MOVING LANDMARK—The residence which has served the First Baptist Church as a parsonage for about 50 years was moved out Tuesday morning, to make way for a new house for the pastors of the church. This house was moved to Tuscola. Charles Poe will have an article next week on the history of the old parsonage.

Winters Gets Park Grant

Texas' U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen and Congressman Bob Krueger last week notified The Enterprise they had been informed by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (Federal agency) that a $32,150 grant has been awarded to the City of Winters to be used on improvement of recreation facilities.

The funds, which will be matched by $31,650 (in kind) from the City of Winters, and $500 from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, will be used to develop and improve the city park.

The "in kind" funds to be provided by the City of Winters will include labor and locally-provided materials, it was stated.

Included in the development and improvement project will be construction of a tennis court, renovation of the present tennis court, installation of picnic units, pathways, benches, parking and roadways.

The City had applied for the grant funds some months ago. It is not known when the funds will become available or when work will begin.

Council Will Meet Thursday Night

The regular meeting of the Winters City Council, scheduled for Monday night of this week, was re-scheduled for Thursday night, June 9, at 5:30.

Postponement of the regular meeting was caused by the absence of both the mayor and the mayor pro tem, City Secretary Buford Baldwin said. Mayor Homer Hodge is on vacation, and Mayor Pro Tem James West was out of town on business.

At a meeting of the council in May, West, mayor pro tem, named Alderman Al Scates to head a committee to study the operation of the city's light plant, and to report at a later date. This report probably will not be made at Thursday's meeting, because of the absence of the mayor, it was said.

Scates was asked to name two other citizens to work with him on the study of the light plant, but at last report, he had been unable to get people to sit on the special panel.

The City Council has been studying the feasibility of disposing of the light plant, and had been talking with West Texas Utilities Co. However, at the last meeting of the city's governing body, it was decided to make a more detailed study of operation of the plant before further action was taken on the proposed sale.

Abilene Team Took First In Golf Tourney

A team representing Packaging Corp. of Abilene took first place in the 11th annual Business-Industrial golf tournament held at the Winters Country Club Sunday.

A team representing Bishop Boys Ford of Winters was second, with the third place trophy going to the team from Dry Manufacturing, Wallace Murray.

The winning team, with a team total of 136, included Connally, Breuning and Stuerzenberger.

Representing Bishop Boys Ford were McAdoo and English of Winters, and Curley of Abilene, with 137.

Third place was won by Baker, Peoples, McNelly and Mussler of Abilene, for Dry Mfg.

The Country Club expressed thanks to all companies sending representative teams to the tournament. They included:

Abilene Sales; Bob Loyd LP Gas, B & S Builders, First Savings & Loan, Heidenheimer's, John's International, Mac Oil Field Co.

Curbo and Russell won first place in the low ball partnership with a 63.

Automatic Long Distance Dialing Available To Winters Subscribers

Winters telephone customers no longer will go through an operator when dialing long distance numbers.

Effective Thursday of this week, new telephone equipment automatically records the telephone number of one-party customers when they dial their own long distance calls. The equipment has recently been installed in Winters.

"The operator will no longer ask one-party customers for their number when they dial long distance calls," Jack Goss, General Telephone's San Angelo Division manager, said. On 112 calls, the new equipment will automatically record the number for customers as well as send the call to the destination. The call will be timed and billed without operator assistance, Goss said.

Customers with more than one-party service will still be asked for their number when dialing their own calls. If the call is a "112" station-to-station call, this does not make it an "operator handled" call.

All customers will continue to dial the access codes "112" for station-to-station calls and "110" for all calls requiring operator assistance such as person-to-person, collect, third number billing, and credit card. The operator will continue to ask for the special service you want when you make "110" calls.

"With this change in equipment, the repair service number will change. To reach repair service, customers should dial 112+655-0686," Goss said. There is no charge for calling this number. General Telephone customers are advised to make a note of this new number in the front of the directory for quick reference.

Commissioners To Study Ambulance Proposals

Apparently, the responsibility of providing ambulance to the residents of Runnels County now is in the hands of the County Commissioners, following another discussion of the issue at a meeting in the district courtroom last Thursday night.

At the end of the discussion, which included recommendations by a special committee appointed to study the problem, it was understood that the question of county-funded and direction of county-wide ambulance service would be up for consideration by the Commissioners at the next regular meeting of the governing body next Tuesday, June 14.

