

SYNOPSIS: — Joe Wilson is traveling by car from Chicago to Capital City in the West to marry his girl, Katherine Grant, a high school teacher, when he is stopped by armed men and taken to the county jail in Saga. There has been a kidnapping. His description fits one of the kidnapers — a man who ate salted peanuts. Joe always carried a bag of salted peanuts. The rumor spreads that one of the kidnapers has been captured. The town buzzes like a hornet's nest with the news. Led by a lawyer and jail-bird, "Duke" Dawson, a crowd of citizens heads for the jail to demand information about the man from the Sheriff.

Chapter Three

THE MOB-MIND IN ACTION

Sheriff Hummell received the delegation in his office. He sat at his desk and faced the half dozen men gravely.

"I'm trying to locate the District Attorney, and we'll get at the truth as fast as possible. Till we do I have no right to make a statement."

"Ordinarily, Sheriff, yes," said Burmeister. "But there's a pretty nervous feeling in town—"

"We got a right to know about this kidnaping. Got it afternoon."

"I don't know he is a kidnapper yet, and so neither do you."

Dawson bristled. "What're you doin', Hummell? Tryin' to protect this weasel?"

The Sheriff slowly draped a leg over the arm of his chair. "That's a pretty comical, Dawson you teach me law and order! You've been stirring up trouble for law and order ever since you got into knicker pants. . . Anything more I can gent's right. We ought to be ashamed of ourselves, lettin' a stranger show us the ropes!"

Amid renewed whistlings, catcalls, and cries of "He's right!" "Let's do something!" "Hop to it!" a youth leaped upon a chair and shrielled: "Come on! Let's have some fun!"

Now possessed of but a single idea, the men hurried out of the bar, walking rapidly, silently for the most part, towards the jail — grim-faced, marching in unison, like a squad of soldiers. As they progressed, other men and boys, with a springing of women who guessed their purpose, joined the group. The crowd gathered courage as it went along and increased in numbers — there were more than a hundred men in it now, half as many women and boys. Cries of hatred, thirst for revenge, thirst for blood, began to be heard.

Sheriff Hummell, warned by Bugs Meyers, was waiting on the top step leading up to the double doors of the two-story frame building with iron bars at the windows. Two deputies, shot-guns in their hands, flanked him. The Sheriff opened his mouth to speak, but his words were drowned in an outburst of jeers and catcalls from the mob. The stranger thrust himself forward.

"Sheriff, we want to talk to this Wilson guy."

"Boys," warned the Sheriff, "keep out of this. We don't know yet whether the man's innocent or guilty. The District Attorney is checking on him now. Whoever he is, he's under the protection of the law."

After the jeers that met his words had subsided, he continued: "As long as I stand here you can yell yourselves hoarse, but you won't see this man."

"Then you won't stand there long!" "We'll move you!" called voices from the mob.

"Well, then, I ought to tell you that the militia is on the way here. The hubub suddenly died down;

SOCIETY

MRS. P. H. GIBSON HOSTESS TO CLUB

On Friday evening of last week Mrs. H. P. Gibson entertained members of the Neighborhood Bridge Club and a few invited guests in her home on North Trumbull Avenue.

Games of contract were played at two tables, prizes for the evening which were lovely rose bowls filled with pink and red roses. went to Mesdames M. H. Brannen and B. C. Langley.

Cries of hatred, thirst for revenge, thirst for blood, began to be heard.

"There he is! that's him!" he heard voices crying.

do for you gentlemen?" "No offense meant, Sheriff," said Phippen importantly. "I'm sure we can count on you to keep everything ship-shape. Good afternoon."

All of the delegation except Dawson started to follow Phippen out of the office. Dawson swaggered belligerently to the Sheriff's desk.

"I'll tell you one thing," Hummell, my friends won't be satisfied with what those pillars of society — he nodded towards the retreating backs of Phippen and Burmeister — "tell 'em. An attack on a girl hits us ordinary people where we live. An' we're goin' to see that politics don't cut any ice!"

Hummell's voice heightened with temper. "I'm going to see that a lot of half-baked rumors don't either! Now high-tail out of here. And behave yourself, or I'll have the county take you and all your relatives off the dole."

