

Railroad Abandonment Hearing Here December 6

TEST PROBE—Wesley Vogler of Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co. wields a test probe in testing a load of milo, as grain harvest activities increase in the area.

Milo Harvest Half Over

Given a few more days of sunshine, the bulk of the 1976 milo crop in this area will be in the barn, grainmen estimate.

Combines have been very much in evidence throughout the countryside during the past several days, as farmers rushed to gather what some say is one of the best crops.

Quality of the grain has been good, grain buyers and farmers say, and yield has been as well as could be expected, even better than had been anticipated earlier in the year. Moisture content caused by high humidity conditions has been a point of concern for some, but has not been a disastrous problem.

Prices had held fairly well, but took a drop from $4.10 to $4.00 Monday.

Although trucks and trailers bringing in the grain from the fields to elevators have been lined up for blocks at a times, there has been no shortage of railroad boxcars to plague shippers, so far.

To Re-Organize Winters 4-H Clubs

A re-organizational meeting for Winters 4-H Clubs will be held in the school vo-ag building Monday, September 20, at 8 p.m.

4-H is a youth development program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service which focuses on the needs, interests and concerns of young people. Its aim is to help youth gain a positive self-concept, rational social behavior, knowledge and problem-solving capabilities. Boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 from all ethnic, racial, cultural and economic groups, regardless of geographic location, may participate.

For information on the 4-H program, those interested may contact the county extension office on the third floor of the courthouse in Ballinger.

Physical Fitness Expert To Speak At Lions Club

Perot (Pete) Nevin III, a physical fitness expert of Garland, will be the guest speaker at the Winters Lions Club noon meeting Tuesday, September 21.

The luncheon meeting will begin at 12 noon.

Nevin, associate director of Physical Fitness Institute of America, is a product of San Bernardino Valley College, San Bernardino, Calif., and participated in all major sports in Bloomington, Calif., high school.

He established the conditioning program for the Minnesota Vikings professional football team in 1974, and established the resistive exercise program for physical Therapy Department, Lakes Regional Hospital, Lacombe, N.H. He has aided athletic directors in 75 midwestern high schools and colleges in setting up their resistive exercise programs, and aid the Los Angeles Police Department and St. Louis and Indianapolis Fire Departments in establishing their fitness programs.

78 Miles of Terraces In Runnels In 12 Months

During the past twelve months approximately 70 miles of parallel terraces and 8 miles of standard level terraces were constructed in the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District according to Robert H. Fowler, soil conservation technician with the Soil Conservation Service. Several more landowners will be constructing additional terraces this fall after crops are harvested.

Considerable more survey and planning work is required for parallel terraces than for standard terraces. For this reason, Fowler emphasized that those constructing parallel terraces for the first time should be aware of the lead time necessary to complete all actions prior to the construction phase.

The area to be terraced should be free of vegetation and have any uneven furrows or beds levelled. Next key grid lines are staked in the field. Using these as alignment guides, the farm operator plows a grid system which covers his field with 100 foot squares. A topographical survey is then made and plotted on a grid map. The field boundaries and level contours (one foot elevations apart) are plotted on the same grid map.

The design engineer then plans a system of parallel terraces using the grid map and considering such factors as soil type, land slope, row width, equipment size and cropping intentions. Key terrace lines are then

The Interstate Commerce Commission has set Dec. 6, 1976, as the date for a hearing on a proposal by Abilene & Southern Railway Company to abandon the company's road from Winters to Abilene.

According to the notice of assignment of hearing from the ICC, the hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. local time at Winters. Location of hearing room will be announced at a later date.

H. G. Homme, Jr., Acting Secretary of the ICC, said in the announcement that one week had been allocated for the hearing, but it may be completed in less time.

Persons desiring to participate in the hearing should be present, or have a representative present, at the commencement of the hearing on the first day, the secretary said.

The Abilene & Southern Railway Company, operators of the railroad line from Winters to Abilene, in mid-1975 petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to abandon the 39 miles of track.

