

P. H. Miller, Pioneer Citizen, Buried Friday

Spur mourned Friday for one of its best loved citizens, P. H. Miller, who passed away Thursday afternoon at 3:05. Death came not unexpected to another of the city's builders after he had been ill since Tuesday, following a stroke of heart failure.

Services for Mr. Miller were held at the First Baptist Church where he had served as a charter member and one of its deacons since 1909 when the church was established. Dr. M. F. Ewton, present pastor, will be assisted by Rev. G. W. Parks of Roscoe, Rev. A. P. Stokes of Afton, Rev. J. V. Bilberry and Rev. W. B. Bennet of Spur. The church was filled with relatives and friends at the service. They came to pay their last respects to one who had befriended many in the 26 years he has lived in Spur. The services were held at 3:00 in the afternoon, interment following in Spur cemetery in charge of Bill Kinney. The Masonic Order of Knights Templar conducted a service at the cemetery.

Dr. J. D. Standifer, President of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, delivered a short address in eulogy of his old friend, Mr. Miller, following the short talks of the ministers.

Mr. Miller was born Sept. 18, 1859 at Sugar Valley, Georgia. He came to Texas in 1883. For a number of years he lived at Ft. Worth where he was in 1909 when the Fort Worth and Denver began construction of the Wichita Valley rail road from Stamford to Spur. Seeing the opportunities in the new western country that was beginning a period of development that is still going on today, Mr. Miller came farther west and followed this branch line railroad establishing lumber yards in towns along its line to the end at Spur with the opening of each town, Swenson, Peacock, Jayton, Girard and Spur, operating under the name of P. H. Miller Lumber Co. He aided in the development of these towns making his home at Spur.

When the Baptist Church at Spur was organized in the winter of 1909 Mr. Miller was one of its charter

Crippled Children Can Receive Aid

The State and Federal Government through the Crippled Children's Bureau of the State Dept. of Education are treating many of our crippled children. An application may be filed for any crippled child of sound mind under the age of 21. Within three or four weeks after this application is received in Austin, treatment will begin.

Diagnosis is made by the best doctors in the state. In some instances no operation is necessary to correct the serious defects. In others the operation is so simple that it amounts to almost nothing.

If we fail to have something done for our crippled children now that the money is available, we certainly will be sleeping on our rights. Please have the parents of any crippled child you know come in and investigate the proposition. Don't delay because when the money is gone there will not be much that can be done.

Madge D. Twaddell,
Co. School Supt.

WEATHER

The following is a summary of the weather for the past week as compiled by the Spur Experiment Station:

Tuesday, May 26, High 75, low 63, cloudy, .07 inches rainfall.
Wednesday, May 27, high 75, low 63, cloudy, .07 in. rainfall.

Poppy Day Sales Show Big Increase

Mrs. D. A. Wilson, chairman of the Poppy Sales Committee of the Legion Auxiliary, reports $54.17 received for poppies last week end as part of the annual Memorial Day program. This was a decided increase over previous years.

W. N. Lansdown of Jayton, took 200 of the poppies to Jayton and received $20.17 compared to a sale of about 50 poppies at Jayton in previous years.

Soft Ball League Features Extra- Inning Games

The games of the past week have been featured by the fact that two of them had to go extra innings before the outcome could be decided.

Sunday the Spur Creamery went to Girard and lost a 11-12 decision in 14 innings of thrill packed ball. This was the second straight defeat suffered by the Creamery boys.

Jayton was in Dickens Sunday also, Dickens winning by a score of 8 to 5.

Monday the best game of the season was enjoyed between the Kinney team and the Jayton team in a game played at Jayton. The score was 1 to 0 in favor of Jayton. The interesting part of the contest was however that it went twelve innings before the score was made and then there were two outs when that happened.

Dickens came to Spur Monday and won another game handing the Bryant Link Co. team a 15 to 8 defeat.

The games of Wednesday found Girard playing Kinney at Spur.

Friday Dickens goes to Girard. Friday night also marks the opening of night play in Spur. The Spur Creamery plays Bryant-Link Co. beginning at 8:00 o'clock p. m. at the Charles A. Jones Memorial Stadium. There will be an admission charge of 10 cents to care for the lights. A large per cent of the proceeds will also be turned over to the high school Athletic Association.

League Standing

Team	W	L	Pct.
Dickens	9	2	.811
Jayton	7	4	.631
Girard	7	4	.631
Spur Creamery	5	6	.451

Tickets for Centennial School Chorus Here

Tickets have been received for the singers going from Dickens County to sing in the 50,000 school chorus at Dallas. Any school child from the 5th to the 11th grade (inclusive) who knows the words of the Centennial songs, may sing in this chorus and if able to attend may call for one of these tickets at the county superintendent's office, or see Mr. O. C. Thomas of Spur, Mr. W. O. Cherry of McAdoo, Mr. O. C. South of Afton, or Mr. A. C. Sharp of Dickens. Any sponsor, i. e. teacher or bus driver taking groups of school children, is also entitled to a ticket. This admits one individual to the Centennial grounds on June 13, the day of the Centennial chorus.

The singing will begin at 10 in the morning and will be broadcast internationally. It is the biggest thing of the kind Texas has ever attempted. It will be well worth attending. A child can take pride in having participated in it.

BOY SCOUTS TO GO TO CAMP POST

Nine Boy Scouts of Troop 35 of Spur will attend Camp Post. The Camp will open June 6 and continue seven days. This camp is located at Two Draw Lake near Post.

To help defray expenses the Boy Scouts are selling Centennial tickets and doing all kinds of odd jobs.

The Scouts who are planning to go from Spur to Camp Post are: Bill Lane, Raymond Ince, Fike Godfrey, G. J. Lane, V. C. Smart, Charles Christensen, Ray Taylor, Jeff Smart and Loyd Barber. They will leave Sunday.—Fike Godfrey, Scribe.

One Killed, One Injured by Light- ning Friday Noon

Olan (Bill) Browning was instantly killed and his brother Sam Browning, was critically injured Friday at noon when they were struck by lightning about 50 yards from their home on Lower Red Mud. The two men were returning from across their farm when a cloud came up and it is supposed that they were driving some little chicks to shelter when the lightning struck.

A call was sent to Spur immediately by relatives and S. Butler, Olda Harrington, Bill Putman, Chas. Kearney and Dr. John T. Wylie went to the Red Mud home. The men were brought to Spur and Sam Browning was placed in the Spur Hospital where his condition was serious for a time. He improved rapidly however and was released from the hospital Wednesday. Bill Browning was prepared by Campbell Undertakers for burial and the body removed to the home of Chas. Kearney for services Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in charge of Dr. M. F. Ewton, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Interment followed in the Spur cemetery in charge of Webber Williams.

The party arrived in Spur about 8:00 p. m. being delayed by heavy rains and muddy roads.

Mr. Browning is survived by his wife, father, Ethell Browning, and four brothers. Mrs. Browning is a sister of Chas. Kearney.