Will Attend Lutheran Convention

The Rev. Paul T. Rueckwald, interim pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Winters, and Mrs. Ellis Ueckert will attend the Southern District of the American Lutheran Church seventh annual convention at Texas Lutheran College, Seguin, June 10-12.

More than 900 pastors, lay delegates and visitors of the District's 260 congregations in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico are expected to attend.

Sunday service at St. John's Lutheran Church June 12 will be called "Laymen's Sunday," and will be conducted by the men of the congregation.

Thursday night's meeting was another "mass" gathering of interested persons from all areas of the county to discuss the ambulance problem, following announcement by the two funeral homes in the county that they would discontinue privately-operated ambulances. At the first meeting some weeks ago, County Judge Purifoy appointed a special "steering" committee to come up with suggestions and recommendations to fill void once the private ambulances are taken out of service.

Last Thursday night, Allen Davis, who headed the special committee, gave his report on action of the committee. He said, "This is a county-wide problem." The steering

County Receives $689.60 For Voter Processing

State Comptroller Bob Bullock mailed checks totaling $826,677 to 251 counties last week as payment for issuing and processing voter registration certificates from Feb. 1, 1976, through Jan. 31, 1977.

Runnels County received $689.60 as its share of the total payment.

Counties are paid 40 cents by the state for each voter registration certificate issued or canceled, Bullock said.

Payments ranged from a low of $6.80 to Donley County to $117,141 to Dallas County, the Comptroller said.

committee, he said, recommended that the county purchase the necessary equipment—two ambulances for Winters and two for Ballinger—and that the equipment be manned on a voluntarily basis until a comprehensive manning plan can be worked out.

The committee also proposed that an ambulance board be appointed by the County Commissioners to oversee all operations of the ambulance service.

Darrell Rains, of Davis-Rains-Seale Funeral Home, Ballinger, presented a proposed ambulance plan and explained to the group that his plan was merely a suggested proposal for the group to do with as they saw fit.

The Rains plan called for the county to purchase four ambulances, and that the county be responsible for all necessary equipment required by the Texas Department of Health Re-

BUS BARN—Construction workers are shown working on the concrete slab which will be the floor of the Winters Independent School District's new bus barn. When this picture was taken, last week, a third of the floor had been poured; the rest of the slab was poured Monday and Tuesday of this week. Located on the northeast side of the track field, the bus barn

No Big Worry

In spite of the many and varied remarks and reports, pro and con, which have accompanied countywide discussions on the ambulance situation in Runnels County during the past few weeks, Runnels countians may be assured they will not be left dangling, without adequate ambulance service.

The public discussions, which have been quite heated at times, have served the purpose of calling attention to the business of providing the vital ambulance service. Not everyone views the situation in the same light, a very important factor in the democratic process; if everyone expressed the same ideas, then the majority of them would not be thinking.

What it boils down to is this: The County Commissioners have evidently accepted the idea that the people are looking to the county to provide, in some manner, necessary ambulance service. We can be assured the Commissioners will give the idea a thorough study, and explore all angles, before they act. In fact, it would have been a bit improper for them to have grabbed the ball and run without sorting out the facts. There is no thought but that all of them have the welfare of the entire county foremost in their minds. The rest of us owe them the courtesy of allowing them to pursue the idea. This is not to say we should step back and refuse to offer our assistance; and it is not to say the rest of us do not have the responsibility of expressing our ideas for their use or discard. We may not be personally satisfied with the plan they come up with, but at least a start will be made, subject to changes which might surface in the future. This is the way the system works.

The Beef Referendum

What it is.

Soon you'll have an opportunity to vote on the beef research and information plan. Here are some facts to consider.

It's a self-help program. If the beef business is going to get more profitable, producers themselves are going to have to make it more profitable. The beef referendum provides the tools—promotion, research, foreign market development, marketing information—to do the job.

It's producer-controlled. The plan will be run by a Beef Board made up of cattlemen who have been recommended by their fellow cattlemen. Every state or region will be represented in proportion to its beef production.

It's fair. The investment needed for the program is provided by a collection of just 3/10's of 1% on the sale of each animal. It's based on a "value added" system that guarantees each person pays only his fair share.