Shortly after the announcement of the request for abandonment, area shippers, businessmen, organizations and individuals began an intensive campaign of protest, with these protests being filed with the ICC. Protestors also requested that a subsequent hearing be held in Winters.

In protesting the abandonment petition, shippers and others pointed out that the railway company, in making their petition for permission to close the road, has "used figures compiled for the year 1974, to show cause for abandonment." Local shippers have stated that 1974 "is not a representative year," because of the prolonged drought responsible for a short crop year, and "bad livestock year." Only 357 railroad cars were moved in and out of Winters during that period, they said, far below the normal traffic.

The year 1973 was a much better railroad traffic year, it was said, with 956 cars in and out. And then in 1975, a big grain crop and a building livestock year, more railroad traffic was experienced by midyear than during all of 1974, it was stated. In compiling their figures in protest to the abandonment petition, shippers in August of 1975 pointed out that in 1973 alone it would have taken 2868 trucks to move the tonnage shipped into and out of Winters by rail.

Some years ago, it was said, the railway company abandoned the line from Winters to Ballinger, where connections with Santa Fe were made. This made little difference on the rail traffic out of Winters, as most traffic went from Winters to Abilene.

Blizzards Host Bluecats

The Winters Blizzards play on the home field Friday night, hosting the Coleman Bluecats. Kickoff at 8 p.m.

Unless the two teams play to a standoff, either the Blizzards or the Bluecats will break a losing streak. The Blizzards are 0-2 for the season, as are the Bluecats.

The Blizzards lost their opener to Clyde, and then were downed by Junction last Friday night. Coleman lost 20-6 to Sonora in their opening game, and then last week Brady took the Bluecats 20-14. In a scrimmage session prior to the opening of the season, the Blizzards shellacked the Brady Bulldogs.

Coach Jimmy Stubblefield said the first of this week that "if everybody stays healthy," the Blizzards should give the Bluecats a good contest. There still may be some shifting in positions, the coach intimated, before the kickoff against Coleman Friday night. And the Blizzards will be out to revenge the 49-0 defeat they received from the Bluecats last year.

Coleman was 5-5 for last year. Friday night's game will be a non-conference tilt, with another following for the Blizzards next week when they go to Eldorado. Then the Winters blue team will get a week's rest before entering District 6-AA competition.

The local grants were among 78 approved by Governor Briscoe statewide with funding from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration under the Crime Control Act of 1973.

POE'S CORNER
BY CHARLISIE POE

Being a leader in a community could mean having the first cabin in the neighborhood with a plank floor, as did Richard Franklin Counts, who came to Content before Runnels County was organized.

When the dedication of the "Counts Cemetery" and "Cotton Production in Runnels County" historical markers was held in April of this year, a granddaughter, Mrs. Anna Guyer Pulliam, of Brownwood was present, and related some interesting details of her grandfather's life.

Mr. Counts and his first wife, the former Edna Gould, were married Oct. 25, 1860 in Senatobia, De Sota, Miss. There he enlisted in the Confederate service in 1862. He was a private in Company D, 2nd Miss. Cavalry and was attached to the Army of Tenn. He was in the battle of Denmark, Tenn. on July 29, 1862; and participated in battles at Iuka, Corinth and Jackson in Miss. He was in the Georgia Campaign when General Sherman marched through the state. Among others, he engaged in the skirmish at Charleston, S. Carolina and was wounded in a battle twelve miles north of Florence, Ala. on Oct. 14, 1864.

After the Civil War, the Counts family moved to Johnson Station, Tarrant, Texas, and came to Coleman County prior to 1877, before moving to Runnels in Dec. of 1879. He settled on land which he purchased in the northeast corner of the county near Content.

All the neighbors helped put the floor, made of six inch boards, down in the Counts cabin, and Mr. Counts gave a dance when it was finished, related Mrs. Pulliam.

"He always spoke of the house as being at the foot of the mountain," she said.

Mr. Counts helped to organize Runnels County, and when this was accomplished he held the office of Justice of the Peace and Commissioner of Precinct 2.