Harwick Buys Theatres at Olney

Charley Harwick, who has been operating the Palace and Ritz Theatres since April 1st, left Sunday for Olney, Texas, where he will be in charge of the Palace and Princess Theatres at Olney, and the remodeling and improvement work contemplated for the theatres there.

Charley Harwick and R. E. Griffith Theatres Inc., of Dallas are joint owners of the Spur and Olney Theatres, and Mr. Harwick will be in charge of the operation of the theatres of both towns. Mr. Harwick states that he will continue to make his home in Spur, and expects to spend a greater part of his time here. During his absence from Spur Stanley Gartside, who moved to Spur last week, will be in charge of the Spur Theatres.

Extensive remodeling and improvements of the Olney theatres have been started. The Palace Theatre will be made into one of the finest theatres in West Texas. Improvements of the Spur theatres are also contemplated for the near future, and new rest rooms will be installed for both the ladies and the men. The sound and projection equipment will be improved and other additions will be made and Spur, too, will have one of the finest small town theatres in the Southwest.

Hardwick Bros. and the R. E. Griffith Theatres Inc., are showmen of long experience and it is their policy to give their patrons the finest there is in the entertainment world.

Around The Court House

Pearl Brooks was appointed the guardian of Fay Brooks in Probate Court by Judge Jim Cloud May 20.

Preliminary hearing for R. C. Britton, alleged to have stolen a car from G. E. Kissinger at Spur May 2, was held in Judge G. B. Jopling's Court at Spur Monday. Bond was set at $2,000 and Britton was still in jail Tuesday.

A will relating to the Keller estate was not accepted in Judge Jim Cloud's Court Wednesday. The filers of the will notified the court that an appeal would be asked to District Court.

Spencer Campbell, of Texas Tech, spent the week end visiting home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Wade and John Fowler of Jayton were in Spur Monday night attending the show,

City Occupies New Offices

The City of Spur moved last week to their new office building on the corner of Burlington Avenue and Harris Street. The building which had been occupied by the receiver of the City National Bank, was completely redecorated, no change being made in location of fixtures.

The offices maintained for the City Engineer in the Campbell building were also moved to the new quarters.

The office personnel is still trying to adjust themselves but promise to have everything to their liking in a few days. They were hampered in arranging the office after moving but they have had very little difficulty in receiving payment for the monthly water and light accounts.

Three Arrested on Hijacking Charge

Sheriff Johnnie Koonsman and Hubert Taylor returned Sunday night from New Mexico where Taylor identified two men and a woman as the ones who hijacked him and took his car on Highway 18 north of Glenn last Thursday.

The trio had left Dickens county on the west going by Lubbock and Clovis. At Clovis they robbed a filling station attendant and word was sent on ahead to officers who laid a trap for them. The trio ran thru the trap east of Fort Sumner but in trying to make a short curve driving at an estimated speed of 80 miles an hour overturned and wrecked Taylor's car. Officers then picked the trio up and held them for Federal officers, who will hold them in court before returning them to Dickens for trial.

Taylor was enroute to White Flat when he stopped to give aid to a parked car. He was tied up and left with the old car the hijackers taking his car. The car left behind was stolen in Oklahoma according to information furnished the sheriff.

Sewing Room Holds Exhibit Last Week

The WPA Sewing Room ladies conducted an exhibit Thursday, Friday and Saturday of their work in the Perry building. Some excellent needle work was exhibited, ladies dresses, children's dresses, men's overalls, etc.

Mrs. Cecil Fox is director of the project. It is thought that this work will be continued another year. All the products of the project are turned over to the commodity clerk for distribution to the needy families.

Baptist Associational Sunday School

The Dickens County Baptist Sunday School Association will meet in the First Baptist Church, Spur, June 14, for the regular meeting.

The following program will be given:

3:00 p. m. Song and Praise.
3:15 The Field for Texas Baptists
3:25 We Must Win Them or Lose Them—Miss Joyce Dobkins, Duncan Flat.
3:35 Striving to Win the Lost—Mrs. Ellis Draper, Dry Lake.
3:45 The Place of Prayer in Sunday School Evangelism—Mr. L. G. Crabtree, Croton.
3:55 Conferences by Departments led by Department Superintendents.
4:25 Business and adjourn.

Every Sunday School in the Association should be represented in this meeting.

LOCAL GIRL GRADUATES FROM BAYLOR UNIVERSITY

Waco, May 27.—Miss Sybel Hazel of Spur is among the 270 candidates for degrees at Baylor University on the occasion of the ninety-first annual commencement June 1, according to an announcement from the registrar's office. Miss Hazel will take her bachelor of arts degree.

Miss Ruth Maples of Ralls spent the week end visiting relatives and friends in Spur.

Seeks Commissioner of Agriculture Office

CLIFF DAY

Cliff Day, 47, Hale county farmer, has announced candidacy for office of Texas Commissioner of Agriculture. A native Texan, Day has farmed for 25 years. He is married and has six children. A year ago he sprang into national prominence when he led 4,500 farmers in an orderly visit to Washington in interest of national farm program. He was chairman last year of state cotton advisory board, chosen by farmers of the state.

County Allotment Committee Re- views Worksheets

The County Committee, composed of C. A. Hulsey, chairman, R. R. Wooten, and L. A. Grantham begun to review worksheets Wednesday. In checking over the lists of producers submitting worksheets it was found that several producers had not filed worksheets. The county committee feels that every farm should be covered by a worksheet and be on file in the County Agent's office prior to the closing date of June 10th.

The County Committee pointed out that loss through crop failure might be partially off set by benefits derived from grants made under the Soil Conservation Program. There are no penalties attached in failure to cooperate on the part of the producer, but the Secretary may accord special privileges and benefits to those cooperating through Domestic Allotment Act. Submitting a worksheet makes it possible to apply for a grant, but does not compel producer to do so.

5,000 Hear Allred Speak Here Last Thursday, May 28

Gov. James V. Allred came back to Spur Thursday afternoon for the first visit of a governor to Spur in many years. A crowd of between 4,000 and 5,000 people that overflowed the Charles A. Jones Memorial Stadium greeted the governor and other noted speakers as a climax to a big free barbecue and rally given by Lee C. Harrison, independent oil operator of Big Spring, and the Spur Chamber of Commerce.

The day opened with county and district candidates speaking in the morning. At noon the big barbecue was served at the new Swenson Park adjacent to the stadium. There was plenty to eat and the huge crowd was served rapidly by the members of the Boyd. M. Williams Post of the American Legion.

At the afternoon program, D. L. Granberry, secretary of the chamber of commerce, acted as master of ceremonies. The first number was a song by a trio, Dick Holcomb, Earl Sparks and Tom Fletcher of Amarillo, who later gave a number of selections between the speeches. Pat Williams of Abilene, nephew of R. E. Dickson was introduced to act as page for the visitors.

W. B. Lee introduced Lee C. Harrison, the man responsible for the rally. Mr. Harrison expressed his appreciation to the people of Spur for their assistance in staging the rally.

