Runnels County Will Establish Ambulance Service

MASONIC OFFICERS—Officers for Winters Masonic Lodge 743 for 1977-78 installed last Friday night

Swatchesue, secretary; W. G. Layton, junior steward; George Garrett, treasurer; and J. S. Tierce, chaplain.

A countywide ambulance service will be established and financed by Runnels County, and will be physically operated by North Runnels Hospital and Ballinger Memorial Hospital, but when the service will become a reality depends upon how long it takes to establish legal requirements for the county and the hospitals.

Legal counsel for the hospitals and the County Attorney were to begin immediately drafting contracts and inquiring into other legal commitments, following a decision by the County Commissioners last Wednesday to assume responsibility for the ambulance service within the county.

The two funeral homes in the county, Spill Funeral Home in Winters, and Davis-Rains-Seale Funeral Home in Ballinger, announced in April they would discontinue providing ambulance service June 1. However, the two private companies extended closing the service to July 1, and last week announced they would give another extension to July 15, in order to give the county time to set up organization of a county-financed service.

In a meeting Tuesday night of last week in Ballinger, the Runnels County Commissioners met with officials from the cities of Winters and Ballinger, and again were told that the two cities could not join in financing the operation of an ambulance service.

Commissioners met again Wednesday of last week, and formally started organizational procedures. They authorized County Attorney John McGregor to draw up contracts with the two hospitals which would be subsidized with county funds, to operate the ambulances in Winters and Ballinger.

The boards of the two hospitals Monday night of last week had agreed to operate the service, providing arrangements could be met regarding liability responsibilities. No announcement has been forthcoming from the two hospitals on staffing the ambulances which will be stationed in both Winters and Ballinger.

No one knows for sure what a countywide ambulance service will cost—estimates have run from $25,000 annually to $75,000 annually. However, it was pointed out that the initial capital investment would be greater in the first year than is expected in succeeding years. The two funeral homes, which have been operating the service for many years, had agreed to donate one ambulance each to the county to begin the service, it was understood.

Although exact cost of the service to the county taxpayers is not known, some officials guessed that assumption of the service by the county could mean a tax increase of as much as 15 cents per $100 evaluation. Most observers, however, have said that this amount would be too high, except for perhaps the first year. Current tax rate is 80 cents per $100 evaluation, based on 35 percent of fair market value.

In turning down the county's proposal that the cities contribute in financing the operation, representatives of the governing councils of Winters and Ballinger pointed out that

Other elective officers are George Garrett, treasurer; John J. Swatchesue, secretary; J. S. Tierce, chaplain; J. C. Martin, senior deacon; T. A. McMillan, junior deacon; Z. I. Hale, senior steward; W. G. Layton, junior steward; and J. A. Traylor, tyler.

Gospel Meeting At Old Norton Church of Christ

Frank Duckworth of Lockney will be the speaker for a summer gospel meeting at the Old Norton Church of Christ, July 10 through July 17.

Leon Bahlman of San Angelo will be song director.

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday, and at 8 p.m. weekdays.

The public is invited to attend these services.

Cong. Bob Krueger To Be In Winters

Congressman Bob Krueger will visit Winters Saturday, July 9, during a tour of his district during a congressional recess.

A coffee and reception for Cong. Krueger will be held at Huffman House, from 8:30 to 10 a.m. Saturday, sponsored by friends of the congressman.

The public has been invited to attend the coffee, and discuss local and national question with Cong. Krueger during his short stay in Winters.

Commissioners Consider County Computer; Concede

After many months of discussions, much give and take, Runnels County Tax Assessor - Collector Jack Farmer will get a computer in his office.

County commissioners, at a meeting Wednesday of last week, voted to authorize purchase of a $15,000 computer to be used by the tax office to make and update county tax rolls.

The four commissioners voted "aye" on the proposal. Judge John Purifor reportedly said he wanted to go on record as voting "no."

"Almost Anything Goes" Here Saturday

It'll be a wacky, zany, hair-down, catch-as-catch-can, come-as-you-are, relaxing summer interlude . . . the "Almost Anything Goes" program scheduled for Saturday evening, July 9, on the Blizzard football field.

Although the "Almost Anything Goes" title has been tacked onto the community-wide celebration, the "Almost" could be scratched from the program, if practice samplers exhibited by participants are indicative of what is to come.

