BEDROOM IMPROVEMENT

(By Mrs. I. E. Abernathy, Soldier Mound Club)

In February I decided to improve my bedroom. It did not need repairing and I had a good comfortable bed, a dressing table, and cedar chest in it. I did not have a closet for my clothes so that was the thing most needed. It seemed that luck was with me. A friend gave me enough lumber for the closets and my son-in-law told me he would build it for me. The paperhanger had only one roll of paper left that was the design of paper in my bedroom so he gave me that. With all the materials on hand the work soon began.

I now have a closet that is 9 feet high, 7 feet long and 2 ft. wide. It has five shelves in one end for folded clothes and linens. There is a rod for hanging clothes, and a nice large space above for quilts. The closet has two doors one for the quilt closet and one for the clothes. The doors were my only expense and they were $2.40. We canvased and papered the closet as the walls of the room were papered. The inside of the closet was papered too to make it light, to keep down moths and to make it easier to find things.

Now a bedroom is not complete without a place for bowl and pitcher in the absence of a bathroom. My daughter had a tea wagon that she had discarded. I took that and with the aid of some ivory paint I have a very nice wash stand.

I put new lavender curtains at the windows and use a lavender spread on the bed. The woodwork was given a new coat of ivory paint. You have no idea how much nicer my room looks. It is so much easier to keep the room straight and to keep my clothes neat since I have a place so handy in which to put them.

MY IMPROVED BEDROOM

(By Mrs. Alton Lawson, Afton Club)

My bedroom was a very shabby looking room when I became a bedroom demonstrator for my club. The paper was building paper and was dark and dirty and torn. The floors were rough and splintered from much scouring. The woodwork was dirty and had never been painted or stained. The room had a closet across one corner but the outside walls caught plenty of sand and dust. The closet did not extend to the ceiling and of course the space above was littered with papers and dust and was unattractive.

When I began to improve the room I moved the closet and re-

Former Senator Joe Burkett Visits in Spur Tuesday

Joe Burkett, a former State Senator from West Texas, Eastland, Abilene, Big Spring district is now a candidate for Congress-At-Large, place number 3, and was in Spur, Tuesday of this week in the interest of his candidacy. While here he called on The Texas Spur for a few minutes visit. Senator Burkett was once a newspaper editor, as well as printer's "devil" and feels at home around a newspaper office.

Mr. Burkett was not very optimistic about the immediate improvement of the financial situation, as he believes nothing of consequence can or will accomplish much until congress makes provision for the immediate inflation of our currency.

"Money is our financial life-blood, and, of course, business cannot flourish without a sufficient amount of circulating medium," he said. "There is not more than $10 per capita now in actual circulation, whereas, in 1929 when this panic started there was around $70 per capita in circulation. Money has gradually been withdrawn from circulation making it extremely scarce and outrageously high, while at the same time our commodity prices have gradually fallen until commodities are ruinously low, and means bankruptcy for the producer. It is absolutely impossible to pay high debts with cheap commodities. In 1929 and 1930 cotton was ranging 12 to 14 cents per pound, and the farmer netted about $40 per bale—now he nets about $10 per bale—therefore, it will require four times as much cotton to pay his debts as formerly. Other things are in proportion. We should have at least four billion dollars new money in circulation and the panic would be over in thirty days. I favor cheap money and high labor and high commodities to bring prosperity," Senator Burkett concluded.

County Executive Committee to Meet a Dickens Monday

The Democratic Executive Committee of Dickens County will meet Monday at 9:00 a. m. at the court house at Dickens. Chairman Robt. Nickels urges a full attendance since at this meeting a secretary for the organization will be elected.

Other business to be transacted will be the assessment of candidates for a place on the Primary ballot.

arranged it to give more room in it. I made shelves in one end using apple boxes for the shelves. I find I can keep folded clothes, linens, hats and shoes in much better condition since I have a place for them. I made a cretonne curtain for the space above the closet and keep my quilts there.

Then the room was papered with an inexpensive, but pretty bedroom paper. That made a wonderful change in the appearance of the room.

I bought a linoleum square and three small rugs for the floor. I stained the floor around the edges of the rug. My bed and furniture were in good condition so that meant no more expense. The total cost of improvements was $12.51. To some that may seem quite a bit, to others very little. However, I feel that I am well repaid for my work and expense for I now have an attractive and comfortable room and we enjoy using it.