O. C. Thomas was then called on to introduce his old friend Senator G. H. Nelson of Tahoka, candidate for re-election. Senator Nelson, unopposed for reelection, gave an account of his work as Senator since elected last fall at a special election. This was one of the outstanding talks of the day, the Senator discussing taxes, old age pensions, and the unicameral legislature. "I believe that the pension should be paid to the aged and needy according to the life they have lived, both morally and financially, and will continue to work in that direction until convinced otherwise," the senator stated. He expressed himself opposed to the adoption of a sales tax, continuing, "no matter what tax is passed by the legislature, it will always fall on the shoulders of the people here at home, regardless of what it is called and upon what particular group or industry it is levied."

Lonnie Lewis For Commissioner Pre. C

The Texas Spur is authorized to announce Lonnie Lewis as a candidate for Commissioner of Precinct No. 3, subject to action of Democratic primary, July 25th.

"For some time I have been solicited by my friends to make the race for commissioner. I have been a resident of the county since 1928 and most of that time have lived in Spur. I am familiar with the problems facing the people of the county and thoroughly understand the heavy tax burden which they are having to bear and feel that every effort should be made to lighten this load.

"Your vote and influence will be deeply appreciated."
Lonnie Lewis.

New Man At Spur Laundry-Cleaners

L. T. Cullar of Lubbock, arrived in Spur Monday to take charge of the dry cleaning division of the Spur Laundry-Cleaners. Mr. Cullar has had ten years experience as cleaner, dyer, hat blocker, and finisher, and comes to Spur highly recommended by his former employers at Lubbock. Mr. Cullar was accompanied by his wife and they plan to make Spur home.

CLUB NEWS

CLUB REPAIRS CLOTHES

Eight of the nine Patton Springs 4-H club girls present for the meeting last Wednesday morning have repaired three garments since the last meeting. Most of the garments were repaired with a hem patch which is made with small hemming stitch with both the right and wrong side of the patch.

Plans were made for the clothing achievement program, June 17, to be held in the home of Alverta Butler and Goldie Lee Smiley, clothing demonstrators. The program will begin at 2:00 at Goldie Lee's and from there the crowd will go to Alverta's. Members present were: Della Dean Baxter, Alverta Butler, Louwana Dunlap, Norma Middlebrooks, Bobbie Randolph, Leona Rogers, Goldie Lee Smiley, Monez Woods and Frances Mae Madden.

DEMONSTRATOR ENJOYS CLOTHING WORK

"I am enjoying my clothing work this year even more than I did last year", says Eula B. McMahon, one of the clothing demonstrators of the Espuela 4-H Club.

"I am trying to keep my clothing always ready to go and have learned to keep my clothes stored away so they do not wrinkle. I have a good clothes closet and have improved my drawer space so that I have a definite place for each part of my underwear and accessories."

One of the goals in clothing this year for the club girls of the county is to provide and arrange drawer and shelf storage space. The girls are to report on this goal in the meetings in June.

GIRLS TO ARRANGE DRAWER SPACE

"Underclothing, toilet articles and dress accessories which are stored in dresser or chifferobe drawers should be stored in compartments in the drawer. Place underwear in one division, stockings in another, sleeping garments in another and so on,"

Miss Pratt told the Espuela 4 H club girls in their meeting Thursday morning in the home of the sponsor, Mrs. F. B. Crockett.

One of the clothing goals this year is to provide and arrange shelves and dresser drawer storage space. The girls will be checked on this goal at the next meeting.

We had lots of fun cutting the pyramid from under the dime.

Members present were: Geneva Dutton, Lois Holloway, Odell James, Eula B. McMahan, Maxine Sandlin, Nada Carol Spivey, and Mrs. F. B. Crockett.—Reporter.

COOPERATOR HAS GARDEN

"Our corn for roasting ears is knee high and the tomatoes, beans and squash are blooming," reports Mrs. I. E. Abenathy, cooperator in the Soldier Mound home demonstration club.

Gardens over the country are looking fine due to the rains during the past month. More care in the selection of varieties suitable for this section has been manifest.

Many of the gardens contain one or more vegetables new to the family.

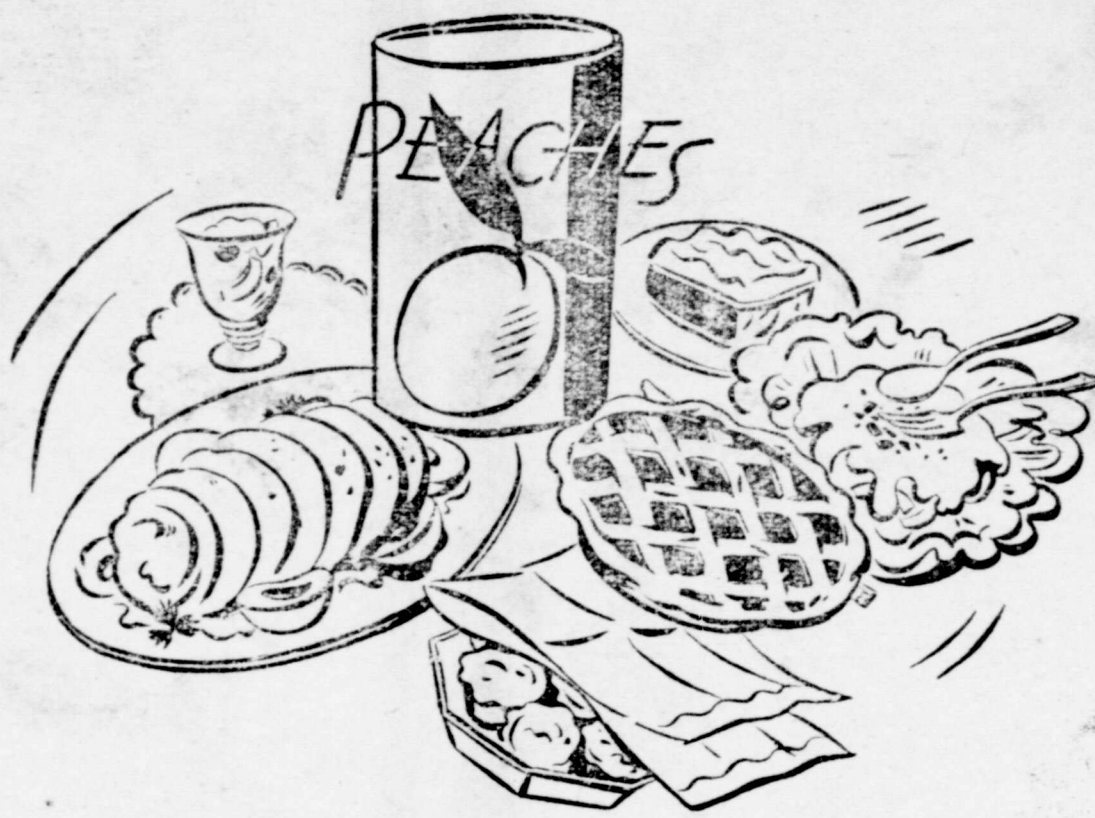

Voice Around the World Will Open World's Fair

DALLAS, Texas—A voice around the world will open the gates of the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial Exposition here June 6.