It's needed. The beef industry's present research and information effort is inadequate by any standard. We spend a small fraction of what many other, smaller commodity groups spend (e.g. cotton, citrus, dairy, soybeans). The referendum will generate the $30 to $40 million a year needed to solve our problems and strengthen our markets.

It's accepted.

Nearly 90 producer organizations endorse the program. During a series of six public hearings held by USDA, 150 beef and dairy leaders spoke out in favor of the program; only 6 against.

What it isn't.

It's not a government program. This is a producer program. Producers wrote the law. Producers are paying for the referendum through voluntary donations. And producers will run the program from day one, once the referendum passes. The government's involvement is limited: The Secretary of Agriculture formally appoints the Beef Board members, who are nominated by producer organizations; he is also responsible for seeing that the money is spent according to producer wishes, as set out in the law.

It's not a tax. The program is voluntary. The collection is automatic. But if anyone, for any reason, doesn't want to participate, he can ask for a refund and get it promptly. With no red tape. That's the law.

It's not just an advertising program. The program is comprehensive. Some of the money will go for consumer education. Some for foreign market development. Some for production research. Some for new product development. Some for improving marketing and distribution. And some for advertising and promotion—whatever producers, through the Beef Board, decide they need.

It's not just for the big guy. Beef Board members will be both big producers and small, from all across the country. Cow-calf operators. Farmer-feeders. Stocker operators. Feedlot people. Dairy men (dairy cattle account for 20% of beef production). This program will help everybody.

Now, it's up to you. Register at your ASCS office from June 6 to June 17. Voting July 5-15 at the ASCS office.

How To Make Home Improvements 'Just That'

To make home improvements be "just that," consumers should follow some simple precautions, advises Mrs. Juanita O'Connor, county extension agent.

—Before calling a contractor, know what you need done.

This will help identify the work you believe most important—and it will help make sure you don't "get talked into" additional jobs.

—Get at least three estimates on any job.

Be sure the estimates are comparable, that each contains what will be done, and that each says exactly how much the entire job will cost.

—Before deciding on a contractor, check out the firm's reputation.

Check that the company has a permanent place of business in the community—an itinerant contractor will not be around later to handle complaints.

Request references from the company—and check them out. Ask other customers if they were satisfied with that company's work.

—After deciding on a contractor, carefully read the contract that is drawn up.

Don't sign a contract with any blank spaces—and do not sign a contract before reading it.

Be sure the contract spells out what is to be done, the starting and completion dates, types of materials, the total cost, and has a provision outlining who is responsible in case of an accident by an employee or damage to your property.

—Never hand over payment for the entire job in advance.

Pay at the end of the job—or make only a small down payment in advance, if necessary. Another alternative is paying in portions—as the job is completed.

Yogurt Becomes A Habit

Have you tried yogurt? Like sour cream, yogurt is smooth, elegant, and versatile. It's a food to be enjoyed for its special taste and multiple uses. Once you acquire a taste for this nutritious food, you quickly develop the yogurt habit.

Yogurt is a thick, custard-like dairy product made by fermenting milk with a special culture. Either whole milk or skim milk with nonfat milk solids is used. It comes plain or in a variety of fruit flavors and has a refined flavor all its own.

Now is a good time to start cultivating a taste for something this good since all milk and dairy products are in heavy supply this month, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Marketing specialists with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service say that commercial stocks of dairy products are very large and milk production is at levels not seen in a decade. That means there will be an abundant supply of yogurt in your dairy cases this month.

When cooking with yogurt, here are some tips: Always spare the heat. Low temperatures and short heating times are best or, like sour cream, yogurt may separate. To prevent separation, stabilize yogurt by adding a small amount of flour or cornstarch. Fold, do not stir, yogurt into other ingredients and it will keep its consistency. For baking, use only 1/2 teaspoon of baking soda for each cup of yogurt used.

Some special ways to embellish plain yogurt for desserts:

Sprinkle brown sugar over plain yogurt.

Drizzle honey over plain yogurt, (2 tablespoons plain to each cup yogurt).

Stir 1 tablespoon sugar and 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon into 1 cup plain yogurt.

Combine 2 tablespoons chopped nuts, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/8 teaspoon nutmeg. Sprinkle over plain yogurt. Sufficient mixture for 1 cup yogurt.