In 1884, he and twelve other men of the community bought four acres of land from Andy and Christian Fannin for the sum of $15.00...to be appropriated and used exclusively for a public burying ground or cemetery." This block of land was to be laid off in family lots of 20x30 feet, leaving sufficient walks and pass-ways between each row of lots. And when any family selected a lot it belonged to them. (No charge is made for lots, even today.) "One row of lots shall be reserved for stragglers," so the instructions read.

R. F. Counts was Justice of the Peace and ex officio notary public at the time the cemetery was bought and he purchased the surrounding property in 1889. This is thought to be the reason it is called the Counts Cemetery.

Counts wife, Edna, died in 1887, leaving him with nine small children. The seventh child, Virginia Edna, named for her mother, was eight years old. She was the mother of Anna (Guyer) Pulliam.

Merrill Nursing Home News

We wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carter for the delicious watermelons they have given to the home. The employees and residents have thoroughly enjoyed them.

Last week we celebrated these beautiful Indian Summer Days, with an Indian program. Mary Murphy did an Indian Corn Dance, Charlie Poe was Granny Parker with her home remedies and a witch doctor appeared while the Indian Fire Water was being served.

Team II won on the Bible quiz led by Ara Busher last Tuesday. Floy Hodge sang a special song, and Pearl Hodges gave a humorous reading.

Those of you who visit your friends and relatives are asked to observe the time for morning visits, be no earlier than 10 o'clock. This gives the nurses time to prepare the resident for a more pleasant visit.

We were saddened at the death of Ethel Jones last Tuesday morning. We extend our sincere sympathy to her family.

Every chair was filled in the living room when the Winters String Band played for us last Friday evening.

Health Tip OF THE WEEK

No one can feel young and peppy when carrying excess weight — it is tiring, hard on the heart, and a threat to health. A well balanced diet is most important — lean meat, cereals, fresh fruit and vegetables. Skim milk may be one good way to cut down on excess fats while retaining milk's wholesome proteins and vitamins. Get rid of that excess weight and discover how much more fun life can be.

AROUND THE 6-AA LOOP

With the season barely underway, only two of the seven member teams of 6-AA have unbeaten records—Coahoma and Merkel. Three have 1-1 scores—Stamford, Wylie and Colorado City—and two have yet to win a game—Winters and Ballinger.

Last week, Winters took a long trip to Junction, and came home with a 27-6 loss; Ballinger homesteaded, and lost to Sonora 43-6; Wylie took a 47-2 drubbing from Hamlin. Stamford hit Anson 28-0 for their first win of the season, and Colorado City took Sweetwater 7-0. Coahoma stayed in the win column by drowning Post 27-7, and Merkel waited until Saturday night to down Jim Ned 21-6.

This ad is for people who didn't read the last ad about holding down their gas bills, and wish they had.

(Please, read it this time.)

We all have to face facts: the days of cheap energy are over. Gas bills have been going up. That's why we've been telling our customers how to hold their bills to a minimum.

A lot of people are already using gas more wisely. If you are one of them, read on just in case you've missed a tip or two.

If you are not one of them, this is the time to start. Here's how:

Get out of hot water. Hot water is one of the biggest and most expensive energy users in the home. A shorter, not-quite-so-hot shower helps save money. A dripping hot-water faucet is a bandit.

The same is true in the kitchen and laundry room. Wash only full loads in the dishwasher. Wash and dry only full loads of clothes. Don't overdry. It makes clothes harsh and stiff and wastes fuel.

Speaking of the kitchen, you can save gas by planning oven meals around dishes that can be cooked at the same temperature. When using top burners, tailor the flame to fit the pan.

Get your house in order. Make sure you have six inches of insulation in the attic. And check regularly to make sure it hasn't settled. Make sure your exterior walls are insulated. Check the weather stripping around doors and windows, and make sure they stay closed when the heating or air conditioning is on.

No single one of these tips will save you an immense amount of money, but each one helps a little. Add all those little savings up, and it could make a big difference.