Spoken into a microphone before the main entrance, the voice—possibly that of President or Mrs. Roosevelt—will travel over radio waves to New York, England, France, Japan, California and back to Dallas, where it will strike an electrical device inside the grounds and swing the gate open.

The words will require 9 seconds for their trip around the world.

The Texas State Highway department has improved 6000 miles of highway in preparation for the opening of the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas June 6.

Possibilities with PEACHES

BRIGHTEN your menus and brighten your table with the infinite possibilities that peaches offer during these last days of winter. It's Monday, say. Perhaps you are using up the remains of the leg of lamb from Sunday's dinner, and you don't have to bother much about vegetables since there are plenty of things cooked in the refrigerator. Well, at best, this is apt to be a rather unadventurous meal. Unless—unless you serve a pretty sparkling fruit cocktail to begin it. Peaches will do the trick. Combine them with minted pears and halves of red grapes, top with a sprig of mint and a red cherry.

Right Through the Week

It's Tuesday next, by all calendar rules. Use halves of canned peaches cooked with your meat roast; baste them from time to time with the meat juices during the last twenty minutes of roasting time, and see how savory they become.

Wednesday's a good time for a fruit salad. Thursday's excellent for peach muffins that come out of the oven golden and flaky and just the thing to serve with an omelet which includes vegetables in a Spanish sauce.

This brings us around to Friday and since fish dinners are quick to prepare you might give a little extra time to the dessert and whip a Peach Bavarian into shape to chill in the refrigerator. Over the week-end—Saturday and Sunday, don't forget to serve a peach pie. And here are tested recipes for peach desserts:

Peach Caramel Pie: Put two tablespoons butter and four tablespoons sugar in a skillet and cook slowly until thick and brown, stirring constantly to prevent burning. Add the syrup from one No. 2 1/2 can of sliced peaches and then add two tablespoons cornstarch smoothed with one tablespoon cold water and one slightly beaten egg yolk. Cook in a double boiler until thick. Arrange the sliced peaches in concentric circles in a pie tin lined with pastry. Pour over the caramel sauce. Bake at 450 degrees for fifteen minutes, then at 400 degrees for fifteen minutes more, or until done. Cool and top with whipped cream. This serves six persons.

Apple and Peach Dumplings: Roll baking powder biscuit dough quite thin and cut in four inch squares. Pare and core two apples and cut in eighths. Drain eight halves of canned peaches. Place one peach half and a quarter of an apple in the center of each piece of dough, bring corners together and pinch the edges together. Place on a plate in a steamer and steam for forty-five minutes. Serve hot with plenty of butter and brown sugar, or with sugar and cream. This makes eight dumplings.

Sour Cream Peach Tarts: Mix together one cup thick sour cream and one-half cup confectioner's sugar. Beat slightly. Beat one egg white stiff and add. Fill tart shells from half to two-thirds full of this mixture. Drain the contents of one No. 2 can of sliced peaches and lay the slices neatly on top of the filling, covering it over entirely. This serves eight persons.*

part of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Koonsman and other relatives and friends here.

Mrs. Jack Gipson and children returned Thursday from Sudan where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lusk and family.

Miss Olive Meadors, who works in Lamesa was here Sunday for lunch and a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meadors.

Joe Speer and family of Flomot came to Dickens Saturday to visit the Frank Speer family.

Mrs. Johnny Koonsman visited part of last week with her sister, Mrs. Ida Prescott of Oklahoma City, her brother, Bob Bebe who lives near Ada, Oklahoma, and her brother, Royce Bebe.

Several Dickens people went to Spur last Thursday to the barbecue and to hear our noted Governor, Senator, and Railroad Commissioner speak. They came back with the report of a pleasant time, blistered faces, backs and arms, and the resolve to carry a pillow and umbrella along the next visit to the stadium.

Mr. J. W. Mobley:

Dear Sirs:

I am glad to recommend your Pyorrhea remedy called Pi-Ro-Dram to my many friends who suffer with Pyorrhea. I have been told that there was no cure for Pyorrhea. Well, that is a mistake for I am cured and my teeth are strong again, and I feel better than I have ever felt before. I will never be without Pi-Ro-Dram again, if possible to secure in the U. S.

You may refer anyone to me as to the value of Pi-Ro-Dram to my teeth and gums.

KNOW

Your Asparagus

ASPARAGUS is too good for just a chance acquaintance. It is one of those foods that you like to know, and which like good books or good music, improves with acquaintance.

Know, then, that there are two varieties of canned asparagus—the white and the green. These are planted from the same seed, but they are picked differently. Green asparagus is green because the tips of the spears have been allowed to poke through the earth and see the sun for a while. White asparagus remains white because it is picked before being exposed to the sun.

From Giant to Tiny

About grades, Asparagus is graded according to size and it is packed both as spears and as tips. Spears are especially nice for cooked dishes and tips are often preferred for salads, sandwiches, etc. From giant to tiny—here are the grades: Giant contains eight to twelve spears to a No. 2 1/2 can; Colossal contains thirteen to sixteen; Mammoth contains seventeen to twenty-four; Large contains twenty-five to thirty-four; Medium contains thirty-five to forty-four; and Small contains forty-five to sixty. The grades of tips are the same, except that Mammoth is the largest and Tiny is the smallest.

Know these facts about asparagus, and if you are a careful buyer you can stock up with asparagus when it is on sale, and select the kinds and sizes most adapted to your own use.*

THE STORY

CHAPTER I—The Duke, a pleasant, likable youth of twenty-three, jobless and broke, enters an unoccupied summer home in Southampton, seeking shelter from a terrific rain storm. He makes himself at home. Six years ago his father had died in China, leaving the lad, Barry Gilbert, to fight his way back to the States. He did not recollect ever having had a mother. Dozing at the fireside, he is startled by the arrival of a butler, Willetts, a chauffeur, Evans, a cook and a maid. He learns that the son of the owner of the house, Jack Ridder, whom the servants had never seen, is expected. He decides to bluff it out and leave at the first opportunity. His supposed parents have left for Germany. Next morning he is given a letter for his "mother." He opens it and finds a message from the real Jack, saying he could not come, and returning a hundred-dollar bill. The boy's father had pensioned him into obscurity. He pockets the money, intending to return it later. He orders Evans to take him to Montauk, intending to disappear there. On the way he assists Judge Hambridge and his daughter, Patricia, whose car had broken down. Believing he is Jack Ridder, she invites him to dinner the following Thursday.

CHAPTER II—Barry returns to Southampton, deciding to stay a bit longer. Mr. Ridder, Sr., through his newspaper, the Globe, accuses Judge Hambridge of taking orders from Tammany Hall in a condemnation proceeding. Barry meets Peter Winslow, prominent attorney. Winslow tells Barry that Judge Hambridge had witnessed an accident in which a woman was killed by a taxicab. Arriving home late, Barry finds the wife of the real Jack Ridder waiting for him. Her husband is in jail in New York, charged with the murder of Mike Kelly, Tammany boss.