The Sheriff put through a call to the Governor and was assured that the militia would be ready in case of an emergency.

Back in the bar, "Bubbles" Dawson was, unconsciously, working himself and his friends and some of the more excitable men in the room into a mob spirit. They started with the reason for ripping up Joe's auto and gradually raised the amount of ransom notes found in it. Bugs Meyers entered the bar and was appealed to for confirmation of their heated imaginings.

Bugs snickered. "I hate to disappoint ya, but we didn't find anything in his car. We ripped it to pieces."

"We know you found that ransom money in the car," stated Dawson.

"Teh! Ten grand," harked in a stranger, pushing his way up to the bar. "Hid under the seat. That's what the lock-up keeper's wife said."

"What does she know?" demanded Bugs. "I tore up the car myself and I ought to know. All the ransom money this Wheeler—Wilson he calls himself — had was one five dollar bill."

A sudden hush fell upon the crowd, broken by a sneer of triumph from Dawson: "There ya are! Who does that make a liar out of? Wait till I shove that down the Sheriff's throat!"

"Yes-a, Dawson!" shouted someone. "Attaboy! Come on!" Amid whistlings and catcalls, Bugs Meyers, now really alarmed, sneaked out, while a man named Garrett, who had been one of those to visit the Sheriff, tried to reason with the men. "Everybody's getting too excited. The Sheriff's okay. This is none of our business."

"No!" shouted the stranger. "If I lived in this town I'd make it my business. What are you eggs? Soft-bellied, that you don't stick up for a kidnapped girl?"

In the silence that followed Garrett demanded: "Who are you?" "Just passing through. I been up at Capital City strike-breaking for the street-car company. Maybe ya need some help here, too."

"Not from mugs like you!" exclaimed Garrett.

"Here, you yaff him!" shouted Dawson. "The Sheriff made a monkey out of you, too. Men, this the mob looked at one another, startled, shocked. The armed guardians of the law remained purposefully alert on the jail steps.

And as yet there had been no sign of the militia.

Parked automobile lights picked out the forms of the Sheriff and his two deputies. Courage came back into the turbulent mob. Dawson, the stranger and a woman drew closer. Garrett followed; he addressed Hummell indignantly:

"Why didn't you tell us about the five dollar bill? You had a chance."

"Now, you'll see 'men' act," cried Dawson.

"Let him have it!" "Let's go!" "Give it to him!" cried voices, and the mob surged forward.

Katherine Grant, having arranged with her landlady for a sort of wedding supper for Joe and herself, and warned the minister that they would be at his house to be married at four o'clock, had gone to Sycamore Corners to meet Joe. It was now hours past the time he had set for her to be there, and there was no sign of him. A passenger-bus with a crew of newsreel cameramen inside stopped for sandwiches and directions to Saga. When they had gone, the owner of the hot-dog stand came in shaking his head.

"The things that happen! They got somebody they suspect of kidnapin' at Saga. Fella says his name's Joe Wilson. The mob there's tryin' to make him confess."

"Joe Wilson?" said Katherine dazedly. "Joe?" Then she realized what it meant and her voice sharpened in an agony of fear. "He's. He's the man I'm waiting for — to marry! Where's a car? Lend me your car! Please, I've got to get there!"

"The boy's got my car in town, Miss. I'm—"

"When's the next bus?" "There ain't another one today."

"But I've got to get to Joe! What'll I do?" She looked from the old man to his wife, who had been so sympathetic, in helpless terror. Then she ran out of the hot-dog stand, took the road that the bus with the cameramen on board had taken, running as if Joe's life depended upon her swiftness.

From his second-floor front cell, Joe Wilson, half-crazed with the knowledge that it was he the mob was after, heard the Sheriff say: "Here they come again! Aim at their feet! Don't throw the tear-gas bombs too far!"

Why didn't the Sheriff and his deputies use their guns? Again and again the mob had advanced only to be driven back by the gas, only to reform and return to the attack.

"There he is! that's him!" he heard voices crying, and immediately stones crashed against the walls of the jail, the bars at his window.