Soak 1/2 cup light seedless raisins in 1 cup boiling water for 5 minutes; drain. In a bowl combine raisins, 1/4 teaspoon grated orange rind and 1/4 cup orange juice, two tablespoons honey and 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon. Allow to stand at least one hour to blend flavors. Serve over plain yogurt. Yields 1/2 cup.

Added flings with fruit flavored yogurt:

Place canned or fresh peach half in dessert dish. Top with prune whip yogurt and sprinkle with brown sugar.

Top sliced bananas with blueberry yogurt and sprinkle with flaked coconut.

Top Dutch spiced apple yogurt with maple-blended syrup.

Stir 2 tablespoons honey into 1 cup boysenberry yogurt. Pour over hot buttermilk pancakes. Note: Other fruit flavored yogurt may be used in place of boysenberry yogurt.

To be Served Over Fruit or as a Fruit Salad Dressing. Stir 2 tablespoons chopped nuts into 1 cup cherry yogurt.

Stir 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg into 1 cup orange yogurt.

In chilled bowl with chilled beaters whip 1/2 cup whipping cream; fold in 1/2 cup strawberry yogurt. Makes 1 1/2 cups dressing.

Stir 1/8 teaspoon curry powder into 1 cup pineapple yogurt.

Home Gardeners Can Stretch Moisture Supply

Hot, dry summer weather is here and that means following certain practices to "stretch" the moisture available for your lawn and garden.

"Wise use of available moisture helps keep your lawn and garden plants growing and healthy while at the same time reducing the amount of irrigation water required."

To start with, use a good mulch at least two inches deep around flowers, shrubs and other plants. This reduces evaporation loss from the soil surface, lowers the soil temperatures, reduces weed growth and cuts down on soil cultivation. Shredded pine bark, pine straw, wood chips, chopped wheat or oat straw or other organic matter is good for mulching.

When watering, the agent recommends soaking the soil to a depth of 6 to 10 inches. Of course, where the soil surface is sloping, reduce the rate of application to avoid excessive runoff.

Deep watering encourages deep root penetration and provides a greater reservoir of moisture for plants. This enables plants to withstand dry weather better than when waterings are light and frequent. After a thorough soaking of the soil, watering can be delayed until plants begin to wilt.

Apply fertilizer, insecticides or fungicides to plants

1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon salad herbs, crushed

Dash of garlic powder
Dash of onion powder
1 cup plain yogurt

In a small mixing bowl beat cottage cheese until fairly smooth; add vinegar, salt, salad herbs, garlic and onion powders; mix thoroughly. Fold in yogurt. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Use as a dressing for tossed salads. Keeps well in covered container in refrigerator for several days.

only when there is adequate moisture in the soil. Severe foliage burn can occur if these materials are applied when plants are under water stress conditions. Fertilize lawns when needed since a well-fertilized lawn will use water more efficiently and will require less water to keep it alive.

Raising the cutting height of your lawnmower one-fourth to one-half inch will also reduce the water needs of your lawn.

Do your yard work early in the morning or late in the afternoon. You will enjoy it more and it will be easier on you, the yard boy.

Garden Check List For June

1. Too late to prune crapemyrtles now except for shaping and removing spent flower clusters. Should powdery mildew be a problem use Benomyl or Acti-dione PM. Fertilize now for maximum flower production.

2. Roses will need summer attention for peak fall beauty. Prune all spent blossoms back to within 1/2 inch of a 5-or-7-parted leaf. Fertilize monthly through August with a water soluble rose fertilizer. Complete balanced fertilizers such as 10-10-5 or 12-12-12 can also be used at one pound per 100 square feet of bed space. Aim to fertilize after each flush of blooms.

3. Continue preventive spray programs on roses for blackspot and mildew control. Benlate will control both.

4. Repair storm-damaged trees when needed rather than waiting for the dormant season.

5. Plant chrysanthemum liners now for compact, full specimens next fall. Pinch out terminal buds on each shoot. Repeat the pinching each time a lateral bud sends out a shoot. Pinch as soon as new shoot has three sets of leaves. Stop pinching in late July or early August.

6. Aphids are multiplying rapidly. Don't let the population get ahead of you.

7. Watch for webworms on pecans, mulberry, persimmons and many other trees.

8. Bagworms are showing up in junipers and other narrow-leaved evergreens. This trashy, bag-toting pest can easily be controlled while small with Sevin, Malathion or Diazinon.