The big show will get on the road at 8 p. m. Saturday, with each participant allowed the privilege of paying a $5 entry fee to subject himself or herself to the most zany goings-on this side of a Marx Brothers' Day at the Circus.

Public admission to the big event will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Four teams will be fielded in the several contests planned for the evening. The Red Devils, with Bill Robinson as captain, will represent the southwest section of town; the Blue Bombers, captained by J. W. Bahlman, will carry the banner of the southeast section; James West is the captain of the Green Hornets, from the northwest section; and Mike Tuggle is captain for the Yellow Dragons, representing the northeast section.

A concession stand will be in operation, manned by members of the Blizzard Band Boosters, with cold drinks, and even hamburgers and hot dogs, and other goodies.

The big program is under the sponsorship of the Band Boosters, with the cooperation of the Winters Chamber of Commerce. Proceeds from the show will be used to help defray expenses for a trip by the Winters High School Blizzard Band to El Paso for a New Year's bowl football game. The Boosters hope to raise much of the $5,000 said to be needed for the trip.

It would be next to impossible to fully describe all the events planned for Saturday's evening of entertainment, but the list includes:

- Go Get the Bride!
- Beach Ball Bingo!

- Fill 'Er Up!
- Knights of the Round Tank!
- Scrambled Eggs!
- Treasure Hunt!
- Sink or Swim!
- Three-Legged Race!

It'll be an evening of full entertainment, rated "G" for the entire family, filled with fun.

Anything Goes events Saturday night on the football field get in a little

This Idea Won't Get Far

This probably will be about as noticeable as a chirp in a boiler factory. Nothing is an uncomfortable to be around or as unwelcome as an idea which is contrary to, or out of step with, old established habits and customs, regardless of their outmoded characteristics. But at least the idea gives opportunity to fill a little space—it may pay its traffic in that manner—or perhaps cause a slight, momentary ripple in the otherwise placid summer coffee conversation pool.

What brings to mind the simple idea—not original, by any means—is the announcement that the County Commissioners last week authorized purchase of a $15,000 computer for the County Tax Assessor-Collector's office, to prepare and update county tax rolls. That $15,000 is not a big price for a piece of equipment that will do what the proposed computer is supposed to do. Used in the right way, it should pay its freight in a short time.

Reading about the computer for the county tax office fueled the thoughts of the several other taxing entities within the county—school districts, cities, hospital districts, and water districts—which periodically and continually prepare and update tax rolls for their bailiwicks. And then the borrowed idea: Why not a computer for each of those districts? What's good for one would be good for all.

But a $15,000 computer for each of these districts? Out of the question, of course. So we'll stick to the systems we're now using. However—now don't go away, there's a lot of space to fill here—how about a more sophisticated computer for the county office? Then let the central county office with the big computer contract with all these other districts to prepare and update their tax rolls, and even send out their tax statements. In fact, such a computer could be programmed to print out all the statements on one piece of paper, thus saving paper and stamps. The county office now is taking care of water districts and hospital districts, on contract, for a small percentage of the collections. The addition of a few more would be no great problem, with the right kind of computer and trained operators.

Right now comes the expected question: But wouldn't the cities, the school districts, etc., lose their autonomy and control by resorting to such a system? Simply, the answer is, of course not. The bigger computer would only print out what it was told to print out, and the separate districts would retain the ultimate authority; there would be no loss of "power."

Present methods are more than outmoded, however efficient, with many separate taxing bodies using as many separate procedures to collect their taxes, and the taxpayer having to handle as many as a dozen pieces of paper, and foot the bill to boot. For comparison, can anyone, in this computer age, imagine a big corporation with several plants or outlets operating such an outdated and unwieldy system?

Of course, as said in the beginning, such an idea won't get far, because once we humans get a grip on something, we are reluctant to let go. Until and unless the tax vise is given a few more turns and begins to squeeze a bit harder. But at least, this space is filled.

WCOTCOG Gets Justice Grant

Governor Dolph Briscoe has approved two criminal justice grants affecting the West Central Texas Council of Governments.

One grant for $16,559 and the second for $180,410, are for upgrading law enforcement communications throughout the 21-county region which makes up WCOTCOG.

It is not known what amount Runnels County or Winters will receive to upgrade communications systems.