Joe ducked down, sprang to the door of his cell, grabbed the bars and shook them wildly, shouting: "Lock-up! Guard! Come here! I want to talk to the Sheriff!"

"No shootin'! Get more of the tear-gas bombs!" came Hummell's voice.

"Lock-up! Lock-up! Bring the Sheriff! I can prove I'm all right! Let me talk to somebody! I don't want that mob on me! Tell the Sheriff to phone my girl. She's waiting for me. She'll tell you who I am. Her name is Katherine Grant."

What Ho, 118th District! Let the Truth Be Told!

I have been over the six counties and have found there is not much respect for office of Legislator.

They say what is the use—all they go for is the $10 a day, and other things to be had on the side. Whose fault, dear voter? Yours, of course. The man shaking the most hands gets your vote.

Mr. Merritt has had the office four times, but can not point to anything of importance he accomplished.

Mr. Westfall? Well, I will leave it to you to find out. I could not.

Mr. Harris? Be it remembered you sent one young man from Scurry County. He drew his pay, rarely answered the roll call, and never returned to the District. Dickens later offered a young man, and he came near being elected.

Experience in life and accomplishments in Legislature should merit your consideration:

- I helped to save the oil rights to schools of Texas.
- I was first to propose the Parole law.
- I helped to pass the law opening West Texas to settlement, and many other important measures.

The crowning ambition of my life is to help pass an old age assistance law that will not be a burden on anything or anybody—a law that after two years trial will work so satisfactorily that no one will want to discard; one that will be a consolation to the needy aged, as time marches on.

Respectfully,

TO THE PUBLIC

A great number of the people of our county are planning for a great time at the picnic in Dickens July 23 and 24. We sincerely hope they will, but since part of that good time is coming from the skating rink or dancing, we are asking that there be no skating from twelve o'clock Saturday night till twelve Sunday night. We believe that in so doing much more respect will be shown for the Lord's Day and the Lord's people. Citizens of Dickens, that is part of them, have already made it known that it is their desire that the said request be respected and granted.

CROTON

This week end has been a sad one for the most part of Croton. We are grieved over the deaths of our neighbors and friends. The sympathy of the Croton community goes to the families of those who have suffered these losses.

Last Wednesday the little Cowan boy was claimed by death. He suffered from a throat affection.

Mr. Earnest was called to Mason County because of a death of a relative from a car wreck.

Our old friend and neighbor Uncle Joe (Shorty) Reynolds was claimed by death Sunday night. He was one of the original cowboys of the Espuela Ranch which is now owned by the Swenson Brothers. Uncle Shorty rode the range in the 80's. He was post master and store keeper at Dickens for years after quitting the range.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter returned from Matador Saturday night from the bedside of their granddaughter, Donnie Lawson, who has typhoid fever.

Bud Allison came near having a tragical wreck last Saturday night. His car lights blinded a calf belonging to Jesse Wyatt, which was out in the lane. The calf ran into the car wrecking it pretty badly. Luckily no one was hurt seriously.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Legg have gone to Hot Springs on a vacation. When they return they will bring Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Legg, who have been there taking treatments for rheumatism. We will all be glad to have the Leggs home again.

Coleman Way

THERE'S no getting around it... Coleman Ranges do cook foods better. That's because you always have positive control of your heat.

Whether you want a hot, quick flame for fast cooking, or a low gentle flame for simmering, the famous Coleman Band-A-Blu Burners respond at once with just the turn of a valve.

Coleman SALEM Ranges

INSTANT GAS FROM GASOLINE

DECIDE NOW—to get rid of that old, slow, slave-driving stove. You owe it to yourself and your family, to enjoy the healthful benefits of Coleman Better Cooked Foods. Broiled, baked or toasted... boiled, fried or roasted... any way you cook it, Coleman cooks it better. Does it quicker... does it cheaper.

SEE THE COLEMAN

We want you to see these new ranges. A wide variety of models... priced to fit every purse.

HOW YOU SAVE MONEY—Firestone saves money by careful buying of high grade materials—manufacturing in large volume in the most efficient factories in the world—and delivering to you by the quickest and most economical distribution system. These savings are passed on to car owners.