"Very much."
"What?"
"Anything."
"That won't get you far. Can you write?"

"Like the lady who was asked if she could play the piano, I don't know—I never tried."

"You should be able to write—with your father's gift of trenchant expression. You've got it, too, in conversation. My brother owns a big advertising agency. I'd like to have you meet him."

"I'd like to," said the Duke. "I do want to work." He hesitated. "I've been in town almost every day this week, looking for a job."

He caught Patricia's surprised glance.
"Come in and see me," Winslow suggested.

Just his damned luck! Here was a job—a career, probably—for the asking, and he couldn't take it. Not as John Clarke Ridder, Jr. But Patricia's eyes were still on him, so "I'll be in Monday," he said.

When he had made his adieu to the Winslows, Patricia accompanied him to the door.

"I owe you an apology," she declared. "You're not just a rich man's son. You're something quite different. And I'm—glad!"

"Some girl!"

When he reached home, Willetts was waiting in the hall.

"There's a lady to see you, sir."

"At midnight?"

"She got here around eight o'clock. And she wouldn't go. She's upstairs, in the library."

"What kind of a lady?"

"Sort of glittery. If you ask me," the butler replied.

"Did she come in a car?"

"One of the station taxis, sir."

"How's she going to get back? Never mind! I can rouse Evans, if we need him. You go to bed."

Very much on guard, he climbed the stairs to the upper rooms.

Willetts was right; her eyes were "glittery." And hard. A woman who knew her way around, Barry would have said. And yet there was something tender about her, too. She had a sharp face, with a slightly protruberant chin. Her lips and brows and lashes were heavily made-up, but her hair, nondescript in color, escaped in soft waves from beneath her cheap little red beret. She wore a shabby black dress, and her shoes were badly worn.

All this, Barry observed in the long moment before she spoke.

"You're not Mr. Ridder," she said. Her voice was hard, too. Like the girl, hard and yet pitiful. It seemed on the point of breaking.

"Yes," Barry answered. "I am."

"Not John Clarke Ridder. Not the old man."

The Duke breathed again.

"Not the old man, of course," he said. "My father's in Europe. I'm John Clarke Ridder, Jr."

The girl stared at him.

"You mean you're John Clarke Ridder's son?"

"Of course."

She kept on staring.

"Somebody's crazy," she said.

It had come, then. It was bound to come. Was Willetts listening in the hall? What would Patricia say?

"Somebody's crazy," the girl repeated, "and I don't think it's me. Or somebody's a liar, and I don't think it's him!"

And, suddenly, she began to laugh.

"No," she shrieked; "it's you! It's written all over your face! And it's funny, because you've walked into a pretty mess."

"I—?"
"If you're John Clarke Ridder, Jr., I'm your wife."
"My wife?"
She stopped laughing, as suddenly as she had begun.
"That's it," she said, and her voice was harder than ever. "I'm your wife, and you're under arrest for killing a guy!"
"Under arrest?" Barry echoed.
"What are you talking about?"
For answer, the girl reached across to the library table, and handed him the newspaper she had been reading when he came into the room.

"There's a Lady to See You, Sir."

"That's what John Clarke Ridder did—last night," she said. "Killed a guy. That guy. That damned skunk, Mike Kelly. Boss Kelly, of Tammany Hall!"

CHAPTER III

After all, she wasn't such a "glittery" lady.

For, as Barry glanced at the newspaper headlines unfolded before him, she crumpled suddenly, and dropped into the big chair.

"Steady!" the Duke admonished her. "Wait a minute; I'll get you a drink."

He poured the girl a stiff hooker of brandy, and she drank about a third of it. "Knew her way around," undoubtedly, he thought, and yet there was something helpless and appealing about her.

"Finish it."

"Thanks; I'm all right now."

To give her a chance to pull herself together, the Duke went back to those headlines. "Boss Kelly Murdered," they read. "Body Found by Servants. Skull Crushed. Midnight Caller Hunted by Police."

"Was your husband the midnight caller?" he asked.

The girl nodded, wearily.

"And he's John Clarke Ridder, Jr.?" She nodded again.

For some reason he never quite understood, the Duke had stopped wondering whether Willetts was listening outside. Instead he was thinking of a letter that lay in the drawer of the library table; a letter from a heart-lunzy old woman, who had written to this boy, from three thousand miles away. "I am counting the days to your letter. You can never know how much I've wanted it, and how long, and how I pray that nothing may happen now."

Well, something had happened. Something that would end that old woman's efforts to make it up with the boy's father; something that might well be the end of them both.

"Why did your husband kill Boss Kelly?"

"He didn't."

"You said—"

"I said, 'That's what John Clarke Ridder did.' Well, that's what they say he did, and it isn't going to make much difference whether he did it or not."

"But you don't think he did it."

"I know he didn't. He had reason enough, and he's done a lot of crazy things, but Jack wouldn't hurt a fly."

"Why did you come out here?"

"For help."

"Well," the Duke said, "maybe I can help you. God knows, I'd like to. Anyway, let's see where we stand."

He crossed the room, and sat opposite her, on a little library chair.

"Go on," he urged. "What's your name?"

"What's yours? Your real name?"

"Barry Gilbert. I'm a bum. I took shelter in this house, one rainy night a couple of weeks ago, and everybody thought I was young Ridder, so I let 'em think so. That's my story. What's yours?"

She actually smiled.

"You've got your nerve," she observed. "Well, that's what we need now. My name's Peggy O'Day."

"Acting?"

"Sort of. I was a chorus girl in 'Blossom Time' when I met Jack in Florida. He was a bum, too. Living under a fake name. We still live under that. Jay Rogers. Everybody calls him 'Jack.' The old man paid him fifty dollars a week for not using his name. We've got a little boy, now, and he doesn't even know his name's Ridder. He thinks he's Jay Rogers, Jr. The old man doesn't know what name we took, and he doesn't care."

Everything about the girl was a contradiction, the Duke thought. Hard, and yet soft, with her steely eyes, and her quivering lips. Her English was rather better than fairly good, and yet she could say, "He's a tough guy—that bird!" Beaded eye-lashes, and "a little boy." A chorus girl who believed in her husband, and came an hundred miles through the night to help him. A philosopher, the Duke, as we have seen, and he found himself musing, "Is anyone black or white? Aren't we all contradictions—kind of a dirty gray?"

"Go on," he said.

"Well, Jack was getting this fifty from the old man's lawyer—when I met him. We were playing West Palm Beach, and he followed me to Miami. Hadn't anything else to do. He was drinking all the time, and I knew he'd never quit until he had to. 'I'll marry you,' I told him, 'but not while you're loafing around on money you get from a guy that's ashamed of you. I want a home,' I said, 'and a husband I can respect. You get a job, and I'll marry you.'"

"Did he?"

"Yes, he did, and I married him. That week, it was a good job, too—night clerk in a big hotel at Palm Beach. After that, we let the fifty lay in the post office. Jack didn't want to, at first, but I said, 'We're going to make Jay Rogers mean something, and then we're going back and talk turkey to the old man.' We had a swell little home, and the kid came, and he's swell, too. And then, all at once, the boom busted right in our face, and the hotel closed, and we beat it back to New York. Say, what am I telling you this for?"

