TWO OF MANY—These two dogs, apparently pets of someone although without collars or identification, are just two of many—strays and "owned"

—which roam the community, and presenting problems. As long as dogs are allowed to roam at will throughout town, concerned citizens say, they present a health hazard to the entire community.

Rabies Threat Does Exist In Winters

Winters' close proximity to danger and a possible horrible death to someone was reemphasized a few days ago when Dr. Jimmy Smith, Winters veterinarian, reported discovery of a rabid skunk just east of town.

Dr. Smith said the skunk had been found by Walter Spill. The head was sent to an Austin laboratory, and the report was "positive rabies," Dr. Smith said.

Although he has been very careful not to cause a mini-panic over the report, Dr. Smith did say that everyone should take positive action with their pets, and livestock. The presence of even one rabid wild animal in the vicinity is an indication that there are others, it has been pointed out.

Dr. Smith has urged all pet owners to have their animals vaccinated at once to prevent possibility of the disease in that quarter.

Even if every pet owner did have his or her pet vaccinated at once, there still remains a danger, with so many "un-owned" dogs and cats at large in the community, it has been warned. These animals, supposedly belong to no one, roam at will, and often run in packs, causing disturbances and doing damage. Just one rabid animal in such an environment would spell untold danger and trouble, it has been explained. Many people are beginning to call for passage of ordinances, if none exist, and strict enforcement of such ordinances, to prevent an outbreak.

The Winters City Council has discussed the problem, but no action has been taken to date.

County Taxes To Be Increased

Runnels County taxpayers are in for a 15 cent increase in county taxes.

County Commissioners were meeting Tuesday to consider the county's budget for another year, which will show considerable increases in about every department, with some additional items entered. And County Tax Assessor-Collector Jack Farmer already has begun to prepare the 1977 tax rolls to include the 15 cent increase.

The proposed budget, which was being considered by the Commissioners Tuesday, and which was expected to be approved, called for a total expenditure of $1,319,808, with $1,503,736 available from all sources, and $1,342,856 anticipated receipts.

Tax Assessor Jack Farmer said the county tax rate will be increased to 95 cents on each $100 valuation, from 80 cents, at 35 percent of actual value.

This will mean about $145,000 total increase on $68,222,000 assessed value, Farmer said. He said oil values increased about $3 million, and real estate values increased about $2 million.

In the proposed budget which the Commissioners were studying Tuesday, about $63,000 was allotted to the operating of the county's new emergency (ambulance) service. Increases in salaries for county employees will account for about $51,000, with $8,646 set aside to take care of inflationary increases.

No copy of the proposed county budget was available for study before the hearing was held Tuesday.

Blizzard Band Won First Place In Abilene Parade

The Winters High School Blizzard Band won first place for Class AA bands in the annual West Texas Fair parade in Abilene Saturday.

The Blizzard Band has consistently been a parade winner in the fair parade during the past several years.

Blizzards Go To Coleman Friday

With a well-earned win over Junction under their belts, the Winters Blizzards Friday night will travel to Coleman for their third game of the 1977 season, a non-conference affair.

Coach Jimmie Stubblefield said there could be some possible changes in the prospective lineup as the week progresses, and shifts are made to accommodate the situation. He said Phil Colburn, who has been out of action because of injuries, will be out at least another week.

The coach complimented the Blizzard team for "putting it all together" in the fourth quarter against Junction last week, and for their goal-line stand against the Eagles in a crucial moment of that encounter. They performed well under pressure, but cannot be over-confident when they go against the Bluecats this week.

The Blizzards now have a 1-1 record, losing to Clyde in the opener, and then taking the Junction game last week. The Bluecats have an 0-2 record, having lost to Brady and Sonora on their first two outings.

Coleman fields a defensive group similar to Winters, but stunt more. On offense, Richard Holloway, a back, carries about 90 percent of the time, according to scouting reports. The Bluecats do some passing. On defense, Theo Jamison, a 200-pound noseguard, will be someone to reckon with. He goes to tight end on offense.

Prospective lineups for Friday night's game with Coleman:

Cotton Burs Aid in Soil Conservation

"One valuable by-product of the coming cotton harvest is cotton burs," so stated Robert Fowler, with the Soil Conservation Service. Cotton burs and gin residue make excellent mulch material and many area farmers make a practice of returning this material to the soil.

The major benefits of mulching are to reduce water runoff; prevent surface compaction and crusting; minimize water and wind erosion; help establish plant cover; and conserve moisture.