FIRST LINE QUALITY—The new Firestone Standard Tire is a first quality tire, built of high grade materials, by skilled workmen, embodying Firestone patented construction features—used in no other tire.

THE FIRESTONE NAME AND GUARANTEE—Every Firestone Standard Tire bears the Firestone name, your guarantee of greater safety, dependability and economy.

GUM-DIPPED CORD BODY—Every cotton fibre in every cord in every ply is soaked in liquid rubber. This is the only process known that prevents internal friction and heat, providing greater strength, blowout protection and longer life.

TWO EXTRA LAYERS OF GUM-DIPPED CORDS UNDER THE TREAD—This patented Firestone feature binds the whole tire into one unit of greater strength, cushions road shocks, gives extra protection against punctures.

LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE—The new scientifically designed non-skid tread is wider, flatter, with more and tougher rubber on the road, giving long even wear and thousands of extra miles.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any individual, firm, concern, or corporation that may appear in the columns of the Texas Spur will be gladly corrected when called to the attention of the editor. It is not the intention of this newspaper to wrongly use or injure any individual, firm, concern or corporation and corrections will be made when warranted as prominently as was the wrong published, reference or article.

TO THE TAXPAYING CITIZENS OF SPUR

Probably the most discussed and "cussed" people are those holding public office. This is not an editorial in favor of some candidate for office in the coming primary election or who might be a candidate later. But it is for that small group of men who govern the City of Spur. They should be commended for the job they have done and are doing in the matter of securing improvements for the City through the use of Federal Aid funds.

The $35,000 Park and Swimming Pool project is fast nearing completion. Work is to start soon on the $60,000 Water System. These two projects represent nearly $100,000 investment the past year in public improvements in the City of Spur. Of this amount the City has had to expend and will expend approximately $20,000.

This leaves a net of around $80,000 obtained by these men for City improvement and it was not a loan but an outright grant. Spur should feel proud of these men. For those who might not know who they are let's name them: E. J. Cowan, Mayor; G. H. Snider, Street Commissioner; M. H. Brannen, Water Commissioner (filling unexpired term of J. P. Carson who recently moved to New Mexico); and L. R. Burrow, City Secretary and Manager.

MORE COMMENT ON THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

Charles A. Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal publications and columnist, recently returned from the East where he attended the Democratic National Convention and visited several of America's largest cities. Mr. Guy talked to many people on his trip and since his return has written his observations and comments from a number of people he talked with while on his trip.

He states that the coming presidential campaign, which will get underway shortly after the first of September, will be one of the "dirtiest" and more mud will be slung than in any campaign in our history. He is also pessimistic about the results of the election, further stating that Roosevelt will not have a walkover but the election will be close with Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York deciding the result.

Another thought of Mr. Guy's we would like to pass on is that it will not be the Republicans that will defeat Roosevelt and Garner, if that should happen, but the conservative Democrats on one hand and the extreme radical element on the other hand. If the conservatives swing over to Landon and the radicals, that is enough of them. vote for Lemke and his third party, that will spell the defeat of the Roosevelt ticket and elect Landon and Knox.

Down in Texas, which is overwhelmingly Democratic at this time, the newspapers are of the same mind and we admire an editor that will print in his columns the result of his observations and his personal opinion even though it be contrary to what we believe and contrary to the majority opinion of his subscribers.

Mrs. Joe Smith's nephew, a merchant of Wichita, Kansas, was a Spur visitor Saturday and while here discussed the presidential election. Mr. Smith stated that his precinct, No. 1 of Wichita, would be in the Roosevelt column in November. He went on to say that he felt sure that Mr. Landon would not carry his home state of Kansas and that he was lucky to have ever been elected Governor. Landon was elected Governor when the state was split by Dr. Brinkley.