Little League Officers Were Named

Officers for the Winters Little League Assn. for 1978 were elected during an ice cream supper and awards ceremony on the Little League baseball field Thursday evening.

Zeb Deck, this year's president of the association, made the awards presentations, and introduced members of the teams in the organization. He also named the All-Star team which will play in district games later this month on the Winters field.

Little League Assn. officers for 1978 are: Esquivel, president; J. B. Guy Jr., vice president; Diane Billups, secretary-treasurer; and Kay Busher, player agent. Directors named include Dr. Y. K. Lee, Lynn Billups and Billy Hall.

Glenda Graham was named president of the Little League Auxiliary.

Clothing that fits tightly emphasizes the figure—making a large person look larger and a thin person thinner. The most becoming fit is loose enough to let the garment hang smoothly with no bulges or wrinkles, says Margret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Paula Liggins Will Go To Japan

The local grants were among 116 approved by Gov. Briscoe statewide for Law Enforcement Assistance Administration funds under the Crime Control Act of 1976.

Miss Matthews On Honor List

Airman Paula S. Liggins, daughter of Mrs. Olga Meyers of Winters, has received a new assignment following graduation from the intelligence specialist course conducted by the Air Training Command at Lowry AFB, Colo.

Ann Liggins, now trained in the use of maps and photographic interpretation, will go to Kadena AB, Japan, for duty with a unit of the Pacific Air Forces. Completion of the course earned the individual credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman is a 1975 graduate of Winters High School.

Many Risks In Leaving A Child In A Car

A personal situation which I witnessed recently prompted me to write this.

In the parking lot of a drugstore, I saw a woman leave a two- or three-year-old child in the car—and turn to go inside the store.

The little girl began to scream quite loudly, but the woman made no attempt to soothe the child or take her into the drugstore.

Perhaps adults—more precisely parents—who do such things misunderstand children's actions in cases like this.

Some falsely assume that the child is being a "troublemaker" or a "brat."

Many parents don't realize the stress they place on their children in such situations.

During early childhood, the greatest fear is that of being left alone.

What goes on in abandoned children's minds, psychologists tell us, is the thought that their parent will not come back.

Therefore, they scream out of fear—not to aggravate parents.

It is important for parents to be aware of—and understand—a child's normal and natural reactions.

More in-depth knowledge of the sequence of child development would enable a parent to deal more effectively with difficult and everyday situations.

Children should never be left alone in a car—not even if the parent only plans to be away for a few seconds.

Anything could happen in that short length of time which could threaten the life of a child.

One also risks the child accidentally putting the car into motion and causing a major accident.

Fashion footnotes sandals for spring. Patent, smooth, sueded and embossed leathers all will be seen. Reptile, particularly lizard, will provide the newest fashion accent, according to Margret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Runnels County Will Establish Ambulance Service; No Date Set

such action would constitute "double taxation" for those property owners in the towns, since city residents already pay a city tax along with a county tax.

"If you pay city tax and county tax, why should you have to add to your county tax for a county service?" Ballinger Mayor Bill Goetz said at the meeting last Tuesday night.

County Judge John Purifoy said that county taxes will have to be raised if the county is to subsidize the entire service.

Costs for the first year alone, which would include the purchase of two more ambulances, maintenance, liability insurance for vehicles and drivers, and pay for training and hiring drivers and attendants, have been estimated at $45,000 to $65,000.

However, persons who have operated ambulance service said they had no idea of what it would really cost to run an adequate countywide service.

Liability insurance for one ambulance presently runs from $900 to $1,200 per year, Darrell Rains of the Ballinger funeral home said. Equipment and training of the attendants comprise the largest portion of the cost of providing the service, he pointed out.

Collecting on bills from patients is another problem which should concern the commissioners, Rains said, noting that his business lost $8,300 in uncollected bills last year.

Rates which have been charged by funeral homes have been unrealistic, some observers said, with most funeral homes subsidizing the ambulance service from their funeral business.

Ted Meyer of Spill Funeral Home in Winters said Spill presently charges $15 for in-town runs and $20 for runs within a 10-mile area. For every mile past the 10 mile limit the charge is 70 cents in addition to the $15 city limit fee.

"That definitely does not cover the cost of the run," Meyer said. He said that out-of-area runs accounted for 40 percent of their business last year.