"Go on."

"Well, the next chapter's the same old story. No money. No job. Tramping the streets, looking for work. Know what that's like?"

"I invented it," said the Duke.

"Well, then, you know. Things kept happening. The boy got sick, and the people we rented the room from threatened to put us out, and I guess Jack couldn't stand it. So he went to see his mother—without telling me. He didn't tell her about me, either."

"The old lady gave him a hundred bucks, and invited him down here. I don't know what else happened, because I was so mad he didn't dare tell me. Proud? Well, partly, but I guess the truth is I was scared they'd separate us. Anyway, I made him send the money back. 'What're we going to do?' he said. 'Let the kid starve? I can't get work.' 'No,' I answered, 'but maybe I can. I'm a good hooper, if I do say it myself, and there's worse-looking girls in a lot of shows.'"

"Well, there wasn't an Aborn show in town. Or any other regular show that wanted me. So last Monday I landed in a joint, called The Coconut Bar. One of those places where you get a ten-course dinner and a revue for two dollars, and both of 'em rotten. Salad without dressing, and you don't care because the show girls are the same way. Tough spot—The Coconut Bar—but I wasn't choosy last Monday."

"So, then, Jack was mad."

"Plenty. He'd been promised a place as elevator man in Brooklyn, but we couldn't wait for that. You can be as straight in a cabaret as you can in a convent, if you want to do. Oh, well—last night, Mike Kelly came in. About eight o'clock. With two strong-arm guys. I knew him right away, because he was five weeks at the hotel where Jack worked in Palm Beach. And he sat down, and sent for the boss—Luis Morano, the boss is—and they had a stiff pow-wow. Morano was sore all through when he came back where the dressing rooms are. And then we swung into a number, called 'Tickle Me.' The girls go up to the men, in that number, and pay 'em a good deal. And, in the middle of this pawing, Kelly jumps up, and yells that I've tried to pick his pocket. I'd really just got to him, as another girl left, but he grabbed my arm, and shouted so you could have heard him in Harlem. Luis ran over, and the bouncer brought a cop, and a crowd gathered."

"Kelly'd been drinking a lot. 'You can't get away with that!' he kept yelling at Morano. 'I'll send this girl to the island, and you to the hot-spot!'"

"I got nothing to do with it, Luis answered. 'I don't even know this girl. She only came Monday. Isn't that right, boys?'"

"Well, the end of it was that I walked out with the cop. I'd've been in the lock-up yet, only there was a decent young fellow on the desk at the station house. He let me go on my promise to return if I was wanted, there being no one there to sign the complaint."

While she talked, the Duke was thinking.

Astonishing things had happened, and went on happening. Were astonishing things always happening, everywhere? And did they come about as quietly as this; as much as though they were the commonplaces of daily routine?

"You've walked into a pretty mess," the girl had said. But, after all it wasn't his mess. So far as he was concerned, the game was up.

He had made full and complete confession to this girl, without a moment's hesitation. Firstly, because the game was up, anyway, and, secondly, because it had seemed the right moment for laying cards on the table. He had asked to see her hand, and he couldn't expect to do that without showing his own. Without inspiring her confidence.

Why did he want to inspire her confidence? What was her story to him? Why should he care what happened to a woman he had never seen—in Bad Nauheim? But, damn it, he had seen her! He had seen into her mind and heart, which is a good deal more than looking at a face, or a black satin dress. Her life would be over with this. And the old man's. "The doctor says any shock might prove serious. One false step on your part, if he knew, would end everything forever. And he would know, Ill as he is, he still has his newspaper sent him, and he still reads every word."

WORLD FAMOUS DRIVERS KNOW ONLY ONE TIRE IS Safe!

Firestone GUM-DIPPED TIRES

WIN INDIANAPOLIS 500 MILE RACE

Louis Meyer won the Indianapolis 500-mile race, at an average speed of 109.069 miles an hour, breaking all track records, without tire trouble of any kind.

No tires except Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires could have resisted the terrific heat generated at such high sustained speeds on the hot brick track, lap after lap, hour after hour. You can have no greater proof of blowout protection.

Not one of the thirty-three drivers would risk his life on any other tire, for each driver knows that heat is the chief cause of tire failure and blowouts. Firestone cords are soaked in liquid rubber, which saturates and coats every cotton fiber, preventing friction and heat and adding great strength. This is the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, that gives you greatest blowout protection and safety.

Profit by the experience of race drivers. Equip your car today with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires—it costs so little to protect lives worth so much.

THE New Firestone STANDARD

Designed and constructed by Firestone skilled tire engineers—a first quality tire built of all first grade materials, embodying the many exclusive Firestone patented construction features. Its exceptional quality and service at these low prices are made possible by large volume production in the world's most efficient tire factories. Cliff Day of Hale Co. Announces for State Agriculture Commis.

Cliff Day, 47, of Hale County, has announced his candidacy for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture. Day became a national figure in agricultural circles when he organized and led 4500 farmers of the nation to Washington a year ago in support of the national farm program.

A native Texan, Day has done farm work as a day laborer, a tenant farmer and now owns and operates a farm near Plainview, Texas. When the AAA program was launched Day was elected a member of his community committee, county committee, and was chosen by the farmers of his district to represent it on the State Cotton Advisory Committee of which he was made chairman.

In making his announcement Day says:

"I doubt if there is another individual dirt farmer in Texas who has talked and advised with more farmers than I have in many trips throughout the State. I have never before been identified with farm organizations except as a member, but have felt it my duty to give my time even somewhat to the neglect of my own farm, in the common interest."

"I believe that the contacts with the national and state administrative agencies of the farm programs and with the actual farmers, together with my own experience, qualifies me to know and understand their wishes and needs."

"The farmer's plight for the past several years in my opinion has been one of the major contributing causes of the unprecedented conditions that the country has been struggling to overcome. I think the efforts of the Federal Government to improve the farmer's condition have greatly strengthened his position, not only in Texas, but in the farming districts all over the country, and if elected to this office, I pledge my unqualified support and energies to the furtherance and betterment of agriculture in Texas and those who are engaged in this laudable profession. In Texas when the farmer prospers, all prosper."

"I haven't a lot of pre-election promises to make the public, knowing full well that no one can foretell matters upon which this important office will be required to pass. But I do earnestly promise that I will, if elected, strive to administer the office according to the laws relating to it and with a full understanding of the interdependence of agriculture, labor, industry, and the consuming public."

"I am under no obligation to any individual, group or class. I have no political experience heretofore, and if I am elected to the office it will be at the generosity of my friends and the people who believe I can and will honestly and conscientiously discharge the duties of this office to the best of my ability; and it will be my conscientious endeavor at all times to fulfill this trust placed in me and render the best services possible to the people of the State as a whole."

ANOTHER PIONEER PASSES ON

A good man has gone, "he fought a good fight, he finished his course, he kept the faith." These words are an excellent description of our friend and fellow citizen, P. H. Miller, who passed on to a better world Thursday afternoon.