Mulching is particularly beneficial to soils subject to erosion on which low-residue producing crops are grown; on eroded areas which have been shaped; and on clayey soils that have a slow water intake rate. Many gardeners use mulching to gain a three-fold benefit - conserve moisture, control unwanted vegetation and reduce cultivation.

In addition to protecting the soil, cotton burs improve the physical, chemical and biological condition of the soil. Depending on the season, soil type and soil fertility; a ton of burs, stalks and leaves could return about 35 lbs. of Nitrogen, 10 lbs. of phosphorus and 35 lbs. of potassium to the land.

A recommended application rate for cotton burs on cropland is at least 3 tons per acre. When mulching eroded areas and waterways which have been shaped in preparation of seeding, a rate of 5 tons per acre is recommended. The application rate of 10 lbs. of nitrogen with each ton of burs is recommended to aid in the decomposition of cotton burs.

The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations and daisies with a touch of blue.

The bride's attendants wore high waisted dresses with full short sleeves, accented with eyelet embroidery. Dresses were blue and white checked.

Lowell Bloomer of Lohn, and Mrs. Wesley Hamilton of Ballinger, Roddy Hamilton of Midland, Danny Hamilton of Brady, and Edward White of Pleasanton sang wedding music.

The bride is employed by Purifoy Abstract Co., Ballinger. She is a 1975 graduate of Pleasanton High School.

AROUND THE 6-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

Member teams of District 6-AA gave a slightly better account for themselves in pre-conference games around the area, with four 6-AAers winning their contests, while three continued their losing ways. On the season-opening previous Friday night, only two of the seven came out with wins. Those two first-game winners also won their contests last Friday night, and were joined by two others who tasted wins for the first time.

Wylie, Class AA for the second year, last Friday night marked up their second victory, topping erstwhile Class AA now in District 7-A, Hamlin Pied Pipers, 12-7. The Bulldogs scored in the first and then Hamlin spurred out front 7-6 in the fourth, with 8 left on the timeclock. Following the after-score kickoff, Wylie came back to lock onto another TD to wrap it up.

Merkel, the only other team to write up a win in the season beginning the previous week, went after Jim Ned 20-18 at Tuscola. On the stat sheet, Merkel had 11 first downs to JN's 10; 334 rushing yards to 147; and 72 yards in the air to 58 for Jim Ned.

Stamford shutout old time district mate Anson 15-0 at Anson Friday night. The stats showed Anson leading with first downs—12-11—and 208 total yards to 157, however. The Tigers favored the air for 116 yards, and rushed only 92 yards, while Stamford's Bulldogs ran 134 yards and aired for 23.

Winters was the other 6-AA winner Friday night, as they squeezed by Junction 13-12, using the last few minutes in the fourth to do it, while trailing for three quarters. The game was only two minutes from the start when Junction crossed for their first counter, on interception of a Winters pass. The Eagles failed to do anything else until the third, however, and then chalked up another TD to net their final 12. Then in the fourth, recovery of a Junction fumble—one of five for the Eagles—Winters' Chuck Evans went over for the Blizzards' first counter. PAT attempt failed. Then three plays later, Junction fumbled on their own 43, and Winters went 13 plays to score another TD, with Pat Salas going through the middle for two yards and pay territory with 1:57 left on the clock. Johnny Lujano's extra point kick was good, but it was called back for a penalty. His next boot sent the ball between the uprights, and Winters had won a ball game. The Blizzards showed more coordination, and teamwork was obvious, although they trailed on the stat sheet, gaining only 155 yards on the ground and in the air, to Junction's 242.

The Ballinger Bearcats, many times an unknown factor until the conference countdown begins, lost their second outing of the season 23-7 to Sonora. The Bearcats also trailed 'way behind on the stat sheet, with first downs at 12-8 for Sonora, and only 112 yards gain to Sonora's 328.

Colorado City went against AAA Sweetwater Friday night at Sweetwater, and came away a loser 27-14. The Wolves, pre-season touted as the strong team in 6-AA this year, took the lead 14-13 in the third, but the Mustangs came back in the fourth to run and PAT 14 more points to walk away with the win. Sweetwater chalked up 172 yards in the air and on the ground, while C-City made 133.

The Coahoma Bulldogs, most years tough and rough, were shutout by the Post Antelopes Friday night, losing their second in as many comeouts. The Antelopes scored in the first three quarters to come away with a 24-0 win.