A large expense is attendants' wages, Meyer said. Depending on amount of experience, attendants' wages range from the minimum wage to $4 per hour, with time-and-a-half for work past 40 hours.

Increased cost of gasoline, maintenance and other related items can offset the entire costs of the ambulance service, Meyer said.

Consumers Demand, Get 'Freezers-at Their-Feet'

Victory for consumers demanding "freezers-at-their-feet" is on the appliance-market horizon, a Texas home economist reports. Refrigerators with a bottom-mounted freezer compartment are making a comeback—after a 10-year absence from the market, and consumer demand in responsible, Mrs. Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist, says.

"Industry had thought the side-by-side refrigerator-freezer would be a better design than bottom-mounted out in the late 1960's. "However, recent market research shows that nearly 50 percent of bottom-mount owners want to replace old units with the same style," she explains.

Mrs. McCormack is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Looking at reasons for the returning design's populacity, she said a bottom-mount freezer puts all other refrigerator contents at an easy-to-reach level—without the need for bending, and many consumers like that, since most use the refrigerator compartment five more often than the freezer section.

Still, family lifestyle and budget and space limits should be the major factors in shopping for refrigerators, the specialist advises.

Krueger Announces Candidacy For Senate

Congressman Bob Krueger (Democrat - New Braunfels) calling for "a voice, not just a vote for Texas in Washington," Monday formally announced his candidacy for the U.S. Senate in 1978.

Speaking to a crowd of supporters from throughout the state gathered at a rally at his home in New Braunfels Krueger said, "Let us not overlook the fact that Texas needs more than just a vote in the U.S. Senate. It needs a voice: one sufficiently free of narrow partisanship and one sufficiently sensitive to the hopes of all the people at home and in Washington."

Krueger, who was elected from the vast 21st District to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1974, outlined four areas requiring leadership from Texans and Americans in the worldwide community.

Economic leadership — We cannot allow America's productive capacity to stagnate. We can consume no more than we produce. We have over emphasized immediate consumption and understressed new productive capacity, so that our economy, in recent years, has declined or stagnated. Only if we produce more in the future can those who have not enjoyed full access to the riches of our society look forward to better economic lives for themselves and their children."

Energy and environmental needs—"Destroying our landscape, polluting our rivers or defiling our air will endanger our health and our future. At the same time, if we do not maximize development of our own energy resources, we halt economic growth or place our destiny in the hands of Middle Eastern principalities."

Education—"If we are to show our concern for our future, we must offer lifelong education to people, young and old, rich and poor, so that they are able to make their maximum contribution to our society... Given the rapid pace of change we have the capacity to offer new learning to our citizens throughout their lifetimes. Our educational institutions need increasingly to nurture this resource."

Finally, the 41 year old former university professor and Shakespearean scholar appealed to his supporters for their assistance. "Texas and America have a vision. And Texans and Americans have a right to be heard. Today, I ask not just for your vote, but your voice for that vision in the U.S. Senate. I need your help and that of your friends all across the state to do it. I pledge you, in return, every resource of mind, body and spirit that I possess."

During his first term in Congress, Krueger was voted "the most effective freshman Democrat" in the House of Representatives in a survey of the offices of his freshman Democratic colleagues. The New York Times said, "Men and women who have been around Congress for years say they cannot remember another freshman House member gaining such stature in such a short time."

In addition to his background as author, scholar, businessman, administrator, and energy expert, Krueger has an active interest in the family's Krueger Brangus Ranch in East Texas near Crockett.

"Dual-career" Marriages On The Increase

Most wives with careers put extra stress on their husbands, says Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist.

"Dual-career" marriages are increasing, but for most husbands, coping with this new life style is difficult, she added.

"A recent study of husbands with career-oriented wives found that the husband faces many stresses.

"Husbands whose wives work are in poorer health and are less content with their marriage, work and life in general than husbands whose wives are not employed, the study reported.

"This indicates that men whose wives work face greater stresses—even though their standard of living is enhanced by the wife's income," she said.

Miss Johnson is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

In general, she said findings pinpoint three major reasons for husband inability to adjust to a wife's career:

—In many cases the husband loses his wife's attention and must spend time helping with chores around the house.

He may also view her employment as a loss of status for himself.

—While the wife grows and expands her roles and gains feelings of self-esteem, the husband feels he has taken on "lesser" roles that threaten his self-esteem.

