the extent that those who can safely do so may well increase their spending instead of overdoing their saving. While many have seen their earnings fail, there are millions who have not suffered so seriously in respect to the real purchasing power of their incomes. If we listened to all the scare stories of the day, one might get the impression that everybody was out of a job and nobody's business was earning anything. Many of our people who are able to continue a normal program of prudent buying are curtailing their expenditures beyond reason.

A Business Stimulus
The sum total of this unreasonable curtailment of spending is an economic influence contributing to the stagnation of trade. By the opposite token, I believe the resumption of normal spending on the part of those who are able to do so would be an important tonic toward the stimulation of trade. I do not mean by this that we should have indiscriminate spending merely for the sake of spending, but the very motive power of our economic life is the interchange of goods, and unless we have that we cannot have prosperity.

I strongly believe that we are at that point in the depression stage of the business cycle that any sound stimulating influence will start a real movement in the direction of a return toward prosperity. So much of the weakness of the old state of affairs has been liquidated, so many maladjustments corrected and such large volumes of our consumers' goods have been used up or worn out that the pressure of necessities purchases must sooner or later be felt. When that time definitely comes we may consider it the first impulse of a new era of normal business.

When Government Aids Agriculture

Demand for relief, agricultural or otherwise, comes naturally from those who feel most keenly the impact of economic pressure. Those most affected fly quickly to government for aid. But too frequently policies set in operation by government simply postpone inevitable adjustments. The basic laws of supply and demand have never permanently and successfully been set aside. So in general government intervention that artificially manipulates prices or even maintains when the prevailing economic condition obviously shows that restraints are inevitable are expedients that yield only temporary relief rather than permanent cure. Plasters may relieve pain at the moment but they rarely get to the seat of the real trouble.—H. Russell.

Army worms threatened the cotton crop of Marshall County, Tennessee. Information concerning the pest was made available by the United States Department of Agriculture, and bankers promptly took steps to organize against the common enemy. Mass meetings in their communities where complete facts and recommendations for eradication could be put before the great number of people possible. This action saved the destruction of the cotton fields of crops.

THE MACHINE AGE SPOILS A PROPHECY

By H. L. RUSSELL
Advisory Council, Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association

A NOTED British scientist forecast thirty years ago that by 1931 all available wheat land in the world would be under cultivation, and if the yields per acre could not be increased beyond that which then prevailed there would be a world shortage. The average yield then was 12.7 bushels per acre. During the past seven years, the world over, it has been 14.1. On the 320,000,000 acres in cultivation this increase would amount to almost a half billion bushels more production than the world standards of thirty years ago. In place of dire distress due to shortage, we have had distress due to surplus.

Wheat farmers have shown no great inclination to curtail materially their output; perhaps a 10% decline compared with 70% reduction in steel. This unwillingness, or perhaps inability, to adjust production to current needs makes the problem all the harder to solve.

Not only are we now growing more wheat per unit of land, but acreage has been very greatly extended. In twenty years Canada has increased acreage 250%, Australia almost as much. Another significant fact is the materially lessened use of wheat. A much more diversified diet has developed. More vegetables and fruits are used than formerly. The reduction of 1.2 bushels consumed per person per annum since the last generation necessitates nearly 150,000,000 bushels less wheat than was formerly required.

Machines Increase Supply
The factor that has exerted the most potent influence in this rising world flood of grain has been the rapid development of the machine. The old days of the cradle required from thirty to forty hours of hand labor to harvest an acre of grain. Then came the binder, which reduced the process to four or five hours per acre. Now the combine does the work in forty-five minutes per acre.

Where it used to cost ten cents a bushel merely to thresh the grain, the modern combine cuts and threshes at a cost ranging from 3 to 5 cents a bushel. With this reduced cost of production, the possibility of acreage expansion is tremendous. Land heretofore regarded as worthless except for grazing has recently come into competition with the older wheat belts.

The Russian Effort
Within the past two or three years another disturbing element has come into the picture. Soviet Russia is attempting a comeback fraught with possibility that cannot yet be fully evaluated. Russia is eagerly utilizing the very latest of scientific knowledge to enlarge her agricultural possibilities. With feverish anxiety she is literally pouring millions into the expansion of her university research institutes, experimental stations and breeding farms. Her scientists are combing the earth for new crops and new methods. No country in Europe is manifesting more interest and activity in laying hold of the best science, wherever it may be found. It is of more than passing interest that the wheat yields reported on the huge trust farm known as the "Giant" ran last year as much as 18 bushels to the acre. On this single farm the crop harvested is reported to have been 3,865,000 bushels. A single farm of 427,000 acres under government control and mechanized as fast as human energy can be applied is a new factor in the world's picture.

There can be but little doubt that the Russian situation may yet assume quite a different attitude from what obtained even in pre-war days.

Bankers Hold Farm Conference
A "feeders' conference" was held in a state bank at Presho, South Dakota, attended by fifty farmers. The conference stressed the feeding of low price wheat and barley, and marketing it through livestock. Later, booklets on the feeding of wheat were distributed among the farmers, and a feeders column was carried in the local paper each week.

"We have had more success with the conference and with the feeders column in the local paper, than with any other undertaking we have tried," the bankers said. "As a result there is about three times as much livestock being fed out in our territory than ever before. We plan to hold other similar conferences the coming year."

Hoover Kin Freed On Liquor Charge

Chorines Revive "Bobbing for Sweets" Game

A bevy of beauties from "Everybody's Welcome," a current Broadway production, show how it's done. (At right) Ann Pennington who revived the "bobbing" past-time.

BROADWAY, some folks seem to think is the last place in the world to look for old fashioned ideas or customs. Maybe so, but believe it or not, those "pretty patooties" as the columnists say, who dance behind the footlights, have gone back to grandmother's diary for some bright new ideas on how to pass the time between acts and after. For instance, they take a long piece of string and fasten one end to the overhead plumbing, just like grandmother used to fasten package cord to the barn rafters. Then a bent piece of wire is hooked through a chocolate and tied to the string. From that point on, it's speed that counts. "The secret behind getting more than your share," says Ann Pennington, who started the fad, "is to avoid the caramels. They slow you up. It's a great game and besides, it's one way of handing the girls an adequate ration of sweets."