A pioneer in the true sense of the word, a builder who assisted others to build, both mansions here on earth and mansions in the sky, that was Mr. Miller. A true friend to all, no one here on earth will know his countless good deeds. Would that there were more like him.

Married in 1895, Mr. Miller and his wife labored together for over 40 years for the cause of humanity and the accomplishment of the most good.

INCREASED INTEREST DUE IN POLITICS

The Texas political pot will really begin to boil now since the final date for candidates to file has passed. The center of interest will probably be in the Governor's race with the Senatorial race coming next since Senator Morris Sheppard will have five opponents.

The governor's race will receive the most publicity because of the public interest, but the campaign will not be as heated as those in recent years because it is the conclusion of the majority of the newspapers that Governor Allred will win in the first primary over his four opponents. At least the Governor seems to have a whale of a majority staring him in the face from his own West Texas folks.

In the Senatorial race Senator Sheppard with 23 years experience and just emerging from a long session of Congress is in for some stiff opposition that will see a run off. Advance indications from newspaper talk is that Senator Sheppard, although from deep East Texas, Texarkana, will poll the heaviest vote in this section.

In the 19th Congressional District race, George Mahon running for a second term, should have an easy time as the Townsend clubs in this section are not as strong as reported, especially since the passage of the Texas pension amendment last year and the fact that these payments will start three weeks prior to the first primary.

County politics has been quiet with several of the candidates doing house to house work. The ticket for county races closes Saturday of next week and with announcement next week of speaking dates interest will pick up. Interest in the county will be centered in the Sheriff and County Judge's race with the Commissioner's precinct races running close.

"HELLO, SUCKER!"

The Government might do well to reprint on the bonds settling in full the veterans' adjusted service certificates the greetings popularized by the pacifist movement, "Hello, sucker!" That might serve to warn the unwary veteran of the sinister forces which are inevitably lying in wait for the bonus money. The war veterans never needed more a steady policy of "Stop Look! Listen!"

George T. Hughes in his Monday article written for NANA outlined some of the moves, legitimate and illegitimate, already under way to absorb the estimated $1,500,000,000 (billions) of the last half of the bonus.

The best advice for the veteran who is not in actual need is, of course, to retain his bonds, holding these as a nest egg and drawing the interest. It is safe to say that a minimum will be held. The majority will be cashed whether the veteran is in need or not.

Once cashed, the bonds represent from $50 to $760 or double both figures where the veteran has not already drawn half of his certificate money. The exchanged bonds go into local markets in the form of immediate currency. Legitimate business will cooperate in careful and justified spending. Illegitimate business will exercise all of its wiles to coax away the money. It is up to the veteran to be careful. This is the last of the bonus.—Dallas News.

Continued advertising is the manufacturer's and retailer's pledge of quality. It is visible proof that he has faith enough in his product to back it with his name—and with his money.

THE SKY THROUGH BRANCHES

Wonder comes near to him who lies
On orchard grass and follows through
The shadowy greenness to the sky's
Remote amazing blue.
Somehow that blue's the bluest seen;
It fades if he should rise and leave.
The fretted interwoven screen
The obstructing branches weave.
The bare wide sky benumbs the sight,
The blinding and unbounded show
Of heaven alone pours too much light;
Heaven needs earth below.
And blue must be narrowed in to yield
The richer flame, unknown to June,
As I saw plain from a shaded field
One grief-entangled noon.

—T. Morris Longstreth in Christian Science Monitor.

HISTORY OF UNICAMERAL LEGISLATURE Article V Arguments of Those Opposed to One House System

(The following is the fifth of a series of articles of Senator G. H. Nelson of the 30th Senatorial district, who is the supporter of the one house system of legislature.)

Those who are opposed to the creation of the one house Legislature would be more susceptible to corruption than two Houses. It is my contention that the contrary would be true.

The two houses offer a way to dodge responsibility, in that it permits the passing of a Bill in one House with the definite intention of other; by passing it and then killing using ones influence to kill it in the in a free conference committee; or blocking it in a free conference committee as has been illustrated heretofore.

It is perfectly apparent, therefore, that instead of one house being a check on the other, the double barrel system is a shield for corruption concealing the record of unworthy Representatives, making it impossible for a critical public to know just what the record is. There are just six times as many ways to corrupt a two House Legislature as a one house.

If a majority of the members of the House of Representatives can be influenced to vote against any piece of legislation it means its death. Like wise if a majority of the members of the Senate can be so persuaded, that piece of legislation is doomed. By controlling the Speaker of the House of Representatives, regardless of who he may be, he being the one who appoints arbitrarily the members of the free conference committee, one can thereby control any piece of legislation. The same thing is true with reference to the Lieutenant Governor in the appointment of the conferees of a free conference committee for the Senate. Then if one can control a majority of the conferees on the part of the House or a majority of such conferees on the part of the Senate, he can control any piece of legislation.

Thus it will be seen that instead of one house being a check against the other, the two houses serve as a check upon the desires and the will of the people, leaving the balance in the hands of those who are working contrary to the people's best interests.

If the check and balance theory will hold good, then why does not a corporation have two boards of directors; why doesn't your city have two sets of aldermen, and why do we not have two governors instead of one? It is because that system is not conducive to good business nor the placing of direct responsibility.

By the adoption of the one house Legislature in this State we will make of our State Government which spends over a million dollars per year a business institution rather than a political machine. Let us conduct the business of our State as the business of a great corporation is conducted by making the Governor or the president of our State corporation, letting the Legislature serve as the Board of Directors, and the public as the stockholders.

JUST HUMANS

By GENE CARR

"Did He Die a Natural?"
"Yeah, He Was Hit by a Taxi!"

Then, there are those who argue that the two houses are more conducive to better laws. The best answer that I can give to this is that the two house system has not done so. If one hundred years of experience under the two house Legislative system cannot be more efficient than it is now, then, is it not time that we began something new rather than to patch that which we already have. The opponents to this system say that by having the two house system a law will be considered more than once, and therefore, we will likely have a better law. In answer to such argument, I say that it is a poor law which is not considered more than twice, whether we have one house or two. Then, in answer to those who argue the check and balance theory, I say to them, we still have the courts; the Governor's veto powers; and the people's suffrage to act as our checks and balances after the adoption of the one house plan.

Clifford B. Jones next introduced Col. Ernest O. Thompson, Chairman of the Railroad Commission the past four years and a candidate for re-election. Col. Thompson in a masterful address discussed the policies of the Commission regarding oil proration, regulation of the natural gas industry and other work of the regulating body. He cited figures to show the increase in Texas oil production and stated that Texas is facing a great period of prosperity with the increase in oil production and the finding of market for that oil. Col. Thompson left on the arrival of the governor for Brownwood where he was to speak that night.

Gov. Allred was greeted at the airport, coming from Paducah where he spoke at noon, by a large welcoming crowd which escorted him to the stadium. The crowd, led by the Amarillo trio, sang "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You" as the governor stepped on the speakers platform. Little Miss Jane Brannen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Brannen, presented the governor with a bouquet of Spur roses after which Mrs. Dave Wilson, representing the American Legion Auxiliary presented the Governor with a poppy.