Men do not feel that their "lesser" role in a dual-career marriage contributes to the personal growth and fulfillment of the marriage.

—Women are more prepared to move into more non-traditional roles than men.

That is, they usually have had outside-the-home work experience—prior to their career and before marriage or in its early years.

On the other hand, men usually have not developed the behaviors and skills to deal with household tasks and childrearing, nor were they reared to be supportive of a wife's career needs.

It may be that society perpetuates the idea that men should be "strong, independent, and more competent than women" while this may not be the case in reality, Miss Johnson added.

On the other side of the picture, many couples have adjusted to dual-career marriages with a great deal of satisfaction, she said.

"This is not accomplished without a great deal of planning and cooperation on both parts, though.

"Marriages which involve highly career-oriented couples find that both husband and wife must be secure in their own position—otherwise the egos begin to suffer.

"These couples also attempt to work out situations and job demands which are fair to both parties.

"They agree that a move toward the advancement of one partner—and the detriment of the other—would not be in the best interest of the couple."

Indications are that dual-career marriages will be a wave of the future and become more and more prevalent, Miss Johnson said.

Although women engaged in full-time careers do not represent the norm in this country, that lifestyle is becoming more acceptable, the specialist said.

Recent figures indicate that while 40 percent of the total labor force is made up of women, currently they represent only about 2.3 percent of those earning more than $25,000 per year.

However, a recent survey of college males indicates that 90 percent expect their wives to earn as much money as they do.

As this lifestyle becomes more popular, the dual-career should be viewed as a solution, and not as a problem in itself, she added.

Be resourceful—when you're in the midst of preparing a recipe that calls for baking powder and find you're out of it, substitute one-half teaspoon baking soda and one-half teaspoon cream of tartar for each required teaspoon of baking powder, suggests Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

During cookout season, buy less tender meat cuts, marinate or slow cook them, and save money—since greater demand for the more tender steaks makes their prices higher at this time, advises Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Pretreat heavily soiled areas and greasy stains in clothing, then use warm wash temperatures and save energy costs. This laundry method is as effective as hot-water washing, says Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

After giving their newborns the best of care, many parents immediately place them in danger by leaving the hospital in a car with the newborn in the mother's arms instead of in an infant car seat, cautions Claudia Korbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Luxury Feel of Fabrics New Fashion Trend

Fabric luxury—in feel and appearance—marks one growing trend in fashion, as velour, velveteen, suedes and silky knit increase in popularity. Margret Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says one important factor in the move toward luxury is the fabric "hand"—the way it feels. "Simply put—fabrics that are nice to touch have an appeal that makes them enjoyable to wear. "Wider use of natural fibers underscores the importance of a pleasant hand in fabrics," she said. Also, manufacturers are treating synthetic and blended fabrics in various ways to make them more appealing—fabric surfaces are brushed, sanded, napped or treated in other ways to make them soft to touch. For synthetic and blended fabrics, sueding is the most popular finish, followed closely by brushing, she said. "These fabrics may feel like fine wool or camel hair, doeskin, fleece or cotton challis. They retain the easy-care features of synthetics—and give luxury that requires no special treatment."

Plants not recommended for human consumption include apricot kernels, pokeweed and water hemlock, reports Mrs. Mary K. Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Linen—the more you wear it, the better it looks, Marlene Odle, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, reminds.

PEACHES—This tree located in the yard of Fred Young at 714 Roberts has produced such an abundance of peaches that the limbs must be supported to prevent them from

Food Poisoning Threat to Americans

Food poisoning poses a serious threat to Americans' health—estimates of actual food poisoning cases range from 2-10 million annually, Frances Reasonover, a foods and nutrition specialist, says. Homemakers have the potential of causing food poisoning while handling, preparing and storing meat and poultry.

For example, leaving cooked meat or poultry at room temperature for more than two hours carries a high risk of food poisoning. Cooked meat and poultry left out at room temperature are a haven for bacterial growth that can cause illness, the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

"Another hazard is cross-contamination of bacteria from raw meat and poultry—possible hosts to harmful bacteria—when such items are prepared with other foods. Washing hands immediately after handling raw meat will help prevent cross-contamination to side dish ingredients.

"Storage of food in the refrigerator may not be safe, because temperatures of 4° F. and above are not cool enough to check bacterial growth. Refrigeration at 40° F. is a safer temperature," she said.