Wheat Harvest Getting Under Way this Section

The large acreage of wheat in Spur section is in the last stages of maturity and preparations for the harvest are rapidly getting underway.

Several crews are ready to begin work this weekend, and buyers are here to take care of the grain. The market at present is around 30c per bushel.

Pioneer Woman of Dickens County Writes of Journey Here in 1890

In this issue of the Texas Spur is an account in verse form, written by Mrs. Lou Turner, a pioneer woman of Dickens County and West Texas, recounting the adventures of her trip here in 1890 and early day life of this section.

The verse is written in the simple language and colloquialisms of the southwest and so ably does it depict the modes of that early day that it might easily be the story of many another pioneer woman who with her family went through the trial and hardships of opening up the West. Turn to page two.

Faulkner was arrested near Swenson by Deputy Sheriff Black and Constable Jno. A. Bell who placed him in the jail at Dickens. He was removed, however, by Sheriff Arthur as a precaution against possible violence. No examining trial has been held.

Spur Citizens Send Maternal Encouragement To Bonus Army

The citizens and business men of this city last Friday expressed their encouragement to the veteran army in Washington in a very material manner. $32.60 was wired by J. B. Morrow and Pat Murphy to Rep. Wright Patman, who is sponsoring the cause of the veterans; to be used for accommodating the "guests" of the Capitol city.

Much consternation has been aroused in Washington over the presence of the twenty thousand or more unemployed veterans who have gathered there. The orderly manner in which they have conducted their campaign and presented their cause, however, makes of them nothing more vicious nor communistic than a group of lobbyists, who lacking money and highly paid, smooth tongued representatives, are expressing themselves in numbers.

Congress Approves Immediate Paym't of Soldier's Bonus

The House of Representatives voted 209 to 176 Wednesday to make immediate payment of the World War Veteran's adjusted compensation certificates. The measure called for the issuance of $2,400,000,000 new currency to take care of the payment.

We believe as do millions of others that the compensation due the veterans is a just debt that should be paid; and paid before the compounded interest on the part they have been allowed to borrow eats up the balance due them.

The passing of this bill by the Lower House is a "redeeming" feature and one of the few beneficial actions taken during this session; and we hope that they will, as has been reported, remain in session until this matter is settled and if possible override the veto that has been promised by Mr. Hoover. The method of making the payment, that is the issuing of new currency, will in no way increase taxes. It will on the other hand inflate currency and place a great deal more of it into circulation. This will be of great benefit to the masses of the American people and a detriment to no one except possibly hoarders, capitalists, and financiers.

The measure was sent immediately to the Senate.

SUMMER SWALLOWS

By
 Jane Rogers

FOR those who just can't do without their hot coffee in the winter, iced coffee is a welcome and invigorating beverage in hot weather.
 It is valuable as a food auxiliary because of its tonic effect upon the nerves, which often do not get along with the heat. Iced coffee should always be freshly made. If kept before serving, place it in a covered jug, preferably of glass, in the refrigerator to chill.
Iced Coffee Shake
 Brew the coffee slightly over normal strength and if possible, chill before serving, keeping it in an air-tight container. Add one-fourth to one-half cup of cream to one quart of coffee. Shake until frothy, then pour into iced glasses.
 Add powdered sugar as desired.

The Need for Leadership Tolerant and Dynamic

Feeling of Security Demanded Says Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago Banker

Looks To Business For Lead

Speaking before the International Chamber of Commerce at Washington, Melvin A. Traylor, President of the First National Bank of Chicago, said in part:

Relief from world distress, the cure for economic ills, does not lie in the domain of political action. Wherever legislative programs have been undertaken for the cure of economic ills, state socialism with failure immeasurably worse has been the result.

Governments cannot effectively or efficiently suspend the operation of economic laws, as witness failure after failure in the field of price regulation, and most recently the almost complete breakdown of economic conditions in Australia and New Zealand where government ownership and operation have had their most universal application and where the bonny hand of bankruptcy is at the throat of national life. We must not travel that path.

Government cooperation is imperative; but leadership must come from business.

Melvin Traylor

It is an encouraging sign, in the eyes of industry in particular, that management is more and more adding social welfare to its management problems. A final and proper adjustment of economic and social conditions cannot be attained without the closest cooperation between all factors, including the government.

Hopes for Stability

I believe, however, that economic stability and order can be achieved, and to that end I urge leadership in every field to dedicate its untiring, unprejudiced, and unselfish effort. The imperative need of the world is a sense of security, founded upon economic stability.