The Cactus Curtain Question

Recently I learned of an advertisement which appeared in some of the major newspapers in the country which consisted of a copy of a letter sent to President Ford, signed by several Members of Congress. The letter warned, in a full page ad paid for by an outside organization, that Mexico was shifting dangerously to the left, and that there was an imminent danger of Communist domination of Mexico. In part, the letter mentioned Mexican President Echeverria by name as someone who apparently was acting sympathetically toward the Communists. I had not seen the letter before it was sent to President Ford, and I was not asked to sign it.

Although I would agree that other nations should be fully aware of the dangers presented by Communism, and that we should be most careful in all our negotiations with other nations, particularly those which we know to be sympathetic to Communism, it is my judgment that foreign policy and diplomacy should not be conducted through the newspapers or any other news media. Relations with other nations are often developed through years of careful, behind-the-scenes negotiations and communications which could be seriously upset by public displays of bravado or sword-rattling. I am confident that most of my colleagues who signed the letter had no idea that it would one day appear in print for the world to see, for some of them have told me that they had written the letter for the President to read, not for a newspaper advertisement. The organization chose to print the letter at the time the Republican convention opened, and some people feel the timing may have been designed as an attempt to embarrass President Ford. What makes matters worse, however, is that this incident occurred shortly before President Echeverria was scheduled to visit the United States, Texas in particular.

Most of us would justly take offense at any efforts by a foreign country, particularly if it were Mexico or Canada, to tell us how we should conduct our own domestic affairs. For example, what would our reaction be if Members of the Mexican Congress (or some Mexican organization) advised us in Texas that we should handle our energy policy differently, or use different textbooks in our

Blizzards Lost To Junction 27-6

In their second non-district battle of the 1976 season, a penalty-plagued Blizzard team suffered a 27-6 defeat at the hands of the Junction Eagles Friday night.

The only Winters score came with 4:12 left in the first period when a blocked punt gave the Blizzards the advantage and allowed Marvin Moore to score on a 3 yard run. Johnny Curbo attempted a two-point play after the TD but was stopped short.

Junction's Gilbert Gonzales tied the score with 8:40 left in the second quarter climaxing a 66 yard drive.

Humberto Gonzales dominated the third period for the Eagles when he took advantage of a fumble recovery and scored from the one yard line. His second TD came late in the quarter with another one yard run. David Baugh succeeded on both PAT attempts to give Junction a 20-6 lead after three quarters.

An early fourth period score and successful PAT gave the Eagles a 27-6 victory.

Winters continued to dominate their opponents in rushing yardage with 176 yards compared to 85 for Junction. The Blizzards' leading rushers were Marvin Moore with 19 carries and 60 yards; Flent McNeill with 7 carries and 29 yards; Johnny Curbo, 5 carries and 26 yards, and Kent McNeill who carried 5 times for 26 yards.

Receiving the "Big Hit" award this week was Phillip Colburn. Colburn and Flent McNeill were credited with the most tackles.

schools? On the other hand, most of us would welcome gestures of goodwill on the part of the Mexican government, and would be willing to listen to their advice or suggestions if they were handled properly, through diplomatic channels which allowed both parties the respect and dignity they deserve.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Miller and children, Kaylene and Bill Mark, were visitors in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Minzenmayer over the Labor Day weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Miller Sr., of Trinidad, also visited with the Minzenmayers.

Stars for outstanding plays were awarded to the following players: Leroy Jones and Kent McNeill, 2 each; and Bret Guy, Gary Lett, Gary Schwartz, Marvin Moore, and Reggie Boles, 1 each.

Blizzard players were graded for their efforts against the Eagles as follows:

OFFENSE
Darrel Kurtz, 77%
Doug Rogers, 70%
Gary Schwartz, 66%
Phillip Colburn, 64%
Jesse Ivey, 63%

DEFENSE
Phillip Colburn, 70%
Jesse Ivey, 70%
Mike Davis, 65%
Kent McNeill, 65%