Soil Test Now For Fall Small Grain Crops

Soil test are needed to determine the proper rate of fertilizer to apply for fall crops, says Glenn Bragg, Runnels County Extension Agent.

A profitable return from fertilizer depends on the level of available nutrients in the soil before fertilization. Since soils vary in nutrient levels, this means each soil and each nutrient must be considered and fertilizer applied that will supply the crop with those not supplied by the soil.

Soil tests are needed to determine which nutrients are deficient in the soil.

If adequate moisture is present, research has shown that fertilizer applications will increase grain and forage yields, states Bragg.

Now is the time to collect soil samples for fall planted crops.

Soil sample boxes are available from the Runnels County Extension office located on the third floor of the courthouse. Containers can also be obtained by writing or calling the County Extension office (Box 658, Ballinger, Texas; phone 365-2219), contends Bragg.

Comptroller Planning "Friendly" Visits To All Businesses In State

Comptroller Bob Bullock alerted Texas businessmen to begin looking for a friendly visit from a Comptroller's enforcement officer sometime during the next nine months.

The Comptroller said that the enforcement officers from his 40 field offices will fan out across the state with the goal of offering personal assistance to each and every Texas business.

A testing of the canvassing program in July showed that 19 percent of taxpayers contacted required assistance or needed permits, he said.

"The theme of this project is taxpayer assistance," Bullock said. "We have found that in many instances only personal contact can eliminate errors that eventually prove costly both to the taxpayer and the Comptroller's Office."

He said his employees, armed with smiles and packages of taxpayer information, will be knocking on doors with the hopes of: —providing education to taxpayers;

—making sure every business is properly permitted; —establishing personal lines of communication between taxpayers and the individual enforcement officer responsible for the area;

—updating Comptroller's Office records; —making certain each taxpayer is filing returns and paying tax properly.

July's sample of 4,702 businesses showed that 97 were operating without needed permits, 766 had changed address or business name without notifying the Comptroller's Office and 37 were not paying tax properly, Bullock said.

"We hope to take care of every little problem on the spot, before it turns into a big problem," he said.

"Above all," Bullock added, "we want people to believe us when we say 'I'm from the Comptroller's Office and I'm here to help you.'"

Poe's Corner

BY CHARLES POE

As I talked with C. C. Stephens about the carpentry business, we decided that 1925 was a very good year, for many new homes were built in Winters at that time.

In January of 1925, Mr. Stephens moved his family to Winters from Brown County near Winchell, and began working with W. W. (Wash) Nance. Their first job was constructing four houses for a man who came from East Texas and he hauled his lumber from there. They also built the Jim Johnson house, just south of the First Baptist Church, now owned by Mrs. Earl Dorsett.

The first brick home in town was the John Q. McAdams house built in 1924 by Nance and a Mr. Nelson. The Dr. W. D. Sanders home, now owned by the Milton Gerharts, was erected in 1925. The house where I live was finished in the Spring of 1925, for that is the year I graduated from high school and the Bert Lows hosted a reception in their new home for the seniors. We do not know the contractors on the last two houses.

Stephens considers the J. W. Tanner house as the most outstanding work he has ever done. It was begun in the fall of 1925 and took four months to finish. He dug the first footing hole and drove the last nail, he said.

"For the footing hole we dug down about five or six feet and placed a pillar in the hole and then laid the foundation," he said.

The house had a ten foot ceiling and eight ft. doors throughout. The floors were quarter-sawn oak and have their original finish today. The basement contained the coal heating system which was conveyed through ducts under the floor and carried into the house through vents in the baseboard. The air-conditioning was an exhaust fan in the hall ceiling which sucked in fresh air through the windows and let the stale air out through a louver on the porch.

The house was of brick with lueder stone window sills and porch columns, made on the job. Six men, including Nance and Stephens, worked continuously and a mason out of Abilene laid the brick and did the stone work.

Mr. and Mrs. Tanner were Canadians and spoke with a decided accent, but he was an astute businessman and very progressive. He had a dry good business for a number of years and later became a car dealer. The couple had no children and after their deaths, a sister, Mrs. Connley lived in the house for her lifetime. Her daughter, Mrs. Glen Eager inherited the home but never lived in it. About six years ago, or just before it was rented to Mrs. Elo Michaelis, Mr. Stephens said that he lowered the ceilings to 8 ft. and 6 in.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Poe now own the house and Mr.