For the worker, economic stability means security against unemployment, loss of income, and fear of the future.

For capital, it means security of investment, the certainty of reasonable return, and courage for new venture.

For government, it means security against revolution, disorder and defeat.

For the world, it holds the only hope of enduring peace, the avoidance of war, and the preservation of civilization.

These are the problems; these are the issues which confront world leadership. They constitute the most vital equation in economic crises and in social welfare.

The need is for leadership, sympathetic in its understanding, tolerant in its viewpoint, and dynamic in its courage. This is the challenge. Let us answer with vision, faith, and hard work.

"MY PRAYER"

Lord, Thy fatherly love guidest me
Christ, Thy Calvary hast taught me
That pain or death amount to naught
If for Thy heavenly grace twas sought.

Lord, Thou knowest my every prayer
Knowest how I strive, how I care
Help me as I go on the way
Help me see Thy beautiful way.

Christ look down, have compassion on me
My intercessor, look down and see

A sinner's soul, bared knees bent in prayer.

I pause in my lament, I know You are there.

Of earthly clay I am made
To turn from worldly things I am afraid
But Thou, oh Lord, who hears my prayer,
Knowest how I strive, and how I care.

Record Race Victor Thanks Firestone

Upper left, Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., referee of the race, and Edsel Ford, pacemaker on the first lap. Lower, Fred Frame, the winner, and Jerry Heuck, riding mechanic, in the car they drove to victory.

Men, automobiles and tires set amazing new records of speed and endurance in this year's 500-mile international race on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Giving a splendid exhibition of cool and steady driving, Fred Frame, veteran of many races, won the event in record-breaking time. With an admiring throng milling around him after his sensational victory, one of the first things Frame did was to send the following telegram to Harvey S. Firestone, pioneer tire manufacturer:

"I want to congratulate you and thank you on the wonderful performance of Firestone tires which helped me win the Indianapolis 500-mile race today without tire trouble, setting a new record of more than 104 miles an hour for the 500 miles."

The race throughout was a remarkable Firestone triumph. Every car to finish was equipped with Firestone Tires. The first four broke the former record of 101.13 miles an hour made by Peter De Paolo in 1925. In all the history of the famous motor race there has never been a more severe test of tires and never a finer demonstration of their qualities than was furnished this year. It was the thirteenth consecutive victory for Firestone.

SUMMER SWALLOWS

By Jane Rogers

THE clink of ice in a tall glass filled with a frosty fruit beverage is one of the most inviting of all possible sounds on a hot summer afternoon. There is every reason why we should always be ready to accept the invitation. Refreshing coolness aside, the fruit juices are splendid suppliers of needed vitamins, while the sugar is nature's quickest acting source of the energy needed to carry us through to the end of the day.

Grape Juice Nectar
Mix together one cup orange juice, one cup lemon juice, one quart grape juice, one pint pineapple juice. Add two cups of sugar and stir thoroughly. Add one bottle maraschino cherries, chopped. A few minutes before serving pour in two quarts charged water and add sufficient ice to chill.

Gastronomic Map

More than any other country in the world, France can be very pleasantly described not only by its scenery and its historic locations, but by the food and drink which its chefs and cellarmen are able to put before the tourist. A gastronomic map of France could be drawn showing where in Alsace it was possible to get the best pate de foie gras, where in La Rochelle the finest snail stew could be found, where in Normandy the best cider and Camembert, where in Brittany the tastiest fish products, where in Toulaine the finest fruit and nuts, and, of course, a prominent place for Marseilles with its unforgettable Bouillabaisse and for Provence with its famous truffles, with wines from Burgundy and Bordeaux.

Little Miss Dorothy Harrington returned to her home at Lovington, N. M., after an extended visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Harrington.

Tobacco in Old England

For fifty years after tobacco began to be used in England, all classes smoked, from the peers to the peasants. Presently the medical profession abandoned it for use in combating sickness, but by that time smoking had become fashionable. Sir Walter Raleigh's true place in tobacco history is that long before his death, in 1618, he taught the world to smoke for pleasure.

However, tobacco had enemies from the very beginning. King James I taking it upon himself to write the "Counterblaste to Tobacco," and Dekkar, the dramatist, referred to it as "that beggarly monarch of Indians, and setter up of rotten-lunged chimney sweepers."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