The specialist said that homemakers can follow these suggestions in food preparation to avoid the possibility of causing food poisoning.

—Cook hamburger well done.

—Refrigerate cooked beef roast, pork roast, turkey or chicken as soon after cooking as possible, preferably within two hours.

—Refrigerate tuna, chicken, turkey or egg salad-sandwiches within two hours if possible.

—Be sure refrigerator keeps beef roast, turkey, pork or chicken leftovers cooler than 45° F.

—Stuff a turkey immediately before roasting.

—Cook a turkey completely at one time.

Our monthly birthday party will be Tuesday afternoon July 12th at 3 p.m. Those being honored this month are Lavinia Crockett, July 4th, Betty Brown, 21st, Buford Owens, 22nd, Beth Pumphrey, 26th, and Ruth McDaniel, 26th. Friends and relatives are invited to join us in wishing these people a happy birthday.

The Wednesday morning service was conducted in memory of Ara Busher. We miss Ara very much, and we wish to extend our sympathy to her entire family.

Everyone enjoyed the nice fresh vegetables brought by Mrs. W.L. Burton last week. We have also enjoyed the plums sent by Mrs. Clay Miller.

Our newest resident is Mr. Elmer Hilliard and Mr. Dick Kruse, we hope their stay with us can be a pleasant one.

The Winters String Band will be playing for us next Friday evening at 7 p.m. You are invited to come join us in this hour of fun and relaxation.

Store Coffee to Best Advantage

With coffee prices continuing to rise, consumers want to be sure they're using and storing coffee to the best advantage, Mrs. Sally Coble, a foods and nutrition specialist, says.

"Economically-minded coffee drinkers brew only the amount of coffee they will drink right away. This is because coffee is at its peak of flavor immediately after brewing. If it must stand before serving, hold below boiling temperature, because boiling ruins coffee flavor. Never reheat brewed coffee—this breaks down coffee components and gives the coffee an 'off taste,'" she said.

Mrs. Coble is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Remember to use the right amount of grounds for the desired strength of coffee. Bitter coffee will result when brewed coffee is repoured back through spent grounds," she noted.

Coffee grounds are difficult to keep. The oils and other constituents which provide coffee's tempting flavor and aroma are easily lost, especially if coffee is exposed to air for any length of time, she said.

"Once a coffee can is opened, it should be kept tightly covered in the refrigerator to maintain best quality. Also, buy amounts that can be used within a fairly short period of time. For top quality, store no longer than two weeks, but coffee will be satisfactory for up to six months," she advised.

Test a recreational vehicle on a windy day—before buying—to insure its stability, cautions Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Friends:

I am writing to once again ask for your help, support and good will. Last Monday, July 4, at my New Braunfels home on the Guadalupe River, I announced my intention to seek to represent the people of Texas as your U.S. Senator. That office is one of high responsibility, and the decision to seek it was not made lightly. But I believe that position will allow me an even fuller chance for service to this area and the entire state. In my travels across Texas I have found that most people want the strength and vigor of our state to be represented by strong and effective leadership. They want more than just a vote in the U.S. Senate; they want a voice—one that can provide new direction for our state and nation.

In 1973, when I first sought to represent you and the people of the 21st District in the U.S. Congress, no one knew Bob Krueger, nor did we have the backing of any "political machine." We had something far more important. We had people. People who are willing to work for no other reason than that they were committed to open, honest government. I could never feel any closer to any area than to the one that gave me the chance to fulfill my most cherished goal—representing the people of the land that I come from. The new responsibility that I seek will not lessen this representation; it will strengthen it.

In our statewide effort we will face many obstacles. But I am convinced that with your help and the support of people like you all across this state, we can once again succeed. Thank you for your continued confidence. I shall never forget it.

Warmest personal regards,
Bob Krueger

The Krueger Senate Campaign is forming a "Committee of 21" in each county in the 21st District. The "Committee of 21" will be made up of 21 or more people who are willing to work to elect Bob Krueger to the U.S. Senate. Please help. Send to: KRUEGER OF TEXAS/P.O. BOX 911/NEW BRAUNFELS, TEXAS 78130

I want to be a working member of the "Committee of 21."

I want to make a contribution (make check payable to Friends of Bob Krueger).

I want a bumper sticker.