Chairman Granberry introduced Alton B. Chapman, District Attorney of the 110th District, who in turn introduced the governor.

Attired in a gaberdine suit somewhat the worse for wear and moisture and noticeably in need of a shave, Texas' personable young chief executive apologized briefly for his appearance and then swung into his address, serene in the knowledge that he was among friends.

The governor speaking largely to the theme "Texas is not on the way out of the depression—it is already out", Allred pointed out the material improvements in the state's finance brought about during his administration. Only once did he touch upon any angle which might be construed as political, that being when he referred to criticisms voiced by his opponents on his travels about the state.

"I have never come anywhere where I was not invited," said Gov. Allred. "I thought when I was elected as Texas' Centennial Governor that the people expected me to travel and talk Texas wherever possible. It would be easier for me to stay at home and romp with my youngsters when my day's work is done, but I like to travel around Texas, talk to the people, and find out what they are thinking and what they want."

"President Roosevelt has done some traveling, too, but as far as I have been able to learn, nobody is mad at him but Herbert Hoover. The only difference I can see between Herbert Hoover and those who are criticizing me is that my critics have got twice as mad over being beaten in two years as Mr. Hoover has in four." The crowd guffawed and applauded, readily catching the allusion to Tom Hunter, a Wichita Falls townsman of Governor Allred, defeated by Allred in the

Don is a feature attraction of the Midway's "Hollywood Animal Stars."

1934 gubernatorial run-off and again an opponent of the governor in the elections this year.

The Governor then proceeded to throw the first ball opening a ball game, talked several minutes and shook hands with a number of folks then left for the airport where he took off for Floydada where he was to speak last night.

The loud speaker system used during the afternoon was sent to Spur through the courtesy of B. E. Needles of Lubbock, wholesale tire dealer. A large number of out of town visitors were present including several independent oil operators of Big Spring; James H. Goodman of Midland; Mr. Bowden, oil proration officer of this district with headquarters in Midland; Amos Howard, Lubbock postmaster; Chas. A. Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche and Journal; T. E. Johnson, editor of the Amarillo Globe News; L. F. Wade, editor of the Jayton Chronicle and Kent County Democratic Chairman and a large number of county officials and candidates for office in West Texas.

Gov. Allred was greeted at the airport by a reception committee which accompanied him to the stadium. Dr. M. H. Brannen headed the committee, greeting the Governor on his arrival and Geo. S. Link extended greetings from the city. Other members of the committee were: O. C. Arthur, Lealus Hutto, E. S. Crider, Mayor E. J. Cowan, O. C. Thomas, Alton B. Chapman, W. B. Lee, Judge A. J. Folley of Floydada, Judge Kenneth Bain of Floydada, Bob Taylor of Big Spring and editor of the Oil Free Press, Lee Harrison of Big Spring, Sammie Goldman of Big Spring, W. D. How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches. If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you should quickly notice an improvement. Continue to apply Emerald Oil until the veins and bunches are reduced. Moore's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful penetrator and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed. It has brought much comfort to worried people all over the country. For generous sample send 10 cents (silver or stamps) to cover cost—mailing—packing to Dept. A.M., International Laboratories, Inc. Rochester, N. Y.

NEW SAFETY FOR BABIES

Mother, most hospitals now protect their babies against germs and skin-infection by rubbing Mennen Antiseptic Oil all over the baby's body—every day. This keeps the baby's skin smoother, softer, lovelier and SAFER. So, mother, do as hospitals do, as doctors recommend. Give your baby a safety-rub with Mennen Antiseptic Oil daily thruout his diaper-days. See your druggist.

Ever Make Lights From Vases? It's Worth Trying!

By Jean Prentice

Vases make charming decorative lighting units when wired and equipped with 100-watt bulbs. The interiors of the vases must be pure white, of course. Some stores carry them already wired. The effect produced is charming indeed.

WE hear so much about indirect lighting nowadays. Architects and decorators who strike for soft, pleasing effects invariably incorporate it into their plans and designs by means of built-in coves and panels.

A very simple and effective way to achieve lighting of this type is by means of ordinary vases. That is, ordinary vases that are given a different sort of treatment. Let me tell you about it. It's really quite simple, and costs a mere trifle.

Must Harmonize With Furnishings

The vases are selected to harmonize with the decorative scheme of the room, then wired to accommodate a 100-watt bulb. Some of them come ready-made in this way, and may be obtained at most department stores and specialty shops handling objects of this kind.

Should you decide to use an old vase and do the wiring yourself, or have the work done for you, be sure that you get vases that are white on the inside, so that they will properly reflect, and not absorb the light. The small hole through which the wire runs from the lamp socket to the wall plug or convenience outlet should be drilled not at the bottom of the vase, but at the side, about an inch or so from the bottom, so that the fixture will rest on an even base. A small reflector attached to the socket inside the base will throw more light upward and onto the ceiling, where it will be reflected in all directions. (Better have the wiring done by an electrical expert unless you are quite experienced at this sort of thing.)

Results Should Be Checked

Light thus obtained is very decorative in character, and provides soft general illumination. I have seen as many as four in a room, mounted on bookcases and tables where they couldn't glare into anyone's eyes, and the result was really something to enthrall about.

Of course, even the best of decorative lighting effects must be aided by light of sufficient amount from floor and table lamps, and the general result checked by a light meter to make certain that there is enough illumination for such severe eye tasks as reading and sewing. Among the advantages of supplementary decorative lighting such as is obtained from lighted vases is that the illumination in the room becomes more flexible, and may be adapted to the changing moods and requirements of the family.

Poultry Demonstrators Show Profit on Eggs

Poultry demonstrators of Dickens county produced eggs at a feed cost of 5.4 cents per dozen through the first half of the poultry year, November to April, inclusive. Three flocks that average 195 birds produced 3983 dozen eggs at 13 cents per dozen above feed cost, or $580.23 was left for labor and equipment after expenses were deducted for feed cost.

Joe M. Rose, Duncan Flat community, demonstrated it paid to keep hens on full feed all the time, by getting an average production per hen of 89.5 eggs for the six months from a flock of 250 white leghorns, housed in a model poultry house. Mr. Rose's feed cost per dozen was 6.1 cents and his profit 13 cents.

DEPUTY SHERIFF THANKS PUBLIC FOR COOPERATION

I wish to thank the people of Dickens County and the many visitors that were in our city last Thursday for their cooperation in maintaining order and following traffic rules. I have assisted a number of times at the Stamford Cowboy Reunion and last Thursday's crowd was the most orderly I have ever worked with. Officers never had to say a word of correction to any one during the entire day, a fact deeply appreciated.

W. O. Finley.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank every one who helped us in any way in our great sorrow.

We thank everyone for the beautiful flowers and for the nice dinner that was served. Especially do we thank Dr. Wylie and Dr. Ewton for their services.

May God bless every one.

Mrs. Bill Browning.