THE PRICE OF HATE

Out of the darkened skies of war, frowning above a reddened field,
I saw a light gleam clear and strong, and in the folly of hate revealed,
I saw the tortures of tender youths, twisted with malice and urged to kill,
I saw them charge in a hail of fire, crumple in pain and then lie still.
The ranks close up, reform and charge over these comrades cold and mute,
These fallen ones are to be avenged, each living one slays like a maddened brute.
What difference is it which side we view, each feels his course is just,
Each asks the power and skill to slay the foe he battles in the dust.
Each struggles until his strength is spent, till weary and sick of strife he limps home again with scars of war and hatreds bitter thru life.
The grasses wave where the fallen sleep, quiet in a hero's grave,
Watered by tears of those who keep watch through the years o'er their martyred brave.
Are men so foolish they never learn, that only the heartless schemers gain

SPUR MAN BURIED FRIDAY IS LUBBOCK

Funeral services for J. H. Jones, 76, of Spur, who died in a hospital at Lubbock at 6 a. m. Friday following an eight weeks illness, were conducted Friday afternoon at Sanders Funeral Chapel with burial in Memorial Park, Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor, Calvary Baptist Church, officiated.

Mr. Jones had suffered a foot infection, which necessitated amputation of his right leg. Death was attributed to a weakened condition and insufficient blood circulation attendant to age.

Mr. Jones had resided in Spur about 4 years with a sister, Mrs. A. C. George. He moved to Spur from Roswell, N. M. where he had operated an automobile agency for about fifteen years. Born in Bosque county near Meridian. Mr. Jones as a young man was engaged in the cattle business in the vicinity of Sweet water.

Several survivors live at Lubbock among them being a niece, Mrs. T. V. George, and a sister-in-law, Mrs.

W. C. Jones, at 20 23rd St., and a nephew, C. C. Jones, *8*4 Avenue J. A brother, M. R. Jones of Artesia N. M., and a sister, Mrs. Bernice Akin, of Roswell, also survive.

Outward to the world goes your voice

Sidewalks end at the edge of town. Lawns give way to the open fields. But the telephone lines go on and on—gleaming threads of copper stretching out through the valleys and over the hills.

They carry your voice to the world.

This sweeping away of the old-time barriers of time and silence is one result of the staff work of American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the researches of Bell Laboratories, the skillful buying and manufacturing of Western Electric.

Without the developments and improvements these Bell System organizations have given the men and women who furnish telephone service here, your voice could hardly go as far, and as fast, for so little.

HIGHWAY

By Lavada Hahn

Rev. J. W. Grizzle of Calgary, filled his appointment here Saturday night and Sunday. There were good crowds present for each service.

Quite a large crowd of folks from Dry Lake were here Sunday night bringing a very fine and well rendered religious program which every one enjoyed. Rev. Grizzle made a short talk on "Our Children As Our Greatest Asset and the importance of religious training."

Wandene Mandy has been quite ill the past week with mumps.

Mrs. A. C. George and sons, Ray, Arville and Lester attended the funeral of Mrs. George's brother, John Jones, in Lubbock Wednesday of last week. We extend sympathy to the relatives in this sorrow.

The girls of the intermediate Sunday School Class took dinner and spent the afternoon Sunday with Laverne Smith. There were nine present. All report a nice dinner and a pleasant afternoon.

Rev. J. W. Grizzle took dinner and spent the afternoon Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lester English.

Miss Myrtle Walden of West End community and Clark Morgan were united in marriage in Roswell, N. Mexico Sunday, July 1th. We wish for them a very happy life. They will make their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whitford have relatives visiting with them this week. Will Smith and family spent part of the past week visiting relatives near Brownfield.

Most everyone is quite busy killing weeds this week. Crops are just fine. The farmers are looking forward to harvesting a bumper crop this fall.

WHERE IS MY WIFE?

We were secretly married. She did not get along with my father, mother, and the servants and has disappeared. I want to effect a reconciliation with her. For full details, please see "Private Number" featuring Loretta Young and Robert Taylor coming to the Palace Theatre soon.

CROTON YOUNG MAN DIES AT LUBBOCK

Henry Cowan, *17, died at West Texas Hospital in Lubbock last Wednesday following a six weeks illness. Young Cowan had entered the Lubbock hospital a few days before death for treatment of trench mouth. Funeral service were held at Dickens cemetery Thursday afternoon with John M. Rice, Church of Christ minister officiating. Interment followed with Bill Kinney in charge.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cowan of Croton community, the deceased is survived by his mother and father, two brothers and one sister.