9. Other insects to watch for include Elm leaf beetles, Lace bugs on pyracantha and sycamores and scale on holly and euonymus as well as red spider mites on almost everything else.

10. If poor drainage is stopping you from having a garden, consider building a raised bed for flowers and/or vegetables.

11. Still plenty of time for summer and fall color by using copper plants, periwinkle, moss rose, lantana and mums.

12. Sow directly into the soil seeds of cornflower, sunflower, zinnia, morning glory, portulaca, marigold, cosmos, and gourds.

13. Gardenias are acid loving plants and must receive special care if grown in neutral or alkaline soil. Iron chlorosis is a frequent problem under these conditions. Use iron sulfate or iron chelate to correct the problem.

14. Do not neglect to pinch back the terminal growth on both annual and perennial plants. This will result in shorter, more compact plants with more flowers.

15. When watering, apply sufficient moisture to soak the soil to a depth of 8 inches. Try to water early in the day so plants dry before evening. This will help avoid diseases.

16. Chinch-bugs are working in St. Augustine lawns. If controls recommended for May have not been applied by this time better do so at once.

17. Make cuttings of your favorite chrysanthemums and root them in a mixture of perlite and peat moss. Cover cutting box with plastic and place in a shaded area for 5 to 6 days to prevent wilting. Roots should form in 3 to 4 weeks.

18. Be on the lookout for sod webworms in area lawns. This devastating pest which severs grass blades can be controlled with Sevin (car-

A popular and common adage to Americans has, for a long time, been "A day's work for a day's pay."

That simple phrase says a lot about both America's long-standing conviction that a person derives much of his dignity from his work—his ability to perform for others—and from a sense of fair dealing, the practice of keeping one's word, of delivering goods promised, of seeking only fair and just compensation.

As we in Washington, D.C., begin to formulate a national energy policy, I think it important that we be careful not to depart from these simple and basic practices even while we deal with the most complex of issues, a category into which the energy issue surely falls.

For that reason, this week in Washington I have called for an amendment to the National Energy Plan that would provide basic consumer protection in an area that might otherwise be overlooked.

What I have endorsed, first, is the President's theory of allowing tax credits to Americans who, on their own, agree to insulate their homes in accordance with guidelines clearly stipulated in a national energy plan.

I've gone further by suggesting that we write into the energy bill a provision that persons who do the actual insulating work be either bonded or required to guarantee both the quality baryl) or Diazinon.

19. If instructions on the fungicide or insecticide package calls for a pound per 100 gallons of water and all you want is a gallon or two, use one level tablespoon per gallon. If it calls for a pint of liquid material per 100 gallons use one teaspoon per gallon.

20. Share your garden and garden products with friends and shut-ins. They will love you for it and you will feel so much better.

of their work and the quality of materials used.

Without these guarantees against shoddy workmanship and inferior materials, it might well be that the very persons whom this legislation is intended to help in saving money might instead be financially exploited.

In other words, a tax credit for having insulation installed this year will not do much good if the homeowner has to have the insulation work redone next year because of inferior workmanship or because substandard materials were used.

I know that most professionals who do home repair and maintenance work are honest, hard-working and provide a valuable service to homeowners. This is all the more reason that we need to be careful to implement into law requirements that insulation installers be bonded or required to guarantee their work. Without such a provision, we run the risk of opening a Pandora's box of home installment insulation "professionals" whose primary goal is not to serve, but to exploit.

As you know, I have often spoken out against what I have sometimes seen as an overabundance of federal regulation. I continue to be cautious about the expanding federal regulation. But, at the same time, there are other areas—and I believe this to be one—where specific and strong requirements are essential.

Mrs. Dobbins Honored By Methodist Commission

Mrs. M. L. Dobbins of Winters recently was recognized as one of the "Outstanding Women" in the United Methodist Church Central Conference, for her work with women's organizations of the church over a period of years.

The Commission on the Status and Role of Women of the conference sponsored a pictorial display at the annual conference. Selections were made based on input from Commission members, District Superintendents, and others.