Stephens said that he had just finished some painting for them last week, so he continues to have an interest in the house.

In 1926, Stephens worked at Hatchel renovating the hotel and grocery store. He recalls that he helped build the Albert Afferbach house and worked with Mr. Nance until the depression years came on, then he worked on his own anywhere and everywhere that he could get a job. He overhauled the old rock school building after the new high school was built and has done various jobs throughout the whole school system. He also modernized the West Texas Utilities building and the Winters Public Library.

Besides building houses all over the county, Mr. Stephens worked in Fort Worth and other towns. He built the Winters Catholic Church in 1948, and his last big jobs

Krueger's Kolumn

There will be a forum in which the Governors of all of our 50 states will agree on everything, will voice exactly the same concerns or will unite totally in their views of what should receive priority in affairs of their states.

But recently I was privileged to participate in and to initiate discussions on energy, transportation, growth and many other complex areas, none of them with simple solutions, in the annual meeting of the Southern Governors Conference.

The Conference was held in San Antonio and it brought together a dozen Governors who, though all from the South, face widely varying and diverse problems.

We took it upon ourselves to share both our frustrations and our victories. Certainly, we all confront some of the same problems, such as development of energy resources.

But other problems are more unique. In Texas, for instance, our problems of fuel consumption, because of the great distances between some of our cities, is a more major problem than it is in smaller states. That is the major problem over smaller states. That is the major reason I have been opposed to a tax on gasoline which would unfairly discriminate against the residents of states that are very large.

Other states have problems that are just as unique.

What one learns in a gathering of this nature is how essential it is not only to share our experiences but to have an understanding of the problems in other states so that we might, first, be prepared to deal with those problems should they eventually confront us and, secondly, to be willing to offer help should it be needed.

In today's complex world, individual states are not islands. Although local government, I believe, is the best government, there are

PSYCHOLOGY

Many psychologists agree that parents should accept childishness in their children. It's natural for youngsters to fidget when they have to sit still for long stretches and to run instead of walk.

Experts have also found that too much regimentation may cause children to rebel. For instance, schools that take candy machines out of their lunchrooms to cut students' intake of sweets may find the youngsters boycotting the lunchrooms and going outside for what they want.

Blizzards Slip By Junction Friday Night To 13-12 Tune

The Winters Blizzards entertained a hometown crowd Friday night by defeating the Junction Eagles 13-12 with less than two minutes to play in the game.

The Eagles were on the scoreboard first when Chett Murr intercepted a Winters pass and scored on a 23-yard run with ten minutes left in the first quarter. David Baught's extra point attempt failed.

After a scoreless second period, Junction scored again, this time when tailback Doug Beebe took advantage of a 10-yard punt by Winters and scored on a 5-yard run down the middle. Again, the PAT was no good and with 3:27 left in the quarter, Junction was leading 12-0.

Blizzard quarterback Chuck Evans scored in the fourth quarter following a Junction fumble. A PAT kick by Johnny Lujano failed.

Three plays later Junction fumbled again at its own 48-yard line.

The game was won with 1:57 left in the fourth period when Pat Salas scored the second Blizzard touchdown on a two-yard run.

Lujano's extra point was good, but it was called back for a penalty. His next kick was good and the Blizzards won their first game of the 1977 football season.

Pat Salas was the leading rusher for the Blizzards with 83 yards.

Salas was also credited with 13 tackles to lead the Winters team. Gary Schwartz and Johnny Lujano each had 9 tackles.

Gary Lett received this week's "Big Hit" award.

Blizzard coaches graded the players as follows:

Offense
Leroy Jones, 73%.
Nathan Tekell, 70%.
Gary Schwartz, 66%.
Chuck Evans, 65%.
Gary Lett, 64%.

Defense
Pat Salas, 73%.
Gary Schwartz, 72%.
Gary Lett, 70%.
Leroy Jones, 70%.

Stars for outstanding plays go to Chuck Evans for a TD; Gary Schwartz, one each for a fumble recovery and for causing a fumble; Johnny Lujano for extra point kicks; Pat Salas 1 each for a TD, most tackles, and a fumble recovery; Gary Lett for a fumble recovery and the Big Hit award; Doug Bryan and Leroy Jones one each for fumble recoveries; and the entire first-string defensive team each received a star for a goal-line stand. Also, any player receiving a grade of 70% or more earns a star.

Next week the Blizzards will travel to Coleman to battle the Bluecats.