GAY COMEDY SET ABOARD OCEAN LINER

Two murders in mid-Atlantic and the high-powered sleuthing of five international detectives are merely minor incidents in the plot of "The Princess Comes Across" which shows at the Palace Theatre preveue Saturday night. Sunday and Monday.

For the picture is essentially a romantic comedy, bringing together Fred MacMurray and Carole Lombard for the first time since their smashing success in "Hands Across the Table". In a story perfectly fitted to their type of romance, the pair clinch their position as today's "Number One Screen Sweethearts."

All action of the story takes place on a transatlantic super-liner, en route from Le Havre to New York.

Miss Lombard adopts a Swedish accent for her role. She is cast as a Brooklyn girl posing as Princess Olga of Sweden for the purpose of gaining a film contract. Aboard the luxury-liner "Mammoth" she meets and falls in love with MacMurray, a leader of a swing band.

The ship and the romance hardly get under way before the first of a pair of murders starts a chain of suspense and thrills maintained throughout. Music, provided both by the ship's band and by concertina-playing MacMurray (who sings his first song in films in this picture) aids the comedy and romantic scenes in maintaining the film's light touch.

An unusually fine supporting cast led by Alison Skipworth as a wise-cracking former trouper, "lady-in-waiting" for Princess Olga, and William Frawley, manager for MacMurray's band, backs up the stars. Included are Douglas Dumbrille, Porter Hall, George Barbier and a score of others.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hardwick were in Spur the first of the week after spending three weeks in Olney opening a theatre that had recently been remodeled.

Mrs. V. L. Patterson and daughters returned home Thursday after a two month's visit at Kauffman with relatives. Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Day returned with them for a visit.

To the People of the 118th District:-

I want you to know that I deeply appreciate the vote you gave me in the last election and in return for this support I have given the very best service possible. Your cooperation has caused me to redouble my efforts to give the service that you had a right to expect an uncompromising fight for the rights that according to my best judgment you justly deserved. It has never been my policy to take the course of least resistance but have taken the side that I thought was right regardless of circumstances.

As most of you know I held the County Judges office for two terms, and relinquished it and asked for a higher office. Now I am asking to be re-elected to this important place for the second term solely on the record I have made in my first term. This record is an open book and I stand ready and willing to defend it against any one that might challenge my sincerity of purpose in my service in the Legislature. The House Journal will show my vote from the beginning of the regular session to the last minute of the last called session was consistent for the best interests of the people and in the interest of good government. The Journal shows on page 2241 of the Regular Session I voted for House Joint Resolution No. 19 which was the proposed change in the Constitution to set up an Old Age Assistance law. It also shows on page 161 of the last called session that I voted for House Bill No. 46 which was known as the omnibus tax bill to raise the revenue. The present law now in operation was known as House Bill 26 shown on page 289 of the called session the Journal shows that I voted for the adoption of the conference committee report which was the final passage. If I voted for these as I have stated and give the page in the House Journal as proof then I don't think that any of the old people can say that I didn't do everything in my power to help them in the Legislature.

I am humbly grateful for the privilege of serving the people of the 118th District in the State Legislature. Frankly I believe I am representing a people that want nothing but justice and fair dealings, and in all my acts and in every vote I tried to the best of my judgment to reflect the sentiment of the people of my district. While my feeble efforts many times seemed of no effect whatever, and in spite of myself, I said to myself, what's the use. But I never failed to voice my sentiments, and speak out in no uncertain terms against the powerful corporate interests that seek to dominate the legislature and enact laws favorable to their selfish interests and against the interests of the people. Though my judgment might have been wrong at times yet I was the uncompromising friend to good government and best interests of the people. From the bottom of my heart folks I tell you that throughout my entire time in the Legislature I rendered faithful and unselfish service which I will continue to do if you return me to the Legislature. I believe with my experience I can be much more effective in fighting for the rights you justly deserve.

As it is impossible for me to see each one personally, if I have not met you in person during this campaign let this be a personal solicitation for your vote and influence in the coming primary.

Yours very respectfully,

Leonard Westfall.