In a letter to Mrs. Dobbins, Mary Harwell, secretary of the Commission, said, "The Commission is pleased to honor you for setting an outstanding example for other women." Mrs. Dobbins has worked in many women's organizations of the church, from the old Missionary Society, to the United Methodist Women of the present, since 1933. She served as district recording secretary for four years, as Central Texas Conference Secretary of Youth Work for three years, and as Brownwood District president for four years.

She has been a delegate to the South Central Jurisdiction annual meeting of the Women's Society one year in Arkansas and one year in Oklahoma. She attended the Assembly in Portland, Ore., which is held every four years, while she was serving as District president 1964-68.

MRS. M. L. DOBBINS

between us and my great-grandfather only my grandmother is missing. My grandmother Patterson was ten years old when she came to this area so that puts us rather close to that group."

"Walthall grew up as a lot of towns and communities in the South Western part of the United States where a road crosses the river, and that's what happened here. The stage road from Camp Colorado, in Coleman County, to Ft. Concho, crossed the river here and it was a stage stop—probably changed horses. Anyway, there was a store here. When history picks up information about this community there was one store, one house and one dugout. There is more history recorded about the dugout than there is about the house, because they held court in the dugout. And the Munseys lived in the dugout and they were quite prominent in the community. My great-grandfather Hutchison came into the area as a man who had recently gotten out of the service, he was an officer in the Confederate Army.

"I can remember him as a wee lad, 5 or 6 years of age, and being short of stature, I thought he was an awfully tall man. He had a white beard that hung away down on his chest. He chewed tobacco and he never did spit too far away. And another thing I remember, is that he chewed thick Tinsley, which came in a little can about 12 in. square. It had a hinged lid on it. These are a few things that I remember.

"He sat on the front porch at our home in Winters and spit over the rail, but he didn't always clear the rail and my grandmother gave him a hard time because he was so messy, but he was having a good time. He lived to be 93 years of age, so he didn't let his daughter bother him too much, I guess.

"Some people have asked where did the name Walthall originate? We have two proposals, but no evidence of where it originated. There was a man by the name of Walthall who came through the Dallas area about 1876 and apparently came through here about that time. He wound up in Sweetwater or Big Spring and later became a prominent lawyer. But I would lean to the theory that the name Walthall was derived from the town of Walthall, Miss. Numerous people in this section came from Miss. including the Hightowers, Guests and Deans. They were all quite prominent in this community so they could have had a lot of influence in the naming of it.

"Because this was a military road between the two forts, there was a telegraph line here—it came through here in 1875 but it didn't last very long. They took it out in 1883, so it only lasted eight years. The post office had a shorter life than that—from June of 1877 to Oct. of 1881, only four years. William G. Hightower who owned the store was the first postmaster, A. B. Hutchison was the second and Nat Guest was the last.

"Of the early families that came in here, Guest is the first name that keeps cropping up. They came in here in the late 1860's, probably a year or two after the Civil War was over. And they eventually owned quite a bit of this ground around here. The first recognized house that was built was on the Guest ranch. It was built by Fred Schroder in 1876, with lumber hauled from Fort Worth. Ft. Worth is still quite a distance today but 225 miles in a wagon hauling lumber is quite a chore.

"Some of the early names are Guest, Schroder, Muncy, Hightower, Halcomb, Coffey, Davis, Dean, Cotten, Dickson and Hutchison. And probably at one time that was everybody who was here. (The cemetery was known as the Guest Cemetery until Blair Hays bought the ranch and he owns the ranch today.)

"In my genealogy, which I like to work on continuously, is information about my great-grandfather Hutchison. I don't know why but, he was named Archibald Beniah Hutchison, and why he only went to the rank of 1st Lieut., I don't know. He should have been a general with that name because he must have been a heck of a fighter."

Poe's Corner BY CHARLES POE

"Honest confession is good for the soul," or so they say. I am sorry that I misspelled the name of Mrs. Dorsett's grandmother in last week's column. She was married to Judge James M. Easterling instead of Easterly.

Two official historical markers were unveiled on May 15, to herald the accomplishments of some early Runnels pioneers.

sources and a monthly subsidy of $300 for each city.

Under the Rains proposal, the cities would provide all upkeep (tires, batteries, gasoline, oil and insurance), backup personnel (police and fire officers), and a subsidy of $300 per month to the operators.

The operators of the ambulance service, under the proposed Rains plan, would be the hospitals of Winters and Ballinger. The hospitals would be responsible for all personnel and their training, replacement supplies, and collection of all fees from ambulance calls.

Ted Meyer of Winters read a petition which he said was being circulated in the county, calling upon the County Commissioners to assume responsibility for the ambulance service. He said a big majority of the people in the county would sign the petition, and that many had already signed.

Mayor Bill Goetz of Ballinger pointed out that if the cities subsidized the service, and the county also subsidized the service from their respective tax funds, then the people living within the city limits of the two towns would be doubly taxed as they pay both city and county taxes.

Commissioner Pat Pritchard, Prec. 3, replied, "When we come to town to buy something, we pay a sales tax. The county is not authorized to participate in a sales tax."

Commissioner Charles Bradshaw said, "Time is running out. We have to do something, and the county commissioners are not trying to wash their hands of the problem." He also moved that the county provide all the funds necessary for the operation of ambulance. That motion received approval by the committee, after much discussion.

Judge John Purifoy told the group that he didn't think Bradshaw really understood what he was suggesting. (Apparently, that the county commissioners assume responsibility for establishing an ambulance service.)

County Auditor Price Middleton stood, and stated, "Let's have a little education concerning county operations." He continued, explaining that the county could not legally operate an ambulance. He did say, however, that the county could contract with an outside party to provide services and subsidize such service.

Judge Purifoy then asked for a show of hands on the Bradshaw motion, that the county fund ambulance operations.

Several people in the audience then began to talk at once, after they realized that the 37 people present were being asked to commit the county commissioners to a program that involved a large expenditure of money.

Judge Purifoy said the vote had no significance, but called for a show of hands on the motion. Ten people voted for the motion, and nine people voted against it.

Judge Purifoy said that the commissioners would meet in executive session after the meeting adjourned, and that statement drew several protests from news media representatives. It was pointed out that it would not be proper for the commissioners to meet in a meeting closed to the public or the media.

Commissioner Pritchard suggested that the commissioners discuss ambulance service at their next meeting, June 14.

It was apparent that the four commissioners were concerned about future ambulance service, and would make a comprehensive study of the matter.

CAREY JOBE

Carey Jobe To Legion Boys State

Carey Alan Jobe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron D. Jobe of Winters, was selected to represent Winters in the 37th annual American Legion Boys State sponsored by the Department of Texas and held on the campus of the University of Texas.

Boys State got underway this week, with 930 high school boys from all parts of Texas, and two from Mexico, registering.

Following registration, each "citizen" of Boys State was assigned to one of two political parties, the Nationalist or Federalist. Each citizen functions as a member of his party, attends precinct, county and state conventions and votes in its primary.

Boys State helps to develop civic leadership and pride in American citizenship, the sponsors said. Civic workshops stress the importance of maintaining our form of government and bringing better understanding of our national traditions and beliefs to the more than 28,000 young men who are participating this year.

The program takes on added significance, the Legion said, since the vote has been extended to 18 year

Inside Information On Stuffed Mushrooms

Mushrooms are not only the most delicious of natural foods, but upended mushroom caps make charming containers for a wide variety of hot and cold stuffings. Stuffed with spinach souffle and crumb-topped, they make irresistible appetizers for a cookout or party. Prepare them in advance if you prefer—to the point of scattering them with crumbs—and store them in the refrigerator until time to heat them.

Almost any well-seasoned mixture makes an appetizing stuffing for raw mushrooms. Consider curried egg salad or cream cheese, blue cheese and nuts; cottage cheese and red caviar or seasoned ripe avocado—these would be cold.

EASY SPINACH STUFFED MUSHROOMS

1-1/2 pounds medium to large fresh mushrooms
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

About 1 cup soft bread crumbs, divided
1 package (12 oz.) frozen spinach souffle, thawed

Rinse, pat dry and remove stems from mushrooms. Brush outside portion of caps with melted butter mixed with lemon juice. Place on a shallow baking pan. Sprinkle inside of each mushroom with 1/2 teaspoon of the bread crumbs. Fill caps with spinach souffle; sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350° F.) until golden, about 15 minutes.

Yield: About 30 stuffed mushrooms.

The word vaccine came from a Latin word meaning "cow" because the first vaccine—for smallpox—was made from a substance from cows.
